START

Microfilmed By:

NORTHEAST DOCUMENT CONSERVATION CENTER
Andover, MA 01810

DECEMBER 1993

Camera Operator:
Kathy Wilder

MASTER
NEGATIVE
NUMBER:
BSO-56-009

MICROFILMED
August 1993 - April 1994

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA SCRAPBOOK MICROFILMING PROJECT

Funded in part by

THE NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES

Grant No. PS-20709-93

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA MICROFILMING PROJECT

A Cooperative Project Between the Boston Symphony Orchestra Archives and the Boston Public Library
(August 1993 - April 1994)

The Microfilming Project incorporates two collections of scrapbooks housed in two separate repositories. The first set of scrapbooks (80 volumes) resides within the Allen A. Brown Collection of the Boston Public Library (BPL) Music Department. Their call number is M.125.5. The second set of scrapbooks (132 volumes) resides within the Press Clippings collection of the Boston Symphony Orchestra (BSO) Archives. They have the designation Pres 56.

The BPL scrapbooks begin with the founding of the BSO in 1881 and continue, through 79 seasons, to 1960. Articles consist mainly of reviews and feature stories from Boston and New York newspapers. Occasionally, magazine articles and press releases are also included. The scrapbooks cover most aspects of the BSO.

The BSO scrapbooks run from 1889, the Orchestra's 9th season, to 1973. In addition to local reviews and features, the volumes contain articles culled from national and international publications. The scrapbooks document, in detail, all aspects of the BSO: The Symphony Orchestra (including subscription concerts, tours, and trips), the Boston Pops, the Tanglewood Festival, the Tanglewood Music Center, and Symphony Hall.

The two sets of scrapbooks have been filmed as two separate entities. Researchers wanting to look at specific seasons or subjects must examine both sets of films to ensure full coverage.

The scrapbooks do not represent the complete holdings of either location on the subject of the BSO.

Requests for positive microfilm copies of individual rolls, or of film sets, should be directed to the respective repository:

Music Department
Boston Public Library
Post Office Box 286
Boston, MA 02117

Boston Symphony Orchestra Archives
Symphony Hall
Boston, MA 02115

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA SCRAPBOOKS

1889 - 1973

132 VOLUMES

Source: Boston Symphony Orchestra Archives

FINDING AID

Boston Symphony Orchestra Scrapbooks (Series 56, Sub-Series 1)

Source: Press Office (Office of the Public Relations Director)

The BSO scrapbooks comprise part of one series in the BSO Archives. Series 56, Press Clippings, is divided by format into 3 sub-series: 1) Scrapbooks, 1889-1973 (132 volumes); 2) Loose Clippings, 1931-1991 (9 record cartons); and 3) Oversize Newspapers and Journals, 1919-1979 (1 oversize box). Each sub-series is arranged chronologically.

The scrapbooks contain concert notices and reviews, record reviews, and feature articles. Early scrapbooks may also contain programs, tickets, and subscription orders. Materials are organized by concert season into the following categories: BSO (including tours); Kneisel Quartet (and later Boston Symphony Chamber Players); Boston Pops (referred to in early years as Promenade concerts); and Tanglewood (including the Tanglewood Music Center, the Tanglewood Festival, Tanglewood-on-Parade, and the Fromm Festival of Contemporary Music).

Reviews and articles cover a wide range of subjects: Founder H.L. Higginson; BSO conductors, players, trustees, and other personnel; guest artists and composers; BSO and Pops performances and recordings; U.S. and overseas tours; BSO/Cecilia Society joint performances; open rehearsals; and special events connected to anniversary celebrations and fundraising.

Feature stories document changes in the size, composition, and location of the orchestra. Topics include the hiring of women and minorities; the unionization of players; controversies (such as the internment of conductor Karl Muck during World War II); the sale of the old Music Hall; and the construction of Symphony Hall and other structures (such as the Koussevitsky Music Shed at Tanglewood).

Reproductions of the materials in the collection may not be made without permission from the Boston Symphony Orchestra Archives.

GUIDE TO CONTENTS

Institution: BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Series Name: PRESS CLIPPINGS
Series Number: 56
Series Dates: 1889-1991

Sub-series Name: SCRAPBOOKS
Sub-series Number: 1
Sub-series Dates: 1889-1973

VOLUME LISTING

VOL	TITLE	DATES
1	BSO	1889-1890
2	BSO Kneisel Quartet	1890-1891
3	BSO	1891-1892
4	Promenade (Pops)	1892
5	BSO Kneisel Quartet	1892-1893
6	BSO Kneisel Quartet	1893-1894
7	BSO Kneisel Quartet	1894-1895
8	BSO	1895-1896
9	Promenade (Pops)	1895-1896
10	BSO	1896-1897
11	BSO	1897-1898
12	Promenade (Pops)	1897-1898
13	BSO	1898-1899
14	BSO	1899-1900
15	Pops	1899-1900
16	BSO	1900-1901
17	BSO	1901-1902
18	Pops	1901-1903
19	BSO	1902-1903
20	BSO	1903-1904
21	BSO	1904-1905
22	Pops	1904-1905
23	BSO	1905-1906
24	BSO	1906-1907
25	BSO	1907-1908
26	BSO	1908-1909
27	BSO Pops	1909-1910
28	BSO Pops	1910-1911
29	BSO Advertisements	1910-1911
30	BSO Pops	1911-1912
31	BSO Pops	1912-1913
32	BSO Pops	1913-1914
33	BSO Pops	1914-1915
34	BSO Pops	1915-1916
35	BSO Pops	1916-1917
36	BSO Pops	1917-1918
37	Karl Muck	1918
38	BSO Pops	1918-1919
39	BSO Pops	1919-1920
40	BSO Advertisements	1919-1920
41	BSO Pops	1920-1921
42	BSO Pops	1921-1922
43	BSO BSO Advertisements Pops Advertisements	1922-1923
44	BSO Pops	1922-1924
45	BSO Pops	1924
46	BSO BSO Advertisements Pops Advertisements	1924-1926
47	BSO Pops	1925-1926
48	BSO Advertisements Pops Advertisements	1926-1927
49	BSO Pops	1926-1928
50	BSO	1928
51	BSO Pops	1928-1929
52	BSO Pops U.S. Tour	1929-1930
53	BSO	1930-1931
54	BSO Pops	1931-1932
55	BSO Pops	1932-1933
56	BSO	1933-1934
57	BSO	1934-1935
58	BSO	1935-1936
59	BSO	1936-1937

VOL	TITLE	DATES
60	Pops
	Tanglewood	1936-1937
61	BSO	1937
62	BSO	1937-1938
63	Pops
	Tanglewood	1938
64	BSO	1938-1939
65	Pops
	Tanglewood	1939
66	BSO	1939-1940
67	Tanglewood	1939-1941
68	BSO
	Pops	1940
69	BSO	1940-1941
70	Tanglewood	1940-1944
71	BSO	1941-1942
72	BSO	1942-1943
73	BSO	1943-1944
74	BSO
	Pops
	Tanglewood	1944-1945
75	BSO
	Pops
	Tanglewood	1945-1946
76	BSO
	Pops
	Tanglewood	1946-1947
77	Tanglewood	1947-1948
78	BSO	1947-1949
79	Tanglewood	1949-1950
80	BSO	1949-1951
81	Tanglewood	1950-1951
82	BSO
	Pops	1951-1952
83	BSO
	Pops	1952-1953
84	Tanglewood	1952-1953
85	BSO	1953-1955
86	Tanglewood	1953-1954
87	Tanglewood	1954-1955
88	BSO
	Pops	1955-1956
89	Tanglewood	1955-1956
90	Tanglewood	1955-1956
91	European Tour	1956
92	European Tour	1956-1957
93	BSO
	Pops	1956-1957
94	Tanglewood	1957
95	BSO	1957-1958
96	BSO
	Pops	1958-1959
97	BSO	1958-1959
98	Tanglewood	1958-1959
99	Tanglewood	1959
100	BSO
	Pops	1959-1960
101	Tanglewood	1959-1960
102	Far Eastern Tour	1959-1960
103	BSO
	Pops	1960-1961
104	Tanglewood	1961
105	BSO
	Pops	1961-1962
106	Tanglewood	1962
107	BSO
	Pops	1962-1963
108	Tanglewood	1963
109	BSO
	Pops	1963-1964
110	Tanglewood	1963-1964
111	BSO
	Pops	1964-1966
112	Tanglewood	1965
113	BSO 85th Anniversary	1965
114	BSO
	Pops	1965-1966
115	Tanglewood	1966
116	BSO
	Pops	1966-1967
117	Tanglewood	1967
118	BSO
	Pops	1967-1968
119	Tanglewood	1968-1969
120	BSO
	Pops	1968-1969
121	Tanglewood	1969
122	BSO
	Pops	1969-1970
123	Tanglewood	1970
124	BSO
	Pops	1970-1971
125	Tanglewood	1971
126	BSO
	Pops	1971-1972
127	European Tour	1970-1971
128	European Tour	1971
129	Tanglewood	1972
130	BSO
	Pops	1972-1973
131	Tanglewood	1973
132	BSO
	Pops	1973-1974

MATERIALS NOT FILMED

SUB-SERIES NUMBER	SUB-SERIES NAME	SUB-SERIES DATES
2	Loose Clippings	1931-1991
3	Oversize Newspapers and Journals	1919-1979

COPYRIGHT STATEMENT

The copyright law of the Unites States - Title 17, United States Code - concerns the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or other reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copy order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of the copyright law.

TECHNICAL DATA

IMAGE PLACEMENT: IA IB IIA IIB

REDUCTION RATION: 12X

FILM STOCK:

Kodak
IMAGELINK™ HQ
MICROFILM
35mm x 30.5m • 100ft
Sp 425
DEVELOP BEFORE 07/1995
1461-0325-012-02
CAT 840 3594
19-03

REEL 9

Volume 18-19

Pops
1901-1903
to
BSO
1902-1903

1.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

PM-MGP 13"x18"
METRIC GENERAL PURPOSE TARGET
PHOTOGRAPHIC

150 mm

100 mm

A5

A4

1.0 mm

1.5 mm

2.0 mm

2.5 mm

PRECISION℠ RESOLUTION TARGETS

Century

1303 Geneva Avenue
St. Paul, MN 55119

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890

4.5 mm

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

3.5 mm

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

3.0 mm

MULTIPLE EXPOSURES DUE TO COLOR VARIATIONS AND OVERLAPPING MATERIAL

VOLUME 18

Pops

1901 - 1903

SHIPMAN'S
Invoice & Scrap
BOOK

HILL, SMITH & Co
STATIONERS
180 DEVONSHIRE ST.
BOSTON.

BLANK PAGE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 6, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 1
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY,
General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers,
Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years.
Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered.
Telephones in all offices.

MONDAY, MAY 6.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Szechenyi" . . . . . Fahrbach
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Bons-bons" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Le Domino Noir" . . . . . Auber
4. SELECTION, "Viceroy" . . . . . Herbert
   (First time)

---

5. SUITE, from "Jocelyn" . . . . . Godard
   (a In the Hills
   (b) Gavotte
   (c) Carillon
6. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
7. HABANERA . . . . . Chabrier
8. TWO HUNGARIAN DANCES . . . . . Brahms

---

9. OVERTURE, "Hansel and Gretel" . . . . . Humperdinck
10. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Journey" . . . . . Zach
11. POLKA, "Tic-Tac" . . . . . Strobel
12. MARCH, "Wien, bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

TO OBTAIN THE MOST SUCCESSFUL VOCAL COMPOSITIONS OF THE DAY

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

Boosey & Company's Latest English Songs and Ballads,

Selected from the principal catalogues of England.

OR WRITE TO

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

J. MARSHALL

WILSON

May be engaged for

Dramatic Recitals

In English, French, German, Spanish, or Italian.

Address,
STEINERT HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1823

Chickering & Sons

ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Mechanics' Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

Boston, Tuesday, May 7, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 2

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 7.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Merry Soldiers" . . . . . Sabatil
2. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Gross Wien" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Foxy Quiller" . . . . . De Koven
   (First time.)

5. TWO ENTR'ACTES, from "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
6. KAISER WALTZ . . . . . Strauss
7. RONDE D'AMOUR . . . . . Westerhout
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhauser" . . . . . Wagner

9. SERENADE, "Roccoco" . . . . . Meyer-Helmund
   (For String Orchestra)
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
10. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
11. WALTZ, "La Gitana" . . . . . Bucalossi
12. MARCH, "Feurig Blut" . . . . . Vollstedt

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders.

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

S. S. PIERCE & CO.,

BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.

N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls

AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany, N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.	From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00	TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.50	11.60	ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00	WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50	PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00	NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50	CHATHAM,	13.10	11.50	7.00
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

CONDITIONS.

Class A.— On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.— On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.— On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[4]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 8, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 3

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Ruy Blas" . . . . . Mendelssohn
3. WALTZ, "Meerleuchten" . . . . . Ziehrer
4. SELECTION, "Singing Girl" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. "SPRING SONG" . . . . . Mendelssohn
6. OVERTURE, "Le Roi l'a dit" . . . . . Délibes
7. WALTZ, "Fledermaus" . . . . . Strauss
8. SUITE L'ARLESIENNE, No. 1 . . . . . Bizet
   (a) Menuet
   (b) Adagietto
   (c) Carillon

(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)

---

9. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
10. WALTZ, "Jolly Fellows" . . . . . Vollstedt
11. KOSAKENRITT . . . . . Milloecker
12. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . . Wagner

All the music played at these concerts for sale by C. W. THOMPSON & COMPANY, Music Publishers, 13 West Street, Boston.

GREAT WESTERN
CHAMPAGNE

A natural, genuine champagne, of the finest quality produced in America.

Sold by Wine Merchants, Grocers, and Druggists.

MAH MAL.

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

WINES
SPIRITS
TEAS AND
CIGARS

185 and 187 State Street, Boston

[5]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 9, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 4
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 9.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCHE HONGROISE . . . . . Berlioz
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
3. SELECTION, "Il Trovatore" . . . . . Verdi
4. OVERTURE, "Fingal's Cave" . . . . . Mendelssohn

---

5. RHAPSODY, "Pesther Carneval" . . . . . Liszt
6. ENTR' ACTE, Gavotte for String Orchestra . . . . Gillet
7. THE MOUSE-TRAP . . . . . Koehler
   (The mice are playing in front of the trap. One, more reckless, ventures too far and is caught. The others run away.)
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. ENTRÉE TRIOMPHALE DES BAYARDS . . . Halvorsen

---

9. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Wedding" . . . . . Zach
10. ENTR'ACTE, "La Colombe" . . . . . Gounod
11. POLKA, "Tyrolean" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

SYMPHONY HALL

TELEPHONE, 1492 BACK BAY

TICKETS ORDERED BY TELEPHONE WILL BE HELD UNTIL EIGHT O'CLOCK : : : : : :

The United States Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

JUST WHAT YOU WANT

SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS

Codman & Hall Co.

WINES AND CIGARS

Opposite South Station

Dewey Square

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT

163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

Norfolk Cabinet Lager Beer

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 10, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 5

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

A TYPICAL BOHEMIAN RESORT.

The "Danish Inn" which forms a part of "The Hayward," proves a popular place with music as a great feature.

Just where to dine and at the same time derive the greatest possible pleasure from the hour or more given over to the dinner is a problem which confronts Bostonians, who in time become tired of even the best opportunities which this city affords, and to whom something novel always is most welcome. One solution of this problem is found in the new "Danish Inn" just opened as a part of The Hayward, at 16 to 26 Hayward Place.

All the world like a glimpse of "Bohemia," as it popularly is supposed to exist, and so few are the opportunities in this city to find this phase of life, that the opening of this important addition to The Hayward has filled a much desired need of a conveniently situated, well conducted Bohemian resort.

From the street, the passer-by sees in the front of the inn a quaint suggestion of some foreign city. Upon entering, one's curiosity is at once aroused, and admiration of the charming scene is felt at once. It is a reproduction of the ancient "Riebenhus" in Riebe, Denmark, which dates back to the sixteenth century.

In the evening, when the Neapolitan Orchestra is in full swing, with its music, the charm of the place is most felt. The native songs and airs are much used by this band of players, among whom are some with remarkably good voices, and that their vocal efforts also give great pleasure to those that are dining, is shown by the attention paid when they sing, and the applause and demonstration which follows.

For a regular table d'hote dinner served at the Hayward, no more delightful or Behemian place can be imagined. Anything delicious, in or out of season, also may be had a la carte, for the larder of this place embraces all that could be desired.

Often one cannot secure seats, so large is the attendance, unless care in telephoning or arranging otherwise in advance for a table to be reserved, has been taken.—Boston Transcript.

FRIDAY, MAY 10.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH. "The Continentals" . . . . . Brooke
2. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . . Nicolai
3. WALTZ, "Joy of Life" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. BALLET MUSIC, from "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Goldmark
   'Cello obligato, Mr. J. Keller.
6. WALTZ, "Neu Wien" . . . . . Strauss
7. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
8. MARCHE DES BATTEURS, from "Xavière" . . . . Dubois

---

9. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
10. LARGO . . . . . Händel
    Violin obligato, Mr. Otto Roth.
    (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
11. PIZZICATO POLKA . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Austria" . . . . . Zach

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

DRINK VAN NOSTRAND'S
Oh be Jolly P.B. ALE

Welcome, "Pops," welcome Zach!
Give us Strauss along with Bach.
Music's good, but gracious me!
What were the "Pops" without P.B.?

P.B. Ale

SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats,

25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER,

BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 11, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 6
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 11.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Vienna Dudes" . . . . . Wagner
2. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
3. WALTZ, "Pomone" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. SELECTION, "The Rounders" . . . . . Engländer

5. "BLISSFUL DREAM" . . . . . Meyer-Helmund
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
6. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
7. WALTZ AND POLKA, from "Ballet Sylvia" . . . . Délibes
8. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini
'Cello obligato, Mr. Keller.

9. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni
10. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
11. HUSARENRITT . . . . . Spindler
12. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTOR CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer
FOOD BEER
TRADE MARK

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,

17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

[8]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 13, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 7
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 13.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, from "Probe Kuss" . . . . . Milloecker
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Herold
3. WALTZ, "Snowballs" . . . . . Ziehrer
4. SELECTION, "The Viking." (Pi Eta Society, 1901) . . . Loud

5. MENUET AND FARANDOLE from Suite L'Arlésienne, No. 2, Bizet
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
6. WALTZ, "Barcarolle" . . . . . Waldteufel
7. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
Violin, Mr. Roth. Organ, Mr. John P. Marshall.
8. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet

9. TWO SPANISH DANCES . . . . . Moszkowski
10. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
11. "TRAEUMEREI" . . . . . Schumann
12. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Strauss

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS
SOLD
UNEQUALLED FOR TABLE USE.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

PHILADELPHIA ALE ON DRAUGHT SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES.

SOL. BACHARACH,
New England Agent,
508-510 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.
Telephone 3805.

PILSENER BEER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 160 Commercial Street.
Telephone, Richmond 306.
Also New England Agents for Baravian Beers and William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Ales.

Kennedy's Biscuit.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.

Kennedy Biscuit Works.
Symphony
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS"
ESTABROOK & EATON'S

Marguerite, Conchas, ... 10c, 3 for 25c
Merchants & Bankers, U. C. Espls, (All Havana) 10c, 3 for 25c
Salerosa, Ideals, ... 10c each
El Deletosa, Puritanos Extra (All Havana), 10c each
E. & E., Invincibles, ... 15c, 2 for 25c
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported), . 15c, 2 for 25c
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported) . 20c, 5 for $1.00
Standard Goods, some of our well-known and popular Brands which we recommend.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
VARTRAY WATER CO.
BUFFALO, N.Y.
ASK THE WAITER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 14, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 8
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 14.

PROGRAMME.

1. MILITARY MARCH . . . . . Zach
2. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . . . Auber
4. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. PRELUDE TO ACT I., "LOHENGRIN" . . . . Wagner
6. SCÈNE RELIGIEUSE ET INVOCATION . . . Massenet
   'Cello Solo, Mr. Keller.
7. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Strauss
8. POLONAISE, from "Eugene Oneguin" . . . . Tschaikowsky

---

9. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . Thomas
10. MENUET, for String Orchestra . . . . . Bolzoni
11. WALTZ, "Meerleuchten" . . . . . Ziehrer
12. TEUFELS MARCH . . . . . Suppé

THE DEMAND IN BOSTON IS INCREASING for Good English Songs and Ballads, by Eminent Composers.

TRY THESE:

"JAPANESE LOVE SONG," by Clayton Thomas. Keys F, G, and A-flat.
"CUPID ON THE CLOCK," by H. Farjeon. Keys C and D.
"DOWN THE VALE," by F. L. Moir. Keys C, D-flat, E-flat, F and G.
"ROSES OF JUNE," by E. German. Keys D, F, and G.
"THE ROSE," "THE RIVER BY THE SEA," } by Noel Johnson.
"PHYLLIS," by Edwin Carey. Keys D and F.
"O PUREST PEARL OF PARADISE," by F. Lambert.

CAN BE HAD AT ALL LEADING DEALERS OR 4

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY,
General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers, Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years.
Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered.
Telephones in all offices.

J. MARSHALL

WILSON

May be engaged for

Dramatic Recitals

In English, French, German, Spanish, or Italian.

Address,
STEINERT HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1823 Chickering & Sons ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Wednesday, May 15, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 9
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.
The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Obersteiger" . . . . . Zeller
2. OVERTURE, "Mireille" . . . . . Gounod
3. WALTZ, "Seid Umschlungen Millionen" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "La Fille de Mme. Angot" . . . . . Lecocq

5. FINALE TO ACT I., LOHENGRIN . . . . . Wagner
6. NOCTURNE AND SCHERZO . . . . . Mendelssohn
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Landeskinder" . . . . . E. Strauss
8. SUITE, "Peer Gynt" . . . . . Grieg
Aase's Death. Anitra's Dance. In the Hall of the Mountain King.

9. SELECTION, "Erminie" . . . . . Jacobowsky
10. GAVOTTE, from "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
11. WALTZ, "Artist's Life" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls
AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany; N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.	From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00	TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.50	11.60	ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00	WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50	PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00	NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50	CHATHAM,	13.10	11.50	7.00
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

CONDITIONS.

Class A.—On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.—On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.—On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 16, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 10
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these Concerts.

THURSDAY, MAY 16.

PROGRAMME.

1. FLAG MARCH . . . . . Ziehrer
2. WALTZ, "Fesche Geister" . . . . . E. Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Le Roi d'Ys" . . . . . Lalo
4. SELECTION, "The Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

5. OVERTURE, "Orpheus aux Enfers" . . . . . Offenbach
6. WALTZ, "Arabian Nights" . . . . . Strauss
7. "LOST IN DREAMS" . . . . . Zach
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. POLONAISE" . . . . . Liszt

9. AU CLAIR DE LA LUNE . . . . . Gillet
10. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner
11. WALTZ, "Sentiers Fleuris" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Szechenyi" . . . . . Fahrbach

NEW MUSIC for SUMMER PLAYING.

Amorita Waltz. Hortense Paul $0.50
Dream World Waltzes. F. A. Spalding 75
Echoes from Coontown. Two-step. F. C. Rodman 50
Dartmouth March. E. D. Anderson 50
Russian Story. Gavotte. G. H. Wilder 50

All the music played at these concerts for sale by
C. W. THOMPSON & CO., Music Publishers,
13 WEST STREET, BOSTON.

MAH MAL.
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

WINES
SPIRITS
TEAS AND
CIGARS

185 and 187 State Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 17, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 11

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

FRIDAY, MAY 17.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Stein Song" . . . . . Bullard
2. WALTZ, "Doctrinen" . . . . . E. Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Zanetta" . . . . . Auber
4. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart

---

5. OVERTURE, "Piccolino" . . . . . Guiraud
6. "LE DERNIER SOMMEIL DE LA VIERGE" . . . Massenet
   (For String Orchestra)
7. WALTZ, "Trau, schau, wem," from "Waldmeister" . . Strauss
8. SELECTION, "Giroflé-Giroflá" . . . . . Lecocq

---

9. MANDOLIN, "Serenade" . . . . . Eilenberg
10. WALTZ, "Faschingskinder" . . . . . Zuhrer
11. POLKA, "Papa, Mama,', } from "Puppenfee" . . . . Bayer
12. MARCH, }

The
United States
Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Ginita Puritano	10 cents each
Ginita Perfecto	15 cents, 2 for 25 cents
Susette Conchas Especial	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Catriona Perfecto	10 cents each
Elena Deliciosos Extra	15 cents each
Monte Rosa Violetas	20 cents each

JUST WHAT YOU WANT

SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS

Codman & Hall Co.

WINES AND CIGARS

Opposite South Station

Dewey Square

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT

163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

Norfolk Cabinet Lager Beer

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 18, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 12

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

A TYPICAL BOHEMIAN RESORT.

The "Danish Inn" which forms a part of "The Hayward," proves a popular place with music as a great feature.

Just where to dine and at the same time derive the greatest possible pleasure from the hour or more given over to the dinner is a problem which confronts Bostonians, who in time become tired of even the best opportunities which this city affords, and to whom something novel always is most welcome. One solution of this problem is found in the new "Danish Inn" just opened as a part of The Hayward, at 16 to 26 Hayward Place.

All the world like a glimpse of "Bohemia," as it popularly is supposed to exist, and so few are the opportunities in this city to find this phase of life, that the opening of this important addition to The Hayward has filled a much desired need of a conveniently situated, well conducted Bohemian resort.

From the street, the passer-by sees in the front of the inn a quaint suggestion of some foreign city. Upon entering, one's curiosity is at once aroused, and admiration of the charming scene is felt at once. It is a reproduction of the ancient "Riebenhus" in Riebe, Denmark, which dates back to the sixteenth century.

In the evening, when the Neapolitan Orchestra is in full swing, with its music, the charm of the place is most felt. The native songs and airs are much used by this band of players, among whom are some with remarkably good voices, and that their vocal efforts also give great pleasure to those that are dining, is shown by the attention paid when they sing, and the applause and demonstration which follows.

For a regular table d'hote dinner served at the Hayward, no more delightful or Behemian place can be imagined. Anything delicious, in or out of season, also may be had a la carte, for the larder of this place embraces all that could be desired.

Often one cannot secure seats, so large is the attendance, unless care in telephoning or arranging otherwise in advance for a table to be reserved, has been taken.—Boston Transcript.

SATURDAY, MAY 18.

PROGRAMME.

1. ORIENTAL MARCH . . . . . Zach
2. WALTZ, "Gross Wien" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . Thomas
4. SELECTION, "The Belle of New York" . . . . . Kerker

---

5. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . . . Délibes
6. "NARCISSUS" . . . . . Nevin
7. WALTZ, "Dream of Love" . . . . . Fahrbach
8. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner

---

9. WALTZ, "Près de Toi" . . . . . Waldteufel
10. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
    'Cello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.
11. "IN THE MILL" . . . . . Gillet
12. MARCH, "Runaway Girl" . . . . . Monckton

DRINK VAN NOSTRAND'S P.B. ALE
Oh be Jolly

Welcome, "Pops," welcome Zach!
Give us Strauss along with Bach.
Music's good, but gracious me!
What were the "Pops" without P.B.?

P.B. Ale

SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats, 25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER, BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 20, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 13
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 20.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Beauties" . . . . . Ziehrer
3. OVERTURE, "La Part du Diable" . . . . . Auber
4. SELECTION, "Singing Girl" . . . . . Herbert

5. (a) SCHERZO VALSE, from "Boabdil" . . . . Moszkowski
   (b) MALAGAENA, from "Boabdil" . . . . Moszkowski
6. OVERTURE, "Barber of Seville" . . . . . Rossini
7. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Wedding" . . . . . Zach
8. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin

9. WALTZ, "Tales from the Woods," . . . . . Strauss
   Zither Obligato, Mr. C. KELLER.
10. "RONDE D'AMOUR" . . . . . Westerhout
11. POLKA, "Hunter's Yarns" . . . . . Komzák
12. MARCH, "Pro Patria" . . . . . Milloecker

MONDAY, MAY 27 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST NIGHT

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTOR CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer
FOOD BEER TRADE MARK

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 21, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 14
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 21.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . . Wagner
2. WALTZ, "Myrthenblüthen" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Anacreon" . . . . . Cherubini
4. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert

5. (a) GAVOTTE . . . . . Marshall
(For String Orchestra.)
(b) LOVE SONG . . . . . Marshall
(For String Orchestra and Harp.)
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)

6. SUITE, "Coppelia" . . . . . Délibes
Dance of the Automatons, Waltz, Czardas.
7. WALTZ, "Nachtschwärmer" . . . . . Ziehrer
8. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan

9. OVERTURE, "Le Brasseur de Preston" . . . . . Adam
10. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven
11. PIZZICATI . . . . . Gillet
12. MARCH, "Fra Bombarda" . . . . . Czibulka

MONDAY, MAY 27 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST NIGHT

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
UNEQUALLED FOR TABLE USE.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

PHILADELPHIA ALE ON DRAUGHT SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES.
SOL. BACHARACH,
New England Agent,
508-510 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.
Telephone 3805.

PILSENER BEER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 160 Commercial Street.
Telephone, Richmond 306.
Also New England Agents for Bavarian Beers and William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Ales.

Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Kennedy Biscuit Works.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.
ON SALE AT THE "POPS"
ESTABROOK & EATON'S

Marguerite, Conchas, ...	10c, 3 for 25c
Merchants & Bankers, U. C. Espls, (All Havana)	10c, 3 for 25c
Salerosa, Ideals, ...	10c each
El Deletosa, Puritanos Extra (All Havana),	10c each
E. & E., Invincibles, ...	15c, 2 for 25c
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported), .	15c, 2 for 25c
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported) .	20c, 5 for $1.00

Standard Goods, some of our well-known and popular Brands which we recommend.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
VARTRAY WATER CO.
BUFFALO, N.Y.
ASK THE WAITER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 22, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 15
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "The Ameer" . . . . . Herbert
2. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Wine, Woman, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Fatinitza" . . . . . Suppé

5. PROLOGUE to "Pagliacci" . . . . . Leoncavallo
6. (a) HERZWUNDEN . . . . . Grieg
(For String Orchestra.)
(b) FRUEHLING . . . . . Grieg
(For String Orchestra.)
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. PRELUDE TO ACT III. "LOHENGRIN" . . . . Wagner
8. DANSE MACABRE . . . . . Saint-Saëns

9. OFFENBACHIANA . . . . . Conradi
10. WALTZ, "L'Amour et Printemps" . . . . . Waldteufel
11. GALOP, "Wespennest" . . . . . Zach
12. MARCH, "Obersteiger" . . . . . Zeller

MONDAY, MAY 27 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST NIGHT

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY,
General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers,
Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years.
Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered.
Telephones in all offices.

THE RAGE OF THE PARIS SEASON.

"MON SECRET."

VALSE LENTE.

BY
MARIO COSTA,

Composer of the famous "A FRANGESA," as played at these Concerts.

To be had at all leading music dealers or 3

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

J. MARSHALL

WILSON

May be engaged for

Dramatic Recitals

In English, French, German, Spanish, or Italian.

Address,
STEINERT HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1823

Chickering & Sons

ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Thursday, May 23, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 16

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

THURSDAY, MAY 23.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Princess Ninetta" . . . . . Strauss
2. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Return" . . . . . Zach
4. SELECTION, "The Brigands" . . . . . Offenbach

5. GAVOTTE, AIR, GIGUE, from Suite in D . . . . . Bach
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
6. WALTZ, "La Gitana" . . . . . Bucalossi
7. MELODY IN F . . . . . Rubinstein
8. BALLET MUSIC, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod

9. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
10. LOIN DU BAL . . . . . Gillet
11. MAZURKA, "Unparteiische Kritik" . . . . . Strauss
12. BOCCACCIO MARCH . . . . . Suppé

MONDAY, MAY 27 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST NIGHT

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON,
BROOKLINE.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls
AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany, N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.	From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00	TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.50	11.60	ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00	WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50	PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00	NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50	CHATHAM,	13.10	11.50	7.00
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

CONDITIONS.

Class A.— On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.— On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.— On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[18]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 24, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 17
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

GREAT WESTERN
CHAMPAGNE

A natural, genuine champagne, of the finest quality produced in America.

Sold by Wine Merchants, Grocers, and Druggists.

FRIDAY, MAY 24.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Szechenyi" . . . . . Fahrbach
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Bonbons," . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Le Roi l'a dit" . . . . . Délibes
4. SELECTION, "Viceroy" . . . . . Herbert

5. OVERTURE, to "Hansel and Gretel" . . . . . Humperdinck
6. INTERMEZZO, ... Carroll
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Wedding" . . . . . Zach
8. TWO HUNGARIAN DANCES . . . . . Brahms

9. WALTZ, "Artist's Life" . . . . . Strauss
10. SELECTION, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi
11. MAZOURKA, "Die Libelle" . . . . . Josef Strauss
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

MONDAY, MAY 27 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST NIGHT

NEW MUSIC for SUMMER PLAYING.

Amorita Waltz. Hortense Paul	$0.50
Dream World Waltzes. F. A. Spalding	.75
Echoes from Coontown. Two-step. F. C. Rodman	.50
Dartmouth March. E. D. Anderson	.50
Russian Story. Gavotte. G. H. Wilder	.50

All the music played at these concerts for sale by

C. W. THOMPSON & CO., Music Publishers,
13 WEST STREET, BOSTON.

MAH MAL.

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

WINES
SPIRITS
TEAS AND
CIGARS

185 and 187 State Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 25, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 18
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 25.

PROGRAMME.

1. MILITARY MARCH, ... Zach
2. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame," . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
4. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
5. SUITE, "Peer Gynt" . . . . . Grieg
   (a) Aase's Death.
   (b) Anitra's Dance.
   (c) In the Hall of the Mountain King.
6. THE MOUSE-TRAP . . . . . Koehler
   (The mice are playing in front of the trap. One, more reckless, ventures too far and is caught. The others run away.)
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. "VALSE BLEUE" . . . . . Margis
   (First time.)
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
9. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
10. (a) SPRING SONG . . . . . Mendelssohn
    (b) SERENATA . . . . . Moszkowski
11. "LOVE'S DREAM AFTER THE BALL" . . . . . Czibulka
12. MARCH, "Merry Soldiers" . . . . . Sabathil

MONDAY, MAY 27 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST NIGHT

The
United States
Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Ginita Puritano	10 cents each
Ginita Perfecto	15 cents, 2 for 25 cents
Susette Conchas Especial	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Catriona Perfecto	10 cents each
Elena Deliciosos Extra	15 cents each
Monte Rosa Violetas	20 cents each

TRY
M. S.
(Myles Standish)

THE ONLY DOMESTIC
GINGER ALE
THAT WILL COMPETE
WITH THE IMPORTED.

For sale at these concerts and elsewhere.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
Wines and Cigars,
DEWEY SQUARE.

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT
163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

Norfolk Cabinet
Lager Beer

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 27, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 19

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Dining and Diners.

A place that is highly appreciated for its excellent repasts.

To dine at "The Hayward" is a phrase having specific implication of enjoyment. It implies choice food excellently served amidst artistic surroundings, in the atmosphere of genteel Bohemia that is particularly conducive to the effect described by Shakespeare's line, "Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both." "The Hayward," 16, 18, 20, 22, 26, Hayward Place, is a subtly attractive place, containing three large dining-rooms, beautifully embellished, and twenty private dining-rooms, examples of the decorator's beautifying skill. The service is excellent, and the cuisine of the best.

At "The Hayward" one may indulge his Epicurean taste with all the luxuries. Nothing that is pleasant to the palate and delighting to the eye is impossible to the chef's craftsmanship. Moreover, the wine cellar is well stocked with the best.

A feature of "The Hayward" is the fineness of the music.

The Neapolitan Quartette, Signor Vincenzo Portonova, tenor, entertains the assemblage during the repast with excellent selections.

The table d'hôte dinners, with a pint of wine, served from 5.30 to 8.30 P.M., at a very reasonable price of 75 cents, are very popular.— Boston Courier.

MONDAY, MAY 27.

WAGNER NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
3. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni
4. PRELUDE to the "Master Singers of Nuremberg" . . . Wagner

5. PRELUDES to Act I. and Act III., "Lohengrin" . . . Wagner
6. WALTZ, "Freut euch des Lebens" . . . . . Strauss
7. ALBUMBLATT . . . . . Wagner
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, to "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner

9. "TRAUMBILDER" FANTASY . . . . . Lumbye
(Zither obligato, Mr. Keller.)
10. "FIRE-CHARM," from "Walküre" . . . . . Wagner
11. WALTZ, "Jolly Fellows" . . . . . Vollstedt
12. AUSTRIA MARCH . . . . . Zach

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST'S NIGHT
SATURDAY, JUNE 1 . . FAREWELL APPEARANCE OF CONDUCTOR, MR. MAZ ZACH.
TUESDAY, JUNE 4 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

CAUTION.—All persons are warned against selling spurious ale as P. B. Ale. Prompt legal measures will be taken as heretofore to prevent such substitution.

A. G. Van Nostrand, Bunker Hill Breweries.

POPULARITY.

The "Pops" are Boston's own,
All other fads o'ertopping,
With merry hearts and faces glad
And P. B. corks a-popping.

P. B. ALE

The Standard.

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats,

25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER,

BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTOR CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

Boston, Tuesday, May 28, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 20
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 28.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Way Down East" . . . . . Catlin
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. OVERTURE, "Benvenuto Cellini" . . . . . Berlioz

5. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert
6. "LOST IN DREAMS," Reverie . . . . . Zach
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. ENTR'ACTE. Waltz, "Amorello" . . . . . Loud
8. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet

9. OVERTURE, "Banditenstreiche" . . . . . Suppé
10. WALTZ, "Landeskinder" . . . . . Strauss
11. "IN THE MILL" . . . . . Gillet
12. MARCH, "Jamaica" . . . . . Whipple

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29 . . . . . TUFTS NIGHT
THURSDAY, MAY 30 . . . . . SOLOIST'S NIGHT
SATURDAY, JUNE 1 . . . FAREWELL APPEARANCE OF CONDUCTOR, MR. MAZ ZACH.
TUESDAY, JUNE 4 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer
FOOD BEER
TRADE MARK

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,

17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

BLANK PAGE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 30, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 22

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 30.

SOLOIST'S NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Merry Soldiers" . . . . . Sabathil
2. WALTZ, "Neu-Wien" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Le Roi d'Ys" . . . . . Lalo
4. (a) TARANTELLA, for four violins . . . . Hellmesberger
   (b) ROMANZA, for four violins . . . . Hellmesberger
   Messrs. Roth, Hoffman, Moldauer, Fiedler.
5. FLUTE SOLO, Grand Air Varie, "Le Tremolo" . Demesserman
   Mr. Maquarre.
6. GAVOTTE AND CARILLON, from Suite, "Jocelyn" . Godard
7. WALTZ, "Dream of Love" . . . . . Fahrbach
8. ZITHER SOLO, "Schmerzvergessen" . . . . . Umlauff
   Mr. C. Keller.
9. ENTRÉE TRIOMPHALE DES BOYARDS . . . Halvorsen
10. SERENADE . . . . . Henry
    (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
11. WALTZ, "Artist's Life" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Hochlandsklänge" . . . . . Milloecker

THE PIANO USED IS A STEINWAY.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1 . . . FAREWELL APPEARANCE OF CONDUCTOR, MR. MAZ ZACH.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

New Dance Music for the Summer Season.

PRICE

"RIVERSIDE WALTZ," by Caroline Lowthian, ... 75 cents

"MAY TWO-STEP," by J. Radcliffe, ... 50 cents

"SAN TOY, A LITTLE BIT OF FUN," Two-step on Monckton's famous melody, ... 60 cents

"MESSENGER BOY WALTZ, SCHOTTISCHE," etc.

SALON PIANO MUSIC.

"SELECTIONS FROM PUCCINI'S TOSCA, LA BOHEME," as Solos and Duets.

E. German's New Dances from "NELL GWYNNE," as played at these Concerts. 2

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY, General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers, Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years. Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered. Telephones in all offices.

J. MARSHALL

WILSON

May be engaged for

Dramatic Recitals

In English, French, German, Spanish, or Italian.

Address,

STEINERT HALL.

ESTABLISHED 1823

Chickering & Sons

ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[24]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Friday, May 31, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 23

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

FRIDAY, MAY 31.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, from "Mother Goose's Jubilee" . . . . . Orth
2. KAISER WALTZ . . . . . Strauss
3. SELECTION, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert
4. OVERTURE, "Mireille" . . . . . Gounod

5. a. OVERTURE from "Mother Goose's Jubilee" . . . Orth
   b. MINUET from "Mother Goose's Jubilee" . . . . Orth
6. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
   Violin, Mr. Roth. Harp, Mr. Schuecker. Organ, Mr. Marshall.
7. a. GAVOTTE, "Floralma" for String Orchestra . . . Gilbert
   b. ANDANTE, "Eulah," for String Orchestra . . . . Gilbert
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet

9. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
10. FIRE-CHARM from "Walküre" . . . . . Wagner
11. WALTZ, "Jolly Fellows" . . . . . Vollstedt
12. ST. PAUL SCHOOL MARCH . . . . . Hadley

SATURDAY, JUNE 1 . . . FAREWELL APPEARANCE OF CONDUCTOR, MR. MAZ ZACH.
TUESDAY, JUNE 4 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.
The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls
AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany, N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.	From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00	TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.50	11.60	ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00	WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50	PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00	NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50	CHATHAM,	13.10	11.50	7.00
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

CONDITIONS.

Class A.— On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.— On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.— On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[25]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 1, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 24

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Grand Vin

Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these Concerts.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1.

FAREWELL APPEARANCE OF CONDUCTOR, MAX ZACH.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Herold
3. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Voyage" . . . . . Zach
4. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. ENTR'ACTE, "La Colombe" . . . . . Gounod
6. 'CELLO SOLO. a. Sur le Lac . . . . . Godard
   b. Spinning Song. . . . . Popper
   Mr. J. Keller.
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Return" . . . . . Zach
8. OVERTURE, "1812" . . . . . Tschaikowsky

---

9. SELECTION, "The Viking" . . . . . Loud
10. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Wedding" . . . . . Zach
11. HUSARENRITT . . . . . Spindler
12. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse

TUESDAY, JUNE 4 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

NEW MUSIC for SUMMER PLAYING.

Amorita Waltz. Hortense Paul	$0.50
Dream World Waltzes. F. A. Spalding	.75
Echoes from Coontown. Two-step. F. C. Rodman	.50
Dartmouth March. E. D. Anderson	.50
Russian Story. Gavotte. G. H. Wilder	.50

All the music played at these concerts for sale by

C. W. THOMPSON & CO., Music Publishers,
13 WEST STREET, BOSTON.

MAH MAL.

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

WINES
SPIRITS
TEAS AND
CIGARS

185 and 187 State Street, Boston

[26]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 3, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 25
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

MONDAY, JUNE 3.

FIRST APPEARANCE OF MR. GUSTAV STRUBE.

PROGRAMME.

1. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. OVERTURE, "Masaniello" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Acceleration" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Freischuetz" . . . . . Weber
(First time.)
5. OVERTURE, "Sakuntala" . . . . . Goldmark
6. SERENADE, "Good-bye" . . . . . Strube
(First time)
Trumpet Obligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel.
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. BACCHANALE, from "Samson and Delila" . . . . Saint-Saëns
8. INTRODUCTION TO ACT III. AND DANCE OF APPRENTICES, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg" Wagner
9. SELECTION, "Burgomaster" . . . . . Lüders
10. TWO SPANISH DANCES . . . . . Moszkowski
11. WALTZ, "Amour et Printemps" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

TUESDAY, JUNE 4 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 6 . . . . . NAVAL NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

The United States Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Ginita Puritano	10 cents each
Ginita Perfecto	15 cents, 2 for 25 cents
Susette Conchas Especial	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Catriona Perfecto	10 cents each
Elena Deliciosos Extra	15 cents each
Monte Rosa Violetas	20 cents each

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT

163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

NORFOLK CABINET

LAGER BEER

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 4, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 26

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4.

TECHNOLOGY NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "King Karl" . . . . . Unrath
2. "ARTIST'S LIFE," Waltz . . . . . Strauss
3. "SEMIRAMIDE," OVERTURE . . . . . Rossini
4. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni

5. INTRODUCTION ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . . Wagner
6. "NARCISSUS" . . . . . Nevin
7. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
8. TECH PRODUCTION 1901, "Grand Duke."

9. "TANNHAEUSER" OVERTURE . . . . . Wagner
10. ERWACHEN DES LOEWEN . . . . . Kontski
11. COSSACK'S RIDE . . . . . Milloecker
12. HOBSON'S CHOICE MARCH . . . . . Strube

THURSDAY, JUNE 6 . . . . . NAVAL NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

Dining and Diners.

A place that is highly appreciated for its excellent repasts.

To dine at "The Hayward" is a phrase having specific implication of enjoyment. It implies choice food excellently served amidst artistic surroundings, in the atmosphere of genteel Bohemia that is particularly conducive to the effect described by Shakespeare's line, "Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both." "The Hayward," 16, 18, 20, 22, 26, Hayward Place, is a subtly attractive place, containing three large dining-rooms, beautifully embellished, and twenty private dining-rooms, examples of the decorator's beautifying skill. The service is excellent, and the cuisine of the best.

At "The Hayward" one may indulge his Epicurean taste with all the luxuries. Nothing that is pleasant to the palate and delighting to the eye is impossible to the chef's craftsmanship. Moreover, the wine cellar is well stocked with the best.

A feature of "The Hayward" is the fineness of the music.

The Neapolitan Quartette, Signor Vincenzo Portonova, tenor, entertains the assemblage during the repast with excellent selections.

The table d'hôte dinners, with a pint of wine, served from 5.30 to 8.30 P.M., at a very reasonable price of 75 cents, are very popular.— Boston Courier.

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

Boston Club Lager

Is served at these Concerts.

The best judges unreserve ly admit that this is the

BEST BEER BREWED.

It is brewed and bottled only by

A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats,

25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER,
BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 5, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 27
Published by C. A. ELLIS. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
C. A. ELLIS, Manager.

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5.

PROGRAMME.

1.	GERMAN MARCH	Strube
2.	OVERTURE, "Preciosa"	Weber
3.	WALTZ, "Die Schönbrunner"	Lanner
4.	SELECTION, "Carmen"	Bizet
5.	OVERTURE, "Mignon"	Thomas
6.	a. SOUS LES ÉTOILES, from Suite, "Gitanella"	Lacome
	b. VALSE BOHÈME, from Suite, "Gitanella"	Lacome
7.	MELODIE	Rubinstein
8.	a. INTRODUCTION TO ACT III., "Tannhäuser"	Wagner
	b. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES	Wagner
9.	OVERTURE, "Tantalusqualen"	Suppé
10.	EN SOURDINE (For String Orchestra.) (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)	Tellam
11.	TURKISH PATROL	Michaelis
12.	MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle"	Wagner

THURSDAY, JUNE 6 . . . . . NAVAL NIGHT
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTOR CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 6, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 28
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 6.
NAVAL NIGHT.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "The Continentals" . . . . . Brooke
2. OVERTURE, "Magic Flute" . . . . . Mozart
3. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi

---

5. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Herold
6. (a) ANGELUS . . . . . Massenet
   (b) FETE BOHÈME . . . . . Massenet
7. "PROCESSION OF THE WOMEN," from "Lohengrin," Wagner
8. CARNIVAL IN PARIS . . . . . Svendsen
   (First time.)

---

9. THE ADMIRAL'S MARCH . . . . . Strube
   Dedicated to Admiral Sampson, and composed for the occasion.
10. SERENADE . . . . . Pierné
    (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
11. RIDE OF THE HUSSARS . . . . . Spindler
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19 . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
SOLD
UNEQUALLED FOR TABLE USE.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

PHILADELPHIA ALE ON DRAUGHT SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES.

SOL. BACHARACH,
New England Agent,
508-510 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.
Telephone 3805.

PILSENER BEER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 160 Commercial Street.
Telephone, Richmond 306.
Also New England Agents for Bavarian Beers and William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Ales.

Kennedy's Biscuit.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
Kennedy's Symphony
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Kennedy Biscuit Works.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS"
ESTABROOK & EATON'S

Marguerite, Conchas, ... 10c, 3 for 25c
Merchants & Bankers, U. C. Espls, (All Havana) 10c, 3 for 25c
Salerosa, Ideals, ... 10c each
El Deletosa, Puritanos Extra (All Havana), 10c each
E. & E., Invincibles, ... 15c, 2 for 25c
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported), . 15c, 2 for 25c
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported) . 20c, 5 for $1.00

Standard Goods, some of our well-known and popular Brands which we recommend.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
VARTRAY WATER CO.
BUFFALO, N.Y.
ASK THE WAITER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[30]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 7, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 29

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 7.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
3. WALTZ, "Meerleuchten" . . . . . Ziehrer
4. SELECTION, "Madame Angot" . . . . . Lecocq

---

5. TWO SLAVONIC DANCES . . . . . Dvorák
6. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini
   'Cello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.
7. LEGATO . . . . . Strube
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY No. 2 . . . . . Liszt

---

9. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
10. TWO MOVEMENTS from "Peer Gynt" . . . . . Grieg
11. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19 . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY,
General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers,
Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years.
Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered.
Telephones in all offices.

TO OBTAIN THE MOST SUCCESSFUL VOCAL COMPOSITIONS OF THE DAY

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR

Boosey & Company's Latest English Songs and Ballads,

Selected from the principal catalogues of England.

OR WRITE TO

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

Mr. J. Marshall

Wilson

ANNOUNCES A SERIES OF

Dramatic Readings

IN

AMERICAN,
ITALIAN,
FRENCH,
ENGLISH,
GERMAN, and SPANISH
LITERATURES

On Tuesday afternoons in November in Steinert Hall, Boston.

ESTABLISHED 1823

Chickering & Sons

ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Saturday, June 8, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 30
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.
The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

SATURDAY, JUNE 8.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . Auber
3. KAISER WALTZ . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Serenade" . . . Herbert

5. OVERTURE, "Freischütz" . . . Weber
6. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . Delibes
7. PRELUDE, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . Wagner
8. HUNGARIAN MARCH . . . Berlioz

9. SELECTION, "San Toy" (First time.) . . . Jones
10. SERENADE . . . Moszkowski
11. WALTZ, "Jolly Fellows" . . . Vollstedt
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . Suppé

THURSDAY, JUNE 13 . . . WAGNER NIGHT
TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . REQUEST NIGHT

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON,
BROOKLINE.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls
AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany, N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.50	11.60
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
CHATHAM,	13.10	11.50	7.00

CONDITIONS.

Class A.— On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.— On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.— On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[32]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 10, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 31
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

MONDAY, JUNE 10.

PROGRAMME.

1. U.S. VOLUNTEERS' MARCH . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "La Dame Blanche" . . . . . Boïeldieu
3. WALTZ, "Ins Centrum" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod

5. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
6. HUNGARIAN DANCES, Nos. 3 and 1 . . . . . Brahms
7. NORWEGIAN RHAPSODY (First time.) . . . . . Svendsen
8. WAR MARCH, from "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner

9. FINALE, "Ariele" . . . . . Bach
10. a. SERENADE . . . . . Bennett
    b. WALTZ . . . . . Bennett
    (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
11. POLKA, "Sängerluft" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Gruss in die Ferne" . . . . . Döring

THURSDAY, JUNE 13 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

NEW MUSIC for SUMMER PLAYING.

ISIS. Gavotte	Hassler.	$0 40
LOST IN DREAMS. (Traumverloren)	Max Zach.	.40
CRUISER HARVARD. March	G. Strube.	.50
BLACK BESS. March	G. Strube.	.50
SUMMER MEMORIES. Waltzes	A. S. Daggett.	.75
TANTALIZING TILLY. Two Step	H. T. Adams.	.50

All the music played at these concerts for sale by

C. W. THOMPSON & CO., Music Publishers,
13 WEST STREET, BOSTON.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these Concerts.

MAH MAL.
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

Sole Agents in New England for
Daniel Crawford, Glasgow,
Finest, Very Old
"Q SCOTCH"
WHISKEY.
To be had at the Leading Hotels and Clubs.

Importers of
Deinhard & Co.'s
Rhine Wines.

Grand Prix,
Paris, 1900.

Niersteiner
Riesling and Steinwein
(in box bottles)
on sale at these concerts.

Wines, Spirits, Teas, and Cigars.

185 and 187 State Street, Boston.

PUREOXIA
GINGER ALE

SIPHON SODA
Mineral Waters
In Siphons
Sparkling Lithia
CLUB SODA

YOUR GROCER, or DIRECT
(Telephone, 1147 Back Bay.)

Made from Distilled
Water

Inspection of our model plant, Whipple St., Back Bay, earnestly solicited.

[33]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 11, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 32

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

The
United States
Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

TUESDAY, JUNE 11.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral
2. OVERTURE, "A Night in Granada" . . . . . Kreutzer
3. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "The Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. JUBEL OVERTURE . . . . . Weber
6. a. SOLVEJG'S SONG . . . . . Grieg
   b. NORWEGIAN DANCE . . . . . Grieg
7. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Strauss
8. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni

---

9. SELECTION, "San Toy" . . . . . Jones
10. TWO MOVEMENTS from "Sylvia," Ballet Music . . Delibes
11. WALTZ, "Gypsy Baron" . . . . . Milloecker
12. MARCH, "King Karl" . . . . . Unrate

THURSDAY, JUNE 13 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Ginita Puritano	10 cents each
Ginita Perfecto	15 cents, 2 for 25 cents
Susette Conchas Especial	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Catriona Perfecto	10 cents each
Elena Deliciosos Extra	15 cents each
Monte Rosa Violetas	20 cents each

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.

BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT

BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT

163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 12, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Vol. II. No. 33

Published by C. A. ELLIS.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Dining and Diners.

A place that is highly appreciated for its excellent repasts.

To dine at "The Hayward" is a phrase having specific implication of enjoyment. It implies choice food excellently served amidst artistic surroundings, in the atmosphere of genteel Bohemia that is particularly conducive to the effect described by Shakespeare's line, "Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both." "The Hayward," 16, 18, 20, 22, 26, Hayward Place, is a subtly attractive place, containing three large dining-rooms, beautifully embellished, and twenty private dining-rooms, examples of the decorator's beautifying skill. The service is excellent, and the cuisine of the best.

At "The Hayward" one may indulge his Epicurean taste with all the luxuries. Nothing that is pleasant to the palate and delighting to the eye is impossible to the chef's craftsmanship. Moreover, the wine cellar is well stocked with the best.

A feature of "The Hayward" is the fineness of the music.

The Neapolitan Quartette, Signor Vincenzo Portonova, tenor, entertains the assemblage during the repast with excellent selections.

The table d'hôte dinners, with a pint of wine, served from 5.30 to 8.30 P.M., at a very reasonable price of 75 cents, are very popular.— Boston Courier.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Teufels" . . . . . Suppé
2. OVERTURE, "La Gazza Ladra" . . . . . Rossini
3. WALTZ, "Roses of the South" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . . Nicolai
6. ANDANTE for String Orchestra . . . . . Tschaikowsky
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. THREE DANCES from "Henry VIII." . . . . . German
8. AN EVENING WITH BILSE . . . . . Scherz

---

9. OVERTURE, "Frau Meisterin" . . . . . Suppé
10. INVITATION TO DANCE . . . . . Weber
11. POLKA, "The Mill" . . . . . Eilenberg
12. MARCH, "Merry War" . . . . . Strauss

THURSDAY, JUNE 13 . . . . . WAGNER NIGHT
TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

Boston Club Lager

Is served at these Concerts.

The best judges unreservedly admit that this is the

BEST BEER BREWED.

It is brewed and bottled only by

A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats, 25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER,
BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 13, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 34
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13.

WAGNER NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Yankee Recruit" . . . . . Whipple
2. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . A. Thomas
3. WALTZ, "Thousand and One Nights" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "The Huguenots" . . . . . Meyerbeer
5. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
6. EVENING STAR . . . . . Wagner
   Solo Trombone, Mr. Carl Hampe.
7. a. SERENATA . . . . . Moszkowski
   b. SEVILLIANA . . . . . Massenet
8. INTRODUCTION TO ACTS I. AND II., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
9. WALDWEBEN . . . . . Wagner
10. GAVOTTE, "Stephanie" . . . . . Czibulka
11. WALTZ, "Snowballs" . . . . . Ziehrer
12. MARCH, "Nibelungen" . . . . . Sonntag

TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTOR CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer

FOOD BEER

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,

17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 14, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 35
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 14.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Felsenmühle" . . . . . Reissiger
3. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "San Toy" . . . . . Jones

5. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . . . Weber
6. SERENADE, "Good-bye" . . . . . Strube
   Solo Trumpet, Mr. Louis Klöpfel.
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. POLONAISE . . . . . Liszt
8. SLAVIC MARCH . . . . . Tschaikowsky
   (First time.)

9. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
10. NARCISSUS . . . . . Nevin
11. WALTZ, "Donauwellen" . . . . . Ivanovici
12. MARCH, "Vienna Dude" . . . . . Wagner

TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

ASK FOR Schlitz
SOLD HERE
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
UNEQUALLED FOR TABLE USE.
JOS. GAHN & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

PHILADELPHIA ALE ON DRAUGHT SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES.

SOL. BACHARACH,
New England Agent,
508-510 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.
Telephone 3805.

PILSENER BEER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 160 Commercial Street.
Telephone, Richmond 306.
Also New England Agents for Bavarian Beers and William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Ales.

Kennedy's Biscuit.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
Kennedy Biscuit Works.

Symphony
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.
ON SALE AT THE "POPS"
ESTABROOK & EATON'S

Marguerite, Conchas,	10c, 3 for 25c
Merchants & Bankers, U. C. Espls, (All Havana)	10c, 3 for 25c
Salerosa, Ideals,	10c each
El Deletosa, Puritanos Extra (All Havana),	10c each
E. & E., Invincibles,	15c, 2 for 25c
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported),	15c, 2 for 25c
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported)	20c, 5 for $1.00

Standard Goods, some of our well-known and popular Brands which we recommend.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
VARTRAY WATER CO.
BUFFALO, N.Y.
ASK THE WAITER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 15, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 36

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 15.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Le Prophète" . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
3. WALTZ, "Bei uns z' Haus" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Mikado" . . . . . Sullivan
5. THREE DANCES, from "Nell Gwyn" . . . . . German
   (First time.)
6. a. "LE DERNIER SOMMEIL DE LA VIERGE" . . Massenet
   b. AUBADE PRINTANIÈRE" . . . . . Lacome
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. BALLET MUSIC, from "Queen of Sheba" . . . . Goldmark
   'Cello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.
8. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
9. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
10. LOIN DU BAL . . . . . Gillet
11. MAZURKA, "Czarina" . . . . . Ganne
12. MARCH, "Runaway Girl" . . . . . Moncton

TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY,
General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers,
Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years.
Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered.
Telephones in all offices.

THE DEMAND IN BOSTON IS INCREASING for Good English Songs and Ballads, by Eminent Composers.

TRY THESE:

"JAPANESE LOVE SONG," by Clayton Thomas. Keys F, G, and A-flat.
"CUPID ON THE CLOCK," by H. Farjeon. Keys C and D.
"DOWN THE VALE," by F. L. Moir. Keys C, D-flat, E-flat, F and G.
"ROSES OF JUNE," by E. German. Keys D, F, and G.
"THE ROSE," "THE RIVER BY THE SEA," } by Noel Johnson.
"PHYLLIS," by Edwin Carey. Keys D and F.
"O PUREST PEARL OF PARADISE," by F. Lambert.

CAN BE HAD AT ALL LEADING DEALERS OR

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

Mr. J. Marshall Wilson

ANNOUNCES A SERIES OF

Dramatic Readings

IN

AMERICAN,
ITALIAN,
FRENCH,
ENGLISH,
GERMAN, and SPANISH
LITERATURES

On Tuesday afternoons in November in Steinert Hall, Boston.

ESTABLISHED 1823 Chickering & Sons ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Monday, June 17, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 37
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.
The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

MONDAY, JUNE 17.
PROGRAMME.

1. WEDDING MARCH . . . . . Mendelssohn
2. OVERTURE, "Euryanthe . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "O Schöner Mai" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Trovatore" . . . . . Verdi

5. CZARDAS, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" . . . . . Grossman
6. KAISER VARIATIONS . . . . . Haydn
7. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin
8. OVERTURE, "Le Roi d'Ys" . . . . . Lalo

9. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
10. TRAUMBILDER . . . . . Lumbye
Zither Solo, Mr. Karl Keller.
11. MAZOURKA, "Libelle" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Puppenfee" . . . . . Bayer

TUESDAY, JUNE 18 . . . . . HARVARD NIGHT
THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT
MONDAY, JUNE 24 . . . . . GRADUATES' NIGHT

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON,
BROOKLINE.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls
AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany, N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.50	11.60
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
CHATHAM,	13.10	11 50	7.00

CONDITIONS.

Class A.— On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.— On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser; and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.— On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 18, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 38
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

GREAT WESTERN
CHAMPAGNE

A natural, genuine champagne, of the finest quality produced in America.

Sold by Wine Merchants, Grocers, and Druggists.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18.
HARVARD NIGHT.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
4. SELECTION, "San Toy" . . . . . Jones
5. OVERTURE, "Sphinx" . . . . . Thompson
6. WALTZ, "Jolly Students" . . . . . Vollstedt
7. SELECTION, "The Viking" . . . . . Loud
8. AMERICAN FANTASY . . . . . Herbert
9. a. SERENADE . . . . . Whipple
   b. YANKEE RECRUIT . . . . . Whipple
10. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
11. FAIR HARVARD
12. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse

THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . . REQUEST NIGHT
MONDAY, JUNE 24 . . . . . GRADUATES' NIGHT

NEW MUSIC for SUMMER PLAYING.

ISIS. Gavotte		Hassler.	$0.40
LOST IN DREAMS. (Traumverloren)		Max Zach.	.40
CRUISER HARVARD. March		G. Strube.	.50
BLACK BESS. March		G. Strube.	.50
SUMMER MEMORIES. Waltzes		A. S. Daggett.	.75
TANTALIZING TILLY. Two Step		H. T. Adams.	.50

All the music played at these concerts for sale by
C. W. THOMPSON & CO., Music Publishers,
13 WEST STREET, BOSTON.

MAH MAL.
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

Sole Agents in New England for
Daniel Crawford, Glasgow,
Finest, Very Old
"Q SCOTCH"
WHISKEY.
To be had at the Leading Hotels and Clubs.

Importers of
Deinhard & Co.'s
Rhine Wines.
Grand Prix, Paris, 1900.
Niersteiner Riesling and Steinwein
(in box bottles)
on sale at these concerts.

Wines, Spirits, Teas, and Cigars.

185 and 187 State Street, Boston.

PUREOXIA
GINGER ALE

SIPHON SODA
Mineral Waters
In Siphons
Sparkling Lithia
CLUB SODA

YOUR GROCER, or DIRECT
(Telephone, 1147 Back Bay.)

Made from Distilled
Water

Inspection of our model plant, Whipple St., Back Bay, earnestly solicited.

[40]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 19, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 39
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, Ameer" . . . . . Herbert
2. OVERTURE, "Tabasco" . . . . . Chadwick
3. WALTZ, "Lagunen" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven

5. AVANT LE COMBAT . . . . . Palfy
6. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY IN F . . . . . Liszt
7. INTRODUCTION, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
8. ACADEMIC FESTIVAL OVERTURE . . . . . Grace
(First time.)

9. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
10. WALTZ, "Traumwelt" . . . . . Spalding
11. POLKA, "Hunter's Yarn" . . . . . Komzak
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

THURSDAY, JUNE 20 . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT
FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . . REQUEST NIGHT
MONDAY, JUNE 24 . . . . GRADUATES' NIGHT

The United States Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Ginita Puritano	10 cents each
Ginita Perfecto	15 cents, 2 for 25 cents
Susette Conchas Especial	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Catriona Perfecto	10 cents each
Elena Deliciosos Extra	15 cents each
Monte Rosa Violetas	20 cents each

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT
163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

NORFOLK CABINET

LAGER BEER

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 20, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 40

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Dining and Diners.

A place that is highly appreciated for its excellent repasts.

To dine at "The Hayward" is a phrase having specific implication of enjoyment. It implies choice food excellently served amidst artistic surroundings, in the atmosphere of genteel Bohemia that is particularly conducive to the effect described by Shakespeare's line, "Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both." "The Hayward," 16, 18, 20, 22, 26, Hayward Place, is a subtly attractive place, containing three large dining-rooms, beautifully embellished, and twenty private dining-rooms, examples of the decorator's beautifying skill. The service is excellent, and the cuisine of the best.

At "The Hayward" one may indulge his Epicurean taste with all the luxuries. Nothing that is pleasant to the palate and delighting to the eye is impossible to the chef's craftsmanship. Moreover, the wine cellar is well stocked with the best.

A feature of "The Hayward" is the fineness of the music.

The Neapolitan Quartette, Signor Vincenzo Portonova, tenor, entertains the assemblage during the repast with excellent selections.

The table d'hôte dinners, with a pint of wine, served from 5.30 to 8.30 P.M., at a very reasonable price of 75 cents, are very popular.— Boston Courier.

THURSDAY, JUNE 20.

BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . Kral
2. OPENING CHORUS, from "Miss Simplicity" . . . Heartz
3. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . Zeller
4. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . Thomas

5. SELECTIONS, "Miss Simplicity": —
   a. "Stand back, bow low" . . . Heartz
   b. "Rosalie" . . . Corliss
   c. "The Nursery Grenadiers" . . . Corliss
   d. "When will my dream come true" . . . Heartz
   e. "Finale, Act I. . . . Heartz
6. INTERMISSION, "Naila" . . . Delibes
7. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . Herold

8. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . Suppé
   'Cello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.
9. a. GAVOTTE, "Floralma" . . . Gilbert
   b. ANDANTE, "Eulah" . . . Gilbert
10. FOREIGN DITTIES, from "Miss Simplicity" . . . Heartz
11. MARCH, "The Continentals" . . . Brooke

FRIDAY, JUNE 21 . . . REQUEST NIGHT
MONDAY, JUNE 24 . . . GRADUATES' NIGHT

Boston Club Lager

Is served at these Concerts.

The best judges unreservedly admit that this is the

BEST BEER BREWED.

It is brewed and bottled only by

A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats, 25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER,
BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 21, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 41
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTORIA CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

FRIDAY, JUNE 21.

REQUEST NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Transcontinental" . . . Rice
2. OVERTURE, "Masaniello" . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Doctrinen" . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . Bizet
5. HUNGARIAN DANCES Nos. 5 and 6 . . . Brahms
6. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . A. Thomas
7. TALES FROM THE VIENNA WOODS . . . Strauss
   Zither Solo, Mr. Keller.
8. FINALE, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . Wagner
9. SELECTION, "The Brigands" . . . Offenbach
10. WALTZ, "Roses from the South" . . . Strauss
11. POLKA, "Mama, Papa" . . . Bayer
12. MARCH, "On the Links" . . . Churchill

MONDAY, JUNE 24 . . . . . GRADUATES' NIGHT

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer
FOOD BEER
TRADE MARK

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 22, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 42
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 22.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
3. KAISER WALTZ . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi

5. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . . Nicolai
6. PROCESSION OF THE WOMEN, from "Lohengrin" . Wagner
7. WALTZ, "Die Fledermaus" . . . . . Strauss
8. SLAVIC MARCH . . . . . Tschaikowsky

9. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
10. FORGET ME NOT . . . . . Macbeth
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Teufel" . . . . . Suppé

MONDAY, JUNE 24 . . . . . GRADUATES' NIGHT
SATURDAY, JUNE 29 . . . . . CLOSING NIGHT

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
UNEQUALLED FOR TABLE USE.
JOS. GAHN & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

PHILADELPHIA ALE ON DRAUGHT SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES.
SOL. BACHARACH,
New England Agent,
508-510 Atlantic Avenue, Boston.
Telephone 3805.

PILSENER BEER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 160 Commercial Street.
Telephone, Richmond 306.
Also New England Agents for Bavarian Beers and William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Ales.

Kennedy's Biscuit.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.

Kennedy Biscuit Works.
Symphony
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.
ON SALE AT THE "POPS"
ESTABROOK & EATON'S

Marguerite, Conchas, ...	10c, 3 for 25c
Merchants & Bankers, U. C. Espls, (All Havana)	10c, 3 for 25c
Salerosa, Ideals, ...	10c each
El Deletosa, Puritanos Extra (All Havana),	10c each
E. & E., Invincibles, ...	15c, 2 for 25c
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported), .	15c, 2 for 25c
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported) .	20c, 5 for $1.00

Standard Goods, some of our well-known and popular Brands which we recommend.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
VARTRAY WATER CO.
BUFFALO, N.Y.
ASK THE WAITER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[44]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 24, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 43

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

You Can

Have your last season's outfit dyed or cleansed and refinished so it will look like new by our French process. Why discard soiled clothing when it can be overhauled and worn as second best? You can

Rely On

Our methods of cleansing, and need not hesitate to trust us with articles of the most delicate textures.

We dye or cleanse and refinish PROPERLY all materials of household use and clothing of all kinds.

Lewando's

W. L. CROSBY,
General Manager.

French Cleansers, Fancy Dyers,
Fine Launderers.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES:
17 Temple Place, Boston.
479 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Established 70 years.
Largest in America.

Bundles called for and delivered.
Telephones in all offices.

MONDAY, JUNE 24.

GRADUATES' NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. a. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
   b. MARCH, "Hail to the Crimson!" . . . . . Henry, '86
2. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "Estudiantina" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart

5. SELECTION, "The Viking" . . . . . Loud
6. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
7. SELECTION, "Obispah" . . . . . Atkinson
8. AMERICAN FANTASY . . . . . Herbert

9. SELECTION, "Prince Pro Tem" . . . . . Thompson
10. WALTZ, "Jolly Students" . . . . . Vollstedt
11. FAIR HARVARD.
12. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse

SATURDAY, JUNE 29 . . . . . CLOSING NIGHT

THE RAGE OF THE PARIS SEASON.

"MON SECRET."

VALSE LENTE.

BY

MARIO COSTA,

Composer of the famous "A FRANCESA," as played at these Concerts.

To be had at all leading music dealers or 3

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, New York City.

Mr.

SAMUEL ARTHUR KING

(M. A., of London University),

Announces that he may be engaged for

Shakespearian Recitals and Lectures

During the coming season.

Address

Steinert Hall,

Boston.

ESTABLISHED 1823

Chickering & Sons

ESTABLISHED 1823

PIANOFORTE MAKERS

RETAIL WAREROOMS, 791 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON

RECIPIENTS OF 129 FIRST MEDALS & AWARDS

THESE CELEBRATED INSTRUMENTS

Have Been for Seventy-eight Years the Exponents of all that is Best in Pianoforte Construction

THEY ARE TO-DAY BETTER THAN EVER

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[45]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Tuesday, June 25, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 44
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.
The advertising columns in the Programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

TUESDAY, JUNE 25.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Banditen Streiche" . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "Artist's Life" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Madame Angot" . . . . . Lecocq

5. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
6. a. SOLVEGJ'S SONG . . . . . Grieg
   b. NORWEGIAN DANCE . . . . . Grieg
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. MELODY . . . . . Rubinstein
8. WALTZ, "Seid umschlungen, Millionen" . . . . . Strauss

9. OVERTURE, "Frau Meisterin" . . . . . Suppé
10. EN SOURDINE . . . . . Tellam
11. WALZT, "Traumwelt" . . . . . Spalding
12. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . . Wagner

SATURDAY, JUNE 29 . . . . . CLOSING NIGHT

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts smoke

DANIEL FRANK & CO.'S

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
Knight Tempter Puritanos, 15c
2 for 25c.
La Fernandina Conchas, 10c
3 for 25c.
La Celestina Puritanos . 15c
2 for 25c.
La Celestina Perfecto . . 20c
3 for 50c.

On sale at the "Pops"

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style, Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative Dealers everywhere.

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

BOSTON & ALBANY R.R.
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. CO., LESSEE.

RATES AND CONDITIONS FOR EXCURSION TICKETS TO

Buffalo or Niagara Falls
AND RETURN.

B. & A. R. R. to Albany, N. Y. C. & H. R. R.R. to Buffalo or Niagara Falls. Return same way.

ACCOUNT OF

Pan-American Exposition May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901.

From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.	From	Class A.	Class B.	Class C.
BOSTON,	$19.00	$16.00	$12.00	TEMPLETON,	$18.00	$14.75	$10.50
S. FRAMINGHAM,	18.70	15.40	11.60	ATHOL,	16.90	14.50	10.50
WORCESTER,	18.00	14.75	75.00	WESTFIELD,	15.30	13.50	10.00
PALMER,	16.25	14.00	10.50	PITTSFIELD,	13.70	12.50	9.00
SPRINGFIELD,	15.65	13.50	10.00	NORTH ADAMS,	14.00	12.50	9.00
WARE,	16.75	14.00	10.50	CHATHAM,	13.10	11.50	7.00
WINCHENDON,	18.00	14.75	10.50

CONDITIONS.

Class A.—On sale daily, and good for passage, in either direction, May 1 to October 28, final limit November 2, and in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class B.—On sale daily, and good for fifteen (15) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage only in each direction; and are non-transferable, requiring signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage. Good in Pullman cars on payment of additional charges for such accommodations.

Class C.—On sale daily, and good for eight (8) days, including date of sale, and for continuous passage in each direction, and on day coach train only. Not good in Pullman sleeping or drawing room cars. Tickets are non-transferable, and require signature of purchaser, and must be stamped by agent at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before same will be good for return passage.

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent.

The Berkeley.

Berkeley and Boylston Streets, Boston.

A modern hotel, particularly adapted to transient guests. Easy of access to all parts of the city and suburbs.

American and European Plan.
Cafe and Billiards.
Restaurant Open until Midnight.

JOHN A. SHERLOCK.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is BARTHOLOMAY'S ROCHESTER LAGER.

[46]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 26, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Vol. II. No. 45
Published by C. A. ELLIS.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26.

PROGRAMME.

1. GERMAN MARCH . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Freischütz" . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Wiener Blut" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert

5. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Herold
6. WALTZ, "Près de Toi" . . . . . Waldteufel
7. BALLET MUSIC, from "Queen of Sheba" . . . Goldmark
   'Cello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.
8. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner

9. SELECTION, "Fencing Master" . . . . . De Koven
10. NARCISSUS . . . . . Nevin
11. LOVE'S DREAM AFTER THE BALL . . . . Czibulka
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

SATURDAY, JUNE 29 . . . . . CLOSING NIGHT

NEW MUSIC for SUMMER PLAYING.

ISIS. Gavotte	Hassler.	$0.40
CASTINE. Two Step	W. Parker.	.50
CRUISER HARVARD. March	G. Strube.	.50
BLACK BESS. March	G. Strube.	.50
DREAM WORLD. Waltzes	F. A. Spalding.	.75
CARLETTA. Waltzes	Charles E. Gray.	.75
DARTMOUTH. March	E. D. Anderson.	.50

All the music played at these concerts for sale by
C. W. THOMPSON & CO., Music Publishers,
13 WEST STREET, BOSTON.

MAH MAL.
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

THE ONLY
Egyptian Cigarettes
SOLD AT
These Concerts.

No. 5s, . 15 cents per box
No. 3s, . 25 cents per box
No. 1s, . 30 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these Concerts.

THOMPSON & LEAVITT

Sole Agents in New England for
Daniel Crawford, Glasgow,
Finest, Very Old
"Q SCOTCH"
WHISKEY.
To be had at the Leading Hotels and Clubs.

Importers of
Deinhard & Co.'s
Rhine Wines.

Grand Prix,
Paris, 1900.

Niersteiner
Riesling and Steinwein
(in box bottles)
on sale at these concerts.

Wines, Spirits, Teas, and Cigars.

185 and 187 State Street, Boston.

PUREOXIA
GINGER ALE

SIPHON SODA
Mineral Waters
In Siphons
Sparkling Lithia
CLUB SODA

YOUR GROCER, or DIRECT
(Telephone, 1147 Back Bay.)

Made from Distilled
Water

Inspection of our model plant, Whipple St., Back Bay, earnestly solicited.

[47]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 27, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 46

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 27.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Szechenyi" . . . . . Fahrbach
2. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
3. WALTZ, "Vienna Beauties" . . . . . Ziehrer
4. SELECTION, "The Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. KAISER WALTZ . . . . . Strauss
6. PRELUDE TO ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . Wagner
7. TWO MOVEMENTS from "Bal Costumé" . . . Rubinstein
8. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini

'Cello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.

---

9. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
10. GAVOTTE . . . . . Gillet
11. HUSARENRITT . . . . . Spindler
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé

SATURDAY, JUNE 29 . . . . . CLOSING NIGHT

The United States Hotel,

Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Under a continuous management for twenty-five years.

Without a peer in its appointments, service, and liberal management.

The largest structure of its kind in the world.
Built entirely of brick.

The Hotel and court cover over seven acres.

For further information, rates, etc., address

GAGE & PERRY,
Proprietors,
UNITED STATES HOTEL,
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Ginita Puritano	10 cents each
Ginita Perfecto	15 cents, 2 for 25 cents
Susette Conchas Especial	10 cents, 3 for 25 cents
Catriona Perfecto	10 cents each
Elena Deliciosos Extra	15 cents each
Monte Rosa Violetas	20 cents each

ST. LOUIS

A.
B.
C.

BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT

BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

OCKENHEIMER BERG, Near Bingen
On the Rhine, GERMANY.

Philip Krim's Own Importation of Rhine Wines.

FOR THIRTY YEARS AT

163 SHAWMUT AVENUE.

OUR WINES SOLD AT THESE CONCERTS.

SOLD AT THE "POPS" FOR YEARS, AND ALWAYS A FAVORITE. NOTHING BETTER BREWED. ORDERS BY THE CASE SHOULD BE SENT TO

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 28, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 47

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 28.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Wine, Woman, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni

---

5. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
6. ANDANTE, for String Orchestra . . . . . Tschaikowsky
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. TWO SLAVIC DANCES . . . . . Dvorak
8. CONGRESS OF MELODIES, ... Conradi

---

9. SELECTION, "San Toy" . . . . . Jones
10. SPRING SONG . . . . . Mendelssohn
11. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Merry Soldiers" . . . . . Sabathil

SATURDAY, JUNE 29 . . . . . CLOSING NIGHT

Dining and Diners.

A place that is highly appreciated for its excellent repasts.

To dine at "The Hayward" is a phrase having specific implication of enjoyment. It implies choice food excellently served amidst artistic surroundings, in the atmosphere of genteel Bohemia that is particularly conducive to the effect described by Shakespeare's line, "Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both." "The Hayward," 16, 18, 20, 22, 26, Hayward Place, is a subtly attractive place, containing three large dining-rooms, beautifully embellished, and twenty private dining-rooms, examples of the decorator's beautifying skill. The service is excellent, and the cuisine of the best.

At "The Hayward" one may indulge his Epicurean taste with all the luxuries. Nothing that is pleasant to the palate and delighting to the eye is impossible to the chef's craftsmanship. Moreover, the wine cellar is well stocked with the best.

A feature of "The Hayward" is the fineness of the music.

The Neapolitan Quartette, Signor Vincenzo Portonova, tenor, entertains the assemblage during the repast with excellent selections.

The table d'hôte dinners, with a pint of wine, served from 5.30 to 8.30 P.M., at a very reasonable price of 75 cents, are very popular.— Boston Courier.

Boston Club Lager

Is served at these Concerts.

The best judges unreservedly admit that this is the

BEST BEER BREWED.

It is brewed and bottled only by

A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

Copley Square Hotel,

Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe. Open until 12.30.

F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

THE POPS.

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats, 25 Cents Extra.

Rochester Brewing Company's Standard

IN BOTTLES.

ALBRECHT & KOELLNER,
BOSTON.

To be had at all Clubs

Hotel Touraine
Parker's
Young's
Adams House
Somerset Hotel
Brunswick
Victoria
The Hayward
The Raleigh
Westminster
Hotel Essex
Hotel Bellevue
And many others

This Scotch comes direct to us from the distillers, and we can sell it less than brands bought through New York agents. It is excellent value.

CODMAN & HALL COMPANY
Importers
DEWEY SQUARE, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 29, 1901. Sixteenth Season. Summer 1901
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. II. No. 48
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 29.

CLOSING NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Teufel" . . . . . Suppé
2. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
3. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod

5. ENTRÉE TRIOMPHALE DES BAYARDS . . . Halvorsen
6. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY No. 2 . . . . . Liszt
7. LEGATO . . . . . Strube
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner

9. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
10. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
11. HUSARENRITT . . . . . Milloecker
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

ALWAYS ORDER AT THESE CONCERTS

ROSS'S ROYAL BELFAST GINGER ALE.

The original and best, and the only imported Ginger Ale supplied by the United States government to our soldiers in the Philippines.

We are also agents for the

"Great Auk's Head"

brand of BASS'S ALE and GUINNESS'S STOUT, YOUNGERS' SPARKLING SCOTCH ALE, and

"VICTORIA CROSS" SCOTCH WHISKEY.

This is a grand old blended Glenlivet, thoroughly matured in sherry casks, possessing great body, softness and delicacy of flavor, and the delight of all good judges, connoisseurs, and lovers of

PERFECTION IN SCOTCH WHISKEY.

W. A. ROSS & BROTHER,
NEW YORK.
29 Central Street, BOSTON.

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

Hygeia Lithia Water,

Sparkling and Still.

By its use you will avoid the germs of disease which natural MINERAL WATERS are liable to contain.

The only Lithia Water

Sold at these Concerts.

S. S. PIERCE CO.

ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS.

King's Bohemian Beer

CASE ORDERS SHOULD BE SENT

Massachusetts Breweries Co.,
17 Otis Street, Boston.

You recognize the trade-mark. A trial of the ale will convince you of its superior merit.

[50]

[illegible] in with [illegible]
[illegible] the [illegible] much [illegible]
[illegible] avoid [illegible] hats and [illegible] while holding their modishness on [illegible] with [illegible] coloring and [illegible]
[illegible] wear an all white gown.

There were the usual number of correct and faultless pale gray frocks in this brilliant company, and two or three elegant all black sequined gowns. Biscuit and pale blue were much in evidence as colors selected by those who are in the know, for ceremonious gowns particularly adapted for this season.

Later Symphony Hall will be a veritable Mecca for the display of diaphanous creations built for summer wear, and the fashionable element is sure to exploit the very latest modes in severe white shirt waists and seemingly simple outing hats. It is one of the rare occasions for studying correct modes, as well as a grand opportunity to hear the famous Symphony orchestra at popular fees. The recreation which is afforded by such delightful music cannot be overestimated.

G. M. P.

[51]

Herald May 6-01

GOWNS AT THE "POPS."

Artistic Creations Seen the Opening Night.

may 6

No End of the Handsome Light-Tinted Foulards.

Ample Opportunity to Wear the Skirt Trailing.

SUCH a fashionable crush filled Symphony Hall on the opening night of the "Pop" concerts! And what a splendid background for good gowns is that Pompeiian red tinting on the walls of this handsome hall! Then, too, the floors are so immaculate, even in the corridors, that it is possible for the women to wear their gowns trailing. This is a positive delight to both wearer and onlooker, for the season's modes demand that Parisian trait, the wearing of skirts without fear of soiling their skirt hems.

What a foreign atmosphere these concerts take on this season! Really the "Pops" in the old Music Hall days did not begin to compare with these delightful affairs in their present artistic environment. Everyone moves about visiting their acquaintances from table to table, and during the second intermission of the orchestra it is safe to say that every well gowned woman on the floor moves on to the promenade.

And, speaking of promenading, it is a real pleasure in Symphony Hall, for the corridor extends all about the house, and is amply wide to permit one to walk comfortably. Society was well represented on the promenade on Monday night, and the women's gowns and picturesque hats were extremely effective.

A well-known society girl looked no end smart in a costume of white India dimity figured with Dresden rosebuds and built over white taffeta. The foundation was circular, with a narrow bias ruffle on edge. The circular dimity drop-skirt had a shaped flounce, edged with a frill of cream Mechlin and latticed with rows of Mechlin insertion, with beading, run with moss green velvet baby ribbon. This filmy circular flounce was joined to the circular top with wide Mechlin insertion, with beading run with wider velvet ribbon, tying in a bow knot in front.

The fulness of the back of the skirt was laid in tiny lingerie tucks at the waist line. The blouse bodice was of the Mechlin insertion and muslin, opening over a V of finely tucked white mull, which was also used for a yoke and undersleeves. The sleeves were done with insertions and a frill of Mechlin, and velvet run beading, and her lace stock was run with velvet ribbon. A broad girdle of green panne, with long sash ends, finished her waistline.

Her hat was one of the mohair straws, faced with shirred white chiffon. The lace crown was decorated with clusters of white rosebuds all around the brim, and a huge bow of pink louisine ribbon lent the necessary touch of color to her toilet.

A stunning black and white satiny-finished foulard frock was conspicuous on the promenade. It was built with the circular flared skirt modishly feather-stitched with coarse black embroidery silk in graduated lengths about the hips, and laid in pinched tucks over the tournure. The bodice was tight-fitting at the back and opened Frenchily over a tucked white batiste, valenciennes run blouse front.

The stock of ecru cluny showed a narrow fold of cerise taffeta next the throat, and the waistline was girdled with three tones of cerise in the broad effect. The sleeves were wide to the elbow, with tiny turnbacks of cerise edged foulard, and there were undersleeves of val run tucked batiste. Her hat, an off the face affair, was of white chiffon sequined with silver and decorated with salmon pink roses.

One of the new smoke-colored grenadines, over cream taffeta, was smartly worn by one of society's leaders at a table pretty well near the centre of the hall. The bouffant effect was produced by the circular taffeta foundation being finished with a narrow bias ruffle, with an accordion-plaited chiffon flounce veiling this, edged by a tiny ruche. The grenadine drop skirt was seven gored, with insertions of twine-color Russian lace at each seam.

There were two flounces of twine-color La Tosca net, hand embroidered with silver bow knots, and finished on their edges with two quilled rows of smoke velvet baby ribbon across the front and sides. A box plait over the tournure ended in sort of a drapery near the centre of the back, beneath which the material flared out into a demi-train.

The bodice was pointed in front, sort of wrapped, as to material, and had a narrow girdle, following point, of smoke-gray panne velvet, with rosette and sash ends of La Tosca net, with silver embroidered ends. The stock was of the net, transparent, and held in place with feather bone. About her throat was tied a bit of black maline, which ended in rosette ends at the nape of her neck.

Her hat was a high at the left side, pale pink chiffon affair, with long, pale pink ostrich plume for its only decoration.

There were no end of handsome light tinted foulards and particularly distinc-

Herald May 7-01

MUSIC AND COOL DRINKS.

Symphony Hall Listens to Its First Pop Concert in Presence of a Big Audience.

The "Pops" are on!

With the Symphony—the same, incomparable Symphony—wresting melody from manuscript on the stage, with the balconies showering applause and the floor echoing rapid-fire volleys of exploding bottles beneath the smoke clouds of revelry, with Bacchus and Apollo embracing on the threshold of the century, the "Pops," last "sweet sixteen," gave a birthday party and house warming in Symphony Hall last evening.

There were 2000 people there, come to differentiate between Strauss and Pabst, to gather new ideas in millinery and cull fresh inspiration from Zach, to sit at table and discuss "brands" and walk the promenade and grow enthusiastic over "technique," to ask their neighbors where they are going to "summer" and order the waiter to bring "the same," to give an attentive ear to gossip, a keen eye to fashion, a perfunctory hand to music, and a smile to everything.

Mr. Max Zach was on the conductor's stand, and was given the usual hearty greeting as he lifted his baton for the first selection.

At the first intermission there was some reluctance shown in leaving the hall, though at the second there was a general stampede for the spacious, attractive corridors outside. These corridors contribute a new and very pleasing feature to the pop concerts. They run around three sides of the hall, and are cool, well lighted and, being separate from the hall, allow the ladies some escape from the smoke laden atmosphere inside. They were very generally commended last evening.

An incident of the promenade period was the general handshaking and acknowledgment of congratulations that fell to the lot of Mr. C. A. Ellis, who, after an extended absence in Europe, has returned to the management of the "pops" as the official representative of Mr. F. L. Higginson. Mr. F. R. Comee, who has so ably managed the "pops" the past two seasons, was also on hand, and received the greetings of a host of friends. He is assisting Mr. Ellis in this season's concerts.

Boston Courier May 11-01

—The opening of the Pop concert season, Monday evening, brought together one of the largest audiences of the season, and every table on the floor was taken within a few hours after the sale began. Mr. Ellis and Mr. Comee, the managers, were congratulated on all sides on the auspicious advent of the eight weeks of concerts. Quite the largest party on the opening night was entertained by Mr. Richard Heard, and occupied five tables. The guests were Signor and Signora Rotoli, Judge Everett C. Bumpus, Mr. and Mrs. A. Forbes Conant, Mr. Howard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Beals, jr., Mrs. John M. Corse, Mr. Harold Porter Wardwell, Miss McNichol, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle and Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Pratt. Mrs. Gordon Dexter took a large party, and presented an elegant appearance in a beautiful white bodice, applique with black, and a black skirt and black and white hat. Mrs. Alex. H. Higginson, who entertained a party of three, was entirely in black, with a toque of blue tulle, having a knot of black velvet at the front. Mrs. Fred R. Comee looked very stylish in bluet cloth, the bolero opening over a white blouse. Her hat was of black and white. Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Gericke had a party of friends at their table and Mrs. Gericke looked extremely well in a gown of foulard silk, and a black hat. Captain and Mrs. William H. Alline were present, with the latter's sister, Mrs. Merrill. Mrs. Alline wore a becoming toilette of India silk. Miss Sallie Hecht, whose engagement to Dr. Ehrlich has recently been announced, was present with her fiance and her brother. Miss Hecht was distingaished in a black gown, with black hat. Mrs. James B. Forsyth was stylishly attired in black, the bodice trimmed with white and red. Mr. Forsyth was with her. A party of young people who distinguished themselves in the Criterion Club theatricals, last week, included Mr. Walter H. Dugan, Mr. Samuel Oliver, Miss Richardson and Miss Ramsdell. Others noted were Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, Mr. Charles Hayden and party, Mrs. Fenollosa and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denee, Dr. J. Foster Bush, Prof. and Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. L. H. Mudgett and her sister, Miss Armstrong, Mr and Mrs. Alexander Steinert, Mr. George Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kramer, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Dobson, Miss Ethel Sims Nowell, Mr. Willoughby Richardson and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Andrews, Col. Woods, of the Herald, Mrs. Max Zach and party, Mr. Fritz Kreisler, Dr. Charles Galloupe and guests, Mr Codman and party, Mrs. George M. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Dr. Hewes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kimball Crane, Gen. Curtis Guild, with Mrs Watson and several more. Mr. Schuyler Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Clement, Mr. Charles E. Perkins with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper and a long list of prominent people.

Chelsea Gazette May 11 01

Conductor Max Zach has made an orchestral selection from "The Viking," by Mr. John Loud, and it will be played at the "pop" concert at Symphony Hall next Monday evening.

Transcript May 11-01

The first week of the sixteenth season of "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall has been a decided success. The new hall is admirably adapted for the accommodation of the patrons, and the spacious corridors for promenading adds much to the enjoyment of the large number who attend these popular entertainments. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Max Zach are rendering excellent programmes, as will be seen by the following selections which are to be given this evening: March, "Vienna Dudes," Wagner; overture, "Martha," Flotow; waltz, "Pomone," Waldteufel; selection, "The Rounders," Engländer; "Blissful Dream," Meyer-Helmund; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; waltz and polka, from "Ballet Sylvia," Delibes; overture, "William Tell," Rossini, 'cello obbligato, Mr. [illegible]; selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; "Husarenritt," Spindler; march, "Up the Street," Morse.

Gazette May 11-01

—The "Pops" have had large and eminently swagger audiences through their first week, and everything indicates that they will be as fashionable as ever. In the brilliant audiences of this week have been Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mr. Schuyler Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Drake, Dr. C. A. Galloupe, Mrs. Gordon Dexter and party, Mrs. Alexander Higginson and party, Mrs. and Mrs. Francis Skinner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Deland, Mr. Charles Hayden, Mrs. J. L. Gardner, Mr. Robert D. Evans, Mr. Parker Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clements, Col. and Mrs. E. H. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Boylston Beal, Mr. and Mrs. I. Howland Jones, Col. and Mrs. Curtis Guild, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Perkins, Judge Bumpus, Mr. and Mrs. William Beak, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Comee, Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, Mr. Richard Hurd, Mrs. George Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elson, Mr. Robert D. Meade, Jr., Mr. Walter Deland Came, Mrs. and Miss Fenollosa, Sig. and Mrs. Rotolli, Miss Ware and Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Brainerd.

Cambridge Press May 8-01

The Pop Concerts.

Almost as an echo of the last notes of the Symphony season, which ended last Saturday night, comes the opening night of the Pops Monday evening, May 6, in the new Symphony hall. The same general plan which has made these concerts successful for fifteen years will be carried out during the eight weeks which they are to run. There will be the same splendid orchestra of fifty players, from the ranks of the Boston Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Max Zach for the first four weeks, and Mr. Gustav Strube for the balance of the season. There will be one radical change, as during the present season the admission fee will be fifty cents, with twenty-five cents extra for each reserved seat. The entire floor will be given up to tables, as usual, the same relative number to be reserved, with a generous allowance for the holders of admission tickets only. There will be no tables in the balcony. The beautiful interior of the new Symphony hall will offer a most delightful contrast to the sombre hues of the old Music hall, against which attempts at decoration seemed almost futile. When these summer concerts were inaugurated fifteen years ago, it was with the idea of playing light music of the best kind, which, for obvious reasons, could not find a place on a Symphony program, and the management wishes to announce that during the coming season the effort will be made to return to this class of music and to exclude from the programs selections of a cheap and ordinary character. Tickets at Symphony hall.

Post - May 11-01

The surroundings of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall add much to the pleasure of the patrons. The audience this evening promises to be the largest of the week, and the selections to be played by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Max Zach include the march "Up the Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," "Grubenlichter" and many other favorite pieces of past seasons.

Journal May 11-01

The surroundings of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall add much to the pleasure of the patrons of these popular entertainments. The orchestra this evening under the direction of Max Zach will play the popular music of past seasons, which includes "Up the Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," "Grubenlichter," and other favorites.

Herald May 11-01

The new surroundings of the Pop oncerts in Symphony Hall add much o the pleasure of the many patrons of hese entertainments. The audience this vening promises to be the largest of he week. Among the selections to be layed by the orchestra, under the irection of Mr. Max Zach, are "Up he Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," 'Grubenlichter," and many other favor-e pieces of past seasons.

Cambridge Chronicle May 11-01

THE POP CONCERTS.

Almost as an echo of the last notes of the Symphony season, which ended last Saturday night, comes the opening night of the Pops Monday evening, May 6, in the new Symphony hall. The same general plan which has made these concerts successful for fifteen years will be carried out during the eight weeks which they are to run. There will be the same splendid orchestra of fifty players, from the ranks of the Boston Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Max Zach for the first four weeks, and Mr. Gustav Strube for the balance of the season. There will be one radical change, as during the present season the admission fee will be fifty cents, with twenty-five cents extra for each reserved seat. The entire floor will be given up to tables, as usual, the same relative number to be reserved, with a generous allowance for the holders of admission tickets only. There will be no tables in the balcony. The beautiful interior of the new Symphony hall will offer a most delightful contrast to the sombre hues of the old Music hall, against which attempts at decoration seemed almost futile. When these summer concerts were inaugurated fifteen years ago, it was with the idea of playing light music of the best kind, which, for obvious reasons, could not find a place on a Symphony program, and the management wishes to announce that during the coming season the effort will be made to return to this class of music and to exclude from the programs selections of a cheap and ordinary character. Tickets at Symphony hall.

Home Journal May 11-01

Symphony Hall was a feast of color Monday evening when the first Pop concert of the season brought out a tremendous audience. Among those there were Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper, who had a table near the stage. With them was Mrs. Hooper's father, Mr. Charles E. Perkins. Near them sat Mrs. Alexander Higginson and a party of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon of Beacon Street, were seen at another table. Mrs. Leland was smartly gowned in a frock of blue silk. Her corsage bouquet was of pink sweet peas. Mrs. L. H. Mudgett wore black with touches of gold and a big black and white picture hat. With her were her sister, Miss Armstrong, and Mr. Mudgett. Miss Mary Russell looked very charming in dove gray crepon, the bodice covered with ecru lace. Miss Gertrude Russell wore castor veiling, with touches of pale blue and gold on the bodice. Miss Marion Richardson wore old rose veiling, with a knot of black velvet at the corsage, and a rice straw hat trimmed with black velvet and white lilac. Others noted in the company were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle, Mrs. Gordon Dexter, Miss Hester Lawrence and Miss Amory.

Malden Mirror May 11-01

The "Pops" at Symphony hall, Boston, are most fascinating to Malden folk, and during the season our city is largely represented among the fashionable throng.

Herald May 6-01

GOWNS AT THE "POPS."

Artistic Creations Seen the Opening Night.

may 6

No End of the Handsome Light-Tinted Foulards.

Ample Opportunity to Wear the Skirt Trailing.

SUCH a fashionable crush filled Symphony Hall on the opening night of the "Pop" concerts! And what a splendid background for good gowns is that Pompeiian red tinting on the walls of this handsome hall! Then, too, the floors are so immaculate, even in the corridors, that it is possible for the women to wear their gowns trailing. This is a positive delight to both wearer and onlooker, for the season's modes demand that Parisian trait, the wearing of skirts without fear of soiling their skirt hems.

What a foreign atmosphere these concerts take on this season! Really the "Pops" in the old Music Hall days did not begin to compare with these delightful affairs in their present artistic environment. Everyone moves about visiting their acquaintances from table to table, and during the second intermission of the orchestra it is safe to say that every well gowned woman on the floor moves on to the promenade.

And, speaking of promenading, it is a real pleasure in Symphony Hall, for the corridor extends all about the house, and is amply wide to permit one to walk comfortably. Society was well represented on the promenade on Monday night, and the women's gowns and picturesque hats were extremely effective.

A well-known society girl looked no end smart in a costume of white India dimity figured with Dresden rosebuds and built over white taffeta. The foundation was circular, with a narrow bias ruffle on edge. The circular dimity drop-skirt had a shaped flounce, edged with a frill of cream Mechlin and latticed with rows of Mechlin insertion, with beading, run with moss green velvet baby ribbon. This filmy circular flounce was joined to the circular top with wide Mechlin insertion, with beading run with wider velvet ribbon, tying in a bow knot in front.

The fulness of the back of the skirt was laid in tiny lingerie tucks at the waist line. The blouse bodice was of the Mechlin insertion and muslin, opening over a V of finely tucked white mull, which was also used for a yoke and undersleeves. The sleeves were done with insertions and a frill of Mechlin, and velvet run beading, and her lace stock was run with velvet ribbon. A broad girdle of green panne, with long sash ends, finished her waistline.

Her hat was one of the mohair straws, faced with shirred white chiffon. The lace crown was decorated with clusters of white rosebuds all around the brim, and a huge bow of pink louisine ribbon lent the necessary touch of color to her toilet.

A stunning black and white satiny-finished foulard frock was conspicuous on the promenade. It was built with the circular flared skirt modishly feather-stitched with coarse black embroidery silk in graduated lengths about the hips, and laid in pinched tucks over the tournure. The bodice was tight-fitting at the back and opened Frenchily over a tucked white batiste, valenciennes run blouse front.

The stock of ecru cluny showed a narrow fold of cerise taffeta next the throat, and the waistline was girdled with three tones of cerise in the broad effect. The sleeves were wide to the elbow, with tiny turnbacks of cerise edged foulard, and there were under-sleeves of val run tucked batiste. Her hat, an off the face affair, was of white chiffon sequined with silver and decorated with salmon pink roses.

One of the new smoke-colored grenadines, over cream taffeta, was smartly worn by one of society's leaders at a table pretty well near the centre of the hall. The bouffant effect was produced by the circular taffeta foundation being finished with a narrow bias ruffle, with an accordion-plaited chiffon flounce veiling this, edged by a tiny ruche. The grenadine drop skirt was seven gored, with insertions of twine-color Russian lace at each seam.

There were two flounces of twine-color La Tosca net, hand embroidered with silver bow knots, and finished on their edges with two quilled rows of smoke velvet baby ribbon across the front and sides. A box plait over the tournure ended in sort of a drapery near the centre of the back, beneath which the material flared out into a demi-train.

The bodice was pointed in front, sort of wrapped, as to material, and had a narrow girdle, following point, of smoke-gray panne velvet, with rosette and sash ends of La Tosca net, with silver embroidered ends. The stock was of the net, transparent, and held in place with feather bone. About her throat was tied a bit of black maline, which ended in rosette ends at the nape of her neck.

Her hat was a high at the left side, pale pink chiffon affair, with long, pale pink ostrich plume for its only decoration.

There were no end of handsome light tinted foulards, and particularly distinctive are the Persian patterns [illegible] delicate pale coloring [illegible] built w[illegible]

Herald May 7-01

MUSIC AND COOL DRINKS.

Symphony Hall Listens to Its First Pop Concert in Presence of a Big Audience.

The "Pops" are on!

With the Symphony—the same, incomparable Symphony—wresting melody from manuscript on the stage, with the balconies showering applause and the floor echoing rapid-fire volleys of exploding bottles beneath the smoke clouds of revelry, with Bacchus and Apollo embracing on the threshold of the century, the "Pops," just "sweet sixteen," gave a birthday party and house warming in Symphony Hall last evening.

There were 2000 people there, come to differentiate between Strauss and Pabst, to gather new ideas in millinery and cull fresh inspiration from Zach, to sit at table and discuss "brands" and walk the promenade and grow enthusiastic over "technique," to ask their neighbors where they are going to "summer" and order the waiter to bring "the same," to give an attentive ear to gossip, a keen eye to fashion, a perfunctory hand to music, and a smile to everything.

Mr. Max Zach was on the conductor's stand, and was given the usual hearty greeting as he lifted his baton for the first selection.

At the first intermission there was some reluctance shown in leaving the hall, though at the second there was a general stampede for the spacious, attractive corridors outside. These corridors contribute a new and very pleasing feature to the pop concerts. They run around three sides of the hall, and are cool, well lighted and, being separate from the hall, allow the ladies some escape from the smoke laden atmosphere inside. They were very generally commended last evening.

An incident of the promenade period was the general handshaking and acknowledgment of congratulations that fell to the lot of Mr. C. A. Ellis, who, after an extended absence in Europe, has returned to the management of the "pops" as the official representative of Mr. F. L. Higginson. Mr. F. R. Comee, who has so ably managed the "pops" the past two seasons, was also on hand, and received the greetings of a host of friends. He is assisting Mr. Ellis in this season's concerts.

Cambridge Tribune May 18-01

The Pop Concerts.

Almost as an echo of the last notes of the Symphony season, which ended last Saturday night, comes the opening night of the Pops Monday evening, May 6, in the new Symphony hall. The same general plan which has made these concerts successful for fifteen years will be carried out during the eight weeks which they are to run. There will be the same splendid orchestra of fifty players, from the ranks of the Boston Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Max Zach for the first four weeks, and Mr. Gustav Strube for the balance of the season. There will be one radical change, as during the present season the admission fee will be fifty cents, with twenty-five cents extra for each reserved seat. The entire floor will be given up to tables, as usual, the same relative number to be reserved, with a generous allowance for the holders of admission tickets only. There will be no tables in the balcony. The beautiful interior of the new Symphony hall will offer a most delightful contrast to the sombre hues of the old Music hall, against which attempts at decoration seemed almost futile. When these summer concerts were inaugurated fifteen years ago, it was with the idea of playing light music of the best kind, which, for obvious reasons, could not find a place on a Symphony program, and the management wishes to announce that during the coming season the effort will be made to return to this class of music and to exclude from the programs selections of a cheap and ordinary character. Tickets at Symphony hall.

Home Journal May 11-01

Symphony Hall was a feast of color Monday evening when the first Pop concert of the season brought out a tremendous audience. Among those there were Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper, who had a table near the stage. With them was Mrs. Hooper's father, Mr. Charles E. Perkins. Near them sat Mrs. Alexander Higginson and a party of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon of Beacon Street, were seen at another table. Mrs. Leland was smartly gowned in a frock of blue silk. Her corsage bouquet was of pink sweet peas. Mrs. L. H. Mudgett wore black with touches of gold and a big black and white picture hat. With her were her sister, Miss Armstrong, and Mr. Mudgett. Miss Mary Russell looked very charming in dove gray crepon, the bodice covered with ecru lace. Miss Gertrude Russell wore castor veiling, with touches of pale blue and gold on the bodice. Miss Marion Richardson wore old rose veiling, with a knot of black velvet at the corsage, and a rice straw hat trimmed with black velvet and white lilac. Others noted in the company were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle, Mrs. Gordon Dexter, Miss Hester Lawrence and Miss Amory.

Malden Mirror May 11-01

The "Pops" at Symphony hall, Boston, are most fascinating to Malden folk, and during the season our city is largely represented among the fashionable throng.

Boston Courier May 11-01

—The opening of the Pop concert season, Monday evening, brought together one of the largest audiences of the season, and every table on the floor was taken within a few hours after the sale began. Mr. Ellis and Mr. Comee, the managers, were congratulated on all sides on the auspicious advent of the eight weeks of concerts. Quite the largest party on the opening night was entertained by Mr. Richard Heard, and occupied five tables. The guests were Signor and Signora Rotoli, Judge Everett C. Bumpus, Mr. and Mrs. A. Forbes Conant, Mr. Howard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Beals, jr., Mrs. John M. Corse, Mr. Harold Porter Wardwell, Miss McNichol, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Searle and Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Pratt. Mrs. Gordon Dexter took a large party, and presented an elegant appearance in a beautiful white bodice, applique with black, and a black skirt and black and white hat. Mrs. Alex. H. Higginson, who entertained a party of three, was entirely in black, with a toque of blue tulle, having a knot of black velvet at the front. Mrs. Fred R. Comee looked very stylish in bluet cloth, the bolero opening over a white blouse. Her hat was of black and white. Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Gericke had a party of friends at their table and Mrs. Gericke looked extremely well in a gown of foulard silk, and a black hat. Captain and Mrs. William H. Alline were present, with the latter's sister, Mrs. Merrill. Mrs. Alline wore a becoming toilette of India silk. Miss Sallie Hecht, whose engagement to Dr. Ehrlich has recently been announced, was present with her fiance and her brother. Miss Hecht was distingaished in a black gown, with black hat. Mrs. James B. Forsyth was stylishly attired in black, the bodice trimmed with white and red. Mr. Forsyth was with her. A party of young people who distinguished themselves in the Criterion Club theatricals, last week, included Mr. Walter H. Dugan, Mr. Samuel Oliver, Miss Richardson and Miss Ramsdell. Others noted were Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, Mr. Charles Hayden and party, Mrs. Fenollosa and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denee, Dr. J. Foster Bush, Prof. and Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. L. H. Mudgett and her sister, Miss Armstrong, Mr and Mrs. Alexander Steinert, Mr. George Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kramer, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Dobson, Miss Ethel Sims Nowell, Mr. Willoughby Richardson and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Andrews, Col. Woods, of the Herald, Mrs. Max Zach and party, Mr. Fritz Kreisler, Dr. Charles Galloupe and guests, Mr Codman and party, Mrs. George M. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Dr. Hewes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kimball Crane, Gen. Curtis Guild, with Mrs Watson and several more. Mr. Schuyler Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Clement, Mr. Charles E. Perkins with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper and a long list of prominent people.

Post May 11-01

The surroundings of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall add much to the pleasure of the patrons. The audience this evening promises to be the largest of the week, and the selections to be played by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Max Zach include the march "Up the Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," "Grubenlichter" and many other favorite pieces of past seasons.

Journal May 11-01

The surroundings of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall add much to the pleasure of the patrons of these popular entertainments. The orchestra this evening under the direction of Max Zach will play the popular music of past seasons, which includes "Up the Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," "Grubenlichter," and other favorites.

Herald May 11-01

The new surroundings of the Pop oncerts in Symphony Hall add much o the pleasure of the many patrons of hese entertainments. The audience this vening promises to be the largest of he week. Among the selections to be layed by the orchestra, under the irection of Mr. Max Zach, are "Up he Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," 'Grubenlichter," and many other favor-te pieces of past seasons.

Chelsea Gazette May 11-01

Conductor Max Zach has made an orchestral selection from "The Viking," by Mr. John Loud, and it will be played at the "pop" concert at Symphony Hall next Monday evening.

Transcript May 11-01

The first week of the sixteenth season of "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall has been a decided success. The new hall is admirably adapted for the accommodation of the patrons, and the spacious corridors for promenading adds much to the enjoyment of the large number who attend these popular entertainments. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Max Zach are rendering excellent programmes, as will be seen by the following selections which are to be given this evening: March, "Vienna Dudes," Wagner; overture, "Martha," Flotow; waltz, "Pomone," Waldteufel; selection, "The Rounders," Engländer; "Blissful Dream," Meyer-Helmund; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; waltz and polka, from "Ballet Sylvia," Délibes; overture, "William Tell," Rossini, 'cello obbligato, Mr. Keller; selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; "Husarenritt," Spindler; march, "Up the Street," Morse.

Gazette May 11-01

—The "Pops" have had large and eminently swagger audiences through their first week, and everything indicates that they will be as fashionable as ever. In the brilliant audiences of this week have been Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mr. Schuyler Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Drake, Dr. C. A. Galloupe, Mrs. Gordon Dexter and party, Mrs. Alexander Higginson and party, Mrs. and Mrs. Francis Skinner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Deland, Mr. Charles Hayden, Mrs. J. L. Gardner, Mr. Robert D. Evans, Mr. Parker Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clements, Col. and Mrs. E. H. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Boylston Beal, Mr. and Mrs. I. Howland Jones, Col. and Mrs. Curtis Guild, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Perkins, Judge Bumpus, Mr. and Mrs. William Beak, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Comee, Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, Mr. Richard Hurd, Mrs. George Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elson, Mr. Robert D. Meade, Jr., Mr. Walter Deland Came, Mrs. and Miss Fenollosa, Sig. and Mrs. Rotolli, Miss Ware and Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Brainerd.

Cambridge Chronicle May 11-01

THE POP CONCERTS.

Almost as an echo of the last notes of the Symphony season, which ended last Saturday night, comes the opening night of the Pops Monday evening, May 6, in the new Symphony hall. The same general plan which has made these concerts successful for fifteen years will be carried out during the eight weeks which they are to run. There will be the same splendid orchestra of fifty players, from the ranks of the Boston Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Max Zach for the first four weeks, and Mr. Gustav Strube for the balance of the season. There will be one radical change, as during the present season the admission fee will be fifty cents, with twenty-five cents extra for each reserved seat. The entire floor will be given up to tables, as usual, the same relative number to be reserved, with a generous allowance for the holders of admission tickets only. There will be no tables in the balcony. The beautiful interior of the new Symphony hall will offer a most delightful contrast to the sombre hues of the old Music hall, against which attempts at decoration seemed almost futile. When these summer concerts were inaugurated fifteen years ago, it was with the idea of playing light music of the best kind, which, for obvious reasons, could not find a place on a Symphony program, and the management wishes to announce that during the coming season the effort will be made to return to this class of music and to exclude from the programs selections of a cheap and ordinary character. Tickets at Symphony hall.

[52]

REDUCTION RATIO

14x

2.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

2.0 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

1.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

PM-MGP 13"x18"
METRIC GENERAL PURPOSE TARGET
PHOTOGRAPHIC

150 mm

100 mm

A5

A4

1.0 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

1.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

2.0 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

2.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

PRECISION℠ RESOLUTION TARGETS

Century

1303 Geneva Avenue
St. Paul, MN 55119

4.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

3.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

3.0 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

Gazette May 11-01

As the Pops can seen everything worn from a garden party frock and hat to a shirt waist and rough short skirt, it is sometimes rather funny to see these opposites sitting in close juxtaposition. The usual and correct costume, however, is a semi-elaborate afternoon toilette, or a dainty bodice.

A pretty black-and-white toilette worn by a queenly looking woman with gray hair and fresh complexion who chaperoned two or three girls and their attendant cavaliers, was quietly smart. The skirt was a peau de soie of black hung over a petticoat of white silk, and, as each seam was opened by fagotting, the white gleamed through. A deep plaited flounce of net wider at the back was covered about the feet with incrustations of black lace. Of course the white silk showed through this flounce prettily. The bodice was of tucked white chiffon alternating with bands of white silk and connected by an elaborately done fagotting.

There was a dainty vest of cloth-of-silver with a scarf down each side of chiffon held by a series of obliquely laid straps of black velvet, each extending across the silvery vest and held at each end by a tiny silver button.

The sleeves were of the same arrangement of chiffon and silk and had a pretty cuff of cloth-of-silver, straps and buttons. Fancy the elaboration of handiwork in this bodice! When one reflects upon the amount of hand work it is appalling! But there was even more elaboration. Over it all was worn the prettiest little bolero, short and curving up at the back and with tiny sham revers in front, and sleeves of the three-quarter length. It was built of net striped all over with narrow black velvet ribbon. The revers were of black appliqued with lace. It had an old-timey air that was deliciously quaint and enchanting.

Courier May 11-01

—Mrs. C. H. Washburn gave a small, but handsome farewell luncheon, at the Lenox, on Tuesday, for Miss Alice Ward, who sailed, Wednesday, on the Commonwealth, from Charlestown, for her brother's home in London, at the Walsingham House. Mrs. Washburn will be her guest there during the early summer. Mrs. Washburn was among the many at the Pop Concert, Friday evening, attired in pale yellow crepe, with white lace insertion on skirt and bodice, and a flat yellow chiffon hat, spangled with gold.

Budget May 11-01

The Pops opened quietly. Perhaps the audience was depressed by that additional twenty-five cents.

The new surroundings of the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall add much to the pleasure of the many patrons of these entertainments. The audience this evening promises to be the largest of the week. Among the selections to be played by the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Max Zach, are "Up the Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," "Grubenlichter," and many other favorite pieces of past seasons.

Gazette May 11-01

What Came of the Pops

"'The Pops' open tonight," said Mrs. Blewit last Monday.

"Yes," said Mr. Blewit somewhat reluctantly. He had planned to attend the initial concert with some friends from New York, and did not hanker after Mrs. Blewit's company on the occasion designated.

"I'm going," said Mrs. Blewit. "You know I always like to attend first nights."

"Hadn't you better wait until later in the week when they have a more attractive programme?"

"No, indeed. I go tonight or not at all. You know I shall be very busy the rest of the week getting ready for our proposed trip to Europe."

"Very well," said Mr. Blewit resignedly, "I ought to stay down at the office myself and work tonight, and I don't see how I can get away. Couldn't you go with Uncle Bounderly? The old fellow would enjoy the beer and the pretzels, though he doesn't know one note from another."

"That's just like you, Anthony: you never want to be seen with your wife anywhere; but I'll go with him rather than stay at home. There'll be a lot of women there that I want to see before I go away."

"I suppose you want to tell those women whose husbands have not made money in stocks that you are going across."

"You haven't made a great deal yourself," said Mrs. Blewit by way of reply.

"No, not so much as I might have if you hadn't frightened me out at the wrong time. Some of the other fellows down town have made thousands where I have only made hundreds."

"That's right, blame your wife for your want of foresight. It's the way with you men."

"Never mind; we won't discuss the subject any more, though I must say that I never acted upon your advice that I was not sorry. When I rely upon my own judgment I'm all right."

"True, you were all right doubtless when you sunk your money in a lot of vacant land that you said was going to be a great property when a new boulevard was run through it, and that is likely to be unimproved for the next twenty or thirty years and which will cost you more in taxes than you will ever get out of it."

"That'll go up some time."

"No doubt, when we go up to heaven. Blackstone once owned the greater part of original Boston, but it doesn't do him or his descendants any good now.

"Don't indulge in ancient history. I'll leave a note for Uncle Bounderly. He'll be happy to accompany you: he always likes to be seen with a good-looking woman."

"But he may have another engagement," remarked Mrs. Blewit.

"Nonsense," was the answer. He swings between here and his own hotel as regularly as the pendulum of a clock, and never does anything else. He's a deuced bore sometimes, Amanda, but I put up with him on your account."

"On your own, I guess. You'll be willing to take all he leaves me."

"Perhaps he might outlive me, Amanda. He's a robust old fellow, and you know I'm rather delicate in health."

"You wouldn't be if you took better care of yourself."

"I know. I know. I'm working myself to death."

"It isn't the labor that's killing you; it's the play. If you came home a little earlier nights you would have a bettter appetite for your breakfast in the morning."

Blewit did not stay to hear the rest, for he scented a familiar lecture in the air, and he said, "Nine o'clock, by George, and I promised to meet Staggers at half past."

He found out that Uncle Bounderly was not averse to acting as an escort to Mrs. Blewit, and just as he left that gentleman's door at the hotel he met Brighten, one of his New York friends, whose breath smelled as if he had been indulging in an early cocktail.

"Holloo, old up and coming," said that irrepressible young man, who had been giving Blewit some straight tips the day before. "What a time we had last night at the club. By George, my head feels as big as a watermelon this morning. I've been trying to reduce its size by taking a walk through your confounded crooked streets."

"I'm afraid you have been doing something else to bring about that result. It's the early bird that catches the bitters."

"Well, that's one on me, but on my honor I've only had one ball. But now I feel like taking another. Won't you join me?"

"No, indeed; it's not the custom in Boston to indulge at this hour. If I should go to the office breathing odors from Araby the Blest like you are doing at present I couldn't do business. Nobody would have any confidence in me. They'd say I was going to the dogs straight.

"That's your confounded puritanical hypocrisy. I noticed that you took a pretty stiff horn before luncheon yesterday."

"To be sure, but we do not begin the day here as if we had been out all night."

"Ah, I see, you are not like the Governor who thought there was a long time between drinks."

"Precisely; we believe in moderation in all things."

"Yes, so I perceived when I put you in the carriage last night and you insisted on getting out again and swearing an eternal friendship on the sidewalk. You wanted to give me your pocketbook, too; but I saw that it looked as if an elephant had stepped upon it, so I didn't take it."

"I'm sorry I made such an ass of myself; but every fellow forgets himself at times. We must have a little relaxation, you know."

"Sure, and you have had your share of it, old boy, when you tried to prove that you were related to me through some forty-seventh cousin that came over on the Mayflower. By the way, how are you connected with that fellow that stands up at the head of Commonwealth avenue and looks as if he came out of a ballet?"

"Do you mean Leif Ericson?"

"I think that's the chap. He got rather the bulge on the Pilgrims and the Puritans by being here earlier than they didn't he?"

"So they say. But he didn't do anything apparently after he got here," replied Mr. Blewit.

"No, he didn't even make a blue law, nor put anybody in the stocks for kissing his wife on Sunday," responded Brighten. "En passant, as we say in French, I think some of your ancestors must be hanging around this region still. Why, the first night I arrived here I couldn't get a pint of wine or a bottle of beer after eleven o'clock at the hotel where I had supper."

"Some people," rejoined Mr. Blewit sarcastically, "never had any forefathers to find fault with."

"That's me. I expect I growed like Topsy. Gad, I've had to make my own way in the world since I was fourteen without the help of any family; but I have managed to get into New York society by buying a coat of arms that I never saw before. Money will do most anything, you know, except keep a man out of that box that he's got to go into at last. There will not be much room to swell there or wealth or anything else."

"Suppose we change the conversation," said Mr. Blewit. I'm afraid I can't go with you to the Pop tonight."

"You must. You promised, and I have always been told that your word was as good as your bond."

"Perhaps it's better," was Mr. Blewit's jocose response.

"I don't doubt that," chimed in Mr. Brighten, if you're like a good many men I know that hang about the stock exchange at home. But why can't you take me to the Pop tonight? There's no other show in Boston that I haven't seen in New York."

"Well, to tell you the truth, Mrs. Blewit is going to be there, and if you dine with me you will be hardly in a condition to be introduced to a lady."

"That's complimentary, I'm sure. The ladies in Gotham don't mind if a fellow is a little eccentric in his actions after dinner."

"Neither do they in the Hub; but he must be to the manner born. The stranger has to be on his good behavior for some time before he is allowed to break Boston ice."

"Can't we get a table in the rear of the hall?" asked Mr. Brighten, returning to the attack, evidently determined not to be beaten out of his purpose to attend at least one of the Pops, of which he had heard so much.

"We might," said Mr. Blewit, "though Mrs. Blewit has unusually sharp eyes. I'm afraid she will discover us, and I told her that I could not go on account of a press of office work."

"That's an old dodge that I should think she would see through. I couldn't put up any such bluff on Mrs. Brighten. I just tell her the plain truth and take the consequences."

"The wives in New York are different from those in Boston," sighed Mr. Blewit.

"So they are, so they are," ejaculated Mr. Brighten. "But I wish I could live here for awhile. I'd demoralize them."

"Heaven forbid," answered Mr. Blewit. They're bad enough now. They're not a bit like their grandmothers."

"I should hope they were not like those old frumps who thought of nothing but raising children and saying their prayers. Earth isn't a purgatory, though people try to make it one. Dum vivimus vivamus is my motto."

"No need to tell us that, but dine with me at seven at the club and we can make any further arrangements that are necessary."

"All right, but in the meanwhile I'd like to get into some locality where the confounded gilt dome of your State House would not be looking at me."

"Perhaps its gilt is a reflection of your own," exclaimed Mr. Blewit, as he hailed a carriage, having declined another pressing invitation to take an eye opener.

Mrs. Blewit and Uncle Bounderly were among the early arrivals at Symphony Hall. She wanted to see the women as they came in and she secured a table near the stage with her back to it so that she could have a good outlook upon the central entrance. Uncle Bounderly had an expansive appearance in an old-fashioned white vest which he had fished out of the depths of his wardrobe, and Mrs. Blewit placed him so that he would face her and not be seen to any great extent except by the members of the orchestra. With a good cigar in his mouth and a bottle of imported ale before him Uncle Bounderly did not grumble at his position, though he remarked:

"There isn't much to see. Only these musicianers and that fellow that waves the stock and looks as if he had just come out of a bandbox."

Mrs. Blewit enjoyed herself in recognizing her various acquaintances and in making comments upon them that her companion did not seem to understand, but he said:

"Is that the way you talk about your friends, Mandy?"

"I'm only talking for the sake of having something to say, Uncle Bounderly," was Mrs. Blewit's sweet and evasive reply. "They are all charming women, as sweet as sweet can be, and it's a great pity that some of them haven't got better husbands."

"I suppose that there are few of them as good as Anthony," said Uncle Bounderly with a sly twinkle in his eye.

"He has, you know, his faults," was the rejoinder, "but take him for all in all he's—" Here Mrs. Blewit came to a sudden stop, for crossing the hall just at that moment, while the "Harlequin's Journey" was being played, was Mr. Blewit and Mr. Brighten, both of them evidently trying to keep time with the music.

"Well, I never!" continued Mrs. Blewit.

"Never what?" inquired Uncle Bounderly.

"Never will believe man again," said Mrs. Blewit, as she waved her hand at Mr. Blewit with a firm purpose of being recognized, and he, seeing that he was caught, made his way circuitously through the crowd of tables until he was seated at Mrs. Blewit's side and had introduced Mr. Brighten, who followed in his wake.

"We have been dining together, my friend and I," said Mr. Blewit.

"So I perceive," returned Mrs. Blewit with a coldness which was not imparted by the ice cream she had been eating.

Here Mr. Brighten, who thought that it was incumbent upon him to begin a conversation, remarked:

"Your women don't rag out here as they do in New York."

"True," was Mrs. Blewit's chilly answer. "We recognize the eternal fitness of things in Boston and do not dress at informal gatherings of this kind like parvenus at Saratoga or like people of no social position at a roof garden performance in your showy city."

Mr. Brighten, somewhat abashed incurred Mrs. Blewit's further displeasure by saying: "You're the only pretty woman that I have seen here tonight."

This was such a gross piece of flattery that even Mrs. Blewit couldn't stand it, and instead of answering she turned to her husband and inquired:

"When did you leave the office, Mr. Blewit?"

"At about eight o'clock. Brighten helped me out on the accounts."

"Don't you believe him, Mrs. Blewit," broke in Mr. Brighten. "He's the biggest jollier in Boston. We've been going it round town since four o'clock."

"Take me home, Uncle Bounderly said Mrs. Blewit.

Gazette May 11-01

At the "Pops" one sees everything worn from a garden party frock and hat to a shirt waist and rough short skirt. It is sometimes rather funny to see these opposites sitting in close juxtaposition. The usual and correct costume, however, is a semi-elaborate afternoon toilette, or a dainty bodice.

A pretty black-and-white toilette worn by a queenly looking woman with gray hair and fresh complexion who chaperoned two or three girls and their attendant cavaliers, was quietly smart. The skirt was a peau de soie of black hung over a petticoat of white silk, and, as each seam was opened by fagotting, the white gleamed through. A deep plaited flounce of net wider at the back was covered about the feet with incrustations of black lace. Of course the white silk showed through this flounce prettily. The bodice was of tucked white chiffon alternating with bands of white silk and connected by an elaborately done fagotting.

There was a dainty vest of cloth-of-silver with a scarf down each side of chiffon held by a series of obliquely laid straps of black velvet, each extending across the silvery vest and held at each end by a tiny silver button.

The sleeves were of the same arrangement of chiffon and silk and had a pretty cuff of cloth-of-silver, straps and buttons. Fancy the elaboration of handiwork in this bodice! When one reflects upon the amount of hand work it is appalling! But there was even more elaboration. Over it all was worn the prettiest little bolero, short and curving up at the back and with tiny sham revers in front, and sleeves of the three-quarter length. It was built of net striped all over with narrow black velvet ribbon. The revers were of black appliqued with lace. It had an old-timey air that was deliciously quaint and enchanting.

Mrs. C. H. Washburn gave a small, but handsome farewell luncheon, at the Lenox, on Tuesday, for Miss Alice Ward, who sailed, Wednesday, on the Commonwealth, from Charlestown, for her brother's home in London, at the Walsingham House. Mrs. Washburn will be her guest there during the early summer. Mrs. Washburn was among the many at the Pop Concert, Friday evening, attired in pale yellow crepe, with white lace insertion on skirt and bodice, and a flat yellow chiffon hat, spangled with gold.

Gazette May 11-01

The Pops opened quietly. Perhaps the audience was depressed by that additional twenty-five cents.

The new surroundings of the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall add much to the pleasure of the many patrons of these entertainments. The audience this evening promises to be the largest of the week. Among the selections to be played by the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Max Zach, are "Up the Street," "Carmen," "William Tell," "Grubenlichter," and many other favorite pieces of past seasons

What Came of the Pops

"'The Pops' open tonight," said Mrs. Blewit last Monday.

"Yes," said Mr. Blewit somewhat reluctantly. He had planned to attend the initial concert with some friends from New York, and did not hanker after Mrs. Blewit's company on the occasion designated.

"I'm going," said Mrs. Blewit. "You know I always like to attend first nights."

"Hadn't you better wait until later in the week when they have a more attractive programme?"

"No, indeed. I go tonight or not at all. You know I shall be very busy the rest of the week getting ready for our proposed trip to Europe."

"Very well," said Mr. Blewit resignedly, "I ought to stay down at the office myself and work tonight, and I don't see how I can get away. Couldn't you go with Uncle Bounderly? The old fellow would enjoy the beer and the pretzels, though he doesn't know one note from another."

"That's just like you, Anthony: you never want to be seen with your wife anywhere; but I'll go with him rather than stay at home. There'll be a lot of women there that I want to see before I go away."

"I suppose you want to tell those women whose husbands have not made money in stocks that you are going across."

"You haven't made a great deal yourself," said Mrs. Blewit by way of reply.

"No, not so much as I might have if you hadn't frightened me out at the wrong time. Some of the other fellows down town have made thousands where I have only made hundreds."

"That's right, blame your wife for your want of foresight. It's the way with you men."

"Never mind; we won't discuss the subject any more, though I must say that I never acted upon your advice that I was not sorry. When I rely upon my own judgment I'm all right."

"True, you were all right doubtless when you sunk your money in a lot of vacant land that you said was going to be a great property when a new boulevard was run through it, and that is likely to be unimproved for the next twenty or thirty years and which will cost you more in taxes than you will ever get out of it."

"That'll go up some time."

"No doubt, when we go up to heaven. Blackstone once owned the greater part of original Boston, but it doesn't do him or his descendants any good now.

"Don't indulge in ancient history. I'll leave a note for Uncle Bounderly. He'll be happy to accompany you: he always likes to be seen with a good-looking woman."

"But he may have another engagement," remarked Mrs. Blewit.

"Nonsense," was the answer. He swings between here and his own hotel as regularly as the pendulum of a clock, and never does anything else. He's a deuced bore sometimes, Amanda, but I put up with him on your account."

"On your own, I guess. You'll be willing to take all he leaves me."

"Perhaps he might outlive me, Amanda. He's a robust old fellow, and you know I'm rather delicate in health."

"You wouldn't be if you took better care of yourself."

"I know. I know. I'm working myself to death."

"It isn't the labor that's killing you; it's the play. If you came home a little earlier nights you would have a bettter appetite for your breakfast in the morning."

Blewit did not stay to hear the rest, for he scented a familiar lecture in the air, and he said, "Nine o'clock, by George, and I promised to meet Staggers at half past."

He found out that Uncle Bounderly was not averse to acting as an escort to Mrs. Blewit, and just as he left that gentleman's door at the hotel he met Brighten, one of his New York friends, whose breath smelled as if he had been indulging in an early cocktail.

"Holloo, old up and coming," said that irrepressible young man, who had been giving Blewit some straight tips the day before. "What a time we had last night at the club. By George, my head feels as big as a watermelon this morning. I've been trying to reduce its size by taking a walk through your confounded crooked streets."

"I'm afraid you have been doing something else to bring about that result. It's the early bird that catches the bitters."

"Well, that's one on me, but on my honor I've only had one ball. But now I feel like taking another. Won't you join me?"

"No, indeed: it's not the custom in Boston to indulge at this hour. If I should go to the office breathing odors from Araby the Blest like you are doing at present I couldn't do business. Nobody would have any confidence in me. They'd say I was going to the dogs straight.

"That's your confounded puritanical hypocrisy. I noticed that you took a pretty stiff horn before luncheon yesterday."

"To be sure, but we do not begin the day here as if we had been out all night."

"Ah, I see, you are not like the Governor who thought there was a long time between drinks."

"Precisely; we believe in moderation in all things."

"Yes, so I perceived when I put you in the carriage last night and you insisted on getting out again and swearing an eternal friendship on the sidewalk. You wanted to give me your pocketbook, too; but I saw that it looked as if an elephant had stepped upon it, so I didn't take it."

"I'm sorry I made such an ass of myself; but every fellow forgets himself at times. We must have a little relaxation, you know."

"Sure, and you have had your share of it, old boy, when you tried to prove that you were related to me through some forty-seventh cousin that came over on the Mayflower. By the way, how are you connected with that fellow that stands up at the head of Commonwealth avenue and looks as if he came out of a ballet?"

"Do you mean Leif Ericson?"

"I think that's the chap. He got rather the bulge on the Pilgrims and the Puritans by being here earlier than they didn't he?"

"So they say. But he didn't do anything apparently after he got here," replied Mr. Blewit.

"No, he didn't even make a blue law, nor put anybody in the stocks for kissing his wife on Sunday," responded Brighten. "En passant, as we say in French, I think some of your ancestors must be hanging around this region still. Why, the first night I arrived here I couldn't get a pint of wine or a bottle of beer after eleven o'clock at the hotel where I had supper."

"Some people," rejoined Mr. Blewit sarcastically, "never had any forefathers to find fault with."

"That's me. I expect I growed like Topsy. Gad, I've had to make my own way in the world since I was fourteen without the help of any family; but I have managed to get into New York society by buying a coat of arms that I never saw before. Money will do most anything, you know, except keep a man out of that box that he's got to go into at last. There will not be much room to swell there or wealth or anything else."

"Suppose we change the conversation," said Mr. Blewit. I'm afraid I can't go with you to the Pop tonight."

"You must. You promised, and I have always been told that your word was as good as your bond."

"Perhaps it's better," was Mr. Blewit's jocose response.

"I don't doubt that," chimed in Mr. Brighten, if you're like a good many men I know that hang about the stock exchange at home. But why can't you take me to the Pop tonight? There's no other show in Boston that I haven't seen in New York."

"Well, to tell you the truth, Mrs. Blewit is going to be there, and if you dine with me you will be hardly in a condition to be introduced to a lady."

"That's complimentary, I'm sure. The ladies in Gotham don't mind if a fellow is a little eccentric in his actions after dinner."

"Neither do they in the Hub; but he must be to the manner born. The stranger has to be on his good behavior for some time before he is allowed to break Boston ice."

"Can't we get a table in the rear of the hall?" asked Mr. Brighten, returning to the attack, evidently determined not to be beaten out of his purpose to attend at least one of the Pops, of which he had heard so much.

"We might," said Mr. Blewit, "though Mrs. Blewit has unusually sharp eyes. I'm afraid she will discover us, and I told her that I could not go on account of a press of office work."

"That's an old dodge that I should think she would see through. I couldn't put up any such bluff on Mrs. Brighten. I just tell her the plain truth and take the consequences."

"The wives in New York are different from those in Boston," sighed Mr. Blewit.

"So they are, so they are," ejaculated Mr. Brighten. "But I wish I could live here for awhile. I'd demoralize them."

"Heaven forbid," answered Mr. Blewit. "They're bad enough now. They're not a bit like their grandmothers."

"I should hope they were not like those old frumps who thought of nothing but raising children and saying their prayers. Earth isn't a purgatory, though people try to make it one. Dum vivimus vivamus is my motto."

"No need to tell us that, but dine with me at seven at the club and we can make any further arrangements that are necessary."

"All right, but in the meanwhile I'd like to get into some locality where the confounded gilt dome of your State House would not be looking at me."

"Perhaps its gilt is a reflection of your own," exclaimed Mr. Blewit, as he hailed a carriage, having declined another pressing invitation to take an eye opener.

Mrs. Blewit and Uncle Bounderly were among the early arrivals at Symphony Hall. She wanted to see the women as they came in and she secured a table near the stage with her back to it so that she could have a good outlook upon the central entrance. Uncle Bounderly had an expansive appearance in an old-fashioned white vest which he had fished out of the depths of his wardrobe, and Mrs. Blewit placed him so that he would face her and not be seen to any great extent except by the members of the orchestra. With a good cigar in his mouth and a bottle of imported ale before him Uncle Bounderly did not grumble at his position, though he remarked:

"There isn't much to see. Only these musicianers and that fellow that waves the stock and looks as if he had just come out of a bandbox."

Mrs. Blewit enjoyed herself in recognizing her various acquaintances and in making comments upon them that her companion did not seem to understand but he said:

"Is that the way you talk about your friends, Mandy?"

"I'm only talking for the sake of having something to say, Uncle Bounderly," was Mrs. Blewit's sweet and evasive reply. "They are all charming women, as sweet as sweet can be, and it's a great pity that some of them haven't got better husbands."

"I suppose that there are few of them as good as Anthony," said Uncle Bounderly with a sly twinkle in his eye.

"He has, you know, his faults," was the rejoinder, "but take him for all in all he's—" Here Mrs. Blewit came to a sudden stop, for crossing the hall just at that moment, while the "Harlequin's Journey" was being played, was Mr. Blewit and Mr. Brighten, both of them evidently trying to keep time with the music.

"Well, I never!" continued Mrs. Blewit.

"Never what?" inquired Uncle Bounderly.

"Never will believe man again," said Mrs. Blewit, as she waved her hand at Mr. Blewit with a firm purpose of being recognized, and he, seeing that he was caught, made his way circuitously through the crowd of tables until he was seated at Mrs. Blewit's side and had introduced Mr. Brighten, who followed in his wake.

"We have been dining together, my friend and I," said Mr. Blewit.

"So I perceive," returned Mrs. Blewit with a coldness which was not imparted by the ice cream she had been eating.

Here Mr. Brighten, who thought that it was incumbent upon him to begin a conversation, remarked:

"Your women don't rag out here as they do in New York."

"True," was Mrs. Blewit's chilly answer. "We recognize the eternal fitness of things in Boston and do not dress at informal gatherings of this kind like parvenus at Saratoga or like people of no social position at a roof garden performance in your showy city."

Mr. Brighten, somewhat abashed incurred Mrs. Blewit's further displeasure by saying: "You're the only pretty woman that I have seen here tonight."

This was such a gross piece of flattery that even Mrs. Blewit couldn't stand it, and instead of answering she turned to her husband and inquired:

"When did you leave the office, Mr. Blewit?"

"At about eight o'clock. Brighten helped me out on the accounts."

"Don't you believe him, Mrs. Blewit," broke in Mr. Brighten. "He's the biggest jollier in Boston. We've been going it round town since four o'clock."

"Take me home, Uncle Bounderly said Mrs. Blewit.

[53]

REDUCTION RATIO

12x

2.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

2.0 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

1.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

PM-MGP 13"x18"
METRIC GENERAL PURPOSE TARGET
PHOTOGRAPHIC

150 mm

100 mm

A5

A4

1.0 mm

1.5 mm

2.0 mm

2.5 mm

PRECISION℠ RESOLUTION TARGETS

Century

1303 Geneva Avenue
St. Paul, MN 55119

4.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

3.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

Times May 12-01

THE promenade concerts, euphoniously and universally called the "Pops" (in the true American style of contracting words of more than two syllables, for the sake of economy) opened their season on Monday last at Symphony hall, where the smoke of cigars and the beer and other liquids profane that white and gold temple of the muses presided over by Apollo.

The hall is without decorations, and it needs none. Flags and bunting and painted shields would but desecrate that pure, severe beauty of design and color which is softened and mellowed by the hazy blue smoke rising from the floor.

There was an ominous prophecy that the "Pops" would not flourish when planted so far away from their native soil, but the crowds that sat at the table nightly proved that the old habitues of these concerts were loyal to them and that one element which was evident in the old Music hall times was absent—the people that "drop in." this crowd was the kind that are not wandering about the streets seeking for any kind of diversion, but who come on purpose for a quiet evening's enjoyment, like the crowds one sees in Europe[illegible]ies at similar concerts outside of Paris.

The orchestra chorus of the Symphony matinee girls' idols, under the direction of Mr. Zach, plays well if not exhuberantly, and as the evening wears on somewhat somnolently (which may be due to the excellent beer) and the programmes are very well made up. The taste of the public being exactly caught, and to its credit it often warmly applauds the best selections and is insistent on encores, which demand is complied with, even when the orchestra is playing an overture, and it cheerfully counts back ever so many measures and plays the finale all over again to the evident satisfaction of the hearers, which leads one to wonder if the finale was what pleased them the most. To those who go to the promenades to hear music, the long waits seem a little wearying, but no doubt are enjoyable to the promenaders, and the ample corridors at Symphony hall afford a capital opportunity for promenading and for the display of beautiful costumes worn by as beautiful and distinguished appearing women.

Never before have these concerts been so brilliantly presented, and they should draw crowds not only from among our own citizens but those of the towns which are of easy access to Symphony hall, and as the season wears on no doubt its limits will be taxed to accommodate them.

The managers, Messrs. Ellis and Comee, spare no pains to make the promenades as attractive and successful as any large and first-class concerts that have been given here, and they deserve the warm appreciation of our citizens.

EDITH ABELL.

"Pop" Concerts.

The Pop concerts in Symphony hall are an assured success. The programme for tomorrow evening is as follows:

March, from "Probe Kuss".....Milloecker
Overture, "Zampa".....Herold
Waltz, "Snowballs".....Ziehrer
Selection, "The Viking".....Loud
Menuet and Farandole from "Suite L'Arlesienne," No. 2.....Bizet
Waltz, "Barcarolle".....Waldteufel
Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Roth.
Overture, "Phedre".....Massenet
Two Spanish Dances.....Moszkowski
Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
"Traeumerei".....Schumann
Persian March.....Strauss

Herald May 12-01

The Harvard men have engaged a number of tables at the "Pops" for tomorrow night because selections are to be played from the Pi Eta Club opera, "The Viking," which has just had such a success.

Globe May 12-01

"Pop" Concerts.

The promenade concerts in Symphony hall are continuing their popularity amidst new surroundings, and Mr Zach's admirable band of players nightly gives programs that afford great pleasure to the numerous patrons of this style of summer diversion. Special nights will soon be in order.

Journal May 12-01

A prettier setting could not be imagined than Symphony Hall was on Monday evening to usher in the popular summer series of "Pop" Concerts, which attraction called out the usual large and fashionable audience. The vast hall floor was occupied with any number of parties at every table, while in the surrounding balconies there was not a seat to be had.

Among the listeners were noted Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chick, who occupied a table with a party of friends; Mr. Charles E. Perkins, who had his daughter, Mrs. William Hooper, and her husband with him at one of the front tables; Judge Everett C. Bumpus occupied a near table; Mrs. Alexander Higginson, she who was the pretty Miss Tudor of Brookline, entertained a party at a table; while at the surrounding ones in the balcony were Dr. Charles W. Galloupe and a party of ladies and gentlemen, Mrs. John M. Corse, Mr. Horace G. Allen and party, Mr and Mrs. Curtis Guild, Jr., Mrs. F. S. Watson, Mrs. Fred R. Comee and friends, the former in a becoming creation of bluet cloth, with a white silk blouse and black hat; she had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert and Mr. George Ellis; Mrs. Gericke, who was with Mr. Gericke, was prettily gowned in a foulard silk in shades of gray, and with this wore a black hat; Mrs. Charles Kimball Crane, who was with her husband, had on an India silk gown, with hat covered with black plumes; Miss Mary Russell wore a pale gray crepon gown, the waist of which was covered with a delicate ecru lace; Miss Gertrude Russell had on a castor cloth creation, the bodice of which was done in gold and pale blue—she wore a large black turban; Mr. Henderson, Mr. George Roberts and Mr. Field were with the Misses Russell; Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, with their daughter, Mrs. H. Messinger Leland, and her husband formed a party, Mrs. Leland wearing a pastel blue silk creation, with a pink hat; Lieut. Harlow was with Col. Woods; Mrs. L. H. Mudgett was handsomely attired in a black gown with touches of gold embroidery, and wore a becoming hat of black and white; her sister, Miss Armstrong, had on a dainty French combination; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Andrews, the latter in a becoming combination, had Dr. Erlich as their guest among others; Miss Ethel Lee wore a deep red crepon gown with a long tan raglan coat; Mr. Walter H. Dugan, President of the Criterion Club, entertained friends; Mr. Willoughby Richardson had a party of people with him; a very pretty gown was that which Miss Edith Austin wore; it was of bluet crepon, with a white chiffon waist, over which was worn a bolero jacket of the bluet cloth; her Tuscan straw hat was trimmed with quantites of pink roses; Miss Marion Richardson had on a dress of old-rose shade of nun's veiling, with a large bow of black velvet on her corsage; a rice straw hat she wore was trimmed with white lilacs and foliage and black velvet ribbons.

Others of importance were Mr. Fritz Kreisler, the violinist; Mrs. Max Zach, wife of the leader of the orchestra, who entertained friends; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Searle, Miss Alice Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Morse, Mr. Curtis Scriven, Mr. Harold Porter Wardwell, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frank, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clement, Signor and Madame Augusto Rotoli, Mr. Charles Hayden and friends, Mrs. Gordon Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Forbes Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Eliot W. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Conant, Mr. Henry Winslow, Mr. Louis C. Elson, Miss Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tyler, Mr. Whipple, Miss Amory, Mr. Walter Deland Came and a party, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dennee, Mrs. Samuel Arnold, Miss Tyler, Mr. Simmons and others.

Post May 12-01

The "Pop" Concerts.

The sixteenth season of "Pop" concerts, which began in their new quarters at Symphony Hall last Monday evening, indicates that this favorite musical diversion of the summer months has lost none of the popularity of former seasons. The new hall is admirably adapted to this style of entertainment and the beautiful corridors permit throngs of promenaders to move about, which adds much to the social enjoyment.

The orchestra is under the able direction of Mr. Max Zach, and his programmes have been chosen with rare good taste. The hall promises to be most attractively cool during the warm weather, and there seems to be nothing to cloud the success of a season which has started so propitiously.

Tomorrow evening there is to be a large delegation of the Pi Eta society from Harvard. The programme in full for Monday evening will be as follows:

March, from "Probe Kuss," Milloecker; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Snowballs," Ziehrer; selection, "The Viking" (Pi Eta Society, 1901), Loud; menuet and farandole from Suite L'Arlesienne, No. 2, Bizet; waltz, "Barcarolle," Waldteufel; hymn to St. Cecilia (violin solo, Mr. Roth), Gounod; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; two Spanish dances, Moszkowski; selection, "Aida," Verdi; "Traeumerei," Schumann; Persian March, Strauss.

Post May 12-01

One of the most attractive women at the opening promenade concert Monday evening was Mrs. Alexander H. Higginson, who was entirely in black, with toque of pale blue chiffon, and knot of black velvet at the front. Mrs. Gordon Dexter was elegant in white applique with black and a large black and white hat. Mrs. Frederick R. Comee looked very stylish in French blue cloth, with bolero of the same material, worn over a white blouse, and black and white hat. Mrs. James B. Forsyth was in black, the bodice trimmed with white and red. General Curtis Guild, whose wife and sister, Miss Mollie Johnson, have been in Atlantic City for some time, was in a party which included Mrs. Watson and several others. Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper had with them the latter's father, Mr. Charles E. Perkins of Burlington, Ia., and Miss Helen McKay, fresh from her triumph in "The Tyranny of Tears," was in castor veiling and large dark hat. The Criterion Club was represented by a party made up of Mr. Samuel Oliver, Mr. Walter Dugan, Miss Ramsdell and Miss Richardson. Dr. Charles Galloupe of Commonwealth avenue entertained a party of five. Others noted were Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Burrill, Mr. Waldo Hayward and Miss Piper, Mr. Rufus Coffin and friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Cram, Mrs. Boylston Beal and many more.

On Thursday evening Colonel and Mrs. Harry E. Converse were there, having with them Captain Howard, U. S. A., just home from the Philippines, and others. Mrs. Converse looked unusually well in old rose crepon, much tucked. Dr. Childs was the host of a large party, the tables being prettily decorated with flowers, and Mrs. Louise Wheeler of the Vendome and Mr. Richard Ware were noted in the throng. Mrs. Fred R. Comee, wearing a costume of black, with a large black hat, having a heavy white plume around the brim, also entertained a party of friends.

Globe May 12-01

THE POP CONCERTS.

It is the unanimous verdict of the crowds who have attended the "Pops" during the opening week that Symphony hall is quite the best adapted to a successful presentation of these summer entertainments to date. The orchestra of 50 members of the Symphony organization sounds gloriously, the admirable scheme of ventilation keeps the interior free from smoke, and the spacious corridors are just the place for the popular promenade during the intermissions. Last night's concert, as an interesting statistic, was the 800th performance given in the 16 years these concerts have prevailed.

Tomorrow night two special features will interest patrons. A large party of members of the Pi Eta society at Harvard will attend in recognition of the selection from their production of this season, "The Viking." And the second event will be the use of the great organ of the hall in the hymn to St Cecilia. Mr John P. Marshall will be the organist.

The complete program follows:

March, from Probe Kuss.....Milloecker
Overture, Zampa.....Herold
Waltz, Snowballs.....Ziehrer
Selection, the Viking (Pi Eta society, 1901), Loud
Menuet and farandole, from suite l'Arlesienne, No 2.....Bizet
Waltz, Barcarolle.....Waldteufel
Hymn to St Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Roth.
Overture, Phedre.....Massenet
Two Spanish dances.....Moszowski
Selection, Aida.....Verdi
Traeumerei.....Schumann
Persian march.....Strauss

Journal May 14-01

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

Neither Paris, Vienna, Berlin or for that matter any European city can boast a better orchestra than the 50 members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra who play at the "Pops" every week day night. This admirable organization gives selections of a bright order with exactly the same loyalty to a high ideal which obtains with the symphony orchestra, and even when the realm of symphony music is invaded the finished performance always wins the heartiest of applause from the true lovers of good music. And so it is that symphony patrons who confess to a desire for a Strauss waltz now and then welcome the "Pops" with the coming of summer and extend to these charming series of entertainments the patronage so generously bestowed on the symphony concerts earlier in the season. The program for this evening is as follows:

Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Selection, "Wizard of the Nile".....Herbert
Prelude to Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Scene Religieuse et Invocation.....Massenet
'Cello Solo, Mr. Keller.
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Polonaise, from "Eugene Oneguin".....Tschaikowsky
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Menuet, for string orchestra.....Boccherini
Waltz, "Meerlauchten".....Ziehrer
Persian March.....Strauss

Herald May 12-01

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

The "Pops" in Symphony Hall Are Very Enjoyable.

Tomorrow Night's Programme—Selection from Pi Eta's Production and Hymn on Great Organ—New Radcliffe Operetta—Success of Miss Marie Nichols, Violinist.

AFTER a week's experience, Symphony Hall proves to be altogether the best place for the "Pops" to date. Spacious table room, remarkable acoustics, the wide corridors for the always popular promenade, and the most admirable scheme of ventilation, which carries off the smoke as fast as it is made, all are potent factors in the continued success of these entertainments. In the 16 years that the "Pops" have prevailed, it is interesting to note that with last night's concert exactly 800 performances have been given.

Tomorrow night two most interesting incidents of the concert will be the presence of a large party of members of the Pi Eta Society at Harvard, in recognition of the selection from their production of the season, "The Viking." And the second event will be the use of the great organ of the hall in the hymn to St. Cecilia. Mr. John P. Marshall will be the organist. The complete programme follows:

March, from "Probe Kuss".....Milloecker
Overture, "Zampa".....Herold
Waltz, "Snowballs".....Ziehrer
Selection, "The Viking".....Loud
Menuet and farandole from Suite L'Arlesienne, No. 2.....Bizet
Waltz, "Barcarolle".....Waldteufel
"Hymn to St. Cecilia".....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Roth.
Overture, "Phedre".....Massenet
Two Spanish dances.....Moszkowski
Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
"Traeumerei".....Schumann
"Persian March".....Strauss

As for the "Pops," they are more popular than ever. Their new environment is most attractive. There is no crowding and plenty of room, even for the crowds who gather every night.

The "Pop" concerts opened their season on Monday night most auspiciously. The new Symphony Hall is infinitely more convenient, comfortable and attractive for such affairs than either the old Music Hall or Mechanics' Hall were. There is plenty of space between the tables for the waiters to move without incommoding the occupants, the ventilation and the lighting are most satisfactory, the music is heard to best advantage and the color scheme of the hall is an admirable setting for the women's costumes. Most effective is the word "Pops," in big electric jets, which stands out from the front of the building. Among the smartest and best gowned women there we noted Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, Mrs. William Hooper, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, Mrs. William F. Beal, Mrs. Charles P. Searle, Mrs. Alexander Higginson, Mrs. Boylston Beal, Mrs. Frank Watson and Miss Martha Dana. Mrs. Dexter, who came in late, had a party of four. She was in black satin with bodice of white spangled lace, with transparent neck and sleeves. Her flat hat of white lace was set well back on her gray pompadour roll. Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper were at a table with the latter's father, Mr. Charles E. Perkins. Mrs. Hooper wore black broadcloth with pale blue and a large white straw hat with plumes. Mrs. Frederick Whitwell was in gray crepe and her picture hat had much green foliage and pink roses on it. Miss Martha Dana wore black and white silk with black lace bolero and large black and white chiffon hat. Mr. John Wheelwright was in her party. Mrs. Boylston Beal, who was with friends in the balcony, wore white lace with a yellow straw hat and white plumes. In Mrs. Frank Watson's party were Mr. Curtis Guild, Jr. Mrs. Guild was not there. Mrs. Watson was in her half mourning, relieved with white revers on the jacket, and a large black hat. Miss Louisa Wells, who was with a large party, wore violet and white. Others there at the different tables were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson, Mr. Boylston Beal, Mr. William F. Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, Dr. and Mrs. Foster Bush with a party, Mr. F. S. Whitwell, Mr. Dabney, Mr. Walter Hawkins, Mr. Richard Hurd, who had a party of 24, including Sig. and Mme. Rotoli, Judge Bumpus, Mrs. John M. Corse, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Searle and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clement. Also Dr. Charles Galloupe and party, Miss Helen [illegible] and Mrs. Schneider Bartlett, Mrs. [illegible]

[54]

Times May 12-01

THE promenade concerts, euphoniously and universally called the "Pops" (in the true American style of contracting words of more than two syllables, for the sake of economy) opened their season on Monday last at Symphony hall, where the smoke of cigars and the beer and other liquids profane that white and gold temple of the muses presided over by Apollo.

The hall is without decorations, and it needs none. Flags and bunting and painted shields would but desecrate that pure, severe beauty of design and color which is softened and mellowed by the hazy blue smoke rising from the floor.

There was an ominous prophecy that the "Pops" would not flourish when planted so far away from their native soil, but the crowds that sat at the table nightly proved that the old habitues of these concerts were loyal to them and that one element which was evident in the old Music hall times was absent—the people that "drop in." this crowd was the kind that are not wandering about the streets seeking for any kind of diversion, but who come on purpose for a quiet evening's enjoyment, like the crowds one sees in Europe at similar concerts outside of Paris.

The orchestra chorus of the Symphony matinee girls' idols, under the direction of Mr. Zach, plays well if not exhuberantly, and as the evening wears on somewhat somnolently (which may be due to the excellent beer) and the programmes are very well made up. The taste of the public being exactly caught, and to its credit it often warmly applauds the best selections and is insistent on encores, which demand is complied with, even when the orchestra is playing an overture, and it cheerfully counts back ever so many measures and plays the finale all over again to the evident satisfaction of the hearers, which leads one to wonder if the finale was what pleased them the most. To those who go to the promenades to hear music, the long waits seem a little wearying, but no doubt are enjoyable to the promenaders, and the ample corridors at Symphony hall afford a capital opportunity for promenading and for the display of beautiful costumes worn by as beautiful and distinguished appearing women.

Never before have these concerts been so brilliantly presented, and they should draw crowds not only from among our own citizens but those of the towns which are of easy access to Symphony hall, and as the season wears on no doubt its limits will be taxed to accommodate them.

The managers, Messrs. Ellis and Comee, spare no pains to make the promenades as attractive and successful as any large and first-class concerts that have been given here, and they deserve the warm appreciation of our citizens.

EDITH ABELL.

"Pop" Concerts.

The Pop concerts in Symphony hall are an assured success. The programme for tomorrow evening is as follows:

March, from "Probe Kuss" ..... Milloecker
Overture, "Zampa" ..... Herold
Waltz, "Snowballs" ..... Ziehrer
Selection, "The Viking" ..... Loud
Menuet and Farandole from "Suite L'Arlesienne," No. 2 ..... Bizet
Waltz, "Barcarolle" ..... Waldteufel
Hymn to St. Cecilia ..... Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Roth.
Overture, "Phedre" ..... Massenet
Two Spanish Dances ..... Moszkowski
Selection, "Aida" ..... Verdi
'Traeumerei" ..... Schumann
Persian March ..... Strauss

Herald May 12-01

The Harvard men have engaged a number of tables at the "Pops" for tomorrow night because selections are to be played from the Pi Eta Club opera, "The Viking," which has just had such a success.

Globe May 12 01

"Pop" Concerts.

The promenade concerts in Symphony hall are continuing their popularity midst new surroundings, and Mr Zach's admirable band of players nightly present programs that afford great pleasure to the numerous patrons of this style of summer diversion. Special nights will soon be in order.

Journal May 12-01

A prettier setting could not be imagined than Symphony Hall was on Monday evening to usher in the popular summer series of "Pop" Concerts, which attraction called out the usual large and fashionable audience. The vast hall floor was occupied with any number of parties at every table, while in the surrounding balconies there was not a seat to be had.

Among the listeners were noted Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chick, who occupied a table with a party of friends; Mr. Charles E. Perkins, who had his daughter, Mrs. William Hooper, and her husband with him at one of the front tables; Judge Everett C. Bumpus occupied a near table; Mrs. Alexander Higginson, she who was the pretty Miss Tudor of Brookline, entertained a party at a table; while at the surrounding ones in the balcony were Dr. Charles W. Galloupe and a party of ladies and gentlemen, Mrs. John M. Corse, Mr. Horace G. Allen and party, Mr .and Mrs. Curtis Guild, Jr., Mrs. F. S. Watson, Mrs. Fred R. Comee and friends, the former in a becoming creation of bluet cloth, with a white silk blouse and black hat; she had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert and Mr. George Ellis; Mrs. Gericke, who was with Mr. Gericke, was prettily gowned in a foulard silk in shades of gray, and with this wore a black hat; Mrs. Charles Kimball Crane, who was with her husband, had on an India silk gown, with hat covered with black plumes; Miss Mary Russell wore a pale gray crepon gown, the waist of which was covered with a delicate ecru lace; Miss Gertrude Russell had on a castor cloth creation, the bodice of which was done in gold and pale blue—she wore a large black turban; Mr. Henderson, Mr. George Roberts and Mr. Field were with the Misses Russell; Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, with their daughter, Mrs. H. Messinger Leland, and her husband formed a party, Mrs. Leland wearing a pastel blue silk creation, with a pink hat; Lieut. Harlow was with Col. Woods; Mrs. L. H. Mudgett was handsomely attired in a black gown with touches of gold embroidery, and wore a becoming hat of black and white; her sister, Miss Armstrong, had on a dainty French combination; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Andrews, the latter in a becoming combination, had Dr. Erlich as their guest among others; Miss Ethel Lee wore a deep red crepon gown with a long tan raglan coat; Mr. Walter H. Dugan, President of the Criterion Club, entertained friends; Mr. Willoughby Richardson had a party of people with him; a very pretty gown was that which Miss Edith Austin wore; it was of bluet crepon, with a white chiffon waist, over which was worn a bolero jacket of the bluet cloth; her Tuscan straw hat was trimmed with quantites of pink roses; Miss Marion Richardson had on a dress of old-rose shade of nun's veiling, with a large bow of black velvet on her corsage; a rice straw hat she wore was trimmed with white lilacs and foliage and black velvet ribbons.

Others of importance were Mr. Fritz Kreisler, the violinist; Mrs. Max Zach, wife of the leader of the orchestra, who entertained friends; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Searle, Miss Alice Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Morse, Mr. Curtis Scriven, Mr. Harold Porter Wardwell, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frank, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clement, Signor and Madame Augusto Rotoli, Mr. Charles Hayden and friends, Mrs. Gordon Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Forbes Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Eliot W. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Conant, Mr. Henry Winslow, Mr. Louis C. Elson, Miss Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tyler, Mr. Whipple, Miss Amory, Mr. Walter Deland Came and a party, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dennee, Mrs. Samuel Arnold, Miss Tyler, Mr. Simmons and others.

Post May 12-01

The "Pop" Concerts.

The sixteenth season of "Pop" concerts, which began in their new quarters at Symphony Hall last Monday evening, indicates that this favorite musical diversion of the summer months has lost none of the popularity of former seasons. The new hall is admirably adapted to this style of entertainment and the beautiful corridors permit throngs of promenaders to move about, which adds much to the social enjoyment.

The orchestra is under the able direction of Mr. Max Zach, and his programmes have been chosen with rare good taste. The hall promises to be most attractively cool during the warm weather, and there seems to be nothing to cloud the success of a season which has started so propitiously.

Tomorrow evening there is to be a large delegation of the Pi Eta society from Harvard. The programme in full for Monday evening will be as follows:

March, from "Probe Kuss," Milloecker; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Snowballs," Ziehrer; selection, "The Viking" (Pi Eta Society, 1901), Loud; menuet and farandole from Suite L'Arlesienne, No. 2, Bizet; waltz, "Barcarolle," Waldteufel; hymn to St. Cecilia (violin solo, Mr. Roth), Gounod; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; two Spanish dances, Moszkowski; selection, "Aida," Verdi; "Traeumerei," Schumann; Persian March, Strauss.

One of the most attractive women at the opening promenade concert Monday evening was Mrs. Alexander H. Higginson, who was entirely in black, with toque of pale blue chiffon, and knot of black velvet at the front. Mrs. Gordon Dexter was elegant in white applique with black and a large black and white hat. Mrs. Frederick R. Comee looked very stylish in French blue cloth, with bolero of the same material, worn over a white blouse, and black and white hat. Mrs. James B. Forsyth was in black, the bodice trimmed with white and red. General Curtis Guild, whose wife and sister, Miss Mollie Johnson, have been in Atlantic City for some time, was in a party which included Mrs. Watson and several others. Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper had with them the latter's father, Mr. Charles E. Perkins of Burlington, Ia., and Miss Helen McKay, fresh from her triumph in "The Tyranny of Tears," was in castor veiling and large dark hat. The Criterion Club was represented by a party made up of Mr. Samuel Oliver, Mr. Walter Dugan, Miss Ramsdell and Miss Richardson. Dr. Charles Galloupe of Commonwealth avenue entertained a party of five. Others noted were Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Burrill, Mr. Waldo Hayward and Miss Piper, Mr. Rufus Coffin and friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Cram, Mrs. Boylston Beal and many more.

On Thursday evening Colonel and Mrs. Harry E. Converse were there, having with them Captain Howard, U. S. A., just home from the Philippines, and others. Mrs. Converse looked unusually well in old rose crepon, much tucked. Dr. Childs was the host of a large party, the tables being prettily decorated with flowers, and Mrs. Louise Wheeler of the Vendome and Mr. Richard Ware were noted in the throng. Mrs. Fred R. Comee, wearing a costume of black, with a large black hat, having a heavy white plume around the brim, also entertained a party of friends.

Herald May 12-01

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

The "Pops" in Symphony Hall Are Very Enjoyable.

Tomorrow Night's Programme—Selection from Pi Eta's Production and Hymn on Great Organ—New Radcliffe Operetta—Success of Miss Marie Nichols, Violinist.

AFTER a week's experience, Symphony Hall proves to be altogether the best place for the "Pops" to date. Spacious table room, remarkable acoustics, the wide corridors for the always popular promenade, and the most admirable scheme of ventilation, which carries off the smoke as fast as it is made, all are potent factors in the continued success of these entertainments. In the 16 years that the "Pops" have prevailed, it is interesting to note that with last night's concert exactly 800 performances have been given.

Tomorrow night two most interesting incidents of the concert will be the presence of a large party of members of the Pi Eta Society at Harvard, in recognition of the selection from their production of the season, "The Viking." And the second event will be the use of the great organ of the hall in the hymn to St. Cecilia. Mr. John P. Marshall will be the organist. The complete programme follows:

March, from "Probe Kuss" ..... Milloecker
Overture, "Zampa" ..... Herold
Waltz, "Snowballs" ..... Ziehrer
Selection, "The Viking" ..... Loud
Menuet and farandole from Suite L'Arlesienne, No. 2 ..... Bizet
Waltz, "Barcarolle" ..... Waldteufel
"Hymn to St. Cecilia" ..... Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Roth.
Overture, "Phedre" ..... Massenet
Two Spanish dances ..... Moszkowski
Selection, "Aida" ..... Verdi
"Traeumerei" ..... Schumann
"Persian March" ..... Strauss

As for the "Pops," they are more popular than ever. Their new environment is most attractive. There is no crowding and plenty of room, even for the crowds who gather every night.

The "Pop" concerts opened their season on Monday night most auspiciously. The new Symphony Hall is infinitely more convenient, comfortable and attractive for such affairs than either the old Music Hall or Mechanics' Hall were. There is plenty of space between the tables for the waiters to move without incommoding the occupants, the ventilation and the lighting are most satisfactory, the music is heard to best advantage and the color scheme of the hall is an admirable setting for the women's costumes. Most effective is the word "Pops," in big electric jets, which stands out from the front of the building. Among the smartest and best gowned women there we noted Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, Mrs. William Hooper, Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, Mrs. William F. Beal, Mrs. Charles P. Searle, Mrs. Alexander Higginson, Mrs. Boylston Beal, Mrs. Frank Watson and Miss Martha Dana. Mrs. Dexter, who came in late, had a party of four. She was in black satin with bodice of white spangled lace, with transparent neck and sleeves. Her flat hat of white lace was set well back on her gray pompadour roll. Mr. and Mrs. William Hooper were at a table with the latter's father, Mr. Charles E. Perkins. Mrs. Hooper wore black broadcloth with pale blue and a large white straw hat with plumes. Mrs. Frederick Whitwell was in gray crepe and her picture hat had much green foliage and pink roses on it. Miss Martha Dana wore black and white silk with black lace bolero and large black and white chiffon hat. Mr. John Wheelwright was in her party. Mrs. Boylston Beal, who was with friends in the balcony, wore white lace with a yellow straw hat and white plumes. In Mrs. Frank Watson's party were Mr. Curtis Guild, Jr. Mrs. Guild was not there. Mrs. Watson was in her half mourning, relieved with white revers on the jacket, and a large black hat. Miss Louisa Wells, who was with a large party, wore violet and white. Others there at the different tables were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson, Mr. Boylston Beal, Mr. William F. Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, Dr. and Mrs. Foster Bush with a party, Mr. F. S. Whitwell, Mr. Dabney, Mr. Walter Hawkins. Mr. Richard Hurd, who had a party of 24, including Sig. and Mme. Rotoli, Judge Bumpus, Mrs. John M. Corse, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Searle and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Clement. Also Dr. Charles Galloupe and party, Miss Helen McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Bartlett, Mrs. Fenollosa, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, Mrs. F. R. Comee, Miss Sallie Hooper, Capt. and Mrs. [illegible]

Post May 12-01

THE POP CONCERTS.

It is the unanimous verdict of the crowds who have attended the "Pops" during the opening week that Symphony hall is quite the best adapted to a successful presentation of these summer entertainments to date. The orchestra of 50 members of the Symphony organization sounds gloriously, the admirable scheme of ventilation keeps the interior free from smoke, and the spacious corridors are just the place for the popular promenade during the intermissions. Last night's concert, as an interesting statistic, was the 800th performance given in the 16 years these concerts have prevailed.

Tomorrow night two special features will interest patrons. A large party of members of the Pi Eta society at Harvard will attend in recognition of the selection from their production of this season, "The Viking." And the second event will be the use of the great organ of the hall in the hymn to St Cecilia. Mr John P. Marshall will be the organist.

The complete program follows:

March, from Probe Kuss ..... Milloecker
Overture, Zampa ..... Herold
Waltz, Snowballs ..... Ziehrer
Selection, the Viking (Pi Eta society, 1901), Loud
Menuet and farandole, from suite l'Arlesienne, No 2 ..... Bizet
Waltz, Barcarolle ..... Waldteufel
Hymn to St Cecilia ..... Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Roth.
Overture, Phedre ..... Massenet
Two Spanish dances ..... Moszowski
Selection, Aida ..... Verdi
Traeumerei ..... Schumann
Persian march ..... Strauss

Sun May 14-01

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

Neither Paris, Vienna, Berlin or for that matter any European city can boast a better orchestra than the 50 members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra who play at the "Pops" every week day night. This admirable organization gives selections of a bright order with exactly the same loyalty to a high ideal which obtains with the symphony orchestra, and even when the realm of symphony music is invaded the finished performance always wins the heartiest of applause from the true lovers of good music. And so it is that symphony patrons who confess to a desire for a Strauss waltz now and then welcome the "Pops" with the coming of summer and extend to these charming series of entertainments the patronage so generously bestowed on the symphony concerts earlier in the season. The program for this evening is as follows:

Waltz, "Blue Danube" ..... Strauss
Overture, "Fra Diavolo" ..... Auber
Selection, "Wizard of the Nile" ..... Herbert
Prelude to Act I., "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Scene Religieuse et Invocation ..... Massenet
'Cello Solo, Mr. Keller.
Waltz, "Morgenblatter" ..... Strauss
Polonaise, from "Eugene Oneguin" ..... Tschaikowsky
Overture, "Raymond" ..... Thomas
Menuet, for string orchestra ..... Bolzoni
Waltz, "Meerleuchten" ..... Ziehrer
Teufels March ..... Suppe

[54]

Herald May 14-01

THE "POPS" AT SYMPHONY HALL.

For many years the promenade concerts, or the "Pops," as they are now called, have been a prominent amusement feature of the spring season, and in new Symphony Hall, these charming entertainments are proving more attractive than ever. The programmes are devoted entirely to the best class of light music, and are the same in character as those given in the famous garden concerts at Vienna and Berlin. The audiences attending these popular concerts have grown more discriminating than formerly, and the requests sent in indicate a decided preference for the music of such composers as Strauss, Offenbach, Verdi, Gounod, Bizet, Sullivan, Lecocq, Millocker and Suppe rather than the music of the American comic opera and vaudeville stage. The great orchestra is of superlative excellence, and it is worth a day's journey to hear such a body of musicians play a Strauss waltz.

Those who wish can smoke or sip beer on the floor of the hall, but no refreshments are served in the balconies.

Conductor Zach announces the following programmes for this evening:

Military March.....Zach
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Selection, "Wizard of the Nile".....Herbert
Prelude to Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Scene Religieuse et Invocation.....Massenet
'Cello solo, Mr. Keller.
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Polonaise from "Eugene Oneguin".....Tschaikowsky
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Minuet for string orchestra.....Bolzoni
Waltz, "Meerleuchten".....Ziehrer
Teufels March.....Suppe

Transcript May 14-01

The "Pops" began their second week at Symphony Hall last evening, and as the weather grows kindlier the popularity of the "Pops" increases. Following is the programmme for tonight's concert: Waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; Overture, "Fra Diavolo," Auber; Selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; Prelude to Act I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; Scene Religieuse et Invocation, Massenet; 'Cello Solo, Mr. Keller; Waltz, "Morgenblatter," Strauss; Polonaise, from "Eugene Oneguin," Tschalkowsky; Overture, "Raymond," Thomas; Minuet, for string orchestra, Bolzoni; Waltz, "Meerleuchten," Ziehrer; Teufels March, Suppe.

Post May 14-01

"The Pops" at Symphony Hall.

For many years the promenade concerts or the "Pops," as they are now called, have been a prominent amusement feature of the spring season, and in new Symphony Hall these charming entertainments are proving more attractive than ever. It is an interesting fact that the audiences attending these popular concerts have grown more discriminating than formerly, and the requests sent in indicate a decided preference for the music of such composers as Strauss, Offenbach, Verdi, Gounod, Bizet, Sullivan, Lecocq, Millocker and Suppe rather than the trashy music of the American comic opera and vaudeville stage.

Those who wish can smoke or sip beer on the floor of the hall, but no refreshments are served in the balconies. Conductor Zach announces the following programmes for this evening:

Military March.....Zach
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Selection, "Wizard of the Nile".....Herbert
Prelude to Act I, "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Scene Religieuse et Invocation.....Massenet
('Cello solo, Mr. Keller.)
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Polonaise, from "Eugene Oneguin".....Tschalkowsky
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Menuet, for String Orchestra.....Bolzoni
Waltz, "Meerleuchten".....Ziehrer
Teufels March.....Suppe

Record May 14-01

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

Next to the Symphony concerts and as a natural summer sequence the "Pops" retain their hold upon the public as a fixed feature of Boston's many amusements. They are a happy combination of good bright music, played in the very best way by an orchestra second to none, with something to refreshen the inner man. The best people patronize them, for they are always orderly and well conducted. The prices are reasonable, there is a restful and interesting promenade during the two intermissions where one can greet friends and discuss the evening's program in the latest styles. The "Pops" are and always have been unique. The program for this evening is:—

Military march, Zach; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; overture, "Fra Diavolo," Auber; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; prelude to act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; scene Religieuse et Invocation, Massenet, 'cello solo, Mr. Keller; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Strauss; polonaise from "Eugent Oneguin," Tschalkowsky; overture, "Raymond," Thomas; menuet, for string orchestra, Bolzoni; waltz, "Meerleuchten," Ziehrer; Tuefels March, Suppe.

The Pop concerts are more popular than ever, and Symphony Hall nightly holds a large audience.

Cambridge Press May 15-01

The Pop Concerts.

For many years the promenade concerts or the "Pops," as they are now called, have been a prominent amusement feature of the spring season, and in new Symphony hall, these charming entertainments are proving more attractive than ever. The programs are devoted entirely to the best class of light music, and are the same in character as those given in the famous garden concerts at Vienna and Berlin. The audiences attending these popular concerts have grown more discriminating than formerly, and the requests sent in indicate a decided preference for the music of such composers as Strauss, Offenbach, Verdi, Gounod, Bizet, Sullivan, Lecocq, Millocker and Suppe rather than the music of the American comic opera and vaudeville stage. The great orchestra is of superlative excellence, and it is worth a day's journey to hear such a body of musicians play a Strauss waltz. Those who wish can smoke or sip beer on the floor of the hall, but no refreshments are served in the balconies.

Globe May 16-01

Current and Coming Local Attractions at the Various Theatres.

The pleasing summer diversion known as the "pop" concerts continues to please patrons at Symphony hall.

Mr. Zach has arranged an excellent program for this evening's "pop" concert in Symphony hall.

Record May 16-01

The "Pops" continue on their way rejoicing at Symphony Hall. It is a Boston institution, and as popular this season as ever before.

Pawtucket R.I. Chronicle May 17-01

Philip Hale, the accomplished musical critic of the Boston Journal, takes exception to some of the characteristics that have developed in connection with the concerts that are annually given in that city under the name of "Pops." Phemising that "Pop" is an abbreviation of "Popular", and that the original object of these entertainments was to give good music to the people in an attractive way, he suggests that such purpose seems to have been partly lost sight of, and that far too much formality has crept in. He says: If anybody wishes to show the public that he has a beautiful dress suit, he should be allowed to exhibit it, although the dress suit habit—especially when a black cravat is worn with a tailed coat—is almost as destructive to soul and body as the hack-habit. And should not the prices of admission be lowered? I am aware that Messrs. Ellis and Comee are able to run their own business, and I remember how the Ferguson family of Philadelphia made a large fortune, but I like the managers of these concerts, and I would fain see the hall crowded with men and women, young and old, gossiping, flirting, laughing, wounding, if not killing, care and incidentally listening to the music, which should never be too loud to interfere with the long-winded story of the venerable Mr. Borax, or to drown the amorous whispers of the youth who sits under the shade of a miraculous hat. It would be a pleasure to see visiting from table to table whenever the spirit moved a visitor. The word "Pop," as here applied, should regain its true meaning; it should not be used to characterize a concert attended solemnly by men and women who dress slowly for it and look skew-eyed at rakish youths and pretty girls and wonder where "those persons" live.

We should say that Mr. Hale has the right idea, and that the sooner his suggestions are adopted the sooner the "Pops" will become really Popular.

Post May 17-01

HERE IN BOSTON.

The Pop concerts are in full blast at Symphony Hall, and everyone seems delighted at the new surroundings in which these entertainments are being given. The programmes are especially pleasing.

Herald May 14-01

THE "POPS" AT SYMPHONY HALL.

For many years the promenade concerts, or the "Pops," as they are now called, have been a prominent amusement feature of the spring season, and in new Symphony Hall, these charming entertainments are proving more attractive than ever. The programmes are devoted entirely to the best class of light music, and are the same in character as those given in the famous garden concerts at Vienna and Berlin. The audiences attending these popular concerts have grown more discriminating than formerly, and the requests sent in indicate a decided preference for the music of such composers as Strauss, Offenbach, Verdi, Gounod, Bizet, Sullivan, Lecocq, Millocker and Suppe rather than the music of the American comic opera and vaudeville stage. The great orchestra is of superlative excellence, and it is worth a day's journey to hear such a body of musicians play a Strauss waltz.

Those who wish can smoke or sip beer on the floor of the hall, but no refreshments are served in the balconies.

Conductor Zach announces the following programmes for this evening:

Military March.....Zach
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Selection, "Wizard of the Nile".....Herbert
Prelude to Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Scene Religieuse et Invocation.....Massenet
'Cello solo, Mr. Keller.
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Polonaise from "Eugene Oneguin".....Tschaikowsky
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Menuet for string orchestra.....Bolzoni
Waltz, "Meerleuchten".....Ziehrer
Teufels March.....Suppe

Post May 15-01

The Pop concerts are more popular than ever, and Symphony Hall nightly holds a large audience.

Cambridge Press May 15-01

The Pop Concerts.

For many years the promenade concerts, or the "Pops," as they are now called, have been a prominent amusement feature of the spring season, and in new Symphony hall, these charming entertainments are proving more attractive than ever. The programs are devoted entirely to the best class of light music, and are the same in character as those given in the famous garden concerts at Vienna and Berlin. The audiences attending these popular concerts have grown more discriminating than formerly, and the requests sent in indicate a decided preference for the music of such composers as Strauss, Offenbach, Verdi, Gounod, Bizet, Sullivan, Lecocq, Millocker and Suppe rather than the music of the American comic opera and vaudeville stage. The great orchestra is of superlative excellence, and it is worth a day's journey to hear such a body of musicians play a Strauss waltz. Those who wish can smoke or sip beer on the floor of the hall, but no refreshments are served in the balconies.

Current May 15-01

Current and Coming Local Attractions at the Various Theatres.

The pleasing summer diversion known as the "pop" concerts continues to please patrons at Symphony hall.

Mr Zach has arranged an excellent program for this evening's "pop" concert in Symphony hall.

Record May 15-01

The "Pops" continue on their way rejoicing at Symphony Hall. It is a Boston institution, and as popular this season as ever before.

Transcript May 15-01

The "Pops" began their second week at Symphony Hall last evening, and as the weather grows kindlier the popularity of the "Pops" increases. Following is the programmme for tonight's concert: Waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; Overture, "Fra Diavolo," Auber; Selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; Prelude to Act I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; Scene Religieuse et Invocation, Massenet; 'Cello Solo, Mr. Keller; Waltz, "Morgenblatter," Strauss; Polonaise, from "Eugene Oneguin," Tschaikowsky; Overture, "Raymond," Thomas; Minuet, for string orchestra, Bolzoni; Waltz, "Meerleuchten," Ziehrer; Teufels March, Suppe.

Post May 15-01

"The Pops" at Symphony Hall.

For many years the promenade concerts or the "Pops," as they are now called, have been a prominent amusement feature of the spring season, and in new Symphony Hall these charming entertainments are proving more attractive than ever. It is an interesting fact that the audiences attending these popular concerts have grown more discriminating than formerly, and the requests sent in indicate a decided preference for the music of such composers as Strauss, Offenbach, Verdi, Gounod, Bizet, Sullivan, Lecocq, Millocker and Suppe rather than the trashy music of the American comic opera and vaudeville stage.

Those who wish can smoke or sip beer on the floor of the hall, but no refreshments are served in the balconies. Conductor Zach announces the following programmes for this evening:

Military March.....Zach
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Selection, "Wizard of the Nile".....Herbert
Prelude to Act 1, "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Scene Religieuse et Invocation.....Massenet
('Cello solo, Mr. Keller.)
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Polonaise, from "Eugene Oneguin".Tschaikowsky
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Mennet, for String Orchestra.....Bolzoni
Waltz, "Meerleuchten".....Ziehrer
Teufels March.....Suppe

Record May 15-01

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

Next to the Symphony concerts and as a natural summer sequence the "Pops" retain their hold upon the public as a fixed feature of Boston's many amusements. They are a happy combination of good bright music, played in the very best way by an orchestra second to none, with something to refreshen the inner man. The best people patronize them, for they are always orderly and well conducted.

The prices are reasonable, there is a restful and interesting promenade during the two intermissions where one can greet friends and discuss the evening's program or the latest styles. The "Pops" are and always have been unique. The program for this evening is:—

Military march, Zach; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; overture, "Fra Diavolo," Auber; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; prelude to act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; scene Religieuse et Invocation, Massenet, 'cello solo, Mr. Keller; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Strauss; polonaise from "Eugent Oneguin," Tschalkowsky; overture, "Raymond," Thomas; menuet, for string orchestra, Bolzoni; waltz, "Meerleuchten," Ziehrer; Tuefels March, Suppe.

Philip Hale, the accomplished musical critic of the Boston Journal, takes exception to some of the characteristics that have developed in connection with the concerts that are annually given in that city under the name of "Pops." Phemising that "Pop" is an abbreviation of "Popular", and that the original object of these entertainments was to give good music to the people in an attractive way, he suggests that such purpose seems to have been partly lost sight of, and that far too much formality has crept in. He says: If anybody wishes to show the public that he has a beautiful dress suit, he should be allowed to exhibit it, although the dress suit habit—especially when a black cravat is worn with a tailed coat—is almost as destructive to soul and body as the hack-habit. And should not the prices of admission be lowered? I am aware that Messrs. Ellis and Comee are able to run their own business, and I remember how the Ferguson family of Philadelphia made a large fortune, but I like the managers of these concerts, and I would fain see the hall crowded with men and women, young and old, gossiping, flirting, laughing, wounding, if not killing, care and incidentally listening to the music, which should never be too loud to interfere with the long-winded story of the venerable Mr. Borax, or to drown the amorous whispers of the youth who sits under the shade of a miraculous hat. It would be a pleasure to see visiting from table to table whenever the spirit moved a visitor. The word "Pop," as here applied, should regain its true meaning; it should not be used to characterize a concert attended solemnly by men and women who dress slowly for it and look skew-eyed at rakish youths and pretty girls and wonder where "those persons" live.

We should say that Mr. Hale has the right idea, and that the sooner his suggestions are adopted the sooner the "Pops" will become really Popular.

Post May 17-01

HERE IN BOSTON.

The Pop concerts are in full blast at Symphony Hall, and everyone seems delighted at the new surroundings in which these entertainments are being given. The programmes are especially pleasing.

REDUCTION RATIO

14x

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
2.5 mm 1234567890

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
2.0 mm abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
1.5 mm abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

PM-MGP 13"x18"
METRIC GENERAL PURPOSE TARGET
PHOTOGRAPHIC

150 mm

100 mm

A5

A4

1.0 mm

1.5 mm

2.0 mm

2.5 mm

PRECISION℠ RESOLUTION TARGETS

Century

1303 Geneva Avenue
St. Paul, MN 55119

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
4.5 mm 1234567890

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

Herald May 17-1901

THE MAN BEHIND THE MUSIC RACK AT THE "POPS" IS MR. JOHN SAUERQUELL. HE LABORS EARLY AND LATE TO SEE THAT EACH PLAYER HAS THE RIGHT SHEET

He Is the Librarian of America's Finest Orchestra.

AN EMERGENCY MAN.

Beside His Ordinary Work He Has to Supply Music for a "Request" Piece.

It may not be generally known or even thought of by the thousands of music lovers who attend the Symphony concerts in the winter and the "Pops" in the spring that there is a decided "behind the scenes" situation in connection with all concerts given by this famous body of musicians, and this, too, aside from the rehearsals that are held during the week. When the doors of Symphony Hall are thrown open of an evening and those who have been standing in the rush line have secured their seats, they look down upon a platform perfectly arranged. Each musician has his particular chair, and upon the stand in front of it is his music between the covers of a neat folder. It looks easy to one who knows nothing about it. Or it may not appeal to him who has no thought of the detail and work necessitated by any concert that may be given. It requires a deal of study and an amount of work hardly to be realized, even when one has had an opportunity of inspecting the large library where the music is kept and talked with Mr. John Sauerquell, the librarian who has charge of it.

When the members of the "Pop" concert orchestra file upon the stage everything for the evening is there, straight as a string. When Mr. Max Zach steps to the conductor's position he has the score of the first number of the programme before him, and the others are close at hand. If the music were not properly arranged, what would happen? Only those who have experienced the frantic fear and terrifying search for a stray sheet of music, with the hands of the clock moving onward steadily to the hour of opening, know the importance and responsibility of the position of librarian.

There are 50 musicians upon the stage awaiting the signal from Mr. Zach's baton. The programme usually consists of 12 numbers and the possibility is that this will be swelled to sixteen before the evening is over owing to encores. With the various parts, embracing first violins, second violins, violas, violoncelli, contrabassi, flauti, piccolo, oboi, corno Anglaise, clarinetti, bass clarinet, fagotti, contra fagotto, corni, trombi, cornets a pistons, tuba, timpani, harp, drums, cymbals, triangle and tam-tam, the music in sheets, numbers of an evening almost a thousand, and the handling of this amount calls for a man of cool head and a system perfect in every detail. All this is found in the personality of Mr. Sauerquell, who has had charge of the Symphony music for a great many years as well as that for the "Pop" concerts, which today is his work.

Upon the balcony of the hall, on the right hand corridor, the last room before the stairs leading down to the Massachusetts avenue exit are reached is the library. There is no mark to distinguish it, and yet within is stored all the music used by the orchestra, and here from early in the forenoon until late in the evening Mr. Sauerquell can be found at work with his records and the other duties of looking up new music and the sending of recent purchases to the binder. The library is one specially built for the purpose, and the conveniences are admirable and the system perfect. In the centre of the room is Mr. Sauerquell's desk, beside that a table upon which are the books of reference, the catalogues, etc. Upon the right wall are the 200 or more racks for the music, each rack containing a number of symphonies, concertos or miscellaneous numbers. The left wall is arranged in a like manner, but today the space used for the storage of the "Pop" music is vacant, for this has been removed to a room to be referred to later.

Each musical number, whether symphony, overture, etc., has its number upon the back of the stiff folder and the name of the composer. A smaller number in the left hand corner indicates the number of the score and makes it easy to pick from the library of scores that which goes to the conductor in connection with the other parts. In the index all the symphonies are arranged alphabetically with the names of the composers and the character of the piece together with the number of the score. This system is followed in connection with all the other music.

Each member of the orchestra has a folder with the name of the instrument he plays printed upon it. These are a working table for Mr. Sauerquell, but, of course, in many pieces the entire number is not required. For instance, in the violins two musicians play from a single sheet of music, as do the other "strings," but the wind instrument players have their own folders, or folios. In the library of the hall there is over $34,000 worth of music and new is being bought each week. This is prepared for its place in the library, and then sent to the binder who makes the folios and binds the scores. A record is made in the index, and when it comes back it goes upon the shelf in its place, and can be found and used at any time without the slightest confusion.

What is, during the winter, the artists' "green room" is now the temporary library for the music used by the "Pop" concert orchestra. It is known as room "A," and is directly back of the stage, with windows facing the avenue, looking toward the Charles. The music is placed in piles upon the tables for the purpose, according to composers and the character of the piece, as in the library above. A table desk is in the centre of the room, and upon this the librarian works during the weeks occupied by the "Pop" concerts. As the programme of the concerts indicates, the music that is stored for the use of the "Pops" is of a lighter order, and the management evidently intends to bring the standard of excellence in the programme up to that which it had before the Spanish war.

Mr. Sauerquell comes to the library early in the forenoon. He has his programme for the evening before him, and with his working folders he starts laying out the music. He begins with the first number on the programme. The first violin folder in hand, he places the sheet for the piece inside, together with the other first violin sheets, for there are several who call for that portion of the score. When he has laid out those parts he takes the next, the second violins, and so on down the list of instruments, until he has the piece complete. These folders being placed face down during the operation of distribution, by turning them over he has them in the order desired for the second number. Thus he goes through the entire programme, and when he has finished, each musician has within the folder that is placed upon the stand before which he plays, all the parts for the evening's programme. These folders are distributed in the afternoon so that "the stage is set" and ready. Mr. Sauerquell's duty, however, does not end with the distribution of the parts. He is on hand during the evening in case that any special piece should be requested and Mr. Zach consent to substitute it for any number on the list. A word sent to the librarian, and in a very short space of time the parts, all in folders, are ready for the men. The system, while simple, could not be better, so asserts Mr. Sauerquell, and he is an authority. He says that he can put out a programme for either a symphony concert or a "pop" in 20 minutes.

This gentleman does not confine himself entirely to the library. His duty is also that of stage manager. He keeps the pay roll and looks out for the musicians during the performances, and sees that all are on hand, as well as supplying substitutes in case of illness. When the Symphony orchestra goes upon its tour of the country, visiting New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Brooklyn, Providence, Fall River, Hartford, Troy and Cambridge, he goes with it, of course. This organization has a baggage car of its own, which carries the instruments, trunks, etc., and music racks. The music required for the programmes arranged for during the trip is packed carefully in trunks made for that purpose.

These are trunks having a great depth and a single tray. There are four compartments into which the pile of music, in the folios, fit tightly, there being no possible way any of it could be injured. When this is packed, the duty of the librarian ends so far as the music is concerned, for the organization has its men who look after the transportation of the instruments and trunks.

Mr. John Sauerquell was born in Czernowitz, Austria, May 12, 1846. His father was an officer in the Austrian army for many years; he resigned, however, and became a clerk in a bank in his native city. His father was musical as was his mother, but neither of them ever appeared professionally. Of himself Mr. Sauerquell says that, while musically inclined, he never appears in public. There are others who assert that this statement is born of modesty peculiar to the man, and that he is an excellent performer upon the piano as well as at times stepping into the ranks of the orchestra behind the bass violin.

His early education was acquired in his birthplace, and then he went to the Polytechnique at Vienna, from which he graduated. In 1866, he volunteered in the Austrian army in the war against Prussia and remained with the troops for four years, leaving with the rank of first sergeant. In 1889, he came to this country, making Boston his home. This was on Jan. 2. He brought his wife with him. She is known to many as the sister of Mr. Franz Kneisel. Mr. Sauerquell joined the Symphony orchestra Oct. 1, 1889, taking a position in the office. When Mr. C. W. Nichols, who was librarian at that time, was taken ill, he was put in his place. Upon the death of Mr. Nichols he was made librarian, Mr. Otto Nikisch insisting that he be given the position which he had filled so well. Among the Bohemian set, in the musical ranks of Boston, there is no better known man than he. Not only does he know music, but his knowledge of languages is very wide.

[56]

REDUCTION RATIO

12x

2.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

2.0 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

1.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

PM-MGP 13″x18″
METRIC GENERAL PURPOSE TARGET
PHOTOGRAPHIC

150 mm

100 mm

A5

A4

1.0 mm

1.5 mm

2.0 mm

2.5 mm

PRECISION℠ RESOLUTION TARGETS

Century

1303 Geneva Avenue
St. Paul, MN 55119

4.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz 1234567890

3.5 mm ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz1234567890

Beacon May 18-01

The Pops

The Pop concerts have been elevated to the dignity of a social function. People go to Symphony Hall o' nights not only to hear sweet music and imbibe liquid refreshment, but to see and be seen. Boston at its smartest is well represented at the reserved tables; at the outer tables the bohemian and professional class gather in nonchalant ease; and from the balconies look on a fascinated crowd who are fond of a good orchestra, and take this chance of studying local manners. The whole thing is unique. Not to see it is to deprive one's self of an enviable experience.

Chelsea Gazette May 18-01

Quite a number of Chelsea people went to the "Pop" concert Monday evening, when a 15 minute selection from "The Viking" was played. Mr. Loud, the composer, was present and expressed much pleasure with the arrangement and rendering of his music. The selection was arranged by Conductor Max Zach.

Transcript May 18-01

Everybody is delighted with the adaptability of the new Symphony Hall to the "Pops" and all agree it is the best audience room for these attractive entertainments to date. The old and to a certain extent justifiable complaint of the ladies that the tobacco smoke was offensive and lasting in its disagreeable effect is now entirely groundless. The ventilation is well-nigh perfect. Representative Boston audiences are in attendance nightly, and the receipts show the most satisfactory two weeks for many seasons. The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows: March, "Serenade," Herbert; waltz, "Vienna Beauties," Ziehrer; overture, "La Part du Diable," Auber; selection, "Singing Girl," Herbert; (a) scherzo valse from "Boabdil," Moszkowski; (b) malagaena from "Boabdil," Moszkowski; overture, "Barber of Seville," Rossini; waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding," Zach; polonaise, Chopin; waltz, "Tales from the Woods," Strauss; zither obbligato, Mr. C. Keller; "Ronde d'Amour," Westerhout; polka, "Hunter's Yarns," Komzak; march, "Pro Patria," Milloecker.

Courier May 14-01

THE POPS.

The popularity of the Pop concerts was never so well indicated as this season. Indeed it is reasonable that it be in higher degree than ever for there are more particulars to make the evenings enjoyable. The music of the orchestra of fifty pieces is invariably exquisite, directed by Mr. Max Zach and the surroundings are in combination conducive to the derivation of the utmost pleasure from it, for the beauty of the hall and its excellent ventilation are remarked with satisfaction.

The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows: March, "Serenade," Herbert; waltz, "Vienna Beauties," Ziehrer; overture, "La Part du Diable," Auber; selection, "Singing Girl," Herbert; (a) scherzo valse from "Boabdil." Moszkowski; (b) malagaena from "Boabdil," Moszkowski; overture, "Barber of Seville," Rossini; waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding," Zach; polonaise, Chopin; waltz, "Tales of the Woods," Strauss; zither obbligato, Mr. C. Keller; "Ronde d'Amour," Westerhout; polka, "Hunter's Yarns," Komzak; march, "Pro Patria," Milloecker.

Gazette May 18-01

The Meanderings of Percy.

Is there a special boor among your acquaintance? I've got one and he proved his capacity last Wednesday night. I was enjoying the music at the "Pops" when I heard him call me:

"Oh, Percy!"

I have made it a rule never to answer to my first name. If an acquaintance cannot confer on me the ordinary respectful title of Mr., I prefer not to know him. This boor called at me twice and his second salutation bringing no response, although I was within easy hearing distance, he finally tumbled, as the boys say, and came over to my table, beckoning a friend to follow. The fellow is boorish in every respect, for he it once began a nauseating flattery. It was his pleasure to make two such noted men acquainted, etc. Well, I stood it because I didn't want to be a boor myself, then he remarked on my appearance.

"You're growing stout," he said, in a tone quite loud enough for all within four tables either way, to hear.

I don't like any one to remark on my size. It is natural for one to become heavier after reaching a certain age. He talked on general matters for some time, then remarked, with the familiarity of a long acquaintance:

"But really, you know, you must positively take better care of yourself. You are much heavier than you have been for years."

Then he said that I must spend a month with him at his seashore home, where the air was,—well, he talked ten minutes about that air and I didn't hear a note of what was being played. Next he went into ecstacies over his sloop, which would give the proper toning to my system, then spoke of the miles of forest drives we would take behind his pair. He was generous to a fault, wanting me to sample to my fill everything he possessed, but through it all there was a proper appreciation of his possessions, although they were brought in only as accessories to the training process I was to undergo. After I had been harrassed by his talk for what, it seemed, an agonizingly long time, he stopped suddenly and said:

"But really, old fellow, you are almost fat."

I vacated the table, after making a half audible excuse that other acquaintances were motioning to me, and as I left I heard him say to the new acquaintance:

"Don't exercise enough. That's the kind of fellow that goes off with a shock and we can't afford to lose him. I'll take him in hand this summer."

A friend of mine made $7000 on the market, and got out of the "Sad Thursday" slump without a scratch. It is ridiculous to contend that there is no such a thing as luck in life's daily drawings. This friend acknowledged that he hadn't a single thing to work on more than I; still, he got out. It has been my misfortune to be reckoned a lucky speculator, but it now looks as though my former reputation would prevent the carrying out of certain arrangements which had been made for the pleasurable passing of the warm season by four people and myself. Artie and Willie, with Charlie Aspinwall and James, from Peoria, furnished an equal sum of money with myself to follow up the recent boom in stocks, the provision being that I should manipulate it. I bought Atchison at 70, Little Nipper at 92, U. P. at 88, and Mop at 101. There was a time before the "Sad Thursday" when any one of us could have hired a yacht until fall, all found, on our profits, and there isn't one of us but wishes he had. Every one of the boys was as watchful of my health as the foreigners are of J. P. Morgan's, while things were going up, and each night saw a steadily fattening nest egg, but now there isn't one of them but acts as though there would be nothing too bad to happen me. This friend of mine, who got out, says he just thought he ought to get out. I thought that I'd get out in a day or two, but I didn't. When the break came I tried to straddle the damn thing, but a man might as well have tried to stick on an untamed broncho. It wiped me on both ends. I suppose I relied too much on the straddling feature, and recommended it too highly, for James of Peoria, in a heated argument on the result—but not in my hearing—referred to me as "Old Straddler." I think I will let the stock market alone in the future. When a man of my age runs up against a business that can wipe out twenty margins is as many minutes it's altogether too swift play for him. It differs from a game in which one can name the limit.

Post May 18-01

RAGTIME BALLAD MUST GO.

So Max Zach, Pops Conductor, Says and He Gives Reasons.

Max Zach, conductor at the Pops, says the ragtime ballad must go. When he was told by a Post reporter last night that the American Federation of Musicians, in convention at Denver, had passed resolutions condemning ragtime and calling on all old musicians to join a movement to suppress this form of alleged melody, he said:

"I am very glad they have done it. The only ragtime songs we have ever played were 'The Georgia Camp Meeting' and 'Whistling Rufus.' We played those because at the time of the war nobody would listen to anything else, and they were called for all the time.

"This year we let it be understood that the policy had been changed, and the only ragtime tune we play is the dance from 'The Rounders,' which comes as an incident to the medley. It is the only ragtime tune of the lot that has any merit, and it isn't real ragtime, anyway.

"The 'coon songs' have driven out all other kinds of music and caused a serious deterioration in public taste. Some of the ragtime tunes are cute, but none of them is above the value of the common 'heart-compelling' variety theatre ballads. I can't think of one.

"Talk about 'All Coons Look Alike to Me'; well, all ragtime looks alike to me. There's no difference between them."

Post May 19-01

The Pops.

Any amusement enterprise which lasts for sixteen consecutive seasons with unvarying success, must of necessity possess in a marked degree both drawing power and popularity. The history of the Pops from the beginning would be most interesting reading, but our concern is for the present rather than the past. It is most gratifying to record the same old story of the best people, the best orchestra and altogether the best summer entertainment yet devised in Boston. Familiar faces fill the tables every night, and ere the season is half over all of the Hub's host of pleasure seekers, after the best even in their amusement, will have been in evidence in Symphony Hall.

The programme for Monday evening is as follows:

March, "Serenade" ..... Herbert
Waltz, "Vienna Beauties" ..... Ziehrer
Overture, "La Part du Diable" ..... Auber
Selection, "Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
(a) Scherzo Valse, from "Boabdil" ..... Moszkowski
(b) Malagaena, from "Boabdil" ..... Moszkowski
Overture, "Barber of Seville" ..... Rossini
Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding" ..... Zach
Polonaise ..... Chopin
Waltz, "Tales from the Woods" ..... Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
"Ronde D'Amour" ..... Westerhout
Polka, "Hunter's Yarns" ..... Komzak
March, "Pro Patria" ..... Milloecker

Globe May 19-01

—Among the patrons who have been enjoying the Pop concerts the past week, are some who find pleasure in passing two or three evenings a week there, not only for the purpose of enjoying the music, which is exceptionally fine this year, but for the social side, large parties being the rule, and many exchanges of courtesies among friends at the different tables. Mr Richard Olney, with friends, and Dr Sturgis Bigelow, may be included among those who have attended the past week. One party, on Thursday evening, was made up of Mrs Philip V. R. Ely and her son, Mr Kenneth Horton, with Mrs Horton (Miss Wagniere) and two other guests. Mrs Horton wore an effective costume of black net, the skirt ruffled to the waist with the net over cru silk. The bodice and hat were combinations of the two colors. Mrs Ely was all in black, with a touch of white at the bodice, and hat with plumes. Mr Stephen Townsend with friends; Mrs Mudgett and guests from New York, Mr and Mrs A. Shuman with members of their family, and Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball, Miss Estelle Kimball and friends who are visiting them, were there. Miss Kimball wore a gown of black net, both skirt and bodice made with insertions of white covered with black lace, with blue stock. The hat was black. Mr Zach quite pleased his audience by giving an "extra" just before the second intermission.

Journal May 19-01

Judge and Mrs. Robert Grant gave a dinner party last Saturday evening at their residence on Bay State Road, after which the party occupied a table at the Pop Concert at Symphony Hall, when among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Otis.

Beacon May 18-01

The Pops

The Pop concerts have been elevated to the dignity of a social function. People go to Symphony Hall o' nights not only to hear sweet music and imbibe liquid refreshment, but to see and be seen. Boston at its smartest is well represented at the reserved tables; at the outer tables the bohemian and professional class gather in nonchalant ease; and from the balconies look on a fascinated crowd who are fond of a good orchestra, and take this chance of studying local manners. The whole thing is unique. Not to see it is to deprive one's self of an enviable experience.

Chelsea Gazette May 18-01

Quite a number of Chelsea people w nt to the "Pop" concert Monday evening, when a 15 minute selection from "The Viking" was played. Mr. Loud, the composer, was present and expressed much pleasure with the arrangement and rendering of his music. The selection was arranged by Conductor Max Zach.

Herald May 18-01

Everybody is delighted with the adaptability of the new Symphony Hall to the "Pops" and all agree it is the best audience room for these attractive entertainments to date. The old and to a certain extent justifiable complaint of the ladies that the tobacco smoke was offensive and lasting in its disagreeable effect is now entirely groundless. The ventilation is well-nigh perfect. Representative Boston audiences are in attendance nightly, and the receipts show the most satisfactory two weeks for many seasons. The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows: March, "Serenade," Herbert; waltz, "Vienna Beauties," Ziehrer; overture, "La Part du Diable," Auber; selection, "Singing Girl," Herbert; (a) scherzo valse from "Boabdil," Moszkowski; (b) malagaena from Boabdil," Moszkowski; overture, "Barber of Seville," Rossini; waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding," Zach; polonaise, Chopin; waltz, "Tales from the Woods," Strauss; zither obbligato, Mr. C. Keller; "Ronde d'Amour," Westerhout; polka, "Hunter's Yarns," Komzàk; march, "Pro Patria," Milloecker.

Courier May 18-01

THE POPS.

The popularity of the Pop concerts was never so well indicated as this season. Indeed it is reasonable that it be in higher degree than ever for there are more particulars to make the evenings enjoyable. The music of the orchestra of fifty pieces is invariably exquisite, directed by Mr. Max Zach and the surroundings are in combination conducive to the derivation of the utmost pleasure from it, for the beauty of the hall and its excellent ventilation are remarked with satisfaction.

The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows: March, "Serenade," Herbert; waltz, "Vienna Beauties," Ziehrer; overture, "La Part du Diable," Auber; selection, "Singing Girl," Herbert; (a) scherzo valse from "Boabdil," Moszkowski; (b) malagaena from "Boabdil," Moszkowski; overture, "Barber of Seville," Rossini; waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding," Zach; polonaise, Chopin; waltz, "Tales of the Woods," Strauss; zither obbligato, Mr. C. Keller; "Ronde d'Amour," Westerhout; polka, "Hunter's Yarns," Komzak; march, "Pro Patria," Milloecker.

Gazette May 18-01

The Meanderings of Percy.

Is there a special boor among your acquaintance? I've got one and he proved his capacity last Wednesday night. I was enjoying the music at the "Pops" when I heard him call me:

"Oh, Percy!"

I have made it a rule never to answer to my first name. If an acquaintance cannot confer on me the ordinary respectful title of Mr., I prefer not to know him. This boor called at me twice and his second salutation bringing no response, although I was within easy hearing distance, he finally tumbled, as the boys say, and came over to my table, beckoning a friend to follow. The fellow is boorish in every respect, for he it once began a nauseating flattery. It was his pleasure to make two such noted men acquainted, etc. Well, I stood it because I didn't want to be a boor myself, then he remarked on my appearance.

"You're growing stout," he said, in a tone quite loud enough for all within four tables either way, to hear.

I don't like any one to remark on my size. It is natural for one to become heavier after reaching a certain age. He talked on general matters for some time, then remarked, with the familiarity of a long acquaintance:

"But really, you know, you must positively take better care of yourself. You are much heavier than you have been for years."

Then he said that I must spend a month with him at his seashore home, where the air was,—well, he talked ten minutes about that air and I didn't hear a note of what was being played. Next he went into ecstacies over his sloop, which would give the proper toning to my system, then spoke of the miles of forest drives we would take behind his pair. He was generous to a fault, wanting me to sample to my fill everything he possessed, but through it all there was a proper appreciation of his possessions, although they were brought in only as accessories to the training process I was to undergo. After I had been harrassed by his talk for what, it seemed, an agonizingly long time, he stopped suddenly and said:

"But really, old fellow, you are almost fat."

I vacated the table, after making a half audible excuse that other acquaintances were motioning to me, and as I left I heard him say to the new acquaintance:

"Don't exercise enough. That's the kind of fellow that goes off with a shock and we can't afford to lose him. I'll take him in hand this summer."

A friend of mine made $7000 on the market, and got out of the "Sad Thursday" slump without a scratch. It is ridiculous to contend that there is no such a thing as luck in life's daily drawings. This friend acknowledged that he hadn't a single thing to work on more than I: still, he got out. It has been my misfortune to be reckoned a lucky speculator, but it now looks as though my former reputation would prevent the carrying out of certain arrangements which had been made for the pleasurable passing of the warm season by four people and myself. Artie and Willie, with Charlie Aspinwall and James, from Peoria, furnished an equal sum of money with myself to follow up the recent boom in stocks, the provision being that I should manipulate it. I bought Atchison at 70, Little Nipper at 92, U. P. at 88, and Mop at 101. There was a time before the "Sad Thursday" when any one of us could have hired a yacht until fall, all found, on our profits, and there isn't one of us but wishes he had. Every one of the boys was as watchful of my health as the foreigners are of J. P. Morgan's, while things were going up, and each night saw a steadily fattening nest egg, but now there isn't one of them but acts as though there would be nothing too bad to happen me. This friend of mine, who got out, says he just thought he ought to get out. I thought that I'd get out in a day or two, but I didn't. When the break came I tried to straddle the damn thing, but a man might as well have tried to stick on an untamed broncho. It wiped me on both ends. I suppose I relied too much on the straddling feature, and recommended it too highly, for James of Peoria, in a heated argument on the result—but not in my hearing—referred to me as "Old Straddler." I think I will let the stock market alone in the future. When a man of my age runs up against a business that can wipe out twenty margins is as many minutes it's altogether too swift play for him. It differs from a game in which one can name the limit.

Post May 18 01

RAGTIME BALLAD MUST GO.

So Max Zach, Pops Conductor, Says and He Gives Reasons.

Max Zach, conductor at the Pops, says the ragtime ballad must go. When he was told by a Post reporter last night that the American Federation of Musicians, in convention at Denver, had passed resolutions condemning ragtime and calling on all old musicians to join a movement to suppress this form of alleged melody, he said:

"I am very glad they have done it. The only ragtime songs we have ever played were 'The Georgia Camp Meeting' and 'Whistling Rufus.' We played those because at the time of the war nobody would listen to anything else, and they were called for all the time.

"This year we let it be understood that the policy had been changed, and the only ragtime tune we play is the dance from 'The Rounders,' which comes as an incident to the medley. It is the only ragtime tune of the lot that has any merit, and it isn't real ragtime, anyway.

"The 'coon songs' have driven out all other kinds of music and caused a serious deterioration in public taste. Some of the ragtime tunes are cute, but none of them is above the value of the common 'heart-compelling' variety theatre ballads. I can't think of one.

"Talk about 'All Coons Look Alike to Me'; well, all ragtime looks alike to me. There's no difference between them."

Post May 18 01

The Pops.

Any amusement enterprise which lasts for sixteen consecutive seasons with unvarying success, must of necessity possess in a marked degree both drawing power and popularity. The history of the Pops from the beginning would be most interesting reading, but our concern is for the present rather than the past. It is most gratifying to record the same old story of the best people, the best orchestra and altogether the best summer entertainment yet devised in Boston. Familiar faces fill the tables every night, and ere the season is half over all of the Hub's host of pleasure seekers, after the best even in their amusement, will have been in evidence in Symphony Hall.

The programme for Monday evening is as follows:

March, "Serenade".....Herbert
Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
(a) Scherzo Valse, from "Boabdil" .....Moszkowski
(b) Malagaena, from "Boabdil" .....Moszkowski
Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
Polonaise .....Chopin
Waltz, "Tales from the Woods"...Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

——Among the patrons who have been enjoying the Pop concerts the past week, are some who find pleasure in passing two or three evenings a week there, not only for the purpose of enjoying the music, which is exceptionally fine this year, but for the social side, large parties being the rule, and many exchanges of courtesies among friends at the different tables. Mr Richard Olney, with friends, and Dr Sturgis Bigelow, may be included among those who have attended the past week. One party, on Thursday evening, was made up of Mrs Philip V. R. Ely and her son, Mr Kenneth Horton, with Mrs Horton (Miss Wagniere) and two other guests. Mrs Horton wore an effective costume of black net, the skirt ruffled to the waist with the net over ecru silk. The bodice and hat were combinations of the two colors. Mrs Ely was all in black, with a touch of white at the bodice, and hat with plumes. Mr Stephen Townsend with friends; Mrs Mudgett and guests from New York, Mr and Mrs A. Shuman with members of their family, and Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball, Miss Estelle Kimball and friends who are visiting them, were there. Miss Kimball wore a gown of black net, both skirt and bodice made with insertions of white covered with black lace, with blue stock. The hat was black. Mr Zach quite pleased his audience by giving an "extra" just before the second intermission.

Judge and Mrs. Robert Grant gave a dinner party last Saturday evening at their residence on Bay State Road, after which the party occupied a table at the Pop Concert at Symphony Hall, when among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Otis.

INCOMPLETE

Globe May 19-01

—The second week of the Pop concerts opened in a very jolly manner, more than a hundred students being there on Monday night. The whole audience, which occupied every table, was enthusiastic over the selections from "The Viking" (Pi Eta society, 1901), and an encore was given. In fact, so many selections were popular that several encores were played during the evening. There was at one table a pleasant party of eight, including Miss Sargent, Mr and Mrs Frederic Whitwell, Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam and Mr and Mrs Winsor Weld (Miss Theresa Davis) of Chestnut Hill. Mrs Weld wore a lovely costume of rose pink silk with eton jacket of Irish lace. Her hat was of white straw, with a double row of pink roses around the brim; Mrs Whitwell wore ecru veiling, with white lace trimmings and blue stock and girdle, with hat of blue chiffon; Mrs Putnam was in black, both skirt and bodice, with entre-deux of white lace. With this charming costume she wore a boa of white chiffon, edged with black and a white chip hat, with a wreath of green leaves, and black velvet bow; Miss Sargent was in black silk, with deep collar of renaissance lace, and a hat, a combination of white and black. At another table was Mrs Gordon Dexter and a large party of young persons. Mrs Dexter was distinguished in the costume she wore the opening night, a skirt of black satin with bodice of silver passementerie; the yoke and sleeves of white lace. The hat is entirely of rows of white figured lace, setting well off the face, a much more becoming style than the one generally being worn at present, which almost entirely hides the face from view. Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan and Mr Timothee Adamowski formed a party at another table, Mrs Jordan looking very well in a black lace gown, with touches of white at the bodice, and black and white hat. Others there were Mr and Mrs David Noyes and friends, Mr and Mrs Allen of Beacon st, and Mr S. B. Whitney, his nieces, with the Misses Jones of Woodstock, Vt, who are his guests at his home on Chestnut st.

Journal May 19-01

THE POPS.

Any amusement enterprise which lasts for 16 consecutive seasons with unvarying success, must of necessity possess in a marked degree both drawing power and popularity. The history of the Pops from the beginning would be most interesting reading, but our concern is for the present rather than the past. It is most gratifying to record the same old story of the best people, the best orchestra and altogether the best summer entertainment yet devised in Boston. Familiar faces fill the tables every night, and ere the season is half over all of the Hub's host of pleasure seekers, after the best even in their amusement, will have been in evidence in Symphony Hall.

The program for Monday evening is as follows:

1—March, "Serenade".....Herbert
2—Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
3—Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
4—Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
5—(a) Scherzo Valse, from "Boabdil"..
Moszkowski
(b) Malagaena, from "Boabdil".....
Moszkowski
6—Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
7—Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
8—Polonaise.....Chopin
9—Waltz, "Tales from the Woods"..Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
10—"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
11—Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
12—March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Herald May 19-01

For the second week of the "Pop" concerts, which opened on Monday, there were even more people at the tables and in the balcony than during the first, and the music proved more inspiring and more suited, if possible, to the popular taste. On Wednesday night there was an especially fine company. The Hon. Richard Olney, Mrs. Olney and their daughter, Mrs. George R. Minot, were there, also Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Sears and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sears, who made a party. Mr. John T. Wheelwright was with friends, and so was Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bigelow brought a party. Mr. Lyman Nichols and his niece, Mrs. Philip Dexter; Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Baseley and Mr. T. Hassell Brown had guests. Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Thayer of the Charlesgate, Mr. Newell Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pearson, with their party, were others there.

Herald May 19-01

Pops Vie with Symphony Concerts in Their Success.

Tomorrow Evening's Programme an Excellent One—Grand Concert of Catholic Church Music—Boston's New Music Trustee—The Late Arthur Sullivan.

THE first two weeks of the 16th season of the "Pops" show the best results for many years, and these glimpses of genteel Bohemia vie most successfully with the Symphony concerts, in their hold upon the public. Business men, weary of the routine and detail of their affairs, forget it all over a cool beverage and good cigar, with a still greater diversion in the music of as good an orchestra as can be found anywhere. The ladies manifest a pleasant rivalry in the display of attractive costumes, and there is an air of delightful freedom which is not the least charm of these enjoyable events. The programme for Monday evening is as follows:

1—March, "Serenade".....Herbert
2—Waltz, "Vienna Beautites".....Ziehrer
3—Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
4—Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
5—(a) Scherzo valse, from "Boabdil"....
Moszkowski
(b)—Malagaena, from "Boabdil"....
Moszkowski
6—Overture, "Barber of Seville"....Rossini
7—Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
8—Polonaise.....Chopin
9—Waltz, "Tales from the Woods".....Strauss
Zither obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
10—"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
11—Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
12—March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Globe May 19-01

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Any amusement enterprise which lasts for 16 consecutive seasons with unvarying success must possess in a marked degree both drawing power and popularity, and the history of the "pops" from the beginning would be most interesting reading. It is gratifying to record the same old story of the best people, the best orchestra, and altogether the best summer entertainment yet devised in Boston. Familiar faces fill the tables every night, and ere the season is half over the "Hub's" host of pleasure seekers after the best, even in their amusement, will have been in evidence in Symphony hall. The program for Monday evening is as follows:

March, Serenade .....Herbert
Waltz, Vienna Beauties .....Ziehrer
Overture, La Part du Diable .....Auber
Selection, Singing Girl .....Herbert
Scherzo valse, from Boabdil .....Moszkowski
Malagaena, from Boabdil .....Moszkowski
Overture, Barber of Seville .....Rossini
Waltz, Harlequin's Wedding .....Zach
Polonaise .....Chopin
Waltz, Tales from the Woods .....Strauss
Zither obligato, Mr C. Keller.
Ronde D'Amour .....Westerhout
Polka, Hunter's Yarns .....Komzak
March, Pro Patria .....Milloecker

Budget May 19-01

....A new departure is being made by Tufts alumni and students in the establishment of a Tufts night at the Pop concerts, Wednesday, May 29. Almost concident with Tufts night will appear a new book of "Tufts Songs," a large number of which will be sung at the concert. The committee of alumni in charge of Tufts night is as follows: Arthur P. French, '76, Dr. T. B. Harrington, '77, R. E. Joslin, '86, Fred O. Meliher, '87, Dr. E. A. Burnham, '89, Walter Keyes, '89, Elbridge W. Newton, '90, Joseph B. Grace, '93, Arthur W. DeGoosh, '93, Dr. W. A. White, '94, Dr. J. C. D. Clark, '94, Rolla E. Healy, '97, Samuel P. Capen, '98, and Ira R. Kent, '99.

Budget May 19-01

Mr. Max Zach declares that the rag-time ballad and the Pops are no longer one. Well, we can worry along without the rag-time ballad, but the question is are there enough of us to allow the Pops to adopt the same attitude.

The programme for Monday, May 20, at the "Pops" is as follows:

1. March, "Serenade".....Herbert
2. Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
3. Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
4. Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
5. (a) Scherzo valse, from "Boabdil".Moszkowski
(b) Malagaena, from "Boabdil"..Moszkowski
6. Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
7. Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
8. Polonaise.....Chopin
9. Waltz, "Tales from the Woods,".....Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
10. "Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
11. Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
12. March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Times May 19-01

The Pop concerts continue to grow in favor, and the number of attendants is constantly upon the increase. The programme for Monday evening is as follows:

March, "Serenade".....Herbert
Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
Scherzo Valse, from "Boabdil"....Moszkowski
Malagaena, from "Boabdil".....Moszkowski
Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
Waltz, "Har equin's Wedding".....Zach
Polonaise.....Chopin
Waltz, "Tales from the Woods".....Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Transcript May 20-01

APOLLO DID NOT BLUSH

How the "Pops" Affected a Westerner—Dignified Gayety a Characteristic of the Boston Version of a Beer Garden—Lemonade the Favorite Beverage—Stern Featured Citizens of the Cold Roast Order an Impediment to Hilarity—A Quinine Capsule the Natural Sequence

[R. M. Field, in Chicago Post]

For the rain it raineth every day. I heard two old-time Bostonians discussing the weather this morning in the car going in from Cambridge, and they agreed that the trusts are responsible for this awful and continued wet spell and that the summer months have been consolidated into a gigantic trust of one month, the benefits of which we hope to experience in due time. For the present vegetation is in a moist and depressed condition, and, in truth, the only thing that appears to be flourishing and perennially green is our genial old Boston friend, the rubber plant. Like Cleopatra herself—who rubbered considerably in her day—age cannot wither it nor custom stale its infinite satiety. Life without Yum Yum! Existence without the rubber plant! Impossible!

Geyety now reigns in Boston, merriment has plumed its wings, festivity has come to make us forget the leakage of the heavens—in short, the "pop" concerts have begun their ribald season.

Now, the "pop" concert is not an inheritance from the Puritan fathers. On the contrary, I fancy it is a direct violation of the sacred change we have had to keep—a charge, moreover, that went up twenty-five cents this year, just to remind us that the wave of prosperity is deluging us and that high prices mean good times. To repeat, the "pop" concert, which has been an institution of long standing in Europe, western America, Asia, Africa and parts of Oceanica, was unknown in New England until recent years, partly because its tendencies were regarded demoralizing and interfered with the higher intellectual life, and partly because the word "popular," abbreviated to "pop." argued a familiarity distasteful to the very old families and the very best people. Therefore it has been a plant of slow growth.

Your Western idea of a "pop," or popular concert, takes in the Teutonic beer garden, the electric lights which sputter in the foliage, the leafy trees which drop insects into the waiting beer mugs, the white-aproned waiters dashing hither and thither shouting orders for beverages, the pretzel boy and the flower girl, the stolid old gentleman, the sporty youth, the comfortable matron and the maiden more or less coy—all very dry and all exceeding bibulous. In the elevated background put Herr Bunge and various other Herrs, turn the crank, set the music and the tongues going, and you have a fair presentation of an evening at a Western "pop."

Now the Chicago waiter approaches you with an easy and encouraging "Have you ordered your drinks, gents?" We permit no such loquacious familiarity in Boston. In point of fact, so timorous is the Ganymede, and apparently so fearful that he will hasten you along the broad road that leads to death, that I experienced great difficulty in inducing him to linger at my side long enough to whisper a few wishes into his ample ear. I took beer—the kind that fosters the prohibition sentiment in New England and eventually redeems the prodigal—but I observed that the popular beverage was lemonade, the ice-cold, made-in-the-shade variety, which may have its good points, but is not calculated to warm the cockles of the heart on a chilly May night. Perhaps it was the lemonade and its repressing effects that induced my companion after the first round and the second number to take in the surroundings with a wan smile and to turn to me and begin to quote the beautifully impressive line from "The Traveller"—

"Remote, unfriended, melancholy, slow."

You must not think, however, that because we sipped our lemonade and refrained from [illegible]

Record May 21-01

"THE POPS."

Regardless and independent of the weather the "Pops" continue on their successful course, as reliable as ever. One after the other the theatres are closing, and their patrons turn to Symphony Hall as an alternative. Next week ends the leadership of Max Zach, and on June 3, Gustav Strube assumes the directorship.

Herald May 21-01

THE POP CONCERTS.

Regardless of the bad weather, the "Pops" continue on their successful course at Symphony Hall as an alternative. Next week ends the leadership of Mr. Max Zach, and on Monday, June 3, Mr. Gustav Strube assumes the directorship. The programme for this evening:

1. March, "Under the Double Eagle"..Wagner
2. Waltz, "Myrthenbluthen".....Strauss
3. Overture, "Anacreon".....Cherubini
4. Selection, "Fortune-teller".....Herbert
5. (a) Gavotte (for string orchestra)..Marshall
(b) "Love Song" (for string orchestra and harp).....Marshall
6. Suite, "Coppelia," dance of the automatons, waltz, czardas.....Delibes
7. Waltz, "Nachtschwarmer".....Ziehrer
8. Selection, "Gondoliers".....Sullivan
9. Overture, "Le Brasseur de Preslau"
Auber
10. Selection, "Robin Hood".....De Koven
11. Pizzicati.....Billet
12. March, "Fra Bombarda".....Cotsolka

Globe May 21-01

Promenade Concerts.

Despite the unfavorable weather the promenade concert in Symphony hall was well attended last evening, clearly showing that the music is a potent attraction, even when the auditor does not feel inclined to partake freely of summer beverages at this time of year. This style of entertainment deserves to be successful, for it is seldom that so able an orchestra is heard at popular prices in the summer midst such beautiful and artistic surroundings.

Post May 21-01

"The Pops."

Regardless and independent of the weather the "Pops" continue on their successful course, as reliable as ever. One after the other the theatres are closing, and their patrons turn to Symphony Hall as an alternative. Next week ends the leadership of Mr. Max Zach, and one Monday, June 3, Mr. Gustav Strube assumes the directorship.

INCOMPLETE

Globe May 19-01

—The second week of the Pop concerts opened in a very jolly manner, more than a hundred students being there on Monday night. The whole audience, which occupied every table, was enthusiastic over the selections from "The Viking" (Pi Eta society, 1901), and an encore was given. In fact, so many selections were popular that several encores were played during the evening. There was at one table a pleasant party of eight, including Miss Sargent, Mr and Mrs Frederic Whitwell, Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam and Mr and Mrs Winsor Weld (Miss Theresa Davis) of Chestnut Hill. Mrs Weld wore a lovely costume of rose pink silk with eton jacket of Irish lace. Her hat was of white straw, with a double row of pink roses around the brim; Mrs Whitwell wore ecru veiling, with white lace trimmings and blue stock and girdle, with hat of blue chiffon; Mrs Putnam was in black, both skirt and bodice, with entre-deux of white lace. With this charming costume she wore a boa of white chiffon, edged with black and a white chip hat, with a wreath of green leaves, and black velvet bow; Miss Sargent was in black silk, with deep collar of renaissance lace, and a hat, a combination of white and black. At another table was Mrs Gordon Dexter and a large party of young persons. Mrs Dexter was distinguished in the costume she wore the opening night, a skirt of black satin with bodice of silver passementerie, the yoke and sleeves of white lace. The hat is entirely of rows of white figured lace, setting well off the face, a much more becoming style than the one generally being worn at present, which almost entirely hides the face from view. Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan and Mr Timothee Adamowski formed a party at another table, Mrs Jordan looking very well in a black lace gown, with touches of white at the bodice, and black and white hat. Others there were Mr and Mrs David Noyes and friends, Mr and Mrs Allen of Beacon st, and Mr S. B. Whitney, his nieces, with the Misses Jones of Woodstock, Vt, who are his guests at his home on Chestnut st.

THE POPS.

Any amusement enterprise which lasts for 16 consecutive seasons with unvarying success, must of necessity possess in a marked degree both drawing power and popularity. The history of the Pops from the beginning would be most interesting reading, but our concern is for the present rather than the past. It is most gratifying to record the same old story of the best people, the best orchestra and altogether the best summer entertainment yet devised in Boston. Familiar faces fill the tables every night, and ere the season is half over all of the Hub's host of pleasure seekers, after the best even in their amusement, will have been in evidence in Symphony Hall.

The program for Monday evening is as follows:

1—March, "Serenade".....Herbert
2—Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
3—Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
4—Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
5—(a) Scherzo Valse, from "Boabdil"..
Moszkowski
(b) Malagaena, from "Boabdil".....
Moszkowski
6—Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
7—Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
8—Polonaise.....Chopin
9—Waltz, "Tales from the Woods"..Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
10—"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
11—Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
12—March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Herald May

For the second week of the "Pop" concerts, which opened on Monday, there were even more people at the tables and in the balcony than during the first, and the music proved more inspiring and more suited, if possible, to the popular taste. On Wednesday night there was an especially fine company. The Hon. Richard Olney, Mrs. Olney and their daughter, Mrs. George R. Minot, were there, also Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Sears and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sears, who made a party. Mr. John T. Wheelwright was with friends, and so was Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bigelow brought a party. Mr. Lyman Nichols and his niece, Mrs. Philip Dexter; Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. William A. M. Bazeley and Mr. T. Hassell Brown all had guests. Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Thayer of the Charlesgate, Mr. Newell A. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pearson, with their party, were others there.

Herald May 19-01

Pops Vie with Symphony Concerts in Their Success.

Tomorrow Evening's Programme an Excellent One—Grand Concert of Catholic Church Music—Boston's New Music Trustee—The Late Arthur Sullivan.

THE first two weeks of the 16th season of the "Pops" show the best results for many years, and these glimpses of genteel Bohemia vie most successfully with the Symphony concerts, in their hold upon the public. Business men, weary of the routine and detail of their affairs, forget it all over a cool beverage and good cigar, with a still greater diversion in the music of as good an orchestra as can be found anywhere. The ladies manifest a pleasant rivalry in the display of attractive costumes, and there is an air of delightful freedom which is not the least charm of these enjoyable events. The programme for Monday evening is as follows:

1—March, "Serenade".....Herbert
2—Waltz, "Vienna Beautites".....Ziehrer
3—Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
4—Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
5—(a) Scherzo valse, from "Boabdil"....
Moszkowski
(b)—Malagaena, from "Boabdil".....
Moszkowski
6—Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
7—Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
8—Polonaise.....Chopin
9—Waltz, "Tales from the Woods"....Strauss
Zither obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
10—"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
11—Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
12—March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Globe

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Any amusement enterprise which lasts for 16 consecutive seasons with unvarying success must possess in a marked degree both drawing power and popularity, and the history of the "pops" from the beginning would be most interesting reading. It is gratifying to record the same old story of the best people, the best orchestra, and altogether the best summer entertainment yet devised in Boston. Familiar faces fill the tables every night, and ere the season is half over the "Hub's" host of pleasure seekers after the best, even in their amusement, will have been in evidence in Symphony hall. The program for Monday evening is as follows:

March, Serenade .....Herbert
Waltz, Vienna Beauties .....Ziehrer
Overture, La Part du Diable .....Auber
Selection, Singing Girl .....Herbert
Scherzo valse, from Boabdil .....Moszkowski
Malagaena, from Boabdil .....Moszkowski
Overture, Barber of Seville .....Rossini
Waltz, Harlequin's Wedding .....Zach
Polonaise .....Chopin
Waltz, Tales from the Woods .....Strauss
Zither obligato, Mr C. Keller.
Ronde D'Amour .....Westerhout
Polka, Hunter's Yarns .....Komzak
March, Pro Patria .....Milloecker

Rudolf

—A new departure is being made by Tufts alumni and students in the establishment of a Tufts night at the Pop concerts, Wednesday, May 29. Almost concident with Tufts night will appear a new book of "Tufts Songs," a large number of which will be sung at the concert. The committee of alumni in charge of Tufts night is as follows: Arthur P. French, '76, Dr. T. B. Harrington, '77, R. E. Joslin, '86, Fred O. McIlher, '87, Dr. E. A. Burnham, '89, Walter Keyes, '89, Elbridge W. Newton, '90, Joseph B. Grace, '93, Arthur W. DeGoosh, '93, Dr. W. A. White, '94, Dr. J. C. D. Clark, '94, Rolla E. Healy, '97, Samuel P. Capen, '98, and Ira R. Kent, '99.

Courier

Mr. Max Zach declares that the rag-time ballad and the Pops are no longer one. Well, we can worry along without the rag-time ballad, but the question is are there enough of us to allow the Pops to adopt the same attitude.

The programme for Monday, May 20, at the "Pops" is as follows:

1. March, "Serenade".....Herbert
2. Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
3. Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
4. Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
5. (a) Scherzo valse, from "Boabdil".Moszkowski
(b) Malagaena, from "Boabdil"..Moszkowski
6. Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
7. Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
8. Polonaise.....Chopin
9. Waltz, "Tales from the Woods,".....Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
10. "Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
11. Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
12. March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Times May 19-01

The Pop concerts continue to grow in favor, and the number of attendants is constantly upon the increase. The programme for Monday evening is as follows:

March, "Serenade".....Herbert
Waltz, "Vienna Beauties".....Ziehrer
Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
Scherzo Valse, from "Boabdil"...Moszkowski
Malagaena, from "Boabdil".....Moszkowski
Overture, "Barber of Seville".....Rossini
Waltz, "Harlequin's Wedding".....Zach
Polonaise.....Chopin
Waltz, "Tales from the Woods".....Strauss
Zither Obligato, Mr. C. Keller.
"Ronde D'Amour".....Westerhout
Polka, "Hunter's Yarns".....Komzak
March, "Pro Patria".....Milloecker

Transcript May 20-01

APOLLO DID NOT BLUSH

How the "Pops" Affected a Westerner—Dignified Gayety a Characteristic of the Boston Version of a Beer Garden—Lemonade the Favorite Beverage—Stern Featured Citizens of the Cold Roast Order an Impediment to Hilarity—A Quinine Capsule the Natural Sequence

[R. M. Field, in Chicago Post]

For the rain it raineth every day. I heard two old-time Bostonians discussing the weather this morning in the car going in from Cambridge, and they agreed that the trusts are responsible for this awful and continued wet spell and that the summer months have been consolidated into a gigantic trust of one month, the benefits of which we hope to experience in due time. For the present vegetation is in a moist and depressed condition, and, in truth, the only thing that appears to be flourishing and perennially green is our genial old Boston friend, the rubber plant. Like Cleopatra herself—who rubbered considerably in her day—age cannot wither it nor custom stale its infinite satiety. Life without Yum Yum! Existence without the rubber plant! Impossible!

Geyety now reigns in Boston, merriment has plumed its wings, festivity has come to make us forget the leakage of the heavens—in short, the "pop" concerts have begun their ribald season.

Now, the "pop" concert is not an inheritance from the Puritan fathers. On the contrary, I fancy it is a direct violation of the sacred change we have had to keep—a charge, moreover, that went up twenty-five cents this year, just to remind us that the wave of prosperity is deluging us and that high prices mean good times. To repeat, the "pop" concert, which has been an institution of long standing in Europe, western America, Asia, Africa and parts of Oceanica, was unknown in New England until recent years, partly because its tendencies were regarded demoralizing and interfered with the higher intellectual life, and partly because the word "popular," abbreviated to "pop," argued a familiarity distasteful to the very old families and the very best people. Therefore it has been a plant of slow growth.

Your Western idea of a "pop," or popular concert, takes in the Teutonic beer garden, the electric lights which sputter in the foliage, the leafy trees which drop insects into the waiting beer mugs, the white-aproned waiters dashing hither and thither shouting orders for beverages, the pretzel boy and the flower girl, the stolid old gentleman, the sporty youth, the comfortable matron and the maiden more or less coy—all very dry and all exceeding bibulous. In the elevated background put Herr Bunge and various other Herrs, turn the crank, set the music and the tongues going, and you have a fair presentation of an evening at a Western "pop."

Now the Chicago waiter approaches you with an easy and encouraging "Have you ordered your drinks, gents?" We permit no such loquacious familiarity in Boston. In point of fact, so timorous is the Ganymede, and apparently so fearful that he will hasten you along the broad road that leads to death, that I experienced great difficulty in inducing him to linger at my side long enough to whisper a few wishes into his ample ear. I took beer—the kind that fosters the prohibition sentiment in New England and eventually redeems the prodigal—but I observed that the popular beverage was lemonade, the ice-cold, made-in-the-shade variety, which may have its good points, but is not calculated to warm the cockles of the heart on a chilly May night. Perhaps it was the lemonade and its repressing effects that induced my companion after the first round and the second number to take in the surroundings with a wan smile and to turn to me and begin to quote the beautifully impressive line from "The Traveller"—

"Remote, unfriended, melancholy, slow."

You must not think, however, that because we sipped our lemonades and refrained from vulgar and boisterous merriment we were not enjoying ourselves. We [illegible]

Record May 21-01

"THE POPS."

Regardless and independent of the weather the "Pops" continue on their successful course, as reliable as ever. One after the other the theatres are closing, and their patrons turn to Symphony Hall as an alternative. Next week ends the leadership of Max Zach, and on June 3, Gustav Strube assumes the directorship.

Herald May 21 01

THE POP CONCERTS.

Regardless of the bad weather, the "Pops" continue on their successful course at Symphony Hall as an alternative. Next week ends the leadership of Mr. Max Zach, and on Monday, June 3, Mr. Gustav Strube assumes the directorship. The programme for this evening:

1. March, "Under the Double Eagle"..Wagner
2. Waltz, "Myrthenbluthen".....Strauss
3. Overture, "Anacreon".....Cherubini
4. Selection, "Fortune-teller".....Herbert
5. (a) Gavotte (for string orchestra)..Marshall
(b) "Love Song" (for string orchestra and harp).....Marshall
6. Suite, "Coppelia," dance of the automatons, waltz, czardas.....Delibes
7. Waltz, "Nachtschwarmer".....Ziehrer
8. Selection, "Gondoliers".....Sullivan
9. Overture, "Le Brasseur de Preston" Auber
10. Selection, "Robin Hood".....De Koven
11. Pizzicati.....Gillet
12. March, "Fra Bombarda".....Czibulka

Post May 21-01

Promenade Concerts.

Despite the unfavorable weather the promenade concert in Symphony hall was well attended last evening, clearly showing that the music is a potent attraction, even when the auditor does not feel inclined to partake freely of summer beverages at this time of year. This style of entertainment deserves to be successful, for it is seldom that so able an orchestra is heard at popular prices in the summer midst such beautiful and artistic surroundings.

Post May 21-01

"The Pops."

Regardless and independent of the weather the "Pops" continue on their successful course, as reliable as ever. One after the other the theatres are closing, and their patrons turn to Symphony Hall as an alternative. Next week ends the leadership of Mr. Max Zach, and one Monday, June 3, Mr. Gustav Strube assumes the directorship.

Post May 21-01

AS OTHERS SEE US.

How the Pop Concerts Impressed R. M. Field, Late of Chicago.

(R. M. Field in Chicago Post.)

For the rain it raineth every day. I heard two old-time Bostonians discussing the weather this morning in the car going in from Cambridge, and they agreed that the trusts were responsible for this awful and continued wet spell and that the summer months have been consolidated into a gigantic trust of one month, the benefits of which we hope to experience in due time. For the present vegetation is in a moist and depressed condition, and, in truth, the only thing that appears to be flourishing and perennially green is our genial old Boston friend, the rubber plant. Like Cleopatra herself—who rubbered considerably in her day—age cannot wither it nor custom stale its infinite satiety. Life without Yum Yum! Existence without the rubber plant! Impossible!

Gayety now reigns in Boston, merriment has plumed its wings, festivity has come to make us forget the leakage of the heavens—in short, the "Pop" concerts have begun their ribald season.

Now, the "Pop" concert is not an inheritance from the Puritan fathers. On the contrary, I fancy it is a direct violation of the sacred charges we have had to keep—a charge, moreover, that went up 25 cents this year, just to remind us that the wave of prosperity is deluging us and that high prices mean good times. To repeat, the "Pop" concert, which has been an institution of long standing in Europe, western America, Asia, Africa and parts of Oceanica, was unknown in New England until recent years, partly because its tendencies were regarded demoralizing and interfered with the higher intellectual life, and partly because the word "popular," abbreviated to "pop," argued a familiarity distasteful to the very old families and the very best people. Therefore it has been a plant of slow growth.

Your Western idea of a "Pop," or popular concert, takes in the Teutonic beer garden, the electric lights which sputter in the foliage, the leafy trees which drop insects into the waiting beer mugs, the white-aproned waiters dashing hither and thither shouting orders for beverages, the pretzel boy and flower girl, the stolid old gentleman, the sporty youth, the comfortable matron and the maiden more or less coy—all very dry and all exceeding bibulous. In the elevated background put Herr Bunge and various other Herrs, turn the crank, set the music and the tongues going, and you have a fair presentation of an evening at a Western "Pop."

Now the Chicago waiter approaches you with an easy and encouraging "Have you ordered your drinks, gents?" We permit no such loquacious familiarity in Boston. In point of fact, so timorous is the Ganymede, and apparently so fearful that he will hasten you along the broad road that leads to death, that I experienced great difficulty in inducing him to linger at my side long enough to whisper a few wishes into his ample ear. I took beer—the kind that fosters the prohibition sentiment in New England and eventually redeems the prodigal—but I observed that the popular beverage was lemonade, the ice-cold, made-in-the-shade variety, which may have its good points, but is not calculated to warm the cockles of the heart on a chilly May night. Perhaps it was the lemonade and its repressing effects that induced my companion after the first round and the second number to take in the surroundings with a wan smile and to turn to me and begin to quote the beautifully impressive line from "The Traveller":

"Remote, unfriended, melancholy, slow."

You must not think, however, that because we sipped our lemonades and refrained from vulgar and boisterous merriment we were not enjoying ourselves. We were having about as near "the time of our lives" as we could expect to have, considering the hall, the attitude of Apollo as a monstrant, the suggestion on the programme to "refrain kindly from conversation during this number," the proximity of certain stern-featured fellow-citizens of the cold roast order and other impediments to unrestrained gayety. The music was good—far above the average; the tippling was at least conservative; the address of the waiters—when they permitted themselves to address you—was irreproachable, and the atmosphere was highly respectable—or so it seemed to me. But during the intermission I found myself on the street corner, pensively waiting for a car and feeling in my pocket for a quinine capsule. I could still experience in my soul the scorching look of the woman at the next table directed toward my internals when I ordered beer, and recognized too late the mistake I had made in trying to be "popular."

So you must perceive that "pop" is a relative term, and that mirth, merriment, gayety, joyousness and synonyms depend largely on the taste and fancy of the civilization. Yet is not this, when you are accustomed to it, a rational and praiseworthy dissipation? Let 't be said of us at the vernal "pops" that we take our molestam cum dignitate. How much better is it to be dignified to the verge of sadness than Bacchic in our hilarity; to enjoy ourselves with restful pensiveness than to do aught that may bring the flush of shame to the marble cheek of Apollo. I am told that there are nights when Harvard University sends forth a troop of wild spirits to desecrate the artistic hush, but, the gods give us joy, these occasions are few.

Know, then, that our "pops" are billed for six weeks only. Perhaps the time will come when they will run all summer for the benefit of that part of the population which does not camp out by the sea wave, but as yet they are an experiment—not so much financially as morally and intellectually. If we can be "pop" without being grossly familiar, undignified, demonstrative and bibulous, innovation may grow in favor, but to be "pop" means a departure from high intellectual ideals, a deviation from the cherished traditions of our fathers and an inclination toward the vulgar and breezy mixed association of less idyllic communities. We shall have none of it. Gayety without reserve, without proper consideration of environment and without attention to the ultimate effects of amusement, whether beneficial or prejudicial, is not for us.

Malden Mirror May 25-01

The up to date girl goes to the "Pops" to study the styles, which are so many and various, not to say startling, as to addle the brains of the men, particularly when they have to pay for them.

Transcript May 25

The third week of the "Pop" concerts ends with the concert this evening. Next week will be the last in which Mr. Max Zach directs the orchestra, as Mr. Gustav Strube succeeds him and will conduct for the balance of the season. These concerts are maintaining their past reputation as being the most popular of the many summer amusements. Conductor Zach has arranged for a Wagner programme on Monday, to be followed by soloists night, on Thursday. Wednesday evening will be Tufts night, and their promises to be a very large representation from that college and its past graduates. The programme in full for this evening is as follows: Military march, Zach; overture, "Pique Dame," Suppé; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; suite, "Peer Gynt," "Aase's Death," "Anitra's Dance," "In the Hall of the Mountain King," Grieg; the mouse-trap, Koehler; "Valse Bleue," Margis; overture, "Tannhäuser," Wagner; overture, "Mignon," Thomas; spring song, Mendelssohn; Serenata, Moszkowski; "Love's Dream After the Ball," Czibulka; march, "Merry Soldiers," Sabatini.

Courier May 25-01

——During the week, the Pop Concerts have more than held their own, and have been largely attended. Wednesday will probably be the banner night of the week, when Tufts College men, to the number of some four hundred, will be present. An especial program, which includes a number of compositions by Tufts graduates, will be presented.

Budget May 25-01

Next week at the Pops will be the last in which Mr. Max Zach directs the orchestra, as Mr. Gustav Strube succeeds him and will conduct for the balance of the season. These concerts are maintaining their past reputation as being the most popular of the many summer amusements. Conductor Zach has arranged for a Wagner programme on Monday, to be followed by soloists night on Thursday. Wednesday evening will be Tufts night, and there promises to be a very large representation from that college and its past graduates.

Globe May 26-01

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The coming week at the "pop" concerts in Symphony hall will be the last under the leadership of Mr Max Zach, and Monday, June 3, Mr Gustave Strube will take up the conductor's baton. Special nights are beginning already, with tomorrow night devoted to Wagner; Wednesday, May 29, to Tufts college, with a large audience already assured; Thursday, soloists' night, and Saturday a special program by conductor Zach to mark his final appearance. Special nights in June are "Tech" night Tuesday, June 4; "Harvard" night, the date to be announced; "bank officers'" night, and "graduates' night." The program for tomorrow is as follows:

Tannhauser march ..... Wagner
Waltz, Vienna Blood ..... Strauss
Selection, Cavalleria Rusticana ..... Mascagni
Prelude to the Master Singers of Nuremberg ..... Wagner
Preludes to Act I and Act III, Lohengrin ..... Wagner
Waltz, Freut euch des Lebens ..... Strauss
Albumlatt ..... Wagner
Overture, to Rienzi ..... Wagner
Traumbilder fantasy ..... Lumbye
(Zither obligato, Mr Keller)
Fire-Charm, from Walkure ..... Wagner
Waltz, Jolly Fellows ..... Vollstedt
Austria march ..... Zach

——There was a large and enthusiastic audience at the Pop concert Thursday evening, many of the constant patrons attending with groups of friends. Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam, the latter in pale gray nun's veiling, the skirt accordion plaited, a gray chiffon boa and hat trimmed with clusters of pink roses with foliage, were with Mrs Gordon Dexter, Mr Clayton Johns and other friends; Mr and Mrs Horton (Miss Wagniere), who wore ecru veiling, set off with cerise at the bodice and cerise girdle, with hat trimmed with the same shade of roses, were with a party at another table; Mrs Corse, in gray, with black hat and boa; Mr Morton Johnson with friends; Mrs Turner and her son of Mt Vernon st, and Miss Marian Fenno in dark blue veiling, the bodice trimmed with white passementerie and tulle, and white chiffon hat. Although it was very disagreeable weather Friday evening there was a very good audience, who enjoyed the musical program, which was exceptionally good.

Globe May 26-01

——and Mrs Frederic Whitwell, Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball, Mrs F. Gordon Dexter, Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan and Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam are among the constant patrons of the popular concerts, often going with larger or smaller parties of friends, two and three times a week. On Wednesday evening, when the hall was full, Mrs Dexter was at her usual table with a large party of young people. She was looking extremely well in a white silk and lace bodice, with gloves to the elbow, and a black hat faced with white chiffon, setting well off her face. Other patrons were Mr and Mrs F. W. Kittredge and several young people, Mrs Kittredge in a white silk bodice, with corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas; Mr and Mrs Joseph F. Woods of the Tudor, Mrs Woods in a gown of black net with jet, and black hat with blue panne; Mr and Mrs Whitwell with friends; Mr Richard Heard, Mr B. J. Lang, who was one of a party of eight; Mr and Mrs Eliot Pratt, Mrs Pratt in a black satin, with coat opening over white satin and lace; Miss Dabney in gray crepe de chine and black chiffon hat with ostrich tips; Mr and Mrs Bigelow (Miss Lily Davis), Mrs Bigelow in a gray costume and hat with wreath of pink roses; Mr and Mrs John Lindsey, Mr E. Royall Tyler and Miss Edith Tyler, his daughter, the latter in blue and white india silk, with white chiffon and a dash of black velvet at the bodice and black hat with tips; Mr and Mrs Abbott Lawrence Rotch, Mr and Mrs William Power Wilson, Mr and Mrs Tuckerman, the latter in a bodice of ecru lace over silk; Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan, who had with them Mr Timothee Adamowski, Mr William P. Blake and other friends; Mr Arthur Hyde, Mr and Mrs Robert O. Harris, Mr Fred Tudor Jr, Mr John T. Wheelwright, Mr E. M. Wheelwright, Mr Norton Shaw, Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball, Miss Kimball, Mr W. K. Brown and the Misses Brown. It is a peculiarity of these concerts that their popularity always increases as the season advances, until at the close of the all too short six weeks, the public regrets exceedingly their close. Tomorrow evening is announced as Wagner night, six of the 12 numbers being by that composer.

Herald May 26-01

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

Wagner Selections at the "Pops" Monday Night.

Special Programmes on Other Evenings—Conductor Zach's Farewell Saturday—Blanche Marchesi at Home—London Opera Season—Philadelphia Orchestra.

THE first three weeks of the always attractive "Pops" have made the best record for many seasons. With the week beginning June 3 the beautiful floral exhibition in connection with the opening of the new Horticultural Hall, directly opposite Symphony Hall, offers the happiest combination entertainment possible. An hour at Horticultural Hall and the rest of the evening at the "Pops" would surely prove a most enjoyable treat. For the coming week Conductor Zach has arranged an attractive programme. Monday will be "Wagner Night;" Wednesday, "Tufts Night;" Thursday, "Soloists' Night;" and Saturday, the farewell of Mr. Zach. The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows:

"Tannhauser March" ..... Wagner
Waltz, "Vienna Blood" ..... Strauss
Selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana" ..... Mascagni
Prelude to the "Master Singers of Nuremberg" ..... Wagner
Preludes to act I. and act III., "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Waltz, "Freut euch des Lebens" ..... Strauss
"Albumblatt" ..... Wagner
Overture to "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
"Traumbilder" fantasy ..... Lumbe
(Zither obligato, Mr. Keller.)
"Fire-Charm," from "Walkure" ..... Wagner
Waltz, "Jolly Fellows" ..... Vollstedt
"Austria March" ..... Zach

Herald May 26-01

At the Pops on Wednesday night there was an unusually smart lot of people, and the warmth tempted the women to wear charming light and diaphanous gowns, which gave a sort of evening class day aspect to the floor of the house. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Linzee, recently back from Aiken, brought in a party from Milton. Mrs. Linzee was in great good looks, and wore one of the smartest gowns there. Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Tuckerman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Tuckerman made a party at one of the centre tables. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, who is devoted in her attendance, had a large party, including Miss Edith Tyler and her father, Mr. E. Royall Tyler. Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan had with them Mr. Timothee Adamowski and Mr. William P. Blake, among others. Mr. and Mrs. Elliot W. Pratt, who are shortly sailing for the other side, Mr. Herbert Tucker with his mother, Mrs. James Tucker, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Woodworth were at a table together. At others were Mr. Amos Cutting with a party, Mr. Charles R. Sturgis, Mr. Henry M. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Comee, who had six guests, and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Risteen, with a number of young people with them. Tomorrow will be Wagner night, Wednesday Tufts' night, and Thursday soloists' night. A large evening will be the "Tech" night on Tuesday of next week (the 4th). With the warmer weather and the closing of some of the playhouses, these popular concerts are increasing in attendance and interest every night.

Thursday night at the Pops there was another large company. A table which attracted a good deal of admiring attention was that at which were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, Miss Stimson and Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, with four or five others. Miss Lawrence we thought quite the prettiest girl in the hall, and without question the smartest gowned. She wore a black figured grenadine, the yoke and elbow sleeves of jetted black lace over white. Her hat was of turquoise panne with black tulle choux. Mrs. Horton, who was Marguerite Wagniere, was in pale tan crepe with elaborate embroidery and bands of pink velvet. Her toque was of brown straw with pink roses. Miss Stimson wore black, the waist done with renaissance lace, and a black hat. The table, which was a large and jolly one, had many visitors during the evening. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, whom some one calls "the grande dame of the Pops," had Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam and Mr. Clayton Johns and others at her table. Mrs. Dexter's coat of long red cashmere, with cashmere bands, was an effective bit of color. She kept it on through the evening. Mrs. Putnam, who is always fitly gowned, was in pale gray crepe and a small round hat of pink roses. Another guest at Mrs. Dexter's table wore her hair in broad braided loops low in the neck. It became her style admirably. The two Adamowski brothers had a table party, where, during the intermission, Mr. Zach, the conductor, joined them.

Times May 26-01

The Programmes of the Pop Concerts.

The musical people of Boston can find little to complain of in the variety and interest of the music offered them during the larger part of the year.

To the initiated, the musician and the people whose tastes have been highly cultivated through having heard for many years the best in Europe and this country, there are the Symphony concerts with their programmes of the music of the greatest among the old and the modern classic composers, where the conductor searches for and courageously presents the works of the newest writers that no criticism may be made as to his narrowness and conservatism or even his personal preferences. While for those to whom Symphony concerts are wearisome and the music incomprehensible, the management presents the pops, the very antithesis of the Symphonies, where every variety of popular music, except "rag-time," finds its way into the programmes and is performed with the same ability, care, and musicianship by the orchestra as greater compositions would be. The class of people who express their preference for this style of compositions is evidently not as numerous as that whose tastes prompt their attendance at the Symphonies or they would nightly crowd the pops where they could enjoy not only the music of their preference but the ease, unconventionality and the opportunity to smoke and order refreshments to the accompaniment of their favorite airs, such as does not offer under any conditions at other seasons of the year. Nor are the tastes of lovers of a higher class of music neglected, for discreetly interspersed in the programmes are selections from the popular classic composers. Nothing, for instance, could have given much more pleasure or have been better played than the overture to Rossini's "Barber of Seville," which stands on the borderland of classic and the more popular music, or the universally admired overture to "Tannhaueser." The orchestra in its performance of these two numbers left very little to be desired.

The three concerts of May 27, 29 and 30 offer exceptional attractions, and no doubt the public will take advantage of them and crowd the hall.

[59]

Post May 27-01

AS OTHERS SEE US.

How the Pop Concerts Impressed R. M. Field, Late of Chicago.

(R. M. Field in Chicago Post.)

For the rain it raineth every day. I heard two old-time Bostonians discussing the weather this morning in the car going in from Cambridge, and they agreed that the trusts are responsible for this awful and continued wet spell and that the summer months have been consolidated into a gigantic trust of one month, the benefits of which we hope to experience in due time. For the present vegetation is in a moist and depressed condition, and, in truth, the only thing that appears to be flourishing and perennially green is our genial old Boston friend, the rubber plant. Like Cleopatra herself—who rubbered considerably in her day—age cannot wither it nor custom stale its infinite satiety. Life without Yum Yum! Existence without the rubber plant! Impossible!

Gayety now reigns in Boston, merriment has plumed its wings, festivity has come to make us forget the leakage of the heavens — in short, the "Pop" concerts have begun their ribald season.

Now, the "Pop" concert is not an inheritance from the Puritan fathers. On the contrary, I fancy it is a direct violation of the sacred charges we have had to keep—a charge, moreover, that went up 25 cents this year, just to remind us that the wave of prosperity is deluging us and that high prices mean good times. To repeat, the "Pop" concert, which has been an institution of long standing in Europe, western America, Asia, Africa and parts of Oceanica, was unknown in New England until recent years, partly because its tendencies were regarded demoralizing and interfered with the higher intellectual life, and partly because the word "popular," abbreviated to "pop," argued a familiarity distasteful to the very old families and the very best people. Therefore it has been a plant of slow growth.

Your Western idea of a "Pop," or popular concert, takes in the Teutonic beer garden, the electric lights which sputter in the foliage, the leafy trees which drop insects into the waiting beer mugs, the white-aproned waiters dashing hither and thither shouting orders for beverages, the pretzel boy and flower girl, the stolid old gentleman, the sporty youth, the comfortable matron and the maiden more or less coy—all very dry and all exceeding bibulous. In the elevated background put Herr Bunge and various other Herrs, turn the crank, set the music and the tongues going, and you have a fair presentation of an evening at a Western "Pop."

Now the Chicago waiter approaches you with an easy and encouraging "Have you ordered your drinks, genus?" We permit no such loquacious familiarity in Boston. In point of fact, so timorous is the Ganymede, and apparently so fearful that he will hasten you along the broad road that leads to death, that I experienced great difficulty in inducing him to linger at my side long enough to whisper a few wishes into his ample ear. I took beer—the kind that fosters the prohibition sentiment in New England and eventually redeems the prodigal—but I observed that the popular beverage was lemonade, the ice-cold, made-in-the-shade variety, which may have its good points, but is not calculated to warm the cockles of the heart on a chilly May night. Perhaps it was the lemonade and its repressing effects that induced my companion after the first round and the second number to take in the surroundings with a wan smile and to turn to me and begin to quote the beautifully impressive line from "The Traveller":

"Remote, unfriended, melancholy, slow."

You must not think, however, that because we sipped our lemonades and refrained from vulgar and boisterous merriment we were not enjoying ourselves. We were having about as near "the time of our lives" as we could expect to have, considering the hall, the attitude of Apollo as a remonstrant, the suggestion on the programme to "refrain kindly from conversation during this number," the proximity of certain stern-featured fellow-citizens of the cold roast order and other impediments to unrestrained gayety. The music was good—far above the average; the tippling was at least conservative; the address of the waiters—when they permitted themselves to address you—was irreproachable, and the atmosphere was highly respectable—or so it seemed to me. But during the intermission I found myself on the street corner, pensively waiting for a car and feeling in my pocket for a quinine capsule. I could still experience in my soul the scorching look of the woman at the next table directed toward my internals when I ordered beer, and recognized too late the mistake I had made in trying to be "popular."

So you must perceive that "pop" is a relative term, and that mirth, merriment, gayety, joyousness and synonyms depend largely on the taste and fancy of the civilization. Yet is not this, when you are accustomed to it, a rational and praiseworthy dissipation? Let it be said of us at the vernal "pops" that we take our molestam cum dignitate. How much better is it to be dignified to the verge of sadness than Bacchic in our hilarity; to enjoy ourselves with restful pensiveness than to do aught that may bring the flush of shame to the marble cheek of Apollo. I am told that there are nights when Harvard University sends forth a troop of wild spirits to desecrate the artistic hush, but, the gods give us joy, these occasions are few.

Know, then, that our "pops" are billed for six weeks only. Perhaps the time will come when they will run all summer for the benefit of that part of the population which does not camp out by the sea wave, but as yet they are an experiment—not so much financially as morally and intellectually. If we can be "pop" without being grossly familiar, undignified, demonstrative and bibulous, innovation may grow in favor, but if to be "pop" means a departure from high intellectual ideals, a deviation from the cherished traditions of our fathers and an inclination toward the vulgar and breezy mixed association of less idyllic communities, we shall have none of it. Gayety without reserve, without proper consideration of environment and without attention to the ultimate effects of amusement, whether beneficial or prejudicial, is not for us.

Malden Mirror May 25-01

The up to date girl goes to the "Pops" to study the styles, which are so many and various, not to say startling, as to addle the brains of the men, particularly when they have to pay for them.

Transcript May 25

The third week of the "Pop" concerts ends with the concert this evening. Next week will be the last in which Mr. Max Zach directs the orchestra, as Mr. Gustav Strube succeeds him and will conduct for the balance of the season. These concerts are maintaining their past reputation as being the most popular of the many summer amusements. Conductor Zach has arranged for a Wagner programme on Monday, to be followed by soloists night, on Thursday. Wednesday evening will be Tufts night, and their promises to be a very large representation from that college and its past graduates. The programme in full for this evening is as follows: Military march, Zach; overture, "Pique Dame," Suppé; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; suite, "Peer Gynt," "Aase's Death," "Anitra's Dance," "In the Hall of the Mountain King," Grieg; the mouse-trap, Koehler; "Valse Bleue," Margis; overture, "Tannhäuser," Wagner; overture, "Mignon," Thomas; spring song, Mendelssohn; Serenata, Moszkowski; "Love's Dream After the Ball," Czibulka; march, "Merry Soldiers," Sabathil.

——During the week, the Pop Concerts have more than held their own, and have been largely attended. Wednesday will probably be the banner night of the week, when Tufts College men, to the number of some four hundred, will be present. An especial program, which includes a number of compositions by Tufts graduates, will be presented.

Next week at the Pops will be the last in which Mr. Max Zach directs the orchestra, as Mr. Gustav Strube succeeds him and will conduct for the balance of the season. These concerts are maintaining their past reputation as being the most popular of the many summer amusements. Conductor Zach has arranged for a Wagner programme on Monday, to be followed by soloists night on Thursday. Wednesday evening will be Tufts night, and there promises to be a very large representation from that college and its past graduates.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The coming week at the "pop" concerts in Symphony hall will be the last under the leadership of Mr Max Zach, and Monday, June 3, Mr Gustave Strube will take up the conductor's baton. Special nights are beginning already, with tomorrow night devoted to Wagner; Wednesday, May 29, to Tufts college, with a large audience already assured; Thursday, soloists' night, and Saturday a special program by conductor Zach to mark his final appearance. Special nights in June are "Tech" night Tuesday, June 4; "Harvard" night, the date to be announced; "bank officers'" night, and "graduates' night." The program for tomorrow is as follows:

Tannhauser march ..... Wagner
Waltz, Vienna Blood ..... Strauss
Selection, Cavalleria Rusticana ..... Mascagni
Prelude to the Master Singers of Nuremberg ..... Wagner
Preludes to Act I and Act III, Lohengrin ..... Wagner
Waltz, Freut euch des Lebens ..... Strauss
Albumlatt ..... Wagner
Overture, to Rienzi ..... Wagner
Traumbilder fantasy ..... Lumbye
(Zither obligato, Mr Keller)
Fire-Charm, from Walkure ..... Wagner
Waltz, Jolly Fellows ..... Vollstedt
Austria march ..... Zach

——There was a large and enthusiastic audience at the Pop concert Thursday evening, many of the constant patrons attending with groups of friends. Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam, the latter in pale gray nun's veiling, the skirt accordion plaited, a gray chiffon boa and hat trimmed with clusters of pink roses with foliage, were with Mrs Gordon Dexter, Mr Clayton Johns and other friends; Mr and Mrs Horton (Miss Wagniere), who wore ecru veiling, set off with cerise at the bodice and cerise girdle, with hat trimmed with the same shade of roses, were with a party at another table; Mrs Corse, in gray, with black hat and boa; Mr Morton Johnson with friends; Mrs Turner and her son of Mt Vernon st, and Miss Marian Fenno in dark blue veiling, the bodice trimmed with white passementerie and tulle, and white chiffon hat. Although it was very disagreeable weather Friday evening there was a very good audience, who enjoyed the musical program, which was exceptionally good.

Globe May 26-01

——Mr and Mrs Frederic Whitwell, Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball, Mrs F. Gordon Dexter, Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan and Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam are among the constant patrons of the popular concerts, often going with larger or smaller parties of friends, two and three times a week. On Wednesday evening, when the hall was full, Mrs Dexter was at her usual table with a large party of young people. She was looking extremely well in a white silk and lace bodice, with gloves to the elbow, and a black hat faced with white chiffon, setting well off her face. Other patrons were Mr and Mrs F. W. Kittredge and several young people, Mrs Kittredge in a white silk bodice, with corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas; Mr and Mrs Joseph F. Woods of the Tudor, Mrs Woods in a gown of black net with jet, and black hat with blue panne; Mr and Mrs Whitwell with friends; Mr Richard Heard, Mr B. J. Lang, who was one of a party of eight; Mr and Mrs Eliot Pratt, Mrs Pratt in a black satin, with coat opening over white satin and lace; Miss Dabney in gray crepe de chine and black chiffon hat with ostrich tips; Mr and Mrs Bigelow (Miss Lily Davis), Mrs Bigelow in a gray costume and hat with wreath of pink roses; Mr and Mrs John Lindsey, Mr E. Royall Tyler and Miss Edith Tyler, his daughter, the latter in blue and white india silk, with white chiffon and a dash of black velvet at the bodice and black hat with tips; Mr and Mrs Abbott Lawrence Rotch, Mr and Mrs William Power Wilson, Mr and Mrs Tuckerman, the latter in a bodice of ecru lace over silk; Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan, who had with them Mr Timothee Adamowski, Mr William P. Blake and other friends; Mr Arthur Hyde, Mr and Mrs Robert O. Harris, Mr Fred Tudor Jr, Mr John T. Wheelwright, Mr E. M. Wheelwright, Mr Norton Shaw, Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball, Miss Kimball, Mr W. K. Brown and the Misses Brown. It is a peculiarity of these concerts that their popularity always increases as the season advances, until at the close of the all too short six weeks, the public regrets exceedingly their close. Tomorrow evening is announced as Wagner night, six of the 12 numbers being by that composer.

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

Wagner Selections at the "Pops" Monday Night.

Special Programmes on Other Evenings—Conductor Zach's Farewell Saturday — Blanche Marchesi at Home — London Opera Season — Philadelphia Orchestra.

THE first three weeks of the always attractive "Pops" have made the best record for many seasons. With the week beginning June 3 the beautiful floral exhibition in connection with the opening of the new Horticultural Hall, directly opposite Symphony Hall, offers the happiest combination entertainment possible. An hour at Horticultural Hall and the rest of the evening at the "Pops" would surely prove a most enjoyable treat. For the coming week Conductor Zach has arranged an attractive programme. Monday' will be "Wagner Night;' Wednesday, "Tufts Night;" Thursday, "Soloists' Night," and Saturday, the farewell of Mr. Zach. The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows:

"Tannhauser March" ..... Wagner
Waltz, "Vienna Blood" ..... Strauss
Selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana" ..... Mascagni
Prelude to the "Master Singers of Nuremberg" ..... Wagner
Preludes to act I. and act III., "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Waltz, "Freut euch des Lebens" ..... Strauss
"Albumblatt" ..... Wagner
Overture to "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
"Traumbilder" fantasy ..... Lumbe
(Zither obligato, Mr. Keller.)
"Fire-Charm," from "Walkure" ..... Wagner
Waltz, "Jolly Fellows" ..... Vollstedt
"Austria March" ..... Zach

Herald May 26-01

At the Pops on Wednesday night there was an unusually smart lot of people, and the warmth tempted the women to wear charming light and diaphanous gowns, which gave a sort of evening class day aspect to the floor of the house. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Linzee, recently back from Aiken, brought in a party from Milton. Mrs. Linzee was in great good looks, and wore one of the smartest gowns there. Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Tuckerman and Mr. and Mrs Charles S. Tuckerman made a party at one of the centre tables. Mrs. F Gordon Dexter, who is devoted in her attendance, had a large party, including Miss Edith Tyler and her father, Mr. E. Royall Tyler. Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan had with them Mr. Timothee Adamowski and Mr. William P. Blake, among others. Mr. and Mrs. Elliot W. Pratt, who are shortly sailing for the other side, Mr. Herbert Tucker with his mother, Mrs. James Tucker, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Woodworth were at a table together. At others were Mr. Amos Cutting with a party, Mr. Charles R. Sturgis, Mr. Henry M. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Comee, who had six guests, and Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Risteen, with a number of young people with them. Tomorrow will be Wagner night, Wednesday Tufts' night, and Thursday soloists' night. A large evening will be the "Tech" night on Tuesday of next week (the 4th). With the warmer weather and the closing of some of the playhouses, these popular concerts are increasing in attendance and interest every night.

Thursday night at the Pops there was another large company. A table which attracted a good deal of admiring attention was that at which were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, Miss Stimson and Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, with four or five others. Miss Lawrence we thought quite the prettiest girl in the hall, and without question the smartest gowned. She wore a black figured grenadine, the yoke and elbow sleeves of jetted black lace over white. Her hat was of turquoise panne with black tulle choux. Mrs. Horton, who was Marguerite Wagniere, was in pale tan crepe with elaborate embroidery and bands of pink velvet. Her toque was of brown straw with pink roses. Miss Stimson wore black, the waist done with renaissance lace, and a black hat. The table, which was a large and jolly one, had many visitors during the evening. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, whom some one calls "the grande dame of the Pops," had Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam and Mr. Clayton Johns and others at her table. Mrs. Dexter's coat of long red cashmere, with cashmere bands, was an effective bit of color. She kept it on through the evening. Mrs. Putnam, who is always fitly gowned, was in pale gray crepe and a small round hat of pink roses. Another guest at Mrs. Dexter's table wore her hair in broad braided loops low in the neck. It became her style admirably. The two Adamowski brothers had a table party, where, during the intermission, Mr. Zach, the conductor, joined them.

The Programmes of the Pop Concerts.

The musical people of Boston can find little to complain of in the variety and interest of the music offered them during the larger part of the year.

To the initiated, the musician and the people whose tastes have been highly cultivated through having heard for many years the best in Europe and this country, there are the Symphony concerts with their programmes of the music of the greatest among the old and the modern classic composers, where the conductor searches for and courageously presents the works of the newest writers that no criticism may be made as to his narrowness and conservatism or even his personal preferences. While for those to whom Symphony concerts are wearisome and the music incomprehensible, the management presents the pops, the very antithesis of the Symphonies, where every variety of popular music, except "rag-time," finds its way into the programmes and is performed with the same ability, care, and musicianship by the orchestra as greater compositions would be. The class of people who express their preference for this style of compositions is evidently not as numerous as that whose tastes prompt their attendance at the Symphonies or they would nightly crowd the pops where they could enjoy not only the music of their preference but the ease, unconventionality and the opportunity to smoke and order refreshments to the accompaniment of their favorite airs, such as does not offer under any conditions at other seasons of the year. Nor are the tastes of lovers of a higher class of music neglected, for discreetly interspersed in the programmes are selections from the popular classic composers. Nothing, for instance, could have given much more pleasure or have been better played than the overture to Rossini's "Barber of Seville," which stands on the borderland of classic and the more popular music, or the universally admired overture to "Tannhaueser." The orchestra in its performance of these two numbers left very little to be desired.

The three concerts of May 27, 29 and 30 offer exceptional attractions, and no doubt the public will take advantage of them and crowd the hall.

[59]

Transcript May 28-01

The fourth week of the "Pop" concerts and the last under the direction of Conductor Zach bids fair to attract full houses. Wednesday evening is devoted to Tufts College, its students, graduates and friends, several hundred of whom have already booked seats. The Glee Club will be present and there will be some excellent singing of college songs always dear to students and public alike. Thursday is soloists' night, with a most attractive list of selections. Tonight's programme follows: March, "Jamaica," Whipple; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," Berlioz; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; "Lost in Dreams," reverie, Zach; entra'acte, waltz, "Amorello," Loud; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; overture, "Banditenstreiche," Suppé; waltz, "Landeskinder," Strauss; "In the Mill," Gillet; march, "Way Down East," Catlin.

Herald May 28-01

THE POPS.

Conductor Zach's last week at the Pop concerts offers a most attractive list of special evenings. Wednesday is Tufts night, already an assured success because of the presence of several hundred students, alumni and friends. There will be singing of college songs, led by the glee club, and altogether it will be a gala night. Thursday is soloists' night, when a flute solo by Mr. Maquarre, a zither solo by Mr. Keller and a romanza for four violins by Messrs. Roth, Hoffman, Moldauer and Fielder will be the attraction.

Globe May 28-01

Mr Zach opened his last week as conductor of the promenade concerts in Symphony hall last evening, the offering being a "Wagner" program. Wednesday will be "Tufts" night, and this evening's selections will be as follows: March, "Under the Double Eagle," Wagner; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," Berlioz; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; "Lost in Dreams," reverie, Zach; entr'acte, waltz, "Amorello," Loud; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; overture, "Banditenstreiche," Suppe; waltz, "Landeskinder," Strauss; "In the Mill," Gillet; march, "Way Down East," Catlin.

Journal May 28-01

THE POPS.

The fourth week of the Pop Concerts and the last under the direction of Conductor Zach bids fair to attract full houses. Wednesday evening is devoted to Tufts College, its students, its graduates and friends, several hundred of whom have already booked seats. The glee club will be in evidence and there will be some excellent singing of college songs, always dear to students and public alike. Thursday is soloists' night, with a most attractive list of selections. Tonight's program follows:

1. March, "Jamaica" ..... Whipple
2. Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
3. Waltz, "Violets" ..... Waldteufel
4. Overture, "Benvenuto Cellini" ..... Berloiz
5. Selection, "Wizard of the Nile" .. Herbert
6. "Lost in Dreams," Reverie ..... Zach
7. Entr'acte, Waltz, "Amorello" ..... Loud
8. Selection, "Carmen" ..... Bizet
9. Overture, "Banditenstreiche" ..... Suppé
10. Waltz, "Landeskinder" ..... Strauss
11. "In the Mill" ..... Gillet
12. March, "Way Down East" ..... Catlin

Post May 28-01

The Pops.

Conductor Zach's last week offers a most attractive list of evenings. Wednesday is Tufts night, already an assured success because of the presence of several hundred students, alumni and friends. There will be singing of familiar college songs, led by the glee club, and altogether it will be a gala night. Thursday is soloists' night, when a flute solo by Mr. Maquarre, a zither solo by Mr. Keller and a romanza for four violins by Messrs. Roth, Hoffman, Moldauer and Fiedler will be the attraction.

Tonight's programme follows:

March, "Jamaica," Whipple; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," Berlioz; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; "Lost in Dreams," Reverie, Zach; entr'acte, waltz, "Amorello," Loud; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; overture, "Banditenstreiche," Suppe; waltz, "Landeskinder," Strauss; "In the Mill," Gillet; march, "Way Down East," Catlin.

Record May 28-01

THE POPS.

The fourth week of these enjoyable functions and the last under the direction of Conductor Zach, bids fair to attract full houses. Wednesday evening is devoted to Tufts College, its students, graduates and friends, several hundred of whom have already booked seats. The glee club will be in evidence, and there will be some excellent singing of college songs always dear to students and public alike. Thursday is soloists' night, with a most attractive list of selections.

Post May 29-01

This evening will be "Tufts night" at the Pop concerts and some special features are promised in the way of college songs.

Herald May 30-01

TUFTS NIGHT AT THE "POPS."

College Songs and Cheers from Hundreds of Students.

Brilliant Scene in the Gallery: One of the Features—Music of the Artists on the Stage Supplemented by Musicians on the Floor—Strong Chorus Singing.

"Charlie Tufts, His College," "The Brown and Blue," "Barnum Song," "Dear Alma Mater" and "Campus Song" were matters of interest on last night's "Pop" programme to some 700 Tufts students, who rendezvoused at wooden tables on the floor or sat in upholstered opera chairs in the first balcony at the first feature night of the "Pop" season.

From the liveliest freshman, sitting under the elbows of the first violins on the floor, up to the fairest senior "co-ed," rapturously devouring the sights and sounds of the lower world from the rail of the gilded balcony front, yea, from the oldest "vet" in the orchestra down to the chance stranger who dropped into a rear seat at 9 o'clock, "Tufts Night" was a rollicking, revelling, gingery, jingling success.

At the invitation of a committee, headed by A. P. French, '76, Tufts alumni and alumnae and the undergraduate body were notified of the occasion several days in advance, and a large advance sale of seats was realized. Under the direction of Manager F. R. Comee, the big crowd found itself splendidly taken care of—nearly all the floor tables and the first two rows in the balcony having been reserved—and, as an evidence of the sincerity of the management's interest, a big "Tufts" sign of red and blue incandescent lights was hung over the organ pipes.

Some 500 of the lusty sons of Tufts, old and young, found places at tables, the front half of the hall, with its solid mass of men, reminding a stranger of a smoke talk at the lodge. At many of the rear tables were women, wives and daughters of old "grads," who came to touch elbows with the scions of another generation and renew their youth at the fountain of song and revelry.

The gallery show was gorgeous, something exceptional for an indoor entertainment in this city. There must have been at least 600 young women behind the brilliantly gilded, plush-topped railings—600 "co-eds," sisters, cousins, strangers, gay in picture hats and silk waists of countless becoming hues. And the company was active; that was the feature unique.

It seemed that everybody was restless with enthusiasm. Heads were turning and nodding this way and that, programmes were fluttering daintily like fans, and the constant stir made the colors in hats and waists attractive beyond estimate. Probably there has never been such a splendid balcony scene in all the notable history of the "Pops." In old Music Hall, with gallery railings as sombre as the backs of pews in an orthodox suburban church, the beauty of women was usually lost to the curious on the floor. The "floor" was "the picture" in Music Hall. Last night the gallery was the feature for loveliness.

The gallery, by the way, deserves further distinction, from the Tufts point of view, for away up in a back seat sat "Mose," the colored janitor of the college. He must be a kind of mascot, for when the "gang" caught sight of him, about the middle of the evening, all hands stood up and let go these cheerful howls: "Oh! Mose! Come down!" "Say, Mose!" "We want Mose!"

And, of course, it was up to "Mose" to bow, look embarrassed, mutter, and get out of sight, in acknowledgment of the great compliment—thereby showing the ready wit of the traditional college janitor.

The programmes themselves showed a clever concession to the occasion, the initial letters of the 12 numbers making an acrostic which spelled "Tufts College."

The gambols of the college lambs started in to the tempo of "The Stein Song," when, for the chorus, the first faint murmurings of song from the little group of glee men in the corner were wafted to the waiting ears of the many chaperoned "co-eds" smiling expectantly just overhead.

"Dixie" came next, and the hum [illegible] was the first, effective [illegible] throated effort from the [illegible] singers. The "Barnum Song," next in order, called for more unison singing, and a "full-stop" stunt from 300 pairs of heavy heels when it was done. When "Charlie Tufts, His College," was al- [illegible] by the stage artists, everybody [illegible]

N.Y. Town Topics May 30-01

THE semi-bohemian "Pop" concerts that are a feature of the late Spring season in Boston have been going on the even tenor of their way in the new Symphony Hall, which is infinitely better than any stamping ground they have had before. The other night the concert was attended by a smart party that invited special comment. It consisted of eight or nine young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Kenneth Horton, among whom were one of the Stimson girls, daughter of F. J. Stimson, the novelist, and Miss Elizabeth, commonly known as "Libby" Lawrence, handsome "Jim" Lawrence's daughter and a niece of the rotund and rosy Prescott Lawrence. Ever since Miss "Libby" Lawrence's début, three years ago, she has not failed to catch the public eye sometimes wonderingly, both in New York and Boston. She is tall and plump, blonde and pretty. She is always gowned in the latest mode, perhaps a little too conspicuously for a young girl, but her costumes never fail to be becoming as well as dashing. At the "Pop" she was in a black diaphanous frock with transparent neck and sleeves, and a large hat of turquoise panne with black tulle. But this is a mere detail. What attracted every spectator was a tiny electric bulb, concealed in a rosette of black tulle beneath her left ear, which ever and anon she lighted by the pressure of a button at her waist. Miss Lawrence is nothing if not a sensation maker, and this novel expedient for the amusement of herself and her friends was just in her line. As Miss Lawrence has great powers of fascination it is needless to say she was surrounded by men all the evening.

MRS. F. GORDON DEXTER, who is not quite so young as Miss Lawrence, and is called the smart mother of the "Pops," also delights in making sensations. Indeed, she is becoming the rival of her old chum, Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, in that regard. Mrs. Dexter is fond of young people, and almost every night she entertains a table full of them at the "Pops." She has superb iron-gray hair, which she rolls on a high cushion, giving her the appearance of a lady of the days of Louis XVI. Her fondness for brilliant colors was accentuated the other night by a long, loose red coat with bands of high-toned cashmere. This she wore all the evening. She is fond of picture hats faced with white and worn well off the face. Mrs. Dexter is separated from her husband, Mr. F. Gordon Dexter, one of the best born, best bred and best known society clubmen in Boston, principally because that genial gentleman got rather tired of her playful disposition that asserted itself in such unexpected ways as to cease to be alluring. Since then she has set up her own ménage and surrounded herself with congenial companions. Her two sons, Colonel Gordon and Dr. Franklin Dexter, are seen little in her company.

Medford Mercury May 31-01

A number of students attended the Tufts night at the "Pops" in Symphony Hall, Boston, Wednesday evening.

Transcript May 28-01

The fourth week of the "Pop" concerts and the last under the direction of Conductor Zach bids fair to attract full houses. Wednesday evening is devoted to Tufts College, its students, graduates and friends, several hundred of whom have already booked seats. The Glee Club will be present and there will be some excellent singing of college songs always dear to students and public alike. Thursday is soloists' night, with a most attractive list of selections. Tonight's programme follows: March, "Jamaica," Whipple; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," Berlioz; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; "Lost in Dreams," reverie, Zach; entra'acte, waltz, "Amorello," Loud; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; overture, "Banditenstreiche," Suppé; waltz, "Landeskinder," Strauss; "In the Mill," Gillet; march, "Way Down East," Catlin.

Herald May 28

THE POPS.

Conductor Zach's last week at the Pop concerts offers a most attractive list of special evenings. Wednesday is Tufts night, already an assured success because of the presence of several hundred students, alumni and friends. There will be singing of college songs, led by the glee club, and altogether it will be a gala night. Thursday is soloists' night, when a flute solo by Mr. Maquarre, a zither solo by Mr. Keller and a romanza for four violins by Messrs. Roth, Hoffman, Moldauer and Fielder will be the attraction.

Mr Zach opened his last week as conductor of the promenade concerts in Symphony hall last evening, the offering being a "Wagner" program. Wednesday will be "Tufts" night, and this evening's selections will be as follows: March, "Under the Double Eagle," Wagner; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," Berlioz; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; "Lost in Dreams," reverie, Zach; entr'acte, waltz, "Amorello," Loud; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; overture, "Banditenstreiche," Suppe; waltz, "Landeskinder," Strauss; "In the Mill," Gillet; march, "Way Down East," Catlin.

Journal May 28-01

THE POPS.

The fourth week of the Pop Concerts and the last under the direction of Conductor Zach bids fair to attract full houses. Wednesday evening is devoted to Tufts College, its students, its graduates and friends, several hundred of whom have already booked seats. The glee club will be in evidence and there will be some excellent singing of college songs, always dear to students and public alike. Thursday is soloists' night, with a most attractive list of selections. Tonight's program follows:

1. March, "Jamaica".....Whipple
2. Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Waltz, "Violets".....Waldteufel
4. Overture, "Benvento Cellini".....Berloiz
5. Selection, "Wizard of the Nile"..Herbert
6. "Lost in Dreams," Reverie.....Zach
7. Entr'acte. Waltz, "Amorello".....Loud
8. Selection, "Carmen".....Bizet
9. Overture, "Banditenstreiche".....Suppé
10. Waltz, "Landeskinder".....Strauss
11. "In the Mill".....Gillet
12. March, "Way Down East".....Catlin

Post May

The Pops.

Conductor Zach's last week offers a most attractive list of evenings. Wednesday is Tufts night, already an assured success because of the presence of several hundred students, alumni and friends. There will be singing of familiar college songs, led by the glee club, and altogether it will be a gala night. Thursday is soloists' night, when a flute solo by Mr. Maquarre, a zither solo by Mr. Keller and a romanza for four violins by Messrs. Roth, Hoffman, Moldauer and Fiedler will be the attraction.

Tonight's programme follows:

March, "Jamaica," Whipple; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; overture, "Benvenuto Cellini," Berlioz; selection, "Wizard of the Nile," Herbert; "Lost in Dreams," Reverie, Zach; entr'acte, waltz, "Amorello," Loud; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; overture, "Banditenstreiche," Suppe; waltz, "Landeskinder," Strauss; "In the Mill," Gillet; march, "Way Down East," Catlin.

Record May 28-01

THE POPS.

The fourth week of these enjoyable functions and the last under the direction of Conductor Zach, bids fair to attract full houses. Wednesday evening is devoted to Tufts College, its students, graduates and friends, several hundred of whom have already booked seats. The glee club will be in evidence, and there will be some excellent singing of college songs always dear to students and public alike. Thursday is soloists' night, with a most attractive list of selections.

This evening will be "Tufts night" at the Pop concerts and some special features are promised in the way of college songs.

Herald May 29-01

TUFTS NIGHT AT THE "POPS."

College Songs and Cheers from Hundreds of Students.

Brilliant Scene in the Gallery One of the Features—Music of the Artists on the Stage Supplemented by Musicians on the Floor—Strong Chorus Singing.

"Charlie Tufts, His College," "The Brown and Blue," "Barnum Song," "Dear Alma Mater" and "Campus Song" were matters of interest on last night's "Pop" programme to some 700 Tufts students, who rendezvoused at wooden tables on the floor or sat in upholstered opera chairs in the first balcony at the first feature night of the "Pop" season.

From the liveliest freshman, sitting under the elbows of the first violins on the floor, up to the fairest senior "co-ed," rapturously devouring the sights and sounds of the lower world from the rail of the gilded balcony front, yea, from the oldest "vet" in the orchestra down to the chance stranger who dropped into a rear seat at 9 o'clock, "Tufts Night" was a rollicking, revelling, gingery, jingling success.

At the invitation of a committee, headed by A. P. French, '76, Tufts alumni and alumnae and the undergraduate body were notified of the occasion several days in advance, and a large advance sale of seats was realized. Under the direction of Manager F. R. Comee, the big crowd found itself splendidly taken care of—nearly all the floor tables and the first two rows in the balcony having been reserved—and, as an evidence of the sincerity of the management's interest, a big "Tufts" sign of red and blue incandescent lights was hung over the organ pipes.

Some 500 of the lusty sons of Tufts, old and young, found places at tables, the front half of the hall, with its solid mass of men, reminding a stranger of a smoke talk at the lodge. At many of the rear tables were women, wives and daughters of old "grads," who came to touch elbows with the scions of another generation and renew their youth at the fountain of song and revelry.

The gallery show was gorgeous, something exceptional for an indoor entertainment in this city. There must have been at least 600 young women behind the brilliantly gilded, plush-topped railings—600 "co-eds," sisters, cousins, strangers, gay in picture hats and silk waists of countless becoming hues. And the company was active; that was the feature unique.

It seemed that everybody was restless with enthusiasm. Heads were turning and nodding this way and that, programmes were fluttering daintily like fans, and the constant stir made the colors in hats and waists attractive beyond estimate. Probably there has never been such a splendid balcony scene in all the notable history of the "Pops." In old Music Hall, with gallery railings as sombre as the backs of pews in an orthodox suburban church, the beauty of women was usually lost to the curious on the floor. The "floor" was "the picture" in Music Hall. Last night the gallery was the feature for loveliness.

The gallery, by the way, deserves further distinction, from the Tufts point of view, for away up in a back seat sat "Mose," the colored janitor of the college. He must be a kind of mascot, for when the "gang" caught sight of him, about the middle of the evening, all hands stood up and let go these cheerful howls: "Oh! Mose! Come down!" "Say, Mose!" "We want Mose!"

And, of course, it was up to "Mose" to bow, look embarrassed, mutter, and get out of sight, in acknowledgment of the great compliment—thereby showing the ready wit of the traditional college janitor.

The programmes themselves showed a clever concession to the occasion, the initial letters of the 12 numbers making an acrostic which spelled "Tufts College."

The gambols of the college lambs started in to the tempo of "The Stein Song," when, for the chorus, the first faint murmurings of song from the little group of glee men in the corner were wafted to the waiting ears of the duly chaperoned "co-eds" smiling expectantly just overhead.

"Upidee" came next, and the humming of the familiar air proceeded to the accompaniment of tapping boots and [illegible] "chink-chink" of [illegible] Comee [illegible] was the first, eliciting [illegible] throated effort from the [illegible] singers. The "Barnum Song," next in order, called for more unison singing, and a "full-stop" stunt from 300 pairs of heavy heels when it was done. When "Charlie Tufts, His College," was alluded to by the stage artists, everybody joined in, and there was no peace until a rousing Tufts cheer had been given, under the direction of a blond giant next the stage.

After intermission, "The Rounders" dropped a few professional samples into the ears of the merry-makers, which they answered in the next number with the "Campus Song" and "Dear Alma Mater." After that, it was straight "Pop" stuff until the end, when, with a Tufts slogan by way of a "nightcap," the festivities ceased, and the [illegible] sought their homes, to nurse sore throats and pleasant recollections.

N.Y. Town Topics May 30-01

THE semi-bohemian "Pop" concerts that are a feature of the late Spring season in Boston have been going on the even tenor of their way in the new Symphony Hall, which is infinitely better than any stamping ground they have had before. The other night the concert was attended by a smart party that invited special comment. It consisted of eight or nine young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Kenneth Horton, among whom were one of the Stimson girls, daughter of F. J. Stimson, the novelist, and Miss Elizabeth, commonly known as "Libby" Lawrence, handsome "Jim" Lawrence's daughter and a niece of the rotund and rosy Prescott Lawrence. Ever since Miss "Libby" Lawrence's début, three years ago, she has not failed to catch the public eye sometimes wonderingly, both in New York and Boston. She is tall and plump, blonde and pretty. She is always gowned in the latest mode, perhaps a little too conspicuously for a young girl, but her costumes never fail to be becoming as well as dashing. At the "Pop" she was in a black diaphanous frock with transparent neck and sleeves, and a large hat of turquoise panne with black tulle. But this is a mere detail. What attracted every spectator was a tiny electric bulb, concealed in a rosette of black tulle beneath her left ear, which ever and anon she lighted by the pressure of a button at her waist. Miss Lawrence is nothing if not a sensation maker, and this novel expedient for the amusement of herself and her friends was just in her line. As Miss Lawrence has great powers of fascination it is needless to say she was surrounded by men all the evening.

MRS. F. GORDON DEXTER, who is not quite so young as Miss Lawrence, and is called the smart mother of the "Pops," also delights in making sensations. Indeed, she is becoming the rival of her old chum, Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, in that regard. Mrs. Dexter is fond of young people, and almost every night she entertains a table full of them at the "Pops." She has superb iron-gray hair, which she rolls on a high cushion, giving her the appearance of a lady of the days of Louis XVI. Her fondness for brilliant colors was accentuated the other night by a long, loose red coat with bands of high-toned cashmere. This she wore all the evening. She is fond of picture hats faced with white and worn well off the face. Mrs. Dexter is separated from her husband, Mr. F. Gordon Dexter, one of the best born, best bred and best known society clubmen in Boston, principally because that genial gentleman got rather tired of her playful disposition that asserted itself in such unexpected ways as to cease to be alluring. Since then she has set up her own ménage and surrounded herself with congenial companions. Her two sons, Colonel Gordon and Dr. Franklin Dexter, are seen little in her company.

A number of students attended the Tufts night at the "Pops" in Symphony Hall, Boston, Wednesday evening.

Dramatic Review June 1-01

B. H. J. Storer.

There is nothing doing in musical matters excepting the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall, and a few pupils' recitals of more or less length of programs.

Gazette June 1-01

—The semi-bohemian "Pop" concerts that are a feature of the late spring season in Boston have been going on the even tenor of their way in the new Symphony Hall, which is infinitely better than any stamping ground they have had before. The other night the concert was attended by a smart party that invited special comment. It consisted of eight or nine young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Kenneth Horton, among whom were one of the Stimson girls, daughter of F. J. Stimson, the novelist, and Miss Elizabeth, commonly known as "Libby" Lawrence, handsome "Jim" Lawrence's daughter and a niece of the rotound and rosy Prescott Lawrence. Ever since Miss "Libby" Lawrence's debut, three years ago, she has not failed to catch the public eye sometimes wonderingly, both in New York and Boston. She is tall and plump, blonde and pretty. She is always gowned in the latest mode, perhaps a little too conspicuously for a young girl, but her costumes never fail to be becoming as well as dashing. At the "Pop" she was in a black diaphanous frock with transparent neck and sleeves, and a large hat of turquoise panne with black tulle. But this is a mere detail. What attracted every spectator was a tiny electric bulb, concealed in a rosette of black tulle beneath her left ear, which ever and anon she lighted by the pressure of a button at her waist. Miss Lawrence is nothing if not a sensation maker, and this novel expedient for the amusement of herself and her friend was just in her line. As Miss Lawrence has great powers of fascination it is needless to say she was surrounded by men all the evening. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, who is not quite so young as Miss Lawrence, and is called the smart mother of the "Pops," also delights in making sensations. Indeed, she is becoming the rival of her old chum, Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, in that regard. Mrs. Dexter is fond of young people, and almost every night she entertains a table full of them at the "Pops." She has superb iron-gray hair, which she rolls on a high cushion, giving her the appearance of a lady of the days of Louis XVI. Her fondness for brilliant colors was accentuated the other night by a long, loose red coat with bands of high-toned cashmere. This she wore all the evening. She is fond of picture hats faced with white and worn well off the face. —Town Topics.

—The Pops continue to be the swagger thing to do by those still remaining in town, and parties, too, are made up of North Shore cottagers who come up for a gay evening. If possible, they are more fashionable than former seasons. Certainly they are more "dressy," for one sees elaborate frocks as a rule, and not as an exception, as has been heretofore.

Lowell Courier June 1-01

NOTA BENE. 19

Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, at a recent Boston pop concert, was clad in a "diaphanous frock with transparent neck and sleeves, and she lit herself up at intervals with an incandescent lamp under her left ear by pressing a button on her waist." Elizabeth is all too giddy.

Budget June 2-01

Next Monday evening Mr. Gustave Strube, well known as a composer and as one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will begin his four weeks as conductor of the "Pops." Tuesday is to be "Tech" night, and special nights will come thick and fast. Thursday, June 6, is to be "naval" night, when Admiral and Mrs. Sampson, with the officers of the Navy Yard, will be the guests of the management. Then there is to follow "Harvard night," "Bank Officers Association," "Graduates' night" and "request night." The programme for Monday evening is as follows "Coronation March," Meyerbeer; overture, "Masaniello," Aubur; waltz, "Acceleration," Strauss; selection, "Freischuetz" (first time), Weber; overture, "Sakuntala," Goldmark; serenade "Goodby" (first time), Strube; trumpet obligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel; bacchanale from "Samson and Delila," Saint-Saens; introductions to act III., and dance of apprentices, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; selection, "Burgomaster," Luders; two Spanish dances, Moszkowski; waltz, "Amour et Printemps," Waldteufel; march, "Wien Bleibt Wien," Schrammel.

----Miss Annie Blake of Brookline gave a very charming dinner last Monday night to friends and a Pop Concert party. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gray Lowell, Miss Sargent, Miss Elizabeth Lawrence of Groton, Mr. Parker, Mr. Grew, Mr. Islen and Mr. Horton. Miss Nancy Whitside of Boston and Miss Betty Metcalf of New York, a very charming person, are making a pleasant house party at Miss Blake's. Miss Olivia Thorndike, a cousin of Miss Blake, has come up from Beverly Farms, and is also one of the number.

People who love variety can next week spend the day at the flower show, dine there, and then stroll across the street to the Pops.

Globe June 2-01

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Tomorrow night the fifth week of the "Pop" concerts will begin, and conductor Gustav Strube, one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony orchestra and a composer of marked ability, will assume the leadership. Every evening certain selections on the Symphony hall program are encored enthusiastically, and it is a credit to the intelligence and appreciation of the audiences that these favorites are usually some standard selection like the "Hymn to St Cecilia," the "Lohengrin" music or selections from "Faust." With the last four weeks special nights will be in order including "Tech" evening, Tuesday, June 4, to be followed shortly by "Bank Officers Association," "Harvard" night, "Naval" night, "Harvard Graduates" night and others. Mr Strube has selected the following program for his opening concert tomorrow evening:

Coronation march ..... Meyerbeer
Overture, Masaniello ..... Auber
Waltz, Acceleration ..... Strauss
Selection, Freischuetz ..... Weber
(First time.)
Overture, Sakuntala ..... Goldmark
Serenade, Goodbye ..... Strube
Trumpet obligato, Mr Karl Kloepfel.
Bacchanale, from Samson and Delila.....
Saint-Saens
Introduction to act III and dance of apprentices, from The Meistersingers of Nuremberg ..... Wagner
Selection, Burgomaster ..... Luders
Two Spanish dances ..... Moszkowski
Waltz, Amour et Printemps ..... Waldteutel
March, Wien bleibt Wien ..... Schrammel

—Mr and Mrs Fiske Warren and their family have gone to their estate in Harvard, still keeping their town house open, however, to be in readiness when they choose to come in for the theatre or pop concerts, which they frequently do. Mrs Warren will sail a little later in the season for a stay of several months abroad.

—Although cool and rainy evenings have prevailed the past week, large audiences have attended the Pop concerts at Symphony hall every evening, and Wednesday night when Tufts was in evidence there was much fun and frolic, every seat on the floor being taken and the balconies filled with gayly-dressed young women, giving an unusually festive atmosphere to the occasion. Tuesday evening a pleasant party of eight was at one table, including Mrs Henry P. Whitman, Mrs Fiske Warren, Miss Mary Osgood, and others. Mrs Whitman wore black taffeta with black velvet bands, and black toque with plumes. Mrs Warren's bodice was of green silk corded, and stock of green velvet. Her hat was entirely of sprays of lilies of the valley with their foliage, and she had a bouquet of the same blossoms. Miss Osgood wore black, with blue trimmings at the bodice, and blue stock, with a white hat trimmed with pink roses and black velvet. Others noted early in the week were Mrs Gordon Dexter, with Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam, and other friends, Mrs Putnam wearing a lovely black gown with white lace yoke and sleeves and passementerie in a V-shape inserted in the bodice and shoulderstraps of the same; she also wore a boa of white chiffon edged with black, and a black chiffon hat; Dr Frederic L. Jack, Miss Harriet Whittier, Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball and Miss Kimball, Mr S. B. Whitney, Miss Elsie Plummer, Mrs Curtis Guild Jr, Miss Johnson, Sig and Mrs Rotoli.

Herald June 2-01

The Pop concerts are growing in popularity and attendance every night. There was scarcely a vacant table or seat on any evening last week. Wednesday night when the programme was in honor of Tufts College, both sides of the balcony were filled with young college girls in bright gowns and hats and every table on the floor had its full quota. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Thorndike were there with a large party. Mrs. Thorndike in black lace and chiffon with a black chiffon hat. One of the largest tables was that to which Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter brought a party somewhat late in the evening. Mrs. Dexter was in a dark skirt with a white lace and silver bodice over which was a heavy chain of coral. She wore her red cashmere wrap and a black hat off her face. One of the best gowned women of her party was Mrs. James L. Putnam, whose black crepe de chine, made very long, with yoke and sleeves of white lace embroidered in gold, was distinctly smart. She wore a full white chiffon boa with black velvet edges and a large hat. Mr. Putnam was there and Mr. S. Gannett Wells among others. Miss Bush of Beacon street, Mr. Dacre Bush's sister, had a party. Also Dr. Frederick L. Jack. Mrs. A. L. Nickerson brought several young people in from Dedham. She was looking finely in black relieved with white and a toque of violets. The party occupied a centre table. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Francis of Brookline had friends with them. Mrs. Francis was in blue with white lace. Prof. and Mrs. Leo Lewis brought a party. Mrs. F. R. Comee had guests at her husband's table, and was looking exceedingly pretty in French bluet cloth, the bolero opening over a fine white lace blouse, and a large yellow straw hat. This week a number of parties have been arranged to go to the horticultural exhibit and then across the street for a table at the Pops. On Tuesday the Tech night will be a very large one. Last night Mr. Zach laid down his baton and Mr. Gustav Strube takes it up for the rest of the season.

Journal June 2-01

"THE POPS."

Tomorrow night the fifth week of these delightful evenings begins and Conductor Gustav Strube, one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and a composer of marked ability, assumes the leadership. With the last four weeks special nights will be in order, including "Tech" evening on Tuesday, June 4, to be followed shortly by "Bank Officers' Association, "Harvard Night," "Naval Night," at which Admiral and Mrs. Sampson with officers from the Navy Yard will be the guests of the management, "Harvard Graduates' Night" and others. Mr. Strube has selected the following program for his opening concert tomorrow evening:

Coronation March..... Meyerbeer
Overture, "Masaniello"..... Auber
Waltz, "Acceleration"..... Strauss
Selection, "Freischuetz"..... Weber
(First time.)
Overture, "Sakuntala"..... Goldmark
Serenade, "Good-bye"..... Strube
(First time.)
Trumpet Obbligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel.
Bacchanale, from "Samson and Delila,"
Saint-Saens
Introduction to Act III. and Dance of Apprentices, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg"..... Wagner
Selection, "Burgomaster"..... Luders
Two Spanish Dances..... Moszkowski
Waltz, "Amour et Printemps"..... Waldteufel
March, "Wien bleibt Wien"..... Schrammel

Times June 2-01

Tufts College Night at the Pops.

Thursday night, May 29, was Tufts night at Symphony hall. It was gala night, and the many friends and well wishers of the college were present to enjoy the occasion. The famous Pops attract all lovers of fine, sparkling music, healthful gaiety and good company, and then on Thursday evening the weather man had given just enough snap to the air outside to cause one's spirits to run evenly at high tide, and a generous flow of good cheer, with ginger-ale, college songs and "rah! rah! rah!" all interspersed with exquisite melody from the magical swaying of conductor Zach's baton.

Symphony hall presented a pleasing scene. The audience, as usual, was a representative one, and delightfully demonstrative in behalf of the occasion. The name "Tufts" was outlined in brilliant incandescent lights of rose pink and blue and o'ertopped the orchestra stand.

College nights are proverbially jolly, and Tufts night was no exception. The boys were all on hand with iron throats and lusty lungs and when, in measured cadence, with that persistence characteristic of "Charlie's" boys they saw fit to demand the appearance of a certain speaker on the platform or table, as the case might be, in every instance they got what they wanted.

Symphony hall, transformed from its usual classical dignity to a veritable Eldorado of refined hilarity, raillery, blue Havana smoke, bright repartee and popping bottles, presented a scene in which the Gilded Fool would have found employment. The scene was festive and suggestive of college night in all its glory. The crowd was large, with just enough of the sporty element to give zest and fibre. The tables, with bevies of well-gowned ladies hovering near, were tremendously popular between promenades. The orchestra was alive and played with charming abandon, and when they began on "College Selections," "Dear Alma Mater," by Lewis of '87, ending with a wonderfully sympathetic interpretation, there were a thousand hearty handclaps. During the selections of E. W. Newton, class of '90, "Brown and Blue," "Charlie Tufts and his College," the Tufts men stood and joined in the refrain, and not until the dreamy, sensuous measure of Bucalossi's "La Gitana" waltz broke in was the audience lulled into comparative silence.

It was Tufts night, and joy should be unconfined. Freshmen and sophomores for once stood on equal ground.

The popularity of these Pops grows apace, and if the different college nights are as attractive as was Tufts, success is guaranteed.

The music is full of brilliancy, dash and color, without being too positive, and has given the unique name "Pop" to these famous summer concerts. WYLNA H.

Mr. Norman McLeod will sail June 19 for a three months' stay in England.

A "pop" concert was given at the Old Dorchester club last Tuesday evening, which was attended by a large gathering of club members and their friends.

The cantata, "The Daughter of Jarvus," was given in East Boston last Tuesday evening

[61]

Dramatic Review June 1-01

B. H. J. Storer.

There is nothing doing in musical matters excepting the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall, and a few pupils' recitals of more or less length of programs.

Gazette June 1-01

—The semi-bohemian "Pop" concerts that are a feature of the late spring season in Boston have been going on the even tenor of their way in the new Symphony Hall, which is infinitely better than any stamping ground they have had before. The other night the concert was attended by a smart party that invited special comment. It consisted of eight or nine young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Kenneth Horton, among whom were one of the Stimson girls, daughter of F. J. Stimson, the novelist, and Miss Elizabeth, commonly known as "Libby" Lawrence, handsome "Jim" Lawrence's daughter and a niece of the rotound and rosy Prescott Lawrence. Ever since Miss "Libby" Lawrence's debut, three years ago, she has not failed to catch the public eye sometimes wonderingly, both in New York and Boston. She is tall and plump, blonde and pretty. She is always gowned in the latest mode, perhaps a little too conspicuously for a young girl, but her costumes never fail to be becoming as well as dashing. At the "Pop" she was in a black diaphanous frock with transparent neck and sleeves, and a large hat of turquoise panne with black tulle. But this is a mere detail. What attracted every spectator was a tiny electric bulb, concealed in a rosette of black tulle beneath her left ear, which ever and anon she lighted by the pressure of a button at her waist. Miss Lawrence is nothing if not a sensation maker, and this novel expedient for the amusement of herself and her friend was just in her line. As Miss Lawrence has great powers of fascination it is needless to say she was surrounded by men all the evening. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, who is not quite so young as Miss Lawrence, and is called the smart mother of the "Pops," also delights in making sensations. Indeed, she is becoming the rival of her old chum, Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, in that regard. Mrs. Dexter is fond of young people, and almost every night she entertains a table full of them at the "Pops." She has superb iron-gray hair, which she rolls on a high cushion, giving her the appearance of a lady of the days of Louis XVI. Her fondness for brilliant colors was accentuated the other night by a long, loose red coat with bands of high-toned cashmere. This she wore all the evening. She is fond of picture hats faced with white and worn well off the face. —Town Topics.

—The Pops continue to be the swagger thing to do by those still remaining in town, and parties, too, are made up of North Shore cottagers who come up for a gay evening. If possible, they are more fashionable than former seasons. Certainly they are more "dressy," for one sees elaborate frocks as a rule, and not as an exception, as has been heretofore.

Sewell Item June 1-01

NOTA BENE.

Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, at a recent Boston pop concert, was clad in a "diaphanous frock, with transparent neck and sleeves, and she lit herself up at intervals with an incandescent lamp under her left ear by pressing a button on her waist." Elizabeth is all too giddy.

Budget June 2-01

Next Monday evening Mr. Gustave Strube, well known as a composer and as one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will begin his four weeks as conductor of the "Pops." Tuesday is to be "Tech" night, and special nights will come thick and fast. Thursday, June 6, is to be "naval" night, when Admiral and Mrs. Sampson, with the officers of the Navy Yard, will be the guests of the management. Then there is to follow "Harvard night," "Bank Officers Association," "Graduates' night" and "request night." The programme for Monday evening is as follows "Coronation March," Meyerbeer; overture, "Masaniello," Aubur; waltz, "Acceleration," Strauss; selection, "Freischuetz" (first time), Weber; overture, "Sakuntala," Goldmark; serenade "Goodby" (first time), Strube; trumpet obligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel; bacchanale from "Samson and Delila," Saint-Saens; introductions to act III., and dance of apprentices, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; selection, "Burgomaster," Luders; two Spanish dances, Moszkowski; waltz, "Amour et Printemps," Waldteufel; march, "Wien Bleibt Wien," Schrammel.

....Miss Annie Blake of Brookline gave a very charming dinner last Monday night to friends and a Pop Concert party. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gray Lowell, Miss Sargent, Miss Elizabeth Lawrence of Groton, Mr. Parker, Mr. Grew, Mr. Islen and Mr. Horton. Miss Nancy Whitside of Boston and Miss Betty Metcalf of New York, a very charming person, are making a pleasant house party at Miss Blake's. Miss Olivia Thorndike, a cousin of Miss Blake, has come up from Beverly Farms, and is also one of the number.

People who love variety can next week spend the day at the flower show, dine there, and then stroll across the street to the Pops.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Tomorrow night the fifth week of the "Pop" concerts will begin, and conductor Gustav Strube, one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony orchestra and a composer of marked ability, will assume the leadership. Every evening certain selections on the Symphony hall program are encored enthusiastically, and it is a credit to the intelligence and appreciation of the audiences that these favorites are usually some standard selection like the "Hymn to St Cecilia," the "Lohengrin" music or selections from "Faust." With the last four weeks special nights will be in order including "Tech" evening, Tuesday, June 4, to be followed shortly by "Bank Officers Association," "Harvard" night, "Naval" night, "Harvard Graduates" night and others. Mr Strube has selected the following program for his opening concert tomorrow evening:

Coronation march ..... Meyerbeer
Overture, Masaniello ..... Auber
Waltz, Acceleration ..... Strauss
Selection, Freischuetz ..... Weber
(First time.)
Overture, Sakuntala ..... Goldmark
Serenade, Goodbye ..... Strube
Trumpet obligato, Mr Karl Kloepfel.
Bacchanale, from Samson and Delila..... Saint-Saens
Introduction to act III and dance of apprentices, from The Meistersingers of Nuremberg ..... Wagner
Selection, Burgomaster ..... Luders
Two Spanish dances ..... Moszkowski
Waltz, Amour et Printemps ..... Waldteutel
March, Wien bleibt Wien ..... Schrammel

—Mr and Mrs Fiske Warren and their family have gone to their estate in Harvard, still keeping their town house open, however, to be in readiness when they choose to come in for the theatre or pop concerts, which they frequently do. Mrs Warren will sail a little later in the season for a stay of several months abroad.

—Although cool and rainy evenings have prevailed the past week, large audiences have attended the Pop concerts at Symphony hall every evening, and Wednesday night when Tufts was in evidence there was much fun and frolic, every seat on the floor being taken and the balconies filled with gayly-dressed young women, giving an unusually festive atmosphere to the occasion. Tuesday evening a pleasant party of eight was at one table, including Mrs Henry P. Whitman, Mrs Fiske Warren, Miss Mary Osgood, and others. Mrs Whitman wore black taffeta with black velvet bands, and black toque with plumes. Mrs Warren's bodice was of green silk corded, and stock of green velvet. Her hat was entirely of sprays of lilies of the valley with their foliage, and she had a bouquet of the same blossoms. Miss Osgood wore black, with blue trimmings at the bodice, and blue stock, with a white hat trimmed with pink roses and black velvet. Others noted early in the week were Mrs Gordon Dexter, with Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam, and other friends, Mrs Putnam wearing a lovely black gown with white lace yoke and sleeves and passementerie in a V-shape inserted in the bodice and shoulderstraps of the same; she also wore a boa of white chiffon edged with black, and a black chiffon hat; Dr Frederic L. Jack, Miss Harriet Whittier, Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball and Miss Kimball, Mr S. B. Whitney, Miss Elsie Plummer, Mrs Curtis Guild Jr, Miss Johnson, Sig and Mrs Rotoli.

Herald June 2-01

The Pop concerts are growing in popularity and attendance every night. There was scarcely a vacant table or seat on any evening last week. Wednesday night when the programme was in honor of Tufts College, both sides of the balcony were filled with young college girls in bright gowns and hats and every table on the floor had its full quota. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Thorndike were there with a large party. Mrs. Thorndike in black lace and chiffon with a black chiffon hat. One of the largest tables was that to which Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter brought a party somewhat late in the evening. Mrs. Dexter was in a dark skirt with a white lace and silver bodice over which was a heavy chain of coral. She wore her red cashmere wrap and a black hat off her face. One of the best gowned women of her party was Mrs. James L. Putnam, whose black crepe de chine, made very long, with yoke and sleeves of white lace embroidered in gold, was distinctly smart. She wore a full white chiffon boa with black velvet edges and a large hat. Mr. Putnam was there and Mr. S. Gannett Wells among others. Miss Bush of Beacon street, Mr. Dacre Bush's sister, had a party. Also Dr. Frederick L. Jack. Mrs. A. L. Nickerson brought several young people in from Dedham. She was looking finely in black relieved with white and a toque of violets. The party occupied a centre table. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Francis of Brookline had friends with them. Mrs. Francis was in blue with white lace. Prof. and Mrs. Leo Lewis brought a party. Mrs. F. R. Comee had guests at her husband's table, and was looking exceedingly pretty in French bluet cloth, the bolero opening over a fine white lace blouse, and a large yellow straw hat. This week a number of parties have been arranged to go to the horticultural exhibit and then across the street for a table at the Pops. On Tuesday the Tech night will be a very large one. Last night Mr. Zach laid down his baton and Mr. Gustav Strube takes it up for the rest of the season.

"THE POPS."

Tomorrow night the fifth week of these delightful evenings begins and Conductor Gustav Strube, one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and a composer of marked ability, assumes the leadership. With the last four weeks special nights will be in order, including "Tech" evening on Tuesday, June 4, to be followed shortly by "Bank Officers' Association, "Harvard Night," "Naval Night," at which Admiral and Mrs. Sampson with officers from the Navy Yard will be the guests of the management, "Harvard Graduates' Night" and others. Mr. Strube has selected the following program for his opening concert tomorrow evening:

Coronation March..... Meyerbeer
Overture, "Masaniello"..... Auber
Waltz, "Acceleration"..... Strauss
Selection, "Freischuetz"..... Weber
(First time.)
Overture, "Sakuntala"..... Goldmark
Serenade, "Good-bye"..... Strube
(First time.)
Trumpet Obbligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel.
Bacchanale, from "Samson and Delila," Saint-Saens
Introduction to Act III. and Dance of Apprentices, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg"..... Wagner
Selection, "Burgomaster"..... Luders
Two Spanish Dances..... Moszkowski
Waltz, "Amour et Printemps"....Waldteufel
March, "Wien bleibt Wien".....Schrammel

Times June 2-01

Tufts College Night at the Pops.

Thursday night, May 29, was Tufts night at Symphony hall. It was gala night, and the many friends and well wishers of the college were present to enjoy the occasion. The famous Pops attract all lovers of fine, sparkling music, healthful gaiety and good company, and then on Thursday evening the weather man had given just enough snap to the air outside to cause one's spirits to run evenly at high tide, and a generous flow of good cheer, with ginger-ale, college songs and "rah! rah! rah!" all interspersed with exquisite melody from the magical swaying of conductor Zach's baton.

Symphony hall presented a pleasing scene. The audience, as usual, was a representative one, and delightfully demonstrative in behalf of the occasion. The name "Tufts" was outlined in brilliant incandescent lights of rose pink and blue and o'ertopped the orchestra stand.

College nights are proverbially jolly, and Tufts night was no exception. The boys were all on hand with iron throats and lusty lungs and when, in measured cadence, with that persistence characteristic of "Charlie's" boys they saw fit to demand the appearance of a certain speaker on the platform or table, as the case might be, in every instance they got what they wanted.

Symphony hall, transformed from its usual classical dignity to a veritable Eldorado of refined hilarity, raillery, blue Havana smoke, bright repartee and popping bottles, presented a scene in which the Gilded Fool would have found employment. The scene was festive and suggestive of college night in all its glory. The crowd was large, with just enough of the sporty element to give zest and fibre. The tables, with bevies of well-gowned ladies hovering near, were tremendously popular between promenades. The orchestra was alive and played with charming abandon, and when they began on "College Selections," "Dear Alma Mater," by Lewis of '87, ending with a wonderfully sympathetic interpretation, there were a thousand hearty handclaps. During the selections of E. W. Newton, class of '90, "Brown and Blue," "Charlie Tufts and his College," the Tufts men stood and joined in the refrain, and not until the dreamy, sensuous measure of Bucalossi's "La Gitana" waltz broke in was the audience lulled into comparative silence.

It was Tufts night, and joy should be unconfined. Freshmen and sophomores for once stood on equal ground.

The popularity of these Pops grows apace, and if the different college nights are as attractive as was Tufts, success is guaranteed.

The music is full of brilliancy, dash and color, without being too positive, and has given the unique name "Pop" to these famous summer concerts.

WYLNA H.

Mr. Norman McLeod will sail June 19 for a three months' stay in England.

A "pop" concert was given at the Old Dorchester club last Tuesday evening, which was attended by a large gathering of club members and their friends.

The cantata, "The Daughter of Jarvus," was given in East Boston last Tuesday evening

[61]

Telegram Holyoke June 3-01

A Boston society girl appeared at an evening affair last week, and although not any more beautiful than the other young women present, yet she attracted every spectator. The way she did it was this. Concealed in a rosette of black tulle beneath her left ear was a tiny electric bulb which she lighted whenever she wished by pressing a button at her waist. Nothing slow about that girl.

Journal June 3-01

"'Pop' Concerts—Where Boston gets 'real devilish.' New home; new Director. Same audience. Same music. Same 'soft stuff' and gossip. No change in ceremony of pointing out Mrs. 'Jack' Gardner to the awestricken stranger. So peculiarly characteristic of an evening at the Boston 'Pop' that I involuntarily jabbed a balcony lounger in the ribs and whispered to him: 'P'raps you'd be glad to see Mrs. "Jack" Gardner? There she is, just coming in with some swell friends. She'll sit at the fourth table. Always reserved for her. That little chap with the funny whiskers is ——* * *' My fellow-lounger crushed me. He said: 'Sir, I have been a regular attendant of these affairs for 15 years.' Still, if I hadn't sprung it on him he'd have performed the ceremony for me'"

Then McDuer switched for a time to things.

Post June 3-01

"The Pops."

Tomorrow night the fifth week of these delightful evenings begins, and Conductor Gustav Strube, one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and a composer of marked ability, assumes the leadership. With the season half over, everybody is most enthusiastic on the adaptability of Symphony Hall to these concerts. Every evening certain selections on the programme are encored most spontaneously, and it is a credit to the intelligence and appreciation of the audiences that these popular favorites are usually some standard selection like the "Hymn to St. Cecilia," the "Lohengrin" music or selections from "Faust."

With the last four weeks special nights will be in order, including "Tech" night on Tuesday evening, June 4, to be followed shortly by "Bank Officers' Association," "Harvard night," "Naval night," at which Admiral and Mrs. Sampson, with officers from the navy yard, will be the guests of the management, "Harvard graduates' night" and others. Mr. Strube has selected the following programme for his opening concert tomorrow evening:

Coronation March ..... Meyerbeer
Overture, "Masaniello" ..... Auber
Waltz, "Acceleration" ..... Strauss
Selection, "Freischuetz" ..... Weber
(First time.)
Overture, "Sakuntala" ..... Goldmark
Serenade, "Good-by" ..... Strube
(First time.)
Trumpet Obligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel.
Bacchanale, from "Samson and Delila" Saint-Saens
Introduction to Act III. and dance of apprentices, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg" ..... Wagner
Selection, "Burgomaster" ..... Luders
Two Spanish dances ..... Moszkowski
Waltz, "Amour et Printemps" ..... Waldteufel
March, "Wien bleibt Wien" ..... Schrammel

Globe June 4-01

Tech Night at the "Pops."

This evening will be "Tech" night in Symphony hall, and conductor Strube's program will be as follows: March, "King Karl," Unrath; "Artist's Life," waltz, Strauss; "Semiramide," overture, Rossini; selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; introduction act 3, "Lohengrin," Wagner; "Narcissus," Nevin; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; Tech production 1901, "Grand Duke"; "Tannhauser" overture, Wagner; Erwacheff des Loewen, Kontski; Cossack's ride, Moehecker; Hobson's Choice march, Strube.

Herald June 5-01

"TECH" GOES HOARSE.

The Institute Yells Mix with "Pop" Music.

Comic Opera Selections Won by Loud Demands.

Pretty Girls Upstairs Smile and Swallow Smoke.

"Rah, rah, rah; M. I. T.! Rah, rah, rah; Tech-nol-o-gee!" rivalled in popularity the choicest excerpts from Wagner, Strauss and Rossini at the "Pops" last night. Eight hundred of the "boys" from every class from '71 to '01, with a small regiment of undergrads thrown in, made themselves visible in "trimmings" of red and gray, and audible in slogans with "repeats" underscored, and happy and chipper, and satisfyingly gay by the aid of spirits that are never bottled—a company that was a thing of discreet hilarity to itself and of pardonable envy to all who looked and listened.

"Tech night" was a very proper sort of benediction to the festal services of class day and commencement, with a sort of "pax vobiscum" for the senior who says good-bye and an "allez vite" to the giddy freshman who's soon to be a real, tough "soph."

As for the spectacle, there was a big bunch of incandescents in the organ-front spelling "Tech," and a bigger bunch of iridescents on the floor yelling "Tech"—with infinite variations. The gallery show was a thing to be looked at—not heard from—long and earnestly. For there sat, gossiped and smiled all "his sisters and his cousins and his aunts," radiant as all the combined flora on display in the new temple of horticulture across the way. They all had an indulgent smile for M. I. T. individually and collectively. Nothing he did was wrong or the least bit annoying, even though the heat from his cigar raised the gallery temperature to something over 80, filled eyes and throats and eventually made a blink and a choke the accepted sign of the noble order of Balconyites.

Every seat that had near or remote entree to table privileges was occupied when Conductor Strube lightly tapped the music stand, raised the sceptre of soverdignty and sent half a hundred disciples of the bow and valve hustling through the hills and valleys of untranslated march music.

The strong lunged, foregathering in what elsewhere would be called the bald-headed row, sent up a paean of approval, that as a sample of pure staccato recitative was simply a gem of amateur effort. The "lines" were "M. I. T. rah, rah, rah! M. I. T., rah, rah, rah, M. I .T., Tech-nol-o-g-e-e!"

Afterward came lesser selections from the floor, concerning the identity of "Naughty-Naught," "Naughty-One," and all the rest of the "naughty" crew now holding service papers in the red brick edifice in Boylston street.

A Strauss waltz was good enough to make the bottles clink to the rhythm of the dance and the boot heels stir in sympathy. "Cavalleria Rusticana" closed the first section, and then everyone got out on to the mosaic and "limbered up" a bit.

Later came pieces of "Lohengrin" and a few dainty ungloved hands showing diamond solitaires suggested an early repetition of "The Wedding March," with some Tech senior keeping step in a carpeted aisle between crowded pews.

"Narcissus" was a delicate interpellation between Wagner and Stuart, whose "Florodora" simply sent the crowd into noisy exuberance. Then came "Grand Duke" excerpts—the music being the original work of Tech men, which was played at the Tech show this spring.

An incident of this section of the programme was the entrance of President Pritchett, who was ushered to a table by Manager Comee. The boys were "on to their cues" and gave the president such a cheer as McKinley in his palmiest days of popularity never heard.

After intermission again came "Tannhauser," and the grand, strong compelling tones of the overture of Wagner's masterpiece moved even the flippant student to real sympathetic demonstrativeness.

Another yell for "Florodora" was put on between numbers 9 and 10. It did a five-minute skit, then the leader unbent, and another yard or so of the popular lady's music roll was delivered to the impatient patrons. Then with a couple of serious ones, the finale of "Hobson's Choice," by Strube, terminated the night of mirth, melody and discreet carousal.

Globe June 5-01

At the Pop Concert.

Last night was Tech night at the pop concerts. That is a short sentence, but yet it says a great deal. It means that during the whole evening, from 3 o'clock until the close, the Tech students might be said to practically own Symphony hall.

It was different, far different, from all previous Tech nights, in that every table was taken by Tech boys or their friends; they did what they wanted to, cheered when they felt like it and had what music they liked.

Memories of Tufts night were still in the minds of the Tech boys, a night when the Tufts students had called for a piece of music, only to be politely refused. The Tech fellows went to the pops with a determination to have what they wanted and they did. Their first call for San Toy music was gladly responded to, and so was their second, and as a result conductor Gustav Strube was cheered again and again.

M. I. T. Rah! Rah! Rah!
M. I. T. Rah! Rah! Rah!
M. I. T. Rah! Rah! Rah!
Technology.

This was the Tech college yell, and it was the watchword of the evening, repeated again and again on the slightest provocation, and joined in vigorously by the entire Tech crowd present.

The sensation of the evening came about 9 o'clock, when Pres. Pritchett and his wife, accompanied by Pres Munroe, entered the hall. Immediately the students gathered in two lines, between which the newcomers passed, amid cheer after cheer, and even after they had reached their table they were greeted with Technology cheers until the voices of the 500 or more students could stand the strain no longer.

Down at one of the front tables were seated some of the professors, and they too were loudly cheered as they entered the hall.

All around the hall were gathered the students, mostly seniors of course, as their graduation exercises had terminated only a few hours before and they were only too willing to join in anything that would give them a good time and help them to celebrate the successful completion of their college course.

During the evening selections were played from "The Grand Duke," the comic opera that the Tech students gave a few weeks ago at the Hollis-st theatre, and this too was greeted with loud and prolonged applause and a single encore was hardly enough to satisfy the jubilant enthusiasts.

It was a crowd out for a good time, and they had it. Cheerfulness and good-fellowship reigned supreme, and were partaken in by every one alike,—student, alumnus and professor—and it was a most fitting close to the many occasions, both social and educational, in which the Tech students have been engaged for the past five days.

Herald June 6-01

As the Pop season, now on its second half, begins to wane, these delightful concerts at Symphony Hall grow more and more crowded and enthusiastic. Special nights are unusually brilliant, and "Naval" night, this evening, with Admiral Sampson and the leading officers at the Navy Yard in attendance, bids fair to break all records. Conductor Strube has composed for the occasion the "Admiral's March," and there will be other appropriate music.

Globe June 6-01

The "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall continue to attract large and fashionable audiences. Several "special" nights are announced at early dates.

Journal June 6-01

Every special night at the "Pop" concerts, now on their last half, has been a brilliant success, and the presence of Admiral Sampson and the principal officers in our navy yard tonight will surely make "Naval Night" another red letter event. Conductor Strube has composed for the occasion the "Admiral's March," dedicated to Admiral Sampson, and there will be other music appropriate to the occasion.

Beacon June 8-01

The Pop Concerts

The artistic decoration of Symphony Hall and the perfect system of ventilation in service there never made a stronger appeal than during the hot June days. With no end of pretty girls in handsome costumes, smart looking youths and dignified business and professional men scattered about at the tables, the scene is well worth looking upon; and to this add music of varied and fascinating quality played as only Symphony players can play. The Pop Concert season is drawing to an end, and it behooves all who have not attended them to go at least once to see what they are like.

Transcript June 8-01

Only three more weeks, and the sixteenth season of the "Pops" concerts will be a thing of the past. Conductor Strube gains in popular approval with every appearance, and his success as a composer goes hand in hand with his ability as a leader. The special nights in order are "Wagner night," Thursday, June 13; "Harvard night," Tuesday, June 18; "bank officers' night," Thursday, June 20; "request night," Friday, June 21, and "graduates' night," Monday, June 24. The programme for Monday night is as follows: "United States Volunteers March," Strube; overture, "La Dame Blanche," Boieldieu; waltz, "Ins Centrum," Strauss; selection, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Martha," Flotow; Hungarian dances Nos. 3 and 1, Brahms; Norwegian rhapsody, Svendsen (first time); war march from "Rienzi," Wagner; finale, "Arielo," Bach; (a) Serenade, (b) Waltz, Bennett; polka, "Sängerluft," Strauss; march, "Gruss in die Ferne," Döring.

Herald June 8-01

Wednesday night at the Pops there was another fine gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson came in from Lincoln and brought a table party. Mrs. Higginson was in black with white silk blouse and a large black and white hat, falling low on one side in a fetching way. Mr. S. Hooper Hooper was there with friends, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Goodspeed made a party. Mrs. Sherman wore red and white foulard. Mrs. Goodspeed was very pretty in black and white, with a toque of roses and their foliage.

Navy night at the Pop concert Thursday made naturally one of the red-letter evenings of the week. Admiral Sampson, as the chief guest, was the object of special interest. Every table had its full quota, and the balcony was crowded. The admiral, with his wife, Mrs. Hackett and a large party, arrived from the yard early. Mrs. Sampson was in black organdie, done with white lace and chiffon, and a toque of black tulle. Mrs. Hackett wore a lace gown, with gold and jet embroidery, and a black hat with blue. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter came in rather late with Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam and Mr. S. Gannett Wells. During the second intermission Mrs. Dexter went to the Sampson table for a chat. She was in black lace, the bodice and sleeves done with silver sequins, and her round, flat hat of yellow straw, with a wreath of yellow roses, was worn down over the eyes. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cunningham had a party at their table. Mrs. Cunningham was handsome in brown and white grenadine, and a straw hat with yellow and black effect. The special feature in the programme was the "Admiral's March," composed by the conductor, Mr. Strube. It was received with great enthusiasm and an encore demanded. Other guests from the navy were Lieutenant-Commander Sutherland, Lieut. Logan, who had with him Mrs. Logan, the daughter of Gov. Allen of Porto Rico, who attracted admiration with her pretty face and charming gown. Commander Arthur Nazro had a party also — Lieutenant-Commander Tracy (retired), Commander William Everett and Commander and Mrs. George H. Kearney. The admiral and the officers were in conventional citizens' dress.

One of the best dressed women at the Pops last night wore a black grenadine gown, a black hat and a collar of pearls.

Globe June 8-01

An excellent program tonight will close the first week of Mr Strube's directorship at the Symphony hall promenade concerts.

Journal June 8-01

At the Pop concert Monday evening Prof. and Mrs. Sargent arrived late. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell and Miss Mary Sargent came about the same time. Others there were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Prince, with a large party, Mrs. Thos. P. Lovell, Harry Torrey and friends, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Keith and Mr. Albee, Dr. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Russell and Mr. Wheeler.

Telegram Holyoke June 3-01

A Boston society girl appeared at an evening affair last week, and although not any more beautiful than the other young women present, yet she attracted every spectator. The way she did it was this. Concealed in a rosette of black tulle beneath her left ear was a tiny electric bulb which she lighted whenever she wished by pressing a button at her waist. Nothing slow about that girl.

Herald June 5-01

"TECH" GOES HOARSE.

The Institute Yells Mix with "Pop" Music.

Comic Opera Selections Won by Loud Demands.

Pretty Girls Upstairs Smile and Swallow Smoke.

"Rah, rah, rah; M. I. T.! Rah, rah, rah; Tech-nol-o-gee!" rivalled in popularity the choicest excerpts from Wagner, Strauss and Rossini at the "Pops" last night. Eight hundred of the "boys" from every class from '71 to '01, with a small regiment of undergrads thrown in, made themselves visible in "trimmings" of red and gray, and audible in slogans with "repeats" underscored, and happy and chipper, and satisfyingly gay by the aid of spirits that are never bottled—a company that was a thing of discreet hilarity to itself and of pardonable envy to all who looked and listened.

"Tech night" was a very proper sort of benediction to the festal services of class day and commencement, with a sort of "pax vobiscum" for the senior who says good-bye and an "allez vite" to the giddy freshman who's soon to be a real, tough "soph."

As for the spectacle, there was a big bunch of incandescents in the organ-front spelling "Tech," and a bigger bunch of iridescents on the floor yelling "Tech"—with infinite variations. The gallery show was a thing to be looked at—not heard from—long and earnestly. For there sat, gossiped and smiled all "his sisters and his cousins and his aunts," radiant as all the combined flora on display in the new temple of horticulture across the way. They all had an indulgent smile for M. I. T. individually and collectively. Nothing he did was wrong or the least bit annoying, even though the heat from his cigar raised the gallery temperature to something over 80, filled eyes and throats and eventually made a blink and a choke the accepted sign of the noble order of Balconyites.

Every seat that had near or remote entree to table privileges was occupied when Conductor Strube lightly tapped the music stand, raised the sceptre of sovereignty and sent half a hundred disciples of the bow and valve hustling through the hills and valleys of untranslated march music.

The strong lunged, foregathering in what elsewhere would be called the bald-headed row, sent up a paean of approval, that as a sample of pure staccato recitative was simply a gem of amateur effort. The "lines" were "M. I. T. rah, rah, rah! M. I. T., rah, rah, rah, M. I .T., Tech-nol-o-g-e-e!"

Afterward came lesser selections from the floor, concerning the identity of "Naughty-Naught," "Naughty-One," and all the rest of the "naughty" crew now holding service papers in the red brick edifice in Boylston street.

A Strauss waltz was good enough to make the bottles clink to the rhythm of the dance and the boot heels stir in sympathy. "Cavalleria Rusticana" closed the first section, and then everyone got out on to the mosaic and "limbered up" a bit.

Later came pieces of "Lohengrin" and a few dainty ungloved hands showing diamond solitaires suggested an early repetition of "The Wedding March," with some Tech senior keeping step in a carpeted aisle between crowded pews.

"Narcissus" was a delicate interpellation between Wagner and Stuart, whose "Florodora" simply sent the crowd into noisy exuberance. Then came "Grand Duke" excerpts—the music being the original work of Tech men, which was played at the Tech show this spring.

An incident of this section of the programme was the entrance of President Pritchett, who was ushered to a table by Manager Comee. The boys were "on to their cues" and gave the president such a cheer as McKinley in his palmiest days of popularity never heard.

After intermission again came "Tannhauser," and the grand, strong compelling tones of the overture of Wagner's masterpiece moved even the flippant student to real sympathetic demonstrativeness.

Another yell for "Florodora" was put on between numbers 9 and 10. It did a five-minute skit, then the leader unbent, and another yard or so of the popular lady's music roll was delivered to the impatient patrons. Then with a couple of serious ones, the finale of "Hobson's Choice," by Strube, terminated the night of mirth, melody and discreet carousal.

Globe June 5-01

At the Pop Concert.

Last night was Tech night at the pop concerts. That is a short sentence, but yet it says a great deal. It means that during the whole evening, from 8 o'clock until the close, the Tech students might be said to practically own Symphony hall.

It was different, far different, from all previous Tech nights, in that every table was taken by Tech boys or their friends; they did what they wanted to, cheered when they felt like it and had what music they liked.

Memories of Tufts night were still in the minds of the Tech boys, a night when the Tufts students had called for a piece of music, only to be politely refused. The Tech fellows went to the pops with a determination to have what they wanted and they did. Their first call for San Toy music was gladly responded to, and so was their second, and as a result conductor Gustav Strube was cheered again and again.

M. I. T. Rah! Rah! Rah!
M. I. T. Rah! Rah! Rah!
M. I. T. Rah! Rah! Rah!
Technology.

This was the Tech college yell, and it was the watchword of the evening, repeated again and again on the slightest provocation, and joined in vigorously by the entire Tech crowd present.

The sensation of the evening came about 9 o'clock, when Pres Pritchett and his wife, accompanied by Pres Munroe, entered the hall. Immediately the students gathered in two lines, between which the newcomers passed, amid cheer after cheer, and even after they had reached their table they were greeted with Technology cheers until the voices of the 500 or more students could stand the strain no longer.

Down at one of the front tables were seated some of the professors, and they too were loudly cheered as they entered the hall.

All around the hall were gathered the students, mostly seniors of course, as their graduation exercises had terminated only a few hours before and they were only too willing to join in anything that would give them a good time and help them to celebrate the successful completion of their college course.

During the evening selections were played from "The Grand Duke," the comic opera that the Tech students gave a few weeks ago at the Hollis-st theatre, and this too was greeted with loud and prolonged applause and a single encore was hardly enough to satisfy the jubilant enthusiasts.

It was a crowd out for a good time, and they had it. Cheerfulness and good-fellowship reigned supreme, and were partaken in by every one alike,—student, alumnus and professor—and it was a most fitting close to the many occasions, both social and educational, in which the Tech students have been engaged for the past five days.

Transcript June 8-01

Only three more weeks, and the sixteenth season of the "Pops" concerts will be a thing of the past. Conductor Strube gains in popular approval with every appearance, and his success as a composer goes hand in hand with his ability as a leader. The special nights in order are "Wagner night," Thursday, June 13; "Harvard night," Tuesday, June 18; "bank officers' night," Thursday, June 20; "request night," Friday, June 21, and "graduates' night," Monday, June 24. The programme for Monday night is as follows: "United States Volunteers March," Strube; overture, "La Dame Blanche," Boieldieu; waltz, "Ins Centrum," Strauss; selection, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Martha," Flotow; Hungarian dances Nos. 3 and 1, Brahms; Norwegian rhapsody, Svendsen (first time); war march from "Rienzi," Wagner; finale, "Ariele," Bach; (a) Serenade, (b) Waltz, Bennett; polka, "Sängerluft," Strauss; march, "Gruss in die Ferne," Döring.

Wednesday night at the Pops there was another fine gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson came in from Lincoln and brought a table party. Mrs. Higginson was in black with white silk blouse and a large black and white hat, falling low on one side in a fetching way. Mr. S. Hooper Hooper was there with friends, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Goodspeed made a party. Mrs. Sherman wore red and white foulard. Mrs. Goodspeed was very pretty in black and white, with a toque of roses and their foliage.

Navy night at the Pop concert Thursday made naturally one of the red-letter evenings of the week. Admiral Sampson, as the chief guest, was the object of special interest. Every table had its full quota, and the balcony was crowded. The admiral, with his wife, Mrs. Hackett and a large party, arrived from the yard early. Mrs. Sampson was in black organdie, done with white lace and chiffon, and a toque of black tulle. Mrs. Hackett wore a lace gown, with gold and jet embroidery, and a black hat with blue. Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter came in rather late with Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam and Mr. S. Gannett Wells. During the second intermission Mrs. Dexter went to the Sampson table for a chat. She was in black lace, the bodice and sleeves done with silver sequins, and her round, flat hat of yellow straw, with a wreath of yellow roses, was worn down over the eyes. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cunningham had a party at their table. Mrs. Cunningham was handsome in brown and white grenadine, and a straw hat with yellow and black effect. The special feature in the programme was the "Admiral's March," composed by the conductor, Mr. Strube. It was received with great enthusiasm and an encore demanded. Other guests from the navy were Lieutenant-Commander Sutherland, Lieut. Logan, who had with him Mrs. Logan, the daughter of Gov. Allen of Porto Rico, who attracted admiration with her pretty face and charming gown. Commander Arthur Nazro had a party also — Lieutenant-Commander Tracy (retired), Commander William Everett and Commander and Mrs. George H. Kearney. The admiral and the officers were in conventional citizens' dress.

One of the best dressed women at the Pops last night wore a black grenadine gown, a black hat and a collar of pearls.

Post June 3-01

"Pop" Concerts—Where Boston gets 'real devilish.' New home; new Director. Same audience. Same music. Same 'soft stuff' and gossip. No change in ceremony of pointing out Mrs. 'Jack' Gardner to the awestricken stranger. So peculiarly characteristic of an evening at the Boston 'Pop' that I involuntarily jabbed a balcony lounger in the ribs and whispered to him: 'P'raps you'd be glad to see Mrs. "Jack" Gardner? There she is, just coming in with some swell friends. She'll sit at the fourth table. Always reserved for her. That little chap with the funny whiskers is —— * * *' My fellow-lounger crushed me. He said: 'Sir, I have been a regular attendant of these affairs for 15 years.' Still, if I hadn't sprung it on him he'd have performed the ceremony for me'."

Then McDuer switched for a time to things.

Post June 3-01

"The Pops."

Tomorrow night the fifth week of these delightful evenings begins, and Conductor Gustav Strube, one of the first violins of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and a composer of marked ability, assumes the leadership. With the season half over, everybody is most enthusiastic on the adaptability of Symphony Hall to these concerts. Every evening certain selections on the programme are encored most spontaneously, and it is a credit to the intelligence and appreciation of the audiences that these popular favorites are usually some standard selection like the "Hymn to St. Cecilia," the "Lohengrin" music or selections from "Faust."

With the last four weeks special nights will be in order, including "Tech" night on Tuesday evening, June 4, to be followed shortly by "Bank Officers' Association," "Harvard night," "Naval night," at which Admiral and Mrs. Sampson, with officers from the navy yard, will be the guests of the management, "Harvard graduates' night" and others. Mr. Strube has selected the following programme for his opening concert tomorrow evening:

Coronation March .....Meyerbeer
Overture, "Masaniello" .....Auber
Waltz, "Acceleration" .....Strauss
Selection, "Freischuetz" .....Weber
(First time.)
Overture, "Sakuntala" .....Goldmark
Serenade, "Good-by" .....Strube
(First time.)
Trumpet Obligato, Mr. Karl Kloepfel.
Bacchanale, from "Samson and Delila" Saint-Saens
Introduction to Act III. and dance of apprentices, from "The Meistersingers of Nuremberg" .....Wagner
Selection, "Burgomaster" .....Luders
Two Spanish dances .....Moszkowski
Waltz, "Amour et Printemps" ..Waldteufel
March, "Wien bleibt Wien" ....Schrammel

June 4-01

Tech Night at the "Pops."

This evening will be "Tech" night in Symphony hall, and conductor Strube's program will be as follows: March, "King Karl," Unrath; "Artist's Life," waltz, Strauss; "Semiramide," overture, Rossini; selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; introduction act 3, "Lohengrin," Wagner; "Narcissus," Nevin; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; Tech production 1901, "Grand Duke"; "Tannhauser" overture, Wagner; Erwacheff des Loewen, Kontski; Cossack's ride, Mihoecker; Hobson's Choice march, Strube.

As the Pop season, now on its second half, begins to wane, these delightful concerts at Symphony Hall grow more and more crowded and enthusiastic. Special nights are unusually brilliant, and "Naval" night, this evening, with Admiral Sampson and the leading officers at the Navy Yard in attendance, bids fair to break all records. Conductor Strube has composed for the occasion the "Admiral's March," and there will be other appropriate music.

The "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall continue to attract large and fashionable audiences. Several "special" nights are announced at early dates.

Every special night at the "Pop" concerts, now on their last half, has been a brilliant success, and the presence of Admiral Sampson and the principal officers in our navy yard tonight will surely make "Naval Night" another red letter event. Conductor Strube has composed for the occasion the "Admiral's March," dedicated to Admiral Sampson, and there will be other music appropriate to the occasion.

An excellent program tonight will close the first week of Mr Strube's directorship at the Symphony hall promenade concerts.

The Pop Concerts

The artistic decoration of Symphony Hall and the perfect system of ventilation in service there never made a stronger appeal than during the hot June days. With no end of pretty girls in handsome costumes, smart looking youths and dignified business and professional men scattered about at the tables, the scene is well worth looking upon; and to this add music of varied and fascinating quality played as only Symphony players can play. The Pop Concert season is drawing to an end, and it behooves all who have not attended them to go at least once to see what they are like.

At the Pop concert Monday evening Prof. and Mrs. Sargent arrived late. Mr. and Mrs. Lowell and Miss Mary Sargent came about the same time. Others there were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Prince, with a large party, Mrs. Thos. P. Lovell, Harry Torrey and friends, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Keith and Mr. Albee, Dr. Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Russell and Mr. Wheeler.

Malden Mirror June 8-01

The orchestra at the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall, Boston, will next Monday evening play two string pieces composed by Mr. Milan F. Bennett, of this city. Later on it is possible that two arrangements of Grieg piano pieces, by Mr. Bennett, will be played.

Globe June 9-01

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Five weeks gone and three to finish the "Pop" concerts, is the story of the 16th season, and the most successful one for many years. Everybody concedes the superiority of Symphony hall over any former audience room, and with as complete an orchestra as can be found, something to eat and drink, a good cigar and congenial company, no wonder the attendance is excellent. The special nights in order are: Wagner night, Thursday, June 13; Harvard night, Tuesday, June 18; bank officers' night, Thursday, June 20; request night, Friday, June 21, and graduates' night, Monday, June 24.

The program for tomorrow evening is as follows:

U S Volunteers' march.....Strube
Overture, La Dame Blanche.....Boieldieu
Waltz, Ins Centrum.....Strauss
Selection, Faust.....Gounod
Overture, Martha.....Flotow
Hungarian dances, Nos. 3 and 1.....Brahms
Norwegian Rhapsody.....Svendsen
(First time.)
War March, from Rienzi.....Wagner
Finale, "Ariele".....Bach
Serenade.....Bennett
Waltz.....Bennett
Polka, "Sangerlust".....Strauss
March, Gruss in die Ferne.....Doring

—The Pop concerts have shared honors the past week with the flower show across the way at the new Horticultural hall, and it has seemed the most natural thing in the world for visitors to take in both attractions the same evening. Early in the week one evening Mr and Mrs Gericke and Mrs Gordon Dexter, with other friends, occupied one of the tables, Mrs Gericke wearing a lovely gown of cream veiling over pink silk, and toque of the two shades. At another table were Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell, Mrs Lowell in violet liberty silk and large white plumed hat; Mr and Mrs Amory Lawrence, the latter in a combination of black and white with a touch of blue, and white lace at the bodice; over this costume she wore a long black taffeta coat, with revers of Irish lace; Miss Edith Lawrence, Mrs F. L. Ames and Miss Mary Ames, the latter in blue crepe de chene; Prof and Mrs Charles S. Sargent, Miss Sargent, Mr and Mrs Harry Fay, Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, the latter in gray crepe de chene; Dr Frederic L. Jack and hundreds more. The programs for the coming week contain many novelties, and as the concerts will be given but three weeks more, there will inevitably be a rush of those who have put off going for one reason or another.

Journal June 9-01

THE POPS.

Only three weeks more of these seasonable pleasures, and the 16th season will be a thing of the past. Conductor Strube gains in popular approval with every appearance and his success as a composer goes hand in hand with his ability as leader. The special nights in order are "Wagner Night," Thursday, June 13; "Harvard Night," Tuesday, June 18; "Bank Officers Night," Thursday, June 20; "Request Night," Friday, June 21; and "Graduates Night," Monday, June 24. The program for tomorrow will be as follows:

U. S. Volunteers' March.....Strube
Overture, "La Dame Blanche".....Boieldieu
Waltz, "Ins Centrum".....Strauss
Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
Hungarian Dances, Nos. 3 and 1.....Brahms
Norwegian Rhapsody.....Svendsen
(First time.)
War March, from "Rienzi".....Wagner
Finale, "Ariele".....Bach
Serenade.....Bennett
Waltz.....Bennett
Polka, "Sangerlust".....Strauss
March, "Gruss in die Ferne".....Doering

Madame Flower, who has been styled the "bronze Melba," will be the principal artist to appear at the sacred concert to be given at the Crescent Gardens, Revere Beach, next Sunday.

Herald June 11-01

THE POP CONCERT.

Nothing succeeds like success, and this adage has more than proved true in the case of the promenade concerts, or the "Pops," in their new quarters at Symphony Hall. The superb orchestra, the light music, the large attendance and the handsome auditorium make an "altogether" unsurpassed in the field of summer amusements. The programme for this evening is:

1. March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral
2. Overture, "A Night in Granada"..Kreutzer
3. Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
4. Selection, "The Fortune-Teller"...Herbert
5. Jubel overture.....Weber
6. (a) "Solvejg's Song".....Grieg
(b) Norwegian dance.....Grieg
7. Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
8. Finale, act one, "Lohengrin".....Wagner
9. Selection, "The Burgomaster".....Luders
10. Two movements from "Sylvia," ballet music.....Delibes
11. Waltz, "Gypsy Baron".....Milloecker
12. March, "King Karl".....Unrate

Globe June 11-01

Promenade Concerts.

The sixth week of the "Pop" concerts began in Symphony hall last evening, and Mr Strube's selections were received with the usual tributes of appreciation from his numerous auditors. Next Thursday will be Wagner night and Tuesday, June 18, is set apart for "Harvard" night.

This evening's program will be as follows: March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; overture, "A Night in Granada," Kreutzer; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; selection, "The Fortune-teller," Herbert; Jubel overture, Weber; (a) Solvejg's song, Grieg; (b) Norwegian dance, Grieg; entr'acte gavotte, Gillet; finale, act I, "Lohengrin," Wagner; selection, "The Burgomaster," Luders; two movements from "Sylvia," ballet music, Delibes; waltz, "Gypsy Baron," Milloecker; march, "King Karl," Unrate.

Journal June 11-01

THE POPS.

The last three weeks of the 16th season of these fixtures in the summer amusements of Boston will be if possible more brilliant than any of their predecessors. Each week is crowded with special nights to suit all tastes. The program for tonight is as follows:

March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral
Overture, "A Night in Granada"....Kreutzer
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Selection, "The Fortune-teller.....Herbert
Jubel overture.....Weber
a. Solvejg's Song.....Grieg
b. Norwegian Dance.....Grieg
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Finale, Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Selection, "The Burgomaster"—.....—Lüders
Two movements from "Sylvia," Ballet Music.....Delibes
Waltz, "Gypsy Baron".....Milloecker
March, "King Karl".....Unrate

Post June 11-01

The Pops.

The last three weeks of the sixteenth season of these fixtures in the summer amusements of Boston will be, if possible, more brilliant than any of their predecessors. Each week is crowded with special nights to suit all tastes. The programme for tonight follows:

March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral
Overture, "A Night in Granada".....Kreutzer
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Selection, "The Fortune Teller".....Herbert
Jubel overture.....Weber
(a) Solvejg's Song.....Greig
(b) Norwegian dance.....Greig
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Finale, Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Selection, "The Burgomaster".....Luders
Two movements from "Sylvia" ballet music.....Delibes
Waltz, "Gypsy Baron".....Milloecker
March, "King Karl".....Unrate

Record June 11-01

THE POPS.

The last three weeks of the 16th season of these fixtures in the summer amusements of Boston will be, if possible, more brilliant than any of their predecessors. Each week is crowded with special nights to suit all tastes. The programme for tonight is:—

March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; overture, "A Night in Granada," Kreutzer; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; selection, "The Fortune Teller," Herbert; Jubel overture, Weber; (a) Solvejg's Song, Greig; (b) Norwegian dance, Greig; Entr'acte Gavotte, Gillet finale, Act I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; selection, "The Burgomaster," Luders; two movements from "Sylvia" ballet music, Delibes; waltz, "Gypsy Baron," Milloecker; march, "King Karl," Unrate.

Globe June 15-01

—The popularity of the Pop concerts seems to increase as the time for closing draws nearer, and all the week the audiences have been large and most enthusiastic over the beautiful music. On Thursday evening Mrs John L. Gardner attended for the first time this season. She came with a party composed of Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam and three others, six in all, occupying one table. Mrs Putnam, as is her custom, was exquisitely dressed in black net, with insertions of cream lace in both bodice and skirt. Her chiffon boa was of white edged with black and her hat was also a combination of black and white chiffon. Mrs Gardner was in black liberty silk with black hat. Others there were Prof James Mills Pierce of Harvard university, with some young friends; Mr and Mrs H. C. Thacher, the latter in black, with chantilly lace and white chiffon at the bodice, and hat with pink roses; Mrs Leopold Morse, with young friends from California, and Godfrey Morse, Mrs Morse wearing pale gray satin and toque of gray with roses; Mr Stephen Townsend, Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell and Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, who brought several friends with them. Mrs Horton was in a black and white polka dotted India silk, with white lace hat adorned with blue wings. One of the young ladies with her wore black net, the bodice pailletted with jet, and black tulle and chiffon hat. The second young lady wore black, with a violet straw hat, trimmed with a large bunch of violets. There will be special attractions the coming week, Tuesday evening being set apart as Harvard night, and Thursday bank officers' night.

Journal June 15-01

THE POPS.

The coming week will be a lively one at Symphony Hall, with the usual holiday crowd tomorrow night (Monday) and Tuesday which is Harvard Night, another crowd on Thursday, which is Bank Officers' Night, and Friday set apart as Request Night. On Monday evening, June 24, practically the entire house will be occupied by graduates of Harvard, headed by three members from the class of 1841. The program in full for tomorrow night is as follows:

Wedding March.....Mendelssohn
Overture, "Euryanthe".....Weber
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai".....Strauss
Selection, "Trovatore".....Verdi
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden".....Grossman
Kaiser Variations.....Haydn
Polonaise.....Chopin
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Traumbilder.....Lumbye
Zither solo, Mr. Karl Keller.
Mazourka, "Libelle".....Strauss
March, "Puppenfee".....Bayer

Courier June 15-01

—At the Pop concert, Wednesday evening, Mr. Francis Skinner and his recent bride were by far the most interesting people present. Mrs. Skinner was attired in a pretty gown of light blue silk mulle, applique with horizontal bands of ecru insertion, and a large black hat and black boa. Others present that evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jean Paul Selinger, Mrs. Selinger wearing a frock of cream muslin, flowered, and trimmed with black and white chiffon, with turquoise ornaments, and large white and black hat, Mr. C. H. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, with Miss Mildred Williams, who was in violet foulard, with black hat; Miss Wales and party, Mr. A. A. Glazier, Mrs. J. Foster Bush and Miss Ella Bush, who made two of a large party, Mr. Herbert Creighton, Mrs. William W. Winslow, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax, with Miss Marion Fairfax and Miss Eleanor Fairfax, and Mrs. George Francis, of Brookline, who was so prominent in last week's tournament at the Country Club. Mrs. Francis had on a white pique skirt, with transparent bodice, and white straw sailor hat trimmed with dotted silk. On Thursday, another large audience assembled to listen to the really excellent program arranged in honor of Wagner night, and throughout the week the attendance was both large and enthusiastic. Probably the banner evening of the season will be Tuesday, when Harvard night will be celebrated. Two days later comes Bank Officers' night, which will call out another large audience. Request night, June 21 and Graduates' night are also occasions of especial prominence in the history of the Pop concerts.

Herald June 16-01

At the Pops, Thursday evening, Wagner night, there was a large audience. Mrs. John L. Gardner, in black silk and gauze with black toque and veil, had a party at one of the front tables. Among her guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam. The latter wore black crepe with medallions of white lace on the bodice and broad white lace insertions on the skirt, a white tulle hat with green foliage, and a white and black chiffon boa. Also at the Gardner table was Miss Ellen Bullard in black lace. Mr. John T. Wheelwright was near by with a party, and so were Dr. and Mrs Charles G. Cumston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Southard and Mr. Charles W. Bartlett. Mrs. George B. Shattuck looking extremely well in black crepe de chine and pearls, and Dr. Shattuck had Mr. Charles R. Sturgis and Mr. Elisha Flagg, 2d, in their party at a centre table. They arrived late. Mr. William H. Conant was there, also Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Lincoln and party, and Mr. Max Zach.

Globe June 16-01

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The coming two weeks will be the last of the "Pop" entertainments in Symphony hall, and the interest which is nightly shown by the large attendance at the tables bids fair to surpass all records in the history of these concerts. Tomorrow there promises to be the usual holiday attendance, and on Tuesday, which is "Harvard" night, a large audience is already assured. Thursday, June 20, the Bank officers' association will be present in large numbers, and Friday, June 21, will be "request" night, when conductor Strube will put on the program many of the selections which the patrons have requested during the season.

The program for tomorrow evening is as follows:

Wedding March.....Mendelssohn
Overture, "Euryanthe".....Weber
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai".....Strauss
Selection, "Trovatore".....Verdi
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden".....Grossman
Kaiser, variations.....Haydn
Polonaise.....Chopin
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Traumbilder.....Lumbye
Zither solo, Mr Karl Keller.
Mazourka, "Libelle".....Strauss
March, "Puppenfee".....Bayer

Post June 16-01

The Pops.

The coming two weeks will be the last of these attractive entertainments, and the popular interest which is nightly shown by the large attendance at the tables bids fair to outstrip all records in the history of these concerts. Tomorrow (Monday) there promises to be the usual holiday attendance, and on Tuesday, which is "Harvard" night, a large audience is already assured. On Thursday, June 20, the Bank Officers' Association will be present in large numbers. Friday, June 21, will be "Request" night, when Conductor Strube will put on the programme many of the selections which the patrons have requested during the season. The programme in full for tomorrow evening is as follows:

Wedding March.....Mendelssohn
Overture, "Euryanthe".....Weber
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai".....Strauss
Selection, "Trovatore".....Verdi
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden".....Grossman
Kaiser variations.....Haydn
Polonaise.....Chopin
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Traumbilder.....Lumbye
Zither solo, Mr. Karl Keller.
Mazourka, "Libelle".....Strauss
March, "Puppenfee".....Bayer

Globe June 20-01

"Bank officers' night" will be observed at the Symphony hall promenade concerts this evening.

Malden Mirror June 8-01

The orchestra at the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall, Boston, will next Monday evening play two string pieces composed by Mr. Milan F. Bennett, of this city. Later on it is possible that two arrangements of Grieg piano pieces, by Mr. Bennett, will be played.

Globe

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Five weeks gone and three to finish the "Pop" concerts, is the story of the 16th season, and the most successful one for many years. Everybody concedes the superiority of Symphony hall over any former audience room, and with as complete an orchestra as can be found, something to eat and drink, a good cigar and congenial company, no wonder the attendance is excellent. The special nights in order are: Wagner night, Thursday, June 13; Harvard night, Tuesday, June 18; bank officers' night, Thursday, June 20; request night, Friday, June 21, and graduates' night, Monday, June 24.

The program for tomorrow evening is as follows:

J S Volunteers' march.....Strube
Overture, La Dame Blanche.....Boieldieu
Waltz, Ins Centrum.....Strauss
Selection, Faust.....Gounod
Overture, Martha.....Flotow
Hungarian dances, Nos. 3 and 1.....Brahms
Norwegian Rhapsody.....Svendsen
(First time.)
War March, from Rienzi.....Wagner
Finale, "Ariele".....Bach
(a) Serenade.....Bennett
(b) Waltz.....Bennett
Polka, Sangerluft.....Strauss
March, Gruss in die Ferne.....Loring

—The Pop concerts have shared honors the past week with the flower show across the way at the new Horticultural hall, and it has seemed the most natural thing in the world for visitors to take in both attractions the same evening. Early in the week one evening Mr and Mrs Gericke and Mrs Gordon Dexter, with other friends, occupied one of the tables, Mrs Gericke wearing a lovely gown of cream veiling over pink silk, and toque of the two shades. At another table were Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell, Mrs Lowell in violet liberty silk and large white plumed hat; Mr and Mrs Amory Lawrence, the latter in a combination of black and white with a touch of blue, and white lace at the bodice; over this costume she wore a long black taffeta coat, with revers of Irish lace: Miss Edith Lawrence, Mrs F. L. Ames and Miss Mary Ames, the latter in blue crepe de chene; Prof and Mrs Charles S. Sargent, Miss Sargent, Mr and Mrs Harry Fay, Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, the latter in gray crepe de chene: Dr Frederic L. Jack and hundreds more. The programs for the coming week contain many novelties, and as the concerts will be given but three weeks more, there will inevitably be a rush of those who have put off going for one reason or another.

Journal

THE POPS.

Only three weeks more of these seasonable pleasures, and the 16th season will be a thing of the past. Conductor Strube gains in popular approval with every appearance and his success as a composer goes hand in hand with his ability as leader. The special nights in order are "Wagner Night," Thursday, June 13; "Harvard Night," Tuesday, June 18; "Bank Officers Night," Thursday, June 20; 'Request Night," Friday, June 21; and "Graduates Night," Monday, June 24. The program for tomorrow will be as follows:

J. S. Volunteers' March.....Strube
Overture, "La Dame Blanche".....Boieldieu
Waltz, "Ins Centrum".....Strauss
Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
Hungarian Dances, Nos. 3 and 1.....Brahms
Norwegian Rhapsody.....Svendsen
(First time.)
War March, from "Rienzi".....Wagner
Finale, "Ariele".....Bach
Serenade.....Bennett
Waltz.....Bennett
Polka, "Sangerluft".....Strauss
March, "Gruss in die Ferne".....Doering

Madame Flower, who has been styled the "bronze Melba," will be the principal artist to appear at the sacred concert to be given at the Crescent Gardens, Revere Beach, next Sunday.

Herald June 11-01

THE POP CONCERT.

Nothing succeeds like success, and this adage has more than proved true in the case of the promenade concerts, or the "Pops," in their new quarters at Symphony Hall. The superb orchestra, the light music, the large attendance and the handsome auditorium make an "altogether" unsurpassed in the field of summer amusements. The programme for this evening is:

1. March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral
2. Overture, "A Night in Granada"..Kreutzer
3. Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
4. Selection, "The Fortune-Teller"...Herbert
5. Jubel overture.....Weber
6. (a) "Solvejg's Song".....Grieg
   (b) Norwegian dance.....Grieg
7. Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
8. Finale, act one, "Lohengrin".....Wagner
9. Selection, "The Burgomaster".....Luders
10. Two movements from "Sylvia," ballet music.....Delibes
11. Waltz, "Gypsy Baron".....Milloecker
12. March, "King Karl".....Unrate

Promenade Concerts.

The sixth week of the "Pop" concerts began in Symphony hall last evening, and Mr Strube's selections were received with the usual tributes of appreciation from his numerous auditors. Next Thursday will be Wagner night and Tuesday, June 18, is set apart for "Harvard" night.

This evening's program will be as follows: March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; overture, "A Night in Granada," Kreutzer; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; selection, "The Fortune-teller," Herbert; Jubel overture, Weber; (a) Solvejg's song, Grieg; (b) Norwegian dance, Grieg; entr'acte gavotte, Gillet; finale, act I, "Lohengrin," Wagner; selection, "The Burgomaster," Luders; two movements from "Sylvia," ballet music, Delibes; waltz, "Gypsy Baron," Milloecker; march, "King Karl," Unrate.

THE POPS.

The last three weeks of the 16th season of these fixtures in the summer amusements of Boston will be if possible more brilliant than any of their predecessors. Each week is crowded with special nights to suit all tastes. The program for tonight is as follows:

March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral
Overture, "A Night in Granada".....Kreutzer
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Selection, "The Fortune-teller.....Herbert
Jubel overture.....Weber
(a) Solvejg's Song.....Grieg
(b) Norwegian Dance.....Grieg
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Finale, Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Selection, "The Burgomaster"—.....—Lüders
Two movements from "Sylvia," Ballet Music.....Delibes
Waltz, "Gypsy Baron".....Milloecker
March, "King Karl".....Unrate

Post

The Pops.

The last three weeks of the sixteenth season of these fixtures in the summer amusements of Boston will be, if possible, more brilliant than any of their predecessors. Each week is crowded with special nights to suit all tastes. The programme for tonight follows:

March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral
Overture, "A Night in Granada".....Kreutzer
Waltz, "Blue Danube".....Strauss
Selection, "The Fortune Teller".....Herbert
Jubel overture.....Weber
(a) Solvejg's Song.....Greig
(b) Norwegian dance.....Greig
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Finale, Act I., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Selection, "The Burgomaster".....Luders
Two movements from "Sylvia" ballet music.....Delibes
Waltz, "Gypsy Baron".....Milloecker
March, "King Karl".....Unrate

THE POPS.

The last three weeks of the 16th season of these fixtures in the summer amusements of Boston will be, if possible, more brilliant than any of their predecessors. Each week is crowded with special nights to suit all tastes. The programme for tonight is:—

March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; overture, "A Night in Granada," Kreutzer; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; selection, "The Fortune Teller," Herbert; Jubel overture, Weber; (a) Solvejg's Song, Greig; (b) Norwegian dance, Greig; Entr'acte Gavotte, Gillet finale, Act I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; selection, "The Burgomaster," Luders; two movements from "Sylvia" ballet music, Delibes; waltz, "Gypsy Baron," Milloecker; march, "King Karl," Unrate.

Globe June 15-01

—The popularity of the Pop concerts seems to increase as the time for closing draws nearer, and all the week the audiences have been large and most enthusiastic over the beautiful music. On Thursday evening Mrs John L. Gardner attended for the first time this season. She came with a party composed of Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam and three others, six in all, occupying one table. Mrs Putnam, as is her custom, was exquisitely dressed in black net, with insertions of cream lace in both bodice and skirt. Her chiffon boa was of white edged with black and her hat was also a combination of black and white chiffon. Mrs Gardner was in black liberty silk with black hat. Others there were Prof James Mills Pierce of Harvard university, with some young friends; Mr and Mrs H. C. Thacher, the latter in black, with chantilly lace and white chiffon at the bodice, and hat with pink roses; Mrs Leopold Morse, with young friends from California, and Godfrey Morse, Mrs Morse wearing pale gray satin and toque of gray with roses; Mr Stephen Townsend, Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell and Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, who brought several friends with them. Mrs Horton was in a black and white polka dotted India silk, with white lace hat adorned with blue wings. One of the young ladies with her wore black net, the bodice pailletted with jet, and black tulle and chiffon hat. The second young lady wore black, with a violet straw hat, trimmed with a large bunch of violets. There will be special attractions the coming week, Tuesday evening being set apart as Harvard night, and Thursday bank officers' night.

THE POPS.

The coming week will be a lively one at Symphony Hall, with the usual holiday crowd tomorrow night (Monday) and Tuesday which is Harvard Night, another crowd on Thursday, which is Bank Officers' Night, and Friday set apart as Request Night. On Monday evening, June 24, practically the entire house will be occupied by graduates of Harvard, headed by three members from the class of 1841. The program in full for tomorrow night is as follows:

Wedding March.....Mendelssohn
Overture, "Euryanthe".....Weber
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai".....Strauss
Selection,. "Trovatore".....Verdi
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden"....Grossman
Kaiser Variations.....Haydn
Polonaise.....Chopin
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Traumbilder.....Lumbye
Zither solo, Mr. Karl Keller.
Mazourka, "Libelle".....Strauss
March, "Puppenfee".....Bayer

——At the Pop concert, Wednesday evening, Mr. Francis Skinner and his recent bride were by far the most interesting people present. Mrs. Skinner was attired in a pretty gown of light blue silk mulle, applique with horizontal bands of ecru insertion, and a large black hat and black boa. Others present that evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jean Paul Selinger, Mrs. Selinger wearing a frock of cream muslin, flowered, and trimmed with black and white chiffon, with turquoise ornaments, and large white and black hat, Mr. C. H. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, with Miss Mildred Williams, who was in violet foulard, with black hat; Miss Wales and party, Mr. A. A. Glazier, Mrs. J. Foster Bush and Miss Ella Bush, who made two of a large party, Mr. Herbert Creighton, Mrs. William W. Winslow, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax, with Miss Marion Fairfax and Miss Eleanor Fairfax, and Mrs. George Francis, of Brookline, who was so prominent in last week's tournament at the Country Club. Mrs. Francis had on a white pique skirt, with transparent bodice, and white straw sailor hat trimmed with dotted silk. On Thursday, another large audience assembled to listen to the really excellent program arranged in honor of Wagner night, and throughout the week the attendance was both large and enthusiastic. Probably the banner evening of the season will be Tuesday, when Harvard night will be celebrated. Two days later comes Bank Officers' night, which will call out another large audience. Request night, June 21 and Graduates' night are also occasions of especial prominence in the history of the Pop concerts.

Herald June 16-01

At the Pops, Thursday evening, Wagner night, there was a large audience. Mrs. John L. Gardner, in black silk and gauze with black toque and veil, had a party at one of the front tables. Among her guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam. The latter wore black crepe with medallions of white lace on the bodice and broad white lace insertions on the skirt, a white tulle hat with green foliage, and a white and black chiffon boa. Also at the Gardner table was Miss Ellen Bullard in black lace. Mr. John T. Wheelwright was near by with a party, and so were Dr. and Mrs Charles G. Cumston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Southard and Mr. Charles W. Bartlett. Mrs. George B. Shattuck looking extremely well in black crepe de chine and pearls, and Dr. Shattuck had Mr. Charles R. Sturgis and Mr. Elisha Flagg, 2d, in their party at a centre table. They arrived late. Mr. William H. Conant was there, also Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Lincoln and party, and Mr. Max Zach.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The coming two weeks will be the last of the "Pop" entertainments in Symphony hall, and the interest which is nightly shown by the large attendance at the tables bids fair to surpass all records in the history of these concerts. Tomorrow there promises to be the usual holiday attendance, and on Tuesday, which is "Harvard" night, a large audience is already assured. Thursday, June 20, the Bank officers' association will be present in large numbers, and Friday, June 21, will be "request" night, when conductor Strube will put on the program many of the selections which the patrons have requested during the season.

The program for tomorrow evening is as follows:

Wedding March.....Mendelssohn
Overture, "Euryanthe".....Weber
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai".....Strauss
Selection, "Trovatore".....Verdi
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden".Grossman
Kaiser, variations.....Haydn
Polonaise.....Chopin
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Traumbilder.....Lumbye
Zither solo, Mr Karl Keller.
Mazourka, "Libelle".....Strauss
March, "Puppenfee".....Bayer

The Pops.

The coming two weeks will be the last of these attractive entertainments, and the popular interest which is nightly shown by the large attendance at the tables bids fair to outstrip all records in the history of these concerts. Tomorrow (Monday) there promises to be the usual holiday attendance, and on Tuesday, which is "Harvard" night, a large audience is already assured. On Thursday, June 20, the Bank Officers' Association will be present in large numbers. Friday, June 21, will be "Request" night, when Conductor Strube will put on the programme many of the selections which the patrons have requested during the season. The programme in full for tomorrow evening is as follows:

Wedding March ..... Mendelssohn
Overture, "Euryanthe" ..... Weber
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai" ..... Strauss
Selection, "Trovatore" ..... Verdi
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" ..... Grossman
Kaiser variations ..... Haydn
Polonaise ..... Chopin
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys" ..... Lalo
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
Traumbilder ..... Lumbye
Zither solo, Mr. Karl Keller.
Mazourka, "Libelle" ..... Strauss
March, "Puppenfee" ..... Bayer

"Bank officers' night" will be observed at the Symphony hall promenade concerts this evening.

[63]

Brockton Enterprise June 21-01

CRIMSON HUE

Given to "Pop" Concert by Jubilant Collegians.

Boston, June 21.—It was supposed to be bank officers' night at the "Pop" concert in Music Hall last evening but hundreds of Harvard men turned the evening into a crimson jollification to celebrate the victory over Yale on the ball field yesterday afternoon.

The Symphony orchestra, which provides these summer concerts, was called upon for college songs. There were loud and repeated demands for "Up the Street," the Harvard march, but it was not forthcoming, "Fair Harvard" being rendered instead. "Fair Harvard" is the signal for every man to rise and every one was on his feet.

But "Up the Street" came later, and was a signal for a merry war dance of wet glassware on the tables in the hall. Straw hats flew and canes were whirled, while Harvard yelled. Even a foot ball victory never brought out greater enthusiasm.

Transcript June 22-01

The closing nights of the "Pop" concerts are now at hand, as the season ends with the performances of the coming week. Monday evening will be "graduates' night" and every seat on the floor has been reserved and sold to the graduates of Harvard. Conductor Strube has arranged some very attractive programmes for these last concerts, as will be seen by the following for this evening, which is a sample: March, "Black Bess," Strube; overture, "Si j'étais Rio," Adam; Kaiser waltz, Strauss; selection, "Traviata," Verdi; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; procession of the women, from "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz, "Die Fledermaus," Strauss; Slavic march, Tschaikowsky; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; "Forget Me Not," Macbeth; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Teufel," Suppé.

Gazette June 22-01

Symphony Hall was crowded to the doors on Harvard night, and was resplendent with crimson banners, its first decoration since the opening of the Pops. The trimmings did not stay in place very long, but were appropriated, during the course of the evening, by the souvenir hunters in the balconies, much to the disgust of the students on the floor, who stamped and hissed in vain.

—Mrs. "Jack" Gardner has renewed her allegiance to the Pops, making her first appearance since the death of her husband one night last week. The usual number of callow professional youths were in her train, and she also had "Jimmie" Lowell Putnam and his wife, who is Moncure Robinson's sister. Such devotion as these Putnam's show to the Pops! They have hardly missed a night either as Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter's guests or Mrs. Gardner's.—Town Topics.

—The "Pops," on Tuesday, Harvard night, presented a very popular programme. Among the numbers were many from the newest light opera, which gave the students a chance to help out the orchestra by whistling and singing. A selection of patriotic airs with the "Star Spangled Banner" introduced, brought the whole company to its feet to join in the chorus. The concert ended as usual with "Fair Harvard," and "Up the Street."

Beacon June 22-01

The Pops

The Pops last only a week more. Those who have not been to Symphony Hall during the Pop season have missed an experience which they should hasten to avail themselves of; and those who have been need no urging to go again. The music at the Pops has been unusually good this year, and that is saying a great deal, and the audiences have been so thoroughly cosmopolitan as to seem almost unbostonian.

Courier June 22-01

—The Harvard seniors have been having a happy week of it, and the festivities are not yet ended. Tomorrow, Harvard graduates' night will be observed at the Pop concert, and on the following day the men are to make a trip down the harbor. The class dinner, to be given at the Exchange Club, on the evening of Commencement Day, Wednesday, will be a fitting climax to the round of gaities which have followed the hard study. Mr. Winthrop Ames, Mr. Thorndike Spalding and Mr. James Purdon are the class committee.

Herald June 23-01

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

Closing Week of "Pop" Concerts in Symphony Hall.

Tomorrow Evening the Entire Floor Has Been Reserved for Harvard Men, as It Is Graduates' Night—The Programme—New Musical Publications—Notes.

EVERYTHING must have an end, and the coming week will finish the 16th season of the Pops. The week begins with what will prove beyond a doubt the most successful concert in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening is "Graduates' night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of 23 classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as 60 from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891 and 200 from the class of 1898. The programme follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!"....Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry"....Suppe
Waltz, "Estudiantina"....Waldteufel
Selection, "Florodora"....Stuart
Selection, "The Viking"....Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter"....Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster"....Suders
American fantasy....Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem"....Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students"....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street"....Morse

It was a great night at the Pops on Tuesday, as the evening was given over to the Harvard boys, and there was a genuine college atmosphere, with the accompanying jolly din. There were, however, a larger number of smart people outside the university crowd than usual. Mrs. George B. Shattuck had a table party. She was in black, with a black hat done with white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson brought seven guests. Mrs. Higginson was girlish and smart in black and white and a large black and white hat. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moseley and Miss Moseley were there; Mrs. Moseley, in black and white foulard and lace hat; also Dr. J. Foster Bush, Mrs. Bush and party; Miss Gertrude Miller, in white crepe with a rosebud hat worn off the face; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hecht, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Upham, Miss Annie Richards, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. M. Tower, Mr. Edward A. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Somers. Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes brought a party of eight. Mrs. Noyes wore a smart gown of cream colored silk and lace and a black and white tulle hat. Mrs. W. J. Riley, the wife of the State street banker, was at the Noyes table in a charming gown of purple and white polka dotted foulard with white lace and chiffon. Mrs. F. R. Comee had a party of friends at her husband's table. She wore a white and gold embroidered crepe gown and a large black hat with white plumes. Mme. de Angelis was the centre of a table of young people. She was in black and white striped silk, with diamonds, and a black hat. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Niccolls and Mr. F. G. Merrill, Mr. N. C. Weeks, Capt. and Mrs. Aline, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Osgood were also there. The hall was hung with red crepe paper banners printed in black ink, which soon disappeared from the balcony and floated, confetti like, over and around the heads of the Harvard boys. For tomorrow the Harvard graduates have bought up the whole of the house, and there will be a big demonstration.

Budget June 23-01

Harvard Night at the Pops was less exciting than usual; another illustration of the fact that when young men go out to celebrate they should not take their pretty cousins.

Globe June 23-01

LAST WEEK OF THE "POPS."

This week's concerts in Symphony hall will finish the 16th season of the "Pops." The week will begin with what should prove the most successful in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening will be "Graduates' night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of 23 classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as 60 from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891, and 200 from the class of 1898. The program will be as follows:

March, Hail to the Crimson....Henry '86
Overture, Light Cavalry....Suppe
Waltz, Estudiantina....Waldteufel
Selection, Florodora....Stuart
Selection, The Viking....Loud
Waltz, Grubenlichter....Zeller
Selection, The Burgomaster....Suders
American fantasy....Herbert
Selection, Prince Pro Tem....Thompson
Waltz, Jolly Students....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, Up the Street....Morse

—The old adage of blessings brightening as they take their flight has had ample illustration the past week at Symphony hall, when crowded houses have been the rule at the Pop concerts, everyone seeming to realize that the coming week will be the last. Tuesday evening, "Harvard night," brought a crowd of Harvard students and their young girl friends, whose lovely summer costumes of every hue and shade, with their becoming hats, many of them laden with roses, made a brilliant bit of coloring, more noticeable than at any previous evening during the season. The hall seemed a veritable flower garden, and then an added bit of brilliant color which hightened the effect was the crimson banners which were hung from the balcony railings, and were the inspiration of Mr Comee, who, being himself a Harvard man, enters most fully into the spirit of such occasions. There was, as usual, appropriate music, songs by the glee club, and the utmost enthusiasm when the audience rose en masse and joined in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Fair Harvard." The audience retired in the happiest mood to the music of "Up the Street."

—Tomorrow evening will be Harvard graduates' night at the Pop concert, when it is expected there will be at least 1300 graduates present, the whole floor being given up to them, while the ladies accompanying them will have seats in the balconies. Three members of the class of '41, including Mr Keyes of Concord, have signified their intention of being present, and it will undoubtedly be the most interesting evening in the whole series of concerts.

Journal June 23-01

THE "POPS."

Everything must have an end, even our pleasures, and the coming week will finish the sixteenth season of the "Pops." The week begins with what will prove beyond a doubt the most successful in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening is "Graduates' Night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of 23 classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as 60 from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891 and 200 from the class of 1898. The program follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!"....Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry"....Suppe
Waltz, "Estudiantina"....Waldteufel
Selection, "Florodora"....Stuart
Selection, "The Viking"....Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter"....Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster"....Luders
American Fantasy....Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem"....Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students"....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street"....Morse

Post June 23-01

Harvard night at the Pops, which marked the banner occasion of the season, proved fully as successful an event as in former years, which is saying much. The customary crimson decorations and enthusiasm prevailed, and every seat and table was engaged far in advance. Some of those there were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson and party, which included the latter's sister, Mrs. James A. Garland. Both ladies were in black, Mrs. Higginson wearing a large picture hat. Mme. De Angelis had a number of people with her, among whom Miss Pierson, in flowered organdie and a large black hat, was especially noticeable. Miss Susanne Risteen, who was with her parents, was looking extremely well in soft gray veiling, the bodice a froth of spangled lace. Mrs. C. F. Goodhue and Miss Goodhue of Brookline, with several friends, were noted in the throng, Miss Goodhue selecting for her toilette on this occasion a very pretty frock of gray, with yoke and sleeves of pale violet. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Osgood of Elm Hill had with them Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Upham of the Ilkley. Mrs. Osgood was in cafe-au-lait veiling, and Mrs. Upham in black, with white revers, and a pretty toque trimmed with pink roses. Mrs. Frederick R. Comee, in cream cloth, with big black hat, was, as usual, a picturesque figure. Others present were Dr. and Mrs. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Dimock of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jewett Page, Mr. and Mrs. James Stack and son, Captain William H. Allen of the Cadets and

Globe June 25-01

[illegible] THE HALL.

Harvard Men Rule the Pop Concert.

Graduates Try to Outdo Each Other in Cheering.

Every Lull is Filled Full of Noises.

Class of '98 Gets the Best of the Contest.

Several Hundred Toy Balloons Used with Effect.

If you meet a Harvard graduate today and he salutes you in a whisper or in a voice that seems to issue from his boots, you may safely conclude that he was one of several thousand howling, yelling, bellowing actors that took part in a comic opera entitled "Graduates' Night," enacted last night at the Pop concert in Symphony hall. There have been times something like it in the past, but nothing that equalled or eclipsed it.

Yelling for Harvard and for her several classes was the order of the evening. On the floor 200 members of the class of '98 were the magnets which drew all the other classes to them. Next in volume of vocal power came '99, a close third was the class of '91, and then came the other classes, '97, '96, '95, '94, '93, '89, '88, '87, '86, '84, '83, '81, '75 and '41.

This latter class was represented by one member only, Mr Keyes of Concord, more than 80 years of age, who, however, when escorted by some of the recent graduates, marched down the aisle with a banner of flaming crimson with the figures '41 upon it. Other classes which have not been mentioned were represented, but did not announce themselves to the world as frequently as did the members of the class of 1898.

To celebrate the occasion the entire main floor was reserved for Harvard graduates, the women and interested spectators being given the galleries. The evening was one of pandemonium, and the scenes on the floor were not unlike those of a stock exchange when it has been seized with a panic.

To the credit of the vast assemblage of young men it can be said that it was innocent. At one time it did look as if two or three of the most intrepid leaders, who had mounted the stage and were followed by a crowd, might lose a good share of their clothing, but a few warning hisses from the galleries stopped what promised to be carrying a joke too far.

The great feature of the evening was furnished by several hundred red toy balloons. The class of '98 had a bunch of several hundred, all tied together and surmounted by one big balloon. This they tied to a string and it floated halfway up to the ceiling, with a crimson banner and the figures "98" displayed to all.

In addition each member of that class had two or three balloons—one to let loose to go to the lofty ceiling and the others to play with on the end of a string. Before the evening ended there were 400 or more balloons, including the big bunch with the '98 legend on it, snugly hugging the ceiling.

The management has a problem on its hands in how to get them down.

Another favorite use to make of the balloon was to send it half way up to the ceiling and then explode it with a lighted fuse.

The '91 adherents had green balloons and these were put to much the same use as the red ones. The rivalry between these two classes was conspicuous throughout the evening, but along toward the last someone tied a red and a green balloon together and sent them aloft amid great applause.

The cheering was simply deafening all the evening. The musical numbers were well rendered and were appreciated, but when a yell came it was seized as another good chance to yell for '89 or '94, or the you-can't-lose-me-if-you-try '98.

Someone devised a Y to represent Yale and sent that up on a balloon and the point was not lost on the big crowd.

The audience, by the way, completely filled every possible nook and corner of Symphony hall. It was composed of the mothers, wives and sweethearts of the howling mob that raised a gentlemanly chaos all the evening.

The Harvard yell was given for the crew and for the baseball team, and the classes toasted each other in their own yell and then [illegible] name of some [illegible]

When the concert began the balconies were decorated with crimson banners marked "H., Pops, 1901," but in the twinkling of an eye every souvenir hunter turned vandal and, presto, all were stolen or "swiped" in true Harvard fashion.

The audience had a chance to try its luck in catching a few balloons that settled near the galleries, and in the scrimmages many fair hands united were raised to win the coveted trophies.

The program of the evening was with many Harvard favorites, follows:

(a) March, Cruiser Harvard....Strauss
(b) March, Hail to the Crimson....Henry
Overture, Light Cavalry....Suppe
Waltz, Estudiantina....Waldteufel
Selection, Florodora....Stuart
Selection, The Viking....Loud
Waltz, Grubenlichter....Zeller
Selection, The Burgomaster....Luders
American Fantasy....Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem"....Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students"....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street"....Morse

[illegible] could not hear the music, [illegible] execute [illegible] dare to execute them. The [illegible] reigned all the evening, for the men took off their coats and vests, piled their hats three feet high on the tables and did the lock-step around the hall in visiting delegations.

There was singing all the time, but it was all impromptu and consisted of "Glory, Glory for the Crimson," or some other equally well-known refrain.

At the close of the second intermission, 200 or more of the younger graduates took possession of the stage, and then came a struggle to see what class could hold its banner the highest. The class of '99 took the palm in this contest by boosting two of its agile members into a niche prepared for a statue that seemed utterly beyond reach.

All things were possible last night, and a kind and indulgent management did not object to the whims of the crowd.

[64]

Brockton Enterprise June 21-01

CRIMSON HUE

Given to "Pop" Concert by Jubilant Collegians.

Boston, June 21.—It was supposed to be bank officers' night at the "Pop" concert in Music Hall last evening but hundreds of Harvard men turned the evening into a crimson jollification to celebrate the victory over Yale on the ball field yesterday afternoon.

The Symphony orchestra, which provides these summer concerts, was called upon for college songs. There were loud and repeated demands for "Up the Street," the Harvard march, but it was not forthcoming, "Fair Harvard" being rendered instead. "Fair Harvard" is the signal for every man to rise and every one was on his feet.

But "Up the Street" came later, and was a signal for a merry war dance of wet glassware on the tables in the hall. Straw hats flew and canes were whirled, while Harvard yelled. Even a foot ball victory never brought out greater enthusiasm.

The closing nights of the "Pop" concerts are now at hand, as the season ends with the performances of the coming week. Monday evening will be "graduates' night" and every seat on the floor has been reserved and sold to the graduates of Harvard. Conductor Strube has arranged some very attractive programmes for these last concerts, as will be seen by the following for this evening, which is a sample: March, "Black Bess," Strube; overture, "Si j'étais Rio," Adam; Kaiser waltz, Strauss; selection, "Traviata," Verdi; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; procession of the women, from "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz, "Die Fledermaus," Strauss; Slavic march, Tschaikowsky; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; "Forget Me Not," Macbeth; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Teufel," Suppé.

Symphony Hall was crowded to the doors on Harvard night, and was resplendent with crimson banners, its first decoration since the opening of the Pops. The trimmings did not stay in place very long, but were appropriated, during the course of the evening, by the souvenir hunters in the balconies, much to the disgust of the students on the floor, who stamped and hissed in vain.

—Mrs. "Jack" Gardner has renewed her allegiance to the Pops, making her first appearance since the death of her husband one night last week. The usual number of callow professional youths were in her train, and she also had "Jimmie" Lowell Putnam and his wife, who is Moncure Robinson's sister. Such devotion as these Putnam's show to the Pops! They have hardly missed a night either as Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter's guests or Mrs. Gardner's.—Town Topics.

—The "Pops," on Tuesday, Harvard night, presented a very popular programme. Among the numbers were many from the newest light opera, which gave the students a chance to help out the orchestra by whistling and singing. A selection of patriotic airs with the "Star Spangled Banner" introduced, brought the whole company to its feet to join in the chorus. The concert ended as usual with "Fair Harvard," and "Up the Street."

The Pops

The Pops last only a week more. Those who have not been to Symphony Hall during the Pop season have missed an experience which they should hasten to avail themselves of; and those who have been need no urging to go again. The music at the Pops has been unusually good this year, and that is saying a great deal, and the audiences have been so thoroughly cosmopolitan as to seem almost unbostonian.

Courier June 22-01

—The Harvard seniors have been having a happy week of it, and the festivities are not yet ended. Tomorrow, Harvard graduates' night will be observed at the Pop concert, and on the following day the men are to make a trip down the harbor. The class dinner, to be given at the Exchange Club, on the evening of Commencement Day, Wednesday, will be a fitting climax to the round of gaities which have followed the hard study. Mr. Winthrop Ames, Mr. Thorndike Spalding and Mr. James Purdon are the class committee.

Herald

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

Closing Week of "Pop" Concerts in Symphony Hall.

Tomorrow Evening the Entire Floor Has Been Reserved for Harvard Men, as It Is Graduates' Night—The Programme—New Musical Publications—Notes.

EVERYTHING must have an end, and the coming week will finish the 16th season of the Pops. The week begins with what will prove beyond a doubt the most successful concert in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening is "Graduates' night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of 23 classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as 60 from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891 and 200 from the class of 1898. The programme follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!"....Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Waltz, "Estudiantina".....Waldteufel
Selection, "Florodora".....Stuart
Selection, "The Viking".....Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster".....Suders
American fantasy.....Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem".....Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students".....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street".....Morse

It was a great night at the Pops on Tuesday, as the evening was given over to the Harvard boys, and there was a genuine college atmosphere, with the accompanying jolly din. There were, however, a larger number of smart people outside the university crowd than usual. Mrs. George B. Shattuck had a table party. She was in black, with a black hat done with white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson brought seven guests. Mrs. Higginson was girlish and smart in black and white and a large black and white hat. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moseley and Miss Moseley were there; Mrs. Moseley, in black and white foulard and lace hat; also Dr. J. Foster Bush, Mrs. Bush and party; Miss Gertrude Miller, in white crepe with a rosebud hat worn off the face; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hecht, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Upham, Miss Annie Richards, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. M. Tower, Mr. Edward A. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Somers. Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes brought a party of eight. Mrs. Noyes wore a smart gown of cream colored silk and lace and a black and white tulle hat. Mrs. W. J. Riley, the wife of the State street banker, was at the Noyes table in a charming gown of purple and white polka dotted foulard with white lace and chiffon. Mrs. F. R. Comee had a party of friends at her husband's table. She wore a white and gold embroidered crepe gown and a large black hat with white plumes. Mme. de Angelis was the centre of a table of young people. She was in black and white striped silk, with diamonds, and a black hat. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Niccolls and Mr. F. G. Merrill, Mr. N. C. Weeks, Capt. and Mrs. Aline, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Osgood were also there. The hall was hung with red crepe paper banners printed in black ink, which soon disappeared from the balcony and floated, confetti like, over and around the heads of the Harvard boys. For tomorrow the Harvard graduates have bought up the whole of the house, and there will be a big demonstration.

Budget June 23-01

Harvard Night at the Pops was less exciting than usual; another illustration of the fact that when young men go out to celebrate they should not take their pretty cousins.

[64]

Globe June 23-01

LAST WEEK OF THE "POPS."

This week's concerts in Symphony hall will finish the 16th season of the "Pops." The week will begin with what should prove the most successful in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening will be "Graduates' night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of 23 classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as 60 from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891, and 200 from the class of 1898. The program will be as follows:

March, Hail to the Crimson.....Henry '86
Overture, Light Cavalry.....Suppe
Waltz, Estudiantina.....Waldteufel
Selection, Florodora.....Stuart
Selection, The Viking.....Loud
Waltz, Grubenlichter.....Zeller
Selection, The Burgomaster.....Suders
American fantasy.....Herbert
Selection, Prince Pro Tem.....Thompson
Waltz, Jolly Students.....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, Up the Street.....Morse

—The old adage of blessings brightening as they take their flight has had ample illustration the past week at Symphony hall, when crowded houses have been the rule at the Pop concerts, everyone seeming to realize that the coming week will be the last. Tuesday evening, "Harvard night," brought a crowd of Harvard students and their young girl friends, whose lovely summer costumes of every hue and shade, with their becoming hats, many of them laden with roses, made a brilliant bit of coloring, more noticeable than at any previous evening during the season. The hall seemed a veritable flower garden, and then an added bit of brilliant color which hightened the effect was the crimson banners which were hung from the balcony railings, and were the inspiration of Mr Comee, who, being himself a Harvard man, enters most fully into the spirit of such occasions. There was, as usual, appropriate music, songs by the glee club, and the utmost enthusiasm when the audience rose en masse and joined in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Fair Harvard." The audience retired in the happiest mood to the music of "Up the Street."

—Tomorrow evening will be Harvard graduates' night at the Pop concert, when it is expected there will be at least 1300 graduates present, the whole floor being given up to them, while the ladies accompanying them will have seats in the balconies. Three members of the class of '41, including Mr Keyes of Concord, have signified their intention of being present, and it will undoubtedly be the most interesting evening in the whole series of concerts.

THE "POPS."

Everything must have an end, even our pleasures, and the coming week will finish the sixteenth season of the "Pops." The week begins with what will prove beyond a doubt the most successful in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening is "Graduates' Night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of 23 classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as 60 from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891 and 200 from the class of 1898. The program follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!"....Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Waltz, "Estudiantina".....Waldteufel
Selection, "Florodora".....Stuart
Selection, "The Viking".....Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster".....Luders
American Fantasy.....Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem".....Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students".....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street".....Morse

Harvard night at the Pops, which marked the banner occasion of the season, proved fully as successful an event as in former years, which is saying much. The customary crimson decorations and enthusiasm prevailed, and every seat and table was engaged far in advance. Some of those there were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Higginson and party, which included the latter's sister, Mrs. James A. Garland. Both ladies were in black, Mrs. Higginson wearing a large picture hat. Mme. De Angelis had a number of people with her, among whom Miss Pierson, in flowered organdie and a large black hat, was especially noticeable. Miss Susanne Risteen, who was with her parents, was looking extremely well in soft gray veiling, the bodice a froth of spangled lace. Mrs. C. F. Goodhue and Miss Goodhue of Brookline, with several friends, were noted in the throng, Miss Goodhue selecting for her toilette on this occasion a very pretty frock of gray, with yoke and sleeves of pale violet. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Osgood of Elm Hill had with them Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Upham of the Ilkley. Mrs. Osgood was in cafe-au-lait veiling, and Mrs. Upham in black, with white revers, and a pretty toque trimmed with pink roses. Mrs. Frederick R. Comee, in cream cloth, with big black hat, was, as usual, a picturesque figure. Others present were Dr. and Mrs. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Dimock of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jewett Page, Mr. and Mrs. James Stack and son, Captain William H. Aline of the Cadets and Mrs. Aline, Dr. James [illegible] Phelps, and Miss [illegible]

Globe June 25-01

OWN THE HALL.

Harvard Men Rule the Pop Concert.

Graduates Try to Outdo Each Other in Cheering.

Every Lull is Filled Full of Noises.

Class of '98 Gets the Best of the Contest.

Several Hundred Toy Balloons Used with Effect.

If you meet a Harvard graduate today and he salutes you in a whisper or in a voice that seems to issue from his boots, you may safely conclude that he was one of several thousand howling, yelling, bellowing actors that took part in a comic opera entitled "Graduates' Night," enacted last night at the Pop concert in Symphony hall. There have been times something like it in the past, but nothing that equalled or eclipsed it.

Yelling for Harvard and for her several classes was the order of the evening. On the floor 200 members of the class of '98 were the magnets which drew all the other classes to them. Next in volume of vocal power came '99, a close third was the class of '91, and then came the other classes, '97, '96, '95, '94, '93, '89, '88, '87, '86, '84, '83, '81, '75 and '41.

This latter class was represented by one member only, Mr Keyes of Concord, more than 80 years of age, who, however, when escorted by some of the recent graduates, marched down the aisle with a banner of flaming crimson with the figures '41 upon it. Other classes which have not been mentioned were represented, but did not announce themselves to the world as frequently as did the members of the class of 1898.

To celebrate the occasion the entire main floor was reserved for Harvard graduates, the women and interested spectators being given the galleries. The evening was one of pandemonium, and the scenes on the floor were not unlike those of a stock exchange when it has been seized with a panic.

To the credit of the vast assemblage of young men it can be said that it was innocent. At one time it did look as if two or three of the most intrepid leaders, who had mounted the stage and were followed by a crowd, might lose a good share of their clothing, but a few warning hisses from the galleries stopped what promised to be carrying a joke too far.

The great feature of the evening was furnished by several hundred red toy balloons. The class of '98 had a bunch of several hundred, all tied together and surmounted by one big balloon. This they tied to a string and it floated halfway up to the ceiling, with a crimson banner and the figures "98" displayed to all.

In addition each member of that class had two or three balloons—one to let loose to go to the lofty ceiling and the others to play with on the end of a string. Before the evening ended there were 400 or more balloons, including the big bunch with the '98 legend on it, snugly hugging the ceiling.

The management has a problem on its hands in how to get them down.

Another favorite use to make of the balloon was to send it half way up to the ceiling and then explode it with a lighted fuse.

The '91 adherents had green balloons and these were put to much the same use as the red ones. The rivalry between these two classes was conspicuous throughout the evening, but along toward the last someone tied a red and a green balloon together and sent them aloft amid great applause.

The cheering was simply deafening all the evening. The musical numbers were well rendered and were appreciated, but when a lull came it was seized as another good chance to yell for '89 or '94, or the you-can't-lose-me-if-you-try '98.

Someone devised a Y to represent Yale and sent that up on a balloon and the point was not lost on the big crowd.

The audience, by the way, completely filled every possible nook and corner of Symphony hall. It was composed of the mothers, wives and sweethearts of the howling mob that raised a gentlemanly chaos all the evening.

The Harvard yell was given for the crew and for the baseball team, and the classes toasted each other by giving their own yell and then tacking on the name of some favored class in this way '98 honored [illegible] early [illegible] the other classes, including its [illegible] rival of the evening [illegible]

[illegible] ters couldn't hear the orders, [illegible] less dare to execute them. Bo[illegible]mia reigned all the evening, for the men took off their coats and vests, piled their hats three feet high on the tables and did the lock-step around the hall in visiting delegations.

There was singing all the time, but it was all impromptu and consisted of "Glory, Glory for the Crimson," or some other equally well-known refrain.

At the close of the second intermission, 200 or more of the younger graduates took possession of the stage, and then came a struggle to see what class could hold its banner the highest. The class of '99 took the palm in this contest by boosting two of its agile members into a niche prepared for a statue that seemed utterly beyond reach.

All things were possible last night, and a kind and indulgent management did not object to the whims of the crowd.

When the concert began the balconies were decorated with crimson banners, marked "H., Pops, 1901," but in the twinkling of an eye every souvenir hunter turned vandal and, presto, all were stolen or "swiped" in true Harvard fashion.

The audience had a chance to try its luck in catching a few balloons that settled near the galleries, and in the scrimmages many fair hands united were raised to get the coveted trophies.

The program of the evening, with many Harvard favorites, follows:

(a) March, Cruiser Harvard.....Strube
(b) March, Hail to the Crimson.....Henry '86
Overture, Light Cavalry.....Suppe
Waltz, Estudiantina.....Waldteufel
Selection, Florodora.....Stuart
Selection, The Viking.....Loud
Waltz, Grubenlichter.....Zeller
Selection, Oblapah.....Atkins
American Fantasy.....Herbert
Selection, Prince Pro Tem.....Thompson
Waltz, Jolly Students.....Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
March, Up the Street.....Morse

Post June 23-01

All through the week the Harvard seniors have had things pretty much their own way, and the festivities are not yet ended. Tomorrow a special programme has been arranged at the Pop concert, Mr. Comee being a Harvard man and a great favorite with the boys. The next day a sail down the harbor will be in order, while on Wednesday, which is the evening of commencement day, the piece de resistance of the programme, a banquet at the Exchange Club, will form a fitting climax to the long round of gayeties which have followed months of study. The committee includes Mr. Winthrop Ames, Mr. Thorndike Spaulding and Mr. James Purdon.

"The Pops."

Everything must have an end, even [illegible] pleasures, and the coming week will [illegible] ish the 16th season of the Pops. The week begins with what will prove beyond a doubt, the most successful concert in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening is "Graduates' Night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of twenty-three classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as sixty from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891 and [illegible] from the class of 1898. The programme follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!" ..... Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Estudiantina" ..... [illegible]
Selection, "Florodora" ..... Stuart
Selection, "The Viking" ..... Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter" ..... Zeller
"The Burgomaster" ..... Suders
[illegible] Fantasy ..... Herbert
[illegible] "Prince Pro Tem" ..... Thompson
"Jolly Students" ..... Vollstedt
Fair Harvard ..... Morse
March, "Up the Street" .....

Budget June 23-01

The closing nights of the "Pop" concerts are now at hand, as the season ends with the performances of the coming week. Monday evening will be "graduates' night," and every seat on the floor has been reserved and sold to the graduates of Harvard. Conductor Strube has arranged some very attractive programmes for these last concerts, as will be seen by the following for this evening, which is a sample: March, "Black Bess," Strube; overture, "Si j'etais Rio," Adam; Kaiser waltz, Strauss; selection, "Traviata," Verdi; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; procession of the women, from "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz, "Die Fledermaus," Strauss; Slavic march, Tschaikowsky; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; "Forget Me Not," Macbeth; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Teufel," Suppe.

Times June 23-01

Harvard Night at ~~the Pops~~

One of the most brilliant social events of the Pop season was Harvard night observed on Tuesday at Symphody hall, and which drew forth in immense numbers the smart contingent yet in the city, besides hundreds of music lovers and on-lookers in the balconies.

Harvard's color, crimson, was in evidence everywhere. Bright poster-flags swayed and waved from the balconies, and these together with the red badges and rosettes worn by many of the ladies made a gala scene.

The music was unusually bright and stirring, including Vollstedt's waltz, "Jolly Students," the ever-pleasing "Fair Harvard," Strube's brilliant "Cruiser Harvard" and a medley comprising "Suanee River," "Dixie," "Columbia" and the time-honored "Star Spangled Banner," at which the audience stood, and when the selection was ended there were hearty cheers and applause.

The "appropriating" of the Harvard flags as trophies by the souvenir-fiends in the audience was a bright feature of the evening, and renewed zest was added when these trophies sold at a premium of one dollar in the lobbies during the promenade. Between the orchestra's numbers the Harvard Glee club furnished several pleasing songs, which won their share of the public favor.

Tomorrow night is Graduates' night, and the programme is as follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!" ..... Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
Waltz, 'Estudiantina" ..... Waldteufel
Selection, Florodora ..... Stuart
Selection, "The Viking" ..... Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter" ..... Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster" ..... Suders
American Fantasy ..... Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem" ..... Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students" ..... Vollstedt
Fair Harvard
March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse

Post June 25-01

They were all there last night in Symphony Hall for "Graduates' Night"—hundreds of representatives of Harvard's classes from 1841 to '00.

And the roof still remains on Symphony Hall!

Still, the "Jolly Students"—to use the title of one of the waltzes played—did their best to lift it off.

Failing in this, they sent floating up against the ceiling hundreds of balloons with the class numbers tagged on to them.

Fair Spectators Numerous.

The two balconies were crowded with the mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of the cheering, singing, drinking, boisterous crowd below.

Cheering! Yelling!

Well, rather!

It was "Rah, rah, rah! '41—'86—'99—'84"—and all the other numerals of the classes all the evening long.

And there was hissing, too.

This was when the "rough house" came, when half a dozen classes struggled together on the platform, each striving to hoist its standard the highest.

'98 First in the Rush.

The class of '98 were, on the whole, the victors of the struggle for prominence.

There was more applause when the veteran of the veteran class of '41 marched down the aisle, waving the standard of the class. This was Judge Keyes of Concord.

There was a varied programme of music, and doubtless it was excellent—but very little of it was heard, for the classes were cheering continually, and stampeding up and down.

There was no doubt of the fact which thousands of voices were vociferating that "this was Harvard's night!"

Record June 25-02

IT WAS GRADUATES' NIGHT.

Harvard Men Took Possession of the "Pop" Concert and Produced a Rousing Programme.

It was graduates' night at the "pops" last night, and Harvard alumni from 1841 to 1900 occupied nearly every available foot of space upon the floor. The crimson was everywhere in evidence. It hung in the form of banners from the balcony railings, and floated up to the ceiling in the form of hundreds of toy balloons bearing figures representing years of graduation. During most of the evening Herr Strube and his symphony players were completely outclassed by lusty cheers and resonant college yells, among which the long cheer for '98 was particularly in evidence. The delegation from '98, who are celebrating their triennial, sat near the platform, and were dubbed "the noisy crowd" by common consent.

The class of '91, which is observing its decennial, occupied the section to the right of the centre aisle, and their cheer rang out with astonishing force. The men of '91 had green balloons, bearing the figure '91, while those of '98 had crimson balloons bearing the numerals '98.

At one stage of the proceedings the two classes entered upon a close rivalry as to which should succeed in exploding the greatest number of these balloons by applying a match to them.

It was just before 10 p.m., at the second intermission, that the fun became fast and furious.

It began grandly in the march of '41 and '91, through the cheering hundreds, up and down the aisles.

The venerable Judge Keyes of Concord, was the sole representative of '41. The banner was carried in the stalwart arms of a '91 man.

A. J. Garceau, secretary of '91, carried the class banner.

Scarcely, however, had the orchestra left the stage, before several classes started rushes toward this vantage ground to place their banners on high. The classes of '98, '99 and '91, being nearest the stage, got there first, and they used the steps.

But following classes attempted to escalade over the tables on the floor.

The class of 1900, few in numbers, strange to say, and far back in the hall, formed a V and made the wildest of rushes.

After mad pulling and hauling they finally clambered to the stage, about in the centre.

But their bad manners incensed the classes near them, and much wrestling followed.

The '99 men secured one end of the stage and '97 the other.

The standard-bearers were mounted on the shoulders of their respective classmates, and first assumed sitting positions, then were elevated by the ankles; and finally as the rivalry increased tables were piled upon tables, and a chair at the summit, and the standard-bearer elevated to this precarious position.

Even this did not gratify vaulting ambition.

A '99 man clambered to the first gallery, and stood on the rail, waving the banner while his classmates cheered. The banner was tossed back and forth.

A '97 man duplicated the act on the other side.

Then the '99 man mounted to the second gallery, and the '97 man followed suit.

The supreme feat was the ascent to the niches in the wall, left vacant for statues.

This was not accomplished without much marring of paint and fresco, and shoe-blacking stains now decorate the columns.

Before decorum was finally restored some class flags were torn from their staffs, and some straw hats destroyed.

The attendance was quite the largest in the history of the "pops."

Advertiser June 25-01

IT WAS GRADUATES' NIGHT.

Harvard Men Took Possession of the "Pop" Concert and Produced a Rousing Programme.

It was graduates' night at the "pops" last night, and Harvard alumni from 1841 to 1900 occupied nearly every available foot of space upon the floor. The crimson was everywhere in evidence. It hung in the form of banners from the balcony railings, and floated up to the ceiling in the form of hundreds of toy balloons bearing figures representing years of graduation. During most of the evening Herr Strube and his symphony players were completely outclassed by lusty cheers and resonant college yells, among which the long cheer for '98 was particularly in evidence. The delegation from '98, who are celebrating their triennial, sat near the platform, and were dubbed "the noisy crowd" by common consent.

The class of '91, which is observing its decennial, occupied the section to the right of the centre aisle, and their cheer rang out with astonishing force. The men of '91 had green balloons, bearing the figure '91, while those of '98 had crimson balloons bearing the numerals '98.

At one stage of the proceedings the two classes entered upon a close rivalry as to which should succeed in exploding the greatest number of these balloons by applying a match to them.

It was just before 10 p.m., at the second intermission, that the fun became fast and furious.

It began grandly in the march of '41 and '91, through the cheering hundreds, up and down the aisles.

The venerable Judge Keyes of Concord, was the sole representative of '41. The banner was carried in the stalwart arms of a '91 man.

A. J. Garceau, secretary of '91, carried the class banner.

Scarcely, however, had the orchestra left the stage, before several classes started rushes toward this vantage ground to place their banners on high. The classes of '98, '99 and '91, being nearest the stage, got there first, and they used the steps.

But following classes attempted to escalade over the tables on the floor.

The class of 1900, few in numbers, strange to say, and far back in the hall, formed a V and made the wildest of rushes.

After mad pulling and hauling they finally clambered to the stage, about in the centre.

But their bad manners incensed the classes near them, and much wrestling followed.

The '99 men secured one end of the stage and '97 the other.

The standard-bearers were mounted on the shoulders of their respective classmates, and first assumed sitting positions, then were elevated by the ankles; and finally as the rivalry increased tables were piled upon tables, and a chair at the summit, and the standard-bearer elevated to this precarious position.

Even this did not gratify vaulting ambition.

A '99 man clambered to the first gallery, and stood on the rail, waving the banner while his classmates cheered. The banner was tossed back and forth.

A '97 man duplicated the act on the other side.

Then the '99 man mounted to the second gallery, and the '97 man followed suit.

The supreme feat was the ascent to the niches in the wall, left vacant for statues.

This was not accomplished without much marring of paint and fresco, and shoe-blacking stains now decorate the columns.

Before decorum was finally restored some class flags were torn from their staffs, and some straw hats destroyed.

The attendance was quite the largest in the history of the "pops."

Transcript June 25-01

BOUNDLESS HARVARD ENTHUSIASM

Graduates' Night at the Pops a Scene Long to Be Remembered

If Harvard had beaten Yale in baseball, on the river, and in several other departments of athletics yesterday, greater enthusiasm could not have been roused among Harvard graduates than that manifested last evening at "Grads Night" at the Pops in Symphony Hall. The entire floor was devoted to Harvard men, ladies having to be content with balcony seats. The members of different classes sat together, and there was great rivalry to see which class should make the most noise. Nearly all the classes from 1841 to 1900 were represented. Judge John S. Keyes of Concord was the sole member of '41 present, and was also the oldest graduate in the hall. When he marched down the aisle bearing the '41 banner, supported by his cousin, R. W. Wood of '91, with his banner, there was a tremendous uproar.

Rivalry began early in cheering among '99, '98, '96 and '91. Later simple cheering did not seem to serve the purpose and the struggle for prominence took other forms. The delegation from '98 was large, because this class is celebrating its triennial. When the members came into the hall they carried hundreds of small red balloons, and also a large bunch to which was attached a '98 banner. As '91 was fitted out with green balloons it seemed to be the logical opponent of '98, and for some time there was a combat of noise between these two. Then '99, led by Ben Dibblee, started in with three long ninety-nines and three times three. Fully one hundred members of this class sat together, each man divesting himself of his coat. As '99 had the advantage of being led by the man who captained the last football team that won from Yale, recruits quickly came to its standard, especially the members of '96, who were seniors when '99 was a freshman class. The '99-'96 combination made it necessary for '98 and '91 to unite and the coalition was signalized by sending up a red and a green balloon tied together.

Through the first section the orchestra played—that is to say, it was strongly suspected that it played, for the leader stood in front and waved his arms, although it is doubtful if anybody on the floor heard any music. Through the second section the orchestra struggled against pandemonium on the floor. At the second intermission enthusiasm left the bounds of cheering. There was a rush for the stage between '97 and '99 to see which could raise its banner highest. Other classes joined in, but '99 held one end and '97 the other, and 1900 had to climb up in front. Then the rival banners were raised by means of tables, chairs and human ladders until '99 had placed a flag in one of the niches near the ceiling. The rush for position on the platform was disastrous to clothing, and the roughness called forth disapproval from the balconies. At a word from the manager the crowd subsided and resorted to the former cheering. All through the evening there was singing of well-known Harvard songs, but when the orchestra started "Fair Harvard" the entire company rose and joined in the grand old song. The mighty chorus filled the hall and rolled out through doors and windows into the outside air. Never was there such a successful graduates night.

Record June 25-01

The local members of Harvard, '86, have subscribed $10 each for the entertainment of visiting members of the class. Yesterday 40 or 50 of them went out to the Country Club. Tickets for the "Pops" were reserved for some of them. Today they have a harbor excursion—and so on, till after commencement.

Post June 23-01

All through the week the Harvard seniors have had things pretty much their own way, and the festivities are not yet ended. Tomorrow a special programme has been arranged at the Pop concert, Mr. Comee being a Harvard man and a great favorite with the boys. [redacted] next day a sail down the harbor will be in order, while on Wednesday, which is the evening of commencement day, the piece de resistance of the programme, a banquet at the Exchange Club, will form a fitting climax to the long round of gayeties which have followed months of study. The committee includes Mr. Winthrop Ames, Mr. Thorndike Spaulding and Mr. James Purdon.

"The Pops."

Everything must have an end, even our pleasures, and the coming week will finish the 16th season of the Pops. The week begins with what will prove beyond a doubt, the most successful concert in the history of these entertainments, for Monday evening is "Graduates' Night." The entire floor is reserved for graduates of Harvard, and representatives of twenty-three classes have secured places, beginning with three members of the class of 1841 and followed by such generous totals as sixty from the class of 1881, 150 from the class of 1891 and 200 from the class of 1898. The programme follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!" ..... Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Estudiantina" ..... Waldteufel
Selection, "Florodora" ..... Stuart
Selection, "The Viking" ..... Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter" ..... Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster" ..... Suders
American Fantasy ..... Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem" .. Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students" ..... Vollstedt
Fair Harvard ..... Morse
March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse

The closing nights of the "Pop" concerts are now at hand, as the season ends with the performances of the coming week. Monday evening will be "graduates' night," and every seat on the floor has been reserved and sold to the graduates of Harvard. Conductor Strube has arranged some very attractive programmes for these last concerts, as will be seen by the following for this evening, which is a sample: March, "Black Bess," Strube; overture, "Si j'etais Rio," Adam; Kaiser waltz, Strauss; selection, "Traviata," Verdi; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; procession of the women, from "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz, "Die Fledermaus," Strauss; Slavic march, Tschaikowsky; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; "Forget Me Not," Macbeth; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Teufel," Suppe.

Harvard Night at the Pops.

One of the most brilliant social events of the Pop season was Harvard night observed on Tuesday at Symphody hall, and which drew forth in immense numbers the smart contingent yet in the city, besides hundreds of music lovers and on-lookers in the balconies.

Harvard's color, crimson, was in evidence everywhere. Bright poster-flags swayed and waved from the balconies, and these together with the red badges and rosettes worn by many of the ladies made a gala scene.

The music was unusually bright and stirring, including Vollstedt's waltz, "Jolly Students," the ever-pleasing "Fair Harvard," Strube's brilliant "Cruiser Harvard" and a medley comprising "Suanee River," "Dixie," "Columbia" and the time-honored "Star Spangled Banner," at which the audience stood, and when the selection was ended there were hearty cheers and applause.

The "appropriating" of the Harvard flags as trophies by the souvenir-fiends in the audience was a bright feature of the evening, and renewed zest was added when these trophies sold at a premium of one dollar in the lobbies during the promenade. Between the orchestra's numbers the Harvard Glee club furnished several pleasing songs, which won their share of the public favor.

Tomorrow night is Graduates' night, and the programme is as follows:

March, "Hail to the Crimson!" ..... Henry, '86
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
Waltz, 'Estudiantina" ..... Waldteufel
Selection, Florodora ..... Stuart
Selection, "The Viking" ..... Loud
Waltz, "Grubenlichter" ..... Zeller
Selection, "The Burgomaster" ..... Suders
American Fantasy ..... Herbert
Selection, "Prince Pro Tem" ..... Thompson
Waltz, "Jolly Students" ..... Vollstedt
Fair Harvard
March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse

Advertiser June 25-01

IT WAS GRADUATES' NIGHT.

Harvard Men Took Possession of the "Pop" Concert and Produced a Rousing Programme.

It was graduates' night at the "pops" last night, and Harvard alumni from 1841 to 1900 occupied nearly every available foot of space upon the floor. The crimson was everywhere in evidence. It hung in the form of banners from the balcony railings, and floated up to the ceiling in the form of hundreds of toy balloons bearing figures representing years of graduation. During most of the evening Herr Strube and his symphony players were completely outclassed by lusty cheers and resonant college yells, among which the long cheer for '98 was particularly in evidence. The delegation from '98, who are celebrating their triennial, sat near the platform, and were dubbed "the noisy crowd" by common consent.

The class of '91, which is observing its decennial, occupied the section to the right of the centre aisle, and their cheer rang out with astonishing force. The men of '91 had green balloons, bearing the figure '91, while those of '98 had crimson balloons bearing the numerals '98.

At one stage of the proceedings the two classes entered upon a close rivalry as to which should succeed in exploding the greatest number of these balloons by applying a match to them.

It was just before 10 p.m., at the second intermission, that the fun became fast and furious.

It began grandly in the march of '41 and '91, through the cheering hundreds, up and down the aisles.

The venerable Judge Keyes of Concord, was the sole representative of '41. The banner was carried in the stalwart arms of a '91 man.

A. J. Garceau, secretary of '91, carried the class banner.

Scarcely, however, had the orchestra left the stage, before several classes started rushes toward this vantage ground to place their banners on high. The classes of '98, '99 and '91, being nearest the stage, got there first, and they used the steps.

But following classes attempted to escalade over the tables on the floor.

The class of 1900, few in numbers, strange to say, and far back in the hall, formed a V and made the wildest of rushes.

After mad pulling and hauling they finally clambered to the stage, about in the centre.

But their bad manners incensed the classes near them, and much wrestling followed.

The '99 men secured one end of the stage and '97 the other.

The standard-bearers were mounted on the shoulders of their respective classmates, and first assumed sitting positions, then were elevated by the ankles; and finally as the rivalry increased tables were piled upon tables, and a chair at the summit, and the standard-bearer elevated to this precarious position.

Even this did not gratify vaulting ambition.

A '99 man clambered to the first gallery, and stood on the rail, waving the banner while his classmates cheered. The banner was tossed back and forth.

A '97 man duplicated the act on the other side.

Then the '99 man mounted to the second gallery, and the '97 man followed suit.

The supreme feat was the ascent to the niches in the wall, left vacant for statues.

This was not accomplished without much marring of paint and fresco, and shoe-blacking stains now decorate the columns.

Before decorum was finally restored some class flags were torn from their staffs, and some straw hats destroyed.

The attendance was quite the largest in the history of the "pops."

Transcript June 25-01

BOUNDLESS HARVARD ENTHUSIASM

Graduates' Night at the Pops a Scene Long to Be Remembered

If Harvard had beaten Yale in baseball, on the river, and in several other departments of athletics yesterday, greater enthusiasm could not have been roused among Harvard graduates than that manifested last evening at "Grads Night" at the Pops in Symphony Hall. The entire floor was devoted to Harvard men, ladies having to be content with balcony seats. The members of different classes sat together, and there was great rivalry to see which class should make the most noise. Nearly all the classes from 1841 to 1900 were represented. Judge John S. Keyes of Concord was the sole member of '41 present, and was also the oldest graduate in the hall. When he marched down the aisle bearing the '41 banner, supported by his cousin, R. W. Wood of '91, with his banner, there was a tremendous uproar.

Rivalry began early in cheering among '99, '98, '96 and '91. Later simple cheering did not seem to serve the purpose and the struggle for prominence took other forms. The delegation from '98 was large, because this class is celebrating its triennial. When the members came into the hall they carried hundreds of small red balloons, and also a large bunch to which was attached a '98 banner. As '91 was fitted out with green balloons it seemed to be the logical opponent of '98, and for some time there was a combat of noise between these two. Then '99, led by Ben Dibblee, started in with three long ninety-nines and three times three. Fully one hundred members of this class sat together, each man divesting himself of his coat. As '99 had the advantage of being led by the man who captained the last football team that won from Yale, recruits quickly came to its standard, especially the members of '96, who were seniors when '99 was a freshman class. The '99-'96 combination made it necessary for '98 and '91 to unite and the coalition was signalized by sending up a red and a green balloon tied together.

Through the first section the orchestra played—that is to say, it was strongly suspected that it played, for the leader stood in front and waved his arms, although it is doubtful if anybody on the floor heard any music. Through the second section the orchestra struggled against pandemonium on the floor. At the second intermission enthusiasm left the bounds of cheering. There was a rush for the stage between '97 and '99 to see which could raise its banner highest. Other classes joined in, but '99 held one end and '97 the other, and 1900 had to climb up in front. Then the rival banners were raised by means of tables, chairs and human ladders until '99 had placed a flag in one of the niches near the ceiling. The rush for position on the platform was disastrous to clothing, and the roughness called forth disapproval from the balconies. At a word from the manager the crowd subsided and resorted to the former cheering. All through the evening there was singing of well-known Harvard songs, but when the orchestra started "Fair Harvard" the entire company rose and joined in the grand old song. The mighty chorus filled the hall and rolled out through doors and windows into the outside air. Never was there such a successful graduates night.

They were all there last night in Symphony Hall for "Graduates' Night"—hundreds of representatives of Harvard's classes from 1841 to '00.

And the roof still remains on Symphony Hall!

Still, the "Jolly Students"—to use the title of one of the waltzes played—did their best to lift it off.

Failing in this, they sent floating up against the ceiling hundreds of balloons with the class numbers tagged on to them.

Fair Spectators Numerous.

The two balconies were crowded with the mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of the cheering, singing, drinking, boisterous crowd below.

Cheering! Yelling!

Well, rather!

It was "Rah, rah, rah! '41—'86—'99—'84"—and all the other numerals of the classes all the evening long.

And there was hissing, too.

This was when the "rough house" came, when half a dozen classes struggled together on the platform, each striving to hoist its standard the highest.

'98 First in the Rush.

The class of '98 were, on the whole, the victors of the struggle for prominence.

There was more applause when the veteran of the veteran class of '41 marched down the aisle, waving the standard of the class. This was Judge Keyes of Concord.

There was a varied programme of music, and doubtless it was excellent—but very little of it was heard, for the classes were cheering continually, and stampeding up and down.

There was no doubt of the fact which thousands of voices were vociferating that "this was Harvard's night!"

IT WAS GRADUATES' NIGHT.

Harvard Men Took Possession of the "Pop" Concert and Produced a Rousing Programme.

It was graduates' night at the "pops" last night, and Harvard alumni from 1841 to 1900 occupied nearly every available foot of space upon the floor. The crimson was everywhere in evidence. It hung in the form of banners from the balcony railings, and floated up to the ceiling in the form of hundreds of toy balloons bearing figures representing years of graduation. During most of the evening Herr Strube and his symphony players were completely outclassed by lusty cheers and resonant college yells, among which the long cheer for '98 was particularly in evidence. The delegation from '98, who are celebrating their triennial, sat near the platform, and were dubbed "the noisy crowd" by common consent.

The class of '91, which is observing its decennial, occupied the section to the right of the centre aisle, and their cheer rang out with astonishing force. The men of '91 had green balloons, bearing the figure '91, while those of '98 had crimson balloons bearing the numerals '98.

At one stage of the proceedings the two classes entered upon a close rivalry as to which should succeed in exploding the greatest number of these balloons by applying a match to them.

It was just before 10 p.m., at the second intermission, that the fun became fast and furious.

It began grandly in the march of '41 and '91, through the cheering hundreds, up and down the aisles.

The venerable Judge Keyes of Concord, was the sole representative of '41. The banner was carried in the stalwart arms of a '91 man.

A. J. Garceau, secretary of '91, carried the class banner.

Scarcely, however, had the orchestra left the stage, before several classes started rushes toward this vantage ground to place their banners on high. The classes of '98, '99 and '91, being nearest the stage, got there first, and they used the steps.

But following classes attempted to escalade over the tables on the floor.

The class of 1900, few in numbers, strange to say, and far back in the hall, formed a V and made the wildest of rushes.

After mad pulling and hauling they finally clambered to the stage, about in the centre.

But their bad manners incensed the classes near them, and much wrestling followed.

The '99 men secured one end of the stage and '97 the other.

The standard-bearers were mounted on the shoulders of their respective classmates, and first assumed sitting positions, then were elevated by the ankles; and finally as the rivalry increased tables were piled upon tables, and a chair at the summit, and the standard-bearer elevated to this precarious position.

Even this did not gratify vaulting ambition.

A '99 man clambered to the first gallery, and stood on the rail, waving the banner while his classmates cheered. The banner was tossed back and forth.

A '97 man duplicated the act on the other side.

Then the '99 man mounted to the second gallery, and the '97 man followed suit.

The supreme feat was the ascent to the niches in the wall, left vacant for statues.

This was not accomplished without much marring of paint and fresco, and shoe-blacking stains now decorate the columns.

Before decorum was finally restored some class flags were torn from their staffs, and some straw hats destroyed.

The attendance was quite the largest in the history of the "pops."

The local members of Harvard, '86, have subscribed $10 each for the entertainment of visiting members of the class. Yesterday 40 or 50 of them went out to the Country Club. Tickets for the "Pops" were reserved for some of them. Today they have a harbor excursion—and so on, till after commencement.

HARVARD SPIRIT BREAKS LOOSE AT THE "POPS."
GRADUATES' NIGHT THE GREATEST KNOWN.

IN THE BALCONY.

GRADUATES' NIGHT AT "THE POPS."

Crimson Balloons Play a Star Part in the Festivities.

STAGE STORMED.

Classes Rush to Win Highest Place—"Fair Harvard" Sung and Played.

Not a woman on the floor, but 1200 lusty-lunged sons of Harvard on their feet, intoning a grand old slogan: "Harvard, Harvard, Harvard; rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah rah rah. Forty-one"; between the elbowing ranks the figure of a white-bearded patriarch over his head a red paper banner with a "'41" inscription, and at each arm a stalwart scion of the third generation, with a "'91" banner just behind; the floor sending the salvo up to the balcony altars, where fair woman worshipped at the shrine of "Fair Harvard"; and ever the steady tread of the octogenarian and his escorts, while the "red badge of courage" flaunted above, and the plaudits of the thousands drowned the gentle footfall of age in its march of triumph.

A stage depopulated of its rightful tenants—threescore Symphony musicians—and swarming with the jostling, bellicose hosts of rival classes; music racks, manuscripts, chairs and even instruments toppled over and trampled under foot in the rush for "the pride of place"; five crimson banners, half in tatters, waving wildly, like bloody signs of anarchy, while the echoes from anarchistic throats lifted themselves in mad, methodless riot to the unreachable, and therefore unscathed, ceiling; first a banner in the hands of a man on shoulder, then another carried by a chap on table; again, one lifted a bit higher by a man on stage, table and chair, then a swift, sure toss to the first balcony, and the class that thought the quickest was highest on the horizon. Again, another transfer, this time to the second balcony, and no sooner done than followed by the rival crowd with its banner in the opposite balcony. This seemed to mark the limit, and a yell of Apaches followed the triumph. But only for a moment. A lithe, agile figure in black was seen moving up over the shoulders and heads of a half-dozen henchmen, creeping, clinging and clutching, but going steadily upward all the while on the very face of the perpendicular wall; a moment more, and he reached the last stage in the upward journey, and, leaping on to the vacant niche, reserved long since against the coming of some costly old composer done in immortal marble, a madman from the class of '99 planted his standard in the "niche of fame," and the roar of young lions and the cheering and applause of young maids rose in tidal waves of ovation to the pinnacle of prestige, and the scaler of walls and harvester of hosannas smiled and was satisfied.

Again, a strong, united blast from the 60 on the stage; a sudden hesitation, a hush in the cheering, yelling, chattering crowd; then suddenly, like stage beginners who have tardily caught their cue, the floor rose as one man, and the fourth note sent them swinging into the inspiring, deathless strains of "Fair Harvard." Not a man—from venerable Judge Keyes of Concord, of the class of 1841, down to the soon-to-be graduate, our friend of 1901, hoarse but hopeful—but broke into song, or the semblance of song, as the matchless melody of alma mater, perfectly played, sent its rhythym in lengthening cadences up to the balconies, up to the roof, and out through the open doors, waking the echoes of the distant street in a grand hymn of tribute to the oldest of American colleges.

These three scenes—unscheduled and scenes unrivalled—marked the features of such a "graduates' night" as the Pops, old and experienced though they are, have never before known. Not since the new home of Symphony was settled at Massachusetts and Huntington avenues has it known such a reign of pandemonium. And not since John Harvard started a modest school for boys across the Charles have its sons "smoked up" and "wet down" and rip-roared, slap-dashed, pell-melled themselves into the "Oh, be jolly" state indoors as they did last night. As a pure, fresh-drawn libation of college spirit, it was the most sizzling, foaming, bubbling, effervescent article that has ever been served under the protection of a first-class license privilege anywhere.

Every class came in with the usual slogan. But '98 pulled off a spectacular trick that caught the house and made it a favorite on sight. Just after the first number she rallied outside the red doors and started in in a body. Some 20 men each carried small red balloons. One chap had a bunch of 50. The others got in all right, but the man with the family of airships couldn't get inside and deliver the goods intact. So the bunch made a "V," and, by committing assault and battery on the big double door, carried it almost off its hinges. But they got in, and not a balloon was "busted." The class found seats down front to the right of the aisle. There they fastened their red trophies to the tables, and bowed as befits those who have scored a victory, while the balconies gave them generous recognition.

Headed by Ben Dibblee, the old-time athlete, '99 whooped her up in great style in the rear of the hall. Every man of them—and there were nearly 100—sat in his shirt sleeves, without coat or waistcoat. With '96, which sat next door, they made more noise and sang better than anything else on the floor. A favorite was "We'll Drive Yale off the "Field," the famous football song. These two classes were the first to cheer the crew and the nine. They also gave the only individual cheer of the evening, one for Dibblee.

With two classes—'96 and '99—in the rear, and with '91 and '98 in the front of the hall, there was little time or opportunity left to "listen to the band." In fact, not until "Fair Harvard" was played was the slightest attention apparently paid to the orchestra. The programme, outside of this number and "Up the Street," didn't make any appeal to the revellers. Even "Florodora" went by the board.

At the first intermission, Ben Dibblee mounted the stage and called for a cheer for the crew. Every man was on his feet in an instant, and the roar of encouragement might almost have been echoed by the sloping banks of the Thames. Another for the nine followed, and the balconies applauded delightedly.

The second intermission was a Waterloo for the bandmen. Four classes, which had been making a tour of the hall in cake-walk style, leaped almost at once for the platform. In two minutes 300 struggling men were in possession, and each of the five classes was struggling to place its banner above all the others. Then ensued the scene described above.

One man had his shirt torn out, and another lost a collar. At this the only disapproving sound of the evening was heard. The balcony crowd saw that things were getting a bit rough, and started to hiss. And, after '99 had gotten her banner away up on the niche in the wall, Manager Comee came on to the stage, and, with just the right word at just the right time, the manager of Pop concerts and a master of men sent the whole crew quietly and uncomplainingly to their seats. By-and-by the bendmen came in and finished the programme. "Fair Harvard" went with a fine swing and plenty of gusto, and "Up the Street" induced the men to swop hoarse-throated cheering for wet-lipped whistling. Then there was the same old scramble for "H" banners and class emblems, and a knot of '88, '98 and '99 men crept on to the stage and cheered until the last chair was put to bed for the night on a wooden table. The last light was "doused," and the last chaperoned maid had been dragged from the chaos of a bottle-strewn, banner-hung hall to the cosmos of a home-bound trolley car.

Herald June 26-01

GLORY FOR THE CRIMSON.

The Martial Strains Arouse Harvard Men at the "Pops" Concert to Great Enthusiasm.

When Conductor Strube, with an additional flourish of his baton, guided the orchestra into the martial strains of "Glory, Glory for the Crimson" at the "Pops" last night, the enthusiasm of the collegians, who had been gloating silently over Harvard's second victory in the baseball series with Yale, burst in the baseball series with Yale, burst forth in a roof-lifting yell. And as the playing progressed the audience gradually took up the strain and sang the words of the song of victory with vim.

The music had not died away before a shout went up, indicating a desire for a repetition of the performance and further glorification of Harvard and her victorious team. As the tumult subsided, there could be heard the prolonged rustling of dainty gloved hands, which were tirelessly doing their best to show how genuine an interest the young women had in crimson color, baseball victories and their own appreciative escorts.

The orchestra was about to play the last number on the programme, when the hilarious contingent, again mindful of the score of 3 to 0, asked that "Up the Street" be played. The popular Harvard march was substituted, and gave the jubilant audience another opportunity to show its colors.

Times July 7-01

The Steamer Commonwealth Sails.

The Commonwealth sailed at 11.30 a.m. last Wednesday with the largest number of saloon passengers ever transported from Boston on a regular sailing, by any line.

The previous record was 295, conveyed by the Canada of the same line, July 3, 1897, and just one year later the Commonwealth sails with 298 passengers,

The steamship carries an unusual number of distinguished personages, chief among whom is Senator Lodge and family, Prof. George Harris, the distinguished theologian, formerly of Andover, now president of Amherst college, who is accompanied by his wife and son George.

Bishop McVickar of Rhode Island, Prof. Baerman, the well-known pianist, and wife, who will be absent until September, 1902, visiting the scenes of home and childhood after many years of absence.

F. R. Comee, assistant manager of the Symphony orchestra, and even better known as the manager of the "Pops," with Mrs. Comee goes for a visit to England and France. Some of his delightful letters of travel will appear in various publications during his absence.

Two bridal couples go on their wedding journey—Mr. and Mrs. John Dey of Syracuse and Mr. and Mrs. Allerton Cushman of Philadelphia.

Advertiser July 3-01

AN IMMENSE PASSENGER LIST.

Str. Commonwealth Breaks All Patronage Records from Boston—Prominent Persons Sail.

The Commonwealth sails today at 11.30 a.m., with the largest number of saloon passengers ever transported from Boston on a regular sailing, by any line.

The previous record was 295, conveyed by the Canada, of the same line, July 3, 1897.

Today's list is 298, with a possibility of an even 300 if two belated passengers turn up.

Only on two occasions has this number been exceeded even on specially chartered vessels.

In 1896 the Servia carried 500 Ancients, and in the winter of 1900 the New England carried 525 on her trip through the Mediterranean.

The Commonwealth will have on board over 1000 passengers, for about 250 are going second class, and over 450 third class.

The steamship carries an unusual number of distinguished personages, chief among whom is Sen. Lodge and family.

They will occupy the two palatial staterooms on the promenade deck—the only two on that deck—rooms so large as to be really worthy of being called chambers, furnished with brass bedsteads and elegant equipments.

Sen. Lodge is accompanied by Mrs. Lodge and maid; his son, G. C. Lodge, and the latter's wife, who was Miss Davis, daughter of Judge Davis of Washington.

Sen. Lodge did not want to talk about anything when met in the office of the line.

"I'm just going for pleasure—on vacation," he said, "and I haven't any plans as to where we may go.

"It is pleasanter sometimes to have no plans, to let the fancy of the hour decide the destination.

"We shall be back Oct. 1."

The senator could not be tempted to open his mouth on any subject whatever. "It's vacation weather," he pleaded.

Scarcely less eminent, among the passengers, is Prof. George Harris, the distinguished theologian, formerly of Andover, now president of Amherst College.

Pres. Harris is accompanied by his wife and son George.

"We shall spend two or three weeks in Wales, and the rest of the time probably in the Austrian Tyrol.

"We shall be outdoors, walking, a great deal. We are going for vacation, recuperation, not sight-seeing.

"We expect to be back Sept. 15."

Bishop McVickar of R. I., will be the largest passenger, and every inch of the grand old man will be appreciated. His sister accompanies him.

Prof. Baerman, the well known musician, goes to Munich with his wife, to be absent until September, 1892. He will visit the scenes of home and childhood after many years of absence. During his year abroad his most advanced pupils will look after the progress of the others.

F. R. Comee, assistant manager of the Symphony Orchestra, and even better known as the popular manager of the "Pops," goes with Mrs. Comee for a visit to England and France. Some of his delightful letters of travel will appear in various publications during his absence.

Times June 30-01

"Grad." Night at the Pops.

THERE was a "hot time" in old Symphony hall on Monday night, when every available space was filled from floor to balcony with the sweethearts and friends of Harvard graduates, and the graduates themselves. On the main floor were fully 200 men of class '98, and they were the lions of the evening, with '91 as a close rival.

There were the classes of '99, '98, '97, '96, '95, '94, '93, '91, '89, '88, '87, '86, '84, '83, '81, '75 and '41, the last mentioned being represented by one member only, Mr. Keyes of Concord, now fourscore and more.

The hall was hung with crimson banners marked "H, Pops, 1901," but presto, the coveted trophies were seized and stolen by fair admirers and the proverbial trophy hunter.

Pandemonium reigned supreme, each class vieing with the others in singing and howling and yelling "Glory, Glory for the Crimson," and other songs, and sending up toy balloons, some of which were let loose and allowed to float to the ceiling, where doubtless they still hover in all their forgotten glory.

The representatives of '91 had the rival color, green, and toward the close of the evening's hilarity when a red and green balloon were snugly tied together and sent up the shouts were deafening.

The music was unusually fine and inspiriting whenever the orchestra got a chance to play between the class yells and songs that monopolized the flying moments.

During an intermission about 200 of the younger set of men took complete possession of the stage, and then began the struggle as to which class could place its flag the highest.

The class of '96, however, took the palm for this feat, and won it fairly, placing two of its lank and lithe members with a mighty "boost" high up in an almost unhoped-for alcove intended for a statue.

The evening was one long to be remembered, for there was nothing like it ever before in the Pop annals, and the "boys" will doubtless always associate Monday night at the Symphony as "one night off."

Budget June 30-01

....Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Comee will sail for Liverpool next Wednesday on the Commonwealth.

Journal July 3-01

ALMOST 1000.

Steamer Commonwealth Sails Today With 986 Passengers — Distinguished Men Among Them.

The steamer Commonwealth, of the Dominion Line, when she sails from her dock in Charlestown this morning, will carry the biggest list of saloon passengers that ever went from this port, except when the Ancients sailed on the Servia, and when the New England carried the visitors to the Holy Land.

There are a number of distinguished people on board, among them being Senator Lodge, Gen. Von Paysee and Gen. Von Stoch of the German army; Mr. and Mrs. Josiah P. Quincy, parents of former Mayor Quincy; Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario; Manager F. G. Comee of the "Pops," Rt. Rev. R. N. McVicker and Chairman Nelson B. Wyllys of the N. E. Passenger Association.

The Commonwealth, in addition to her list of 298 saloon passengers, carries 240 second and 450 third class passengers.

Home Journal July 6-01

Among the Bostonians who have gone abroad for the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sturgis Codman of Gloucester Street, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cunningham of Ivy Street, Longwood, the Rev. Dr. E. Winchester Donald of Trinity Church and Miss Agnes Donald, and Mrs. J. Chester Inches and Miss Natalie Inches of Commonwealth Avenue. The Commonwealth sailed this week and among those on board were Senator and Mrs. Lodge and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Comee of the Charlesgate. Other passengers were Mr. and ~~Mrs. Ge~~orge S. Burton and Miss Burton of 1083 Beacon Street. The Burton house has been leased to Mr. Charles W. Blodgett. Mrs. Burton was a Miller, Mr. Henry F. Miller, the piano manufacturer, being her father. Mr. S. Hooper-Hooper, Mrs. Clarence H. Poor and Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Phillips Quincy were also on the same steamer.

....In the first cabin list of the Commonwealth, sailing July 3, which has been exceeded only by excursion parties on the Cunarder Servia and the Dominion liner New England, were Senator and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge and Mr. John C. Lodge, their son; Bishop W. M. McVickar of Rhode Island; Mr. Fred R. Comee, assistant manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and Mrs. Comee; Mr. N. P. Hallowell and family; Col. H. E. Russell, General von Paysee and General von Stochr of the German army, the Rev. J. Hyslop, Mr. E. H. Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah P. Quincy, the Hon. G. W. Ross, the Rev. D. Tatton, the Rev. E. G. Wesley, Dr. D. W. Wells, the Rev. W. A. Pratt, Dr. W. L. Edwards, Mrs. David McIntosh and Miss H. McIntosh, Dr. Julian A. Meade.

Gazette July 6-01

—Mr. Frederick R. Comee, who managed the Pop Concerts so very successfully this year, sailed with Mrs. Comee on the Commonwealth on Wednesday, for a two months' trip abroad.

Courier July 6-01

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Comee, of the Charlesgate, sailed away on Wednesday, via London and Paris, for a summer in Switzerland. The Comees have been dining almost every evening at the University Club of late, and Mrs. Comee, who is a great beauty, and always beautifully attired, will be greatly missed at the club.

Post July 7-01

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Comee of the Charlergate sailed away Wednesday for a summer in Switzerland, via London and Paris. Mrs. Comee, who is a very beautiful woman, has been greatly admired at the University Club, where she has dined almost every evening for the past few weeks.

Herald June 26-01 Times July 7-01 Advertiser July 3-01

GLORY FOR THE CRIMSON.

The Martial Strains Arouse Harvard Men at the "Pop" Concert to Great Enthusiasm.

When Conductor Strube, with an additional flourish of his baton, guided the orchestra into the martial strains of "Glory, Glory for the Crimson" at the "Pops" last night, the enthusiasm of the collegians, who had been gloating silently over Harvard's second victory in the baseball series with Yale, burst ni the baseball series with Yale, burst forth in a roof-lifting yell. And as the playing progressed the audience gradually took up the strain and sang the words of the song of victory with vim.

The music had not died away before a shout went up, indicating a desire for a repetition of the performance and further glorification of Harvard and her victorious team. As the tumult subsided, there could be heard the prolonged rustling of dainty gloved hands, which were tirelessly doing their best to show how genuine an interest the young women had in crimson color, baseball victories and their own appreciative escorts.

The orchestra was about to play the last number on the programme, when the hilarious contingent, again mindful of the score of 3 to 0, asked that "Up the Street" be played. The popular Harvard march was substituted, and gave the jubilant audience another opportunity to show its colors.

The Steamer Commonwealth Sails.

The Commonwealth sailed at 11.30 a.m. last Wednesday with the largest number of saloon passengers ever transported from Boston on a regular sailing, by any line.

The previous record was 295, conveyed by the Canada of the same line, July 3, 1897, and just one year later the Commonwealth sails with 298 passengers,

The steamship carries an unusual number of distinguished personages, chief among whom is Senator Lodge and family, Prof. George Harris, the distinguished theologian, formerly of Andover, now president of Amherst college, who is accompanied by his wife and son George.

Bishop McVickar of Rhode Island, Prof. Baerman, the well-known pianist, and wife, who will be absent until September, 1902, visiting the scenes of home and childhood after many years of absence.

F. R. Comee, assistant manager of the Symphony orchestra, and even better known as the manager of the "Pops," with Mrs. Comee goe for a visit to England and France. Some of hi delightful letters of travel will appear in variou publications during his absence.

Two bridal couples go on their wedding jou ney—Mr. and Mrs. John Dey of Syracuse an Mr. and Mrs. Allerton Cushman of Phila delphia.

AN IMMENSE PASSENGER LIST.

Str. Commonwealth Breaks All Patronage Records from Boston—Prominent Persons Sail.

18

The Commonwealth sails today at 11.30 a.m., with the largest number of saloon passengers ever transported from Boston on a regular sailing, by any line.

The previous record was 295, conveyed by the Canada, of the same line, July 3, 1897.

Today's list is 298, with a possibility of an even 300 if two belated passengers turn up.

Only on two occasions has this number been exceeded even on specially chartered vessels.

In 1896 the Servia carried 500 Ancients, and in the winter of 1900 the New England carried 525 on her trip through the Mediterranean.

The Commonwealth will have on board over 1000 passengers, for about 250 are going second class, and over 450 third class.

The steamship carries an unusual number of distinguished personages, chief among whom is Sen. Lodge and family.

They will occupy the two palatial staterooms on the promenade deck—the only two on that deck—rooms so large as to be really worthy of being called chambers, furnished with brass bedsteads and elegant equipments.

Sen. Lodge is accompanied by Mrs. Lodge and maid; his son, G. C. Lodge, and the latter's wife, who was Miss Davis, daughter of Judge Davis of Washington.

Sen. Lodge did not want to talk about anything when met in the office of the line.

"I'm just going for pleasure—on vacation," he said, "and I haven't any plans as to where we may go.

"It is pleasanter sometimes to have no plans, to let the fancy of the hour decide the destination.

"We shall be back Oct. 1."

The senator could not be tempted to open his mouth on any subject whatever. "It's vacation weather," he pleaded.

Scarcely less eminent, among the passengers, is Prof. George Harris, the distinguished theologian, formerly of Andover, now president of Amherst College.

Pres. Harris is accompanied by his wife and son George.

"We shall spend two or three weeks in Wales, and the rest of the time probably in the Austrian Tyrol.

"We shall be outdoors, walking, a great deal. We are going for vacation, recuperation, not sight-seeing.

"We expect to be back Sept. 15."

Bishop McVickar of R. I., will be the largest passenger, and every inch of the grand old man will be appreciated. His sister accompanies him.

Prof. Baerman, the well known musician, goes to Munich, with his wife, to be absent until September, 1892. He will visit the scenes of home and childhood after many years of absence. During his year abroad his more advanced pupils will look after the progress of the others.

F. R. Comee, assistant manager of the Symphony Orchestra, and even better known as the popular manager of the "Pops," goes with Mrs. Comee for a visit to England and France. Some of his delightful letters of travel will appear in various publications during his absence.

"Grad." Night at the Pops.

THERE was a "hot time" in old Symphony hall on Monday night, when every available space was filled from floor to balcony with the sweethearts and friends of Harvard graduates, and the graduates themselves. On the main floor were fully 200 men of class '98, and they were the lions of the evening, with '91 as a close rival.

There were the classes of '99, '98, '97, '96, '95, '94, '93, '91, '89, '88, '87, '86, '84, '83, '81, '75 and '41, the last mentioned being represented by one member only, Mr. Keyes of Concord, now fourscore and more.

The hall was hung with crimson banners marked "H, Pops, 1901," but presto, the coveted trophies were seized and stolen by fair admirers and the proverbial trophy hunter.

Pandemonium reigned supreme, each class vieing with the others in singing and howling and yelling "Glory, Glory for the Crimson," and other songs, and sending up toy balloons, some of which were let loose and allowed to float to the ceiling, where doubtless they still hover in all their forgotten glory.

The representatives of '91 had the rival color, green, and toward the close of the evening's hilarity when a red and green balloon were snugly tied together and sent up the shouts were deafening.

The music was unusually fine and inspiriting whenever the orchestra got a chance to play between the class yells and songs that monopolized the flying moments.

During an intermission about 200 of the younger set of men took complete possession of the stage, and then began the struggle as to which class could place its flag the highest.

The class of '96, however, took the palm for this feat, and won it fairly, placing two of its lank and lithe members with a mighty "boost" high up in an almost unhoped-for alcove intended for a statue.

The evening was one long to be remembered, for there was nothing like it ever before in the Pop annals, and the "boys" will doubtless always associate Monday night at the Symphony as "one night off."

Budget

....Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Comee will sail for Liverpool next Wednesday on the Commonwealth.

Journal July 5-01

ALMOST 1000.

18

Steamer Commonwealth Sails Today With 986 Passengers — Distinguished Men Among Them.

The steamer Commonwealth, of the Dominion Line, when she sails from her dock in Charlestown this morning, will carry the biggest list of saloon passengers that ever went from this port, except when the Ancients sailed on the Servia, and when the New England carried the visitors to the Holy Land.

There are a number of distinguished people on board, among them being Senator Lodge, Gen. Von Paysee and Gen. Von Stoch of the German army; Mr. and Mrs. Josiah P. Quincy, parents of former Mayor Quincy; Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario; Manager F. M. Comee of the "Pops," Rt. Rev. W. M. MacVicker and Chairman Nelson E. Wilks of the N. E. Passenger Association.

The Commonwealth, in addition to her list of 296 saloon passengers, carries 240 second and 450 third class passengers.

Among the Bostonians who have gone abroad for the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sturgis Codman of Gloucester Street, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cunningham of Ivy Street, Longwood, the Rev. Dr. E. Winchester Donald of Trinity Church and Miss Agnes Donald, and Mrs. J. Chester Inches and Miss Natalie Inches of Commonwealth Avenue. The Commonwealth sailed this week and among those on board were Senator and Mrs. Lodge and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Comee of the Charlesgate. Other passengers were Mr. and Mrs. George S. Burton and Miss Burton of 1083 Beacon Street. The Burton house has been leased to Mr. Charles W. Blodgett. Mrs. Burton was a Miller, Mr. Henry F. Miller, the piano manufacturer, being her father. Mr. S. Hooper-Hooper, Mrs. Clarence H. Poor and Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Phillips Quincy were also on the same steamer.

....In the first cabin list of the Commonwealth, sailing July 3, which has been exceeded only by excursion parties on the Cunarder Servia and the Dominion liner New England, were Senator and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge and Mr. John C. Lodge, their son; Bishop W. M. McVickar of Rhode Island; Mr. Fred R. Comee, assistant manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and Mrs. Comee; Mr. N. P. Hallowell and family; Col. H. E. Russell, General von Paysee and General von Stochr of the German army, the Rev. J. Hyslop, Mr. E. H. Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah P. Quincy, the Hon. G. W. Ross, the Rev. D. Tatton, the Rev. E. G. Wesley, Dr. D. W. Wells, the Rev. W. A. Pratt, Dr. W. L. Edwards, Mrs. David McIntosh and Miss H. McIntosh, Dr. Julian A. Meade.

Budget

—Mr. Frederick R. Comee, who managed the Pop Concerts so very successfully this year, sailed with Mrs. Comee on the Commonwealth on Wednesday, for a two months' trip abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Comee of the Charlergate sailed away Wednesday for a summer in Switzerland, via London and Paris. Mrs. Comee, who is a very beautiful woman, has been greatly admired at the University Club, where she has dined almost every evening for the past few weeks.

Courier July 6-01

——Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Comee, of the Charlesgate, sailed away on Wednesday, via London and Paris, for a summer in Switzerland. The Comees have been dining almost every evening at the University Club of late, and Mrs. Comee, who is a great beauty, and always beautifully attired, will be greatly missed at the club.

Journal July 4-01

MORE THAN A THOUSAND.

Big Passenger List of Commonwealth—Senator Lodge One of the Company—Many Bostonians Going Abroad.

Freighted with the flower of Boston's young people, if one might judge by the disply of charming buds along her rail, the great Commonwealth, queen of the Dominion Line, put to sea yesterday, under the brightest of skies and the happiest of auguries for a pleasant passage, unbroken by storm or gale.

She carried out 1050 passengers, and as each one of that 1050 had three more come to see he or she off the decks of the huge steamer fairly swarmed with excited and eager humanity. The young set predominated everywhere, and Boston, Cambridge, Newton and Brookline, the North Shore and far Beverly were well represented among them.

It was not that it was such an exceptionally distinguished company, for Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Rt. Rev. Dr. McVickar, Bishop of Rhode Island, were the only especial stars, but it was a jolly company of the plain, everyday substantiality of Boston social life. The solid citizen came and brought along wife and the girls, the latter brimful of the vivacity which accompanies the novelty of a first trip across.

There were so many that the ship's officers yielded their state rooms to accommodate those who wanted a deck state room and went below themselves.

The ship was wonderfully prompt in her sailing. The hour was set at 11.30, but she was ready to leave a full 15 minutes before that time, and the lines were cast off very closely on the dot.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge arrived late with his party from Nahant and the Senator was busily occupied in giving personal attention to his baggage.

Has No Plans.

"Plans?" he said; "I haven't any. I don't want any. I am going to just forget all about politics and stretch out. The only definite plan fixed in my mind is that we are going to Bayreuth to be there during the opera season, and after that we shall go wherever the mood listeth. That's all I can say. I don't know any more where I am going than the man in the moon at this minute. Only this, that all our time will be spent on the Continent. I think that is the very best way to travel, don't you know, when you want to enjoy yourself thoroughly; just to be governed by your fancy; give it rein and go wherever it leads you. One sees more that way than any other.

"I am going to be away about three months and expect to be back here Oct. 1. Then I shall be ready for politics again if there is anything of interest for the campaign this year."

The Senator and Mrs. Lodge have the best suite on the ship. It is forward on the upper deck of the super-structure above the main deck, where he can inhale all the exhilaration of the ocean breezes. With him are Mrs. Lodge and his son, George C. Lodge, with the latter's wife, who was Miss Davis, daughter of Judge Davis of Washington. They have a suite of four rooms, with a library and study, to themselves.

Hon. Jeremiah J. McCarthy, Surveyor of the Port, with Maj. Homer Edgerly, ex-Senator Robert Southworth, Col. Thomas Taff and Naval Officer J. O. Lyford, called upon the Senator to bid him bon voyage, and they accompanied him down the bay to Boston Light, where the revenue cutter Chandler was in waiting with a party of ladies on board to wave a farewell and to take off the official visitors.

Senator Augustus P. Gardner, who married the daughter of Senator Lodge, waved his good-by from the pier just before the lines were cast off.

Speaker Myers of the Massachusetts House was at the pier to bid good-by to a number of Cambridge friends in the party of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Cambridge, with whom were Miss Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Robinson.

Capt. Jack Hallowell of the Harvard track team came down to see his father off, Col. Norwood P. Hallowell, President of the Bank of Commerce, who with Mrs. Hallowell, Miss Hallowell and Miss Susan M. Hallowell are going to take a vacation abroad.

Col. Henry E. Russell and Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah P. Quincy, who go across to visit their son at his English home, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lincoln were among the other well-known Boston people on board.

Dr. George Harris, former Professor of Theology at Andover and now President of Amherst College, found a congenial companion in Rt. Rev. Dr. W. M. McVickar, Bishop of Rhode Island, whose delightful geniality and magnetic presence drew around him at once a very enjoyable circle.

Dr. Harris is going to the Tyrol, in Austria, after a preliminary pedestrian tour in Wales. With him are Mrs. Harris and his son George. It is to be a vacation pure and simple with them, with all the outdoor life possible, and much of the time will be occupied in tramping.

Bishop McVickar leaned against the rail this morning watching with intense interest the vivacious life about him. He goes upon a recuperative tour entirely. With him is his daughter, Miss E. C. McVickar.

Prof. Carl Baerman, the well-known maestro, and Mrs. Baerman are also of the Commonwealth's saloon circle. They are going to Munich to visit the home of the professor's childhood, and to go over again the country he has not known for many years. They will not return till 1902, intending to make a full year abroad.

There are two bridal couples on the Commonwealth—Mr. and Mrs. John Dey of Syracuse, N. Y., who are going to bonnie Scotland, and Mr. and Mrs. Allerton Cushman of Philadelphia.

Then there is the Premier of Ontario, Hon. George W. Ross and Gen. von Stoehr and Gen. von Paysee.

Senator and Mrs. Lodge will have delightful company with the Forbes of Milton, Mr. J. Grant Forbes, Francis B. Forbes, Mrs. Forbes, Miss Ethel A. Forbes and Miss Evelyn Forbes. Mr. Austin Potter, who sailed on the Commonwealth, is a nephew of Bishop Potter of New York.

Mr. F. R. Comee to whom Boston is indebted for the "Pop Concerts," is taking a trip abroad with Mrs. Comee. Mr. Comee is to write letters home from his experiences in England and France, and when he returns to the Boston Symphony Orchestra next winter it is anticipated that it will be with restored health and energy.

The last bugle blown, the last good-by said, the big Commonwealth moved out into the stream in very stately fashion, her upper decks, clear to the bridge, a fluttering mass of tiny flags. She took to sea the biggest saloon list ever carried by any ocean liner from the port of Boston to Liverpool, 298.

Only on two special chartered trips has this been exceeded—by the Servia, with 500 Ancients and their friends on board to Liverpool in 1895, and by the New England, on the somewhat famous Mediterranean trip of 1900, when she had 525 in the first cabin.

The Commonwealth has 250 in the second cabin and 502 in the steerage.

Everybody is looking forward to a quick trip, and perhaps a record-breaker.

Home Journal July 13-01

Previous to sailing for Europe Mr. F. R. Comee was a guest of Mrs. L. B. Staples at The Hesperus, Magnolia. Mr. and Mrs. Comee will spend the greater part of the summer in Switzerland. They will return to this country late in August and will be guests at The Hesperus for the remainder of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Briggs and their daughters, Miss Marion G. Briggs, Miss Cecile R. C. Briggs and maid, who have spent several summers at Magnolia, have again returned to the Hesperus, after two years' absence, one summer of which was spent in Germany and the other in California and Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. James T. Dennis, prominent Baltimoreans, who recently arrived at The Hesperus, are spending a greater part of the summer at this hostelry. Mr. W. Tracy Eustis of Beacon Street, Boston, with his two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Eustis and Miss Mary St. B. Eustis, are at The Hesperus for the month of July. Mr. Eustis had as his guest his brother, Mr. Henry D. Eustis, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stilwell, of the City of Mexico, are spending a few days at The Hesperus, previous to their departure for Europe. Mr. Stilwell is well known through his large interests in Mexican railways. The well-known Bostonians, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Melville of Commonwealth Avenue, are occupying accommodations at The Hesperus for the summer. As is Mr. Melville's custom, he brought with him coachman, maid and horses.

Journal July 4-01

MORE THAN A THOUSAND.

Big Passenger List of Commonwealth—Senator Lodge One of the Company—Many Bostonians Going Abroad.

Freighted with the flower of Boston's young people, if one might judge by the disply of charming buds along her rail, the great Commonwealth, queen of the Dominion Line, put to sea yesterday, under the brightest of skies and the happiest of auguries for a pleasant passage, unbroken by storm or gale.

She carried out 1050 passengers, and as each one of that 1050 had three more come to see he or she off the decks of the huge steamer fairly swarmed with excited and eager humanity. The young set predominated everywhere, and Boston, Cambridge, Newton and Brookline, the North Shore and far Beverly were well represented among them.

It was not that it was such an exceptionally distinguished company, for Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Rt. Rev. Dr. McVickar, Bishop of Rhode Island, were the only especial stars, but it was a jolly company of the plain, everyday substantiality of Boston social life. The solid citizen came and brought along wife and the girls, the latter brimful of the vivacity which accompanies the novelty of a first trip across.

There were so many that the ship's officers yielded their state rooms to accommodate those who wanted a deck state room and went below themselves.

The ship was wonderfully prompt in her sailing. The hour was set at 11.30, but she was ready to leave a full 15 minutes before that time, and the lines were cast off very closely on the dot.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge arrived late with his party from Nahant and the Senator was busily occupied in giving personal attention to his baggage.

Has No Plans.

"Plans?" he said; "I haven't any. I don't want any. I am going to just forget all about politics and stretch out. The only definite plan fixed in my mind is that we are going to Bayreuth to be there during the opera season, and after that we shall go wherever the mood listeth. That's all I can say. I don't know any more where I am going than the man in the moon at this minute. Only this, that all our time will be spent on the Continent. I think that is the very best way to travel, don't you know, when you want to enjoy yourself thoroughly; just to be governed by your fancy; give it rein and go wherever it leads you. One sees more that way than any other.

"I am going to be away about three months and expect to be back here Oct. 1. Then I shall be ready for politics again if there is anything of interest for the campaign this year."

The Senator and Mrs. Lodge have the best suite on the ship. It is forward on the upper deck of the super-structure above the main deck, where he can inhale all the exhilaration of the ocean breezes. With him are Mrs. Lodge and his son, George C. Lodge, with the latter's wife, who was Miss Davis, daughter of Judge Davis of Washington. They have a suite of four rooms, with a library and study, to themselves.

Hon. Jeremiah J. McCarthy, Surveyer of the Port, with Maj. Homer Edgerly, ex-Senator Robert Southworth, Col. Thomas Taff and Naval Officer J. O. Lyford, called upon the Senator to bid him bon voyage, and they accompanied him down the bay to Boston Light, where the revenue cutter Chandler was in waiting with a party of ladies on board to wave a farewell and to take off the official visitors.

Senator Augustus P. Gardner, who married the daughter of Senator Lodge, waved his good-by from the pier just before the lines were cast off.

Speaker Myers of the Massachusetts House was at the pier to bid good-by to a number of Cambridge friends in the party of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Cambridge, with whom were Miss Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Robinson.

Capt. Jack Hallowell of the Harvard track team came down to see his father off, Col. Norwood P. Hallowell, President of the Bank of Commerce, who with Mrs. Hallowell, Miss Hallowell and Miss Susan M. Hallowell are going to take a vacation abroad.

Col. Henry E. Russell and Mrs. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah P. Quincy, who go across to visit their son at his English home, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lincoln were among the other well-known Boston people on board.

Dr. George Harris, former Professor of Theology at Andover and now President of Amherst College, found a congenial companion in Rt. Rev. Dr. W. M. McVickar, Bishop of Rhode Island, whose delightful geniality and magnetic presence drew around him at once a very enjoyable circle.

Dr. Harris is going to the Tyrol, in Austria, after a preliminary pedestrian tour in Wales. With him are Mrs. Harris and his son George. It is to be a vacation pure and simple with them, with all the outdoor life possible, and much of the time will be occupied in tramping.

Bishop McVickar leaned against the rail this morning watching with intense interest the vivacious life about him. He goes upon a recuperative tour entirely. With him is his daughter, Miss E. C. McVickar.

Prof. Carl Baerman, the well-known maestro, and Mrs. Baerman are also of the Commonwealth's saloon circle. They are going to Munich to visit the home of the professor's childhood, and to go over again the country he has not known for many years. They will not return till 1902, intending to make a full year abroad.

There are two bridal couples on the Commonwealth—Mr. and Mrs. John Dey of Syracuse, N. Y., who are going to bonnie Scotland, and Mr. and Mrs. Allerton Cushman of Philadelphia.

Then there is the Premier of Ontario, Hon. George W. Ross and Gen. von Stoehr and Gen. von Paysee.

Senator and Mrs. Lodge will have delightful company with the Forbes of Milton, Mr. J. Grant Forbes, Francis B. Forbes, Mrs. Forbes, Miss Ethel A. Forbes and Miss Evelyn Forbes. Mr. Austin Potter, who sailed on the Commonwealth, is a nephew of Bishop Potter of New York.

Mr. F. R. Comee to whom Boston is indebted for the "Pop Concerts," is taking a trip abroad with Mrs. Comee. Mr. Comee is to write letters home from his experiences in England and France, and when he returns to the Boston Symphony Orchestra next winter it is anticipated that it will be with restored health and energy.

The last bugle blown, the last good-by said, the big Commonwealth moved out into the stream in very stately fashion, her upper decks, clear to the bridge, a fluttering mass of tiny flags. She took to sea the biggest saloon list ever carried by any ocean liner from the port of Boston to Liverpool, 298.

Only on two special chartered trips has this been exceeded—by the Servia, with 500 Ancients and their friends on board to Liverpool in 1895, and by the New England, on the somewhat famous Mediterranean trip of 1900, when she had 525 in the first cabin.

The Commonwealth has 250 in the second cabin and 502 in the steerage.

Everybody is looking forward to a quick trip, and perhaps a record-breaker.

Previous to sailing for Europe Mr. F. R. Comee was a guest of Mrs. L. B. Staples at The Hesperus, Magnolia. Mr. and Mrs. Comee will spend the greater part of the summer in Switzerland. They will return to this country late in August and will be guests at The Hesperus for the remainder of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Briggs and their daughters, Miss Marion G. Briggs, Miss Cecile R. C. Briggs and maid, who have spent several summers at Magnolia, have again returned to the Hesperus, after two years' absence, one summer of which was spent in Germany and the other in California and Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. James T. Dennis, prominent Baltimoreans, who recently arrived at The Hesperus, are spending a greater part of the summer at this hostelry. Mr. W. Tracy Eustis of Beacon Street, Boston, with his two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Eustis and Miss Mary St. B. Eustis, are at The Hesperus for the month of July. Mr. Eustis had as his guest his brother, Mr. Henry D. Eustis, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stilwell, of the City of Mexico, are spending a few days at The Hesperus, previous to their departure for Europe. Mr. Stilwell is well known through his large interests in Mexican railways. The well-known Bostonians, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Melville of Commonwealth Avenue, are occupying accommodations at The Hesperus for the summer. As is Mr. Melville's custom, he brought with him coachman, maid and horses.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 5, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 1
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 5
PROGRAMME

1. POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE, Military March No. 1 . Elgar
   Organ, Mr. JOHN MARSHALL.
   (First time)
2. WALTZ, "Gross-Wien" . . . . . Strauss
3. SELECTION from "Romeo and Juliet" . . . . Gounod
4. OVERTURE, "Orphee aux Enfers" . . . . . Offenbach
   Violin obligato, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN.
5. PRELUDES TO ACTS I. AND III., "Lohengrin" . Wagner
6. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
7. NEAPOLITAN MANDOLIN PLAYER . . . . . Reinecke
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. SELECTION from "King Dodo" . . . . . Luders
   (First time)
9. BALLET MUSIC from "Le Cid" . . . . . Massenet
   a. Aragonaise.
   b. Madrilène.
   c. Navarraise
10. COUNTRY DANCE . . . . . Nevin
    Orchestrated by G. STRUBE.
    (First time)
11. WALTZ TZIGANE, "Loin du Pays" . . . . . Berger
    (First time)
12. MARCH, "Hussar Drill" . . . . . Zach
    (First time)

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces, etc.
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment.

TO THE PROFESSION...

The increasing demand for GOOD English songs, and the seeming difficulty in pr[illegible]ing the same, compels us to draw th[illegible] attention of the profession generally to the fact that, in addition to our extensive catalogue, we represent the three leading catalogues in Europe. We can offer a variety unsurpassed of compositions by the best composers in the English and French languages on the same date of publication as in Europe. Ask for BOOSEY & COMPANY'S publications, and, if there is any difficulty in obtaining them, please address direct to BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th St., New York.

THE CARE
OF A
Gentleman's Wardrobe

Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:

Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.

2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.

1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.

BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building,
235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.

Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

Bronzes from the foundries of Barbedienne, Colin & others

Classic Subjects Ancient & Modern by European & American Sculptors

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Dominion Line.

Fast Twin Screw Service.

BOSTON to LIVERPOOL.

(VIA QUEENSTOWN)

New England, - - - - - - May 7
Commonwealth, - - - - - May 21
Merion (new), - - - - - May 28

Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $40. Third class at low rates.

Boston-Mediterranean Service.

GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.

Vancouver, May 1, Sept. 6, Oct. 18.
Cambroman, May 24, July 5, Aug. 16.

Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.

Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

Boston, Tuesday, May 6, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 2

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 6

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Merry Soldiers" . . . . . Sabathil
2. OVERTURE, "Zanetta" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "The Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

5. EXCERPTS from "The Flying Dutchman" . . . . Wagner
6. WALTZ, "Snowballs" . . . . . Ziehrer
7. ENTR'ACTE, Gavotte for String Orchestra . . . . Gillet
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, "Le Roi d'Ys" . . . . . Lalo
   Violoncello obligato, Mr. JOSEF KELLER.

9. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Journey" . . . . . Zach
10. LARGO . . . . . Händel
    Violin obligato, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN.
11. VALSE, "Coquette" . . . . . Leoncavallo
    (First time)
12. MARCH, "Obersteiger" . . . . . Zeller

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

President Suspenders

Comfort, Style,
Service.

Don't take imitations. Look for the name "President" on the buckles. Metal parts cannot rust. Every pair guaranteed.

Sold by representative dealers everywhere.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.		Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.		8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 "	B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "		10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m.	A.L.	1.04 p.m.	Air Line	5.59 "
1.03 "		1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "		2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "		3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "		5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.		12.04 a.m.	" "	6.28 a.m.
12.03 a.m.		12.07 "	" "	6.58 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Special tickets required.
A.L. Air Line Limited Train. Parlor Cars and Coaches. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	6.28 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	6.58 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

Mason & Hamlin

PIANOFORTES

USED AND ENDORSED BY

Harold Bauer,
Dr. William Mason,
Antoinette Szumowska,
Arthur Nikisch,
Moritz Moszkowski,
Emil Paur,
Ernest Hutcheson,
Elsa von Grave-Jonas,
Félix Fox,
Paolo Gallico,
Alfred De Voto,
Ludwig Breitner,
George W. Chadwick,
William H. Sherwood,
J. Wallace Goodrich,
Augusto Rotoli,
And others.

Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental

NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES

M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,

162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

[70]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 7, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 3
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these concerts.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert
2. OVERTURE, "Piccolino" . . . . . Guiraud
3. WALTZ, "Landeskinder" . . . . . E. Strauss
4. SELECTION from "Little Duchess" (First time) . . . . . De Koven

5. FINALE, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
6. a. WALTZ, "Honeymoon," for String Orchestra . . . . . Styx
   b. TRAUMEREI . . . . . Schumann
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. SELECTION, "The Geisha" . . . . . Jones
8. POLISH DANCE . . . . . Scharwenka

9. a. SERENADE LYRIQUE . . . . . Elgar
   b. ENTR'ACTE, "La Colon" . . . . . Gounod
10. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
11. POLKA, "Tyrolean" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Princess Ninetta" . . . . . Strauss

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M Steinert & Sons Co.

We have taken the agency for the sale of the Celebrated Regal Mandolins, Guitars, and Banjos
America's Leading Instrument
Prices from $15.00 to $100.00
Art booklet mailed free upon request
C. W. THOMPSON & CO., 13 West Street, Boston

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s . .	15 cents per box
No. 3s . .	25 cents per box
No. 1s . .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip . .	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany
N.Y.C.&H.R.R.R. CO. LESSEE.

PULLMAN VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
(South Station.)
Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4.04	11.04
Arrive New York "	3.30	5.40	10.00	6.00
(Grand Central Station.)	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.

Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 8, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 4
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

THURSDAY, MAY 8

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Szechenyi" . . . . . Fahrbach
2. OVERTURE, "Le Roi l'a dit" . . . . . Delibes
3. WALTZ, "Doctrinen" . . . . . E. Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi

5. ORIENTAL MARCH . . . . . Zach
6. SELECTION, "Singing Girl" . . . . . Herbert
7. (a) A DREAM.
   (b) BOSNIAN LEGEND AND KOLO (National Dance), Komzak
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. WALTZ, "Dream of Love" . . . . . Fahrbach

9. OVERTURE, "Semiramide" . . . . . Rossini
10. GAVOTTE from "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

		Cost per M.
Ginita Deliciosos Extra, . . .	10c., 3 for 25c.	$60.00
Ginita Perfectos, ...	15c., 2 for 25c.	80.00
Monte Rosa Puritanos Extra (Imported),	15c. each.	120.00
Monte Rosa Violetas (Imported), .	20c. "	145.00
Cardinal Deliciosos, ...	10c., 3 for 25c.	60.00
Catriona Perfectos, ...	10c. each.	65.00
Nueva Vida Regalia Especial, .	15c., 2 for 25c.	97.50

ST. LOUIS

A. B. C.

BOHEMIAN PALE EXPORT

BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN DEITIES

Plain and Cork Tip

"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Friday, May 9, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 5
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

FRIDAY, MAY 9
PROGRAMME

1. MARCHE ET CORTEGE from "Queen of Sheba" . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Espana" . . . Waldteufel
4. SONG OF THE RHINE-DAUGHTERS, from "Götterdämmerung" . . . Wagner
5. BALLET MUSIC, "The Vine" . . . Rubinstein
   a. Italian.
   b. Hungarian.
   Orchestrated by W. Gericke.
6. HARPIST'S EVENING SONG, for String Orchestra and Harp, Kieuzl (First time)
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Joys of Life" . . . Strauss
8. HUNGARIAN DANCES . . . Brahms
9. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . Auber
10. RONDE D'AMOUR . . . Westerhout
11. KAISER WALTZ . . . Strauss
12. MILITARY MARCH . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos . . . 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

Boston Club Lager
Is served at these Concerts.
The best judges unreservedly admit that this is the
BEST BEER BREWED.
It is brewed and bottled only by
A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is
Pabst Milwaukee.
L. SPEIDEL & CO., General New England Agts.,
22 Hawley Street, Boston.
Telephone, Main 378.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of
WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS,
MINERAL WATERS, Etc.
SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 10, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 6

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 10.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Hussar Drill" . . . . . Zach
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
3. WALTZ, "Pomone" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven

---

5. BLISSFUL DREAM . . . . . Meyer-Helmund
6. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
7. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
8. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini

Violoncello obligato, Mr. JOSEF KELLER.

---

9. SUITE, "Sylvia." Valse, Pizzicati, Finale . . . Delibes
10. THE MOUSE BEFORE THE TRAP . . . Koehler

(The mice are playing before the trap. One, more reckless, ventures too far and is caught. The others run away.)
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)

11. WALTZ, "Jolly Fellows" . . . . . Vollstedt
12. MARCH, "Vienna Dude" . . . . . Wagner

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

POPULAR NEW MARCHES.

BRAVE BOYS' MARCH	Emil Otto
CHAMPIONSHIP MARCH	Robert G. Morse
COLLEGE DAYS MARCH	C. Harry Kain
HAIL TO THE CRIMSON	Arthur Mann
HUSSAR DRILL	Max Zach
KNIGHTS OF THE SWORD	Bernhard Stern
NEWSBOYS' MARCH	L. E. Orth
PEMBERTON MARCH	William R. Spence
STEIN SONG MARCH	Frederic Field Bullard

OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
451 WASHINGTON STREET.

BALLARDVALE LITHIA WATER

Ranks pre-eminently first as a standard water, being 25 per cent. purer than the so-called purest water on the market to-day.

We make no claims for Ballardvale Lithia Water except such as are substantiated by the following high authority:

British Medical Journal
"It is a water rich in Lithia Salts."

London Lancet
"The water is of admirable organic purity."

Edinburgh Medical Journal
"We highly recommend Ballardvale Lithia Water."

British Medical Press and Circular
"We recommend it with confidence."

Dublin Journal of Medical Science
"We consider Ballardvale Lithia an excellent water."

Sold at these concerts
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent

Philip Krim's

Own importation of

RHINE WINES.

For thirty years at

163 Shawmut Avenue.

Our wines sold at these concerts.

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.

Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.

If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls, (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 12, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 7

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 12.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Princess Ninetta" . . . . . Strauss
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. WALTZ, "Barcarolle" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner

---

5. DREAM MUSIC from "Hänsel and Gretel" . . . Humperdinck
6. WALTZ, "Wine, Women, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
7. HABAÑERA . . . . . Chabrier
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.
8. a. SCHERZO-VALSE, b. MALAGUEÑA, } from "Boabdil" . . . Moszkowski

---

9. HYMN to St. Cecilia . . . . . Gounod
   (Violin obligato, Mr. J. Hoffmann.)
10. GAVOTTE from "Manon" . . . . . Massenet
    (First time)
11. WALTZ, "La Patineuse" . . . . . Joh. Strauss, Jr.
    (First time)
12. MARCH, "Feurig Blut" . . . . . Vollstedt

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
Unequalled for table use.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.
SOLD HERE

The DRAUGHT ALE
TRADE MARK THE B&E B.Co
AND
TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES,
Sold at these Concerts, are furnished by
SOL. BACHARACH,
Wholesale Dealer in High-grade Malt Beverages
508-510 Atlantic Ave. Telephone, 3805 Main.

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER BIER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 162 State Street.
Telephone, Richmond 1119.
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS.

MOGUL
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
PLAIN or CORK TIP
Superior to most. Equal to any.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
ON SALE AT
CLUBS, CAFES, and LEADING GROCERIES
ASK THE WAITER
SOL. BACHARACH, 508, 510 Atlantic Avenue
Sole Agent, New England States

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 13, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Vol. I. No. 8
Published by C. A. ELLIS
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 13.

PROGRAMME.

1. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Strauss
2. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . Nicolai
3. WALTZ, "Tales from the Vienna Woods" . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION from "Fortune-teller" . . . . Herbert
5. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . Suppé
   'Cello obligato, Mr. J. KELLER.
6. a. GAVOTTE . . . . . Bach
   b. MENUET for String Orchestra . . . . Bolzoni
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Sentiers Fleuris" . . . . Waldteufel
8. SUITE, "Peer Gynt" . . . . Grieg
   a. Aase's Death.
   b. Anitra's Dance.
   c. In the Hall of the Mountain King.
9. OVERTURE, "Mirella" . . . . Gounod
10. WALTZ, "La Gitana" . . . . Bucalossi
11. RIDE OF THE HUSSARS . . . . Spindler
12. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . Wagner

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces etc
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

POPULAR MUSIC FOR PIANO.

THE TOREADOR TWO-STEP,	On Melodies by Caryll & Monckton,	60 cents
THE TOREADOR WALTZ,	On Melodies by Caryll & Monckton,	75 cents
THE TOREADOR SELECTION,	On Melodies by Caryll & Monckton,	$1.00
AMOUREUSE WALTZ,	R. Berger,	60 cents
LOIN DU PAYS WALTZ,	R. Berger,	60 cents
PLAISIR D'AMOUR WALTZ,	I. Caryll,	75 cents
COUNTRY GIRL WALTZ,	L. Monckton,	75 cents
COUNTRY GIRL SELECTION,	L. Monckton,	$1.00

Also various arrangements from the latest London success, "MERRIE ENGLAND," by E. German.

Write for lists.

BOOSEY & CO., - NEW YORK.
Agents for CHAPPEL & CO.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m. A.L.	1.04 p.m.	Air Line	5.59 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	6.28 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	6.58 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Special tickets required.
A.L. Air Line Limited Train. Parlor Cars and Coaches. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	6.28 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	6.58 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

ON STREET FLOOR.
A room devoted exclusively to
SILVER
Dinner ware, tea sets, bowls & dishes
Pitchers & trays, bon-bon dishes.

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 14, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 9
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

DOMINION LINE.
Fast Twin Screw Service.
Boston to Liverpool.
(VIA QUEENSTOWN)
Commonwealth, - - - - - May 21
Merion (new), - - - - - May 28
New England, - - - - - June 4
Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $42.50.
Boston-Mediterranean Service.
GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.
Cambroman, May 24, July 5, Aug. 16.
Vancouver, Sept. 6, Oct. 18, Nov. 29.
Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.
Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Obersteiger" . . . . . Zeller
2. OVERTURE, "Domino Noir" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Vienna Bonbons" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. BALLET MUSIC from "Queen of Sheba" . . . . Goldmark
   'Cello obligato, Mr. J. KELLER.
6. WALTZ, "Neu Wien" . . . . . Strauss
7. a. SPRING SONG . . . . . Mendelssohn
   b. SERENADE . . . . . Moszkowski
8. "POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE," Military March No. 1, Elgar
   Organ, Mr. JOHN P. MARSHALL.

---

9. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . Thomas
10. SELECTION, "Mikado" . . . . . Sullivan
11. WALTZ, "Faschingskinder" . . . . . Ziehrer
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

When you wear "President Suspenders,"
Remember the guarantee: "all breaks made good."
The metal parts cannot rust.
The name President is on the buckle.
Sold at "Correct" stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.
C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO.,
Box 310. SHIRLEY, MASS.
Special weights for hard workers.
Small sizes for boys.

THE CARE
OF A
Gentleman's Wardrobe
Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:
Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.
2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.
1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.
BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building, 235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.
Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

Mason & Hamlin
PIANOFORTES
USED AND ENDORSED BY
Harold Bauer, Dr. William Mason, Antoinette Szumowska, Arthur Nikisch, Moritz Moszkowski, Emil Paur, Ernest Hutcheson, Elsa von Grave-Jonas, Félix Fox, Paolo Gallico, Alfred De Voto, Ludwig Breitner, George W. Chadwick, William H. Sherwood, J. Wallace Goodrich, Augusto Rotoli,
And others.
Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental
NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES
M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,
162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[777]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts.

Boston, Thursday, May 15, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 10
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 15

PROGRAMME

1. MARCHE HONGROISE . . . . . Berlioz
2. OVERTURE, "Masaniello" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Artist's Life" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION from "Romeo and Juliet" . . . . . Gounod

---

5. OVERTURE, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi
6. NOTTURNO AND SCHERZO from "Midsummer-night's Dream" . . . . . Mendelssohn
7. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Wedding" . . . . . Zach
8. FIRE-CHARM from "Walküre" . . . . . Wagner

---

9. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
10. PRELUDE, "Le Déluge" . . . . . Saint-Saëns
    Violin obligato, Mr. HOFFMANN.
11. WALTZ TZIGANE, "Loin du Pays" . . . . . Berger
12. MARCH, "Austria" . . . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

Miss Kate Vannah's Latest Songs.

GRAY ROCKS AND GRAYER SEAS (two keys), . .	Each, $0.40
DAYBREAK, ...	.50
GOOD-BYE, ...	.50
WHEN YOU ARE HERE, LOVE, ...	.50
THE MERRY, MERRY LARK	.50
LOVE'S YEARS ARE BRAVE AND LONG, . . .	.50
WHEN THE ROSES FALL, ...	.60
DEEP IN MY DEAR ONE'S TRUSTING HEART, .	.50
FOR YOUR SAKE, ...	.60

C. W. Thompson & Co., Music Publishers,
13 West Street, Boston.

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s . .	15 cents per box
No. 3s . .	25 cents per box
No. 1s . .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip . .	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany
N. Y. & H. R. R. Co. Lessee

PULLMAN VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
(South Station.)
Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4 04	11.04
Arrive New York "	3.30	5.40	10.00	6.00
(Grand Central Station.)	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.

Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

[78]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 16, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 11
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

S. S. Pierce Company

BOSTON,
BROOKLINE.

FRIDAY, MAY 16
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "The Flag" . . . . . Ziehrer
2. OVERTURE, "Le Roi l'a dit" . . . . . Delibes
3. WALTZ, "Meerleuchten" . . . . . Ziehrer
4. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi

5. BALLET MUSIC from "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
6. ENTR'ACTE for String Orchestra . . . . . Gillet
7. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
8. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet

9. TWO SPANISH DANCES . . . . . Moszkowski
10. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
11. MAZOURKA, "Die Libelle" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH from "Probe Kuss" . . . . . Milloecker

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Ginita Perfectos,	15c., 2 for 25c.
Monte Rosa Puritanos Extra (Imported),	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas (Imported),	20c. "
Cardinal Deliciosos,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Catriona Perfectos,	10c. each.
Nueva Vida Regalia Especial,	15c., 2 for 25c.

ST. LOUIS A. B. C.

BOHEMIAN PALE EXPORT

BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN DEITIES

Plain and Cork Tip

"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

Boston, Saturday, May 17, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 12
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 17
PROGRAMME

1. HUNGARIAN MARCH . . . . . Moldauer
2. WALTZ, "Joy of Life" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . . . Auber
4. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . Mascagni

5. FINALE, Act I., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
6. SELECTION, "Brigands" . . . . . Offenbach
7. SERENADE, "Rococo" . . . . . Meyer-Helmund
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
Solo Violoncello, JOSEF KELLER.

9. VALSE BLEUE . . . . . Margis
10. FUNERAL MARCH OF A MARIONETTE . . . Gounod
11. SELECTION from "Little Duchess" . . . . . De Koven
12. MILITARY MARCH . . . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

Boston Club Lager

Is served at these Concerts.

The best judges unreservedly admit that this is the

BEST BEER BREWED.

It is brewed and bottled only by

A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is

Pabst Milwaukee.

L. SPEIDEL & CO., General New England Agts.,
22 Hawley Street, Boston.
Telephone, Main 378.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of

WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS,
MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 19, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 13

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Through the kindness of Mrs.

H. H. A. Beach

The Messrs. M. Steinert & Sons Company have the honor to announce a

Pianoforte Recital

For the benefit of the Martinique and St. Vincent Sufferers

IN

STEINERT HALL

On Thursday Afternoon, MAY 22, at 2.30 o'clock.

The entire proceeds will be devoted to swell the fund now being raised under the patronage of His Honor, the Mayor of Boston.

Tickets, $2.00, now on sale at the hall. They may be ordered by mail or telephone.

MONDAY, MAY 19

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "The Continentals" . . . . . Brooke
2. WALTZ, "O schöner Mai" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Orphée aux Enfers" . . . . . Offenbach
   Violin obbligato, Mr. HOFFMANN.
4. SELECTION from "The Huguenots" . . . . . Meyerbeer
5. TWO ENTR'ACTES from "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
6. NUTCRACKER SUITE . . . . . Tschaikowsky
   a. Chinese March. b. Trepak. c. Flower Waltz.
7. LE DERNIER SOMMEIL DE LA VIERGE, for String Orchestra . . . . . Massenet
8. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
9. OVERTURE, "Fledermaus" . . . . . Strauss
10. WALTZ, "Près de toi" . . . . . Waldteufel
11. POLKA, "Tic-tac" . . . . . Strobl
12. TEUFELSMARCH . . . . . Suppé

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

POPULAR WALTZES.

CAMPUS DREAMS,	Edmund M. Blake
COUNTESS POTOCKA,	C. J. Walcott
ELYSIUM WALTZ,	John Francis Gilder
L'ADMIRATION WALTZES,	Edward P. Favor
MY LADY FAIR,	C. J. Walcott
THETA DELTA CHI WALTZES,	Giles Milton Hoyt
UNIVERSITY GIRL WALTZES,	C. Harry Kain
VALSE BLEUE,	Alfred Margis
VALSE ROSE,	Paul Wachs

PUBLISHED BY
OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
451 Washington Street.

A676.

BALLARDVALE LITHIA WATER

Ranks pre-eminently first as a standard water, being 25 per cent. purer than the so-called purest water on the market to-day.

We make no claims for Ballardvale Lithia Water except such as are substantiated by the following high authority:

British Medical Journal
"It is a water rich in Lithia Salts."

London Lancet
"The water is of admirable organic purity."

Edinburgh Medical Journal
"We highly recommend Ballardvale Lithia Water."

British Medical Press and Circular
"We recommend it with confidence."

Dublin Journal of Medical Science
"We consider Ballardvale Lithia an excellent water."

Sold at these concerts

R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent

COAT ROOM A.

HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,

Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles

CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.

Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.

If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls, (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[81]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 20, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 14
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 20

PROGRAMME

1. WERNER MARCH . . . . . Ziehrer
2. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
3. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
4. SELECTION, "La Fille de Mme. Angot" . . . . . Lecocq

5. SELECTION, "Il Trovatore" . . . . . Verdi
6. SONG WITHOUT WORDS, for String Orchestra. Tschaikowsky
   First time
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. a. SEVILLANA . . . . . Massenet
   b. NAILA . . . . . Delibes
8. RHAPSODY IN F . . . . . Liszt

9. a. DANCE OF BAYADERES . . . . . Rubinstein
   b. CANDLE DANCE OF THE BRIDES OF KASHMERE . . . . . Rubinstein
   c. WEDDING PROCESSION . . . . . Rubinstein
10. WALTZ, "Arabian Nights" . . . . . Strauss
11. SELECTION, "Erminie" . . . . . Jakobowsky
12. MARCH, "Merry Soldiers" . . . . . Sabathil

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

SOLD HERE
ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
Unequalled for table use.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents, 125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

The DRAUGHT ALE
TRADE MARK THE B&E B.Co
AND
TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES,
Sold at these Concerts, are furnished by
SOL. BACHARACH,
Wholesale Dealer in High-grade Malt Beverages
508-510 Atlantic Ave Telephone, 3805 Main

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER BIER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 162 State Street.
Telephone, Richmond 1119.
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS.

MOGUL
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
PLAIN or CORK TIP
Superior to most. Equal to any.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
ON SALE AT
CLUBS, CAFES, and LEADING GROCERIES
ASK THE WAITER
SOL. BACHARACH, 508, 510 Atlantic Avenue
Sole Agent, New England States

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[82]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 21, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 15
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 21
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH from "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Zanetta" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Rosen aus dem Süden" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan

5. a. ENTR'ACTE, "Rosamunde" . . . . . Schubert
   b. GAVOTTE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
6. MELODY IN F . . . . . Rubinstein
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. BALLET MUSIC, "Coppelia." Music of the Automatons, Waltz, and Czardas' . . . . . Delibes
8. ENTRÉE TRIOMPHALE DES BOYARDS . . Halvorsen

9. SELECTION from the Operas of . . . . . Meyerbeer
10. WALTZ, "Vienna Beauties" . . . . . Ziehrer
11. "IN THE MILL," for String Orchestra . . . . . Gillet
12. MARCH, "Fra Bombarda" . . . . . Czibulka

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

... Genuine Successes ...

"THE JAPANESE LOVE SONG," by Clayton Thomas.
"VIOLETS," by Ellen Wright.
"OH, DRY THOSE TEARS," by T. del Riego.
"THE STRANGER IN THE TEACUP," by E. Fleming.
"WISE FOLLY," by Landon Ronald.
"CHANSON DE L'ADIEU" (English Version), by P. Tosti.

Write for Catalogues.

BOOSEY & CO., - 9 East 17th Street, - New York.

LEWANDO'S DYEING CLEANSING LAUNDRY

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces etc
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street
Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge
Teams Telephones
We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York
VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	6.00 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	6.28 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	6.58 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Special tickets required.
K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	6.28 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	6.58 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

ON STREET FLOOR.
A room devoted exclusively to
SILVER
Dinner ware, tea sets, bowls & dishes
Pitchers & trays, bon-bon dishes.

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 22, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 16

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 22
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Pro Patria" . . . . . Milloecker
2. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . Herbert
3. WALTZ, "Neu Wien" . . . . . Strauss
4. PRELUDE to "Mastersingers of Nuremberg" . . . Wagner

5. ANGELUS AND FETE BOHEME . . . . Massenet
6. a. REVERIE } for String Orchestra . . . . Maquarre
   b. THE INDIAN }
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Wine, Woman, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
8. SCHERZO AND WEDDING MARCH from "Midsummer-night's Dream" . . . . . Mendelssohn

9. TWO SLAVONIC DANCES . . . . . Dvorak
10. a. RONDE D'AMOUR . . . . . Westerhont
    b. LOIN DU BAL . . . . . Gillet
11. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Journey" . . . . . Zach
12. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . . Wagner

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

DOMINION LINE.

Fast Twin Screw Service.

Boston to Liverpool.

(VIA QUEENSTOWN)

Commonwealth, - - - - - May 21
Merion (new), - - - - - May 28
New England, - - - - - - June 4

Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $42.50.

Boston-Mediterranean Service.

GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.

Cambroman, May 24, July 5, Aug. 16.
Vancouver, Sept. 6, Oct. 18, Nov. 29.

Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.

Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

When you wear "President Suspenders,"
Remember the guarantee: "all breaks made good."
The metal parts cannot rust.
The name President is on the buckle.
Sold at "Correct" stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.
C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO.,
Box 310. SHIRLEY, MASS.
Special weights for hard workers.
Small sizes for boys.

THE CARE
OF A
Gentleman's Wardrobe

Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:

Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.

2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.

1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.

BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building,
235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.

Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

Mason & Hamlin
PIANOFORTES

USED AND ENDORSED BY

Harold Bauer, Moritz Moszkowski, Félix Fox, George W. Chadwick,
Dr. William Mason, Emil Paur, Paolo Gallico, William H. Sherwood,
Antoinette Szumowska, Ernest Hutcheson, Alfred De Voto, J. Wallace Goodrich,
Arthur Nikisch, Elsa von Grave-Jonas, Ludwig Breitner, Augusto Rotoli,
And others.

Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental

NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES
M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,
162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 23, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Vol. I. No. 17
Published by C. A. ELLIS
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these concerts.

FRIDAY, MAY 23

PROGRAMME

1. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Strauss
2. SELECTION, "Romeo and Juliet" . . . . . Gounod
3. WALTZ, "Seid umschlungen Millionen" . . . . . Strauss
4. OVERTURE, "Freischuetz" . . . . . Weber

5. INVITATION À LA VALSE . . . . . Weber–Berlioz
6. NARCISSUS } . . . . . Nevin
   COUNTRY DANCE }
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. SELECTION, "Fatinitza" . . . . . Suppé
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner

9. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
10. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" (First time) . . . . . Ziehrer
11. MAZOURKA, "La Mousmé" . . . . . Ganne
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

NEW SONGS.

LAND OF LOVE. Ernest V. Wright	$0.50
GOOD NIGHT. Cecil M. Caverly	.50
THERE, LITTLE GIRL, DON'T CRY. H. Gilberte	.50
AWAKE! MY HEART. Mabel W. Daniels	.60
THE CITY OF GOD. Two keys. A. E. Little	.60
STILL HIS MOTHER'S BOY. F. E. Jonson	.50
FAIR ROSES. M. M. Osgood	.40
HARK! HARK! THE LARK. William Henry Chase	.30
CALL OF THE SEA-TERN. A. B. Benedict	.30

C. W. Thompson & Co., Music Publishers,
13 West Street, Boston.

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany
N.Y.C.&H.R.R.R.R. CO. LESSEE

PULLMAN VESTIBULE
LIMITED
TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
(South Station.) Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4.04	11.04
Arrive New York " (Grand Central Station.)	3.30 P.M.	5.40 P.M.	10.00 P.M.	6.00 A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.
Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 24, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 18
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 24

PROGRAMME

1. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
2. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
3. WALTZ, "Dream of Love" . . . . . Fahrbach
4. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi

---

5. "POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE," Military March No. 1, Elgar
   Organ, Mr. JOHN P. MARSHALL.
6. VARIATIONS on "Old Folks at Home" . . . . . Busch
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "La Patineuse" . . . . . Joh. Strauss, Jr.
8. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner

---

9. OVERTURE, "Jubilee" . . . . . Weber
10. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
    (Violin obbligato, Mr. HOFFMANN)
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

MONDAY, MAY 26 . . . . . SOLOISTS' NIGHT

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

STATIC
GINGER ALE and BIRCH BEER
SERVED AT THE "POPS"
Made by the New Static Carbonating Process from Purest Ginger and Birch.
STATIC WATER.
Sparkling, purified water, carbonated with Saratoga gas, is now siphoned and served at the Harvard Union, Parker's, Essex, Athletic and Exchange Clubs, Young's, Westminster, Thorndike, McDonald's and St. Clair's, Berkeley, Savoy, Bellevue, and at scores of other leading hotels, clubs, cafés, bars, and soda dispensers'.
Static Carbonating Company,
116 Broad Street, - Boston.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

GINITA DELICIOSOS EXTRA,	10c., 3 for 25c.
GINITA PERFECTOS,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MONTE ROSA PURITANOS EXTRA (Imported),	15c. each.
MONTE ROSA VIOLETAS (Imported),	20c. "
CARDINAL DELICIOSOS,	10c., 3 for 25c.
CATRIONA PERFECTOS,	10c. each.
NUEVA VIDA REGALIA ESPECIAL,	15c., 2 for 25c.

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.
Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.
The perfection of American brewing.
CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN DEITIES
Plain and Cork Tip
"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER
THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Monday, May 26, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902.
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 19
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

MONDAY, MAY 26
Soloists' Night
PROGRAMME

1. POLONAISE . . . . . Tschaikowsky
2. WALTZ, "Du und Du," from "Fledermaus" . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Piccolino" . . . . . Guiraud
4. SOLI FOR VIOLONCELLO
   a. Berceuse . . . . . Godard
   b. Elfentanz . . . . . Popper
   Mr. JOSEF KELLER
5. MENUET, DANSE DES SYLPHES, MARCHE HONGROISE, from "Damnation of Faust" . . . . . Berlioz
6. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
7. SOLO FOR FLUTE. Hungarian Fantasy . . . Doppler
   Mr. ANDRE MAQUARRE
8. MARCHE DES BATTEURS, from "Xavière" . . . Dubois
9. SOLI FOR VIOLIN
   a. Andante from Concerto . . . . . Saint-Saëns
   b. Mazourka . . . . . Zarzycki
   Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
10. ACADEMIC FESTIVAL OVERTURE . . . . . Grace
11. PIZZICATO POLKA . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Hussar Drill" . . . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

First appearance of Conductor Gustav Strube, Monday, June 2
TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

Boston Club Lager

Is served at these Concerts.

The best judges unreservedly admit that this is the

BEST BEER BREWED.

It is brewed and bottled only by

A. G. VAN NOSTRAND,
BUNKER HILL BREWERIES,
CHARLESTOWN.

This Mark guarantees Perfect Brewing.

For sale by all first-class Hotels, Restaurants, and Grocers.

PABST'S MILWAUKEE

L. Speidel & Co., 22 Hawley Street, N. E. Agents.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of

WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS, MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 27, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 20
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 27
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Szechmje" . . . . . Fahrbach
2. WALTZ, "Gross-Wien" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
4. SELECTION, "Chimes of Normandy" . . . . . Planquette

5. a. PÊCHEUR NAPOLITAIN ET NAPOLITAINE } From "Bal
b. TORÉADOR ET ANDALOUSE . . . . } Costumé," Rubinstein
6. WALTZ, "Fesche Geister" . . . . . Ed. Strauss
7. a. DANCE OF SLAVES
b. TAMBOURIN
c. GAVOTTE } . . . . . Gluck–Gevaert
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. TROT DE CAVALERIE . . . . . Rubinstein

9. OVERTURE, "La Part du Diable" . . . . . Auber
10. LARGO . . . . . Händel
Violin obligato, Mr. HOFFMANN
11. WALTZ, "Ninette" . . . . . Bosc
(First time)
12. MARCH, from "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

First appearance of Conductor Gustav Strube, Monday, June 2
TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6

SUCCESSFUL SONGS.

ABSENCE. For high and low voice. Alfred E. Little $0.40
AUF WIEDERSEH'N. Medium and low. Rossetter G. Cole 40
A DREAM. High, medium, and low. J. C. Bartlett 50
DREAMY DAYS. High and medium. Robert Ashford 50
FORGOTTEN. High and low. Eugene Cowles 50
GOOD NIGHT, LITTLE GIRL. High and low. J. C. Macy 50
I LOVE YOU. High and medium Carl Sobeski 50
MOON'S LULLABY. Medium and low. C. S. Burnham 40
SHINE ON, O STARS. High and medium. Frank E. Sawyer 50
SHOOGY-SHOO. Medium and low. Grace Mahew 40
STEIN SONG. High and low. Frederic Field Bullard 50
SWEET IS TIPPERARY. Low voice. William Arms Fisher 50

PUBLISHED BY
OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
451 Washington Street.

A688.

Philip Krim's
Own importation of
RHINE WINES.
For thirty years at
163 Shawmut Avenue.
Our wines sold at these concerts.

FOR 100 YEARS
Authentic records exist of cures from the healing waters of the Ballardvale Lithia Spring. Tradition goes back another hundred years, when the aborigines drank the healing waters of the "big spring."
BALLARDVALE LITHIA WATER
Has been for a century a standard cure for all ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bladder. Its organic purity and tastelessness make it possible to drink it in unlimited quantities,—highly beneficial to the sick, palatable and refreshing to the well. As a table water it is without an equal.
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent
No. 31 Doane St., Boston, Mass.

COAT ROOM A.
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,
Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE
Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON.
IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.
ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas, ...	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls,. (All Havana.) .	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.) . .	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra, ...	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES, ...	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

ASK FOR Schlitz THE BEER THAT MAKES THE WORLD FAMOUS.
MADE MILWAUKEE
Unequalled for table use.
SOLD
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

Boston, Wednesday, May 28, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 21
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 28
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Princess Ninetta" . . . . . Strauss
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Bonbons" . . . . . Strauss
3. OVERTURE, "The Barber of Seville" . . . . . Rossini
4. SELECTION, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. PRELUDES TO ACTS I. AND III., "Lohengrin" . . Wagner
6. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Journey" . . . . . Zach
7. TARANTELLE for Flute, Clarinet, and Orchestra . . Saint-Saëns
   Messrs. MAQUARRE and LEBAILLY
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. SELECTION, "The Fencing Master" . . . . . De Koven

---

9. OFFENBACHIANA . . . . . Conradi
10. a. GAVOTTE from "Manon" . . . . . Massenet
    b. DANSE DES BACCHANTES, from "Philemon and Baucis," Gounod
11. GALOP, "Wasp Nest" . . . . . Zach
12. MARCH, "Ameer" . . . . . Herbert

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

First appearance of Conductor Gustav Strube, Monday, June 2
TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6

The DRAUGHT ALE
TRADE MARK THE B&E B.C.Co.
AND
TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES,
Sold at these Concerts, are furnished by
SOL. BACHARACH,
Wholesale Dealer in High-grade Malt Beverages,
508-510 Atlantic Ave Telephone, 3805 Main

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER BIER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 162 State Street.
Telephone, Richmond 1119.
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS.

MOGUL
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
PLAIN or CORK TIP
Superior to most. Equal to any.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
ON SALE AT
CLUBS, CAFES, and LEADING GROCERIES
ASK THE WAITER
SOL. BACHARACH, 508, 510 Atlantic Avenue
Sole Agent, New England States

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

LEWANDO'S · DYEING · CLEANSING · LAUNDRY

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces etc
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

Boston, Thursday, May 29, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 22

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 29

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH from Suite No. 1 . . . . . Lachner
2. KAISER WALTZ . . . . . Strauss
3. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
4. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner

---

5. BERCEUSE AND INTERMEZZO . . . . . Grace
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
6. OVERTURE to "Egmont" . . . . . Beethoven
7. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
8. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven

---

9. SELECTION, "La Belle Hélène" . . . . . Offenbach
10. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
Violin obligato, Mr. HOFFMANN.
11. WALTZ, "In Shadowland" . . . . . Rollinson
(First time)
12. MARCH, "Poor Jonathan" . . . . . Milloecker

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

First appearance of Conductor Gustav Strube, Monday, June 2
TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6

TO THE PROFESSION...

The increasing demand for GOOD English songs, and the seeming difficulty in procuring the same, compels us to draw the special attention of the profession generally to the fact that, in addition to our extensive catalogue, we represent the three leading catalogues in Europe. We can offer a variety unsurpassed of compositions by the best composers in the English and French languages on the same date of publication as in Europe. Ask for BOOSEY & COMPANY'S publications, and, if there is any difficulty in obtaining them, please address direct to BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th St., New York.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	6.00 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

LEATHER ~~ GOODS.

Pocket Books, Travelling Pockets and Card Cases.

Travelling Bags with interior fittings in Silver, Ivory, Ebony & Shell.

Coach, Wrist & Chatelaine Bags in Beads & Fancy Leathers.

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 30, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 23
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

DOMINION LINE.
Fast Twin Screw Service.
Boston to Liverpool.
(VIA QUEENSTOWN)
New England, - - - - - - June 4
Vancouver, - - - - - - - June 7
Commonwealth, - - - - - June 16
Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $42.50.
Boston-Mediterranean Service.
GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.
Cambroman, July 5, Aug. 16, Sept. 27.
Vancouver, Sept. 6, Oct. 18, Nov. 29.
Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.
Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

FRIDAY, MAY 30

PROGRAMME

1. MARCHE ET CORTEGE, "La Reine de Saba" . . . Gounod
2. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
3. OVERTURE, "Le Roi l'a dit" . . . . . Delibes
4. POTPOURRI, "La Fille de Madame Angot" . . . . Lecocq

5. SELECTION, "Romeo and Juliet" . . . . . Gounod
6. BERCEUSE ("The Doll") . . . . . Bizet
   IMPROMPTU ("The Top") . . . . . Bizet
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ AND PIZZICATO from "Sylvia" . . . . Delibes
8. OVERTURE, "Le Roi d'Ys" . . . . . Lalo

9. BALLET MUSIC from "Le Cid" . . . . . Massenet
   a. Arragonaise
   b. Madrilène
   c. Navarraise
10. PRELUDE to "Le Déluge" . . . . . Saint-Saëns
    Violin obligato, Mr. HOFFMANN
11. VALSE, "Loin du Pays" . . . . . Berger
12. MARCHE TZIGANE . . . . . Lacome

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

First appearance of Conductor Gustav Strube, Monday, June 2
TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6

When you wear "President Suspenders,"
Remember the guarantee: "all breaks made good."
The metal parts cannot rust.
The name President is on the buckle.
Sold at "Correct" stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.
C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO.,
Box 310. SHIRLEY, MASS.
Special weights for hard workers.
Small sizes for boys.

THE CARE
OF A
Gentleman's Wardrobe
Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:
Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.
2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.
1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.
BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building,
235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.
Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

Mason & Hamlin
PIANOFORTES
USED AND ENDORSED BY
Harold Bauer, Moritz Moszkowski, Félix Fox, George W. Chadwick,
Dr. William Mason, Emil Paur, Paolo Gallico, William H. Sherwood,
Antoinette Szumowska, Ernest Hutcheson, Alfred De Voto, J. Wallace Goodrich,
Arthur Nikisch, Elsa von Grave-Jonas, Ludwig Breitner, Augusto Rotoli,
And others.
Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental
NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES
M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,
162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[91]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts.

Boston, Saturday, May 31, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 24

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 31

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Hussar Drill" . . . . . Zach
2. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
3. SELECTION, "Fortune Teller" . . . . . Herbert
4. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini
   'Cello obligato, Mr. JOSEF KELLER

5. WALTZ, "Tales from the Vienna Woods" . . . . Strauss
6. "AVE MARIA" . . . . . Bach–Gounod
   For Violin Solo, Violins, Violas, Solo 'Cello, Harp, Organ
   Messrs. HOFFMANN, KELLER, SCHUECKER, MARSHALL
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. a. SONG WITHOUT WORDS . . . . . Tschaikowsky
   b. VALSE, "L'Amoureuse" . . . . . Berger
8. OVERTURE, "1812" . . . . . Tschaikowsky

9. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
10. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Wedding" . . . . . Zach
11. HUSARENRITT . . . . . Spindler
12. THE STEIN SONG, March . . . . . Bullard

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

First appearance of Conductor Gustav Strube, Monday, June 2
TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6

POPULAR DANCE MUSIC.

WESTPORT HARBOR WALTZES. F. C. Rodman	$0.60
CARLETTA WALTZES. C. E. Gray	.75
DREAM-WORLD WALTZES (Traumwelt). F. A. Spalding	.75
SMITH COLLEGE WALTZES. C. N. Parker	.60
CASTINE TWO-STEP. Willetta Parker	.50
CRUISER HARVARD MARCH. G. Strube	.50
FAWN SCHOTTISCHE. Florence Marion	.50
TANTALIZING TILLY. Two-step. H. T. Adams	.50
ECHOES FROM COONTOWN. March. F. C. Rodman	.50

C. W. Thompson & Co., Music Publishers,
13 West Street, Boston.

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany

PULLMAN VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

(South Station.)	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4 04	11.04
Arrive New York "	3.30	5.40	10.00	6.00
(Grand Central Station.)	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.

Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 2, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 25
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

STATIC
GINGER ALE and BIRCH BEER
SERVED AT THE "POPS"
Made by the New Static Carbonating Process from Purest Ginger and Birch.
STATIC WATER.
Sparkling, purified water, carbonated with Saratoga gas, is now siphoned and served at the Harvard Union, Parker's, Essex, Athletic and Exchange Clubs, Young's, Westminster, Thorndike, McDonald's and St. Clair's, Berkeley, Savoy, Bellevue, and at scores of other leading hotels, clubs, cafés, bars, and soda dispensers'.
Static Carbonating Company,
116 Broad Street, - Boston.

MONDAY, JUNE 2
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Radetzky" . . . . . Strauss
2. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Strauss
4. CONGRESS OF MELODIES . . . . . Conradi

5. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
6. a. DAS ABENDROT, Meditation (for Strings) . . . . Strube
   b. CANZONETTA (for Strings) . . . . . Strube
   (First time)
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. CARMEN, Selection . . . . . Bizet
8. CZARDAS, "Der Geist des Wojewoden . . . . . Grossman

9. GERMAN MARCH . . . . . Strube
10. OVERTURE, "Robinson Crusoe" . . . . . Heberlein
11. TWO GERMAN FOLK-SONGS.
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6
WAGNER NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 9
TECH NIGHT . . . . . Tuesday, June 10

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

GINITA DELICIOSOS EXTRA,	10c., 3 for 25c.
GINITA PERFECTOS,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MONTE ROSA PURITANOS EXTRA (Imported),	15c. each.
MONTE ROSA VIOLETAS (Imported),	20c. "
CARDINAL DELICIOSOS,	10c., 3 for 25c.
CATRIONA PERFECTOS,	10c. each.
NUEVA VIDA REGALIA ESPECIAL,	15c., 2 for 25c.

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.
Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.
The perfection of American brewing.
CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN DEITIES
Plain and Cork Tip
"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER
THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Tuesday, June 3, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 26
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

TUESDAY, JUNE 3

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "King Karl" . . . . . Unrath
2. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . Thomas
3. WALTZ, "Bei uns z'Haus" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
5. OVERTURE, "Maritana" . . . . . Wallace
6. BALLET MUSIC, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Goldmark
   Solo Violoncello, Mr. JOSEF KELLER
7. a. EVENING SONG . . . . . Schumann
   b. AUBADE PRINTANIERE . . . . . Lacombe
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY, No. 2 . . . . . Liszt
9. OVERTURE, "Frau Meisterin" . . . . . Suppé
10. a. THE ROSARY . . . . . Nevin
    b. TOURNAMENT . . . . . Nevin
    (First time)
11. WALTZ, "Amour et Printemps" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6
WAGNER NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 9
TECH NIGHT . . . . . Tuesday, June 10

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

"Oh, be jolly!"

P. B. ALE
Served at these concerts.

Brewed and Bottled by
A. G. Van Nostrand,
Bunker Hill Breweries,
CHARLESTOWN, - MASS.

This mark distinguishes Pabst beer from other beer. It's a pure and wholesome brew. It's better than any imported beer. He drinks best who drinks Pabst. Better order a case.

Case orders for family use should be sent to
L. SPEIDEL & CO.,
22 HAWLEY ST., BOSTON.
Telephone, Main 378.

All first-class grocers handle the Pabst Beer.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of
WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS, MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 4, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Vol. I. No. 27
Published by C. A. ELLIS
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Don Juan" . . . . . Mozart
3. WALTZ, "Kaiser" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Huguenots" . . . . . Meyerbeer

---

5. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
6. BACCHANALE from "Samson and Delila" . . . Saint-Saëns
7. PRELUDE, "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
8. SLAVIC DANCES, Nos. 2 and 1 . . . . . Dvorak

---

9. FROM GLUCK TO RICHARD WAGNER . . . Schreiner
(First time)
10. NARCISSUS . . . . . Nevin
11. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . . . Delibes
12. MARCH, "Austria" . . . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6
WAGNER NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 9
TECH NIGHT . . . . . Tuesday, June 10

SUCCESSFUL SONGS.

ABSENCE	Alfred E. Little
AUF WIEDERSEH'N	Rossetter G. Cole
A DREAM	J. C. Bartlett
DREAMY DAYS	Robert Ashford
FORGOTTEN	Eugene Cowles
GOOD NIGHT, LITTLE GIRL	J. C. Macy
I LOVE YOU	Carl Sobeski
MOON'S LULLABY	C. S. Burnham
SHINE ON, O STARS	Frank E. Sawyer
SHOOGY-SHOO	Grace Mahew
STEIN SONG	Frederic Field Bullard
SWEET IS TIPPERARY	William Arms Fisher

OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
451 WASHINGTON STREET.
A688

ITS ORGANIC PURITY
MAKES BALLARDVALE LITHIA
The most acceptable table water. It is the purest water ever submitted to the test set by the French government. This purity makes it odorless, colorless, and tasteless, so that one may use it in unlimited quantities with never a reminder by color, taste, or smell of its medicinal properties.
IT CONTAINS MORE LITHIA
Than any other water on the market. 87 per cent. of its mineral contents consists of salts of lithia. There is hardly a man who would not be highly benefited in health by its constant use. Those suffering from Gout, Gravel, Diabetes, Rheumatism, etc., find in it immediate and permanent relief.
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent
No. 31 Doane St., Boston, Mass.

Philip Krim's
Own importation of
RHINE WINES.
For thirty years at
163 Shawmut Avenue.
Our wines sold at these concerts.

COAT ROOM A.
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,
Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE
Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON.
IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls., (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 5, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 28
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 5

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Mit Bomben und Granaten" . . . . . Bilse
2. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
3. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Fortune Teller" . . . . . Herbert

---

5. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . . Nicolai
6. THREE DANCES from "Henry VIII." . . . . . German
7. ADAGIO AND GAVOTTE for Strings . . . . . Bach
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. FINALE, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner

---

9. OVERTURE, "Orpheus" . . . . . Offenbach
   Violin obligato, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
10. VALSE LENTE AND PIZZICATO from "Sylvia" . Delibes
11. LE REVEIL DU LION . . . . . Kontski
12. MARCH, "Fatinitza" . . . . . Suppé

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

TUFTS NIGHT . . . . . Friday, June 6
WAGNER NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 9
TECH NIGHT . . . . . Tuesday, June 10

ASK FOR Schlitz HERE
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
SOLD
Unequalled for table use.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

The DRAUGHT ALE
TRADE MARK
THE B&E B.Co
AND TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER
IN BOTTLES,
Sold at these Concerts, are furnished by
SOL. BACHARACH,
Wholesale Dealer in High-grade Malt Beverages,
508-510 Atlantic Ave, Telephone, 3805 Main.

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER BIER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 162 State Street.
Telephone, Richmond 1119.
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS.

MOGUL
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
PLAIN or CORK TIP
Superior to most. Equal to any.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
ON SALE AT
CLUBS, CAFES, and LEADING GROCERIES
ASK THE WAITER
SOL. BACHARACH, 508, 510 Atlantic Avenue
Sole Agent, New England States

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 6, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 29
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6
Tufts Night
PROGRAMME

(Orchestration of the Tufts numbers by N. Ingalls, '00, and W. A. Willis, '01.)

1. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
2. UNGARISCHE LUSTSPIEL, Overture . . . Keler-Bela
3. FOR TUFTS HURRAH! (New) Class Song
4. THE "GYM" TWO-STEP (New) . . . . C. B. Rich
5. SONGS OF TUFTS
   a. "Brown and Blue" . . . . . E. W. Newton, '90
   b. "The Barnum Song" } . . . From "Tufts Songs"
   c. "Charlie Tufts His College" }
6. CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA . . . . . Mascagni
7. OLD FAVORITES AT TUFTS
   a. Campus Song (Stein Song) . . . . . F. F. Bullard
   b. "Dear Alma Mater" . . . . . L. R. Lewis, '87
   At the Organ, Mr. JOHN P. MARSHALL
8. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
9. LOHENGRIN FINALE . . . . . Wagner
10. ESTUDIANTINA WALTZ . . . . . Waldteufel
11. GAVOTTE for String Orchestra . . . . . Gillet
12. ELDORADO MARCH . . . . . Mayer

Tufts Night next year will be Tuesday, May 12, 1903.

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

WAGNER NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 9
TECH NIGHT . . . . . Tuesday, June 10

GREAT SINGERS VISITING AMERICA,

... including ...

MADAME MELBA,
MADAME CLARA BUTT,
MR. BEN DAVIES,
MR. PLUNKET GREENE,
MR. DAVID BISPHAM,
MR. ANDREW BLACK,

Use principally in their English repertoire
The publications of BOOSEY & COMPANY, NEW YORK and LONDON.

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces etc
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	6.00 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

LEATHER GOODS.

Pocket Books, Travelling Pockets and Card Cases.

Travelling Bags with interior fittings in Silver, Ivory, Ebony & Shell.

Coach, Wrist & Chatelaine Bags in Beads & Fancy Leathers.

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

[97]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 7, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 30
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

DOMINION LINE.

Fast Twin Screw Service.

Boston to Liverpool.

(VIA QUEENSTOWN)

New England, - - - - - - June 4
Vancouver, - - - - - - - June 7
Commonwealth, - - - - - June 16

Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $42.50.

Boston-Mediterranean Service.

GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.

Cambroman, July 5, Aug. 16, Sept. 27.
Vancouver, Sept. 6, Oct. 18, Nov. 29.

Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.

Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
3. WALTZ, "Artist's Life" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "The Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

5. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
6. a. ÉLÉGIE } b. LEGATO } . . . . . Strube
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. ENTRÉE TRIOMPHALE DES BOYARDS . . Halvorsen
8. RHAPSODY IN F . . . . . Liszt

9. AMERICAN FANTASIE . . . . . Herbert
10. TWO MOVEMENTS from Suite, "Peer Gynt" . . . Grieg
11. WALTZ, "Jolly Fellows" . . . . . Vollstedt
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

WAGNER NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 9
TECH NIGHT . . . . . Tuesday, June 10

When you wear "President Suspenders,"
Remember the guarantee: "all breaks made good."
The metal parts cannot rust.
The name President is on the buckle.
Sold at "Correct" stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.
C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO.,
Box 310. SHIRLEY, MASS.
Special weights for hard workers.
Small sizes for boys.

THE CARE

OF A

Gentleman's Wardrobe

Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:

Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.

2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.

1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.

BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building,
235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.

Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

Mason & Hamlin

PIANOFORTES

USED AND ENDORSED BY

Harold Bauer, Moritz Moszkowski, Félix Fox, George W. Chadwick,
Dr. William Mason, Emil Paur, Paolo Gallico, William H. Sherwood,
Antoinette Szumowska, Ernest Hutcheson, Alfred De Voto, J. Wallace Goodrich,
Arthur Nikisch, Elsa von Grave-Jonas, Ludwig Breitner, Augusto Rotoli,
And others.

Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental

NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES

M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,

162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 9, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Vol. I. No. 31
Published by C. A. ELLIS
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts.

MONDAY, JUNE 9
Wagner Night
PROGRAMME

1. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. OVERTURE, "Magic Flute" . . . . . Mozart
3. WALTZ, "Wine, Women, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi
5. TONE PICTURES from the "Valkyrie" (First time) . . . . . Wagner
6. a. SOLVEJG'S SONG . . . . . Grieg
   b. NORWEGIAN DANCE . . . . . Grieg
7. PROCESSION OF THE WOMEN . . . . . Wagner
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
9. INTRODUCTION TO ACT III. AND DANCE OF APPRENTICES from "Die Meistersinger" . . . . . Wagner
10. LAMENTO . . . . . Slocum
11. LOIN DU BAL . . . . . Gillet
12. MARCH, "Hobson's Choice" . . . . . Strube

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

TECH NIGHT	Tuesday, June 10
HARVARD NIGHT	Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT	Wednesday, June 18

POPULAR MUSIC FOR SUMMER

ISIS GAVOTTE. J. R. Haasler	$0.40
MARIMONTE POLKA. W. T. Sumner	.50
RUSSIAN STORY. George Wilder	.50
HARVARD FOOTBALL MARCH. E. F. Densmore	.50
WESTPORT HARBOR WALTZES. F. C. Rodman	.60
CRUISER HARVARD MARCH. G. Strube	.50

Ask to see the Mozart Leaf Turner. a practical novelty endorsed by musicians. Price, one cent each.

C. W. Thompson & Co., Music Publishers,
13 West Street, Boston.

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany
R. & A. R. R. CO. LESSEE

PULLMAN VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
(South Station.) Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4.04	11.04
Arrive New York " (Grand Central Station.)	3.30 P.M.	5.40 P.M.	10.00 P.M.	6.00 A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.

Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 10, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 32
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 10

Technology Night

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "The Continentals" . . . . . Brooke
2. ARABIAN NIGHTS WALTZ . . . . . Strauss
3. SEMIRAMIDE OVERTURE . . . . . Rossini
4. SELECTION, "Messenger Boy" . . . . . Monckton

5. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . . . Delibes
6. NIGHT IN GRANADA OVERTURE . . . . . Kreutzer
7. SELECTION, "Swinging Girl" . . . . . Herbert
8. "TECH," Production of 1902.

9. TRAUMBILDER, Fantasy . . . . . Lumbye
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
10. ENTR'ACTE GAVOTTE . . . . . Gillet
11. CARMEN SELECTION . . . . . Bizet
12. HOCH HABSBURG MARCH . . . . . Kral

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

HARVARD NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18

S. S. Pierce Company

BOSTON,
BROOKLINE.

STATIC
GINGER ALE and BIRCH BEER
SERVED AT THE "POPS"

Made by the New Static Carbonating Process from Purest Ginger and Birch.

STATIC WATER.

Sparkling, purified water, carbonated with Saratoga gas, is now siphoned and served at the Harvard Union, Parker's, Essex, Athletic and Exchange Clubs, Young's, Westminster, Thorndike, McDonald's and St. Clair's, Berkeley, Savoy, Bellevue, and at scores of other leading hotels, clubs, cafés, bars, and soda dispensers'.

Static Carbonating Company,
116 Broad Street, - Boston.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

GINITA DELICIOSOS EXTRA,	10c., 3 for 25c.
GINITA PERFECTOS,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MONTE ROSA PURITANOS EXTRA (Imported),	15c. each.
MONTE ROSA VIOLETAS (Imported),	20c. "
CARDINAL DELICIOSOS,	10c., 3 for 25c.
CATRIONA PERFECTOS,	10c. each.
NUEVA VIDA REGALIA ESPECIAL,	15c., 2 for 25c.

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.

Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN
DEITIES

Plain and Cork Tip

"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET
LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Wednesday, June 11, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 33
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Gruss in die Ferne" . . . . . Döring
2. OVERTURE, "Masaniello" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Harlequin's Journey" . . . . . Zach
4. SELECTION, "Trovatore" . . . . . Verdi

---

5. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
6. ADAGIETTO AND MINUETTO from Suite, "L'Arlésienne," Bizet
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. CARNIVAL IN PARIS . . . . . Svendsen
8. NOCTURNE AND WEDDING MARCH . . . Mendelssohn

---

9. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
10. SERENADE . . . . . Moszkowski
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Tabasco" . . . . . Chadwick

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

HARVARD NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

"Oh, be jolly!"

P.B. ALE

Served at these concerts.

Brewed and Bottled by

A. G. Van Nostrand,
Bunker Hill Breweries,
CHARLESTOWN, - MASS.

Pabst beer is always pure

This beer is without doubt the finest and purest beer brewed in this or in any other country. The Pabst product is sold all over the civilized world, the demand steadily increasing until now the Pabst Brewing Co. is the largest brewer of Lager Beer in the world.

The Bohemian Beer which we bottle is the most popular table beer among the clubs, hotels, and restaurants, as well as for family use. Of a beautiful straw color, mild and delicate in flavor, possessing a characteristic hop taste, it has gained an immense popularity, and is demanded by all who wish an absolutely pure beverage, brewed from malt and hops only. Bottled for family use by

L. Speidel & Co., Sole N. E. Agents,
22 Hawley Street, Boston.
Telephone, Main 378.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of

WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS,
MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

[101]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 12, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 34
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 12

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Teufel" . . . . . Suppé
2. OVERTURE, "Felsenmühle" . . . . . Reissiger
3. WALTZ, "Legends from the Vienna Woods" . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod

5. INVITATION À LA VALSE . . . . . Weber
6. ANDANTE for Strings . . . . . Tschaikowsky
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. HUNGARIAN DANCES, Nos. 3 and 1 . . . . . Brahms
8. OVERTURE, "Flying Dutchman" . . . . . Wagner

9. SELECTION, "Madame Angot" . . . . . Lecocq
10. a. THE ROSARY . . . . . Nevin
b. COUNTRY DANCE . . . . . Nevin
11. WALTZ, "Merry War" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

HARVARD NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18

POPULAR SALON PIECES
FOR PIANO

BEAUX' AND BELLES' GAVOTTE . . . . . Harry S. Romaine
CARNIVAL DANCE . . . . . John Francis Gilder
DANCE OF THE MARIONETTES . . . . . M. S. Arnold
DANSE COQUETTE . . . . . C. J. Walcott
DANSE ROMANTIQUE . . . . . J. C. Macy
GOOD CHEER . . . . . Emil Otto
JACK O'LANTERN . . . . . C. W. Krogmann
LOVE'S CAPRICE . . . . . Max Heindl
THOUGHTS OF HOME . . . . . G. Bonaldi
WHISPERS . . . . . Frederic M. Dean

OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
A696 451 WASHINGTON STREET

Philip Krim's
Own importation of
RHINE WINES.
For thirty years at
163 Shawmut Avenue.
Our wines sold at these concerts.

ITS ORGANIC PURITY
MAKES BALLARDVALE LITHIA
The most acceptable table water. It is the purest water ever submitted to the test set by the French government. This purity makes it odorless, colorless, and tasteless, so that one may use it in unlimited quantities with never a reminder by color, taste, or smell of its medicinal properties.
IT CONTAINS MORE LITHIA
Than any other water on the market. 87 per cent. of its mineral contents consists of salts of lithia. There is hardly a man who would not be highly benefited in health by its constant use. Those suffering from Gout, Gravel, Diabetes, Rheumatism, etc., find in it immediate and permanent relief.
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent
No. 31 Doane St., Boston, Mass.

COAT ROOM A.
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,
Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE
Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON.
IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.
ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls., (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 12, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 34
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 12

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Teufel" . . . . . Suppé
2. OVERTURE, "Felsenmühle" . . . . . Reissiger
3. WALTZ, "Legends from the Vienna Woods" . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod

5. INVITATION À LA VALSE . . . . . Weber
6. ANDANTE for Strings . . . . . Tschaikowsky
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. HUNGARIAN DANCES, Nos. 3 and 1 . . . . . Brahms
8. OVERTURE, "Flying Dutchman" . . . . . Wagner

9. SELECTION, "Madame Angot" . . . . . Lecocq
10. a. THE ROSARY . . . . . Nevin
b. COUNTRY DANCE . . . . . Nevin
11. WALTZ, "Merry War" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

HARVARD NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18

POPULAR SALON PIECES
FOR PIANO

BEAUX' AND BELLES' GAVOTTE	Harry S. Romaine
CARNIVAL DANCE	John Francis Gilder
DANCE OF THE MARIONETTES	M. S. Arnold
DANSE COQUETTE	C. J. Walcott
DANSE ROMANTIQUE	J. C. Macy
GOOD CHEER	Emil Otto
JACK O'LANTERN	C. W. Krogmann
LOVE'S CAPRICE	Max Heindl
THOUGHTS OF HOME	G. Bonaldi
WHISPERS	Frederic M. Dean

OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
A696 451 WASHINGTON STREET

ITS ORGANIC PURITY
MAKES BALLARDVALE LITHIA
The most acceptable table water. It is the purest water ever submitted to the test set by the French government. This purity makes it odorless, colorless, and tasteless, so that one may use it in unlimited quantities with never a reminder by color, taste, or smell of its medicinal properties.
IT CONTAINS MORE LITHIA
Than any other water on the market. 87 per cent. of its mineral contents consists of salts of lithia. There is hardly a man who would not be highly benefited in health by its constant use. Those suffering from Gout, Gravel, Diabetes, Rheumatism, etc., find in it immediate and permanent relief.
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent
No. 31 Doane St., Boston, Mass.

Philip Krim's
Own importation of
RHINE WINES.
For thirty years at
163 Shawmut Avenue.
Our wines sold at these concerts.

COAT ROOM A.
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,
Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE
Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK & EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON

ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls., (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[102]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 13, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 35
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 13

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Hussar Drill" . . . . . Zach
2. OVERTURE, "La Dame Blanche" . . . . . Boieldieu
3. WALTZ, "Près de Toi" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. SELECTION, "Brigands" . . . . . Offenbach

---

5. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin
6. SELECTION, "Romeo and Juliette" . . . . . Gounod
7. a. REVERIE, for String Orchestra . . . . . Maquarre
   b. THE INDIAN, for String Orchestra . . . . . Maquarre
8. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet

---

9. OVERTURE, "Tantalusqualen" . . . . . Suppé
10. INTERMEZZO, "Forget me not" . . . . . Macbeth
11. WALTZ, "Die Schönbrunner" . . . . . Lanner
12. MARCH, "Radetzky" . . . . . Strauss

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

HARVARD NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
SOLD HERE
Unequalled for table use.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents, 125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

The DRAUGHT ALE
TRADE MARK THE B&E B.Co
AND TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES,
Sold at these Concerts, are furnished by
SOL. BACHARACH,
Wholesale Dealer in High-grade Malt Beverages,
508-510 Atlantic Ave. Telephone, 3805 Main.

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER BIER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 162 State Street.
Telephone, Richmond 1119.
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS.

MOGUL
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
PLAIN or CORK TIP
Superior to most. Equal to any.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
ON SALE AT
CLUBS, CAFES, and LEADING GROCERIES
ASK THE WAITER
SOL. BACHARACH, 508, 510 Atlantic Avenue
Sole Agent, New England States

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 14, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 36
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . . Wagner
2. OVERTURE, "Banditenstreiche" . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "La Vague" . . . . . Metra
4. SELECTION, "Tabasco" . . . . . Chadwick

---

5. MARCH from "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
6. a. ABENDROT, for String Orchestra . . . . . Strube
   b. CANZONETTA, for String Orchestra . . . . . Strube
7. WALTZ, "O schöner Mai" . . . . . Strauss
8. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow

---

9. SELECTION, "Fencing Master" . . . . . De Koven
10. a. SPRING SONG . . . . . Mendelssohn
    b. FLIRTATION . . . . . Steck
11. HUSARENRITT . . . . . Spindler
12. MARCH, "Pro Patria" . . . . . Millöcker

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

HARVARD NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 16
SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces etc
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

POPULAR MUSIC FOR PIANO.

THE TOREADOR TWO-STEP,	On Melodies by Caryll & Monckton,	60 cents
THE TOREADOR WALTZ,	On Melodies by Caryll & Monckton,	75 cents
THE TOREADOR SELECTION,	On Melodies by Caryll & Monckton,	$1.00
AMOUREUSE WALTZ,	R. Berger,	60 cents
LOIN DU PAYS WALTZ,	R. Berger,	60 cents
PLAISIR D'AMOUR WALTZ,	I. Caryll,	75 cents
COUNTRY GIRL WALTZ,	L. Monckton,	75 cents
COUNTRY GIRL SELECTION,	L. Monckton,	$1.00

Also various arrangements from the latest London success, "MERRIE ENGLAND," by E. German.

Write for lists.

BOOSEY & CO., - NEW YORK.
Agents for CHAPPELL & CO.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York
VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	6.00 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

LEATHER GOODS.

Pocket Books,
Travelling Pockets
and
Card Cases.

Travelling Bags with interior fittings in Silver, Ivory,
Ebony & Shell.

Coach, Wrist &
Chatelaine Bags in Beads &
Fancy Leathers.

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 16, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 37
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

DOMINION LINE.
Fast Twin Screw Service.
Boston to Liverpool.
(VIA QUEENSTOWN)
New England, - - - - - - June 4
Vancouver, - - - - - - - June 7
Commonwealth, - - - - - June 16
Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $42.50.
Boston-Mediterranean Service.
GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.
Cambroman, July 5, Aug. 16, Sept. 27.
Vancouver, Sept. 6, Oct. 18, Nov. 29.
Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.
Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

MONDAY, JUNE 16
Harvard Night
PROGRAMME

1. a. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
   b. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse
2. SELECTIONS, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert
3. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. SELECTION from "Queen Philippine," Pi Eta Production, 1902 . . . . . Lang
5. VALSE BLEUE . . . . . Margis
6. MARCH, "Our Director" . . . . . Bigelow
7. LARGO . . . . . Händel
8. a. STEIN SONG . . . . . Bullard
   b. HEALTH TO KING CHARLES . . . . . Boott, '31
9. SELECTION from "Hi-Ka-Ya," Hasty Pudding Production, 1902 . . . . . Lang
10. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni
11. a. SELECTION, "On to Victory"
    b. "THE CRIMSON EVER"
12. FAIR HARVARD

Organ, Mr. JOHN MARSHALL

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18
GRADUATES' NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 23

When you wear "President Suspenders,"
Remember the guarantee: "all breaks made good."
The metal parts cannot rust.
The name President is on the buckle.
Sold at "Correct" stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.
C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO.,
Box 310. SHIRLEY, MASS.
Special weights for hard workers.
Small sizes for boys.

THE CARE
OF A
Gentleman's Wardrobe
Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:
Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.
2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.
1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.
BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building,
235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.
Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

Mason & Hamlin
PIANOFORTES
USED AND ENDORSED BY
Harold Bauer, Moritz Moszkowski, Félix Fox, George W. Chadwick,
Dr. William Mason, Emil Paur, Paolo Gallico, William H. Sherwood,
Antoinette Szumowska, Ernest Hutcheson, Alfred De Voto, J. Wallace Goodrich,
Arthur Nikisch, Elsa von Grave-Jonas, Ludwig Breitner, Augusto Rotoli,
And others.
Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental
NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES
M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,
162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 17, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 38

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Grand Vin

Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

D. LEIDEN'S
Sparkling Hock
AND
Sparkling Moselle
at these concerts.

TUESDAY, JUNE 17

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Donna Juanita" . . . . . Suppé
2. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavolo" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "Lagunen" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Mikado" . . . . . Sullivan

5. PRELUDE, ACT I., "Meistersinger" . . . . . Wagner
6. BALLET SUITE . . . . . Gilbert
7. GROSSMÜTTERCHEN . . . . . Langer
   Violin obligato, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. JUBEL OVERTURE . . . . . Weber

9. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
10. EN SOURDINE . . . . . Tellam
11. WALTZ, "Spirit of the Forest" . . . . . Hayes
12. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

SOLOISTS' NIGHT . . . . . Wednesday, June 18
GRADUATES' NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 23

POPULAR MUSIC FOR SUMMER

ISIS GAVOTTE. J. R. Haasler $0.40
MARIMONTE POLKA. W. T. Sumner 50
RUSSIAN STORY. George Wilder 50
HARVARD FOOTBALL MARCH. E. F. Densmore 50
WESTPORT HARBOR WALTZES. F. C. Rodman 60
CRUISER HARVARD MARCH. G. Strube 50

Ask to see the Mozart Leaf Turner, a practical novelty endorsed by musicians. Price, one cent each.

C. W. Thompson & Co., Music Publishers,
13 West Street, Boston.

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany
NEW YORK CENTRAL R.R. LESSEE

PULLMAN VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

(South Station.)	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4.04	11.04
Arrive New York "	3.30	5.40	10.00	6.00
(Grand Central Station.)	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.

Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 18, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 39
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Veuve Chaffard.

Pure Olive Oil

In Honest Bottles.

STATIC
GINGER ALE and BIRCH BEER
SERVED AT THE "POPS"
Made by the New Static Carbonating Process from Purest Ginger and Birch.
STATIC WATER.
Sparkling, purified water, carbonated with Saratoga gas, is now siphoned and served at the Harvard Union, Parker's, Essex, Athletic and Exchange Clubs, Young's, Westminster, Thorndike, McDonald's and St. Clair's, Berkeley, Savoy, Bellevue, and at scores of other leading hotels, clubs, cafés, bars, and soda dispensers'.
Static Carbonating Company,
116 Broad Street, - Boston.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18
Soloists' Night
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral
2. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
3. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
   Solo Violoncello, Mr. JOSEF KELLER
4. DIE ALLMACHT . . . . . Schubert
   Solo Trombone, Mr. KARL HAMPE
5. INTRODUCTION, ACT II., "Königskinder" . . Humperdinck
6. a. ÉLÉGIE . . . . . Strube
   b. LEGATO . . . . . Strube
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. VIOLIN SOLO, "Zigeunerweisen" . . . . . Sarasate
   Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
8. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
9. ACADEMIC FESTIVAL OVERTURE . . . . . Grace
10. a. THE ROSARY . . . . . Nevin
    b. TOURNAMENT . . . . . Nevin
11. HUNGARIAN DANCES, Nos. 5 and 6 . . . . . Brahms
12. MARCH, "Hussar Drill" . . . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

GRADUATES' NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 23

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

GINITA DELICIOSOS EXTRA,	10c., 3 for 25c.
GINITA PERFECTOS,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MONTE ROSA PURITANOS EXTRA (Imported),	15c. each.
MONTE ROSA VIOLETAS (Imported),	20c. "
CARDINAL DELICIOSOS,	10c., 3 for 25c.
CATRIONA PERFECTOS,	10c. each.
NUEVA VIDA REGALIA ESPECIAL,	15c., 2 for 25c.

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.
Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.
The perfection of American brewing.
CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN DEITIES
Plain and Cork Tip
"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER
THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Thursday, June 19, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902

Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 40

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

THURSDAY, JUNE 19

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert
2. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . Nicolai
3. WALTZ, "Legends from the Vienna Woods" . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven

---

5. OVERTURE, "Tell" . . . . . Rossini
   'Cello obligato, MR. JOSEF KELLER
6. a. TRAUMEREI . . . . . Schumann
   b. AUBADE PRINTANIERE . . . . . Lacombe
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. SELECTION from "The Huguenots" . . . . . Meyerbeer
8. TWO SLAVIC DANCES . . . . . Dvorak

---

9. OVERTURE, "Les Dragons de Villard" . . . . Maillard
10. WALTZ, "Fleur de Lis" . . . . . Tobey
11. GAVOTTE, "Stephanie" . . . . . Czibulka
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

GRADUATES' NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 23

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

"Oh, be jolly!"

P.B. ALE

Served at these concerts.

Brewed and Bottled by

A. G. Van Nostrand
Bunker Hill Breweries,
CHARLESTOWN, - MASS.

The only Beer on Draught served at these concerts is

Pabst Milwaukee.

L. SPEIDEL & CO., General New England Agts.,
22 Hawley Street, Boston.
Telephone, Main 378.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of

WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS, MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

[108]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 20, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS Vol. I. No. 41
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 20

PROGRAMME

1. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Strauss
2. OVERTURE, "La Part du Diable" . . . . . Auber
3. WALTZ, "In's Centrum" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni

---

5. WALTZ, "Bei uns z'Haus" . . . . . Strauss
6. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
7. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA, for String Orchestra, Harp, and Organ, Gounod

   Violin obligato, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, "Semiramide" . . . . . Rossini

---

9. OVERTURE, "Frau Meisterin" . . . . . Suppé
10. SOLVEJG'S SONG . . . . . Grieg
11. WALTZ, "Amour et Printemps" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "King Karl" . . . . . Unrath

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

GRADUATES' NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 23

PUBLISHED JUNE 7
Handsomest College Song Book issued
Harvard University Songs
Contains "General Grant," "Up the Street," "Our Director," "Stein Song," "Hannah," "Ka-ua," and twenty other Harvard songs, each with a decorative heading. Printed on Old Stratford paper, bound in vellum de luxe cloth.
OLIVER DITSON COMPANY
A700 PUBLISHERS

Philip Krim's
Own importation of
RHINE WINES.
For thirty years at
163 Shawmut Avenue.
Our wines sold at these concerts.

FOR 100 YEARS
Authentic records exist of cures from the healing waters of the Ballardvale Lithia Spring. Tradition goes back another hundred years, when the aborigines drank the healing waters of the "big spring."
DRINK ONLY THE PUREST.
BALLARDVALE LITHIA WATER
Has been for a century a standard cure for all ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bladder. Its organic purity and tastelessness make it possible to drink it in unlimited quantities,—highly beneficial to the sick, palatable and refreshing to the well. As a table water it is without an equal.
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent
No. 31 Doane St., Boston, Mass.

COAT ROOM A.
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,
Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE
Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON.
IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls., (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 21, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 42
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 21
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Radetzky" . . . . . Strauss
2. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
3. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
5. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY IN D . . . . . Liszt
6. VALSE LENTE AND PIZZICATO, from "Sylvia" . Delibes
7. PRELUDE, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
8. OVERTURE, "Freischütz" . . . . . Weber
9. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
10. ENTR'ACTE, "La Colombe" . . . . . Gounod
11. RONDE D'AMOUR . . . . . Westerhout
12. MARCH, "Teufel" . . . . . Suppé

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

GRADUATES' NIGHT . . . . . Monday, June 23
CLOSING NIGHT . . . . . Saturday, June 28

ASK FOR Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS.
SOLD
Unequalled for table use.
JOS. GAHM & SON, Agents,
125 Purchase Street. Tel., Main 954.

The DRAUGHT ALE
THE B&E B.Co
AND
TANNHAEUSER EXPORT BEER IN BOTTLES,
Sold at these Concerts, are furnished by
SOL. BACHARACH,
Wholesale Dealer in High-grade Malt Beverages,
508-510 Atlantic Ave, Telephone, 3805 Main

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER BIER
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Co., 162 State Street.
Telephone, Richmond 1119.
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

Kennedy's Symphony Biscuit.
Just the thing For "Pop" Concerts.
Lightly Salted, Crisp and Dainty.
KENNEDY BISCUIT WORKS.

MOGUL
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
PLAIN or CORK TIP
Superior to most. Equal to any.

We are serving
A delicious quality of
Ginger Ale
AND
Sarsaparilla
VARTRAY
Have YOU tried it?
ON SALE AT
CLUBS, CAFES, and LEADING GROCERIES
ASK THE WAITER
SOL. BACHARACH, 508, 510 Atlantic Avenue
Sole Agent, New England States

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[110]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 23, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 43
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

MONDAY, JUNE 23
Graduates' Night
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse
2. OVERTURE, "Tabasco" . . . . . Chadwick
3. VALSE BLEUE . . . . . Margis
4. SELECTION, "Serenade" . . . . . Herbert

5. a. THROUGH THE YARD AT HARVARD . . . Hosmer
   b. HAIL TO THE CRIMSON . . . . . Henry
6. SELECTION, "Florodora" . . . . . Stuart
7. a. STEIN SONG . . . . . Bullard
   b. CRUISER HARVARD . . . . . Strube
8. SELECTION, "San Toy" . . . . . Jones

9. AMERICAN FANTASY . . . . . Herbert
10. WALTZ, "Traumwelt" . . . . . Spalding
11. FAIR HARVARD
    Organ, Mr. JOHN MARSHALL
12. MARCH, "Under the Double Eagle" . . . . . Wagner

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOSING NIGHT . . . . . Saturday, June 28

... Genuine Successes ...

"THE JAPANESE LOVE SONG," by Clayton Thomas.
"VIOLETS," by Ellen Wright.
"OH, DRY THOSE TEARS," by T. del Riego.
"THE STRANGER IN THE TEACUP," by E. Fleming.
"WISE FOLLY," by Landon Ronald.
"CHANSON DE L'ADIEU" (English Version), by P. Tosti.

Write for Catalogues.

BOOSEY & CO., - 9 East 17th Street, - New York.

LEWANDO'S DYEING CLEANSING LAUNDRY

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
Lace Curtains
Real Laces etc
CLEANSED
or
DYED
and Refinished
Properly
by

Lewando's

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Boston TO New York
VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.58 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.30 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	6.00 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	Shore Line	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.30 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.04 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.09 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Priscilla" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

We are now making under our own patents
A FOVR~TVBE CHIMING HALL CLOCK
CHIMING WESTMINSTER.
A clock originating with us, with many improvements and under our guarantee and name.
In a Mahogany Case of best workmanship.
PRICE THREE HVNDRED DOLLARS.

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

[111]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 24, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 44
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 24

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Le Père de la Victoire" . . . . . Ganne
2. OVERTURE, "Preciosa" . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Vienna Blood" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert

5. PRELUDE, ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
6. ANDANTE for String Orchestra . . . . . Tschaikowsky
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. WALTZ, "Seid umschlungen Millionen" . . . . . Strauss
8. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODIE, No. 2 . . . . . Liszt

9. ANGELUS AND FETE BOHEME . . . . . Massenet
10. VARIATIONS ON A RUSSIAN SONG . . . . Grace
11. LOIN DU BAL . . . . . Gillet
12. MARCH, "Gruss in die Ferne" . . . . . Döring

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOSING NIGHT . . . . . Saturday, June 28

DOMINION LINE.
Fast Twin Screw Service.
Boston to Liverpool.
(VIA QUEENSTOWN)
New England, - - - - - - June 4
Vancouver, - - - - - - - June 7
Commonwealth, - - - - - June 16
Saloon, $65 and $80 upward, according to steamer. Second Saloon, $42.50.
Boston-Mediterranean Service.
GIBRALTAR, NAPLES, AND GENOA.
Cambroman, July 5, Aug. 16, Sept. 27.
Vancouver, Sept. 6, Oct. 18, Nov. 29.
Saloon rates, $75 upward. Second Saloon, $50 and $60.
Company's Office, 77 State St., Boston.

Remember the guarantee: "all breaks made good."
The metal parts cannot rust.
The name President is on the buckle.
Sold at "Correct" stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.
C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO.
Box 310. SHIRLEY, MASS.
Special weights for hard workers
Small sizes for boys.

THE CARE OF A Gentleman's Wardrobe

Is an art.
We will have one of our wagons or uniformed boys call at your residence, collect your suits, which we will cleanse, repair, press, and deliver every week in the year. We furnish you with dress-suit case, your name on it, terms as follows:

Your Entire Wardrobe, $3.00 per month.

2 Suits per week, $3.25 down, $2.25 per mo.

1 Suit per week, $1.50 per month.

BAY STATE WARDROBE COMPANY,
Chickering Hall Building, 235 Huntington Avenue.
Telephone, B.B. 99-4.
Boston. Philadelphia. New York.

Mason & Hamlin
PIANOFORTES
USED AND ENDORSED BY

Harold Bauer, Moritz Moszkowski, Félix Fox, George W. Chadwick,
Dr. William Mason, Emil Paur, Paolo Gallico, William H. Sherwood,
Antoinette Szumowska, Ernest Hutcheson, Alfred De Voto, J. Wallace Goodrich,
Arthur Nikisch, Elsa von Grave-Jonas, Ludwig Breitner, Augusto Rotoli,
And others.

Grand and Upright Pianofortes for Summer Rental
NEW ENGLAND REPRESENTATIVES
M. STEINERT & SONS CO.,
162 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[112]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895.

SOLD HERE.

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts.

Boston, Wednesday, June 25, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 45
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 25

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "The Continentals" . . . . . Brooke
2. OVERTURE, "Beautiful Galathea" . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "Freut euch des Lebens" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi

5. WAR MARCH from "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
6. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . Nicolai
7. SERENADE from "Impressions d'Italie" . . . Charpentier
   Viola obligato, Mr. HENRY HEINDL
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. POLONAISE . . . . . Liszt

9. a. MARCH, The "Gym" . . . . . Rich
   b. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner
10. MELODIE . . . . . Rubinstein
11. LOVE'S DREAM AFTER THE BALL . . . . Czibulka
12. MARCH, "Wien bleibt Wien" . . . . . Schrammel

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOSING NIGHT . . . . . Saturday, June 28

Piano Hits of these Concerts.

CRUISER HARVARD MARCH. G. Strube	$0.40
BLACK BESS MARCH. G. Strube	.50
LOST IN DREAMS (Traumverloren). M. Zach	.40
TRAUMWELT (DREAM WORLD) WALTZES. F. A. Spalding	.75
WESTPORT HARBOR WALTZES. F. C. Rodman	.60
VALSE LYRIQUE. L. Emery	.75
SIGNET WALTZ. S. C. Colburn	.75

C. W. Thompson & Co., Music Publishers,
13 West Street, Boston.

MAH MAL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Sold at these Concerts.

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

ALSO SOLD BY
S. S. PIERCE CO.,
BOSTON, BROOKLINE.

Boston and Albany

PULLMAN VESTIBULE LIMITED TRAINS...

DAILY SERVICE.

To Albany,	9 Trains
" Buffalo,	8 Trains
" Chicago,	7 Trains
" Cincinnati,	3 Trains
" Detroit,	5 Trains
" St. Louis,	3 Trains

THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN
BOSTON and HARTFORD, NEW HAVEN, and NEW YORK
VIA SPRINGFIELD LINE.

(South Station.)	5 A.M.	9 M.	11 P.M.	13 P.M.
Leave Boston (B. & A. R.R.)	9.00	12.00	4.00	11.00
" Trinity Place "	9.04	12.04	4.04	11.04
Arrive New York "	3.30	5.40	10.00	6.00
(Grand Central Station.)	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.

Parlor and Sleeping Car Service.
Buffet Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Dining Car Boston to Springfield.
Vestibuled Parlor Cars Boston to New York.
Vestibuled Coaches Boston to New York.
Entire Trains lighted by gas.
Sleeping Cars Boston to New York. Passengers may remain in Sleeping Cars at New York until seven o'clock.

Seats in Parlor Cars or berths in Sleeping Cars may be reserved any number of days in advance on application to Parlor Car Agent, South Station (Telephone, Oxford 957); J. L. White, City Passenger Agent, 366 Washington Street, Boston (Telephone, Main 1611); or by addressing

A. S. HANSON, General Passenger Agent, BOSTON, MASS.

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 26, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 46
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 26

PROGRAMME

1. HUNGARIAN MARCH . . . . . Moldauer
2. OVERTURE, "La Gazza Ladra" . . . . . Rossini
3. WALTZ, "Emperor" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Fencing Master" . . . . . De Koven
5. OVERTURE, "Ruy Blas" . . . . . Mendelssohn
6. SCENE RELIGIEUSE AND DIVERTISSEMENT from "Les Érinnyes" . . . . . Massenet
   'Cello obligato, Mr. JOSEF KELLER
7. a. ABENDROT } for String Orchestra . . . . . Strube
   b. CANZONETTA }
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. TWO DANCES from "Henry VIII." . . . . . German
9. OVERTURE, "Orpheus" . . . . . Offenbach
   Violin obligato, Mr. JACQUES HOFFMANN
10. SPRING SONG . . . . . Mendelssohn
11. RÉVEIL DU LION . . . . . Kontsky
12. MARCH, "Austria" . . . . . Zach

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOSING NIGHT . . . . . Saturday, June 28

S. S. Pierce Company

BOSTON,
BROOKLINE.

STATIC
GINGER ALE and BIRCH BEER
SERVED AT THE "POPS"
Made by the New Static Carbonating Process from Purest Ginger and Birch.
STATIC WATER.
Sparkling, purified water, carbonated with Saratoga gas, is now siphoned and served at the Harvard Union, Parker's, Essex, Athletic and Exchange Clubs, Young's, Westminster, Thorndike, McDonald's and St. Clair's, Berkeley, Savoy, Bellevue, and at scores of other leading hotels, clubs, cafés, bars, and soda dispensers'.
Static Carbonating Company,
116 Broad Street, - Boston.

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

GINITA DELICIOSOS EXTRA,	10c., 3 for 25c.
GINITA PERFECTOS,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MONTE ROSA PURITANOS EXTRA (Imported),	15c. each.
MONTE ROSA VIOLETAS (Imported),	20c. "
CARDINAL DELICIOSOS,	10c., 3 for 25c.
CATRIONA PERFECTOS,	10c. each.
NUEVA VIDA REGALIA ESPECIAL,	15c., 2 for 25c.

ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BOHEMIAN
PALE EXPORT
BEER.
Try a quart or a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.
The perfection of American brewing.
CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

EGYPTIAN
DEITIES
Plain and Cork Tip
"No better Turkish Cigarette can be made."

NORFOLK CABINET
LAGER BEER
THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Friday, June 27, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 47
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.
The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

FRIDAY, JUNE 27

PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé
2. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . . . Weber
3. WALTZ, "Wine, Women, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Fortune Teller" . . . . . Herbert

5. MARCH from "Damnation of Faust" . . . . . Berlioz
6. OVERTURE, "Sakuntala" . . . . . Goldmark
7. LIEBESGESTÄNDNISS, for String Orchestra . . . . Keller
(The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. CZARDAS, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" . . . Grossman

9. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . Thomas
10. NARCISSUS . . . . . Nevin
11. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . . . Delibes
12. MARCH, "Deutsche Einigkeit" . . . . . Strube

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

CLOSING NIGHT . . . . . Saturday, June 28

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres 10c
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c each
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, ... 10c each
The American Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial 10c
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino 20c
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos 15c
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL,
Restaurant and Gentlemen's Cafe.
Open until 12.30.

HOTEL SORRENTO and ANNEX,
Sorrento, Maine.
Opens June 28.
F. S. RISTEEN & CO.

"Oh, be jolly!"

P.B. ALE

Served at these concerts.

Brewed and Bottled by

A. G. Van Nostrand
Bunker Hill Breweries,
CHARLESTOWN, - MASS.

This Mark guarantees Perfect Brewing.

For sale by all first-class Hotels, Restaurants, and Grocers.

PABST'S MILWAUKEE

L. Speidel & Co., 22 Hawley Street, N. E. Agents.

Besides the above excellent wine we carry a complete stock of all brands of

WINES, LIQUORS, CIGARS, MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST.
Codman & Hall Company,
DEWEY SQUARE.

[115]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 28, 1902. Seventeenth Season. Summer 1902
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 48
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager
Mr. GUSTAV STRUBE, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 28
Closing Night
PROGRAMME

1. MARCH, "Mit Bomben und Granaten" . . . . . Bilse
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
3. WALTZ, "Roses from the South" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi

---

5. BALLET MUSIC from "The Queen of Sheba" . . Goldmark
   'Cello obligato, Mr. JOSEF KELLER
6. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
7. a. ÉLÉGIE . . . . . Strube
   b. LEGATO . . . . . Strube
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner

---

9. AMERICAN FANTASIE . . . . . Herbert
10. EN SOURDINE . . . . . Tellam
11. TOURNAMENT . . . . . Nevin
12. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube

The Mason & Hamlin Pianoforte furnished by M. Steinert & Sons Co.

POPULAR WALTZES.

CAMPUS DREAMS	Edmund M. Blake
COUNTESS POTOCKA	C. J. Walcott
ELYSIUM WALTZ	John Francis Gilder
L'ADMIRATION WALTZES	Edward P. Favor
MY LADY FAIR	C. J. Walcott
THETA DELTA CHI WALTZES	Giles Milton Hoyt
UNIVERSITY GIRL WALTZES	C. Harry Kain
VALSE BLEUE	Alfred Margis
VALSE ROSE	Paul Wachs

PUBLISHED BY
OLIVER DITSON COMPANY,
451 Washington Street.

A676

Philip Krim's
Own importation of
RHINE WINES.
For thirty years at
163 Shawmut Avenue.
Our wines sold at these concerts.

There is a great deal that is to be considered by you when purchasing a natural spring water, and it can be truthfully said that the BALLARDVALE LITHIA WATER AND ITS ANALYSIS has more to commend it to your favorable consideration than any other natural spring water in the world, principally because it is STRONGER IN LITHIA.
This corporation makes no claims for BALLARDVALE LITHIA WATER except such as are substantiated by the following high authority: British Medical Journal, London Lancet, Edinburgh Medical Journal, British Medical Press and Circular, Dublin Journal of Medical Science, and New England Medical Monthly.
R. H. Hirshfield, N. E. Agent
No. 31 Doane St., Boston, Mass.

COAT ROOM A.
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE,
Garments, Umbrellas, and Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

RED FOX ALE
Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

ESTABROOK AND EATON.
IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

ON SALE AT THE "POPS."

MARGUERITE Conchas,	10c., 3 for 25c.
MERCHANTS AND BANKERS U. C. Espls., (All Havana.)	10c., 3 for 25c.
EL PRINCIPE DE GALES, Londres Grande, (All Havana.)	10c. each.
EL DELETOSA, Puritanos Extra,	10c. "
E. & E. INVINCIBLES,	15c., 2 for 25c.
MANUEL GARCIA, Stilettos, (Imported.)	15c., 2 for 25c.
BOCK & CO., Especiales de E. & E., (Imported.)	20c., 5 for $1.00

ESTABROOK & EATON'S CIGARS.
SOME POPULAR BRANDS.

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Pabst Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

BLANK PAGE

THE BOSTON SUNDAY GLOBE—APRIL 27, 1902

PROMENADE CONCERTS

Next Saturday night the 21st season of the Boston Symphony orchestra will end and in 48 hours Symphony hall will have donned its summer suit of tables, tobacco, tuneful music, and just enough to eat and drink for a discreet convivialty. Monday evening, May 5, the 17th season of the "Pops" will begin, with an orchestra of 50 men from the ranks of the Boston Symphony orchestra and Mr Max Zach as conductor for the first half of the season, Mr Gustav Strube to conduct the second half.

Everything will be conducted on the same general plan now so familiar and welcome to patrons. The admission will be 50 cents, with reserved seats at tables or in the first balcony 25 cents extra. The ticket sale will open tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock. There seems to be no good reason why the season to come shall not be in every way as successful as for the past 16 years.

SYMPHONY HALL

POPS

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

MR. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

OPENING NIGHT, MONDAY, MAY 5

Every Evening Except Sunday.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats, 25c. extra.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE.

Sud3t ap27

Acting | THE WARREN SCHOOL
176 Tremont Street

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1902

The "Pops"

Seventeen years ago, in old Music Hall, there was inaugurated a series of summer concerts which has stood the test of time with an unvarying and continued success. Boston has more than her share, on the basis of population, of admirers of the very highest order of music, thanks to her twenty-one years of symphony concerts. She has also a larger multitude of lovers of music, not necessarily trashy or commonplace, but light and of easy comprehension. In a word, Strauss of waltz fame is more welcome in the summer season than Strauss, the new symphonic star.

And so the "Pops" will begin on Monday evening, May 5, at Symphony Hall, with Mr. Max Zach to conduct an orchestra of fifty men from the ranks of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Everything will be conducted on the same general plan now so familiar and welcome to patrons. The admission will be fifty cents, with reserved seats at tables or in the first balcony twenty-five cents extra. The ticket sale opens Monday morning, April 28, at Symphony Hall, at half-past eight.

SYMPHONY HALL

POPS

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

MR. MAX ZACH, Conductor

OPENING NIGHT, MONDAY, MAY 5

Every Evening Except Sunday

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats, 25c extra

Tickets on Sale, Monday, April 28

8t[A] ap 26

SUNDAY POST,

APRIL 27, 1902

The "Pops"

Next Saturday night the 21st season of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will end, and in 48 hours Symphony Hall will have donned its summer suit of tables, tobacco, tuneful music and just enough to eat and drink for a discreet conviviality. For on Monday evening, May 5, the 17th season of the "Pops" will begin, with an orchestra of 50 men from the ranks of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Mr. Max Zach as conductor for the first half of the season, Mr. Gustav Strube to conduct the second half.

Everything will be conducted on the same general plan now so familiar and welcome to patrons. The admission will be 50 cents, with reserved seats at tables or in the first balcony 25 cents extra. The ticket sale will open tomorrow morning at Symphony Hall at 8:30. There seems to be no good reason why the season to come shall not be in every way as successful as for the past 16 years.

SYMPHONY HALL.

POPS

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

MR. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

OPENING NIGHT, MONDAY, MAY 5.

Every Evening Except Sunday.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats, 25c. extra.

Tickets Now on Sale.

THE SUNDAY HERALD
BOSTON, APRIL 27, 1902

Mr. Comee announces the 17th season of the Pop concerts commencing on Monday, May 5, at Symphony Hall. There will be a grand orchestra of 50, under Mr. Max Zach. Tickets will be for sale tomorrow at the box office. The announcement of this popular series is always a welcome one, for there is nothing of the kind half so entertaining and satisfactory which has ever been attempted here.

SYMPHONY HALL.

POPS

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

MR. MAX ZACH, Conductor.

OPENING NIGHT, MONDAY, MAY 5.

Every Evening Except Sunday.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats, 25c. extra.

Tickets Now on Sale.

4

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

Established 1813.

The Official Paper of the State

RTISER, TUESDAY M

THE "POPS" ARE WITH US AGAIN

A Lively Throng Gathers at Symphony Hall on the Occasion of the Opening of the Summer Season.

There was a sound of revelry by night;
The Bay State's capital had gathered then
Her beauty and her chivalry, and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men;
Two thousand hearts beat happily, and when
Music arose with its voluptuous swell,
Sweet lips drank beer to lips which drank again.
And some enjoyed a quiet smoke as well.

We fancy that Byron would have altered his verse as above, and have called it "Childe Comee's Pilgrimage," had he been in the lively throng in Symphony Hall last night when the "pops" began to effervesce. Many trans-Atlantic visitors to Boston have been struck by the European character of our city, and its mildly Bohemian character shows itself most prominently in these annual summer concerts. They have become the permanent rendezvous of the musical "stay-at-homes." The only adjunct one might have wished added to the occasion of last night was some real summer weather.

These light concerts become heavy to the reviewer, however, from the fact that they remain very much the same from year to year; even in the matter of conductors and musicians there is very little change; wherefore the review must tell the same old agreeable story even if the adjctives become threadbare.

Who does not know the aspect of the great hall adorned for its promenade uses? Who is unfamiliar with the cordial greeting that is always given to Mr. Zach when he mounts the conductor's stand? Who is unacquainted with the bustle and activity, the laughter here and there, the hum of conversation, the clink of glasses, that fill in the chinks between the numbers? Why the "Lady of the Pops" has been described as long ago as the 14th century, by Chaucer, in his rather slangy way,——

'As any jay she light was and jolif,
So was her joly whistle well ywette.

The concert of last night began with a new military march by Elgar, entitled "Pomp and Circumstance." Those who remember this composer's effective picture of a passing band in "Cockayne" ned not be told that the number came well up to its title.

In the usual manner, the chief classical numbers were grouped together in the second part, always performed from 9 to 10 o'clock. On this occasion the ambitious numbers gathered within this hour were the two "Lohengrin" preludes and a quaint little bit of realism by Reinecke, entitled "Neapolitan Mandoline Players." The prelude to the first act of "Lohengrin" was, perhaps, a little too delicate for these concerts, but the powerful introduction to the third act (the first number of the opera that became popular), was powerful and effective enough.

If any change at all from preceding years could be noted it was in the fact that Mr. Zach did not confine the selections of Parts 1 and 3 (occupying the first and third hours of the time-table, which is as reliable as a railroad card) wholly to popular music. Nevin's "Country Dance," finely orchestrated by Gustav Strube; an excerpt from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," and three numbers from Massenet's excellent ballet music, taken from "Le Cid," were given to those who came earlier or stayed later than the central portion of the programme, and at the very end there came a march by the conductor himself.

The orchestra played excellently, the conductor led well, everybody was in a good humor, and Mr. Ellis and Mr. Comee, who manage these concerts so successfully, and all concerned are to be complimented and congratulated.

Boston Journal.

TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1902.

FIRST "POP."

Beginning of the Seventeenth Season of These Concerts Last Night in Symphony Hall—A Varied Program, a Spirited Performance and Much Enjoyment and Applause.

The 17th season of the "Pops"—Mr. Charles A. Ellis, Manager, Mr. Fred R. Comee, Assistant Manager, and Mr. Max Zach, Conductor—began last night at Symphony Hall.

For 16 seasons advice has been given gratuitously to Messrs. Ellis and Comee concerning the management of these concerts; advice concerning the composition of the programs and the only fit and suitable brand of beer; concerning the choice of conductor and the discouragement of punctilious evening dress; concerning the price of admission and the advisability of the audience dancing in the waltzes. Some have thundered against the exclusiveness and the "class distinctions" encouraged by the "pen" and the doubtful quality of tobacco smoked by persons of specious appearance. Some have called for a symphony by Beethoven each night and others have wished no music save that taken from operettas.

If all this advice had been considered seriously the managers would now be jibbering in neatly padded rooms with straw in their hair. By listening courteously, by well-chosen expressions of gratitude for the disinterested thoughtfulness of friends and advisers, the managers are now well clothed, and in their right mind, and the 17th season opened last night to the great pleasure of many who like the concerts as they are now organized and managed, otherwise they would not attend and applaud.

Mr. Zach had arranged a catholic program. There was nothing heavy, nothing that arrested the process of digestion, nothing that turned tobacco to wormwood on the lips. The first of Elgar's marches, "Pomp and Circumstance," was played here for the first time, and if the second march is equal to the first in workmanship and interest, the two deserve a hearing at a Symphony concert; for the march played last night is no ordinary two-step with a trio to be sung; it is admirably written, stirring, imaginative. And why should there be objection to the music simply because it is a march? We have listened at Symphony concerts to poor, empty stuff, catalogued under the title "Symphonic variations" or "Overture" or "Fantasia."

The more pretentious pieces were a pot-pourri on themes from Gounod's "Remoe and Juliet," the Preludes to Act I. and Act III. of "Lohengrin"; and the charming ballet music from Massenet's "Cid," which is by far the most original and characteristic music of the opera. Strauss—Johann, not Richard—was represented by the "Gross-Wien" and "Vienna-Blood" waltzes; Offenbach by the overture to "Orphee," with the irresistible can-can; Zach by the "Hussar Drill" march (first time). Nevin's "Country-Dance," orchestrated by Mr. Strube, and Berger's waltz "Loin du pays" were played for the first time, as was a singularly trashy "Selection from 'King Dodo.'" Then there was Reinecke's "Neapolitan Mandolin Player," so-called probably because it was not a bit like Naples or a mandolin player—lucus a non lucendo, to use the language of the ancient Romans.

The pieces were read and played with spirit; there were encores; and there was evident appreciation. There was much less stiffness in demeanor than at the opening night a year ago. Nor was this due to the effect of "light refreshment" partaken early in the evening. The hearers were accustomed to the hall; the ywere more at home; and durnig the intermissions there was actually what is known as "promenading," or as Mr. Jefferson DeAngelis expressed it on a famous occasion, many took "a brief pasear."

The program tonight will include Lalo's overture to "Le Roi d'Ys," Auber's Overture to "Zanetta," Handel's "Largo," selections from "The Flying Dutchman," and pieces by Sabathil, Strauss, Herbert, Ziehrer,, Gillet, Zach, Leoncavallo (a waltz, first time) and Zeller.

Philip Hale.

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

There are revelations in music as well as in every other art, and we all have had the experience of listening to some familiar air finely played for the first time and observing beauties in the music that were never before realized. At the Pop concert last Monday night Conductor Zach as an encore gave the famous sextet from "Florodora." Probably everyone in the audience had listened to the number a dozen times, yet no one had ever heard it played by so large and well trained a corps of musicians. It was indeed a revelation and a most delightful one and set the listeners in an uproar.

* * * *

THE "POPS."

Of all the 16 years' existence of the Pops, last summer proved the most successful. Symphony Hall, with its brilliant interior, perfect ventilation, and spacious corridors, set the seal of popularity upon the entr'acte promenades. These concerts are in every way the summer sequence of the symphony series, for both the orchestra of 50 musicians and the two conductors, Mr. Zach and Mr. Strube, who divide the season, are taken from the ranks of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Precisely the same care is paid to finish and ensemble as during the winter season, and one of the strongest factors in the continued success of these concerts is the high standard of musical performance. Mr. Zach has prepared for the opening night a most attractive program, including four novelties. The program in detail is as follows:

1—"Pomp and Circumstance," Military March No. 1.....Elgar
(First time.)
2—Waltz, "Gross-Wien".....Strauss
3—Selection from "Romeo and Juliet" ..... Gounod
4—Overture, "Orpheus aux Enfers"..... Offenbach
5—Preludes to Acts I. and III., "Lohengrin" .....Wagner
6—Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
7—Neapolitan Mandolin Players.....Reinecke
8—Selection from "King Dodo" (first time) .....Luders
9—Ballet music from "Le Cid".....Massenet
a. Aragonaise.
b. Madrilene.
c. Navarraise.
10—Country Dance, orchestrated by G. Strube .....Nevin
(First time.)
11—Waltz Tzigane, "Loin du pays"..Berger
(First time.)
12—March, "Hussar Drill".....Zach
(First time.)

"POP" CONCERT SEASON OPENS WITH A BIG CROWD AND ENCORES AND DOUBLE ENCORES.

OPENING NIGHT OF THE "POPS" AT SYMPHONY HALL.

Less Restraint Than Is Usually Noticeable on a First Night.

A HARVARD MARCH.

Every One Welcomes It, and Goodfellowship Is the Keynote.

What a change in Symphony Hall from Saturday to Monday! Gone the rigid rows of seats, and in their places the scores of independent little tables, each surrounded by its irregular group of chairs; the calm, silent ushers succeeded by conversational, brisk, busy waiters; the primly listening, formal audience replaced by lively, laughing, chattering, half-attentive folk, among whom are representatives of every class and type—except the undesirable—that Boston and its visitors can furnish; for the severely classic or the exhaustively ultra-modern music, the brightest, gayest, most resonant, cheerful, foot-and-tongue-stirring strains to be gathered from the whole round of composition, with just a few serene moments for contrast, relief and rest. A material atmosphere, purpled by the floating, soaring whiffs of aromatic smoke, and an immaterial atmosphere, all buoyancy, ozone, vitality and high spirit. Such are some of the countless conditions which mark the change from the Symphonies to the "Pops," and which include, delight, refresh and occupy practically the same musicians and the same listeners.

Everything began brightly and auspiciously for the new season last night. The hall was brilliant and cheerful. The eye and ear—and one must add, the palate also—were gratified, a content and happy temper prevaded all the place, and an air of goodfellowship prevailed which made one feel like saluting the people at the next table, even if he had never seen them before, and not minding very much if he were told that he could not have some beer of his particular preference because it did not happen to be on the household list.

The programme, which we printed on Sunday, was admirably composed. It had its marches for beginning and end—only it was a pity that Mr. Zach's came, all too modestly, last, and so was lost by many who would have liked it, if they could have stayed to hear. There were three waltzes, just to make many a couple wish that the tables would retire for a few minutes; operatic selections and arrangements, several interesting novelties, and a couple of "Lohengrin" preludes for the profounder and quieter numbers, and a Neapolitan mandolin fantasy, during which waiters stood still, glasses did not rattle and silence ruled. The performance was all excellent, for Mr. Zach has not only experience and control, but also tact, and he knows how to get capital effects from his band, who all seem ready and willing to give their best interest and effort in return for the freedom and swing which the Symphony proprieties forbid.

Tonight's programme will be as follows, and it may be mentioned that some new thing is promised for every evening of the week:

March, "Merry Soldiers".....Sabathil
Overture, "Zanetta".....Auber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Selection, "The Serenade".....Herbert
Excerpts from "The Flying Dutchman".Wagner
Waltz, "Snowballs".....Ziehrer
Entr'acte, Gavotte for string orchestra...Gillet
Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Violoncello obligato, Mr. Josef Keller.
Waltz, "Harlequin's Journey".....Zach
Largo.....Handel
Violin obligato, Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
Valse, "Coquette".....Leoncavallo
(First time.)
March, "Obersteiger".....Zeller

A JOLLY CROWD.

"Pomp and Circumstance" opened the "Pop" season of 1902. It was performed by the orchestra on the stage and played by 2000 of the well groomed on the floor.

Fashion foregathered as of yore at wooden tables in full array, displayed post-Easter millinery, munched pretzels, sipped bland drinks, exchanged gossip, listened to the band, paraded its tweeds and broadcloths, its nun's veilings and foulards, in the promenade, and went home at 10:40 with the verdict "the best yet" on every tongue.

No innovation, no untried experiment marred the perfect conditions of other years at this season's first night. The same incomparable Symphony orchestra, under the leadership of that veteran "Pop" conductor, Mr. Max Zach, translated manuscript into the volapuk of music and roused even the staid critic and the phlegmatic conservative into periodic salvos.

The same admission fee of half a dollar, with a reserved seat for half as much more, prevailed, and was popular enough to fill every chair on the floor and attract a good sized crowd to the balconies. The arrangement of tables was similar to that of last year, with the same excellent service obtaining in the department of solid and liquid refreshment. As usual, the programme showed 12 numbers, with two intermissions, giving the patrons a chance to utilize the broad lobbies for promenading. In short, every possible contingency had been carefully anticipated by the management, and congratulations for Mr. C. A. Ellis and for Mr. Fred R. Comee, the managers, were heard on every hand.

The crowd seemed to get into the spirit of the thing speedily and heartily. Half a dozen of the 12 numbers were encored, and one double encored. There was less restraint than ever before on a first night, and the crowd obviously felt more at home than when the hall was first opened for "Pops" a year ago. Indeed, the generally lively and wide-awake spirit seemed a revival of old Music Hall days, when a "Pop" performance which didn't elevate the roof at least a few inches was the exception.

All the old timers were there, with a liberal sprinkling of novitiates. The crowd was cosmopolitan as ever. Properly chaperoned parties of airily gowned school girls sat dos-a-dos to tables fringed with convivial Harvard boys in rainbow neckwear. Prim, austere Symphony followers, who on Saturday had heard the valedictory of the ultra-classic, gave lenient ear to "Florodora" and Strauss waltzes, while they applauded heartily the splendid violin obligato by Mr. Jacques Hoffman—an old Symphony player and a musician of rare skill.

With little attention to the programme and much to the bill of fare, men about town called the waiter by his first name, at frequent intervals, and thanked fortune that they didn't have to wait till between-the-acts for a nip and a whiff. Here and there a music-loving foreigner, unacquainted with the vernacular, mistakenly scanned the menu from "ham sandwich" to "lithia" in a vain search for the "opus" of a favorite composer. Comely young matrons and blooming maids, gowned in the height of fashion, tactfully divided the talk between "brands" and "themes," and then found time to discuss the exit of the shirt waist and the forthcoming vogue of the blouse.

As a whole, it was the same old crowd, with an eye for dress, a tongue for small talk and an ear for melody. Speaking of melody, the things that "caught on" best were the opening number, "Pomp and Circumstance," a bit of martial composition, with Mr. Marshall at the organ, that had a great swing to it, in which the organ rang out effectively. It was deservedly encored. Another was the Reinecke number—one of those periodic "preserve silence" features, when "mum's the word," and only the explosive bottle of effervescent dares intrude. This brought out the great Harvard marching song by way of encore, of which half the people in the hall hummed the air. It had to be repeated. Then, of course, there was a brace of Strauss waltzes, which caught the house, and when "Florodora" serenaded as an encore to the Offenbach overture there were literal howls of delight all over the hall.

Among some of those noticed on the floor were:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson, Mr. James Higginson, Mrs. James J. Storrow, Mr. T. Adamowski and Mr. Valpy, Arthur Richmond, Otto Roth and party, Miss Estelle Kimball, Mr. Alexander Steinert and wife, Mr. Samuel H. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Chick and party, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown Riley, Dr. and Mr. Mixter, Mr. Pierce Grace and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Estabrook and party, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Van Nostrand, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elson, Mrs. M. D. Alexander, Mr. Philip Hale, Mr. Howard Ticknor, Mr. Amos Cotting, Mr. Sumner T. Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker and Dr. P. W. T. Moxom.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1902.

Manuscripts sent to The Globe will not be considered unless return postage is inclosed.

Typewritten copy will always have the preference.

FIRST OF THE "POP" CONCERTS.

Large Audience Enjoyed Opening of the Series Last Night in Symphony Hall.

SCENE AT THE "POP" CONCERT.

It was all perfectly natural. There was the same dignified and picturesque audience, the same cultivated "sang froid," the same beautiful music (only more so) and the same old feeling of kinship and fellowship among the 2000 or more people who attended the opening of the "pops" at Symphony hall last evening.

It was not memorable only in the sense that it marked the opening of the 17th season of these concerts. And yet it was memorable, in perhaps one respect, and that was the really "popular" character of the program for an opening night.

It seemed to be a sort of relaxation for both performers and audience from the more formal work of the symphony season.

Certain it is that at the conclusion of the pragram, Max Zach, the conductor, and his splendid orchestra were pretty well worn out with the encore work that their performance called forth during the evening.

It was a keen and responsive audience which sat in picturesque groups around the tables. The women were gowned as they are seldom gowned at any other musical function in the city, because there is really more of an opportunity for feminine display at these concerts than at any other that are held in the city. Here it is a sort of series of family parties and there is no necessity for the sitting bolt upright in an ordinary chair that there is in the "sandwich" or theatrical chair.

Maj Higginson, the "father" of the symphonies, with some of his friends, was there, and he evidently enjoyed it all. When he sets the stamp of his approval on a thing musical, it is said to be all right.

There were many there who would not care to sit through a "symphony"—people who enjoy good music, too, but who feel a little lame on "technique." These people enjoy these "pops," and have enjoyed them for 16 years, and that is why so many of the "old timers" were present last evening. They acted like "rooters" at a baseball game. They felt at home.

There is just one other respect in which these "pops" are unique. Extending around the hall is a corridor as wide as an ordinary street, where between the different sections of the program the audience has an opportunity to parade, get a little exercise and talk with freedom. This was taken full advantage of by the audience last evening, and the "parade" was in itself worth seeing.

Mr Max Zach was naturally the hero of the evening. He met with a most cordial reception and he was responsive to the aroused enthusiasm of the audience at all times—and the audience was aroused more than once.

As has been stated, the ground floor was crowded and in the galleries were present perhaps 500 spectators. There were a great many students from Harvard, Tech and other institutions present. The program was as follows:

Pomp and Circumstance, military march No 1 ..... Elgar
Organ, Mr John Marshall.
(First time.)
Waltz, Gross-Wein ..... Strauss
Selection from Romeo and Juliet ..... Gounod
Overture, Orphee aux Enfers ..... Offenbach
Violin obligato, Mr Jacques Hoffmann.
Preludes to acts 1 and 3, Lohengrin .... Wagner
Waltz, Vienna Blood ..... Strauss
Neapolitan Mandolin Player ..... Reinecke
Selection from King Dodo ..... Luders
(First time.)
Ballet music from Le Cid ..... Massenet
a. Aragonaise
b. Madrilene.
c. Navarraise.
Country dance ..... Nevin
Orchestrated by G. Strube.
(First time.)
Waltze Tzigane, Loin du Pays ..... Berger
(First time.)
March, Hussar Drill ..... Zach
(First time.)

[120]

AT THE PLAY

Opening of the Pop Concerts at Symphony Hall—Other Bills in Town

Decorated with evergreen and filled with the delightful atmosphere of "Bohemia," Symphony Hall, which all the past winter has resounded to oratorio, sonata and symphony, was transformed into a music hall, filled with gayly dressed ladies and gentlemen, who came to assist in the inaugural of the "Pop" concerts. Year by year these entertainments have been given in Boston with constantly increasing popularity until they are regarded as a fitting and essential closing of Boston's musical year.

The commodious corridors of Symphony Hall afford the most ample facilities for promenading during the intermissions, and these quiet little strolls were highly enjoyed last evening, as they promise to be for weeks to come. Max Zach, when he stepped to the conductor's platform, was most cordially welcomed, and this expression of good will evidently pleased him, for he was generous with his encores, thereby adding much to the enjoyment of the brilliant occasion. Four of the numbers played were heard for the first time at these concerts, and, indeed, the entire programme was well selected, and apparently delighted the patrons. The different numbers were as follows:

"Pomp and Circumstance," Military March No. 1 (first time).....Elgar
Waltz, "Gross-Wien".....Strauss
Selection from "Romeo and Juliet" Gounod
Overture, "Orpheus aux Enfers".... Offenbach
Preludes to Acts I. and III., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
"Neapolitan Mandolin Players"..Reinecke
Selection from "King Dodo" (first time).....Luders
Ballet music from "Le Cid" (a) Aragonaise, (b) Madrilene, (c) Navarraise .....Massenet
Country dance. Orchestrated by G. Strube (first time).....Nevin
Waltz Tzigane, "Lion du Pays (first time).....Berger
March, "Hussar Drill" (first time)...Zach

Among the hundreds noted were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson and party, Mr. Timothee Adamowski, who had with him Mr. Arthur Richmond, Mr. Valpy of London and Mr. Otto Rothe; Miss Rosamond Saltonstall was a very picturesque figure at one of the floor tables. Near by were Mr. and Mrs. David H. Noyes and guests and Mrs. Fred R. Comee, who entertained Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert and Mr. Samuel H. Hudson.

Miss Estelle Kimball was one of the prettiest girls present, and Miss Cecile Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tucker and Mrs. Thomas Porter Lovell made up a family group.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter entertained a large party, and at the adjacent table were Mr. Herbert Belcher and friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Souther, with Mr. and Mrs. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, Mr. Philip Hale and party, Miss Mabel Walker of the Vendome, Mr. Howard Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen, Mr. Arthur Dakin (secretary of the University Club), Mr. Thomas Drew of the Cadets, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Ratshesky, Mr. and Mrs. James McKeehan Burr, Dr. Harry Lowe, Mr. Fred Estabrook, Mrs. Lincoln Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edgerly and party, Dr. Leo J. Friedman, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, Mr. Willoughby Richardson and Dr. William Wesselhoeft.

One table, which was a great centre for enthusiasm, was that which had as its host Mr. Le Baron Hathaway. Near by were Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chick of the Vendome with friends, Mr. Rollin Jones and party, Mr. Osgood and guests, Mr. C. L. D. Parkhill, who entertained hospitably; Mrs. Malcolm DeW. Greene and friends, Dr. W. R. May and party, Mr. J. S. Chipman and guests, while Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland of Beacon street had a table, as did Mr. William L. Barnard and party, and Mr. Frank E. Barnard and guests.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXI., NO. 128.

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1902.

THE "POP" CONCERT.

Fashion, Beauty and Merriment Combine as of Yore to Make It a Delightful Event.

The "Pops" are going on at a regular automobile pressure along their gay and gorgeous way. So much fashion, feminine attractiveness and modiste-ic display have not been usual so early in the season, and have often in previous years been reserved for the special nights. But this only makes the evenings more interesting, because there is so much more to see, especially if one lounges in the lobbies or hangs over the edge of the balconies. Still, the music holds its own, and there is always attentive listening for the new things, of which Mr. Zach has already brought out seven, with a goodly stock in reserve upon which to draw.

For tonight no absolute novelty is promised, but several of the selections are quite unfamiliar. The programme stands thus, with one of the conductor's own capital marches in a good place, and the seventh number being that appointed for the silent audition:

1. March, "Szechenyi".....Fahrbach
2. Overture, "Le Roi l'a dit".....Delibes
3. Waltz, "Doctrinen".....E. Strauss
4. Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
5. Oriental March.....Zach
6. Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
7. (a) A Dream.....
   (b) Bosnian Legend and Kolo (National Dance).....Komzak
8. Waltz, "Dream of Love".....Fahrbach
9. Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
10. Gavotte from "Mignon".....Thomas
11. Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
12. March, "Wien bleibt Wien"...Schrammel

An odd incident at the Pops the other night: A party of six sitting opposite the rail, looking about, studying human nature as it was in attendance at the concert, were very much surprised on hearing something drop to the floor to discover that it was a hairbrush, evidently falling from the pocket of one of the young men.

The two men attempted to feign ignorance for a time, until they saw that their neighbors had seen the article drop to the floor, and then they commenced to smile as if they enjoyed it very much. Before the smiling was over the waiter came up, however, and the talk that he made about it was quite emphatic.

The hook on one end of it showed that it had been taken by somebody at least from the dressing room of Symphony Hall, which did not reflect very pleasantly on the present holder. The waiter carried off the brush after a warm debate, and on his return was sent after a cobbler.

In his absence they took their hats and sneaked out of the hall, very likely feeling as small as they looked to the people who watched them. The waiter was very mournful when he came back.

He, of course, had paid for the drink, and had nobody to collect from. He was so pathetic about it that people who had seen and heard it chipped in and made up a purse that helped him out, all the time protesting, however, that it was hard lines to have to stand behind a couple of such specimens.

* * * * *

DATE
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
May 10 1902.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chick of the Vendome entertained a number of friends at the opening night of the "Pops."

Cards have been sent out by Dr. and Mrs. James Washington

1902.

[illegible] concert of the [illegible] Monday evening at Symphony Hall, there was a great success from both a musical and a social standpoint, and Mr Mills and Mr Comee, both of whom were on hand, and their assistants, who have done all that was possible to bring about this result, were congratulated upon the auspicious beginning of the season. The orchestra of 50 performers under the direction of Mr Zach played an interesting program, and several encores were demanded, which were gracefully given. Every table in the hall was taken and the most desirable seats in the balcony, and it was pleasant to see so many patrons of the regular concerts of the Symphony orchestra. At the second intermission the broad corridors were crowded with promenaders, almost every one leaving the hall for a few minutes' change of scene. These concerts, with the charming music and their thoroughly social atmosphere, come as a welcome relief after the dignity and reserve one is accustomed to in the usual concerts of the winter. Among the many there were Mr Henry L. Higginson, who came early, accompanied by Mrs Higginson and by his brother, Mr James Higginson of New York, and by Mrs James J. Storrow; Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball had a large party of friends with them, including their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, who wore a suit of violet crepe, and Mrs Philip Hale in pale blue veiling and hat of black velvet, chiffon and pink roses; Mr and Mrs Alexander Steinert, Mrs Comee and Mr S. H. Hudson had one table together, Mrs Steinert wearing a costume of ecru crepe and Mrs Comee black chantilly with transparent yoke and sleeves, and black hat with white ostrich plume. Mr and Mrs Frederic Brooks entertained a party of friends, Mrs Brooks wearing a gown of ecru veiling and black and white hat. Mr and Mrs Winthrop Hodges and Mr and Mrs Robert Shaw Sturgis came together, Mrs Sturgis wearing a becoming gown of fawn-colored crepe with pale blue at the bodice and hat with pink roses. Mr and Mrs Edward L. Osgood (Miss Draper) entertained friends, Mrs Osgood in dark skirt and white satin bodice and black hat with plumes and pink roses; Miss Matthews, in white bodice with black skirt, and toque with chou of white tulle; Mrs Beebe, Miss Emily Beebe, with a party of young people, Dr and Mrs S. J. Mixter, Mr and Mrs Frederic B. Carpenter and several friends, Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, Mr and Mrs H. M. Leland, Mr Timothee Adamowski, Mr Philip Hale, Mr R. R. Gardner, Mr and Mrs Charles Parker and Mr Amos Cotting.

TABLE GOSSIP.

—The success of the Pop concerts, which opened so brilliantly on Monday evening, has been continued through the week and large audiences have been the rule. Col Henry L. Higginson, who attended Monday evening, was there again Wednesday evening with a party of young people, including his niece, Miss Juliet Higginson. Others there, not mentioned before, have been Mr and Mrs Henry Parkman, who entertained friends; Mr and Mrs C. F. Lyman (Miss Isabelle Macomber), who was charmingly gowned in light blue crepe and lace hat, trimmed with rosettes of blue and white chiffon, and Mr and Mrs Power Wilson with several friends, Mrs Wilson in black veiling with collar of renaissance lace, and black toque with chiffon. Last evening Mrs Gordon Dexter was there with a jolly party of young people. Mrs Dexter is one of the most constant patrons throughout the season. The programs all the week have been interestingly made up, and it seems as if never before has the music been so thoroughly enjoyable.

—Mr Herbert W. C. Browne, who is now in Naples, is on his way home by [illegible]

SUMMER "POP" CONCERTS.

The 17th season of "pop" concerts is in full swing at Symphony hall, where Mr Max Zach and his orchestra of 50 men are entertaining the usual clientelle of patrons. The programs are arranged to gratify all tastes, the selections ranging from Wagner to the up-to-date compositions of today. Tomorrow night there will be two novelties on the bill, which will be as follows:

March, Princess Ninetta.....Strauss
Selection, Faust.....Gounod
Waltz, Barcarolle.....Waldteufel
Overture, Tannhauser.....Wagner
Dream Music, Hansel and Gretel.Humperdinck
Waltz, Wine, Women and Song.....Strauss
Habanera.....Chabrier
Scherzo-Valse and Malaguena, Boabdil.... Moszkowski
Hymn to St Cecilia (violin obligato, Mr J Hoffmann).....Gounod
Gavotte, Manon (first time).....Massenet
Waltz, La Patineuse (first time).Joh Strauss Jr
March, Feurig Blut.....Vollstedt

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXI., NO. 131.

SUNDAY, MAY 11, 1902.

The opening of the Pop concerts Monday night was emphasized by a very large and responsive company. Every table was filled, and there were many people in the balconies who enjoyed looking down upon the gay scene. A new feature this year is the promenading during the intermissions in the roomy corridors, which makes a restful change of air and scene, and will more and more be indulged in as the season goes on. Mr. Zach was cordially welcomed to the conductor's platform, and made very emphatically to feel that he was the right man in the right place. Mr. Comee was moving about, having a pleasant word for his friends, and keeping his managerial eye out for the comfort and enjoyment of everybody. Another new feature which is especially appreciated is the contrivance for carrying off the tobacco smoke before it arises to the balconies, thus giving a clear, untainted air, where before the atmosphere was disagreeably cloudy. Some who had table parties on the opening night were Maj. and Mrs. Higginson, whose guests included Mrs. James J. Storrow; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Carpenter, the latter in black mousseline de soie, with insertions, and a flat black hat, who had with them Mr. and Mrs. J. Converse Gray and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball, who had eight at their table; Miss Kimball, in heliotrope cloth, with bands of lighter shade, and a black hat; Mr. Adamowski, who had a stag party, including Mr. Otto Rothe and Mr. Arthur Richmond, and Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, who had a number of guests; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert were with Mr. and Mrs. Comee. Others there were Mr. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ticknor, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, the last named in a smart gown of French blue veiling, with tucked bodice, and a black and white hat; Mr. Arthur Davis, Dr. William Wesselhoeft, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leland, Dr. and Mrs. Mixter and Mr. Amos Cotting.

Mrs. J. Emery, Tinnott of Brooklyn [illegible] Forza Del Destino, "Ray Dias."

TOMORROW NIGHT'S "POP."

The present season of the "Pops" bids fair to be the greatest that has ever been. The public—which seemed to feel a little strange in Symphony Hall last year—has adjusted itself to its new and better conditions, and has begun to take every advantage of the effect which it can itself make in that brilliant and flattering light which could never be obtained in the old Music Hall, and to understand what a chance there is for beauty, grace and elegance to be recognized in the broad corridors and lobbies through which an entire circuit of the building can be made. This freedom of motion and observation reconciles one to the necessary closeness of the tables while one sits and sips or smokes and listens to the music or one's neighbors—especially as the atmosphere is so social and genial that a little crowding up to parties is hardly noticed and certainly not minded. Mr. Zachs is making first-rate programmes with pieces well chosen and capitally arranged, so that approbation is general and encores are frequently besought and conceded. The first series was altogether good, and that the next half-dozen will be as excellent, would seem to be guaranteed by the bill for tomorrow night, which follows:

1. March, "Princess Ninetta".....Strauss
2. Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Waltz, "Barcarolle".....Waldteufel
4. Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
5. Dream music from "Hansel and Gretel".....Humperdinck
6. Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song"... Strauss
7. Habanera.....Chabrier
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. a. Scherzo-valse, } from "Boabdil"...
   b. Malaguena, } Moszkowski
9. Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
   (Violin obligato, Mr. J. Hoffmann.)
10. Gavotte from "Manon".....Massenet
    (First time.)
11. Waltz, "La Patineuse"..John Strauss, Jr.
    (First time.)
12. March, "Feurig Blut".....Vollstedt

BAPTIST CHURCH CONCERT.

Somerset, from 8:30 to 10:30.

At the "Pops," which have been going on their successful way more and more emphatically since the opening night, there were on Friday evening 18 members of the Wisconsin Club of Harvard in the large table company on the floor. Last night Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, who was one of the most constant patrons last year, brought a smart party.

It was a splendid day, with the air like wine, for the first [illegible]

[121]

BOSTON POST, TUESDAY, MAY

AT THE PLAY

Opening of the Pop Concerts at Symphony Hall—Other Bills in Town

Decorated with evergreen and filled with the delightful atmosphere of Bohemia, Symphony Hall, which all the past winter has resounded to oratorio, sonata and symphony, was transformed into a music hall, filled with gayly dressed ladies and gentlemen, who came to assist in the inaugural of the "Pop" concerts. Year by year these entertainments have been given in Boston with constantly increasing popularity until they are regarded as a fitting and essential closing of Boston's musical year.

The commodious corridors of Symphony Hall afford the most ample facilities for promenading during the intermissions, and these quiet little strolls were highly enjoyed last evening, as they promise to be for weeks to come. Max Zach, when he stepped to the conductor's platform, was most cordially welcomed, and this expression of good will evidently pleased him, for he was generous with his encores, thereby adding much to the enjoyment of the brilliant occasion. Four of the numbers played were heard for the first time at these concerts, and, indeed, the entire programme was well selected, and apparently delighted the patrons. The different numbers were as follows:

"Pomp and Circumstance," Military March No. 1 (first time).....Elgar
Waltz, "Gross-Wien".....Strauss
Selection from "Romeo and Juliet" Gounod
Overture, "Orpheus aux Enfers".... Offenbach
Preludes to Acts I. and III., "Lohengrin".....Wagner
Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
"Neapolitan Mandolin Players"..Reinecke
Selection from "King Dodo" (first time).....Luders
Ballet music from "Le Cid" (a) Aragonaise, (b) Madrilene, (c) Navarraise .....Massenet
Country dance. Orchestrated by G. Strube (first time).....Nevin
Waltz Tzigane, "Lion du Pays (first time).....Berger
March, "Hussar Drill" (first time)...Zach

Among the hundreds noted were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson and party, Mr. Timothee Adamowski, who had with him Mr. Arthur Richmond, Mr. Valpy of London and Mr. Otto Rothe; Miss Rosamond Saltonstall was a very picturesque figure at one of the floor tables. Near by were Mr. and Mrs. David H. Noyes and guests and Mrs. Fred R. Comee, who entertained Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert and Mr. Samuel H. Hudson.

Miss Estelle Kimball was one of the prettiest girls present, and Miss Cecile Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tucker and Mrs. Thomas Porter Lovell made up a family group.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter entertained a large party, and at the adjacent table were Mr. Herbert Belcher and friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Souther, with Mr. and Mrs. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, Mr. Philip Hale and party, Miss Mabel Walker of the Vendome, Mr. Howard Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen, Mr. Arthur Dakin (secretary of the University Club), Mr. Thomas Drew of the Cadets, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Ratshesky, Mr. and Mrs. James McKeehan Burr, Dr. Harry Lowe, Mr. Fred Estabrook, Mrs. Lincoln Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edgerly and party, Dr. Leo J. Friedman, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, Mr. Willoughby Richardson and Dr. William Wesselhoeft.

One table, which was a great centre for enthusiasm, was that which had as its host Mr. Le Baron Hathaway. Near by were Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chick of the Vendome with friends, Mr. Rollin Jones and party, Mr. Osgood and guests, Mr. C. L. D. Parkhill, who entertained hospitably; Mrs. Malcolm DeW. Greene and friends, Dr. W. R. May and party, Mr. J. S. Chipman and guests, while Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland of Beacon street had a table, as did Mr. William L. Barnard and party, and Mr. Frank E. Barnard and guests.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXI., NO. 128.

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1902.

THE "POP" CONCERT.

Fashion, Beauty and Merriment Combine as of Yore to Make It a Delightful Event.

The "Pops" are going on at a regular automobile pressure along their gay and gorgeous way. So much fashion, feminine attractiveness and modiste-ic display have not been usual so early in the season, and have often in previous years been reserved for the special nights. But this only makes the evenings more interesting, because there is so much more to see, especially if one lounges in the lobbies or hangs over the edge of the balconies. Still, the music holds its own, and there is always attentive listening for the new things, of which Mr. Zach has already brought out seven, with a goodly stock in reserve upon which to draw.

For tonight no absolute novelty is promised, but several of the selections are quite unfamiliar. The programme stands thus, with one of the conductor's own capital marches in a good place, and the seventh number being that appointed for the silent audition:

1. March, "Szechenyi".....Fahrbach
2. Overture, "Le Roi l'a dit".....Delibes
3. Waltz, "Doctrinen".....E. Strauss
4. Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
5. Oriental March.....Zach
6. Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
7. (a) A Dream.....
   (b) Bosnian Legend and Kolo (National Dance).....Komzak
8. Waltz, "Dream of Love".....Fahrbach
9. Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
10. Gavotte from "Mignon".....Thomas
11. Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
12. March, "Wien bleibt Wien"...Schrammel

An odd incident at the Pops the other night: A party of six sitting opposite the rail, looking about, studying human nature as it was in attendance at the concert, were very much surprised on hearing something drop to the floor to discover that it was a hairbrush, evidently falling from the pocket of one of the young men.

The two men attempted to feign ignorance for a time, until they saw that their neighbors had seen the article drop to the floor, and then they commenced to smile as if they enjoyed it very much. Before the smiling was over the waiter came up, however, and the talk that he made about it was quite emphatic.

The hook on one end of it showed that it had been taken by somebody at least from the dressing room of Symphony Hall, which did not reflect very pleasantly on the present holder. The waiter carried off the brush after a warm debate, and on his return was sent after a cobbler.

In his absence they took their hats and sneaked out of the hall, very likely feeling as small as they looked to the people who watched them. The waiter was very mournful when he came back.

He, of course, had paid for the drink, and had nobody to collect from. He was so pathetic about it that people who had seen and heard it chipped in and made up a purse that helped him out, all the time protesting, however, that it was hard lines to have to stand behind a couple of such specimens.

* * * * *

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 11, 1902.

—The first "Pop" concert of the season, given on Monday evening at Symphony hall, was a great success from both a musical and a social standpoint, and Mr Ellis and Mr Comee, both of whom were on hand, and their assistants, who have done all that was possible to bring about this result, were congratulated upon the auspicious beginning of the season. The orchestra of 50 performers under the direction of Mr Zach played an interesting program, and several encores were demanded, which were gracefully given. Every table in the hall was taken and the most desirable seats in the balcony, and it was pleasant to see so many patrons of the regular concerts of the Symphony orchestra. At the second intermission the broad corridors were crowded with promenaders, almost every one leaving the hall for a few minutes' change of scene. These concerts, with the charming music and their thoroughly social atmosphere, come as a welcome relief after the dignity and reserve one is accustomed to in the usual concerts of the winter. Among the many there were Mr Henry L. Higginson, who came early, accompanied by Mrs Higginson and by his brother, Mr James Higginson of New York, and by Mrs James J. Storrow; Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball had a large party of friends with them, including their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, who wore a suit of violet crepe, and Mrs Philip Hale in pale blue veiling and hat of black velvet, chiffon and pink roses; Mr and Mrs Alexander Steinert, Mrs Comee and Mr S. H. Hudson had one table together, Mrs Steinert wearing a costume of ecru crepe and Mrs Comee black chantilly with transparent yoke and sleeves, and black hat with white ostrich plume. Mr and Mrs Frederic Brooks entertained a party of friends, Mrs Brooks wearing a gown of ecru veiling and black and white hat. Mr and Mrs Winthrop Hodges and Mr and Mrs Robert Shaw Sturgis came together, Mrs Sturgis wearing a becoming gown of fawn-colored crepe with pale blue at the bodice and hat with pink roses. Mr and Mrs Edward L. Osgood (Miss Draper) entertained friends, Mrs Osgood in dark skirt and white satin bodice and black hat with plumes and pink roses; Miss Matthews, in white bodice with black skirt, and toque with chou of white tulle; Mrs Beebe, Miss Emily Beebe, with a party of young people, Dr and Mrs S. J. Mixter, Mr and Mrs Frederic B. Carpenter and several friends, Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, Mr and Mrs H. M. Leland, Mr Timothee Adamowski, Mr Philip Hale, Mr R. R. Gardner, Mr and Mrs Charles Parker and Mr Amos Cotting.

TABLE GOSSIP.

—The success of the Pop concerts, which opened so brilliantly on Monday evening, has been continued through the week and large audiences have been the rule. Col Henry L. Higginson, who attended Monday evening, was there again Wednesday evening with a party of young people, including his niece, Miss Juliet Higginson. Others there, not mentioned before, have been Mr and Mrs Henry Parkman, who entertained friends; Mr and Mrs C. F. Lyman (Miss Isabelle Macomber), who was charmingly gowned in light blue crepe and lace hat, trimmed with rosettes of blue and white chiffon, and Mr and Mrs Power Wilson with several friends, Mrs Wilson in black veiling with collar of renaissance lace, and black toque with chiffon. Last evening Mrs Gordon Dexter was there with a jolly party of young people. Mrs Dexter is one of the most constant patrons throughout the season. The programs all the week have been interestingly made up, and it seems as if never before has the music been so thoroughly enjoyable.

—Mr Herbert W. C. Browne, who is now in Naples, is on his way home by

SUMMER "POP" CONCERTS.

The 17th season of "pop" concerts is in full swing at Symphony hall, where Mr Max Zach and his orchestra of 5[illegible] men are entertaining the usual clientelle of patrons. The programs are arranged to gratify all tastes, the selections ranging from Wagner to the up-to-date compositions of today. Tomorrow night there will be two novelties on the bill, which will be as follows:

March, Princess Ninetta.....Strauss
Selection, Faust.....Gounod
Waltz, Barcarolle.....Waldteufel
Overture, Tannhauser.....Wagner
Dream Music, Hansel and Gretel.Humperdinck
Waltz, Wine, Women and Song.....Strauss
Habanera .....Chabrier
Scherzo-Valse and Malaguena, Boabdil.... Moszkowski
Hymn to St Cecilia (violin obligato, Mr J Hoffmann) .....Gounod
Gavotte, Manon (first time).....Massenet
Waltz, La Patineuse (first time).Joh Strauss Jr
March, Feurig Blut.....Vollstedt

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXI., NO. 131.

SUNDAY, MAY 11, 1902.

The opening of the Pop concerts Monday night was emphasized by a very large and responsive company. Every table was filled, and there were many people in the balconies who enjoyed looking down upon the gay scene. A new feature this year is the promenading during the intermissions in the roomy corridors, which makes a restful change of air and scene, and will more and more be indulged in as the season goes on. Mr. Zach was cordially welcomed to the conductor's platform, and made very emphatically to feel that he was the right man in the right place. Mr. Comee was moving about, having a pleasant word for his friends, and keeping his managerial eye out for the comfort and enjoyment of everybody. Another new feature which is especially appreciated is the contrivance for carrying off the tobacco smoke before it arises to the balconies, thus giving a clear, untainted air, where before the atmosphere was disagreeably cloudy. Some who had table parties on the opening night were Maj. and Mrs. Higginson, whose guests included Mrs. James J. Storrow; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Carpenter, the latter in black mousseline de soie, with insertions, and a flat black hat, who had with them Mr. and Mrs. J. Converse Gray and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball, who had eight at their table; Miss Kimball, in heliotrope cloth, with bands of lighter shade, and a black hat; Mr. Adamowski, who had a stag party, including Mr. Otto Rothe and Mr. Arthur Richmond, and Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, who had a number of guests; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert were with Mr. and Mrs. Comee. Others there were Mr. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ticknor, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, the last named in a smart gown of French blue veiling, with tucked bodice, and a black and white hat; Mr. Arthur Davis, Dr. William Wesselhoeft, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Leland, Dr. and Mrs. Mixter and Mr. Amos Cotting.

Mrs. J. Emory Tinney has [illegible]

TOMORROW NIGHT'S "POP."

The present season of the "Pops" bids fair to be the greatest that has ever been. The public—which seemed to feel a little strange in Symphony Hall last year—has adjusted itself to its new and better conditions, and has begun to take every advantage of the effect which it can itself make in that brilliant and flattering light which could never be obtained in the old Music Hall, and to understand what a chance there is for beauty, grace and elegance to be recognized in the broad corridors and lobbies through which an entire circuit of the building can be made. This freedom of motion and observation reconciles one to the necessary closeness of the tables while one sits and sips or smokes and listens to the music or one's neighbors—especially as the atmosphere is so social and genial that a little crowding up to parties is hardly noticed and certainly not minded. Mr. Zachs is making first-rate programmes with pieces well chosen and capitally arranged, so that approbation is general and encores are frequently besought and conceded. The first series was altogether good, and that the next half-dozen will be as excellent, would seem to be guaranteed by the bill for tomorrow night, which follows:

1. March, "Princess Ninetta".....Strauss
2. Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Waltz, "Barcarolle".....Waldteufel
4. Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
5. Dream music from "Hansel and Gretel" .....Humperdinck
6. Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song"... Strauss
7. Habanera .....Chabrier
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
8. a. Scherzo-valse, } from "Boabdil"...
   b. Malaguena, } Moszkowski
9. Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
   (Violin obligato, Mr. J. Hoffmann.)
10. Gavotte from "Manon".....Massenet
    (First time.)
11. Waltz, "La Patineuse"..John Strauss, Jr.
    (First time.)
12. March, "Feurig Blut".....Vollstedt

BAPTIST CHURCH CONCERT

Somerset, from 8:30 to 10:30.

At the "Pops," which have been going on their successful way more and more emphatically since the opening night, there were on Friday evening 18 members of the Wisconsin Club of Harvard in the large table company on the floor. Last night Mrs. F. Gordon Dexter, who was one of the most constant patrons last year, brought a smart party.

It was a splendid day, with the air like wine, for the first open [illegible]

DATE
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
May
10
1902.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Chick of the Vendome entertained a number of friends at the opening night of the "Pops."

Cards have been sent out by Dr. and Mrs. James Washington [illegible]

[121]

HOLE IN PAGE

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CCI, NO. 133.
TUESDAY, MAY 13, 1902.

THE "POPS."

The first week of the "Pops" was in all respects memorable. The music was perfectly selected and perfectly played. The old favorites were warmly received, and there were a ready welcome and a hearty appreciation for the new things, while the bits of solo work, which came generally in the form of obbligatos, were rendered beautifully and greatly applauded. The conductor was generous with his encores, and had just the fitting thing ready when it was wanted. The weather was superb—just cool enough to make an indoor entertainment pleasant, while within the building the temperature was just right for spring toilets to look nice and be comfortable. The cool beverages were all pleasant of their kinds, the service prompt, and the powerful mechanical ventilators whisked off the smoke in a jiffy. Promenading was easy and enjoyable, and the lounger had occupation for his eyes in watching the throngs pass to and fro before him. Last night the second week began so smoothly out of the first that one might have fancied that there had been no break between. Everything went off "to the queen's taste," and the prospects are that there will be no change, unless some foul weather should interfere; but it would have to be very bad, since so many lines of cars can leave their passengers at the very doors. Tonight's programme—to be followed by others quite as good—contains no absolute novelty, but it is altogether bright and cheerful. This it is:

1. Persian March.....Strauss
2. Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor" Nicolai
3. Waltz, "Tales from the Vienna Woods,".....Strauss
4. Selection from "Fortune Teller"..Herbert
5. Overture, "Poet and Peasant".....Suppe
   'Cello obligato, Mr. J. Keller.
6. a. Gavotte.....Bach
   b. Menuet for string orchestra.....Bolzoni
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. Waltz, "Sentiers Fleuris".....Waldteufel
8. Suite, "Peer Gynt".....Grieg
   a. Aase's Death.
   b. Anitra's Dance.
   c. In the Hall of the Mountain King.
9. Overture, "Mirella".....Gounod
10. Waltz, "La Gitana".....Bucalossi
11. "Ride of the Hussars".....Spindler
12. March, "Under the Double Eagle" Wagner

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON POST
DATE .May 1 1902.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING JOURNAL
.....May 13 1902.
DATE

wards, Sandol Milliken, Edith Eldridge, Mary Kelso, Grace Spencer, Jessie Thompson and many others equally known in the production of some of the latest successes.

Promenade Concerts.

The second week of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall opened last evening with the usual large attendance, the combination of light refreshments and good music being as popular as ever. Mr Zach's programs are very enjoyable, and the one arranged for this evening will be as follows:

Persian march.....Strauss
Overture, Merry Wives of Windsor.....Nicolai
Waltz, Tales from the Vienna Woods...Strauss
Selection from Fortune Teller.....Herbert
Overture, Poet and Peasant.....Suppe
Gavotte.....Bach
Menuet for string orchestra.....Bolzoni
Waltz, Sentiers Fleuris.....Waldteufel
Suite, Peer Gynt.....Grieg
Overture, Mirella.....Gounod
Waltz, La Gitana.....Bucalossi
Ride of the Hussars.....Spindler
March, Under the Double Eagle.....Wagner

BOSTON POST DATE .May 12 1902.

will present "The Lady of Lyons" in this city, and on Friday and Saturday of the same week, May 30 and 31, Viola Allen will be seen in "The Hunchback."

The second week of the Pop concerts will begin tonight in Symphony Hall. Thus far the season has been the most successful ever given.

Miss Lee Hobbs Martin, who has been playing Mrs. Honeycomb in "The Girl

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON STAR DATE .May 1 1902.

Opening of the "Pops."

The "Pop" concerts, which are always looked forward to with such pleasurable anticipation, opened in fine style last Monday evening in Symphony hall, and the programme was one of great merit and was heartily enjoyed by the large number present. The same orchestra which has for several years delighted Bostonians was present and under the direction of Mr. Max Zach fully sustained their high reputation as musicians. The programme included 12 numbers with two intermissions, during which promenading was in order and was quite actively participated in. Mr. C. A. Ellis and Mr. Fred R. Comee are entitled to much credit for the charming manner in which these concerts are conducted, and on Monday evening received many congratulations upon the very successful opening of the season. A fine series of programmes has been arranged for the coming week, the one for Monday being as follows:

March, "Princess Ninetta".....Strauss
Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
Waltz, "Barcarolle".....Waldteufel
Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
Dream Music from "Hansel and Gretel"... .....Humperdinck
Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song"..... .....Strauss
Habanera.....Chabrier
Scherzo-valse, from "Boabdil"....Moszkowski
Malaguena.....
Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin obligato, Mr. J. Hoffmann.
Gavotte from "Manon".....Massenet
Waltz, "La Patineuse".....Joh. Strauss, Jr.
March, "Feurig Blut".....Vollstedt

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
.....May 10 1902.
DATE

The opening night of the Pops brought out a very representative gathering. Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson entertained a party, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter were host and hostess of another. Mrs. Thomas Porter Lovell of Newton was accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Newell Tucker and Miss Cecile Lovell, and Mr. Tucker. Mrs. Fred R. Comee entertained Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert and Mrs. Samuel H. Hudson.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
.May 10 1902.
DATE

young couple will not suffer.

Miss Mabel Walker of the Vendome, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. J. McKeehan Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ederley, who entertain friends, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen were some attending the "Pops" this week.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST
.May 11 1902.
DATE

Gowns at the Pop Concert

There were some exceedingly handsome toilettes worn at the initial of the Pop concerts Monday evening. Mrs. Frederick R. Comee, wife of the manager, was beautifully attired in a lovely gown of thin black, which displayed to great advantage her tropical and brilliant coloring. Mrs. Comee wore a large black hat with white plumes. Her table was one of the most attractive in the hall. Miss Estelle Kimball was prettily clad in an effective, clinging frock of turquoise crepe de chine with groups of tucks. About her neck was a double rope of coral, and a black hat with black tips combined effectively. Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Carpenter's table was a centre of attraction, Mrs. Carpenter looking very distinguished in her trailing gown of thin black with entre-deux of black lace. Her flat black toque was worn back from her face. Mrs. David H. Noyes was also in black, the bodice opening over a white front, and a wide white neck-ruche and white toque were effective. Mrs. William H. Alline, who was escorted by Captain Alline of the Cadets, wore a beautiful wrap over her dainty toilette. It was of black silk, with collar of pink, overlaid with heavy ecru lace. Her chapeau was of white tulle, trimmed with roses and foliage. Mrs. James McKeehan Burr of Roxbury looked particularly well in a foulard of French blue and white in combination with white silk, overlaid with black, and a black toque trimmed with white roses. Mrs. James B. Forsyth of the Victoria, always a graceful figure, looked very pretty Monday in a stylish creation of bluet veiling, the bodice laid in wide horizontal tucks. Her hat was black, with just the right amount of white in combination. Mrs. I. A. Ratshesky wore a becoming gown of navy blue foulard, dotted with white, and a chic chapeau of white tulle, trimmed with roses and foliage. Miss Mabel Walker of the Vendome was in dark blue veiling, overlaid with bands of ecru lace, and a black, plume-laden picture hat. Mrs. H. W. Patterson of Newbury street was superbly attired in pearl gray, with ornaments of diamonds and turquoise, and a wide white neck ruche and white hat. Miss Marion Richardson selected for her toilette on this occasion a pretty gown of cream cloth, with hat of burnt straw and white ostrich tips and white neck ruche. Mrs. Charles Rich looked extremely well in bluet veiling with white dots and a picture hat of white and black, and her intimate friend, Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, at a nearby table, was one of the prettiest of the young matrons present, as was Mrs. Newell Tucker, attired in pale gray. Wednesday evening Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson entertained an attractive group of young girls at their table. The Higginsons have one table reserved for their occupancy during the entire season, and are in frequent attendance. Mr. Adamowski also had a party on Wednesday. On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bigelow entertained eight. Mrs. Bigelow was handsomely attired in a beautiful creation of black satin and net with sequins and applications of white on the bodice. Her flat toque was of white and black and worn back from her face, and a black tulle completed the toilette. In the party were Miss Theresa Merriam and Mr. Holker Abbott. Miss Merriam was charmingly clad in mode veiling, over a foundation of red taffeta, with vest, stock and girdle of white and a rope of corals. A neck ruche of white point d'esprit and a large black hat combined effectively. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Carleton entertained at a nearby table, Mrs. Carleton attired in bluet veiling, with collar of heavy ecru lace, and a white rose hat, the brim entirely covered with black lace. Last evening the Hon. A. E. Pillsbury entertained at the Pop concert, and other hosts were Mr. R. B. Noyes and Mr. Gordon Hale. Mrs. Gordon Dexter, who is one of the most constant and enthusiastic of the patrons of these entertainments, made her initial appearance last evening, taking with her a large party.

621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Republic Boston, Mass.
DATE 5-10-02

are also, more or less.

* * * *

Max Zach, that suave director of the pops, has made his bow at the beginning of another season. May his strains blend as sweetly with the crackers and cheese and liquids as they have ever.

* * * *

Professor Charles Lueblin of Chi-

[122]

HOLE IN PAGE

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXI., NO. 133.
TUESDAY, MAY 13, 1902.

THE "POPS."

The first week of the "Pops" was in all respects memorable. The music was perfectly selected and perfectly played. The old favorites were warmly received, and there were a ready welcome and a hearty appreciation for the new things, while the bits of solo work, which came generally in the form of obbligatos, were rendered beautifully and greatly applauded. The conductor was generous with his encores, and had just the fitting thing ready when it was wanted. The weather was superb—just cool enough to make an indoor entertainment pleasant, while within the building the temperature was just right for spring toilets to look nice and be comfortable. The cool beverages were all pleasant of their kinds, the service prompt, and the powerful mechanical ventilators whisked off the smoke in a jiffy. Promenading was easy and enjoyable, and the lounger had occupation for his eyes in watching the throngs pass to and fro before him. Last night the second week began so smoothly out of the first that one might have fancied that there had been no break between. Everything went off "to the queen's taste," and the prospects are that there will be no change, unless some foul weather should interfere; but it would have to be very bad, since so many lines of cars can leave their passengers at the very doors. Tonight's programme—to be followed by others quite as good—contains no absolute novelty, but it is altogether bright and cheerful. This it is:

1. Persian March.....Strauss
2. Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor" Nicolai
3. Waltz, "Tales from the Vienna Woods,".....Strauss
4. Selection from "Fortune Teller"..Herbert
5. Overture, "Poet and Peasant".....Suppe
   'Cello obligato, Mr. J. Keller.
6. a. Gavotte.....Bach
   b. Menuet for string orchestra.....Bolzoni
   (The audience are respectfully requested to preserve silence during the performance of this number.)
7. Waltz, "Sentiers Fleuris".....Waldteufel
8. Suite, "Peer Gynt".....Grieg
   a. Aase's Death.
   b. Anitra's Dance.
   c. In the Hall of the Mountain King.
9. Overture, "Mirella".....Gounod
10. Waltz, "La Gitana".....Bucalossi
11. "Ride of the Hussars".....Spindler
12. March, "Under the Double Eagle" Wagner

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 13 1902.

wards, Sandol Milliken, Edith Eldridge, Mary Kelso, Grace Spencer, Jessie Thompson and many others equally known in the production of some of the latest successes.

Promenade Concerts.

The second week of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall opened last evening with the usual large attendance, the combination of light refreshments and good music being as popular as ever. Mr Zach's programs are very enjoyable, and the one arranged for this evening will be as follows:

Persian march.....Strauss
Overture, Merry Wives of Windsor.....Nicolai
Waltz, Tales from the Vienna Woods...Strauss
Selection from Fortune Teller.....Herbert
Overture, Poet and Peasant.....Suppé
Gavotte.....Bach
Menuet for string orchestra.....Bolzoni
Waltz, Sentiers Fleuris.....Waldteufel
Suite, Peer Gynt.....Grieg
Overture, Mirella.....Gounod
Waltz, La Gitana.....Bucalossi
Ride of the Hussars.....Spindler
March, Under the Double Eagle.....Wagner

BOSTON POST DATE May 12 1902.

[illegible] and Kyrie Bell will present "The Lady of Lyons" in this city, and on Friday and Saturday of the same week, May 30 and 31. Viola Allen will be seen in "The Hunchback."

The second week of the Pop concerts will begin tonight in Symphony Hall. Thus far the season has been the most successful ever given.

Miss Lee Hobbs Martin, who has been playing Mrs. Honeycomb in "The Girl

BOSTON TIMES DATE May 10 1902.

Opening of the "Pops."

The "Pop" concerts, which are always looked forward to with such pleasurable anticipation, opened in fine style last Monday evening in Symphony hall, and the programme was one of great merit and was heartily enjoyed by the large number present. The same orchestra which has for several years delighted Bostonians was present and under the direction of Mr. Max Zach fully sustained their high reputation as musicians. The programme included 12 numbers with two intermissions, during which promenading was in order and was quite actively participated in. Mr. C. A. Ellis and Mr. Fred R. Comee are entitled to much credit for the charming manner in which these concerts are conducted, and on Monday evening received many congratulations upon the very successful opening of the season. A fine series of programmes has been arranged for the coming week, the one for Monday being as follows:

March, "Princess Ninetta".....Strauss
Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
Waltz, "Barcarolle".....Waldteufel
Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
Dream Music from "Hansel and Gretel"... .....Humperdinck
Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song"..... .....Strauss
Habanera.....Chabrier
Scherzo-valse, from "Boabdil"...Moszkowski
Malaguena.....Gounod
Hymn to St. Cecilia.....
Violin obligato, Mr. J. Hoffmann.
Gavotte from "Manon".....Massenet
Waltz, "La Patineuse".....Joh. Strauss, Jr.
March, "Feurig Blut".....Vollstedt

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
DATE May 10 1902.

The opening night of the Pops brought out a very representative gathering. Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson entertained a party, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter were host and hostess of another. Mrs. Thomas Porter Lovell of Newton was accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Newell Tucker and Miss Cecile Lovell, and Mr. Tucker. Mrs. Fred R. Comee entertained Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert and Mrs. Samuel H. Hudson.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
DATE May 10 1902.

young couple will not suffer.

Miss Mabel Walker of the Vendome, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. J. McKeehan Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ederley, who entertain friends, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen were some attending the "Pops" this week.

621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Republic Boston, Mass.
DATE 5-10-02

are also, more or less.

* * * *

Max Zach, that suave director of the pops, has made his bow at the beginning of another season. May his strains blend as sweetly with the crackers and cheese and liquids as they have ever.

* * * *

Professor Charles Lueblin of Chi-

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST
DATE May 1902.

Gowns at the Pop Concert

There were some exceedingly handsome toilettes worn at the initial of the Pop concerts Monday evening. Mrs. Frederick R. Comee, wife of the manager, was beautifully attired in a lovely gown of thin black, which displayed to great advantage her tropical and brilliant coloring. Mrs. Comee wore a large black hat with white plumes. Her table was one of the most attractive in the hall. Miss Estelle Kimball was prettily clad in an effective, clinging frock of turquoise crepe de chine with groups of tucks. About her neck was a double rope of coral, and a black hat with black tips combined effectively. Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Carpenter's table was a centre of attraction, Mrs. Carpenter looking very distinguished in her trailing gown of thin black with entre-deux of black lace. Her flat black toque was worn back from her face. Mrs. David H. Noyes was also in black, the bodice opening over a white front, and a wide white neck-ruche and white toque were effective. Mrs. William H. Alline, who was escorted by Captain Alline of the Cadets, wore a beautiful wrap over her dainty toilette. It was of black silk, with collar of pink, overlaid with heavy ecru lace. Her chapeau was of white tulle, trimmed with roses and foliage. Mrs. James McKeehan Burr of Roxbury looked particularly well in a foulard of French blue and white in combination with white silk, overlaid with black, and a black toque trimmed with white roses. Mrs. James B. Forsyth of the Victoria, always a graceful figure, looked very pretty Monday in a stylish creation of bluet veiling, the bodice laid in wide horizontal tucks. Her hat was black, with just the right amount of white in combination. Mrs. I. A. Ratshesky wore a becoming gown of navy blue foulard, dotted with white, and a chic chapeau of white tulle, trimmed with roses and foliage. Miss Mabel Walker of the Vendome was in dark blue veiling, overlaid with bands of ecru lace, and a black, plume-laden picture hat. Mrs. H. W. Patterson of Newbury street was superbly attired in pearl gray, with ornaments of diamonds and turquoise, and a wide white neck ruche and white hat. Miss Marion Richardson selected for her toilette on this occasion a pretty gown of cream cloth, with hat of burnt straw and white ostrich tips and white neck ruche. Mrs. Charles Rich looked extremely well in bluet veiling with white dots and a picture hat of white and black, and her intimate friend, Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, at a nearby table, was one of the prettiest of the young matrons present, as was Mrs. Newell Tucker, attired in pale gray. Wednesday evening Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson entertained an attractive group of young girls at their table. The Higginsons have one table reserved for their occupancy during the entire season, and are in frequent attendance. Mr. Adamowski also had a party on Wednesday. On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bigelow entertained eight. Mrs. Bigelow was handsomely attired in a beautiful creation of black satin and net with sequins and applications of white on the bodice. Her flat toque was of white and black and worn [illegible] from her face, and a black tulle completed the toilette. In the party were Miss Theresa Merriam and Mr. Holker Abbott. Miss Merriam was charmingly clad in mode veiling, over a foundation of red taffeta, with vest, stock and girdle of white and a rope of corals. A neck ruche of white point d'esprit and a large black hat combined effectively. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Carleton entertained at a nearby table, Mrs. Carleton attired in bluet veiling, with collar of heavy ecru lace, and a white rose hat, the brim entirely covered with black lace. Last evening the Hon. A. E. Pillsbury entertained at the Pop concert, and other hosts were Mr. R. B. Noyes and Mr. Gordon Hale. Mrs. Gordon Dexter, who is one of the most constant and enthusiastic of the patrons of these entertainments, made her initial appearance last evening, taking with her a large party.

BOSTON RECORD

DATE May 14 1902

color is highly commended.

Another week of the "Pops" began at Symphony Hall and the cool weather seems to have no effect upon these charming evening entertainments.

G. O. Taylor Whiskies of great value to the sick.

BOSTON ADVERTISER

DATE May 15 1902.

aldson, Louise Montrose, Mabel Pier Zella Frank, Maurice Darcy, Iver Ans son and Robert O'Connor.

Another week of the "Pops" bega Symphony Hall and the cool we seems to have no effect upon these ch ing evening entertainments.

"JOE'S" SONS IN "THE RIVAL

Fall River, May 12.—The first appeba of Joseph Jefferson, jr., and Willia ferson, sons of the famous comedbol their father's well-known success.

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL

DATE May 10 1902.

Miss Rosamond Saltonstall was one of the prettiest young women seen at the "Pops" opening night.

BOSTON (Mass.)

DATE May 13 1902.

Vincent T. the treasurer and ticket respectively, of this theatre.

Last night the second week of the at Symphony Hall began so smoothly out of the first that one might have fancied that there had been no break between. Everything went off "to the queen's taste," and the prospects are that there will be no change, unless some foul weather should interfere; but it would have to be very bad, since so many lines of cars leave their passengers at the very doors.

BOSTON GAZETTE

DATE May

—There was a pleasant bustle an excitement at Symphony Hall, on Monday night for the opening of the Pop concerts, and Mr. Zach was warmly received and was very generous with encores. Some of those noticed were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson, Mr. James Higginson, Dr. Moselhoeft and Mr. Willoughby Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter, Mr. T. Adamowski, who had with him Mr. Arthur Richmond, Mr. Valpy of London, and Mr. Otto Rothe, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Comee, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mr. J. Edward Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Grace, Dr. and Mrs. Mixter, Dr. W. R. May, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Van Nostrand, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, Mr. Amos Cotting, Mr. Arthur Dakin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chick, of the Vendome, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Souther, Mr. J. S. Chipman with a party, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tucker, Mrs. Thomas P. Lovell, Miss Cecile Lovell, and Mr. Frank E. Barnard, with a party of friends.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING HERALD

DATE May 15 1902

pleasing as [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] Saturday matinees.

The "Pops" have been going ahead at a great pace all the week, every condition, out of doors and within, having been most favorable. To see the great and merry audiences and to make one among them is to find forgetfulness, not only of the petty personal worries of life, but even of the wide and profound catastrophe which blight and embitter the existence of a whole people. The remaining programmes of the week are crowded with good things, that for tonight naming the "Masaniello," "Traviata" and "Pique Dame" overtures; marches by Berlioz and Zach; three charming waltzes, of which one is the new "Loin du Pays"; some of the "Midsummer Night's Dream" music; operatic selections from Gounod and Wagner, and a Saint-Saens prelude, with a violin solo in it for Mr. Hoffmann.

The Bostonians are living up to their long-established principles of alluring and gratifying large audiences, after-

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON COURIER

DATE May 19 1902.

line,) will take up their [illegible] Marlborough street, where they will be at home informally on Tuesdays.

—A special car will convey the Boston contingent to and from the pop concert and dance which have been arranged for next Friday evening in the Malden Auditorium, for which affair the patronesses are made up of Mrs. Costello C. Converse, Mrs. William M. Horne, Mrs. Daniel P. Wise, Mrs. George L. Gould, Mrs. Howard A. Carson, Mrs. Frank J. Bartlett, Mrs. Eugene Nelson, Mrs. Harry E. Converse and Mrs. Phineas W. Sprague, of Commonwealth avenue.

—Dr. Harry Lowe, who has been in Europe for something more than a year, has returned to Boston, and was greeted by a number of friends at the initial pop concert, Monday

BOSTON ADVERTISER

DATE May 15 1902.

As the evenings grow warmer the crowds at the "Pops" at Symphony Hall grow larger. There is no denying the popularity of these concerts.

BOSTON BUDGET

DATE May 11 1902.

The "Pops" at Symphony Hall have been liberally patronized by music lovers the past week, and the grand orchestra of fifty pieces, Mr. Max Zach, conductor, combined with light refreshments, have been much appreciated by many young people of the city and suburbs. It is fortunate that these popular concerts are to continue, and, no doubt, will be heartily enjoyed by large audiences.

BOSTON GAZETTE

DATE May 10 1902.

—Two of the most attractive young girls at the Pop Concert on Monday were Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, and Miss Estelle Kimball.

BOSTON JOURNAL OF COMMERCE AND TEXTILE INDUSTRIES.

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1902.

The Boston "Pops."

The Boston popular concerts having begun their seventeenth annual season, Symphony Hall will for several weeks to come be the mecca towards which the steps of all good Bostonians will tend, to pay tribute to one of the city's most popular institutions. These delightful concerts seem to strengthen their hold on the music-loving public with each season, until they have well nigh become a necessity to a large class in the community who would sadly miss them. The fine orchestra under the baton of Mr. Max Zach is composed largely of members of the Symphony Orchestra, and the programmes include the gems of classical, as well as of the popular, music of the day. Mr. Zach will divide the season with Conductor Strube, and these talented leaders may be depended upon to keep these attractive entertainments up the high standard they have so long maintained. Mr. Fred Comee the manager of the "Pops," also may be relied upon to give his patrons all and more than they have bargained for in the general plan of the concerts.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 18, 1902.

—The Pop concerts have been largely patronized the past week, the second of the season, a noticeable feature being the many parties of eight and ten persons who come together and enjoy the jolly social side as well as the music. The broad corridors, where friends meet for a chat during the intermissions are being more and more appreciated, and are sometimes quite crowded. A few noted have been Mr and Mrs A. C. Burrage, who came with several friends. They have only been at their Commonwealth-av home a short time, after spending the winter at their place at Redlands, Calif; Mr and Mrs Francis I. Amory, Mr Frederic Stimson, Mr and Mrs Boylston Beal. Mrs Beal wearing a white satin and lace bodice, and hat with white flowers; Mrs William Copley Winslow, in black brocade, with duchesse lace at the bodice and violet and lace toque; Mr Clayton Johns and Mr Tudor Gardner, Mr and Mrs Frederic Whitwell brought one evening a large party, Mrs Whitwell wore black crepe de chine and a bla[illegible] with a boa of fluffy white tulle, which was very becoming; one of the young girls with her was in red silk trimmed with lace, and a black and white hat, and another in pale gray crepe de chine. Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam brought friends one evening, Mrs Putnam wearing black point d'esprit over white, a black tulle boa and hat trimmed with white chiffon and long white ostrich plumes. Miss Katherine Fay, Mr Quincy Shaw Jr and Mr Guy Murchie, with others, comprised one party. Miss Fay was in a gown of black tucked mousseline and black hat, the costume relieved by a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Cochran wore a tussah silk, the yoke of the bodice of white lace, and a black plumed hat. Mr and Mrs George M. Morgan brought friends one evening, Mrs Morgan wearing a black and white striped silk, made with entre deux of black lace, and a blue girdle and stock. The hat was white chip with white wings and black velvet appliqued with white lace. Mr Henry Brooks, with friends, was present on Thursday evening. The programs for the coming week are made up of many interesting and popular selections.

—In the audiences at the Pop concerts the past week there have been some charming spring costumes worn by the young women. On Friday evening Mrs Francis L. Higginson, who was with Mr Higginson, wore a gown of black chantilly over black, with transparent yoke and sleeves to the bodice, and a hat of white lace trimmed with violet and white orchids; Miss Marian Fenno's costume was white satin-striped grenadine, with yoke of lace, and a hat of green and dark red foliage; Miss Hannah Stevenson was in black crepe de chine, with a black hat adorned with black and white ostrich plumes; Miss Rosamund Lang's costume was black, with insertions of white lace, and hat with green foliage and pink roses. Others there were Mr William Rotch, Mr George Fred Williams, Mr Waldron Bates, Mr and Mrs Boylston Beal, Dr Bush, Mr Arthur Howard Pickering, Mr and Mrs T. L. Quimby, the Misses Manning and Dr William Sturgis Bigelow.

Boston Journal.

SUNDAY, MAY 18, 1902.

Among those who enjoyed the "Pop concerts" at Symphony Hall during the past week were Miss Katherine Fay, Mr. Quincy Shaw, Jr., and party, Mr. Murchie, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Mr. Amory, Mr. F. J. Stimpson, Mr. A. C. Burrage and party, Mr. Tudor Gardiner and party, Mr. Sewall, Mrs. Thomas Mack and party, Mr. Henry Brooks and party, Mrs. H. L. Jordan and a party of 14, Mrs. Chas. Peabody, Mr. W. P. Lyman, Mr. Thos. Motley, Jr., Mr. E. W. Converse, Mr. R. G. Elkins and Mr. Percival Lowell.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE May 20 1902.

land, Harry Davenport, Alexander Clark, Archie Ling, Chas. Dickson, Gilbert Clayton, Gordon Tomkins and a numerous chorus, with stage manager Frank Smithson at the helm.

Promenade Concerts.

The third week of the promenade concerts in Symphony hall began last evening with a very satisfactory attendance, despite the inclemency of the weather. The program for this evening will be as follows:

Werner march ..... Ziehrer
Waltz, Violets ..... Waldteufel
Overture, Stradella ..... Flotow
Selection, La Fille de Mme Angot ..... Lococq
Selection, Il Trovatore ..... Verdi
Song without words ..... Tschaikowsky
Sevillana ..... Massenet
Naila ..... Delibes
Rhapsody in F ..... Liszt
Dance of Bayaderes ..... Rubinstein
Candle dance of the brides of Kashmere ..... Rubinstein
Waltz, Arabian Nights ..... Strauss
Selection, Erminie ..... Jakobowsky
March, Merry Soldiers ..... Sabathil

The first special night will take place next Monday evening, the last week of Mr Zach's conductorship.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE May 20 1902

THE "POPS."

The approach of stormy weather, gladly hailed in the country, where the roads are deep in dust and the trees and fields are dry, is not altogether unwelcome in the city. And it certainly cast no dulness over the vivacity of the audiences at the "Pops." So long as the evenings are not so tempestuous as to make stirring abroad difficult, the contrast between an unpleasant evening without and the light and gayety of the hours which can be passed in Symphony Hall is all to the advantage of the assembly at the concert. So the third week has begun in the spirit of cheerfulness and the sense of great enjoyment. Mr. Zach is putting forth a new set of programmes which promise at least as much substantial and genuine musical entertainment as any which have preceded them, and which include their fair proportion of novelties. And, indeed, when everything on a programme happens to have been heard before, he is so skilful in arranging the order of his pieces that even a familiar selection is likely to take on a new appearance and create a new effect, just because it is set off in an unusual way by the selections with which it is associated in a new combination. The divisions of the programmes are quite broadly separated, so that there is always time for a stroll in the lobbies and for a breath of fresh air without losing any of the music.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE May 18 1902

—In the audiences at the Pop concerts the past week there have been some charming spring costumes worn by the young women. On Friday evening Mrs Francis L. Higginson, who was with Mr Higginson, wore a gown of black chantilly over black, with transparent yoke and sleeves to the bodice, and a hat of white lace trimmed with violet and white orchids; Miss Marian Fenno's costume was white satin-striped grenadine, with yoke of lace, and a hat of green and dark red foliage; Miss Hannah Stevenson was in black crepe de chine, with a black hat adorned with black and white ostrich plumes; Miss Rosamund Lang's costume was black, with insertions of white lace, and hat with green foliage and pink roses. Others there were Mr William Rotch, Mr George Fred Williams, Mr Waldron Bates, Mr and Mrs Boylston Beal, Dr Bush, Mr Arthur Howard Pickering, Mr and Mrs T. L. Quimby, the Misses Manning and Dr William Sturgis Bigelow.

—Mr and Mrs S. V. R. Crosby are at Manchester.

BOSTON RECORD

DATE May 1902

color is highly commended.

Another week of the "Pops" began at Symphony Hall and the cool weather seems to have no effect upon these charming evening entertainments.

G. O. Taylor Whiskies of great value to the sick.

BOSTON ADVERTISER

DATE May 15 1902.

aldson, Louise Montrose, Mabel Pier Zella Frank, Maurice Darcy, Iver Ans son and Robert O'Connor.

Another week of the "Pops" bega Symphony Hall and the cool we seems to have no effect upon these ch ing evening entertainments.

"JOE'S" SONS IN "THE RIVAL

Fall River, May 12.—The first appear of Joseph Jefferson, jr., and Willia ferson, sons of the famous comedi their father's well-known success.

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL

DATE May 10 1902.

Miss Rosamond Saltonstall was one of the prettiest young women seen at the "Pops" opening night.

BOSTON (MASS.) HERALD

DATE May 1902.

Joseph F. Wagner and Vincent T. Fetherston, the treasurer and ticket agent, respectively, of this theatre.

Last night the second week of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall began so smoothly out of the first that one might have fancied that there had been no break between. Everything went off "to the queen's taste," and the prospects are that there will be no change, unless some foul weather should interfere; but it would have to be very bad, since so many lines of cars leave their passengers at the very doors.

BOSTON GAZETTE

DATE May

—There was a pleasant bustle an excitement at Symphony Hall, on Monday night for the opening of the Pop concerts, and Mr. Zach was warmly received and was very generous with encores. Some of those noticed were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson, Mr. James Higginson, Dr. Moselhoeft and Mr. Willoughby Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter, Mr. T. Adamowski, who had with him Mr. Arthur Richmond, Mr. Valpy of London, and Mr. Otto Rothe, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steinert, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Comee, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, Mr. and Mr. J. Edward Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Grace, Dr. and Mrs. Mixter, Dr. W. R. May, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Van Nostrand, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, Mr. Amos Cotting, Mr. Arthur Dakin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chick, of the Vendome, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Souther, Mr. J. S. Chipman with a party, Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tucker, Mrs. Thomas P. Lovell, Miss Cecile Lovell, and Mr. Frank E. Barnard, with a party of friends.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING HERALD

DATE May 15 1902

pleasing as Annabel. There are Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The "Pops" have been going ahead at a great pace all the week, every condition, out of doors and within, having been most favorable. To see the great and merry audiences and to make one among them is to find forgetfulness, not only of the petty personal worries of life, but even of the wide and profound catastrophe which blight and embitter the existence of a whole people. The remaining programmes of the week are crowded with good things, that for tonight naming the "Masaniello," "Traviata" and "Pique Dame" overtures; marches by Berlioz and Zach; three charming waltzes, of which one is the new "Loin du Pays"; some of the "Midsummer Night's Dream" music; operatic selections from Gounod and Wagner, and a Saint-Saens prelude, with a violin solo in it for Mr. Hoffmann.

The Bostonians are living up to their long-established principles of alluring and gratifying large audiences, after-

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON COURIER

DATE May 1902.

line,) will take up their ... Marlborough street, where they will be at home informally on Tuesdays.

—A special car will convey the Boston contingent to and from the pop concert and dance which have been arranged for next Friday evening in the Malden Auditorium, for which affair the patronesses are made up of Mrs. Costello C. Converse, Mrs. William M. Horne, Mrs. Daniel P. Wise, Mrs. George L. Gould, Mrs. Howard A. Carson, Mrs. Frank J. Bartlett, Mrs. Eugene Nelson, Mrs. Harry E. Converse and Mrs. Phineas W. Sprague, of Commonwealth avenue.

—Dr. Harry Lowe, who has been in Europe for something more than a year, has returned to Boston, and was greeted by a number of friends at the initial pop concert, Monday

BOSTON ADVERTISER

DATE May 15 1902.

As the evenings grow warmer the crowds at the "Pops" at Symphony Hall grow larger. There is no denying the popularity of these concerts.

BOSTON BUDGET

DATE May 1902.

The "Pops" at Symphony Hall have been liberally patronized by music lovers the past week, and the grand orchestra of fifty pieces, Mr. Max Zach, conductor, combined with light refreshments, have been much appreciated by many young people of the city and suburbs. It is fortunate that these popular concerts are to continue, and, no doubt, will be heartily enjoyed by large audiences.

BOSTON GAZETTE

May 1902.

—Two of the most attractive young girls at the Pop Concert on Monday were Miss Rosamond Saltonstall, and Miss Estelle Kimball.

BOSTON JOURNAL OF COMMERCE AND TEXTILE INDUSTRIES.

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1902.

The Boston "Pops."

The Boston popular concerts having begun their seventeenth annual season, Symphony Hall will for several weeks to come be the mecca towards which the steps of all good Bostonians will tend, to pay tribute to one of the city's most popular institutions. These delightful concerts seem to strengthen their hold on the music-loving public with each season, until they have well nigh become a necessity to a large class in the community who would sadly miss them. The fine orchestra under the baton of Mr. Max Zach is composed largely of members of the Symphony Orchestra, and the programmes include the gems of classical, as well as of the popular, music of the day. Mr. Zach will divide the season with Conductor Strube, and these talented leaders may be depended upon to keep these attractive entertainments up the high standard they have so long maintained. Mr. Fred Comee the manager of the "Pops," also may be relied upon to give his patrons all and more than they have bargained for in the general plan of the concerts.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 18, 1902.

—The Pop concerts have been largely patronized the past week, the second of the season, a noticeable feature being the many parties of eight and ten persons who come together and enjoy the jolly social side as well as the music. The broad corridors, where friends meet for a chat during the intermissions are being more and more appreciated, and are sometimes quite crowded. A few noted have been Mr and Mrs A. C. Burrage, who came with several friends. They have only been at their Commonwealth-av home a short time, after spending the winter at their place at Redlands, Calif; Mr and Mrs Francis I. Amory, Mr Frederic Stimson, Mr and Mrs Boylston Beal. Mrs Beal wearing a white satin and lace bodice, and hat with white flowers; Mrs William Copley Winslow, in black brocade, with duchesse lace at the bodice and violet and lace toque; Mr Clayton Johns and Mr Tudor Gardner, Mr and Mrs Frederic Whitwell brought one evening a large party, Mrs Whitwell wore black crepe de chine and a bla with a boa of fluffy white tulle, which was very becoming; one of the young girls with her was in red silk trimmed with lace, and a black and white hat, and another in pale gray crepe de chine. Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam brought friends one evening, Mrs Putnam wearing black point d'esprit over white, a black tulle boa and hat trimmed with white chiffon and long white ostrich plumes. Miss Katherine Fay, Mr Quincy Shaw Jr and Mr Guy Murchie, with others, comprised one party. Miss Fay was in a gown of black tucked mousseline and black hat, the costume relieved by a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Cochran wore a tussah silk, the yoke of the bodice of white lace, and a black plumed hat. Mr and Mrs George M. Morgan brought friends one evening, Mrs Morgan wearing a black and white striped silk, made with entre deux of black lace, and a blue girdle and stock. The hat was white chip with white wings and black velvet applied with white lace. Mr Henry Brooks, with friends, was present on Thursday evening. The programs for the coming week are made up of many interesting and popular selections.

—In the audiences at the Pop concerts the past week there have been some charming spring costumes worn by the young women. On Friday evening Mrs Francis L. Higginson, who was with Mr Higginson, wore a gown of black chantilly over black, with transparent yoke and sleeves to the bodice, and a hat of white lace trimmed with violet and white orchids; Miss Marian Fenno's costume was white satin-striped grenadine, with yoke of lace, and a hat of green and dark red foliage; Miss Hannah Stevenson was in black crepe de chine, with a black hat adorned with black and white ostrich plumes; Miss Rosamund Lang's costume was black, with insertions of white lace, and hat with green foliage and pink roses. Others there were Mr William Rotch, Mr George Fred Williams, Mr Waldron Bates, Mr and Mrs Boylston Beal, Dr Bush, Mr Arthur Howard Pickering, Mr and Mrs T. L. Quimby, the Misses Manning and Dr William Sturgis Bigelow.

Boston Journal.

SUNDAY, MAY 18, 1902.

Among those who enjoyed the "Pop concerts" at Symphony Hall during the past week were Miss Katherine Fay, Mr. Quincy Shaw, Jr., and party, Mr. Murchie, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Higginson, Mr. Amory, Mr. F. J. Stimpson, Mr. A. C. Burrage and party, Mr. Tudor Gardiner and party, Mr. Sewall, Mrs. Thomas Mack and party, Mr. Henry Brooks and party, Mrs. H. L. Jordan and a party of 14, Mrs. Chas. Peabody, Mr. W. P. Lyman, Mr. Thos. Motley, Jr., Mr. E. W. Converse, Mr. R. G. Elkins and Mr. Percival Lowell.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE May 1902.

land, Harry Davenport, Alexander Clark, Ritchie Ling, Chas. Dickson, Gilbert Clayton, Gordon Tomkins and a numerous chorus, with stage manager Frank Smithson at the helm.

Promenade Concerts.

The third week of the promenade concerts in Symphony hall began last evening with a very satisfactory attendance, despite the inclemency of the weather. The program for this evening will be as follows:

Werner march ..... Ziehrer
Waltz, Violets ..... Waldteufel
Overture, Stradella ..... Flotow
Selection, La Fille de Mme Angot ..... Lococq
Selection, Il Trovatore ..... Verdi
Song without words ..... Tschaikowsky
Sevillana ..... Massenet
Naila ..... Delibes
Rhapsody in F ..... Liszt
Dance of Bayaderes ..... Rubinstein
Candle dance of the brides of Kashmere ... Rubinstein
Waltz, Arabian Nights ..... Strauss
Selection, Erminie ..... Jakobowsky
March, Merry Soldiers ..... Sabathil

The first special night will take place next Monday evening, the last week of Mr Zach's conductorship.

BOSTON MORNING

THE "POPS."

The approach of stormy weather, gladly hailed in the country, where the roads are deep in dust and the trees and fields are dry, is not altogether unwelcome in the city. And it certainly cast no dulness over the vivacity of the audiences at the "Pops." So long as the evenings are not so tempestuous as to make stirring abroad difficult, the contrast between an unpleasant evening without and the light and gayety of the hours which can be passed in Symphony Hall, is all to the advantage of the assembly at the concert. So the third week has begun in the spirit of cheerfulness and the sense of great enjoyment. Mr. Zach is putting forth a new set of programmes which promise at least as much substantial and genuine musical entertainment as any which have preceded them, and which include their fair proportion of novelties. And, indeed, when everything on a programme happens to have been heard before, he is so skilful in arranging the order of his pieces that even a familiar selection is likely to take on a new appearance and create a new effect, just because it is set off in an unusual way by the selections with which it is associated in a new combination. The divisions of the programmes are quite broadly separated, so that there is always time for a stroll in the lobbies and for a breath of fresh air without losing any of the music.

BOSTON MORNING

DATE

—In the audiences at the Pop concerts the past week there have been some charming spring costumes worn by the young women. On Friday evening Mrs Francis L. Higginson, who was with Mr Higginson, wore a gown of black chantilly over black, with transparent yoke and sleeves to the bodice, and a hat of white lace trimmed with violet and white orchids; Miss Marian Fenno's costume was white satin-striped grenadine, with yoke of lace, and a hat of green and dark red foliage; Miss Hannah Stevenson was in black crepe de chine, with a black hat adorned with black and white ostrich plumes; Miss Rosamund Lang's costume was black, with insertions of white lace, and hat with green foliage and pink roses. Others there were Mr William Rotch, Mr George Fred Williams, Mr Waldron Bates, Mr and Mrs Boylston Beal, Dr Bush, Mr Arthur Howard Pickering, Mr and Mrs T. L. Quimby, the Misses Manning and Dr William Sturgis Bigelow.

—Mr and Mrs S. V. R. Crosby are at Manchester.

[123]

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON POST
DATE May 18 1902.

The Week at the Pops

Last evening Mr. Zach led his orchestra to the triumphal conclusion of the second of the season's Pop concerts. There have been splendid programmes and brilliant audiences all the week. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage of Commonwealth avenue, who lately returned from a winter at Redlands, Cal., made their initial appearance at the Pops. Mrs. Burrage was magnificently attired in white silk, delicately figured with black. Touches of black velvet and lace were used in the trimming. At the throat was an immense opal, surrounded by diamonds, and she wore a diamond watch and chatelaine and a jewelled chain. Mrs. Burrage's hat was of heavy white lace over white chiffon, with white roses tucked under the brim. With the Burrages, beside their young son, were Dr. George B. Haven and Mrs. Haskell of China, who is their guest. Mrs. Haskell was richly clad in a handsome creation of tucked veiling in golden brown tint, with ecru lace in effective combination. She wore a large white neck ruche and a straw hat of watermelon pink, trimmed with roses of the same color, shading from deep to palest tints. Others noted in the hall on that and the previous evening were Dr. Wesselhoeft and party, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Mr. Fred J. Stimpson, who had with him the Amorys and several others; Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson, who had with him a large party; Mr. Percival Lord, Mr. Winslow of Randolph Hall, Harvard, and Mrs. H. L. Jordan of Marlboro street. On Wednesday evening Colonel Higginson and party were once more in evidence, as were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Converse and guests, Mr. R. G. Elkins and party and Mr. Ralph Darrell and friends. Thursday is proving to be the banner night of the season at the Pops, and on that occasion Mrs. James Lowell Putnam was far and away the most interesting figure. With her and Mr. Putnam was Miss Susan Amory. Mrs. Putnam was attired in a Parisian creation of black point d'esprit over white taffeta, with long, unlined sleeves and sash of the same material. The skirt was flounced about the foot and a large diamond sunburst glittered on the bodice. A white tulle stock and white black tulle neck ruche were worn, and Mrs. Putnam's hat was of white chiffon, the under brim filled in with black chiffon and a sweeping white ostrich plume around the crown. Miss Amory wore veiling of the palest gray, the bodice tucked, and a flat toque with green leaves. Near the Putnams table Miss Katharine Fay entertained a party of six, included among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., who was in black net over white taffetas, with gracefully sweeping skirt. Her ruche was black, and she wore a large white hat with black trimmings. Miss Fay was also in black net, with unlined yoke and elbow sleeves. The skirt was finished with flounces, and Miss Fay wore also a necklace of pearls, with pear-shaped ornament, and a black chiffon picture hat with black plumes. Noticeable at another table was Miss Eloise Derby, who had with her several young people. Miss Derby was very girlish and pretty in palest mode silk, the yoke overlaid with heavy ecru lace and applique with motifs of velvet in the new "Patrick" green, outlined with black French knots. Her hat of white straw had trimmings of black velvet and a wreath of posies and leaves about the crown. Others who attended the Pops last week were Mr. and Mrs. James Forsyth and party, Mr. L. E. Underwood and guests, Signor Rotoli, Mr. Jean Paul Selinger, Mr. Edgar A. Achorn, Miss Dana and party, Mr. Balfour, who had two tables and brought a large party on Saturday; Mr. Henry M. Cleveland and friends, Mr. Edward Skinner, Mr. J. P. Sylvester, Mr. A. W. Vose and party, Miss Jean B. Johnstone, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, Dr. Leo J. Friedman, Mrs. C. H. Washburn and friends, Mr. Henry P. Gray and guests, Mr. A. R. Beal and hundreds more.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 18 1902.

THE "POPS."

The second week of the "Pops" was finely rounded out. Every condition was found favorable and delightful, whether alone or in combination, so that one might wander to and fro all the evening without hearing a wish for change or a dissatisfied criticism. There has been found especial comfort and pleasure for ladies in the skilful use of the ventilating system which has whisked away the smoke as fast as it was made, and the broad, extended corridors afford a much appreciated opportunity to show and to see pretty toilettes and hats to the best advantage. The programmes come in for continued commendation—not alone because each is excellent as a whole, but also because the arrangement of each section is so disposed as to have a lively opening and close, with some quiet or elegant music placed restfully between them. The audiences appreciate this provision, and there seems really no need to ask formally for silence when a particularly dainty or delicate selection is to be given, for the public is always on the qui vive for it and ready to listen noiselessly of its own accord. Another set of these first-rate programmes is already made for all this week. That for tomorrow night follows:

1. March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
2. Waltz, "O schoner Mai".....Strauss
3. Overture, "Orphee aux Enfers"..Offenbach
   Violin obligato, Mr. Hoffmann.
4. Selection from "The Huguenots".....Meyerbeer
5. Two entr'actes from "Carmen".....Bizet
6. Nutcracker suite.....Tschaikowsky
7. Le dernier sommell de la vierge, for string crchestra.....Massenet
8. Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
9. Overture, "Fledermaus".....Strauss
10. Waltz, "Pres de toi".....Waldteufel
11. Polka, "Tic-tac".....Strobl
12. Teufelsmarch.....Suppe

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 18 1902.

MRS. BEACH'S CHARITY RECITAL.

mere infant summer complaints beside it.

The Pops are going on their successful and highly interesting way at Symphony Hall, every table having so far been filled nightly. Mr. Zach's music meets with highest approbation, and almost every number is sure to be heartily applauded. Anna Held grows more and more a drawing card, if possible, with her dalintiness and unique personal charm, and at the Museum the daily mirth and merriment are continuous. "The Strollers" have also had a large share of society patronage.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 18 1902.

Sackett of New York. Miss Peabody is with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Endicott Peabody.

Some of those around the tables at the Pops last week were, Mr. J. F. Stimson, Dr. Wesselhoeft, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, wearing perhaps the most striking gown Thursday night, of black point d'esprit over white with unlined yoke and sleeves, a diamond sunburst and large black hat with white plumes; Miss Susan Armory, in the Putnam party, looking very nice in palest gray cloth with white chiffon and lace and toque of violets and their foliage; Mr. W. W. Vaughan and Miss Vaughan, who brought a party of young people; Miss Katherine Fay, who was at the most attractive table on Thursday night, and wore black net with lace and jet, a string of pearls, and a large black hat with plumes. In her party were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, Jr., and Mr. Guy Murchie. Miss Eloise Derby, who was, the same night, at a table of young people, was charming in pearl gray veiling with applications of white lace and green velvet, and a large white hat with a wreath of pink roses and black velvet ribbon. On Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrage, who have recently returned from their place in California, were Mrs. Haskell, young Mr. Burrage and Dr. George Haven. Mrs. Burrage was in smart costume of black and white with black lace medallions and black velvet ribbons. Her hat was of white lace with brilliant clasps and she wore opals and diamonds for jewels. Mrs. Haskell's tan veiling with applications of white lace and a geranium pink hat of tulle with shaded roses of the same tone, was most becoming.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Brooks of Mil-

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 18 1902.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The third week of the summer "Pop" concerts will begin tomorrow at Symphony hall, the program announced by conductor Zach being as follows:

March, The Continentals.....Brooke
Waltz, O Schoner Mai.....Strauss
Overture, Orphee aux Enfers.....Offenbach
Violin obligato Mr Hoffmann.
Selection from The Huguenots.....Meyerbeer
Two entr'actes from Carmen.....Bizet
Nutcracker suite.....Tschaikowsky
Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, for string orchestra.....Massenet
Overture, Rienzi.....Wagner
Overture, Fledermaus.....Strauss
Waltz, Pres de toi.....Waldteufel
Polka, Tic-Tac.....Strobl
Teufelsmarch.....Suppe

---

when at Kansas City she was the victim of a serious accident. She has burned her arm terribly. She has missed a scene in Boston.

PRELUDES AND ECHOES.

A. H. Canby is going to tour Jean Gerardy, the cellist, though Australia.

The first "special" night at the "Pop" concerts is announced for Monday evening, May 26.

Mrs Lizzie Gallison will give her 24th annual concert Monday evening May 26. in Paine Memorial hall.

Helen Bertram, formerly prima

BOSTON POST
DATE May 18

The Pop Concerts

The third week of the Pop Concerts will begin tomorrow night in Symphony Hall. Notwithstanding the unseasonably cold weather, the attendance has been large and the programmes selected by Conductor Zach are entertaining, if a bit classical. The numbers for tomorrow night will be as follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Waltz, "O Schoener Mai".....Strauss
Overture, "Orphee aux Enfers".Offenbach
(Violin obligato, Mr. Hoffmann.)
Selection from "The Huguenots".....Meyerbeer
Two entr'actes from "Carmen".....Bizet
Nutcracker suite.....Tschaikowsky
a. Chinese March.
b. Trepak.
c. Flower waltz.
Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, for string orchestra.....Massenet
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
Overture, "Fledermaus".....Strauss
Waltz, "Pres de toi".....Waldteufel
Polka, "Tic-tac".....Strobl
Teufelsmarch.....Suppe

BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
DATE May 18 1902

THE "POPS."

Nothing succeeds like success and the "Pops" go on in the usual way with always a comfortably filled house and a satisfied public. The first special night will be soloists' night on Monday, May 26, the last week of Conductor Zach's regime. The program for tomorrow evening is as follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Waltz, "O Schoener Mai".....Strauss
Overture, "Orphee aux Enfers"....Offenbach
Violin obbligato, Mr. Hoffmann.
Selection from "The Huguenots"..Meyerbeer
Two Entr' Actes from "Carmen".....Bizet
Nutcracker Suite.....Tschaikowsky
a. Chinese March.
b. Trepak.
c. Flower Waltz.
Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, for String Orchestra.....Massenet
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
Overture, "Fledermaus".....Strauss
Waltz, "Pres de Toi".....Waldteufel
Polka, "Tic-tac".....Strobl
Teufelsmarch.....Suppe

BOSTON COURIER
DATE 17 1902

the chapter were present. A social hour followed which many guests enjoyed. Mr. U. S. Kerr sang a group of songs, Mrs. Edward Haskell (a Chapter member) sang, Mrs. Alice Woods recited, Miss Mary Patterson played a solo, and acted as accompanist. Dr Roblin spoke as did Miss Laughton. At the next meeting on June 19, Mrs. Edward Lord of Earl avenue, Malden, will be the Chapter's hostess.

—At the Pop Concert on Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, of Commonwealth avenue, who recently returned from a season in Redlands, California, gave their first table party, having with them, beside their young son, Dr. George B. Haven and their guest, Mrs. Haskell, of China. Mrs. Burrage was magnificently attired in white silk, delicately figured with black, and trimmed with touches of lace, and narrow black velvet. At the throat was an immense opal, surrounded with diamonds, and a diamond watch, held by a diamond pin, glistened on the bodice. Mrs. Burrage also wore a jewelled chain, and a large white hat, of heavy lace, over white chiffon, with white roses tucked under the brim. Mrs. Haskell was in golden brown veiling, tucked, and combined with ecru lace. Her hat was of watermelon pink straw, trimmed with roses in varying shades of that hue. Others present that evening and Tuesday were the Amorys, who made up a party with Mr. Fred J. Stimpson, Dr. Wesselhoeft and party, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Noyes, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, who had with him a large party, Mrs. H. L. Jordan, of Marlborough street, and friends, Mr. Percival Lord and Mr. Winslow, of Randolph Hall, Harvard. On Wednesday evening Col. Higginson and a number of young people were present at the pop, as were E. W. Converse and guests, of Newton, Mr. R. G. Elkins and party, Mr. Ralph D. Durrell, and Mr. E. S. Dressel and friends. Thursday, which is apparently the banner night of the week at the concerts, brought together a large attendance, prominent among whom were Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, the latter probably the most noticeable figure in the hall. Miss Susan Amory was with them. Mrs. Putnam wore a beautiful creation of black point d'esprit, with flounces about the foot, made over a foundation of white taffetas, the sleeves were unlined, and very long, and full at the wrist. An immense diamond sunburst glittered on the bodice front, and a wide black tulle neck ruche and white tulle stock added a chic finish to the creation. Mrs. Putnam's hat was of white chiffon, the brim faced with black chiffon, and around the crown was a sweeping white plume Miss Amory wore a very pale shade of gray veiling, the bodice laid in narrow tucks, and a flat roque of violets, with green leaves. Near the Putnams, Miss Katharine Fay entertained a party of six, included among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, jr. Miss Fay was attired in black net, over black taffeta, with unlined yoke, and elbow sleeves. The skirt was flounced, and trailed gracefully. Her large black picture hat, was of black chiffon, with black plumes, and her jewels consisted of a short chain, with pearls at intervals, from which hung a pear shaped pendent. There was a corsage bouquet of valley lilies. Mrs. Shaw was in black net, handsomely constructed, which displayed the graceful lines of her figure to perfection. Her hat was of white, with black trimmings, and a wide black point d'esprit neck ruche, edged with narrow black ribbon completed the ensemble. Noticeable at another table was Miss Eloise Derby, who had with her a party of young people. Miss Derby was looking very girlish and pretty in palest mode silk, the yoke overlaid with heavy cream lace, and applique with touches of "Patrick" green velvet outlined with black French knots. Her hat of white straw was trimmed with black velvet, and had a wreath of posies and leaves about the crown. Others who attended the pops last week were Mr. and Mrs. James Forsyth, Mr. L. E. Underwood and party, Signor Rotoli, Mr. Jean Paul Selinger, Mr. Edgar A. Achorn, Miss Dana and party, Mr. Balfour, who brought with him eight guests on Saturday, Mr. Henry M. Cleveland and friends, Mr. Edward Skinner, Mr. J. P. Sylvester, Mr. A. W. Vose and party, Miss Jean B. Johnstone, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, Dr. Leo J. Friedman, Mr. Henry P. Gray and guests, Mrs. C. H. Washburn and friends, Mr. A. R. Beal and hundreds more.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM Commercial Boston Mass
DATE 5/17/02

Pop Concerts.

Another week of these popular concerts closes this evening. The tables are nightly filled with the fashionable society people of the city and suburbs, and the music of Conductor Zach's well drilled orchestra always pleases, as each programme given is made up of popular selections, the patriotic music particularly always creating the greatest enthusiasm.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON POST
DATE May 18 1902.

The Week at the Pops

Last evening Mr. Zach led his orchestra to the triumphal conclusion of the second of the season's Pop concerts. There have been splendid programmes and brilliant audiences all the week. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage of Commonwealth avenue, who lately returned from a winter at Redlands, Cal., made their initial appearance at the Pops. Mrs. Burrage was magnificently attired in white silk, delicately figured with black. Touches of black velvet and lace were used in the trimming. At the throat was an immense opal, surrounded by diamonds, and she wore a diamond watch and chatelaine and a jewelled chain. Mrs. Burrage's hat was of heavy white lace over white chiffon, with white roses tucked under the brim. With the Burrages, beside their young son, were Dr. George B. Haven and Mrs. Haskell of China, who is their guest. Mrs. Haskell was richly clad in a handsome creation of tucked veiling in golden brown tint, with ecru lace in effective combination. She wore a large white neck ruche and a straw hat of watermelon pink, trimmed with roses of the same color, shading from deep to palest tints. Others noted in the hall on that and the previous evening were Dr. Wesselhoeft and party, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Mr. Fred J. Stimpson, who had with him the Amorys and several others; Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson, who had with him a large party; Mr. Percival Lord, Mr. Winslow of Randolph Hall, Harvard, and Mrs. H. L. Jordan of Marlboro street. On Wednesday evening Colonel Higginson and party were once more in evidence, as were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Converse and guests, Mr. R. G. Elkins and party and Mr. Ralph Darrell and friends. Thursday is proving to be the banner night of the season at the Pops, and on that occasion Mrs. James Lowell Putnam was far and away the most interesting figure. With her and Mr. Putnam was Miss Susan Amory. Mrs. Putnam was attired in a Parisian creation of black point d'esprit over white taffeta, with long, unlined sleeves and sash of the same material. The skirt was flounced about the foot and a large diamond sunburst glittered on the bodice. A white tulle stock and white black tulle neck ruche were worn, and Mrs. Putnam's hat was of white chiffon, the under brim filled in with black chiffon and a sweeping white ostrich plume around the crown. Miss Amory wore veiling of the palest gray, the bodice tucked, and a flat toque with green leaves. Near the Putnams table Miss Katharine Fay entertained a party of six, included among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., who was in black net over white taffetas, with gracefully sweeping skirt. Her ruche was black, and she wore a large white hat with black trimmings. Miss Fay was also in black net, with unlined yoke and elbow sleeves. The skirt was finished with flounces, and Miss Fay wore also a necklace of pearls, with pear-shaped ornament, and a black chiffon picture hat with black plumes. Noticeable at another table was Miss Eloise Derby, who had with her several young people. Miss Derby was very girlish and pretty in palest mode silk, the yoke overlaid with heavy ecru lace and applique with motifs of velvet in the new "Patrick" green, outlined with black French knots. Her hat of white straw had trimmings of black velvet and a wreath of posies and leaves about the crown. Others who attended the Pops last week were Mr. and Mrs. James Forsyth and party, Mr. L. E. Underwood and guests, Signor Rotoli, Mr. Jean Paul Selinger, Mr. Edgar A. Achorn, Miss Dana and party, Mr. Balfour, who had two tables and brought a large party on Saturday; Mr. Henry M. Cleveland and friends, Mr. Edward Skinner, Mr. J. P. Sylvester, Mr. A. W. Vose and party, Miss Jean B. Johnstone, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, Dr. Leo J. Friedman, Mrs. C. H. Washburn and friends, Mr. Henry P. Gray and guests, Mr. A. R. Beal and hundreds more.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 18

THE "POPS."

The second week of the "Pops" was finely rounded out. Every condition was found favorable and delightful, whether alone or in combination, so that one might wander to and fro all the evening without hearing a wish for change or a dissatisfied criticism. There has been found especial comfort and pleasure for ladies in the skilful use of the ventilating system which has whisked away the smoke as fast as it was made, and the broad, extended corridors afford a much appreciated opportunity to show and to see pretty toilettes and hats to the best advantage. The programmes come in for continued commendation—not alone because each is excellent as a whole, but also because the arrangement of each section is so disposed as to have a lively opening and close, with some quiet or elegant music placed restfully between them. The audiences appreciate this provision, and there seems really no need to ask formally for silence when a particularly dainty or delicate selection is to be given, for the public is always on the qui vive for it and ready to listen noiselessly of its own accord. Another set of these first-rate programmes is already made for all this week. That for tomorrow night follows:

1. March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
2. Waltz, "O schoner Mai".....Strauss
3. Overture, "Orphee aux Enfers"..Offenbach
   Violin obligato, Mr. Hoffmann.
4. Selection from "The Huguenots".....Meyerbeer
5. Two entr'actes from "Carmen".....Bizet
6. Nutcracker suite.....Tschaikowsky
7. Le dernier sommeil de la vierge, for string orchestra.....Massenet
8. Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
9. Overture, "Fledermaus".....Strauss
10. Waltz, "Pres de toi".....Waldteufel
11. Polka, "Tic-tac".....Strobl
12. Teufelsmarch.....Suppe

MRS. BEACH'S CHARITY RECITAL.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 18 1902.

mere infant summer complaints beside it.

The Pops are going on their successful and highly interesting way at Symphony Hall, every table having so far been filled nightly. Mr. Zach's music meets with highest approbation, and almost every number is sure to be heartily applauded. Anna Held grows more and more a drawing card, if possible, with her daintiness and unique personal charm, and at the Museum the Daly mirth and merriment are contagious. "The Strollers" have also had a large share of society patronage.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 18 1902

Sackett of New York. Miss Peabody is with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Endicott Peabody.

Some of those around the tables at the Pops last week were, Mr. J. F. Stimson, Dr. Wesselhoeft, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, wearing perhaps the most striking gown Thursday night, of black point d'esprit over white with unlined yoke and sleeves, a diamond sunburst and large black hat with white plumes; Miss Susan Armory, in the Putnam party, looking very nice in palest gray cloth with white chiffon and lace and toque of violets and their foliage; Mr. W. W. Vaughan and Miss Vaughan, who brought a party of young people; Miss Katherine Fay, who was at the most attractive table on Thursday night, and wore black net with lace and jet, a string of pearls, and a large black hat with plumes. In her party were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, Jr., and Mr. Guy Murchie. Miss Eloise Derby, who was, the same night, at a table of young people, was charming in pearl gray veiling with applications of white lace and green velvet, and a large white hat with a wreath of pink roses and black velvet ribbon. On Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrage, who have recently returned from their place in California, were Mrs. Haskell, young Mr. Burrage and Dr. George Haven. Mrs. Burrage was in smart costume of black and white with black lace medallions and black velvet ribbons. Her hat was of white lace with brilliant clasps and she wore opals and diamonds for jewels. Mrs. Haskell's tan veiling with applications of white lace and a geranium pink hat of tulle with shaded roses of the same tone, was most becoming.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Brooks of Mil-

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 18 1902.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The third week of the summer "Pop" concerts will begin tomorrow at Symphony hall, the program announced by conductor Zach being as follows:

March, The Continentals.....Brooke
Waltz, O Schoner Mai.....Strauss
Overture, Orphee aux Enfers.....Offenbach
Violin obligato Mr Hoffmann.
Selection from The Huguenots.....Meyerbeer
Two entr'actes from Carmen.....Bizet
Nutcracker suite.....Tschaikowsky
Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, for string orchestra.....Massenet
Overture, Rienzi.....Wagner
Overture, Fledermaus.....Strauss
Waltz, Pres de toi.....Waldteufel
Polka, Tic-Tac.....Strobl
Teufelsmarch.....Suppe

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 18 1902.

when at Kansas City she had the misfortune of a serious accident when she burned her arm terribly. She has not missed a scene in Boston.

PRELUDES AND ECHOES.

A. H. Canby is going to tour Jean Gerardy, the cellist, though Australia.

The first "special" night at the "Pop" concerts is announced for Monday evening, May 26.

Mrs Lizzie Gallison will give her 24th annual concert Monday evening, May 26, in Paine Memorial hall.

Helen Bertram, formerly prima

BOSTON POST
DATE May 18

The Pop Concerts

The third week of the Pop Concerts will begin tomorrow night in Symphony Hall. Notwithstanding the unseasonably cold weather, the attendance has been large and the programmes selected by Conductor Zach are entertaining, if a bit classical. The numbers for tomorrow night will be as follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Waltz, "O Schoner Mai".....Strauss
Overture, "Orphee aux Enfers".Offenbach
(Violin obligato, Mr. Hoffmann.)
Selection from 'The Huguenots".....Meyerbeer
Two entr'actes from "Carmen".....Bizet
Nutcracker suite..... .....Tschaikowsky
a. Chinese March.
b. Trepak.
c. Flower waltz.
Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, for string orchestra .....Massenet
Overture, "Rienzi" .....Wagner
Overture, "Fledermaus" .....Strauss
Waltz, "Pres de toi".....Waldteufel
Polka, "Tic-tac" .....Strobl
Teufelsmarch ..... Suppe

BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
DATE May 18 1902

THE "POPS."

Nothing succeeds like success and the "Pops" go on in the usual way with always a comfortably filled house and a satisfied public. The first special night will be soloists' night on Monday, May 26, the last week of Conductor Zach's regime. The program for tomorrow evening is as follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Waltz, "O Schoener Mai".....Strauss
Overture, "Orphee aux Enfers"....Offenbach
Violin obbligato, Mr. Hoffmann.
Selection from "The Huguenots"..Meyerbeer
Two Entr' Actes from "Carmen".....Bizet
Nutcracker Suite.....Tschaikowsky
a. Chinese March.
b. Trepak.
c. Flower Waltz.
Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, for String Orchestra.....Massenet
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
Overture, "Fledermaus".....Strauss
Waltz, "Pres de Toi".....Waldteufel
Polka, "Tic-tac".....Strobl
Teufelsmarch .....Suppe

BOSTON COURIER
DATE May 17 1902

the chapter were present. A social hour followed which many guests enjoyed. Mr. U. S. Kerr sang a group of songs, Mrs. Edward Haskell (a Chapter member) sang, Mrs. Alice Woods recited, Miss Mary Patterson played a solo, and acted as accompanist. Dr Roblin spoke as did Miss Laughton. At the next meeting on June 19, Mrs. Edward Lord of Earl avenue, Malden, will be the Chapter's hostess.

—At the Pop Concert on Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, of Commonwealth avenue, who recently returned from a season in Redlands, California, gave their first table party, having with them, beside their young son, Dr. George B. Haven and their guest, Mrs Haskell, of China. Mrs. Burrage was magnificently attired in white silk, delicately figured with black, and trimmed with touches of lace, and narrow black velvet. At the throat was an immense opal, surrounded with diamonds, and a diamond watch, held by a diamond pin, glistened on the bodice. Mrs. Burrage also wore a jewelled chain, and a large white hat, of heavy lace, over white chiffon, with white roses tucked under the brim. Mrs. Haskell was in golden brown veiling, tucked, and combined with ecru lace. Her hat was of watermelon pink straw, trimmed with roses in varying shades of that hue. Others present that evening and Tuesday were the Amorys, who made up a party with Mr. Fred J. Stimpson, Dr. Wesselhoeft and party, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Noyes, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, who had with him a large party, Mrs. H. L. Jordan, of Marlborough street, and friends, Mr. Percival Lord and Mr. Winslow, of Randolph Hall, Harvard. On Wednesday evening Col. Higginson and a number of young people were present at the pop, as were E. W. Converse and guests, of Newton, Mr. R. G. Elkins and party, Mr. Ralph D. Durrell, and Mr. E. S. Dressel and friends. Thursday, which is apparently the banner night of the week at the concerts, brought together a large attendance, prominent among whom were Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, the latter probably the most noticeable figure in the hall. Miss Susan Amory was with them. Mrs. Putnam wore a beautiful creation of black point d'esprit, with flounces about the foot, made over a foundation of white taffetas, the sleeves were unlined, and very long, and full at the wrist. An immense diamond sunburst glittered on the bodice front, and a wide black tulle neck ruche and white tulle stock added a chic finish to the creation. Mrs. Putnam's hat was of white chiffon, the brim faced with black chiffon, and around the crown was a sweeping white plume Miss Amory wore a very pale shade of gray veiling, the bodice laid in narrow tucks, and a flat roque of violets, with green leaves. Near the Putnams, Miss Katharine Fay entertained a party of six, included among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, jr. Miss Fay was attired in black net, over black taffeta, with unlined yoke, and elbow sleeves. The skirt was flounced, and trailed gracefully. Her large black picture hat, was of black chiffon, with black plumes, and her jewels consisted of a short chain, with pearls at intervals, from which hung a pear shaped pendent. There was a corsage bouquet of valley lilies. Mrs. Shaw was in black net, handsomely constructed, which displayed the graceful lines of her figure to perfection. Her hat was of white, with black trimmings, and a wide black point d'esprit neck ruche, edged with narrow black ribbon completed the ensemble. Noticeable at another table was Miss Eloise Derby, who had with her a party of young people. Miss Derby was looking very girlish and pretty in palest mode silk, the yoke overlaid with heavy cream lace, and applique with touches of "Patrick" green velvet outlined with black French knots. Her hat of white straw was trimmed with black velvet, and had a wreath of posies and leaves about the crown. Others who attended the pops last week were Mr. and Mrs. James Forsyth, Mr. L. E. Underwood and party, Signor Rotoli, Mr. Jean Paul Selinger, Mr. Edgar A. Achorn, Miss Dana and party, Mr. Balfour, who brought with him eight guests on Saturday, Mr. Henry M. Cleveland and friends, Mr. Edward Skinner, Mr. J. P. Sylvester, Mr. A. W. Vose and party, Miss Jean B. Johnstone, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, Dr. Leo J. Friedman, Mr. Henry P. Gray and guests, Mrs. C. H. Washburn and friends, Mr. A. R. Beal and hundreds more.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Commercial Boston Mass
DATE 5/17/02

Pop Concerts.

Another week of these popular concerts closes this evening. The tables are nightly filled with the fashionable society people of the city and suburbs, and the music of Conductor Zach's well drilled orchestra always pleases, as each programme given is made up of popular selections, the patriotic music particularly always creating the greatest enthusiasm.

Cable Address: Clipburo

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
Clipping From

May 17 1902.
Date

The other day I heard of a man who thinks that the Pops ought to take place in the Public Garden and that there ought to be tables along Commonwealth Avenue, where refreshments could be had. The concert in the garden idea is all well enough, but if I have to take refreshments in Commonwealth Avenue or in any of the adjacent parallel streets I want them served indoors. The dust up that way isn't to my taste.

Clipping From
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL

May 17 1902.
Date

SOCIETY

SUMMER is not so far off now, and those who have not already made their plans are busy about them. The Pops and the theatres are the chief gathering places now, and nightly have their representations of mode people. Departures for the country and even for the shore begin to be numerous, and it will not be so very long before the fashionable districts will begin to assume that return in the autumn air.

621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From
Gazette
Boston, Mass.

Date 6-17-02

Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From
Gazette
Boston, Mass.

Date 6-17-02.

Commonwealth avenue are soon to move down to Beverly.

—The "Pops" have been very gay and every evening the hall has been crowded with merry parties. Mrs. Gordon Dexter has been much in evidence and also Mrs. Gardner, who is always surrounded by young musicians. Others noticed during the week have been Col. and Mrs. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Boyston Beal, Mrs. Frank Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William Harper, Mrs. Fred Comee, Mrs. Alexander Higginson and party, Mrs. Cabot Chase, Sig. and Mme. Roboli, Col. and Mrs. Guild.

—The opera season in London promises to be exceedingly smart and many Americans have rented

BOSTON BUDGET

May 18 1902.

....Next Wednesday, from two until five, a sale will be held at the Home for Aged Couples on Mount Auburn street.

....Among those who opened their cottages early this season at Barnstable are Dr. and Mrs. James Dwight of Beacon street.

....The "Pops" have been very attractive for the past two weeks, under the able direction of Mr. Zach. Later on Mr. Strube will direct.

....The following pupils of the Gilman School, Cambridge, took part in the play given there last week: Mildred K[illegible], Dorothy Sa[illegible], Margaret McLean, Sarah Raulet, Florence Cum-

BOSTON BUDGET

May 18 1902.
Date

George Honey, Paul Nicholson, John B. Park, Harry Kelly, Tom Hadaway, George De Long, John P. Kennedy and the Misses Georgia Caine, May Robson, Jobyna Howland, Flora Zabelle, Hattie Waters, Agnes Wayburn, Helen Chichester and Rachel Booth.

The second week of "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall ended with the concert of yesterday evening. The pleasant surroundings of the magnificent hall are no small factor in the attractiveness of these delightful entertainments, where the best of the lighter form of music is given by an orchestra unsurpassed in its personnel. The serving of the light refreshments and the enjoyment of a good cigar by the gentlemen tends to make an evening of much enjoyment. It is doubtful if these concerts can be duplicated anywhere in this country.

Anna Held will introduce a novelty in "The Little Duchess" at the Hollis-street Theatre on Monday evening in singing the French song which Fay Templeton used in her imitations with the Weber & Fields company. The cleverness of the imitation will give added interest to the first Boston hearing of the original.

will make their home in Des Moines.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field of Chicago opened their cottage at Beverly last week.

—The "Pops" have been very attractive for the past two weeks under the able direction of Mr. Zach. Later on Mr. Strube will direct.

BOSTON (Mass.) EVE. HERALD
May 21 1902.
Date

THE "POPS."

Mr. Zach is putting forth a new set of programmes at the "Pops" at Symphony Hall which promises at least as much substantial and genuine musical entertainment as any which have preceded them, and which include their fair proportion of novelties. The divisions of the programmes are quite broadly separated, so that there is always time for a stroll in the lobbies and for a breath of fresh air without losing any of the music.

Clipping From
BOSTON MORNING HERALD
May 25 1902.
Date

THE "POPS."

The evenings at Symphony Hall resemble each other in their brightness, their gaiety, their heartiness and their refinement. Another week of the nightly concerts is about to begin, and it is in forecasting its details that one finds the only deviation from the regular characteristics which have been noted—the high quality of the audiences, the elegant informality of dress and demeanor and the air of constant content and enjoyment. For as one runs his eye over the house bulletin, he is struck with the great musical resources of which the conductor can dispose, and the skill in the which he makes and combines his selections. A half-dozen consecutive programmes stand out as so many separate individualities, each having some attraction of its own, and all worth the hearing. Monday next has been styled "Soloists' Night," and several of the important players will be brought forward for honors. The tempting programme is as follows:

1. Polonaise.....Tschaikowsky
2. Waltz, "Du and Du," from "Fledermans".....Strauss
3.—Overture, "Piccolino".....Guiraud
4. 'Cello Solo.....
Mr. Josef Keller.
5. (a) Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine.
(b) Toreador et Andalouse.
(From "Bal Costume," Rubinstein.)
6. Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
7. Flute solo.....
Mr. Andre Maquarre.
8. Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere" Dubois
9. Violin solo.....
Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
10. Overture, "La Part du Diable.....Auber
11. Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
12. March "Hussar Drill".....Zach

Mony in the little Episcopal church.

—Miss Anne Blake and her fiance, Mr H. H. Richardson, with several other young people, were at the Pop concert early in the week, Miss Blake wearing a costume of fawn-colored silk crepe de chine and a white hat trimmed with a wreath of flowers and foliage. Miss Marian Peabody wore a light blue silk bodice, with a dark skirt, and a chip hat trimmed with light blue feathers. Mr Roger Wolcott, with friends, and Mr and Mrs W. H. W. Bicknell, were there the same evening.

—The funeral services of Horatio Hollis Hunnewell were held at his late

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXI., NO. 145.

SUNDAY, MAY 25, 1902.

as hitherto.

THE "POPS."

The evenings at Symphony Hall resemble each other in their brightness, their gaiety, their heartiness and their refinement. Another week of the nightly concerts is about to begin, and it is in forecasting its details that one finds the only deviation from the regular characteristics which have been noted—the high quality of the audiences, the elegant informality of dress and demeanor and the air of constant content and enjoyment. For as one runs his eye over the house bulletin, he is struck with the great musical resources of which the conductor can dispose, and the skill in the which he makes and combines his selections. A half-dozen consecutive programmes stand out as so many separate individualities, each having some attraction of its own, and all worth the hearing. Monday next has been styled "Soloists' Night," and several of the important players will be brought forward for honors. The tempting programme is as follows:

1. Polonaise.....Tschaikowsky
2. Waltz, "Du and Du," from "Fledermans".....Strauss
3.—Overture, "Piccolino".....Guiraud
4. 'Cello Solo.....
Mr. Josef Keller.
5. (a) Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine.
(b) Toreador et Andalouse.
(From "Bal Costume," Rubinstein.)
6. Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
7. Flute solo.....
Mr. Andre Maquarre.
8. Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere" Dubois
9. Violin solo.....
Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
10. Overture, "La Part du Diable.....Auber
11. Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
12. March "Hussar Drill".....Zach

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1902.
(Copyright, 1902, Post Publishing Company.)

The Week at the Pops

Considered in all lights, the past week at the Pops has been vastly successful, both as to quantity and quality of its patrons and the well-selected programmes. The elegance of the gowns worn this year completely distances those of other seasons, and the scene in the promenade is a brilliant one. Some of those there last week were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Louis Osgood of Beacon street, with their son and debutante daughters, Miss Fanny C. Osgood and Miss Hannah D. Osgood, who were presented last winter. The Misses Osgood were attired alike, Monte Carlo coats of tan cloth partially concealing their pretty frocks, and their hats of burnt straw were trimmed with black velvet and touches of white. Miss Hannah Stevenson was one of the prettiest girls present Monday evening, clad in a beautifully fitting frock of black, with large, light blue hat and rope of pearls. One of the largest parties that evening had as its host Mr. Richard Heard, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, Miss Estelle Kimball, Miss Abbie Manning, Miss Annie Manning and Mr. Alfred Brown. Miss Kimball was delightfully pretty in pale gray, with gray hat laden with pink roses, and the Misses Manning were in black, Miss Abbie with a white blouse and Miss Annie with a pale blue bodice. On Tuesday night Miss Anne Blake of Brookline, whose engagement to Mr. Frederick Richardson was lately announced, was the hostess of a party of eight. Miss Blake wore a Parisian princesse gown of pale amber satin, with trimmings of white satin, richly embroidered in gold and a white straw hat with trimmings of white and orange velvet and a wreath of limes and foliage about the crown. Near by was Miss Helen Prince, looking very chic in pale brown veiling with white front and white tulle stock. Her hat was of biscuit straw, trimmed with black and white and black wings. There was a splendid attendance on Wednesday evening. Miss Susan Amory, wearing gray with white bodice, the coat collar revers and cuffs faced back with white and blue striped silk, was noticed in the balcony. Miss Rosamond Saltonstall and Miss Grace Dabney were conspicuous among the pretty girls on the floor, as was Miss Marion Lawrence, who was with a party presided over by Mrs. Francis Crowninshield. Miss Saltonstall's blonde coloring was emphasized by a lovely frock of pale blue silk muslin, with black insertions, made over a foundation of white taffetas, and her white hat was trimmed with black plumes. Miss Dabney, in soft brown veiling, was most attractive. There was a pale blue girdle and a black picture hat. Miss Lawrence was in black, with touches of white and large black hat, and Mrs. Crowninshield looked very handsome in dove gray silk with white lace motifs, a black hat with white trimmings and a large white boa. On Thursday night ex-Mayor and Mrs. Curtis and Mr. Robert A. Barnet and Mrs. Barnet were present, Mrs. Curtis looking particularly well in her beautifully fitting black gown and chic turban, and Mrs. Barnet was in black and white. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin made their initial appearance at the concert Friday evening. Dr. Joseph H. Saunders of Brookline being included among those at the table.

Others noted during the week were Mrs. Montgomery Sears, who brought several people Tuesday, and gave another party on Thursday, made up of Captain Cameron and officers of the Oceanic; Mr. Roger Wolcott, Mr. John Appleton, Mr. John Lodge, Dr. William Bigelow, Dr. Jack and party, Mr. George Atkinson and party of eight, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Farlon of Beacon street with friends, Mrs. John L. Thorndike and party, Miss B. C. Gray and guests, Mr. H. H. Edgerly, Mr. Ralph W. Durrell, Mrs. W. B. Rogers and party, Mrs. Dwight Blaney and friends, Mr. Francis Gray and guests, Dr. C. E. Achorn, who entertained a number of people on Wednesday; the Hon. Richard Olney, Mr. Wilbur H. Davis, with a stag party including Mr. Charles P. Mudge and Mr. C. S. Gifford; Dr. J. N. Coolidge, Mr. C. A. Hurd, Miss Carrie Bicknell, Mr. Joseph Parker, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. Everett A. White and many more.

[125]

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
CLIPPING FROM
May
17
DATE 1902.

The other day I heard of a man who thinks that the Pops ought to take place in the Public Garden and that there ought to be tables along Commonwealth Avenue, where refreshments could be had. The concert in the garden idea is all well enough, but if I have to take refreshments in Commonwealth Avenue or in any of the adjacent parallel streets I want them served indoors. The dust up that way isn't to my taste.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
May
17
DATE 1902.

SOCIETY

SUMMER is not so far off now, and those who have not already made their plans are busy about them. The Pops and the theatres are the chief gathering places now, and nightly have their representations of mode people. Departures for the country and even for the shore begin to be numerous, and it will not be so very long before the fashionable districts will begin to assume that return in the autumn air.

621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Gazette Boston, Mass.
DATE 6-17-02

Commonwealth avenue are soon to move down to Beverly.

—The "Pops" have been very gay and every evening the hall has been crowded with merry parties. Mrs. Gordon Dexter has been much in evidence and also Mrs. Gardner, who is always surrounded by young musicians. Others noticed during the week have been Col. and Mrs. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Boyston Beal, Mrs. Frank Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William Harper, Mrs. Fred Comee, Mrs. Alexander Higginson and party, Mrs. Cabot Chase, Sig. and Mme. Roboli, Col. and Mrs. Guild.

—The opera season in London promises to be exceedingly smart and many Americans have rented

BOSTON BUDGET
May 18
1902.

....Next Wednesday, from two until five, a sale will be held at the Home for Aged Couples on Mount Auburn street.

....Among those who opened their cottages early this season at Barnstable are Dr. and Mrs. James Dwight of Beacon street.

....The "Pops" have been very attractive for the past two weeks, under the able direction of Mr. Zach. Later on Mr. Strube will direct.

....The following pupils of the Gilman School, Cambridge, took part in the play given there last week: Mildred Knowlton, Dorothy Saunders, Margaret McLean, Sarah Raulet, Florence Cum-

BOSTON BUDGET
May 18
1902.

George Honey, Paul Nicholson, John B. Park, Harry Kelly, Tom Hadaway, George De Long, John P. Kennedy and the Misses Georgia Caine, May Robson, Jobyna Howland, Flora Zabelle, Hattie Waters, Agnes Wayburn, Helen Chichester and Rachel Booth.

The second week of "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall ended with the concert of yesterday evening. The pleasant surroundings of the magnificent hall are no small factor in the attractiveness of these delightful entertainments, where the best of the lighter form of music is given by an orchestra unsurpassed in its personnel. The serving of the light refreshments and the enjoyment of a good cigar by the gentlemen tends to make an evening of much enjoyment. It is doubtful if these concerts can be duplicated anywhere in this country.

Anna Held will introduce a novelty in "The Little Duchess" at the Hollis-street Theatre on Monday evening in singing the French song which Fay Templeton used in her imitations with the Weber & Fields company. The cleverness of the imitation will give added interest to the first Boston hearing of the original.

621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Gazette Boston, Mass.
DATE 6-17-02

will make their home in Des Moines.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field of Chicago opened their cottage at Beverly last week.

—The "Pops" have been very attractive for the past two weeks under the able direction of Mr. Zach. Later on Mr. Strube will direct.

BOSTON (Mass.) EVE. HERALD
May
25
1902.

THE "POPS."

Mr. Zach is putting forth a new set of programmes at the "Pops" at Symphony Hall which promises at least as much substantial and genuine musical entertainment as any which have preceded them, and which include their fair proportion of novelties. The divisions of the programmes are quite broadly separated, so that there is always time for a stroll in the lobbies and for a breath of fresh air without losing any of the music.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING HERALD
May
DATE 25
1902.

THE "POPS."

The evenings at Symphony Hall resemble each other in their brightness, their gaiety, their heartiness and their refinement. Another week of the nightly concerts is about to begin, and it is in forecasting its details that one finds the only deviation from the regular characteristics which have been noted—the high quality of the audiences, the elegant informality of dress and demeanor and the air of constant content and enjoyment. For as one runs his eye over the house bulletin, he is struck with the great musical resources of which the conductor can dispose, and the skill in the which he makes and combines his selections. A half-dozen consecutive programmes stand out as so many separate individualities, each having some attraction of its own, and all worth the hearing. Monday next has been styled "Soloists' Night," and several of the important players will be brought forward for honors. The tempting programme is as follows:

1. Polonaise.....Tschaikowsky
2. Waltz, "Du and Du," from "Fledermans".....Strauss
3.—Overture, "Piccolino".....Guiraud
4. 'Cello Solo.....
Mr. Josef Keller.
5. (a) Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine,
(b) Toreador et Andalouse,
(From "Bal Costume," Rubinstein.)
6. Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
7. Flute solo.....
Mr. Andre Maquarre.
8. Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere" Dubois
9. Violin solo.....
Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
10. Overture, "La Part du Diable.....Auber
11. Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
12. March "Hussar Drill".....Zach

mony in the little Episcopal church.

——Miss Anne Blake and her fiance, Mr H. H. Richardson, with several other young people, were at the Pop concert early in the week, Miss Blake wearing a costume of fawn-colored silk crepe de chine and a white hat trimmed with a wreath of flowers and foliage. Miss Marian Peabody wore a light blue silk bodice, with a dark skirt, and a chip hat trimmed with light blue feathers. Mr Roger Wolcott, with friends, and Mr and Mrs W. H. W. Bicknell, were there the same evening.

——The funeral services of Horatio Hollis Hunnewell were held at his late

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXI., NO. 145.

SUNDAY, MAY 25, 1902.

as hitherto.

THE "POPS."

The evenings at Symphony Hall resemble each other in their brightness, their gaiety, their heartiness and their refinement. Another week of the nightly concerts is about to begin, and it is in forecasting its details that one finds the only deviation from the regular characteristics which have been noted—the high quality of the audiences, the elegant informality of dress and demeanor and the air of constant content and enjoyment. For as one runs his eye over the house bulletin, he is struck with the great musical resources of which the conductor can dispose, and the skill in the which he makes and combines his selections. A half-dozen consecutive programmes stand out as so many separate individualities, each having some attraction of its own, and all worth the hearing. Monday next has been styled "Soloists' Night," and several of the important players will be brought forward for honors. The tempting programme is as follows:

1. Polonaise.....Tschaikowsky
2. Waltz, "Du and Du," from "Fledermans".....Strauss
3.—Overture, "Piccolino".....Guiraud
4. 'Cello Solo.....
Mr. Josef Keller.
5. (a) Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine,
(b) Toreador et Andalouse,
(From "Bal Costume," Rubinstein.)
6. Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
7. Flute solo.....
Mr. Andre Maquarre.
8. Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere" Dubois
9. Violin solo.....
Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
10. Overture, "La Part du Diable.....Auber
11. Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
12. March "Hussar Drill".....Zach

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1902.
(Copyright, 1902, Post Publishing Company.)

The Week at the Pops

Considered in all lights, the past week at the Pops has been vastly successful, both as to quantity and quality of its patrons and the well-selected programmes. The elegance of the gowns worn this year completely distances those of other seasons, and the scene in the promenade is a brilliant one. Some of those there last week were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Louis Osgood of Beacon street, with their son and debutante daughters, Miss Fanny C. Osgood and Miss Hannah D. Osgood, who were presented last winter. The Misses Osgood were attired alike, Monte Carlo coats of tan cloth partially concealing their pretty frocks, and their hats of burnt straw were trimmed with black velvet and touches of white. Miss Hannah Stevenson was one of the prettiest girls present Monday evening, clad in a beautifully fitting frock of black, with large, light blue hat and rope of pearls. One of the largest parties that evening had as its host Mr. Richard Heard, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, Miss Estelle Kimball, Miss Abbie Manning, Miss Annie Manning and Mr. Alfred Brown. Miss Kimball was delightfully pretty in pale gray, with gray hat laden with pink roses, and the Misses Manning were in black, Miss Abbie with a white blouse and Miss Annie with a pale blue bodice. On Tuesday night Miss Anne Blake of Brookline, whose engagement to Mr. Frederick Richardson was lately announced, was the hostess of a party of eight. Miss Blake wore a Parisian princesse gown of pale amber satin, with trimmings of white satin, richly embroidered in gold and a white straw hat with trimmings of white and orange velvet and a wreath of limes and foliage about the crown. Near by was Miss Helen Prince, looking very chic in pale brown veiling with white front and white tulle stock. Her hat was of biscuit straw, trimmed with black and white and black wings. There was a splendid attendance on Wednesday evening. Miss Susan Amory, wearing gray with white bodice, the coat collar revers and cuffs faced back with white and blue striped silk, was noticed in the balcony. Miss Rosamond Saltonstall and Miss Grace Dabney were conspicuous among the pretty girls on the floor, as was Miss Marion Lawrence, who was with a party presided over by Mrs. Francis Crowninshield. Miss Saltonstall's blonde coloring was emphasized by a lovely frock of pale blue silk muslin, with black insertions, made over a foundation of white taffetas, and her white hat was trimmed with black plumes. Miss Dabney, in soft brown veiling, was most attractive. There was a pale blue girdle and a black picture hat. Miss Lawrence was in black, with touches of white and large black hat, and Mrs. Crowninshield looked very handsome in dove gray silk with white lace motifs, a black hat with white trimmings and a large white boa. On Thursday night ex-Mayor and Mrs. Curtis and Mr. Robert A. Barnet and Mrs. Barnet were present, Mrs. Curtis looking particularly well in her beautifully fitting black gown and chic turban, and Mrs. Barnet was in black and white. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin made their initial appearance at the concert Friday evening, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders of Brookline being included among those at the table.

Others noted during the week were Mrs. Montgomery Sears, who brought several people Tuesday, and gave another party on Thursday, made up of Captain Cameron and officers of the Oceanic; Mr. Roger Wolcott, Mr. John Appleton, Mr. John Lodge, Dr. William Bigelow, Dr. Jack and party, Mr. George Atkinson and party of eight, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Farlon of Beacon street with friends, Mrs. John L. Thorndike and party, Miss B. C. Gray and guests, Mr. H. H. Edgerly, Mr. Ralph W. Durrell, Mrs. W. B. Rogers and party, Mrs. Dwight Blaney and friends, Mr. Francis Gray and guests, Dr. C. E. Achorn, who entertained a number of people on Wednesday; the Hon. Richard Olney, Mr. Wilbur H. Davis, with a stag party, including Mr. Charles P. Mudge and Mr. C. S. Gifford; Dr. J. N. Coolidge, Mr. C. A. Hurd, Miss Carrie Bicknell, Mr. Joseph Parker, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. Everett A. White and many more.

[125]

...tion to Frenchwomen

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 25 1902.

Saturday night a week ago in the large company at the Pop concerts were Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Osgood, who had a table party for their twin daughters, debutantes of the winter. On Monday night Mr. Richard Heard brought a large party, including Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball and Miss Annie and Miss Abby Manning. Miss Kimball was looking exceedingly pretty in pearl gray, almost covered with white lace and insertion. Her toque was of gray chiffon with pink roses and their foliage. Miss Lena Stevenson was with a party that night, in black with turquoise blue toque. On Tuesday night Miss Anne Blake, who has recently become engaged to Mr. Richardson of Brookline, was one of the prettiest girls of the fashionable set there. She was of a party of eight. Her white gown had gold traceries and her white hat a wreath of foliage. In another smart party was Miss Helen Prince in brown crepe, the bodice done with white, and a hat of burnt straw with black and white wings, the whole costume bearing the Parisian hall mark. Some who gave parties that night were Mrs. J. L. Thorndike, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Farlow, Miss B. C. Gray, Dr. and Mrs. John D. Morison, Mr. Minturn C. Kortwright of New York, who was in town for a few days, and Mr. Montgomery Sears, who also came again on Thursday night, and had a table party, including Capt. Cameron of the Oceanic and several of the officers. Mrs. Frank Crowninshield had a large party on Wednesday night. Miss Marion Lawrence was one of her guests. She wore black, the bodice done in white, and a black picture hat. Mrs. Crowninshield was in pearl liberty, with lace pailletted yoke. Miss Rosamond Saltonstall and Miss Grace Dabney were at another table, in dark blue mousseline de soie, with black insertions over white, and large black picture hat with plumes, and in light brown veiling with white yoke and undersleeves and the inevitable black picture hat, respectively. Miss Susan Amory, who was one of a party of four in the balcony, wore dark gray crepe, the bodice done in white, with revers and cuffs of light blue, and hat of white straw with pink roses. Others having table parties Wednesday night were Dr. Jack, Mrs. Dwight Blaney, Mrs. Ellis Dresel, Mrs. William B. Rogers, Mr. Francis Gray, Mr. Ralph Durrell, Mr. Walter Lawrence, Mr. John Le Roy of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lippitt and Mr. Archibald Livingston, who had one of the largest parties. Friday night the most noticed and admired woman at the Pops was Mrs. Fiske Warren, freshly arrived from Europe. She and Mr. Warren came in with a party. The former was looking more attractive than ever in what was evidently a Paris gown of soft crepe and much white lace. At another table Mr. and Mrs. George Lee had a party, including Mrs. Francis Watson. Miss Rebecca Jackson was at another table with young people.

Others there during the week whom we have not mentioned before were ex-Mayor Edwin Curtis and Mrs. Curtis, who brought guests; Mr. Roger Wolcott, the Hon. Richard Olney, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, Miss Agnes Donald, a daughter of the Rev. Dr. Winchester Donald, with a party of young people; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin, Mr. Robert Barnett and party, Mr. John Appleton, Mr. William W. Lewis, Dr. Joseph Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. John T. McArthur, Mr. Hugh McBirney, Mr. Huntington Jackson of Harvard College and Mr. and Mrs. John Hamlin. The programmes grow in favor as the concerts go on. Mr. Zach has a happy faculty of providing just the music which suits the occasion and the weather. It speaks well for the success of the Pops when every week shows a distinct increase in patronage, which was very generous at the start.

Mrs. Isaac Norris, Jr. (born Crownin-

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE 18 May 25 1902.

HARVARD-YALE AT THE POP.

No Demonstration, However, Other Than Polite Applause.

College Men Join with Others in the Symphony Hall Audience in Singing—"Little Duchess" at the Hollis Street Theatre Attracts Some of the Athletes.

A few Harvard and Yale athletes of the track and field gathered at wooden tables in Symphony Hall last evening, applauded lustily and drank discreetly—for Mott Haven is yet to come—in celebration of the afternoon meet on Soldier's Field. They made no demonstration other than polite applause, and did not even invoke "Fair Harvard" of the accommodating conductor, Mr. Zach.

It was the biggest night of the season for the Pops. Every reserved seat on the floor was sold long before the time for the performance, and by 8 o'clock nearly every available sitting outside of the pen had been snapped up by early arrivals, who came in droves. The balconies were well filled, the first balcony being practically crowded. There were some 1600 people in the hall.

No special inducement had been made by the management to attract the patronage from Cambridge, and the musical programme showed no concessions to a Harvard athletic occasion. However, the music was never more appreciated, and more than half the programme was encored. When it came to the "Jubilee" overture by Weber, with its finale in the melody of "America," the whole crowd stood up and the fringe of college men around the rail joined heartily in song. This was absolutely the only time there was "anything doing" in the way of demonstration.

J. G. WILLIS, HARVARD,
Winner of 220-Yard Hurdles in the Harvard-Yale Games.

"The Little Duchess" attracted a very appreciative crowd to the Hollis Street Theatre, where the performance had been advertised as "Harvard-Yale night." No boxes had been reserved for either of the athletic teams, but several of the athletes and other college men were scattered about throughout the house. They were very appreciative, and the unusually hearty applause was doubtless due to their efforts.

The only feature of the performance was contributed by three men about town, who sat in a stage box and hurled bouquets of heroic size across the footlights at Miss Held. Their huge offering of red roses was one of the finest floral pieces that has crossed the footlights this season. It was said at the box office that between $200 and $300 worth of flowers reached the company either by way of the footlights or the stage door, during the evening.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM May 25 1902.
DATE

—Mrs Arthur H. Whitney of Waltham gave a luncheon in the city to a number of ladies on Saturday, and afterward entertained them at the matinee performance at the Museum.

—Among the many patrons of the Pop concerts the past week have been noticed many guests from the various hotels who are staying in Boston temporarily, and who find these concerts the most agreeable way of spending their evenings. In the day time they may be seen being driven through our beautiful park system out through Riverway and Jamaica way to the Arnold Arboretum and Franklin park. Among the constant attendants at the concerts have been Mr Richard Olney, with friends, Mr J. Montgomery Sears, Mr Robert Barnett, who had several guests with him Thursday evening; one party was composed of Mr Freeman Allen, Mr Charles Winslow, Miss Ethel Gibson and Miss Susie Amory; Miss Gibson wore a white satin and lace bodice with dark skirt, and a cream straw hat with a wreath of pink roses around the brim; Miss Amory was in gray cloth and toque of pink roses. At another table were Mr and Mrs Philip Gardner, Miss Rosamund Saltonstall, Miss Grace Dabney, Mr Percy Haughton and others. Mrs Gardner wore a lovely gown of ecru crepe embroidered, and black hat with plumes; Miss Saltonstall's gown was old blue veiling with Persian embroidery and Miss Dabney's ecru crepe de chene, both bodice and skirt accordion plaited. Her hat was black with ostrich plumes. Miss Marian Lawrence was in dark blue nun's veiling and black plumed hat, Mrs Curtis Guild Jr, in white satin and lace bodice with cloth skirt, and Miss Mollie Johnson in dove gray veiling with appliques of cream lace; Miss Marian Fenno one evening wore a blue veiling and a chiffon hat of pale blue. A few others noted have been Mr and Mrs Eliot W. Pratt with guests, Dr and Mrs William Copley Winslow, Mr and Mrs Robert Shaw Sturgis, Miss Margaret Craig, Dr Frederic L. Jack, Dr Edwin E. Jack, Mrs Henry Whittemore, Miss Whittemore and Mr and Mrs Sedgwick.

—The marriage of Miss Ethel Davies, daughter of Mr and Mrs Julien T. Davies, to Mr Archibald Gourlie Thacher will take place at Newport Saturday, Aug 9. Miss Davies' parents have a cottage on Purgatory road between the First and Second beaches. Miss Davies

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 27 1902.

THE "POPS."

Time in his flight has brought along the last week of Mr. Zach's half of the conductorship of the "Pops," the second part of the season being reserved, as usual, for Mr. Strube. It would not be easily possible to surpass his own record, so far as programmes and performance go, but he did make a special effort and introduce a little change into the form of last night's concert. He put a solo number into each of the three sections, Mr. Keller playing something for 'cello, Mr. Hoffmann for violin, and Mr. Macquarre. All were brief, light and entertaining, and as close attention was naturally concentrated upon them, the usual number for which silence is bespoken was omitted. The remaining programmes of the week are attractively combined of old favorites and new, and will be their own best commendation.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 25 1902.

Marie Jonreau

PROMENADE CONCERT

Monday evening in Symphony hall Mr Zach will begin his last week as conductor of the "pop" concerts. It will be "soloist" night and the program has been arranged as follows:

Polonaise ..... Tschaikowsky
Waltz, Du und Du, Fledermaus ..... Strauss
Overture, Piccolino ..... Guiraud
Cello solo,
Mr Josef Keller.
Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine, and Toreodor et Andalouse, from Bal Costume ..... Rubinstein
Waltz, Vienna Blood ..... Strauss
Flute solo,
M Andre Maquarre
Marche des Batteurs, from Xaviere ..... Dubois
Violin solo,
Mr Jacques Hoffmann
Overture, La Part du Diable ..... Auber
Pizzicato Polka ..... Strauss
March, Hussar Drill ..... Zach

A New Queen of Society.

Boston Herald 5/25/02

AT last seasonable weather has arrived, so that the calendar is not the only thing which tells us summer has come. It is, however, more than a month or six weeks before the regular watering place season begins, so that those who have closed their town houses are yet near enough to be seen at the Pops, the playhouses, the restaurants and the shops. In New York last week, where the weather was a trifle warmer than here, we could easily imagine we were in Paris again, for on Thursday the balconies and piazzas at Sherry's, Martin's and the park resaurants were filled with people during the luncheon and tea hours, and most of them of the fashionable set. Of course, for dining al fresco, it s yet a little early. One would never have thought on the Riverside drive and at Claremont, where people were having tea on the broad balconies, that even a small part of New York society was elsewhere. The driveway all through the park on Wednesday afternoon, amid miles almost of bloom and verdure, was one throng of splendid turnouts of every description and private motor cars where, in many cases, ladies were their own chauffeuse, the occupants of all in smartest attire. The whole moving scene reminded one constantly of the Bois and Hyde Park in the season. It is more plain, perhaps, to a visitor than to a resident that New York is modelling itself after Paris more and more, especially in "the little season," as the French call it, the time between the supposed end of the gay year and the real summer. People are in and out of town all the time, and those going to and arriving from Europe add to the general jollity. Houses are closed and the occupants are rejoicing in a little breath of freedom from domestic worries. They are living at the fashionable hotels and dining at the restaurants more or less bohemian, which is now entirely the thing at this season. Racing and road coaching are chief among the things which keep the fashionable New York people in town for a time longer. To drive out on a drag or coach or in one's trap is the popular way of getting to the Morris Park clubhouse. The hunting set are noticeable just now for their plain tailor gowns and coats at the races, and apparently are setting the style quite distinct from the much beflounced and befrilled costumes that one sees at the Grand Prix, the Ascot and the Derby. Invitations to stop over Sunday in the country or go out to luncheon or dinner cannot be too lavishly bestowed at this season, for they are certain to be accepted. The week-end invitation is by all odds the most popular. It is now apt to mean only from Saturday to Monday, and even from Saturday night to Monday morning is deemed all sufficient.

BOSTON POST
DATE May 25 1902.

The Pop Concerts

The fourth week of the Pop concerts will open in Symphony Hall tomorrow evening. As in the past, these delightful entertainments have been well patronized and the choice programmes thoroughly enjoyed.

Monday will be soloists' night with the following selections:

Polonaise, Tschaikowsky; waltz, "Du und Du," from "Fledermaus," Strauss; overture, "Piccolino," Guiraud; 'cello solo; (a) Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine, (b) Toreador et Andalouse, from "Bal Costume," Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Blood," Strauss; flute solo; Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere," Dubois; violin solo; overture, "La Part du Diable," Auber; Pizzicato Polka, Strauss; march, "Hussar Drill," Zach.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 25 1902.

Saturday night a week ago in the large company at the Pop concerts were Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Osgood, who had a table party for their twin daughters, debutantes of the winter. On Monday night Mr. Richard Heard brought a large party, including Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball and Miss Annie and Miss Abby Manning. Miss Kimball was looking exceedingly pretty in pearl gray, almost covered with white lace and insertion. Her toque was of gray chiffon with pink roses and their foliage. Miss Lena Stevenson was with a party that night, in black with turquoise blue toque. On Tuesday night Miss Anne Blake, who has recently become engaged to Mr. Richardson of Brookline, was one of the prettiest girls of the fashionable set there. She was of a party of eight. Her white gown had gold traceries and her white hat a wreath of foliage. In another smart party was Miss Helen Prince in brown crepe, the bodice done with white, and a hat of burnt straw with black and white wings, the whole costume bearing the Parisian hall mark. Some who gave parties that night were Mrs. J. L. Thorndike, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Farlow, Miss B. C. Gray, Dr. and Mrs. John D. Morison, Mr. Minturn C. Kortwright of New York, who was in town for a few days, and Mr. Montgomery Sears, who also came again on Thursday night, and had a table party, including Capt. Cameron of the Oceanic and several of the officers. Mrs. Frank Crowninshield had a large party on Wednesday night. Miss Marion Lawrence was one of her guests. She wore black, the bodice done in white, and a black picture hat. Mrs. Crowninshield was in pearl liberty, with lace pailletted yoke. Miss Rosamond Saltonstall and Miss Grace Dabney were at another table, in dark blue mousseline de soie, with black insertions over white, and large black picture hat with plumes, and in light brown veiling with white yoke and undersleeves and the inevitable black picture hat, respectively. Miss Susan Amory, who was one of a party of four in the balcony, wore dark gray crepe, the bodice done in white, with revers and cuffs of light blue, and hat of white straw with pink roses. Others having table parties Wednesday night were Dr. Jack, Mrs. Dwight Blaney, Mrs. Ellis Dresel, Mrs. William B. Rogers, Mr. Francis Gray, Mr. Ralph Durrell, Mr. Walter Lawrence, Mr. John Le Roy of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lippitt and Mr. Archibald Livingston, who had one of the largest parties. Friday night the most noticed and admired woman at the Pops was Mrs. Fiske Warren, freshly arrived from Europe. She and Mr. Warren came in with a party. The former was looking more attractive than ever in what was evidently a Paris gown of soft crepe and much white lace. At another table Mr. and Mrs. George Lee had a party, including Mrs. Francis Watson. Miss Rebecca Jackson was at another table with young people.

Others there during the week whom we have not mentioned before were ex-Mayor Edwin Curtis and Mrs. Curtis, who brought guests; Mr. Roger Wolcott, the Hon. Richard Olney, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, Miss Agnes Donald, a daughter of the Rev. Dr. Winchester Donald, with a party of young people; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin, Mr. Robert Barnett and party, Mr. John Appleton, Mr. William W. Lewis, Dr. Joseph Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. John T. McArthur, Mr. Hugh McBirney, Mr. Huntington Jackson of Harvard College and Mr. and Mrs. John Hamlin. The programmes grow in favor as the concerts go on. Mr. Zach has a happy faculty of providing just the music which suits the occasion and the weather. It speaks well for the success of the Pops when every week shows a distinct increase in patronage, which was very generous at the start.

Mrs. Isaac Norris, Jr. (born Crownin-

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 25 1902.

HARVARD-YALE AT THE POP.

No Demonstration, However, Other Than Polite Applause.

College Men Join with Others in the Symphony Hall Audience in Singing—"Little Duchess" at the Hollis Street Theatre Attracts Some of the Athletes.

A few Harvard and Yale athletes of the track and field gathered at wooden tables in Symphony Hall last evening, applauded lustily and drank discreetly—for Mott Haven is yet to come—in celebration of the afternoon meet on Soldier's Field. They made no demonstration other than polite applause, and did not even invoke "Fair Harvard" of the accommodating conductor, Mr. Zach.

It was the biggest night of the season for the Pops. Every reserved seat on the floor was sold long before the time for the performance, and by 8 o'clock nearly every available sitting outside of the pen had been snapped up by early arrivals, who came in droves. The balconies were well filled, the first balcony being practically crowded. There were some 1600 people in the hall.

No special inducement had been made by the management to attract the patronage from Cambridge, and the musical programme showed no concessions to a Harvard athletic occasion. However, the music was never more appreciated, and more than half the programme was encored. When it came to the "Jubilee" overture by Weber, with its finale in the melody of "America," the whole crowd stood up and the fringe of college men around the rail joined heartily in song. This was absolutely the only time there was "anything doing" in the way of demonstration.

J. G. WILLIS, HARVARD,
Winner of 220-Yard Hurdles in the Harvard-Yale Games.

"The Little Duchess" attracted a very appreciative crowd to the Hollis Street Theatre, where the performance had been advertised as "Harvard-Yale night." No boxes had been reserved for either of the athletic teams, but several of the athletes and other college men were scattered about throughout the house. They were very appreciative, and the unusually hearty applause was doubtless due to their efforts.

The only feature of the performance was contributed by three men about town, who sat in a stage box and hurled bouquets of heroic size across the footlights at Miss Held. Their huge offering of red roses was one of the finest floral pieces that has crossed the footlights this season. It was said at the box office that between $200 and $300 worth of flowers reached the company either by way of the footlights or the stage door, during the evening.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM May 25 1902.
DATE

—Mrs Arthur H. Whitney of Watertown gave a luncheon in the city to a number of ladies on Saturday, and afterward entertained them at the matinee performance at the Museum.

—Among the many patrons of the Pop concerts the past week have been noticed many guests from the various hotels who are staying in Boston temporarily, and who find these concerts the most agreeable way of spending their evenings. In the day time they may be seen being driven through our beautiful park system out through Riverway and Jamaica way to the Arnold Arboretum and Franklin park. Among the constant attendants at the concerts have been Mr Richard Olney, with friends, Mr J. Montgomery Sears, Mr Robert Barnett, who had several guests with him Thursday evening; one party was composed of Mr Freeman Allen, Mr Charles Winslow, Miss Ethel Gibson and Miss Susie Amory; Miss Gibson wore a white satin and lace bodice with dark skirt, and a cream straw hat with a wreath of pink roses around the brim; Miss Amory was in gray cloth and toque of pink roses. At another table were Mr and Mrs Philip Gardner, Miss Rosamund Saltonstall, Miss Grace Dabney, Mr Percy Haughton and others. Mrs Gardner wore a lovely gown of ecru crepe embroidered, and black hat with plumes; Miss Saltonstall's gown was old blue veiling with Persian embroidery and Miss Dabney's ecru crepe de chene, both bodice and skirt accordion plaited. Her hat was black with ostrich plumes. Miss Marian Lawrence was in dark blue nun's veiling and black plumed hat, Mrs Curtis Guild Jr, in white satin and lace bodice with cloth skirt, and Miss Mollie Johnson in dove gray veiling with appliques of cream lace; Miss Marian Fenno one evening wore a blue veiling and a chiffon hat of pale blue. A few others noted have been Mr and Mrs Eliot W. Pratt with guests, Dr and Mrs William Copley Winslow, Mr and Mrs Robert Shaw Sturgis, Miss Margaret Craig, Dr Frederic L. Jack, Dr Edwin E. Jack, Mrs Henry Whittemore, Miss Whittemore and Mr and Mrs Sedgwick.

—The marriage of Miss Ethel Davies, daughter of Mr and Mrs Julien T. Davies, to Mr Archibald Gourlie Thacher will take place at Newport Saturday, Aug 9. Miss Davies' parents have a cottage on Purgatory road between the First and Second beaches. Miss Davies

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE May 27 1902.

THE "POPS."

Time in his flight has brought along the last week of Mr. Zach's half of the conductorship of the "Pops," the second part of the season being reserved, as usual, for Mr. Strube. It would not be easily possible to surpass his own record, so far as programmes and performance go, but he did make a special effort and introduce a little change into the form of last night's concert. He put a solo number into each of the three sections, Mr. Keller playing something for 'cello, Mr. Hoffmann for violin, and Mr. Macquarre. All were brief, light and entertaining, and as close attention was naturally concentrated upon them, the usual number for which silence is bespoken was omitted. The remaining programmes of the week are attractively combined of old favorites and new, and will be their own best commendation.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 25 1902.

Marie Jonreau

PROMENADE CONCERT

Monday evening in Symphony hall Mr Zach will begin his last week as conductor of the "pop" concerts. It will be "soloist" night and the program has been arranged as follows:

Polonaise ..... Tschaikowsky
Waltz, Du und Du, Fledermaus.....Strauss
Overture, Piccolino..... Guiraud
Cello solo,
Mr Josef Keller.
Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine, and Toreodor et Andalouse, from Bal Costume ..... Rubinstein
Waltz, Vienna Blood.....Strauss
Flute solo,
M Andre Maquarre
Marche des Batteurs, from Xaviere....Dubois
Violin solo,
Mr Jacques Hoffmann
Overture, La Part du Diable.....Auber
Pizzicato Polka..... Strauss
March, Hussar Drill.....Zach

A New Queen of Society.

AT last seasonable weather has arrived, so that the calendar is not the only thing which tells us summer has come. It is, however, more than a month or six weeks before the regular watering place season begins, so that those who have closed their town houses are yet near enough to be seen at the Pops, the playhouses, the restaurants and the shops. In New York last week, where the weather was a trifle warmer than here, we could easily imagine we were in Paris again, for on Thursday the balconies and piazzas at Sherry's, Martin's and the park resaurants were filled with people during the luncheon and tea hours, and most of them of the fashionable set. Of course, for dining al fresco, it s yet a little early. One would never have thought on the Riverside drive and at Claremont, where people were having tea on the broad balconies, that even a small part of New York society was elsewhere. The driveway all through the park on Wednesday afternoon, amid miles almost of bloom and verdure, was one throng of splendid turnouts of every description and private motor cars where, in many cases, ladies were their own chauffeuse, the occupants of all in smartest attire. The whole moving scene reminded one constantly of the Bois and Hyde Park in the season. It is more plain, perhaps, to a visitor than to a resident that New York is modelling itself after Paris more and more, especially in "the little season," as the French call it, the time between the supposed end of the gay year and the real summer. People are in and out of town all the time, and those going to and arriving from Europe add to the general jollity. Houses are closed and the occupants are rejoicing in a little breath of freedom from domestic worries. They are living at the fashionable hotels and dining at the restaurants more or less bohemian, which is now entirely the thing at this season. Racing and road coaching are chief among the things which keep the fashionable New York people in town for a time longer. To drive out on a drag or coach or in one's trap is the popular way of getting to the Morris Park clubhouse. The hunting set are noticeable just now for their plain tailor gowns and coats at the races, and apparently are setting the style quite distinct from the much beflounced and befrilled costumes that one sees at the Grand Prix, the Ascot and the Derby. Invitations to stop over Sunday in the country or go out to luncheon or dinner cannot be too lavishly bestowed at this season, for they are certain to be accepted. The week-end invitation is by all odds the most popular. It is now apt to mean only from Saturday to Monday, and even from Saturday night to Monday morning is deemed all sufficient.

BOSTON POST
DATE May 25 1902.

The Pop Concerts

The fourth week of the Pop concerts will open in Symphony Hall tomorrow evening. As in the past, these delightful entertainments have been well patronized and the choice programmes thoroughly enjoyed.

Monday will be soloists' night with the following selections:

Polonaise, Tschaikowsky; waltz, "Du und Du," from "Fledermaus," Strauss; overture, "Piccolino," Guiraud; 'cello solo; (a) Pecheur Napolitain and Napolitaine, (b) Toreador et Andalouse, from "Bal Costume," Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Blood," Strauss; flute solo; Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere," Dubois; violin solo; overture, "La Part du Diable," Auber; Pizzicato Polka, Strauss; march, "Hussar Drill," Zach.

[126]

CLIPPING FROM My Art & Literature
DATE 5/24/02

Boston Globe

In the city, the "Pop" concerts are society's greatest diversion. Their charm depends greatly upon their Bohemianism, which is especially well appreciated after the season of formal entertaining. Among those who were members of the little parties seated at the tables last week were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, Jr., the latter formerly Sallie Pemberton, of Philadelphia; Miss Katharine Fay, president of the Vincent Club; Miss Susan Amory, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, who was Miss Eleanor Robinson, of Washington Square, New York; Mr. Frederic J. Stimson, the novelist, with his handsome daughter, Mildred; Miss Eloise Derby, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrage, and Mr. W. W. Vaughan.

* * *

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
May 27 1902.
DATE

THE "POPS."

Last night was soloists' night at the "Pop" concert, and the usual large audience was on hand to applaud the selections of the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Max Zach, as well as the solo numbers of Messrs. Keller, Maquarre and Hoffmann. This is the fourth and last week in which Mr. Zach will direct the orchestra, as on Monday next Mr. Gustav Strube will take up the baton and conduct the remainder of the season. On Friday evening of this week the visiting French delegation will visit Symphony Hall as the guests of "Le Cercle Francais" of Harvard University.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
May 27 1902.
DATE

... known Boston-ians, and the local interest taken in the production insures a crowded first-night audience.

Promenade Concert.

The program this evening at the "pop" concert in Symphony hall will be as follows:

March, Szechmje.....Fahrbach
Waltz, Gross-Wien.....Strauss
Overture, Si J'etais Roi.....Adam
Selection, Chimes of Normandy.....Planquette
Menuet, valse des Sylphes et Marche Hongroise, from Damnation of Faust.....Berlioz
Waltz, Fesche Geister.....Ed Strauss
Dance of slaves, tambourin and gavotte.. Gluck-Gevaert
Trot de Cavalerie.....Rubinstein
Academic festival overture.....Grace
Largo, violin obligato Mr Hoffmann....Handel
Waltz, Ninette (first time).....Bosc
March, from Wizard of the Nile.....Herbert

RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Commercial
Boston, Mass.
DATE 5-26-02

Symphony Hall Concerts.

The concerts during the week now ending have been up to their usual high standard. Conductor Zach always receives a cordial greeting upon his appearance, and his well selected programmes have brought out enthusiastic applause at every concert of the week. These popular entertainments are given every evening during the week, excepting Sunday, from 8 to 11 o'clock.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
May 24 1902.
DATE

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON COURIER
May 24 1902.
DATE

TOWN TALK.

—At the Pop concerts the past week the attendance has been unusually large, and the favorite form of amusement is progressing merrily, with the advent of the fourth week, which marks the end of the first half of the season, near at hand The elegance of the gowns worn this year distances those of former seasons, and many are distinctly Parisian, and costly in the extreme. During the promenade hour the scene is particularly brilliant, and the fashion display extremely alluring. Some of those noted in Symphony Hall during the past week are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Louis Osgood, of Beacon street, with their son, and debutante daughters, who were presented last winter, Miss Fanny C. Osgood and Miss Hannah D. Osgood. The Misses Osgood were attired alike, Monte Carlo coats of tan cloth partially concealing their pretty frocks. Their hats were of burnt straw, with trimmings of black velvet. Miss Hannah Stevenson was one of the prettiest girls present Monday evening, clad in a lovely frock of black, with large, light blue hat, and rope of pearls. One of the largest parties that evening had as its host Mr. Richard Heard, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, and their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, Miss Abbie Manning, Miss Annie Manning and Mr. Alfred Brown. Miss Kimball was very pretty in pale gray silk, with insertions of white lace, and gray hat, with a profusion of pink roses. The Misses Manning were both in black, Miss Abbie wearing a white blouse, and Miss Annie a light blue bodice. On Tuesday night Miss Anne Blake, of Brookline, whose engagement to Mr. Frederick Richardson was lately announced, was the hostess at a table party of eight guests. Miss Blake looked very attractive in a princesse gown of palest amber satin, in combination with white satin, heavily embroidered in gold. Her wide-brimmed hat was of white straw with trimmings of orange velvet, and white satin, and had a wreath of lilacs, with their own beautiful foliage around the crown. At a nearby table, where she attracted much admiring comment, was Miss Helen Prince, looking very chic in soft brown veiling, opening over a white front, and having a white tulle stock. Her hat was of burnt straw, with trimmings of black velvet, and white and black wings. Mr. Montgomery Sears was present Tuesday evening, entertaining a small party of friends, and among others noted early in the week were Mr. Roger Wolcott, Mr. John Appleton, Mr. John Lodge, Dr. William Bigelow, Dr. Jack and party, and Mr. Richard Heard, whose guests included Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, Mr. George Atkinson and party of eight, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Farlow, of Beacon street, and friends, Mrs. John L. Thorndike and party, Miss B. C. Gray and friends, Mr. W. B. Edgerly, who brought several people with him, Mr. Ralph W. Durrell and guests. Mrs. W. B. Rogers and party, Mrs. Dwight Blaney and guests, Mr. E. L. Dresel, Mr. Francis Gray and party, Dr. C. E. Achorn, of the Westminster, who entertained Wednesday, and the Hon. Richard Olney. The same evening Miss Susan Amory was present, occupying a seat in the balcony, and looking extremely well in dark gray with white bodice. The revers and cuffs of the jacket were of blue and white silk. Miss Rosamond Saltonstall and Miss Grace Dabney were noticed among the young girls on the floor. Miss Saltonstall's blonde coloring was well emphasized by a lovely creation of blue soie de Chine with black insertions, made over a foundation of white taffetas, and a white picture hat with black plumes. Miss Dabney selected for her toilette a pretty gown of tan veiling with white yoke, with pale blue girdle, and a large and very becoming hat. Miss Marion Lawrence, daughter of the Bishop, made one of a large party at the table with Mrs. Francis Crowninshield, and was clad in black, with a black picture hat. Mrs. Crowninshield looked extremely well in pale gray silk, with applications of white lace motifs, a black hat with white trimmings, and a large white boa. Mr. J. Montgomery Sears made his second appearance at the pops on Thursday evening, having with him a stag party made up of Captain Cameron, and other officers of the Oceanic. There were also present ex-Mayor and Mrs. Edwin U. Curtis, Mrs. Curtis looking very distinguished in her black frock, with chic turban, Mr. Robert A. Barnet, the playwright, with Mrs. Barnet, the latter in black and white, Mr. Wilbur H. Davis, whose guests were Mr. Charles P. Mudge and Mr. C. S. Gifford, Dr. J. N. Coolidge, Mr. C. A. Hurd, of Beverly, Miss Carrie Bicknell, Mr. Joseph Parker, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. Everett A. White and many more. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin, of Beacon street, made their first appearance at the pops on Friday evening, occupying a table, and Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, of Brookline, being included among the guests. Mrs. Martin wore a very becoming gown of tan veiling, overlaid with bands of insertion and lace of the same color, and a white toque, stock and gloves. Mr. and Mrs. Fiske Warren, lately returned from Europe, were also present. Mrs. Warren, attired in pale brown voile, with black picture hat, the combination exactly suiting the rich tints of her coloring. Miss Rebecca Jackson and her fiance, Mr. Robert Hallowell, were included in an attractive group of young people in a large party, and Col. and Mrs. Andrew Robeson were present, Mrs. Robeson wearing a black gown and turban, with unique Russian girdle of gold. Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, of Brookline, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Watson were also noticeable among those present Friday night.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
May 24 1902.
DATE

Mr. H. W. Priest has engaged his musicians for Hotel Preston at Beach Bluff, Mass., the coming season, securing players from the famous Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Max Zach, who is now conductor at the Pops concerts, will be the leader of the orchestra at The Preston.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Budget & Times, Boston, Mass.
DATE 5-25-02

motion pictures in the biograph, and a splendid lot of scenic views made in Newfoundland will also be shown.

The "Pops" have been very delightful during the warm evenings. Symphony Hall has nightly been thronged with music lovers who have enjoyed Max Zach and his orchestra.

At the Hollis-street, beginning Monday, May 26, for two weeks, will be presented the London Gaiety Theatre laughing success, "The Manager Boy," with James T. Powers.

DATE BOSTON (Mass.) EVE. HERALD
May 27 1902.

THE "POPS."

Time in his flight has brought along the last week of Mr. Zach's half of the conductorship of the "Pops," the second part of the season being reserved, as usual, for Mr. Strube. The programmes of the week are attractively combined of old favorites and new, and will be their own best commendation.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON TIMES
May
DATE

The Pop Concerts.

Now that warm weather is fast approaching there will be a perceptible increase in attendance at the Pop concerts, although up to the present time they have been well attended. The programmes during the past week have been of marked excellence and Monday next will be soloists' night and a very large attendance is anticipated, It is as follows:

Polonaise.....Tschaikowsky
Waltz, "Du and Du," from "Fledermaus"... Strauss
Overture, "Piccolino".....Guiraud
'Cello Solo.....
Mr. Josef Keller.
Pecheur Napolitan and Napolitaine,.....
Toreador et Andalouse, from "Bal Costume" .....Rubinstein
Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
Flute Solo.....
Mr. Andre Maquarre.
Marche des Batteurs, from "Xaviere"... Dubois
Violin Solo.....
Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
March, 'Hussar Drill".....Zach

Larrabee's 22d anniversary occurs tomorrow.

Ambassador Choate Suggests a Moth.

(New York Times.)

Ambassador Choate has a particular aversion

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
May 24 1902.
DATE

The delightful Pop concerts, the Boston institution so much liked by all, are having another successful season. This is the time of year when listening to music not too classic, while sipping light beverages, is an ideal enjoyment. The programmes at the Pops are judiciously made out, and interpreted by that splendid organization, the Symphony Orchestra. The concerts are held in beautiful Symphony Hall each week-day evening, Mr. Max Zach being the conductor.

[127]

CLIPPING FROM My City Thursday
DATE 7/24/02

In the city, the "Pop" concerts are society's greatest diversion. Their charm depends greatly upon their Bohemianism, which is especially well appreciated after the season of formal entertaining. Among those who were members of the little parties seated at the tables last week were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, Jr., the latter formerly Sallie Pemberton, of Philadelphia; Miss Katharine Fay, president of the Vincent Club; Miss Susan Amory, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, who was Miss Eleanor Robinson, of Washington Square, New York; Mr. Frederic J. Stimson, the novelist, with his handsome daughter, Mildred; Miss Eloise Derby, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrage, and Mr. W. W. Vaughan.

* * *

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
DATE May 27 1902.

THE "POPS."

Last night was soloists' night at the "Pop" concert, and the usual large audience was on hand to applaud the selections of the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Max Zach, as well as the solo numbers of Messrs. Keller, Maquarre and Hoffmann. This is the fourth and last week in which Mr. Zach will direct the orchestra, as on Monday next Mr. Gustav Strube will take up the baton and conduct the remainder of the season. On Friday evening of this week the visiting French delegation will visit Symphony Hall as the guests of "Le Cercle Francais" of Harvard University.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE May 27 1902.

...known Boston-ians, and the local interest taken in the production insures a crowded first-night audience.

Promenade Concert.

The program this evening at the "pop" concert in Symphony hall will be as follows:

March, Szechmje.....Fahrbach
Waltz, Gross-Wien.....Strauss
Overture, Si j'etais Roi.....Adam
Selection, Chimes of Normandy.....Planquette
Menuet, valse des Sylphes et Marche Hongroise, from Damnation of Faust.....Berlioz
Waltz, Fesche Geister.....Ed Strauss
Dance of slaves, tambourin and gavotte.. Gluck-Gevaert
Trot de Cavalerie.....Rubinstein
Academic festival overture.....Grace
Largo, violin obligato Mr Hoffmann....Handel
Waltz, Ninette (first time).....Bosc
March, from Wizard of the Nile.....Herbert

RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Commercial
Boston, Mass.
DATE 5-26-02

Symphony Hall Concerts.

The concerts during the week now ending have been up to their usual high standard. Conductor Zach always receives a cordial greeting upon his appearance, and his well selected programmes have brought out enthusiastic applause at every concert of the week. These popular entertainments are given every evening during the week, excepting Sunday, from 8 to 11 o'clock.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON COURIER
DATE May 24 1902.

TOWN TALK.

—At the Pop concerts the past week the attendance ~~has been~~ unusually large, and the favorite form of amusement is progressing merrily, with the advent of the fourth week, which marks the end of the first half of the season, near at hand The elegance of the gowns worn this year distances those of former seasons, and many are distinctly Parisian, and costly in the extreme. During the promenade hour the scene is particularly brilliant, and the fashion display extremely alluring. Some of those noted in Symphony Hall during the past week are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Louis Osgood, of Beacon street, with their son, and debutante daughters, who were presented last winter, Miss Fanny C. Osgood and Miss Hannah D. Osgood. The Misses Osgood were attired alike, Monte Carlo coats of tan cloth partially concealing their pretty frocks. Their hats were of burnt straw, with trimmings of black velvet. Miss Hannah Stevenson was one of the prettiest girls present Monday evening, clad in a lovely frock of black, with large, light blue hat, and rope of pearls. One of the largest parties that evening had as its host Mr. Richard Heard, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, and their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, Miss Abbie Manning, Miss Annie Manning and Mr. Alfred Brown. Miss Kimball was very pretty in pale gray silk, with insertions of white lace, and gray hat, with a profusion of pink roses. The Misses Manning were both in black, Miss Abbie wearing a white blouse, and Miss Annie a light blue bodice. On Tuesday night Miss Anne Blake, of Brookline, whose engagement to Mr. Frederick Richardson was lately announced, was the hostess at a table party of eight guests. Miss Blake looked very attractive in a princesse gown of palest amber satin, in combination with white satin, heavily embroidered in gold. Her wide-brimmed hat was of white straw with trimmings of orange velvet, and white satin, and had a wreath of lilacs, with their own beautiful foliage around the crown. At a nearby table, where she attracted much admiring comment, was Miss Helen Prince, looking very chic in soft brown veiling, opening over a white front, and having a white tulle stock. Her hat was of burnt straw, with trimmings of black velvet, and white and black wings. Mr. Montgomery Sears was present Tuesday evening, entertaining a small party of friends, and among others noted early in the week were Mr. Roger Wolcott, Mr. John Appleton, Mr. John Lodge, Dr. William Bigelow, Dr. Jack and party, and Mr. Richard Heard, whose guests included Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, Mr. George Atkinson and party of eight, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Farlow, of Beacon street, and friends, Mrs. John L. Thorndike and party, Miss B. C. Gray and friends, Mr. W. B. Edgerly, who brought several people with him, Mr. Ralph W. Durrell and guests, Mrs. W. B. Rogers and party, Mrs. Dwight Blaney and guests, Mr. E. L. Dresel, Mr. Francis Gray and party, Dr. C. E. Achorn, of the Westminster who entertained Wednesday, and the Hon. Richard Olney. The same evening Miss Susan Amory was present, occupying a seat in the balcony, and looking extremely well in dark gray with white bodice. The revers and cuffs of the jacket were of blue and white silk. Miss Rosamond Saltonstall and Miss Grace Dabney were noticed among the young girls on the floor. Miss Saltonstall's blonde coloring was well emphasized by a lovely creation of blue soie de Chine with black insertions, made over a foundation of white taffetas, and a white picture hat with black plumes. Miss Dabney selected for her toilette a pretty gown of tan veiling with white yoke, with pale blue girdle, and a large and very becoming hat. Miss Marion Lawrence, daughter of the Bishop, made one of a large party at the table with Mrs. Francis Crowninshield, and was clad in black, with a black picture hat. Mrs. Crowninshield looked extremely well in pale gray silk, with applications of white lace motifs, a black hat with white trimmings, and a large white boa. Mr. J. Montgomery Sears made his second appearance at the pops on Thursday evening, having with him a stag party made up of Captain Cameron, and other officers of the Oceanic. There were also present ex-Mayor and Mrs. Edwin U. Curtis, Mrs. Curtis looking very distinguished in her black frock, with chic turban, Mr. Robert A. Barnet, the playwright, with Mrs. Barnet, the latter in black and white, Mr. Wilbur H. Davis, whose guests were Mr. Charles P. Mudge and Mr. C. S. Gifford, Dr. J. N. Coolidge, Mr. C. A. Hurd, of Beverly, Miss Carrie Bicknell, Mr. Joseph Parker, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. Everett A. White and many more. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Martin, of Beacon street, made their first appearance at the pops on Friday evening, occupying a table, and Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, of Brookline, being included among the guests. Mrs. Martin wore a very becoming gown of tan veiling, overlaid with bands of insertion and lace of the same color, and a white toque, stock and gloves. Mr. and Mrs. Fiske Warren, lately returned from Europe, were also present. Mrs. Warrer, attired in pale brown voile, with black picture hat, the combination exactly suiting the rich tints of her coloring. Miss Rebecca Jackson and her fiance, Mr. Robert Hallowell, were included in an attractive group of young people in a large party, and Col. and Mrs. Andrew Robeson were present, Mrs. Robeson wearing a black gown and turban, with unique Russian girdle of gold. Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, of Brookline, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Watson were also noticeable among those present Friday night.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
DATE May 24 1902.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Budget
Boston, Mass.
DATE 5-26-02

motion pictures in the biograph, and a splendid lot of scenic views made in Newfoundland will also be shown.

The "Pops" have been very delightful during the warm evenings. Symphony Hall has nightly been thronged with music lovers who have enjoyed Max Zach and his orchestra.

At the Hollis-street, beginning Monday, May 26, for two weeks, will be presented the London Gaiety Theatre laughing success, "The Messenger Boy," with James T. B...

DATE BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
May 27 1902.

THE "POPS."

Time in his flight has brought along the last week of Mr. Zach's half of the conductorship of the "Pops," the second part of the season being reserved, as usual, for Mr. Strube. The programmes of the week are attractively combined of old favorites and new, and will be their own best commendation.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON TRAVELLER
DATE

The Pop Concerts.

Now that warm weather is fast approaching there will be a perceptible increase in attendance at the Pop concerts, although up to the present time they have been well attended. The programmes during the past week have been of marked excellence and Monday next will be soloists' night and a very large attendance is anticipated. It is as follows:

Polonaise.....Tschaikowsky
Waltz, "Du and Du," from "Fledermaus"... .....Strauss
Overture, "Piccolino".....Guirand
'Cello Solo.....
Mr. Jos. Keller.
Pecheur Napolitain et Nocturne.....
Toreador et Andalouse, from "Del Costume" .....Rubinstein
Waltz, "Vienna Blood".....Strauss
Flute Solo.....
Mr. Andre Maquarre.
Marche des Batteurs, from "Naviere"...Dubois
Violin Solo.....
Mr. Jacques Hoffmann.
Overture, "La Part du Diable".....Auber
Pizzicato Polka.....Strauss
March, "Hussar Drill".....Zach

Larrabee's 22d anniversary occurs tomorrow.

Ambassador Choate Suggests a Moth.

(New York Times.)

Ambassador Choate has a particular aversion

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
DATE May 24

The delightful Pop concerts, the Boston institution so much liked by all, are having another successful season. This is the time of year when listening to music not too classic, while sipping light beverages, is an ideal enjoyment. The programmes at the Pops are judiciously made out, and interpreted by that splendid organization, the Symphony Orchestra. The concerts are held in beautiful Symphony Hall each week-day evening, Mr. Max Zach being the conductor.

Mr. H. W. Priest has engaged his musicians for Hotel Preston at Beach Bluff, Mass., the coming season, securing players from the famous Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Max Zach, who is now conductor at the Pops concerts, will be the leader of the orchestra at The Preston.

[127]

Date MAY 24 1902

At the pops during the week an unusually la[redacted]mber of pleasant parties were arranged. Among those present were Dr. Henry J. Bigelow, Mr. John Lodge, Mr. Roger Wolcott, Charles Jackson, Mr. Richard Heard, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, Miss Estelle Kimball, Mr. J. M. Sears, Dr. Jack, the Misses Saltonstall, Mr. A. C. Kimball, Mr. James T. Kelley.

Messrs. Thomas T. Prendergast and D. L. Prendergast of Roxbury are at Atlantic City, N. J.

6 May 31

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

FRENCHMEN AT THE "POPS."

Given a Rousing Reception—Orchestra Plays "The Marseilles" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The "P. O. P." sign on Symphony Hall stood for "Pictures of Paris," last night. The orchestral programme of 12 numbers was a wholesale concession to French genius in music. And the little company of guests who sat in the centre of the floor, made up of civilians of noble French lineage and distinguished officers of the French soldiery, gave the impression that the Athens of America had annexed a little bit of "La Belle France."

Conductor Zach had played through two-thirds of the programme and the orchestra was off stage during the second intermission, when the notables, who arose late from dinner at the Somerset, made their appearance. By the time they had been ushered to their chairs, the musicians had gotten back. With a single baton flourish, the conductor drew from the big orchestra the first strains of the inspiring, undying French national air, "Le Marseillaise." Instantly, the guests were on their feet and the whole crowd—floor, balconies and all—were with them. America applauded heartily. France smiled, bowed and kept still. Then came "The Star Spangled Banner," and when it was through, France clapped hands long and lustily. All of which was a bit of typical Parisian etiquette in which France tactfully refrained from applauding its own composition, but gave the heartiest sort of a hand to America's.

Then the visitors sat down, drew their chairs up into an unbroken ring—a "Cercle Francais," so to say—and the class in French conversation began to recite.

Presently Adjt.-Gen. Dalton appeared, to pay his respects on behalf of the state and the Governor. But he only stepped up to the group and shook hands all around—a courtesy which was acknowledged by the lowest of diplomatic bows and the highest of diplomatic language—in French, of course. Then the general withdrew. As he stepped into the lobby he told a friend that only one of the visitors could speak English, and, as he hadn't had time to memorize the names and had forgotten his French, he'd decided that brevity was the soul of wit, and retired within the time limit.

All the visitors were men—which brought sore disappointment to the ladies, who had yearned for a close-range scrutiny of Worth modes and Parisian millinery—and all but one were in evening clothes. The exception was Capt. Lasson, who displayed quite a fulness of red trousering, a good breadth of epauletted shoulders, and a complete assortment of medals. Others of the guests were Count La Fayette, Viscount de Faramont, Gen. Chalander, Lieut.-Col. Meux St. Marc, Lieut.-Col. Hermite, Mr. L. Hermite and Mr. Edwin Morgan. From the Cercle Francais of Harvard, which entertained, were the president, M. Champollion; the former president, M. Stanton; E. C. Edson, treasurer, and F. B. Thompson, secretary. Prof. A. Coolidge of Harvard College and the society was in charge of the party.

As the programme progressed, the company became animated. Long, thin cigarettes were stuck into long, thin holders and lighted; ginger ale was ordered and drunk, and the gentlemen leaned back in their chairs and absorbed the masterpieces of Massonet and Saint-Saens, Berger and Lacome. They had arrived so late that these were the only things left "on the bill," although the whole programme had been culled from the works of French composers. The music was warmly applauded by every one of the visitors, and while Germany on the platform gave of its best effort, France, on the floor, applauded appreciatively, and there was international amity all around.

In short, the scene was suggestive of a "cafe chantant" or the "Jardin de Paris"—only there was no singing, a roof covered the hall, and the drinks were bland—which amounts to saying that it was very different.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXL, NO. 151.
SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1902.

Members of the French Delegation Entertained at Pop Concert by Cercle Francais of Harvard

There was a sensation at the Pop concert last evening when a number of representatives of the French delegation entered the hall shortly after 9, under the escort of Professor A. C. Coolidge of Harvard.

Earlier in the evening Professor Coolidge had presided at an elaborate dinner in honor of the visitors.

The delegates were the guests of the Cercle Francais of Harvard, and President A. C. Champollion was on hand to greet them and escort them to the nine tables reserved for their occupancy.

Mme. Cambon, the Comtesse de Rochambeau, and other French ladies did not appear.

As the distinguished visitors entered the hall Mr. Zach's men played the "Marseillaise," everyone standing meantime and applauding heartily at the close. "The Star Spangled Banner" followed, the French gentlemen joining in the general enthusiasm.

There were present Lieutenant-Colonel Meux St. Marc, Lieutenant-Colonel Hermite, M. L. Hermite, Count Lafayette, Viscount de Faramont, Captain Lasson, General Chalendar and Mr. Edwin Morgan, together with members of the Cercle Francais, made up of Mr. E. C. Edson, treasurer; Mr. Stanton, ex-president, and Mr. F. B. Thompson, secretary.

As is usual on holidays the audience was less fashionable than on other occasions, but there were a number of well known people present, among others Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell of Gloucester street, who were late arrivals, and entertained friends. Mrs. Russell presented a very stylish appearance in her exquisitely fitting voile gown and picture hat, with which a fluffy neck ruche was worn. Mrs. George Stoddard was one of the handsome women who brought a large party. Mr. and Mrs. David H. Noyes and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Riley made up a party at one of the corner tables. Mrs. Noyes was richly attired in black silk, pailletted with jets and touches of white on the bodice. Mrs. Riley's gown was of palest gray with white front and applications of black and white. A toque of violets with crown of foliage blended prettily with the toilette.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall had with them a party of young people, including their daughters, Miss Marion Hall and Miss Gertrude Hall.

Tonight marks the last appearance this season of Max Zach as conductor, and Monday Mr. Gustav Strube will assume the leadership of the orchestra for the remaining four weeks.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
BOSTON POST
CLIPPING FROM
May 31 1902.
DATE

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 1 1902.

[illegible] of flowers, all in the highest state of cultivation.

—Mr Joseph Peabody has returned from a visit to Washington and sailed yesterday for France. He will as usual pass July and August at Dinard.

—The Pop concerts seem if possible to increase in popularity as the season advances, and they are not only popular with residents of Boston and its vicinity, but with visiting strangers who are here always in large numbers at this season of the year. Every table was sold out early on Saturday evening a week ago, and all through the past week there have been large audiences. Mr and Mrs Kilby Page and Miss Page formed a party one evening, and Mrs Wirt Dexter, with some young girls, sat the same evening in the balcony. Mr and Mrs Ashton Rollins Willard also were in the balcony, and Mrs Curtis Guild Jr, with friends; Mr and Mrs G. G. Boardman of Brookline, with Mr Arthur Kennedy of Pittsburg, had a table one evening. On Monday night Mr and Mrs Leverett Tuckerman and Mr and Mrs Louis Curtis came together, Mrs Tuckerman wearing a costume of black and white india silk and blue chiffon hat with wreath of tiny pink roses. Mrs Curtis was in fawn colored crepe de chine and a yellow straw hat, with blue trimmings; Mrs Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball brought a large party of friends. Miss Kimball wore a becoming costume of black veiling, with insertion of black lace over white, and a black plumed hat. Mrs Charles Whitney came in from Milton with a party of friends, wearing a charming costume of black and white striped grenadine, with entredeux of black lace over white, and a black and white hat; in another party were Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell, Mrs Lowell in black and white silk and black lace hat adorned with lilies of the valley, and Miss Mollie Sargent in scarlet veiling and black plumed hat; Mr Fitz Henry Smith of Newbury st brought his sister, Miss Marian Smith, who wore a lovely gown of embroidered and tucked tussah silk and white chip hat, covered with white roses; Miss Hines of Worcester and Miss Marie L. Everett in black skirt, white satin bodice and black plumed hat; Mr John H. Holmes brought a party of 10, including his daughter, Mrs George Edmund Dwight, and Mr Dwight. Mrs J. B. Goodrich, her son, Mr Wallace Goodrich, Mr Clayton Johns and others formed a party about a table on Tuesday evening. Dr and Mrs Philip Coombs Knapp, Dr Frederic L. Jack and Mr Alexander Higginson were others noted the same evening.

—Mr and Mrs Francis L. Amory and their family of Commonwealth av went a few days ago to their summer home, the Pierpont [illegible] Hawaii. Gov.

BOSTON EVENING [illegible]
DATE 31 1902.

AT THEATRES AND THE [illegible]

Several Parties of Visitors Were Present at Amusement Places Last Evening

Frenchmen from the delegation now in town visited the Pop concert, the Tremont Theatre and the Boston Theatre last evening. Those who went to Symphony Hall were the guests of the Cercle Francais of Harvard, with Professor A. C. Coolidge, who had previously presided at a dinner in their honor, to act as guide. They took places during the intermission, but people who saw them stood up and applauded, and Director Max Zach hastily recalled his men and gave the "Marseillaise," after which, amid more applause, he gave "The Star Spangled Banner." A party of eleven, including several of the visitors, had three boxes at the performance of "The Prince of Pilsen" at the Tremont Theatre and, arriving shortly before ten o'clock, were at once recognized. In the party were M. Jules Cambon, French ambassador, and Mme. Cambon; General Brugère, Comte and Comtesse de Rochambeau, Captain and Mme. Vignal, Major Bertiliciot, Capitaine Filloueau, M. Renouard, M. Boeufre, third assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Pierce, M. P. Curran and C. P. Lebon.

At the Boston Theatre proscenium boxes were reserved for the guests, who arrived a few moments later than did those at the Tremont Theatre. In box No. 1 were M. and Mme. de Margerie, M. Guillemin and Captain Pouilloue de St. Mars. M. de Billy, Baron de Breda and M. E. Lebon occupied box No. 5. They took their seats before the close of the second act of "The Serenade," and in time to enjoy a treat which had been especially arranged for them. It was the singing by W. H. MacDonald in French of the first portion of his serenade. That they thoroughly appreciated this recognition was obvious by their applause.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
CLIPPING FROM
June 1 1902.
DATE

—Mr Burge Harrison, the artist, of Plymouth and New York, with Mrs Harrison, sailed for Europe yesterday week, to spend the summer.

—The entrance of the visiting Frenchmen at the Pop concert Friday evening was the signal for a hearty demonstration. The orchestra at once began to play the French national hymn, which was roundly applauded, the whole audience rising, and this was followed at once by the "Star Spangled Banner," which the Frenchmen applauded with a will. The program was made up entirely of selections by French authors, and was most interesting, several numbers being repeated in response to the demands of the audience. There were no ladies in the party, which was rather disappointing. Among the many occupying tables were Mr and Mrs Thomas Russell, Mrs George Stoddard, with other friends. Mrs Stoddard was in black veiling and lace with black hat, and Mrs Russell wore a lovely gown of pale gray crepe with embroidery and lace, and black hat with long black plume; Mr William H. Dunham, Dr William Wesselhoeft and Mr and Mrs Stephen H. Williams of Brookline.

Members of the Fren[illegible] Pop Concert by Ce[illegible]

There wa[illegible]sation at the Pop concert last evening when a number of representatives of the French delegation entered the hall shortly after 9, under the escort of Professor A. C. Coolidge of Harvard.

Earlier in the evening Professor Coolidge had presided at an elaborate dinner in honor of the visitors.

The delegates were the guests of the Cercle Francais of Harvard, and President A. C. Champollion was on hand to greet them and escort them to the nine tables reserved for their occupancy.

Mme. Cambon, the Comtesse de Rochambeau, and other French ladies did not appear.

As the distinguished visitors entered the hall Mr. Zach's men played the "Marseillaise," everyone standing meantime and applauding heartily at the close. "The Star Spangled Banner" followed, the French gentlemen joining in the general enthusiasm.

There were present Lieutenant-Colonel Meux St. Marc, Lieutenant-Colonel Hermite, M. L. Hermite, Count Lafayette, Viscount de Faramont, Captain Lasson, General Chalendar and Mr. Edwin Morgan, together with members of the Cercle Francais, made up of Mr. E. C. Edson, treasurer; Mr. Stanton, ex-president, and Mr. F. B. Thompson, secretary.

As is usual on holidays the audience was less fashionable than on other occasions, but there were a number of well known people present, among others Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell of Gloucester street, who were late arrivals, and en-

DATE May 29 1902.

FRENCH NIGHT AT "POPS."

The French society of Harvard University, "Le Cercle Francais," will entertain the visiting French delegation at the "Pops" in Symphony Hall tomorrow evening, for which occasion, Conductor Zach has arranged an appropriate programme. The selections to be rendered by the orchestra this evening are as follows:

March from suite No. 1 ..... Lachner
Waltz, "Donauweibchen" ..... Strauss
Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
Berceuse and intermezzo ..... Grace
Overture to "Egmont" ..... Beethoven
Waltz, "La Vague" ..... Metra
Selection, "Robin Hood" ..... De Koven
Selection, "La Belle Helene" ..... Offenbach
Hymn to St. Cecilia ..... Gounod
Violin obligato, Mr. Hoffmann.
Waltz, "In Shadowland" ..... Rollinson
(First time.)
March, "Poor Jonathan" ..... Millocker

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 1 1902.

and band concerts will be given.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The second half of the "pop" season at Symphony hall will open tomorrow evening with Mr Strube as conductor. The program is announced as follows:

March, Radetzky ..... Strauss
Overture, Oberon ..... Weber
Waltz, Morgenblatter ..... Strauss
Congress of Melodies ..... Conradi

Overture, Rienzi ..... Wagner
Das Abendrot, meditation (for strings) ..... Strube
Canzonetta (for strings) ..... Strube
Carmen, selection ..... Bizet
Czardas, Der Geist des Wojewoden ..... Grossman
German March ..... Strube
Overture, Robinson Crusoe ..... Heberlein
Two German folk-songs .....
March, Wien bleibt Wien ..... Schrammel

At the "Pops" the French visitors were enthusiastically greeted, and there was great applause when the "Marseillaise" and the "Star-Spangled Banner" were played by the orchestra. A party of 11 occupied three boxes at the Tremont Theatre and enjoyed very much the performance of "The Prince of Pilsen."

The Bostonians, in "The Serenade" at the Boston, were also [illegible] elated by a party of [illegible]

[illegible]

[128]

Date MAY 24 1902.

At the pops during the week an unusually large number of pleasant parties were arranged. Among those present were Dr. Henry J. Bigelow, Mr. John Lodge, Mr. Roger Wolcott, Charles Jackson, Mr. Richard Heard, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, Miss Estelle Kimball, Mr. J. M. Sears, Dr. Jack, the Misses Saltonstall, Mr. A. C. Kimball, Mr. James T. Kelley.

Messrs. Thomas T. Prendergast and D. L. Prendergast of Roxbury are at Atlantic City, N. J.

6

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

FRENCHMEN AT THE "POPS."

Given a Rousing Reception—Orchestra Plays "The Marseilles" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The "P. O. P." sign on Symphony Hall stood for "Pictures of Paris," last night. The orchestral programme of 12 numbers was a wholesale concession to French genius in music. And the little company of guests who sat in the centre of the floor, made up of civilians of noble French lineage and distinguished officers of the French soldiery, gave the impression that the Athens of America had annexed a little bit of "La Belle France."

Conductor Zach had played through two-thirds of the programme and the orchestra was off stage during the second intermission, when the notables, who arose late from dinner at the Somerset, made their appearance. By the time they had been ushered to their chairs, the musicians had gotten back. With a single baton flourish, the conductor drew from the big orchestra the first strains of the inspiring, undying French national air, "Le Marseillaise." Instantly, the guests were on their feet and the whole crowd—floor, balconies and all—were with them. America applauded heartily. France smiled, bowed and kept still. Then came "The Star Spangled Banner," and when it was through, France clapped hands long and lustily. All of which was a bit of typical Parisian etiquette in which France tactfully refrained from applauding its own composition, but gave the heartiest sort of a hand to America's.

Then the visitors sat down, drew their chairs up into an unbroken ring—a "Cercle Francais," so to say—and the class in French conversation began to recite.

Presently Adjt.-Gen. Dalton appeared, to pay his respects on behalf of the state and the Governor. But he only stepped up to the group and shook hands all around—a courtesy which was acknowledged by the lowest of diplomatic bows and the highest of diplomatic language—in French, of course. Then the general withdrew. As he stepped into the lobby he told a friend that only one of the visitors could speak English, and, as he hadn't had time to memorize the names and had forgotten his French, he'd decided that brevity was the soul of wit, and retired within the time limit.

All the visitors were men—which brought sore disappointment to the ladies, who had yearned for a close-range scrutiny of Worth modes and Parisian millinery—and all but one were in evening clothes. The exception was Capt. Lasson, who displayed quite a fulness of red trousering, a good breadth of epauletted shoulders, and a complete assortment of medals. Others of the guests were Count La Fayette, Viscount de Faramont, Gen. Chalander, Lieut.-Col. Meux St. Marc, Lieut.-Col. Hermite, Mr. L. Hermite and Mr. Edwin Morgan. From the Cercle Francais of Harvard, which entertained, were the president, M. Champollion; the former president, M. Stanton; E. C. Edson, treasurer, and F. B. Thompson, secretary. Prof. A. Coolidge of Harvard College and the society was in charge of the party.

As the programme progressed, the company became animated. Long, thin cigarettes were stuck into long, thin holders and lighted; ginger ale was ordered and drunk, and the gentlemen leaned back in their chairs and absorbed the masterpieces of Massonet and Saint-Saens, Berger and Lacome. They had arrived so late that these were the only things left "on the bill," although the whole programme had been culled from the works of French composers. The music was warmly applauded by every one of the visitors, and while Germany on the platform gave of its best effort, France, on the floor, applauded appreciatively, and there was international amity all around.

In short, the scene was suggestive of a "cafe chantant" or the "Jardin de Paris"—only there was no singing, a roof covered the hall, and the drinks were bland—which amounts to saying that it was very different.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXL, NO. 151.
SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1902.

Members of the French Delegation Entertained at Pop Concert by Cercle Francais of Harvard

There was a sensation at the Pop concert last evening when a number of representatives of the French delegation entered the hall shortly after 9, under the escort of Professor A. C. Coolidge of Harvard.

Earlier in the evening Professor Coolidge had presided at an elaborate dinner in honor of the visitors.

The delegates were the guests of the Cercle Francais of Harvard, and President A. C. Champollion was on hand to greet them and escort them to the nine tables reserved for their occupancy.

Mme. Cambon, the Comtesse de Rochambeau, and other French ladies did not appear.

As the distinguished visitors entered the hall Mr. Zach's men played the "Marseillaise," everyone standing meantime and applauding heartily at the close. "The Star Spangled Banner" followed, the French gentlemen joining in the general enthusiasm.

There were present Lieutenant-Colonel Meux St. Marc, Lieutenant-Colonel Hermite, M. L. Hermite, Count Lafayette, Viscount de Faramont, Captain Lasson, General Chalendar and Mr. Edwin Morgan, together with members of the Cercle Francais, made up of Mr. E. C. Edson, treasurer; Mr. Stanton, ex-president, and Mr. F. B. Thompson, secretary.

As is usual on holidays the audience was less fashionable than on other occasions, but there were a number of well known people present, among others Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell of Gloucester street, who were late arrivals, and entertained friends. Mrs. Russell presented a very stylish appearance in her exquisitely fitting voile gown and picture hat, with which a fluffy neck ruche was worn. Mrs. George Stoddard was one of the handsome women who brought a large party. Mr. and Mrs. David H. Noyes and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Riley made up a party at one of the corner tables. Mrs. Noyes was richly attired in black silk, pailletted with jets and touches of white on the bodice. Mrs. Riley's gown was of palest gray with white front and applications of black and white. A toque of violets with crown of foliage blended prettily with the toilette.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall had with them a party of young people, including their daughters, Miss Marion Hall and Miss Gertrude Hall.

Tonight marks the last appearance this season of Max Zach as conductor, and Monday Mr. Gustav Strube will assume the leadership of the orchestra for the remaining four weeks.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 1 1902.

of flowers, all in the highest state of cultivation.

—Mr Joseph Peabody has returned from a visit to Washington and sailed yesterday for France. He will as usual pass July and August at Dinard.

—The Pop concerts seem if possible to increase in popularity as the season advances, and they are not only popular with residents of Boston and its vicinity, but with visiting strangers who are here always in large numbers at this season of the year. Every table was sold out early on Saturday evening a week ago, and all through the past week there have been large audiences. Mr and Mrs Kilby Page and Miss Page formed a party one evening, and Mrs Wirt Dexter, with some young girls, sat the same evening in the balcony. Mr and Mrs Ashton Rollins Willard also were in the balcony, and Mrs Curtis Guild Jr, with friends; Mr and Mrs G. G. Boardman of Brookline, with Mr Arthur Kennedy of Pittsburg, had a table one evening. On Monday night Mr and Mrs Leverett Tuckerman and Mr and Mrs Louis Curtis came together, Mrs Tuckerman wearing a costume of black and white india silk and blue chiffon hat with wreath of tiny pink roses. Mrs Curtis was in fawn colored crepe de chine and a yellow straw hat, with blue trimmings; Mrs Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball brought a large party of friends. Miss Kimball wore a becoming costume of black veiling, with insertion of black lace over white, and a black plumed hat. Mrs Charles Whitney came in from Milton with a party of friends, wearing a charming costume of black and white striped grenadine, with entredeux of black lace over white, and a black and white hat; in another party were Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell, Mrs Lowell in black and white silk and black lace hat adorned with lilies of the valley, and Miss Mollie Sargent in scarlet veiling and black plumed hat; Mr Fitz Henry Smith of Newbury st brought his sister, Miss Marian Smith, who wore a lovely gown of embroidered and tucked tussah silk and white chip hat, covered with white roses; Miss Hines of Worcester and Miss Marie L. Everett in black skirt, white satin bodice and black plumed hat; Mr John H. Holmes brought a party of 10, including his daughter, Mrs George Edmund Dwight, and Mr Dwight. Mrs J. B. Goodrich, her son, Mr Wallace Goodrich, Mr Clayton Johns and others formed a party about a table on Tuesday evening. Dr and Mrs Philip Coombs Knapp, Dr Frederic L. Jack and Mr Alexander Higginson were others noted the same evening.

—Mr and Mrs Francis I. Amory and their family of Commonwealth av went a few days ago to their summer home, the Pickman cottage, Beverly Cove.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBORO
BOSTON POST
CLIPPING FROM May
DATE

Members of the Fren
Pop Concert by Ce

There was a sensation at the Pop concert last evening when a number of representatives of the French delegation entered the hall shortly after 9, under the escort of Professor A. C. Coolidge of Harvard.

Earlier in the evening Professor Coolidge had presided at an elaborate dinner in honor of the visitors.

The delegates were the guests of the Cercle Francais of Harvard, and President A. C. Champollion was on hand to greet them and escort them to the nine tables reserved for their occupancy.

Mme. Cambon, the Comtesse de Rochambeau, and other French ladies did not appear.

As the distinguished visitors entered the hall Mr. Zach's men played the "Marseillaise," everyone standing meantime and applauding heartily at the close. "The Star Spangled Banner" followed, the French gentlemen joining in the general enthusiasm.

There were present Lieutenant-Colonel Meux St. Marc, Lieutenant-Colonel Hermite, M. L. Hermite, Count Lafayette, Viscount de Faramont, Captain Lasson, General Chalendar and Mr. Edwin Morgan, together with members of the Cercle Francais, made up of Mr. E. C. Edson, treasurer; Mr. Stanton, ex-president, and Mr. F. B. Thompson, secretary.

As is usual on holidays the audience was less fashionable than on other occasions, but there were a number of well known people present, among others Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell of Gloucester street, who were late arrivals, and en-

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBORO
BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
CLIPPING FROM June
DATE 1 1902.

—Mr Burge Harrison, the artist, of Plymouth and New York, with Mrs Harrison, sailed for Europe yesterday week, to spend the summer.

—The entrance of the visiting Frenchmen at the Pop concert Friday evening was the signal for a hearty demonstration. The orchestra at once began to play the French national hymn, which was roundly applauded, the whole audience rising, and this was followed at once by the "Star Spangled Banner," which the Frenchmen applauded with a will. The program was made up entirely of selections by French authors, and was most interesting, several numbers being repeated in response to the demands of the audience. There were no ladies in the party, which was rather disappointing. Among the many occupying tables were Mr and Mrs Thomas Russell, Mrs George Stoddard, with other friends. Mrs Stoddard was in black veiling and lace with black hat, and Mrs Russell wore a lovely gown of pale gray crepe with embroidery and lace, and black hat with long black plume; Mr William H. Dunham, Dr William Wesselhoeft and Mr and Mrs Stephen H. Williams of Brookline.

CLIPPING FROM
DATE 31 1902.

AT THEATRES AND THE "POPS"

Several Parties of Visitors Were Present at Amusement Places Last Evening

Frenchmen from the delegation now in town visited the Pop concert, the Tremont Theatre and the Boston Theatre last evening. Those who went to Symphony Hall were the guests of the Cercle Francais of Harvard, with Professor A. C. Coolidge, who had previously presided at a dinner in their honor, to act as guide. They took places during the intermission, but people who saw them stood up and applauded, and Director Max Zach hastily recalled his men and gave the "Marseillaise," after which, amid more applause, he gave "The Star Spangled Banner." A party of eleven, including several of the visitors, had three boxes at the performance of "The Prince of Pilsen" at the Tremont Theatre and, arriving shortly before ten o'clock, were at once recognized. In the party were M. Jules Cambon, French ambassador, and Mme. Cambon; General Brugère, Comte and Comtesse de Rochambeau, Captain and Mme. Vignal, Major Bertiliclot, Captain Filloueau, M. Renouard, M. Boeufre, third assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Pierce M. P. Curran and C. P. Lebon.

At the Boston Theatre proscenium boxes were reserved for the guests, who arrived a few moments later than did those at the Tremont Theatre. In box No. 1 were M. and Mme. de Margerie, M. Guillemin and Captain Pouilloue de St. Mars. M. de Billy, Baron de Breda and M. E. Lebon occupied box No. 5. They took their seats before the close of the second act of "The Serenade," and in time to enjoy a treat which had been especially arranged for them. It was the singing by W. H. MacDonald in French of the first portion of his serenade. That they thoroughly appreciated this recognition was obvious by their applause.

DATE May 31 1902.

FRENCH NIGHT AT "POPS."

The French society of Harvard University, "Le Cercle Francais," will entertain the visiting French delegation at the "Pops" in Symphony Hall tomorrow evening, for which occasion, Conductor Zach has arranged an appropriate programme. The selections to be rendered by the orchestra this evening are as follows:

March from suite No. 1 ..... Lachner
Waltz, "Donauweibchen" ..... Strauss
Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
Berceuse and intermezzo ..... Grace
Overture to "Egmont" ..... Beethoven
Waltz, "La Vague" ..... Metra
Selection, "Robin Hood" ..... De Koven
Selection, "La Belle Helene" ..... Offenbach
Hymn to St. Cecilia ..... Gounod
Violin obligato, Mr. Hoffmann.
Waltz, "In Shadowland" ..... Rollinson
(First time.)
March, "Poor Jonathan" ..... Milloecker

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 1 1902.

and band concerts will be given.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

The second half of the "pop" season at Symphony hall will open tomorrow evening with Mr Strube as conductor. The program is announced as follows:

March, Radetzky ..... Strauss
Overture, Oberon ..... Weber
Waltz, Morgenblatter ..... Strauss
Congress of Melodies ..... Conradi

Overture, Rienzi ..... Wagner
Das Abendrot, meditation (for strings) .. Strube
Canzonetta (for strings) ..... Strube
Carmen, selection ..... Bizet
Czardas, Der Geist des Wojewoden .. Grossman
German March ..... Strube
Overture, Robinson Crusoe ..... Heberlein
Two German folk-songs .....
March, Wien bleibt Wien ..... Schrammel

At the "Pops" the French visitors were enthusiastically greeted, and there was great applause when the "Marseillaise" and the "Star-Spangled Banner" were played by the orchestra. A party of 11 occupied three boxes at the Tremont Theatre and enjoyed very much the performance of "The Prince of Pilsen."

The Bostonians, in "The Serenade," at the Boston, were also highly appreciated by a party of the visitors.

The crack band from [illegible] will [illegible]

[128]

CLIPPING FROM New Times & Country
DATE 5/31/02

For the people who are remaining in town, there are the ever delightful "Pops," where every night a number of table parties, made up of prominent people, are sure to be present. The golf tournaments at the Country Club also provide amusement. Mrs. Charles S. Sargent, whose husband's place, "Holm Lea," in Brookline, is famous the world over for its extent, its high degree of cultivation and its floral beauty, is giving a series of three garden parties on successive Wednesdays, when all the fashionable people still in town and those from the suburbs are sure to meet each other.

* * *

BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
DATE June 3 1902.

GRAND NIGHT AT THE POPS.

Symphony Hall was well filled last evening with lovers of good music, who enjoy their drinks and harmonies mixed, and the program given proved one of the most satisfactory of this season's Pops. The orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube, whose "Das Abendrot," Meditation (for strings) and "Canzonetta" (for strings) were received with insistent applause.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 3 1902.

Promenade Concerts.

Gustave Strube last evening assumed the conductor's place at the "Pop" concert at Symphony hall, the usual mid-season change in leaders being made. Mr Strube has for several years catered to the musical taste of the patrons of the concerts during the latter half of the season, and last evening the audience gave him a cordial welcome. The program the conductor selected for his initial night was sufficiently varied to please all tastes, and included Strauss, Wagner, Weber and Bizet selections. Mr Strube gave three of his own compositions, "Das Abendrot," for strings, a "Canzonetta" and "German March."

The program this evening will be as follows:

March, King Karl.....Unrath
Overture, Raymond.....Thomas
Waltz, Bei uns z'Haus.....Strauss
Selection, Aida.....Verdi
Overture, Maritana.....Wallace
Ballet music, Queen of Sheba.....Goldmark
Solo violoncello,
Mr Josef Keller.
Evening song
Aubade Printaniere.....Lacombe
Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.....Liszt
Overture, Frau Meisterin.....Suppe
The Rosary.....Nevin
Tournament.....Nevin
Waltz, Amour et Printemps.....Waldteufel
March, Cruiser Harvard.....Strube

BOSTON COURIER
DATE May 31 1902.

South Plymouth.

—Monday evening, which marks the beginning of the second half of the pop concert season, will be something of a gala occasion, since it advents the appearance of Mr. Gustav Strube as conductor, and his many friends will be on hand to welcome him. Mr. Zach has acquitted himself to the general satisfaction of the public, and has made a great success of the concerts for which he has been responsible. The feature evening of the week will be Friday when Tufts night will be observed, and the students and graduates, with their young friends will be present. As Tufts night last year was the occasion when the hall was at its prettiest, owing to the profusion of light and lovely gowns, much is expected this season. There has been the usual splendid attendance all through the past week, and among the hundreds who have given table parties are Mr. Arthur Amory and Mr. Frederick Amory, Dr. and Mrs. George Francis, of Brookline, Mr. W. V. Thiefall, of Newton, Mrs. M. D. Alexander, Mr. D. C. Graves, Mrs. Curtis Guild, jr., Mr. Alfred Batchelder, Mr. and Mrs. H. Staples Potter, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mr. Richard F. Bolles, Dr. William P. Wesselhoeft, Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, Mr and Mrs. David H. Noyes, Mr. A. H. Armstrong, Mr. A. M. Hargraves, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, Mr and Mrs. George O. Currier, jr., Mr. L. L. H. Johnson, of Marlborough street, and Mr. Ralph Menard. One of the most attractive parties of Monday was that over which Mrs. Guy Lowell presided most gracefully. Mrs. Lowell was looking very handsome in a beautiful creation of black and white foulard, elaborately trimmed with white lace. She wore a large hat of black lace, with garniture of fine white flowers. That same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuckerman and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Curtis made up a party at one of the tables. Mrs. Tuckerman was beautifully attired in pale gray veiling, the bodice opening over a full front of white chiffon, and a gray chapeau, combined with pale blue in the trimmings. Mrs. Curtis was in foulard of white and black, and wore a very lovely hat of light blue chiffon, with pink roses. Nearby were Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball, with party of eight. The Kimballs are among the most loyal of the pop concert patrons. Mrs. Kimball was distinguished in black relieved with touches of white, and a small black toque, with pink roses, and Miss Kimball was particularly attractive in black point d'esprit. The gown was built over a foundation of black taffetas, and trimmed with horizontal bands of black insertion, over white. A black plume laden picture hat completed the en semble. Among those present Tuesday evening were Dr. Leon E. White, and his fiaace, Mrs. Patch, who were with a large party. Mrs. Patch was in thin black, with insertions and trimmings of lace, made over a foundation of white silk, and wore a flat white hat, with a large velvet bow of black. Mr and Mrs. Stephen Williams, of Brookline, entertained friends Tuesday evening, Mrs. Williams presenting a stylish appearance in satin foulard of the varying shades of tan, the ruffles edged with lace, and the bodice elaborately trimmed with white. Her hat was a flat affair of foliage, with white trimmings, and a large gray feather boa combined effectively with the toilette. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hall were noted at a centre table, with friends, their son, who recently graduated from Harvard being included in the group. Mrs. Hall was clad in black, and wore a white toque. Dr. J. B. Blake and family were in attendance last evening, Miss Jean E. Johnson being included in the group.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 1 1902.

The Pop concert Friday evening, although less fashionable than on other nights on account of the holiday having taken so many out of town, was made especially interesting by numbers of the French delegation who entered the hall shortly after nine. As the distinguished gentlemen entered Mr. Zach's men played "The Marseillaise," every one standing and applauding heartily at the end. When "The Star Spangled Banner" followed, the French guests returned the compliment with a will. Others there Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell of Gloucester, Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes [illegible] party. Mrs. Noyes wore an old [illegible] black gown, palletted with lace [illegible] with white chiffon and [illegible] and Mrs. Henry Hall were [illegible] with their daughters, Marion and [illegible]. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hooper of [illegible]

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 3 1902.

THE "POPS."

When the change of conductors comes in the "Pop" concert series, one feels as if spring might be believed to be over and summer to have come. And surely 'twas a genuine hot spell that fell upon the town yesterday, and even made its existence faintly known to the immense company at Symphony Hall, where Mr Strube took up the pen and the baton which Mr. Zach had laid down. The Symphony orchestra is fortunate in having a man or two who can replace its chief conductor in a moment of need, and several who are equal to arranging and directing programmes for the less formal but always first-class summer performances. Drawing from the same library, and using the same band, the two conductors cannot present entirely different entertainments; but each can make his individuality felt. Mr. Strube began his four-weeks' course as follows:

March, "Radetsky".....Strauss
Overture, "Oberon".....Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Congress of melodies.....Conradi
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
(a) "Das Morgenroth," "Meditation" (for strings).....Strube
(b) Canzonetta (for strings).....Strube
(First time.)
"Carmen," selection.....Bizet
Czardas, "Die Geist des Wojewoden".....Grossman
German march.....Strube
Two German folk-songs.....
Waltz, "Les Patineurs".....Waldteufel
March, "Wien bleibt Wien".....Schrammel

Having a certain approved position as a composer, Mr. Strube quietly slipped some pages from his portfolio upon the music stand. And charming pages they were—clear, pleasant and sympathetic, without an atom of the cloudy, perturbed mysticism which has been known to confuse and benumb some of his writings for loftier occasions. He was happily received and his excellent direction was duly praised. He has another good programme for tonight, with a 'cello solo for Mr. Keller, the first hearing of Nevin's "Tournament," and a march of his own.

MME. EDWARDS' RECITAL.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 1 1902.

On Monday night at the Pop concerts Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuckerman and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Curtis made a table party. Mrs. Tuckerman was in gray veiling with white chiffon and lace and a gray chiffon toque with touches of blue. Mrs. Curtis wore black and white silk and a toque of light blue with small pink roses. Mrs. Guy Lowell brought a party of young people that evening. Mrs. Lowell, always smartly gowned, was in black and white foulard with white silk yoke and a hat of black lace with valley lilies. Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball had a party of eight. Mrs. Kimball was in black silk and her hat had pink roses. Miss Kimball wore black taffeta with a full overdress of black net with black insertions over white, and a black picture hat. Dr. Leon White and his fiance, Mrs. G. M. Patch, brought a party of 10 Tuesday night. Wednesday night table parties were given by Dr and Mrs. George H. Francis, Mrs. Curtis H. Guild, Jr., Mr. Frederick Amory, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mr. Alfred Batchelder and Mr. H. Alexander Higginson. On Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Williams brought a party, also Mr. Richard F. Bolles and Dr. Thomas Hall. Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow and Dr. William P. Wesselhoeft were there with friends. Last night for Mr. Zach's last appearance there was special recognition of his successful leadership, and he was obliged to bow many times in response to the applause. Mr. Zach's programmes have been most satisfactory.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 1 1902.

the reputation of being among the best-dressed.

In spite of the lateness of the season various other playhouse attractions and the Pops. "The Messenger Boy" has packed the Hollis Street Theatre every night, and the two holiday performances Friday were record breakers. It is easy to understand the enormous popularity of this musical comedy. It goes with such a rush and dash and vim as to take one's breath away. The tunes are catchy, and the songs well sung by not only good singers, but good actors. Mr. Powers is a whole play in himself. His humor, his jollity, and his versatility are inexhaustible, and so are his legs, for he seems not to be still a moment, and his dancing is perfect in its way. The beauty of Mr. Powers's art is that it isn't the least forced. He doesn't seem to be trying to be funny a little bit. It is absolutely spontaneous. One would never think that Miss Robson was an exceedingly pretty women from her make-up as the messenger boy's mother. She has a positive genius for disguising herself, and is never happier than when playing in a character part such as she does so ideally in "The Messenger Boy." What a stroke of genius are her black corsets showing through the white muslin gown in the washerwoman's dress. We didn't suppose that Miss Robson with all her consummate art could dance and sing with the effect she does. Her admirers are seeing her for the first time in those specialties, and they are winning new laurels for her. The chorus is made up of remarkably pretty, well dressed, well set-up girls and the stage setting is quite splendid, especially the last with the Eiffel tower brilliantly lighted giving one the correct atmosphere of that portion of Paris at night. Last evening Harvard College was especially in evidence after the games, and Powers, incited by such an audience, was funnier than ever. For this, the last week of "The Messenger Boy," there is a great advance sale.

Miss Mannering and Mr. Bellew in "The Lady of Lyons" were welcomed

BOSTON TIMES
DATE May 31 1902.

The "Pop" Concerts.

Notwithstanding the cool weather of the past week there has been a good attendance at the "Pop" concerts in Symphony hall. Every evening a fine programme has been offered by Conductor Zach, and judging by the hearty applause the public have been highly pleased. The second half of the series commences on Monday evening, and Mr. Gustav Strube will be the conductor. He is very popular, and is sure of a cordial welcome. The following is Monday's programme: March, "Radetzky," Strauss; overture, "Oberon," Weber; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Strauss; congress of melodies, Conradi; overture "Rienzi," Wagner; Das Morgenroth, Meditation (for strings), Strube; Canzonetta (for strings), Strube; Carmen, selection, Bizet; Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden," Grossman; German march, Strube; two German folk-songs; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; march, "Wien bleibt Wien," Schrammel.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIP BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
DATE June 1 1902.

"THE POPS."

The concert at Symphony Hall last evening ended the first half of the regular summer season of "Pop" concerts, and was also the last night at which Mr. Zach conducted the orchestra. Every seat on the main floor was occupied, which made a very animated scene. Conductor Zach has been very highly praised for the excellent programs which he has rendered. Mr. Gustav Strube, who will conduct the orchestra for the remainder of the season, is no stranger to the patrons of these concerts, and his many friends are anticipating the next four weeks with much pleasure. One of the most enjoyable concerts of last year was the concert at which Tufts College and the many friends of this popular institution were present. The success of this concert has led to a repetition this year, and the night has been appointed for Friday, June 6. The program in full for tomorrow (Monday) evening is as follows:

March, "Radetzky".....Strauss
Overture, "Oberon".....Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Congress of Melodies.....Conradi
Wagner

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
DATE May 31 1902.

The delightful Pop Concerts continue to attract large numbers of people to Symphony Hall each evening. The music is sufficiently popular in character to be adapted to the season, while the execution is up to the Symphony standard, than which nothing in America can go higher. Mr. Max Zach is a conductor of excellent taste and marked ability, and quite as popular as all else appertaining to the well named "Pops."

[129]

CLIPPING FROM My Town & Country
DATE 5/31/02

For the people who are remaining in town, there are the ever delightful "Pops," where every night a number of table parties, made up of prominent people, are sure to be present. The golf tournaments at the Country Club also provide amusement. Mrs. Charles S. Sargent, whose husband's place, "Holm Lea," in Brookline, is famous the world over for its extent, its high degree of cultivation and its floral beauty, is giving a series of three garden parties on successive Wednesdays, when all the fashionable people still in town and those from the suburbs are sure to meet each other.

* * *

BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
DATE 1902.

GRAND NIGHT AT THE POPS.

Symphony Hall was well filled last evening with lovers of good music, who enjoy their drinks and harmonies mixed, and the program given proved one of the most satisfactory of this season's Pops. The orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube, whose "Das Abendrot," Meditation (for strings) and "Canzonetta" (for strings) were received with insistent applause.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 1902.

Promenade Concerts.

Gustave Strube last evening assumed the conductor's place at the "Pop" concert at Symphony hall, the usual mid-season change in leaders being made. Mr Strube has for several years catered to the musical taste of the patrons of the concerts during the latter half of the season, and last evening the audience gave him a cordial welcome. The program the conductor selected for his initial night was sufficiently varied to please all tastes, and included Strauss, Wagner, Weber and Bizet selections. Mr Strube gave three of his own compositions, "Das Abendrot," for strings, a "Canzonetta" and "German March."

The program this evening will be as follows:

March, King Karl.....Unrath
Overture, Raymond.....Thomas
Waltz, Bei uns z'Haus.....Strauss
Selection, Aida.....Verdi
Overture, Maritana.....Wallace
Ballet music, Queen of Sheba.....Goldmark
Solo violoncello,
Mr Josef Keller.
Evening song
Aubade Printaniere.....Lacombe
Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.....Liszt
Overture, Frau Meisterin.....Suppe
The Rosary.....Nevin
Tournament.....Nevin
Waltz, Amour et Printemps.....Waldteufel
March, Cruiser Harvard.....Strube

BOSTON COURIER
DATE May 31 1902.

South Plymouth.

—Monday evening, which marks the beginning of the second half of the pop concert season, will be something of a gala occasion, since it advents the appearance of Mr. Gustav Strube as conductor, and his many friends will be on hand to welcome him. Mr. Zach has acquitted himself to the general satisfaction of the public, and has made a great success of the concerts for which he has been responsible. The feature evening of the week will be Friday when Tufts night will be observed, and the students and graduates, with their young friends will be present. As Tufts night last year was the occasion when the hall was at its prettiest, owing to the profusion of light and lovely gowns, much is expected this season. There has been the usual splendid attendance all through the past week, and among the hundreds who have given table parties are Mr. Arthur Amory and Mr. Frederick Amory, Dr. and Mrs. George Francis, of Brookline, Mr. W. V. Threfall, of Newton, Mrs. M. D. Alexander, Mr. D. C. Graves, Mrs. Curtis Guild, jr., Mr. Alfred Batchelder, Mr. and Mrs. H. Staples Potter, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mr. Richard F. Bolles, Dr. William P. Wesselhoeft, Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, Mr and Mrs. David H. Noyes, Mr. A. H. Armstrong, Mr. A. M. Hargraves, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, Mr and Mrs. George O. Currier, jr., Mr. L. L. H. Johnson, of Marlborough street, and Mr. Ralph Menard. One of the most attractive parties of Monday was that over which Mrs. Guy Lowell presided most gracefully. Mrs. Lowell was looking very handsome in a beautiful creation of black and white foulard, elaborately trimmed with white lace. She wore a large hat of black lace, with garniture of fine white flowers. That same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuckerman and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Curtis made up a party at one of the tables. Mrs. Tuckerman was beautifully attired in pale gray veiling, the bodice opening over a full front of white chiffon, and a gray chapeau, combined with pale blue in the trimmings. Mrs. Curtis was in foulard of white and black, and wore a very lovely hat of light blue chiffon, with pink roses. Nearby were Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball, with party of eight. The Kimballs are among the most loyal of the pop concert patrons. Mrs. Kimball was distinguished in black relieved with touches of white, and a small black toque, with pink roses, and Miss Kimball was particularly attractive in black point d'esprit. The gown was built over a foundation of black taffetas, and trimmed with horizontal bands of black insertion, over white. A black plume laden picture hat completed the en semble. Among those present Tuesday evening were Dr. Leon E. White, and his fiance, Mrs. Patch, who were with a large party. Mrs. Patch was in thin black, with insertions and trimmings of lace, made over a foundation of white silk, and wore a flat white hat, with a large velvet bow of black. Mr and Mrs. Stephen Williams, of Brookline, entertained friends Tuesday evening, Mrs. Williams presenting a stylish appearance in satin foulard of the varying shades of tan, the ruffles edged with lace, and the bodice elaborately trimmed with white. Her hat was a flat affair of foliage, with white trimmings, and a large gray feather boa combined effectively with the toilette. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hall were noted at a centre table, with friends, their son, who recently graduated from Harvard being included in the group. Mrs. Hall was clad in black, and wore a white toque. Dr. J. B. Blake and family were in attendance last evening, Miss Jean E. Johnson being included in the group.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 1 1902.

The Pop concert Friday evening, although less fashionable than on other nights on account of the holiday having taken so many out of town, was made especially interesting by numbers of the French delegation who entered the hall shortly after nine. As the distinguished gentlemen entered Mr. Zach's men played "The Marseillaise," every one standing and applauding heartily at the end. When "The Star Spangled Banner" followed, the French guests returned the compliment with a will. Others there Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell of Gloucester street, and Mr. and Mrs. David Noyes with a party. Mrs. Noyes wore an exquisite black gown, pailletted with jets and brightened with white chiffon and lace. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall were there with their daughters, Marion and Gertrude.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hooper of

THE "POPS."

When the change of conductors comes in the "Pop" concert series, one feels as if spring might be believed to be over and summer to have come. And surely 'twas a genuine hot spell that fell upon the town yesterday, and even made its existence faintly known to the immense company at Symphony Hall, where Mr Strube took up the pen and the bator which Mr. Zach had laid down. The Symphony orchestra is fortunate in having a man or two who can replace its chief conductor in a moment of need, and several who are equal to arranging and directing programmes for the less formal but always first-class summer performances. Drawing from the same library, and using the same band, the two conductors cannot present entirely different entertainments; but each can make his individuality felt. Mr. Strube began his four-weeks' course as follows:

March, "Radetsky".....Strauss
Overture, "Oberon".....Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Congress of melodies.....Conradi
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
(a) "Das Morgenroth," "Meditation" (for strings).....Strube
(b) Canzonetta (for strings).....Strube
(First time.)
"Carmen," selection.....Bizet
Czardas, "Die Geist des Wojewoden".....Grossman
German march.....Strube
Two German folk-songs.....
Waltz, "Les Patineurs".....Waldteufel
March, "Wien bleibt Wien".....Schrammel

Having a certain approved position as a composer, Mr. Strube quietly slipped some pages from his portfolio upon the music stand. And charming pages they were—clear, pleasant and sympathetic, without an atom of the cloudy, perturbed mysticism which has been known to confuse and benumb some of his writings for loftier occasions. He was happily received and his excellent direction was duly praised. He has another good programme for tonight, with a 'cello solo for Mr. Keller, the first hearing of Nevin's "Tournament," and a march of his own.

MME EDWARDS' RECITAL.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 1 1902.

On Monday night at the Pop concerts Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuckerman and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Curtis made a table party. Mrs. Tuckerman was in gray veiling with white chiffon and lace and a gray chiffon toque with touches of blue. Mrs. Curtis wore black and white silk and a toque of light blue with small pink roses. Mrs. Guy Lowell brought a party of young people that evening. Mrs. Lowell, always smartly gowned, was in black and white foulard with white silk yoke and a hat of black lace with valley lilies. Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball had a party of eight. Mrs. Kimball was in black silk and her hat had pink roses. Miss Kimball wore black taffeta with a full overdress of black net with black insertions over white, and a black picture hat. Dr. Leon White and his fiance, Mrs. G. M. Patch, brought a party of 10 Tuesday night. Wednesday night table parties were given by Dr and Mrs. George H. Francis, Mrs. Curtis H. Guild, Jr., Mr. Frederick Amory, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mr. Alfred Batchelder and Mr. H. Alexander Higginson. On Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Williams brought a party, also Mr. Richard F. Bolles and Dr. Thomas Hall. Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow and Dr. William P. Wesselhoeft were there with friends. Last night for Mr. Zach's last appearance there was special recognition of his successful leadership, and he was obliged to bow many times in response to the applause. Mr. Zach's programmes have been most satisfactory.

BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 1 1902.

the best dressed.

In spite of the lateness of the season various other playhouse attractions and the Pops. "The Messenger Boy" has packed the Hollis Street Theatre every night, and the two holiday performances Friday were record breakers. It is easy to understand the enormous popularity of this musical comedy. It goes with such a rush and dash and vim as to take one's breath away. The tunes are catchy, and the songs well sung by not only good singers, but good actors. Mr. Powers is a whole play in himself. His humor, his jollity, and his versatility are inexhaustible, and so are his legs, for he seems not to be still a moment, and his dancing is perfect in its way. The beauty of Mr. Powers's art is that it isn't the least forced. He doesn't seem to be trying to be funny a little bit. It is absolutely spontaneous. One would never think that Miss Robson was an exceedingly pretty women from her make-up as the messenger boy's mother. She has a positive genius for disguising herself, and is never happier than when playing in a character part such as she does so ideally in "The Messenger Boy." What a stroke of genius are her black corsets showing through the white muslin gown in the washerwoman's dress. We didn't suppose that Miss Robson with all her consummate art could dance and sing with the effect she does. Her admirers are seeing her for the first time in those specialties, and they are winning new laurels for her. The chorus is made up of remarkably pretty, well dressed, well set-up girls and the stage setting is quite splendid, especially the last with the Eiffel tower brilliantly lighted giving one the correct atmosphere of that portion of Paris at night. Last evening Harvard College was especially in evidence after the games, and Powers, incited by such an audience, was funnier than ever. For this, the last week of "The Messenger Boy," there is a great advance sale.

Miss Mannering and Mr. Bellew in "The Lady of Lyons" were welcomed

BOSTON TIMES
DATE May 31 1902.

The "Pop" Concerts.

Notwithstanding the cool weather of the past week there has been a good attendance at the "Pop" concerts in Symphony hall. Every evening a fine programme has been offered by Conductor Zach, and judging by the hearty applause the public have been highly pleased. The second half of the series commences on Monday evening, and Mr. Gustav Strube will be the conductor. He is very popular, and is sure of a cordial welcome. The following is Monday's programme: March, "Radetzky," Strauss; overture, "Oberon," Weber; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Strauss; congress of melodies, Conradi; overture "Rienzi," Wagner; Das Morgenroth, Meditation (for strings), Strube; Canzonetta (for strings), Strube; Carmen, selection, Bizet; Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden," Grossman; German march, Strube; two German folk-songs; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; march, "Wien bleibt Wien," Schrammel.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL
June 1 1902.

"THE POPS."

The concert at Symphony Hall last evening ended the first half of the regular summer season of "Pop" concerts, and was also the last night at which Mr. Zach conducted the orchestra. Every seat on the main floor was occupied, which made a very animated scene. Conductor Zach has been very highly praised for the excellent programs which he has rendered. Mr. Gustav Strube, who will conduct the orchestra for the remainder of the season, is no stranger to the patrons of these concerts, and his many friends are anticipating the next four weeks with much pleasure. One of the most enjoyable concerts of last year was the concert at which Tufts College and the many friends of this popular institution were present. The success of this concert has led to a repetition this year, and the night has been appointed for Friday, June 6. The program in full for tomorrow (Monday) evening is as follows:

March, "Radetzky".....Strauss
Overture, "Oberon".....Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Strauss
Congress of Melodies.....Conradi
Wagner

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL
DATE May 31 1902.

The delightful Pop Concerts continue to attract large numbers of people to Symphony Hall each evening. The music is sufficiently popular in character to be adapted to the season, while the execution is up to the Symphony standard, than which nothing in America can go higher. Mr. Max Zach is a conductor of excellent taste and marked ability, and quite as popular as all else appertaining to the well named "Pops."

[129]

DATE June 1 1902.

The "Pops"

The concert at Symphony Hall last evening ended the first half of the regular summer season of "Pop" concerts and was also the last night at which Mr. Zach conducted the orchestra. Every seat on the main floor was occupied, which made a very animated scene. Conductor Zach has been very highly praised for the excellent programmes which he has rendered. Mr. Gustav Strube, who will conduct the orchestra for the remainder of the season, is no stranger to the patrons of these concerts, and his many friends are anticipating the next four weeks with much pleasure. One of the most enjoyable concerts of last year was the first "Tufts" night at these concerts, at which the many friends of this popular college were present. Their second concert will be given next Friday evening, June 6. Mr. Strube has selected for his opening programme tomorrow (Monday) evening the following programme:

March, "Radetzky" ..... Strauss
Overture, "Oberon" ..... Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter" ..... Strauss
Congress of melodies ..... Conradi
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
a. Das Abendrot, meditation (for strings) ..... Strube
b. Canzonetta ..... Strube
Carmen, selection ..... Bizet
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" ..... Grossman
German March ..... Strube
Overture, "Robinson Crusoe" ..... Heberlein
Two German Folk-Songs.
March, "Wien bleibt Wien" ..... Schrammel

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping from Gazette Boston
Date 5-31-02

be given next Wednesday on the lawn in front of the clubhouse by the Salem Cadet Band.

—On Saturday night Mr. Max Zach will end the very successful first half of the Pop concerts. For the remainder of the season the orchestra will be under the able direction of Mr. Strube.

—One of the earliest June brides will be Miss Mabel Chipman, daughter of Mr. W. H. Chipman of Moreland street, Roxbury, who is to marry Dr. Low of Salem. Miss Chipman is a brunette with

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping from Commercial Bulletin Boston Mass
Date 5/31/02.

Pop Concerts.

The season of concerts at Symphony Hall continues under the most auspicious circumstances, the hall being filled every night with delighted audiences. Professor Zach has made himself very popular with the public, the programmes he has offered always meeting with their hearty approval. Under his leadership the concerts will continue throughout the month of June, and will remain one of the leading attractions of the season.

Clipping from Boston Evening Transcript
Date June 3 1902.

Symphony Hall: The Pops

Under Mr. Strube's leadership the following programme was presented last night by the Symphony Orchestra:

March, "Radetzky" ..... Strauss
Overture, "Oberon" ..... Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter" ..... Strauss
Congress of Melodies ..... Conradi
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
a Das Abendrot, Meditation (for strings) ..... Strube
b Canzonetta (for strings) ..... Strube
Carmen, Selection ..... Bizet
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" ..... Grossman
German March ..... Strube
Overture, "Robinson Crusoe" ..... Heberlein
Two German Folk-Songs.
March, "Wien bleibt Wien" ..... Schrammel

The concert was of the usual order of excellence and all the selections were warmly applauded, Mr. Strube's "Canzonetta," given for the first time, receiving an extra meed of well-deserved appreciation. The two intermissions now given and the leisurely "waits" make the time of the concert rather too long, so that many of the audience left at the end of the Czardas.

Continued Local Attractions

DATE BOSTON POST June 3 1902.

The Pop Concerts

Time moves so swiftly that one scarcely realizes that the season of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall is drawing towards its close but such is nevertheless the fact, for last evening marked the beginning of the fifth week and the last half of the season. Gustav Strube assumed the leadership of the orchestra on this occasion, which duties he will continue to perform until the close of these concerts.

The programme that Conductor Strube offered was an attractive one, which included a pleasing variety from such numbers as the "Oberon" and "Rienzi" overtures, the well-known selections from "Carmen" to the usual light order of marches, waltzes, and the like. Mr. Strube, as composer, contributed three of the numbers, two of them being heard for the first time. They were a "Meditation" and "Conzonetta" for string orchestra, both of them being brief in length, admirably scored and pleasing in their effects while not especially original in conception. Both of these numbers were received with much applause, and Mr. Strube was the recipient of an elaborate floral tribute from members of the German Turnverein, represented by Christian Eberhard, who occupied several of the front tables near the orchestra.

There was a fair sized audience present, most of the tables being occupied with numbers noticed in the balconies. Altogether the last half of the season opens auspiciously. Friday evening, June 6, will be Tufts night; Monday, June 9, a Wagner night, and Tuesday, June 10, will be "Tech" night, and lively times are sure to be on both these college evenings.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping from Tower & Country New York Herald
Date 5-31-02

For the people who are remaining in to are the ever delightful "Pops," where ever number of table parties, made up of prominei are sure to be present. The golf tournamei
Country Club also provide amusement. Mrs
S. Sargent, whose husband's place, "Holm
Brookline, is famous the world over for its e high degree of cultivation and its floral b giving a series of three garden parties on su
Wednesdays, when all the fashionable peopl town and those from the suburbs are sure each other.

POST, SATURDAY, JUNE 7,

TUFTS NIGHT AT THE POPS

Students Make Merry and Special Programme Is Arranged in Their Honor

When Gustav Strube, conductor of the "Pops," bowed his thanks for applause at Symphony Hall last evening, it was a Tufts cheer that he was acknowledging, and it was a Tufts audience that surged before him. The beautiful hall has rarely, if ever, been the scene of a larger or more brilliant assemblage than marked this second annual "Tufts night," when President Capen's "boys," past and present, came to town to make merry to the accompaniment of the Symphony's music set to their own particular college airs, the orchestration having been arranged by two Tufts graduates, N. Ingells, '00, and W. A. Willis, '01.

Such space as was not occupied by the collegians themselves was claimed by society folk, who seem always to be out in special force on these college nights.

Harvard also sent over a goodly delegation to help out their fellow-collegians in the choruses which were sung whenever opportunity offered.

The Tufts colors of brown and blue were conspicuously displayed at the tables and upon the organ, and the demand for encores was so vociferous that even the musicians in the orchestra beamed at the noisy appreciation.

"It is one of the prettiest and most enthusiastic of the special events I have known at the 'Pops'," quoth Assistant Manager Comee; and, as a sort of responsive echo, there came the sound of the Tufts cheer given with a will for the management, for John P. Marshall, the student organist who assisted the orchestra, for the director and for the pretty girls and showily attired matrons, to which the latter responded with fluttering handkerchiefs and sunny smiles.

The orchestral selections were so arranged on the programme as to cleverly produce an acrostic, "Tufts College."

Boston Daily Globe SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1902.

IT WAS TUFTS NIGHT

Most Enthusiastic Occasion at the "Pop" Concert.

Spirit of Comradeship Given the Heartiest Kind of Emphasis.

Large Part of the Audience Joined in Singing the Stein Song.

The spirit of comradeship among Tufts college men—and women, too, for that matter—found emphatic expression last evening in connection with the observance of Tufts night at the "pop" concert.

Symphony hall was crowded both as to floor and balcony, the greater part of the women graduates and students occupying the balcony, while the undergraduate body was largely represented by a group located directly in front of the stage, where they might cheer about everything and everybody as occasion might require, with the best possible spectacular effect, for the benefit of the rest of the audience.

The orchestra did itself proud, under the baton of Gustav Strube, and the program, especially selected, of course with a view to appropriateness, was one of the finest of the season and kept the enthusiasm of the auditors keyed up to such a pitch that at least three-fourths of the numbers were encored one or more times.

The most notable, as well as the most popular numbers proved to be—and unmistakably on their merits as compositions alone—four selections having a special association, two of them being compositions of Leo R. Lewis, musical professor at the college.

A third, given on the program as "The Gym, a Two-Step," was apparently a cakewalk of extraordinary tunefulness and brilliancy. It was accredited to C. H. Rich, but as the rendition of it was followed by enthusiastic cheering for "Mrs Leo," it was made pretty plain that the name on the program was simply a pseudonym for Prof Lewis' accomplished wife.

The two compositions by the professor himself were, first, his class song of '87, called "For Tufts, Hurrah!" which had a most extraordinary swing and was full of melody, and fully justified its revival after a lapse of 15 years; second, the same composers "Dear Old Alma Mater," a hymn of a very high order.

As its strains rolled out in a grand swell, from both the orchestra and the big organ, the volume of melodious sound almost making the walls to tremble, the great audience was deeply moved, and rose almost in a body, in a spirit of instinctive homage to the sentiment expressed by the piece.

The greatest demonstration of the evening, however, attended the rendering by the orchestra of Bullard's "Stein Song," the air of which has been adopted by Tufts as a campus song. It was given with remarkable grandeur of effect by the musicians, a large part of the audience joining in singing the chorus. It was followed by a great outburst of cheering and received two irresistible encores.

Other Tufts airs rendered during the evening were: E. W. Newton's "Brown and the Blue," "The Barnum Song" and "Charlie Tufts, His College."

An attractive novelty in connection with the program was that the selections comprising it were such that the first letters of the successive titles, read downward, formed the name: "Tufts College" in an acrostic.

The only special decorations consisted of the word "Tufts" in electric lights of the college colors, and crimped paper napkins also of the same colors—blue and brown—on all the tables.

Although this is only the second year Tufts has had a special night at the "pops," it was the biggest and most joyous kind of a success, for which fact no small amount of credit is due to Prof Lewis, who both last year and this took on himself a large part of the labor incident to creating a genuine enthusiasm for the affair among Tufts "grads" wherever they could be got at.

Here are a few names from among the notable people seen on the floor: Profs C. P. Thayer, Leo R. Lewis, G. M. Harmon, H. E. Cushman, L. D. Evans, D. L. Maulsby and W. R. Ransom, Drs F. W. Hamilton, C. K. Cutler, E. A. Burnham, F. O. Hall, G. A. Webster, George W. Kaan, J. C. D. Clark and Joseph H. Sanderson, Messrs Byron Groce, W. L. Crosby, M. M. Johnson, E. W. Newton, D. T. Montague, H. W. Hayes, Wade Keyes, F. L. Hull, C. M. Ludden, A. W. de Goosh, T. O. Marvin, J. B. Groce.

Horace E. Runey Arrested.

[130]

DATE June 1 1902.

The "Pops"

The concert at Symphony Hall last evening ended the first half of the regular summer season of "Pop" concerts and was also the last night at which Mr. Zach conducted the orchestra. Every seat on the main floor was occupied, which made a very animated scene. Conductor Zach has been very highly praised for the excellent programmes which he has rendered. Mr. Gustav Strube, who will conduct the orchestra for the remainder of the season, is no stranger to the patrons of these concerts, and his many friends are anticipating the next four weeks with much pleasure. One of the most enjoyable concerts of last year was the first "Tufts" night at these concerts, at which the many friends of this popular college were present. Their second concert will be given next Friday evening, June 6. Mr. Strube has selected for his opening programme tomorrow (Monday) evening the following programme:

March, "Radetzky" ..... Strauss
Overture, "Oberon" ..... Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblatter" ..... Strauss
Congress of melodies ..... Conradi
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
a. Das Abendrot, meditation (for strings) ..... Strube
b. Canzonetta ..... Strube
Carmen, selection ..... Bizet
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" ..... Grossman
German March ..... Strube
Overture, "Robinson Crusoe" ... Heberlein
Two German Folk-Songs.
March, "Wien bleibt Wien" .... Schrammel

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping From Gazette Boston, Mass
Date 5-31-02

... be given next Wednesday on the lawn in front of the clubhouse by the Salem Cadet Band.

—On Saturday night Mr. Max Zach will end the very successful first half of the Pop concerts. For the remainder of the season the orchestra will be under the able direction of Mr. Strube.

—One of the earliest June brides wil be Miss Mabel Chipman, daughter of Mr. W. H. Chipman of Moreland street, Roxbury, who is to marry Dr. Low of Salem. Miss Chipman is a brunette with

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping From Commercial Bulletin Boston Mass
Date 5/31/02.

DATE BOSTON POST June 3 1902.

The "Pop" Concerts

Time moves so swiftly that one scarcely realizes that the season of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall is drawing towards its close but such is nevertheless the fact, for last evening marked the beginning of the fifth week and the last half of the season. Gustav Strube assumed the leadership of the orchestra on this occasion, which duties he will continue to perform until the close of these concerts.

The programme that Conductor Strube offered was an attractive one, which included a pleasing variety from such numbers as the "Oberon" and "Rienzi" overtures, the well-known selections from "Carmen" to the usual light order of marches, waltzes, and the like. Mr. Strube, as composer, contributed three of the numbers, two of them being heard for the first time. They were a "Meditation" and "Conzonetta" for string orchestra, both of them being brief in length, admirably scored and pleasing in their effects while not especially original in conception. Both of these numbers were received with much applause, and Mr. Strube was the recipient of an elaborate floral tribute from members of the German Turnverein, represented by Christian Eberhard, who occupied several of the front tables near the orchestra.

There was a fair sized audience present, most of the tables being occupied with numbers noticed in the balconies. Altogether the last half of the season opens auspiciously. Friday evening, June 6, will be Tufts night; Monday, June 9, a Wagner night, and Tuesday, June 10, will be "Tech" night, and lively times are sure to be on both these college evenings.

Pop Concerts.

The season of concerts at Symphony Hall continues under the most auspicious circumstances, the hall being filled every night with delighted audiences. Professor Zach has made himself very popular with the public, the programmes he has offered always meeting with their hearty approval. Under his leadership the concerts will continue throughout the month of June, and will remain one of the leading attractions of the season.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping From Commercial Bulletin Boston Mass
Date 5/31/02.

CLIPPING FROM ... Herald
DATE

Symphony Hall: The Pops

Under Mr. Strube's leadership the following programme was presented last night by the Symphony Orchestra:

March, "Radetzky" ..... Strauss
Overture, "Oberon" ..... Weber
Waltz, "Morgenblätter" ..... Strauss
Congress of Melodies ..... Conradi
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
a Das Abendrot, Meditation (for strings) .. Strube
b Canzonetta (for strings) ..... Strube
Carmen, Selection ..... Bizet
Czardas, "Der Geist des Wojewoden" .. Grossman
German March ..... Strube
Overture, "Robinson Crusoe" ..... Heberlein
Two German Folk-Songs.
March, "Wien bleibt Wien" ..... Schrammel

The concert was of the usual order of excellence and all the selections were warmly applauded, Mr. Strube's "Canzonetta," given for the first time, receiving an extra meed of well-deserved appreciation. The two intermissions now given and the leisurely "waits" make the time of the concert rather too long, so that many of the audience left at the end of the Czardas.

Continued Local Alm...

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipbureau
Clipping From Town & Country New York Century
Date 5-31-02

For the people who are remaining in to are the ever delightful "Pops," where ever number of table parties, made up of prominei are sure to be present. The golf tournamei Country Club also provide amusement. Mrs S. Sargent, whose husband's place, "Holm Brookline, is famous the world over for its e high degree of cultivation and its floral b giving a series of three garden parties on su Wednesdays, when all the fashionable peopl town and those from the suburbs are sure each other.

POST, SATURDAY, JUNE 7,

TUFTS NIGHT AT THE POPS

Students Make Merry and Special Programme Is Arranged in Their Honor

When Gustav Strube, conductor of the "Pops," bowed his thanks for applause at Symphony Hall last evening, it was a Tufts cheer that he was acknowledging, and it was a Tufts audience that surged before him. The beautiful hall has rarely, if ever, been the scene of a larger or more brilliant assemblage than marked this second annual "Tufts night," when President Capen's "boys," past and present, came to town to make merry to the accompaniment of the Symphony's music set to their own particular college airs, the orchestration having been arranged by two Tufts graduates, N. Ingells, '00, and W. A. Willis, '01.

Such space as was not occupied by the collegians themselves was claimed by society folk, who seem always to be out in special force on these college nights.

Harvard also sent over a goodly delegation to help out their fellow-collegians in the choruses which were sung whenever opportunity offered.

The Tufts colors of brown and blue were conspicuously displayed at the tables and upon the organ, and the demand for encores was so vociferous that even the musicians in the orchestra beamed at the noisy appreciation.

"It is one of the prettiest and most enthusiastic of the special events I have known at the 'Pops'," quoth Assistant Manager Comee; and, as a sort of responsive echo, there came the sound of the Tufts cheer given with a will for the management, for John P. Marshall, the student organist who assisted the orchestra, for the director and for the pretty girls and showily attired matrons, to which the latter responded with fluttering handkerchiefs and sunny smiles.

The orchestral selections were so arranged on the programme as to cleverly produce an acrostic, "Tufts College."

Boston Daily Globe
SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1902.

IT WAS TUFTS NIGHT.

Most Enthusiastic Occasion at the "Pop" Concert.

Spirit of Comradeship Given the Heartiest Kind of Emphasis.

Large Part of the Audience Joined in Singing the Stein Song.

The spirit of comradeship among Tufts college men—and women, too, for that matter—found emphatic expression last evening in connection with the observance of Tufts night at the "pop" concert.

Symphony hall was crowded both as to floor and balcony, the greater part of the women graduates and students occupying the balcony, while the undergraduate body was largely represented by a group located directly in front of the stage, where they might cheer about everything and everybody, as occasion might require, with the best possible spectacular effect, for the benefit of the rest of the audience.

The orchestra did itself proud, under the baton of Gustav Strube, and the program, especially selected, of course with a view to appropriateness, was one of the finest of the season and kept the enthusiasm of the auditors keyed up to such a pitch that at least three-fourths of the numbers were encored one or more times.

The most notable, as well as the most popular numbers proved to be—and unmistakably on their merits as compositions alone—four selections having a special association, two of them being compositions of Leo R. Lewis, musical professor at the college.

A third, given on the program as "The Gym, a Two-Step," was apparently a cakewalk of extraordinary tunefulness and brilliancy. It was accredited to C. H. Rich, but as the rendition of it was followed by enthusiastic cheering for "Mrs Leo," it was made pretty plain that the name on the program was simply a pseudonym for Prof Lewis' accomplished wife.

The two compositions by the professor himself were, first, his class song of '87, called "For Tufts, Hurrah!" which had a most extraordinary swing and was full of melody, and fully justified its revival after a lapse of 15 years; second, the same composers "Dear Old Alma Mater," a hymn of a very high order.

As its strains rolled out in a grand swell, from both the orchestra and the big organ, the volume of melodious sound almost making the walls to tremble, the great audience was deeply moved, and rose almost in a body, in a spirit of instinctive homage to the sentiment expressed by the piece.

The greatest demonstration of the evening, however, attended the rendering by the orchestra of Bullard's "Stein Song," the air of which has been adopted by Tufts as a campus song. It was given with remarkable grandeur of effect by the musicians, a large part of the audience joining in singing the chorus. It was followed by a great outburst of cheering and received two irresistible encores.

Other Tufts airs rendered during the evening were: E. W. Newton's "Brown and the Blue," "The Barnum Song" and "Charlie Tufts, His College."

An attractive novelty in connection with the program was that the selections comprising it were such that the first letters of the successive titles, read downward, formed the name: "Tufts College" in an acrostic.

The only special decorations consisted of the word "Tufts" in electric lights of the college colors, and crimped paper napkins also of the same colors—blue and brown—on all the tables.

Although this is only the second year Tufts has had a special night at the "pops," it was the biggest and most joyous kind of a success, for which fact no small amount of credit is due to Prof Lewis, who both last year and this took on himself a large part of the labor incident to creating a genuine enthusiasm for the affair among Tufts "grads," wherever they could be got at.

Here are a few names from among the notable people seen on the floor: Profs C. P. Thayer, Leo R. Lewis, Geo. M. Harmon, H. E. Cushman, L. B. Evans, D. L. Maulsby and W. R. Ransom. Drs F. W. Hamilton, C. K. Cutler, E. A. Burnham, F. O. Hall, George A. Webster, George W. Kaan, J. C. D. Clark and Joseph H. Sanderson, Messrs Byron Groce, W. L. Crosby, M. M. Johnson, E. W. Newton, D. T. Montague, H. W. Hayes, Wade Keyes, F. L. Hull, C. M. Ludden, A. W. de Goosh, T. O. Marvin, J. B. Groce.

Horace E. Runey Arrested.

Horace E. R...

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 7 1902.

TUFTS' BIG FROLIC IN SYMPHONY HALL.

"Pops" Invaded by College Men and Women—Fun, Jollity and Enthusiasm on Tap from Overture to Finale.

Tufts invaded the "Pops" last night and raised—the roof. Seven hundred of the college men and college women, alumni and alumnae, bought seats for two-thirds of the floor and half of the balcony, and for 2½ hours devoted themselves to the cultivation of enthusiasm and the pursuit of happiness. The "stunts" they did were those usual to a Tufts night. Every one of the 700, according to precedent, took out a special license in the manager's office and made the most of opportunities for fun, frolic and folly.

They had license to strew the floor tables with great square blue paper banners that announced in "scare head" type "Symphony Hall Pops, Tufts Night, Friday, June 6, 1902"; to read in incandescent letters of brown and blue "Tufts" on the organ front; to pack the floor with lusty-lunged swains; to stow aloft the pretty girls—with or without chaperons; to stretch the "Stein Song" into eight verses and sing the chorus fortissimo, and to cheer everything and everybody within sight and hearing, including the "corkers" who had composed favorite college songs and the "uncorkers" who had memorized the wine list and stood by the schooners awaiting sailing orders.

They had license to do all this, and they did it, without interference from even a single Quaker meeting request to "preserve silence during the performance of this number." Consequently, the Symphony Hall roof is a few inches higher this morning, the pretty girls who applauded are sewing up ripped gloves, and the hard-working gleemen who sung are hunting for throat specialists. But anyhow, everybody had a good time, and who cares?

The management took liberties with the venerable institution, for, in making up the repertory, "Tufts College" appeared as an acrostic on the programme, each letter being the initial of each of the 12 selections. The "Tannhauser March" was the starter, with the "Eldorado March" for the finish. In between there were all sorts and kinds of selections, from the "Ungerische-Lustspiel" overture, which looked like a cockney attempt at Magyar, to "Charle Tufts, His College," which sounded nearer home and quite "United States."

No. 3—"For Tufts Hurrah"—was the first cue for the 50 husky young vocalists way down in front. A blond chap jumped into a chair, put his foot on the table, raised his glass as if about to "toast the bride" and—"T-u-f-t-s, rah, rah, rah," from 50 throats was the result. Then came an encore, presumably superinduced by the demonstration from the floor, for the young men immediately played a return engagement with a cheer for Strube by way of postlude.

The "Gym" two-step was encored, and then half the house went out to "pat the pave" in the corridors. Following this intermission the songs of Tufts, "Brown and Blue," "The Barnum Song" and "Charlie Tufts, His College" were played and cheered ad infinitum. There was even a cheer for the late Mr. Barnum himself, who gave Tufts its biggest undergraduate, the skeleton of Jumbo, the mammoth elephant. An extra was then interpolated and after "Cavalleria Rusticana" there was another season of rejoicing with popular college song writers.

Bullard's "Stein Song" came first, the glee club leading the congregational singing from the amen corner. It was so good that they had to sing it all through again. Then there was dear "Alma Mater," written by Lewis, '87, a performance which enlisted the services of Mr. John P. Marshall, who wrested the spirit of this favorite Tufts song from the big organ pipes in tidal waves of sound. Of course, the names of Bullard and Lewis came in for half a dozen rousing slogans, while the girls in the gallery applauded themselves red in the face and warm under the collar.

After Handel's "Largo," with the violin solo splendidly handled by Mr. Jacques Hoffman, most everybody stretched his legs in the promenade during intermission. After that there were two more cheers to increase laryngeal irritation and two more draughts from the "Stein Song" to soothe it, and in No. 12, having found their "Eldorado," everybody headed for home with an earful of it.

Another engagement prevented President Capen completing the family circle, but among the alumni or those prominent in the college, the medical or dental school, who helped the thing along by their presence, were:

Prof. Leo R. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis, Dr. F. W. Hamilton, T. O. Marvin, Byron Grace, Dr. C. K. Cutter, W. L. Crosby, M. M. Johnson, E. W. Newton, Dr. E. A. Burnham, D. T. Montague, Dr. Frank O. Hall, Wade Keyes, C. M. Ludden, Dr. J. C. D. Clark, Asst.-Atty.-Gen. A. W. DeGoosh, H. W. Hayes, Joseph B. Grace, Dr. Joseph H. Sanders, Dr. C. P. Thayer, Prof. and Mrs. George M. Harmon, H. E. Cushman, L. B. Evans, D. L. Maulsby, W. R. Ransom, Mrs. Gardner C. Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hull.

"TECH" NIGHT AT "POPS." IN WILD ROUND OF REVELRY.

Institute Boys Owned the Hall and the Musicians Were Never in It—A Fusillade of Songs, Cheers and Class Yells.

With a foot on the table and a hand in the air, Technology last night made the conventional "Pops" programme look like a bundle of jackstraws on a windy day. Several cases of college spirit, extra dry and warranted waterproof, were uncorked during the evening, effervesced all over the scenery, and evoked from the 1200 men and women in Symphony Hall an unscheduled potpourri of gayety, giddiness and guttural gurglings.

The carefully arranged series of polite selections for the 50 fifers and fiddlers on the stage were not in it for a minute with the unprinted programme of events pulled off by the 400 young men on the floor. As for these announced numbers, the boys simply ripped them up the back, dissected the remains and blew them to the four winds by the sheer force of tin lungs and sheet iron throats.

"The Continentals" were resurrected from the past and trotted out within hearing, if not within sight, for the opening number. Strauss made a play for plaudits in the "Arabian Nights" waltz, and got them. A bunch of seven faithful sons of '99, duly ticketed and tagged, sitting exactly in the centre of the floor, batted into the programme at this point and began vocal efforts with a cheer for "Tech" and for '99.

This marked the finish for the programme instrumental. For after this various bands of the strong lunged in all parts of the hall continued the fusillade of songs and cheers, heel tapping and hand clapping, right through to the closing number. They didn't worry at all about the music.

If the fiddlers were wrestling with Rossini on the stage or consulting Pabst behind the scenes, it didn't make the slightest difference to the 400. They were ready with a song, a slogan or a fresh order to the waiter whenever the spirit moved. They cheered everybody and everything in sight, and occasionally noticed the orchestra just long enough to drown their efforts by joining in on the chorus of a popular air.

During the first intermission a crowd of fully 100 massed in the centre aisle. A young man named Currie, who wore a dress suit and is president of the senior class, stood up on a table, waving as his symbol of power a wrinkled programme above the heads of the faithful. The result of his appeal was a "Tech" cheer that made the glasses rattle. It was so good that they "came again" until the full repertory was exhausted, including the famous "Tech is happy! Tech is h——! T-E-C-H-N-O-L-O-G-Y!"

After the next number, the watchful gang of '99 men again distinguished themselves by spotting President Pritchett and Mrs. Pritchett, who had just entered the lobby. Standing up they roared out a welcome to the head of the institute. As the president and his wife entered the hall, every one on the floor jumped to his feet. Nearly all the "Tech" men stood up on chairs and tables. Master-of-Ceremonies Currie called for a general cheer for President Pritchett, and the heartiest, lustiest salute that "Tech" could give was accorded "Prexy." As he walked down the aisle the boys applauded loudly, the president smiled and bowed right and left, and Mrs. Pritchett, with noteworthy tact and graciousness, waved a hand of acknowledgment in response to the ovation.

There were a few more sessions of noise-making and then one effervescent bunch of classmen took the front centre of the floor and went through a creditable war dance, as they roared out a regular "Tech" cheer. The next number, which the programme insisted on calling "The Swinging Girl," when it meant "Singing Girl," was supplemented by an oratorio effort from a singing boy, from "Tech," with a chorus of 20 voices, which passed out this personal information regarding two of the Tech "profs."

Charlie has been bald for quite a while,
He and Cr—sb— seem to think it quite in style;
Many years ago
His hair ceased to grow,
Charlie has been bald for quite a while.

Ninety-nine, the overworked but the everlasting, was ready with a cheer on any and all occasions. These seven devoted souls would rise on the slightest provocation, and, however hoarse, tear out a few extra layers of throatlining, then sit down, tell each other how "good" they were, and call the waiter. Had there been any medals lying around for the long-distance event, '99 would have won them all.

45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
Republic
CLIPPING FROM Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02.

Orazio Valenti, of No. 149 East Fifty-first street. Miss Adele Valenti married Mr. Domenico Borgia of New York, and Miss Olympia Valenti was wedded to Mr. William J. Young of Danbury, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Grace entertained a table party at the "pops" last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Fitzpatrick and family have opened up their summer residence at Hull and are now installed for the season. Mrs. Fitzpatrick's

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
BOSTON COURIER
DATE June 7

Thursday morning Musical Club left town to begin her summer outing at Ipswich, where she is the guest of her friend, Mrs. G. L. Woodbury, for a time.

—Admiral Higginson has been a guest at the Westminster the past week.

—Another week in the pop concert season has passed into history, in unabated triumph, and only three weeks more remain, until Mr. Strube abandons his baton, and his men disperse in different directions for the summer. The social feature of the week was Tufts night, when the students and graduates of that college filled in a goodly number, with their [illegible] an excellent programme [illegible] with appreciation. Among those who gave a table party on that occasion were Professor Lewis and party, Mrs. G. W. Lowell, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, of Brookline, and his fiancee, Miss Carrie Hunter Sibley, who had with them Dr. Borden and Miss Drew, Dr. Milliken, Mr. J. P. Russell, Mr. G. W. Stone, Mr. M. G. Calderwood, Mr. F. R. Chapman, Mr. Roy E. Wood, Dr. J. Steven Scott, Mr. L. B. Estabrook. Others noted during the week were Mr. Audrew Winslow, of the University Club, and party, M. Camille Thurwanger, president of the Cercle Francais de l'Alliance, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, with Mr. John Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, Col. Henry L. Higginson and his son Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, Mrs. J. G. Thorpe, of Cambridge, who chaperoned a party of young people, included among whom was her pretty niece, Miss Dana, Mr. Charles Stearns, and daughter, Col. Boutwell and party, Miss Grace Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, and friends, Mrs. S. B. Field, and party, Mr. F. O. Pierce, of Newbury street, Mr. E. Eno Thomas, of Commonwealth avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, Mr. R. H. Carleton, Mr. Henry Rogers Dalton, jr., of the Somerset Club, with guests, Dr. William James Daly, of Commonwealth avenue, Mr. Harris Livermore, of Jamaica Plain, Mr. I. B. Safford, Mrs. Henry Lee Morse, of Marlborough street, with party of six, and the Rev. George J. Prescott, of Longwood, who occupied balcony seats. For the coming week the banner occasions are Monday and Tuesday, the former evening being devoted to Wagner, and the latter marking that gala festivity Technology Night, and selections gay to the youthful element figure prominently on the programme.

45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
Republic
CLIPPING FROM Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02

ty's "Early Dawn," Mr. Frank Granger's "Walrus," Mr. Joseph Donahue's "Ruth," Mr. Harry Ormsby's "Awilda," are among the old favorites which are at their moorings for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce J. Grace and Miss Grace entertained a table party at the "pops" on Monday evening.

The committee having in charge the lawn party for the Daly Industrial School are making great efforts to eclipse the success of last year. The party will be held June 21 on the school grounds, Main street, Dorches-

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
Republic
CLIPPING FROM Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02

of the church, Miss Margaret Johnson.

Miss Grace Potter made a short visit to her parents in Dorchester over Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cadigan entertained Mr. Charles Wilson of New York, Miss Wilson and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Keany at the "pops" during the week. Mr. Wilson, a former Bostonian, is the popular manager of Sherry's.

[131]

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON MORNING HERALD
DATE June 7 1902.

TUFTS' BIG FROLIC IN SYMPHONY HALL.

"Pops" Invaded by College Men and Women—Fun, Jollity and Enthusiasm on Tap from Overture to Finale.

Tufts invaded the "Pops" last night and raised—the roof. Seven hundred of the college men and college women, alumni and alumnae, bought seats for two-thirds of the floor and half of the balcony, and for 2½ hours devoted themselves to the cultivation of enthusiasm and the pursuit of happiness. The "stunts" they did were those usual to a Tufts night. Every one of the 700, according to precedent, took out a special license in the manager's office and made the most of opportunities for fun, frolic and folly.

They had license to strew the floor tables with great square blue paper banners that announced in "scare head" type "Symphony Hall Pops, Tufts Night, Friday, June 6, 1902"; to read in incandescent letters of brown and blue "Tufts" on the organ front; to pack the floor with lusty-lunged swains; to stow aloft the pretty girls—with or without chaperons; to stretch the "Stein Song" into eight verses and sing the chorus fortissimo, and to cheer everything and everybody within sight and hearing, including the "corkers" who had composed favorite college songs and the "uncorkers" who had memorized the wine list and stood by the schooners awaiting sailing orders.

They had license to do all this, and they did it, without interference from even a single Quaker meeting request to "preserve silence during the performance of this number." Consequently, the Symphony Hall roof is a few inches higher this morning, the pretty girls who applauded are sewing up ripped gloves, and the hard-working gleemen who sung are hunting for throat specialists. But anyhow, everybody had a good time, and who cares?

The management took liberties with the venerable institution, for, in making up the repertory, "Tufts College" appeared as an acrostic on the programme, each letter being the initial of each of the 12 selections. The "Tannhauser March" was the starter, with the "Eldorado March" for the finish. In between there were all sorts and kinds of selections, from the "Ungerische-Lustspiel" overture, which looked like a cockney attempt at Magyar, to "Charle Tufts, His College," which sounded nearer home and quite "United States."

No. 3—"For Tufts Hurrah"—was the first cue for the 50 husky young vocalists way down in front. A blond chap jumped into a chair, put his foot on the table, raised his glass as if about to "toast the bride" and—"T-u-f-t-s, rah, rah, rah," from 50 throats was the result. Then came an encore, presumably superinduced by the demonstration from the floor, for the young men immediately played a return engagement with a cheer for Strube by way of postlude.

The "Gym" two-step was encored, and then half the house went out to "pat the pave" in the corridors. Following this intermission the songs of Tufts, "Brown and Blue," "The Barnum Song" and "Charlie Tufts, His College" were played and cheered ad infinitum. There was even a cheer for the late Mr. Barnum himself, who gave Tufts its biggest undergraduate, the skeleton of Jumbo, the mammoth elephant. An extra was then interpolated and after "Cavalleria Rusticana" there was another season of rejoicing with popular college song writers.

Bullard's "Stein Song" came first, the glee club leading the congregational singing from the amen corner. It was so good that they had to sing it all through again. Then there was dear "Alma Mater," written by Lewis, '87, a performance which enlisted the services of Mr. John P. Marshall, who wrested the spirit of this favorite Tufts song from the big organ pipes in tidal waves of sound. Of course, the names of Bullard and Lewis came in for half a dozen rousing slogans, while the girls in the gallery applauded themselves red in the face and warm under the collar.

After Handel's "Largo," with the violin solo splendidly handled by Mr. Jacques Hoffman, most everybody stretched his legs in the promenade during intermission. After that there were two more cheers to increase laryngeal irritation and two more draughts from the "Stein Song" to soothe it, and in No. 12, having found their "Eldorado," everybody headed for home with an earful of it.

Another engagement prevented President Capen completing the family circle, but among the alumni or those prominent in the college, the medical or dental school, who helped the thing along by their presence, were:

Prof. Leo R. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis, Dr. F. W. Hamilton, T. O. Marvin, Byron Grace, Dr. C. K. Cutter, W. L. Crosby, M. M. Johnson, E. W. Newton, Dr. E. A. Burnham, D. T. Montague, Dr. Frank O. Hall, Wade Keyes, C. M. Ludden, Dr. J. C. D. Clark, Asst.-Atty.-Gen. A. W DeGoosh, H. W. Hayes, Joseph B. Grace, Dr. Joseph H. Sanders, Dr. C. P. Thayer, Prof. and Mrs. George M. Harmon, H. E. Cushman, L. B. Evans, D. L. Maulsby, W. R. Ransom, Mrs. Gardner C. Anthony, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hull.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
BOSTON COURIER
DATE June

Thursday Morning Musical Club left town to begin her summer outing at Ipswich, where she is the guest of her friend, Mrs. G. L. Woodbury, for a time.

—Admiral Higginson has been a guest at the Westminster the past week.

—Another week in the pop concert season has passed into history, in undisputed triumph, and only three weeks more remain, until Mr. Strube abandons his baton, and his men disperse in different directions for the summer. The especial feature of the week was Tufts night, when the students and graduates of that college rallied in goodly numbers, with their fair friends, and a very excellent programme met well deserved appreciation. Among those who gave table parties on that occasion were Professor Lewis and party, Mrs. G. W. Lowell, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders, of Brookline, and his fiancee, Miss Carrie Hunter Sibley, who had with them Dr. Borden and Miss Drew, Dr. Milliken, Mr. J. P. Russell, Mr. G. W. Stone, Mr. M. G. Calderwood, Mr. F. R. Chapman, Mr. Roy E. Wood, Dr. J. Steven Scott, Mr. L. B. Estabrook. Others noted during the week were Mr. Audrew Winslow, of the University Club, and party, M. Camille Thurwanger, president of the Cercle Francais de l'Alliance, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, with Mr. John Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, Col. Henry L. Higginson and his son Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, Mrs. J. G. Thorpe, of Cambridge, who chaperoned a party of young people, included among whom was her pretty niece, Miss Dana, Mr. Charles Stearns, and daughter, Col. Boutwell and party, Miss Grace Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, and friends, Mrs. S. B. Field, and party, Mr. F. O. Pierce, of Newbury street, Mr. E. Eno Thomas, of Commonwealth avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland, Mr. R. H. Carleton, Mr. Henry Rogers Dalton, jr., of the Somerset Club, with guests, Dr. William James Daly, of Commonwealth avenue, Mr. Harris Livermore, of Jamaica Plain, Mr. I. B. Safford, Mrs. Henry Lee Morse, of Marlborough street, with party of six, and the Rev. George J. Prescott, of Longwood, who occupied balcony seats. For the coming week the banner occasions are Monday and Tuesday, the former evening being devoted to Wagner, and the latter marking that gala festivity Technology Night, and selections gay to the youthful element figure prominently on the program.

"TECH" NIGHT AT "POPS." A WILD ROUND OF REVELRY.

Boston Herald 6/11/02

Institute Boys Owned the Hall and the Musicians Were Never in It — A Fusillade of Songs, Cheers and Class Yells.

With a foot on the table and a hand in the air, Technology last night made the conventional "Pops" programme look like a bundle of jackstraws on a windy day. Several cases of college spirit, extra dry and warranted waterproof, were uncorked during the evening, effervesced all over the scenery, and evoked from the 1200 men and women in Symphony Hall an unscheduled potpourri of gayety, giddiness and guttural gurglings.

The carefully arranged series of polite selections for the 50 fifers and fiddlers on the stage were not in it for a minute with the unprinted programme of events pulled off by the 400 young men on the floor. As for these announced numbers, the boys simply ripped them up the back, dissected the remains and blew them to the four winds by the sheer force of tin lungs and sheet iron throats.

"The Continentals" were resurrected from the past and trotted out within hearing, if not within sight, for the opening number. Strauss made a play for plaudits in the "Arabian Nights" waltz, and got them. A bunch of seven faithful sons of '99, duly ticketed and tagged, sitting exactly in the centre of the floor, batted into the programme at this point and began vocal efforts with a cheer for "Tech" and for '99.

This marked the finish for the programme instrumental. For after this various bands of the strong lunged in all parts of the hall continued the fusillade of songs and cheers, heel tapping and hand clapping, right through to the closing number. They didn't worry at all about the music.

If the fiddlers were wrestling with Rossini on the stage or consulting Pabst behind the scenes, it didn't make the slightest difference to the 400. They were ready with a song, a slogan or a fresh order to the waiter whenever the spirit moved. They cheered everybody and everything in sight, and occasionally noticed the orchestra just long enough to drown their efforts by joining in on the chorus of a popular air.

During the first intermission a crowd of fully 100 massed in the centre aisle. A young man named Currie, who wore a dress suit and is president of the senior class, stood up on a table, waving as his symbol of power a wrinkled programme above the heads of the faithful. The result of his appeal was a "Tech" cheer that made the glasses rattle. It was so good that they "came again" until the full repertory was exhausted, including the famous "Tech is happy! Tech is h——! T-E-C-H-N-O-L-O-G-Y!"

After the next number, the watchful gang of '99 men again distinguished themselves by spotting President Pritchett and Mrs. Pritchett, who had just entered the lobby. Standing up they roared out a welcome to the head of the institute. As the president and his wife entered the hall, every one on the floor jumped to his feet. Nearly all the "Tech" men stood up on chairs and tables. Master-of-Ceremonies Currie called for a general cheer for President Pritchett, and the heartiest, lustiest salute that "Tech" could give was accorded "Prexy." As he walked down the aisle the boys applauded loudly, the president smiled and bowed right and left, and Mrs. Pritchett, with noteworthy tact and graciousness, waved a hand of acknowledgment in response to the ovation.

There were a few more sessions of noise-making and then one effervescent bunch of classmen took the front centre of the floor and went through a creditable war dance, as they roared out a regular "Tech" cheer. The next number, which the programme insisted on calling "The Swinging Girl," when it meant "Singing Girl," was supplemented by an oratorio effort from a singing boy, from "Tech," with a chorus of 20 voices, which passed out this personal information regarding two of the Tech "profs."

Charlie has been bald for quite a while,
He and Cr—sb— seem to think it quite in style;
Many years ago
His hair ceased to grow,
Charlie has been bald for quite a while.

Ninety-nine, the overworked but the everlasting, was ready with a cheer on any and all occasions. These seven devoted souls would rise on the slightest provocation, and, however hoarse, tear out a few extra layers of throatlining, then sit down, tell each other how "good" they were, and call the waiter. Had there been any medals lying around for the long-distance event, '99 would have won them all.

45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Republic Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02.

Orazio Valenti, of No. 149 East Fifty-first street. Miss Adele Valenti married Mr. Domenico Borgia of New York, and Miss Olympia Valenti was wedded to Mr. William J. Young of Danbury, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Grace entertained a table party at the "pops" last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Fitzpatrick and family have opened up their summer residence at Hull and are now installed for the season. Mrs. Fitzpatrick's

68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Republic Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02

ty's "Early Dawn," Mr. Frank Granger's "Walrus," Mr. Joseph Donahue's "Ruth," Mr. Harry Ormsby's "Awilda," are among the old favorites which are at their moorings for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce J. Grace and Miss Grace entertained a table party at the "pops" on Monday evening.

The committee having in charge the lawn party for the Daly Industrial School are making great efforts to eclipse the success of last year. The party will be held June 21 on the school grounds, Main street, Dorches-

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Republic Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02.

of the church, Miss Margaret Johnson.

Miss Grace Potter made a short visit to her parents in Dorchester over Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cadigan entertained Mr. Charles Wilson of New York, Miss Wilson and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Keany at the "pops" during the week. Mr. Wilson, a former Bostonian, is the popular manager of Sherry's.

Cable Address:
Clipping From BOSTON POST
Date June 8 1902.

The Week at the Pops

Last evening closed another successful and triumphant week of the Pop concert season, and only three weeks more remain before Mr. Strube gives up his baton, and his men disperse in various directions for the summer. The feature of the past week was Tufts night, on Friday, when the students and graduates of that college rallied in goodly numbers, with their fair friends, and a finely-arranged programme met well deserved appreciation. Among those who gave table parties on that occasion were Professor Lewis and party, Mrs. G. W. Lowell, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders of Brookline, whose guests were his fiancee, Miss Carrie Hunter Sibley, Dr. Borden and Miss Drew; Dr. Milliken, Mr. J. P. Russell, Mr. G. W. Stone, Mr. M. G. Calderwood, Mr. F. R. Chapman, Mr. Roy E. Wood, Dr. J. Stephen Scott and Mr. L. B. Estabrook. Others noted during the past week were Mr. Andrew Winslow of the University Club and party, M. Camille Thurwanger, president of the Cercle Francaise de l'Alliance, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, with Mr. John Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, Colonel Henry L. Higginson, with his son, Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, Mrs. J. G. Thorpe of Cambridge, who chaperoned a party of young people, included among whom was her pretty niece, Miss Dana; Mr. Chares Stearns and daughter, Colonel Boutwell and party, Miss Grace Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paterson and friends, Mrs. S. B. Field and party, Mr. F. O. Pierce of Newbury street, Mr. E. Eno Thomas of Commonwealth avenue, Mr. Harris Livermore, Mr. I. B. Safford, Mrs. Henry Lee Morse of Marlboro street with party of six, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland with friends, Mr. R. H. Carleton, Mr. Henry Rogers Dalton, Jr., of the Somerset Club with guests, and the Rev. George J. Prescott of Longwood, who occupied seats in the balcony. For the coming week the banner nights are Monday and Tuesday. On the former occasion the selections will be largely from Wagner, and on the later night Technology will have things pretty much its own way, the programme being compiled from numbers dear to the youthful heart, and the college boys having subscribed for the majority of tables in the hall.

Date BOSTON MORNING HERALD June 10 1902.

THE "POPS."

Mr. Strube began the sixth week of the "Pops" last evening with a special "Wagner" programme—rightly enough so called, although that master's music only qualified it about so far as the raspberry jam or apple jelly characterizes a Washington pie. There were the "Lohengrin" march of the bridal procession, the "Tannhauser" overture, an introduction and the apprentices' dance from "The Mastersingers," and a selection of picturesque passages from "The Valkyrie." The rest of the programme ranged from Meyerbeer and Mozart to Gillet and Strube, calling by the way on Verdi and Grieg. All went well and was well received. For tonight the Institute of Technology is to be particularly distinguished, and its representatives will undoubtedly return the compliment. The programme has been ingeniously contrived, and we quote it that the reader may puzzle out its little acrostic:

March, "The Continentals" ..... Brooke
Arabian Nights Waltz ..... Strauss
Semiramide overture ..... Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy" ..... Monckton

Intermezzo, "Naila" ..... Delibes
Night in Granada overture ..... Kreutzer
Selection, "Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
"Tech," production of 1902.

Traumbilder, fantasy ..... Lumbye
Entr'acte Gavotte ..... Gillet
Carmen selection ..... Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March ..... Kral

Clipping From BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
Date June 8 1902.

a wedding journey.

Monday evening opened the last half of the season of the Pop concerts at Symphony hall, with Mr Strube taking the direction from Mr Zach, as has been the custom in previous years. A delightful program was presented, and the tables on the floor were surrounded by merry parties, many of whom have attended other evenings during the week. Among those noticed have been Mr Henry L. Higginson and his son, Mr Alexander Higginson, who were there Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Mr Higginson is one of the most devoted patrons, and enjoys the music to the fullest exetent; Mr and Mrs Albert Forbes Conant, who had Miss MacNichol and other friends with them; Mrs Conant was in black veiling, with lengthwise insertions of white lace in the bodice, and black hat with white plumes; Miss MacNichol was in a tusser silk with lace collar, and a white hat with white plumes; Dr and Mrs William Copley Winslow, Mr Arthur Howard Pickering with friends, Mrs George H. Mifflin and her son, Mrs Mifflin in black and white foulard, black tulle boa and black hat; Dr William Sturgis Bigelow, Mr John Lodge, Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, who are recently home from abroad, with Miss Susie Amory and other friends, occupied a table Wednesday evening. Mrs Horton wore a gown of white India silk, much tucked and ruffled, and a black silk cloak trimmed with Irish lace. Her hat was black openwork straw, trimmed with black tulle; Miss Amory was in gray, with a toque of straw and a wreath of pink flowers around the brim. Mrs J. G. Thorpe of Cambridge had her niece, Miss Dana, and other young people with her. Miss Dana wore an attractive costume of tusser silk, with black hat trimmed with white roses; Mr Willliam Rotch brought some young friends; the Misses Mills, Dr and Mrs Daniel Hunt, Mr Gorham Train and Mr and Mrs Sedgwick (Miss Rachel Griffith) of Milton.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipburo

Home Journal
Clipping From Boston Mass
Date 6/7/02

The delightful Pop concerts in Symphony Hall are, according to the usual June fashion, attracting large numbers of people each evening, for the chance is not to be neglected for hearing splendid music and at the same time partake of those beverages which are pretty universally demanded during warm weather. At the Pops you see the best Boston people in their prettiest garb, and no visitor to Boston during the summer should forget to have a Pop night on the programme.

Cable Address: Clipburo
Clipping From BOSTON POST
Date June 8 1902.

Clipping From BOSTON MORNING HERALD
Date June 8 1902.

THE "POPS."

The "Pops" at Symphony Hall are proceeding with their second series as gayly and gracefully as they finished the first, and the first of the four weeks came to its merry end last evening. The programmes prepared for the next half-dozen nights, so far as they have been published, are quite up to the standard in variety and in the intrinsic merit of the music chosen. There is some little natural difference of taste between Mr. Zach and Mr. Strube, as each has in his way a little different hand over the orchestra; but these are too slight for any but studied observation, while the effects obtained are quite on plane in all essential particulars. March, overture, potpourri, dance and song or romance, each falls into its proper place for contrast and for individual saliency, and one can hardly doubt that the majority of the audience would stay until midnight, if the programme were lengthened out. Mr. Strube's own pieces are worth hearing, when he concedes them. He inclines to subjects more sentimental than Mr. Zach was apt to choose; but he kept in mind that he has not the Symphony audience before him, and keeps them simple, clear and pleasurable.

Clipping From BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
Date June 8 1902.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts will be at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a Wagner program for tomorrow evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16, and "Graduates" night for June 23. The program for tomorrow evening will be as follows:

Coronation march ..... Meyerbeer
Overture, Magic Flute ..... Mozart
Waltz, Wine, Women and Song ..... Strauss
Selection, Traviata ..... Verdi
Tone pictures from the Valkyrie ..... Wagner
(First time.)
Solveig's song ..... Grieg
Norwegian dance ..... Grieg
Procession of the Women ..... Wagner
Overture, Tannhauser ..... Wagner
Introduction to act 3 and dance of Apprentices from Die Meistersinger ..... Wagner
Serenade ..... Stearns
Sous du Mal ..... Gillet
Marche Hongroise ..... Strube

TRIENNIAL CELEBRATION OF '99, HARVARD

The announcement of the first triennial celebration of the class of 1899 at Harvard has been issued to all the class members by the class secretary, Arthur Adams.

The members of '96, who are celebrating a second triennial this year, will join with '99. The programme includes "a day in town," "a day in the country" and "a day in Cambridge," covering the period from Monday, June 23, to commencement night, June 25, 1902.

On Monday, June 23, the parlors at the Hotel Bellevue on Beacon street will be open all day and a committee from each of the two classes will be on hand to greet men from a distance. Punch will be served throughout the day. At 8 o'clock in the evening both classes will adjourn to Symphony Hall to enjoy Harvard graduates' night at the "Pop" concerts.

On this evening no ladies will be allowed on the floor and merriment for the grads will reign supreme. On the following day both classes, accompanied by a band, will leave the North Station on a special train for Beverly Farms. From there launches will be taken to Misery Island, where the day will be spent out of doors. Golf, tennis and swimming will be indulged in. During the afternoon the sports of the day will culminate in a ball game between '99 and '96. Lunch and supper will be served and the return made to Boston by steamer in the evening.

On Wednesday, June 25, the members of both classes will spend the day in Cambridge. Each will have a room in the yard, where a lunch will be served. Members of '99 will assemble on the steps at the back of Seaver Hall at 1:45 in the afternoon, where a photograph of the class will be taken. In the evening at 7:30 the triennial dinners of both classes will be served at the Exchange Club, 118 Milk street.

It has been announced that, owing to the probable presence of President Roosevelt at commencement, the college yard will be inclosed on that day. Only holders of degrees, temporary members of classes, who may be upon the list of class secretaries, officers and present members of the university will be admitted, and they will all need tickets of admission. Ladies will not be admitted.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST

DATE June 8 1902.

The Week at the Pops

Last evening closed another successful and triumphant week of the Pop concert season, and only three weeks more remain before Mr. Sturbe gives up his baton, and his men disperse in various directions for the summer. The feature of the past week was Tufts night, on Friday, when the students and graduates of that college rallied in goodly numbers, with their fair friends, and a finely-arranged programme met well deserved appreciation. Among those who gave table parties on that occasion were Professor Lewis and party, Mrs. G. W. Lowell, Dr. Joseph H. Saunders of Brookline, whose guests were his fiancee, Miss Carrie Hunter Sibley, Dr. Borden and Miss Drew; Dr. Milliken, Mr. J. P. Russell, Mr. G. W. Stone, Mr. M. G. Calderwood, Mr. F. R. Chapman, Mr. Roy E. Wood, Dr. J. Stephen Scott and Mr. L. B. Estabrook. Others noted during the past week were Mr. Andrew Winslow of the University Club and party, M. Camille Thurwanger, president of the Cercle Francaise de l'Alliance, Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, with Mr. John Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, Colonel Henry L. Higginson, with his son, Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, Mrs. J. G. Thorpe of Cambridge, who chaperoned a party of young people, included among whom was her pretty niece, Miss Dana; Mr. Chares Stearns and daughter, Colonel Boutwell and party, Miss Grace Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paterson and friends, Mrs. S. B. Field and party, Mr. F. O. Pierce of Newbury street, Mr. E. Eno Thomas of Commonwealth avenue, Mr. Harris Livermore, Mr. I. B. Safford, Mrs. Henry Lee Morse of Marlboro street with party of six, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Messinger Leland with friends, Mr. R. H. Carleton, Mr. Henry Rogers Dalton, Jr., of the Somerset Club with guests, and the Rev. George J. Prescott of Longwood, who occupied seats in the balcony. For the coming week the banner nights are Monday and Tuesday. On the former occasion the selections will be largely from Wagner, and on the later night Technology will have things pretty much its own way, the programme being compiled from numbers dear to the youthful heart, and the college boys having subscribed for the majority of tables in the hall.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING HERALD

DATE June 8 1902.

THE "POPS."

Mr. Strube began the sixth week of the "Pops" last evening with a special "Wagner" programme—rightly enough so called, although that master's music only qualified it about so far as the raspberry jam or apple jelly characterizes a Washington pie. There were the "Lohengrin" march of the bridal procession, the "Taunhauser" overture, an introduction and the apprentices' dance from "The Mastersingers," and a selection of picturesque passages from "The Valkyrie." The rest of the programme ranged from Meyerbeer and Mozart to Gillet and Strube, calling by the way on Verdi and Grieg. All went well and was well received. For tonight the Institute of Technology is to be particularly distinguished, and its representatives will undoubtedly return the compliment. The programme has been ingeniously contrived, and we quote it that the reader may puzzle out its little acrostic:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Arabian Nights Waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide overture.....Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy".....Monckton

Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
Night in Granada overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
"Tech," production of 1902.

Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Carmen selection.....Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March.....Kral

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE June 8 1902.

a wedding journey.

—Monday evening opened the last half of the season of the Pop concerts at Symphony hall, with Mr Strube taking the direction from Mr Zach, as has been the custom in previous years. A delightful program was presented, and the tables on the floor were surrounded by merry parties, many of whom have attended other evenings during the week. Among those noticed have been Mr Henry L. Higginson and his son, Mr Alexander Higginson, who were there Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Mr Higginson is one of the most devoted patrons, and enjoys the music to the fullest exetent; Mr and Mrs Albert Forbes Conant, who had Miss MacNichol and other friends with them; Mrs Conant was in black veiling, with lengthwise insertions of white lace in the bodice, and black hat with white plumes; Miss MacNichol was in a tusser silk with lace collar, and a white hat with white plumes; Dr and Mrs William Copley Winslow, Mr Arthur Howard Pickering with friends, Mrs George H. Mifflin and her son, Mrs Mifflin in black and white foulard, black tulle boa and black hat; Dr William Sturgis Bigelow, Mr John Lodge, Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, who are recently home from abroad, with Miss Susie Amory and other friends, occupied a table Wednesday evening. Mrs Horton wore a gown of white India silk, much tucked and ruffled, and a black silk cloak trimmed with Irish lace. Her hat was black openwork straw, trimmed with black tulle; Miss Amory was in gray, with a toque of straw and a wreath of pink flowers around the brim. Mrs J. G. Thorpe of Cambridge had her niece, Miss Dana, and other young people with her. Miss Dana wore an attractive costume of tusser silk, with black hat trimmed with white roses; Mr Williiam Rotch brought some young friends; the Misses Mills, Dr and Mrs Daniel Hunt, Mr Gorham Train and Mr and Mrs Sedgwick (Miss Rachel Griffith) of Milton.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
88 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

Home Journal
Boston Mass
6/7/02

The delightful Pop concerts in Symphony Hall are, according to the usual June fashion, attracting large numbers of people each evening, for the chance is not to be neglected for hearing splendid music and at the same time partake of those beverages which are pretty universally demanded during warm weather. At the Pops you see the best Boston people in their prettiest garb, and no visitor to Boston during the summer should forget to have a Pop night on the programme.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST

DATE June 8 1902.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING HERALD

DATE June 8 1902.

THE "POPS."

The "Pops" at Symphony Hall are proceeding with their second series as gayly and gracefully as they finished the first, and the first of the four weeks came to its merry end last evening. The programmes prepared for the next half-dozen nights, so far as they have been published, are quite up to the standard in variety and in the intrinsic merit of the music chosen. There is some little natural difference of taste between Mr. Zach and Mr. Strube, as each has in his way a little different hand over the orchestra; but these are too slight for any but studied observation, while the effects obtained are quite on plane in all essential particulars. March, overture, potpourri, dance and song or romance, each falls into its proper place for contrast and for individual saliency, and one can hardly doubt that the majority of the audience would stay until midnight, if the programme were lengthened out. Mr. Strube's own pieces are worth hearing, when he concedes them. He inclines to subjects more sentimental than Mr. Zach was apt to choose; but he kept in mind that he has not the Symphony audience before him, and keeps them simple, clear and pleasurable.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE June 8 1902.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts will be at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a Wagner program for tomorrow evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16, and "Graduates" night for June 23. The program for tomorrow evening will be as follows:

Coronation march.....Meyerbeer
Overture, Magic Flute.....Mozart
Waltz, Wine, Women and Song.....Strauss
Selection, Traviata.....Verdi
Tone pictures from the Valkyrie.....Wagner
(First time.)
Solvejg's song.....Grieg
Norwegian dance.....Grieg
Procession of the Women.....Wagner
Overture, Tannhauser.....Wagner
Introduction to act 3 and dance of Apprentices from Die Meistersinger.....Wagner
Lamento.....Sieczum
Loin du Bal.....Gillet
March, Hobson's Choice.....Strube

TRIENNIAL CELEBRATION OF '99, HARVARD

The announcement of the first triennial celebration of the class of 1899 at Harvard has been issued to all the class members by the class secretary, Arthur Adams.

The members of '96, who are celebrating a second triennial this year, will join with '99. The programme includes "a day in town," "a day in the country" and "a day in Cambridge," covering the period from Monday, June 23, to commencement night, June 25, 1902.

On Monday, June 23, the parlors at the Hotel Bellevue on Beacon street will be open all day and a committee from each of the two classes will be on hand to greet men from a distance. Punch will be served throughout the day. At 8 o'clock in the evening both classes will adjourn to Symphony Hall to enjoy Harvard graduates' night at the "Pop" concerts.

On this evening no ladies will be allowed on the floor and merriment for the grads will reign supreme. On the following day both classes, accompanied by a band, will leave the North Station on a special train for Beverly Farms. From there launches will be taken to Misery Island, where the day will be spent out of doors. Golf, tennis and swimming will be indulged in. During the afternoon the sports of the day will culminate in a ball game between '99 and '96. Lunch and supper will be served and the return made to Boston by steamer in the evening.

On Wednesday, June 25, the members of both classes will spend the day in Cambridge. Each will have a room in the yard, where a lunch will be served. Members of '99 will assemble on the steps at the back of Seaver Hall at 1:45 in the afternoon, where a photograph of the class will be taken. In the evening at 7:30 the triennial dinners of both classes will be served at the Exchange Club, 118 Milk street.

It has been announced that, owing to the probable presence of President Roosevelt at commencement, the college yard will be inclosed on that day. Only holders of degrees, temporary members of classes, who may be upon the list of class secretaries, officers and present members of the university will be admitted, and they will all need tickets of admission. Ladies will not be admitted.

Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From

Boston Morning Globe

Date June 11

TECHNOLOGY NIGHT.

There was the Greatest Kind of a Thoroughly Noisy Demonstration at the Pop Concert.

Tech's commencement week ended in a blaze of glory last night at the pop concert. It proved to be a Tech night, indeed, and such a night as any collegian might well be proud of, for not only was Pres Pritchett there and many of the faculty, but the typical Tech man practically owned Symphony hall, and there was hardly a class that was not represented from '75 down to '05.

Cheering seemed to be the order of the evening. On the very slightest provocation, and often without any cause whatsoever, a cheer would be started in some corner of the hall and would be taken up by class after class, until the whole hall seemed to be in an uproar. Students and alumni were cheering loudly and yelling frantically, until it seemed as though the roof would rise from its supports.

Many of the alumni had gathered by classes at downtown hotels early in the evening, and others had assembled at the Technology club. Then in parties they went to the hall, and as each group entered they were greeted with loud cheers by those that were already there.

To the class of '99 belongs the palm of the evening for enthusiasm, joviality and noise. Their cheering, led by Harry L. Morse, was continued with hardly any abatement during the evening. Then, too, they were the first class to start the cheering, and when Pres Pritchett entered the hall to them belong the honor of greeting him with loud cheers of "Hail to our president! Hail to our president!"

The '98 boys, too, were there with a large representation, 23 of their members adding loyally to the excitement of the occasion.

Of course the graduating class attended in force, and the undergraduates who had remained in town for the commencement exercises joined gladly in giving a farewell greeting to their departing mates. Harold Y. Currey, president of '02, was a conspicuous figure during the evening, and time and again was he seen standing on one of the tables and, like a veteran bandmaster, leading the students in their efforts to deafen the onlookers.

Tech had six young women numbered among its graduates yesterday, and five of these were seated at one of the front tables with Miss Katharine Dexter, one of Tech's most popular "coeds." They seemed to enjoy the fun immensely, and on the entrance of the president, were on their feet to cheer him as quickly as were any of the fellows.

In the balcony were seated many of the friends of the class, who had chosen this point of vantage the better to view what was going on below them. Naturally a gathering of gay and graceful femininity formed the greater portion of this critical but easily satisfied audience, and the louder the noise and the greater the excitement, the better they seemed to like it.

As for the concert itself, whoever came to enjoy the music must have gone home dissatisfied, for but little were they able to hear. But if any one came to witness college spirit and college enthusiasm let loose, they could hardly help but be well repaid. It was a program of noise, noise noise, from beginning to end, and when the students were no longer able to make enough of a clamor tables and chairs, and bottles and glasses, were crashed together in eager endeavors to outdo any college celebration of the kind that has ever been held before.

The entrance of Pres and Mrs Pritchett, shortly after 9 o'clock, was an occasion for the greatest demonstration of the evening. His table was far down in the front of the hall, and the only path to it lay between two lines of applauding, appreciating students, eager to show, by whatever means they could, their love and their regard for Tech's popular president. Mrs Pritchett, too, the cynosure of all eyes, never appeared to better advantage, and as she passed down the aisle with the president, she greeted the applauding students with grateful glances and graceful salutes. The president's party, too, seemed to enjoy the excitement, for they staid until the very last piece on the program was being played.

Clipping From

Date

Boston Morning Globe

June 11 1902.

Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From

Boston Post

Date June 8 1902.

The "Pops"

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts is at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a Wagner programme for tomorrow (Monday) evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16, and "Graduates'" night for the 23d. The programme for tomorrow evening is:

"Coronation March," Meyerbeer; overture, "Magic Flute," Mozart; waltz, "Wine, Women and Song," Strauss; selection, "Traviata," Verdi; tone pictures from the "Valkyrie," Wagner; "Solvejg's Song," Grieg; "Norwegian Dance," Grieg; "Procession of the Women," Wagner; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; introduction to Act III. and dance of apprentices from "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; "Lamento," Slocum; "Loin du Bal," Gillet; march, "Hobson's Choice," Strube.

Norumbega Park.

The Press-Clipping Bureau

45 Vesey Street, New York
68 Devonshire Street, Boston
621 Main Street, Cincinnati
Railroad Building, Denver
Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From Republic Boston Mass

Date 6/7/02

also spend the summer at Hull in their cottage on the hill.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Cunnif were at the "pops" on Monday evening.

Miss Alice Murray will pass the summer with her sister, Mrs. Edward Machugh, who has taken a cottage for the season at Kenburma. Mrs. Machugh's many friends will be glad to learn that her young sons are convalescing.

Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From Boston (Mass.) Journal

Date June

THE "POPS."

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts is at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a "Wagner" program for tomorrow (Monday) evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16th, and "Graduates" night for the 23d. The program for Monday evening is as follows:

Coronation March.....Meyerbeer
Overture, "Magic Flute".....Mozart
Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song"...Strauss
Selection, "Traviata".....Verdi
Tone Pictures from the "Valkyrie"..Wagner
(First time.)
a. Solvejg's Song.....Grieg
b. Norwegian Dance.....Grieg
Procession of the Women.....Wagner
Overture, "Tannhäuser".....Wagner
Introduction to Act III. and Dance of Apprentices from "Die Meistersinger".....Wagner
Lamento.....Slocum
Loin du Bal.....Gillet
March, "Hobson's Choice.....Strube

DEAD SEVERAL DAYS

Clipping From

Date

Boston (Mass.) Journal June

THE "POPS."

In a short three weeks the 17th season o fthe "Pops" will be at an end, and the usual success of the past will have been recorded. Special nights crowd in thick and fast just now, for tonight is "Technology Night." Next Monday is "Harvard" night, and Monday, June 23d, is "Graduates" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The program for tonight follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Arabian Nights Waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide Overture.....Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy".....Monckton
Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
Night in Granada Overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, "Swinging Girl".....Herbert
"Tech," Production of 1902.
Traumbilder, Fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Carmen Selection.....Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March.....Kral

Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From Boston Evening Globe

Date June 10

"Tech" Night at the "Pops."

In three weeks the 17th season of the "pops" will be at an end and so the special nights crowd in thick and fast just now. Tonight is announced as "Technology" night, next Monday as "Harvard" night, and Monday, June 23, as "graduates'" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The program for tonight follows:

March, The Continentals.....Brooke
Arabian Nights waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide overture.....Rossini
Selection, Messenger Boy.....Monckton
Intermezzo, Naila.....Delibes
Night in Granada overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, Swinging Girl.....Herbert
Tech, production of 1902.
Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
Carmen selection.....Bizet
Hoch Habsburg march.....Kral

Nickelodeon.

Clipping From

Boston Morning Globe

Date June 1902.

"Tech" Night at the "Pops."

In three weeks the 17th season of the "pops" will be at an end and so the special nights crowd in thick and fast just now. Tonight is announced as "Technology" night, next Monday as "Harvard" night, and Monday, June 23, as "graduates'" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The program for tonight follows:

March, The Continentals.....Brooke
Arabian Nights waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide overture.....Rossini
Selection, Messenger Boy.....Monckton
Intermezzo, Naila.....Delibes
Night in Granada overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, Swinging Girl.....Herbert
Tech, production of 1902.
Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
"Carmen" selection.....Bizet
"Hoch Habsburg" march.....Kral

Clipping From

Boston Evening Transcript

Date June 10 1902

Symphony Hall: The Pops

In three weeks the seventeenth season of the "Pops" will be at an end and so the special nights crowd in thick and fast just now. Last night was Wagner night, and one of the best audiences of the season was present. The programme was an excellent one. Mr. Strube's guidance of the orchestra through the "Tannhäuser" overture was masterly. The effect was remarkable in the beautiful shading given the piece; the entire audience sat silent throughout the number, and at the close rewarded the orchestra with tremendous applause, for which the very rare "extra" was given. Tonight is announced as "Technology" night, next Monday as "Harvard" night and Monday, June 23, as "graduates'" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The programme for tonight follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
"Arabian Nights" waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide overture.....Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy".....Monckton
Intermezo, "Naida".....Delibes
"Night in Granada" overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
Tech, production of 1902.
Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
"Carmen" selection.....Bizet
"Hoch Habsburg" march.....Kral

Note and Comment

Cable Address: Clipburo

Clipping From

Boston Post

Date June 10 1902.

The "Pops"

Conductor Gustav Strube's second week opened last night at the "Pops" with three weeks remaining in the 17th season which closes Saturday, June 28. No better orchestra, superior music or attractive auditorium can be found anywhere and the success of these concerts is the best possible evidence of the public appreciation. Tonight's programme is as follows: March, "The Continentals," Brooke; "Arabian Nights" waltz, Strauss; "Semiramide" overture, Rossini; selection, "Messenger Boy," Monckton; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; "Night in Grenada" overture, Kreutzer; selection, "Swinging Girl," Herbert; "Tech," production of 1902; Traumbilder, fantasie, Lumbye; Entr'acte gavotte, Gillet; "Carmen" selection, Bizet; "Hoch Habsburg" march, Kral.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON MORNING GLOBE

DATE June 11

TECHNOLOGY NIGHT.

There was the Greatest Kind of a Thoroughly Noisy Demonstration at the Pop Concert.

Tech's commencement week ended in a blaze of glory last night at the pop concert. It proved to be a Tech night, indeed, and such a night as any collegian might well be proud of, for not only was Pres Pritchett there and many of the faculty, but the typical Tech man practically owned Symphony hall, and there was hardly a class that was not represented from '75 down to '05.

Cheering seemed to be the order of the evening. On the very slightest provocation, and often without any cause whatsoever, a cheer would be started in some corner of the hall and would be taken up by class after class, until the whole hall seemed to be in an uproar. Students and alumni were cheering loudly and yelling frantically, until it seemed as though the roof would rise from its supports.

Many of the alumni had gathered by classes at downtown hotels early in the evening and others had assembled at the Technology club. Then in parties they went to the hall, and as each group entered they were greeted with loud cheers by those that were already there.

To the class of '99 belongs the palm of the evening for enthusiasm, joviality and noise. Their cheering, led by Harry L. Morse, was continued with hardly any abatement during the evening. Then, too, they were the first class to start the cheering, and when Pres Pritchett entered the hall to them belong the honor of greeting him with loud cheers of "Hail to our president! Hail to our president!"

The '98 boys, too, were there with a large representation, 23 of their members adding loyally to the excitement of the occasion.

Of course the graduating class attended in force, and the undergraduates who had remained in town for the commencement exercises joined gladly in giving a farewell greeting to their departing mates. Harold Y. Currey, president of '02, was a conspicuous figure during the evening, and time and again was he seen standing on one of the tables and, like a veteran bandmaster, leading the students in their efforts to deafen the onlookers.

Tech had six young women numbered among its graduates yesterday, and five of these were seated at one of the front tables with Miss Katharine Dexter, one of Tech's most popular "coeds." They seemed to enjoy the fun immensely, and on the entrance of the president, were on their feet to cheer him as quickly as were any of the fellows.

In the balcony were seated many of the friends of the class, who had chosen this point of vantage the better to view what was going on below them. Naturally a gathering of gay and graceful femininity formed the greater portion of this critical but easily satisfied audience, and the louder the noise and the greater the excitement, the better they seemed to like it.

As for the concert itself, whoever came to enjoy the music must have gone home dissatisfied, for but little were they able to hear. But if any one came to witness college spirit and college enthusiasm let loose, they could hardly help but be well repaid. It was a program of noise, noise noise, from beginning to end, and when the students were no longer able to make enough of a clamor tables and chairs, and bottles and glasses, were crashed together in eager endeavors to outdo any college celebration of the kind that has ever been held before.

The entrance of Pres and Mrs Pritchett, shortly after 9 o'clock, was an occasion for the greatest demonstration of the evening. His table was far down in the front of the hall, and the only path to it lay between two lines of applauding, appreciating students, eager to show, by whatever means they could, their love and their regard for Tech's popular president. Mrs Pritchett, too, the cynosure of all eyes, never appeared to better advantage, and as she passed down the aisle with the president, she greeted the applauding students with grateful glances and graceful salutes. The president's party, too, seemed to enjoy the excitement, for they staid until the very last piece on the program was being played.

CLIPPING FROM

DATE

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE June

"Tech" Night at the "Pops."

In three weeks the 17th season of the "pops" will be at an end and so the special nights crowd in thick and fast just now. Tonight is announced as "Technology" night, next Monday as "Harvard" night, and Monday, June 23, as "graduates'" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The program for tonight follows:

March, The Continentals.....Brooke
Arabian Nights waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide overture.....Rossini
Selection, Messenger Boy.....Monckton
Intermezzo, Naila.....Delibes
Night in Granada overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, Swinging Girl.....Herbert
Tech, production of 1902.
Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
Carmen selection.....Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March.....Kral

Nickelodeon.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM Republic Boston Mass

DATE 6/7/02

also spend the summer at Hull in their cottage on the hill.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Cunnif were at the "pops" on Monday evening.

Miss Alice Murray will pass the summer with her sister, Mrs. Edward Machugh, who has taken a cottage for the season at Kenburma. Mrs. Machugh's many friends will be glad to learn that her young sons are convalescing.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL June

DATE

THE "POPS."

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts is at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a "Wagner" program for tomorrow (Monday) evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16th, and "Graduates" night for the 23d. The program for Monday evening is as follows:

Coronation March.....Meyerbeer
Overture, "Magic Flute".....Mozart
Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song"...Strauss
Selection, "Traviata".....Verdi
Tone Pictures from the "Valkyrie"..Wagner
(First time.)
a. Solvejg's Song.....Grieg
b. Norwegian Dance.....Grieg
Procession of the Women.....Wagner
Overture, "Tannhäuser".....Wagner
Introduction to Act III. and Dance of Apprentices from "Die Meistersinger".....Wagner
Lamento.....Slocum
Loin du Bal.....Gillet
March, "Hobson's Choice.....Strube

DEAD SEVERAL DAYS

CLIPPING FROM

DATE

BOSTON (Mass.) JOURNAL June

THE "POPS."

In a short three weeks the 17th season o fthe "Pops" will be at an end, and the usual success of the past will have been recorded. Special nights crowd in thick and fast just now, for tonight is "Technology Night." Next Monday is "Harvard" night, and Monday, June 23d, is "Graduates" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The program for tonight follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Brooke
Arabian Nights Waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide Overture.....Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy".....Monckton
Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
Night in Granada Overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, "Swinging Girl".....Herbert
"Tech," Production of 1902.
Traumbilder, Fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte Gavotte.....Gillet
Carmen Selection.....Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March.....Kral

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST

DATE June 8 1902.

The "Pops"

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts is at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a Wagner programme for tomorrow (Monday) evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16, and "Graduates'" night for the 23d. The programme for tomorrow evening is:

"Coronation March," Meyerbeer; overture, "Magic Flute," Mozart; waltz, "Wine, Women and Song," Strauss; selection, "Traviata," Verdi; tone pictures from the "Valkyrie," Wagner; "Solvejg's Song," Grieg; "Norwegian Dance," Grieg; "Procession of the Women," Wagner; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; introduction to Act III. and dance of apprentices from "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; "Lamento," Slocum; "Loin du Bal," Gillet; march, "Hobson's Choice," Strube.

Norumbega Park

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON EVENING GLOBE June

DATE

"Tech" Night at the "Pops."

In three weeks the 17th season of the "pops" will be at an end and so the special nights crowd in thick and fast just now. Tonight is announced as "Technology" night, next Monday as "Harvard" night, and Monday, June 23, as "graduates'" night, when the entire floor is assigned to an enormous assemblage of Harvard graduates for the fifth consecutive season. The program for tonight follows:

March, The Continentals.....Brooke
Arabian Nights waltz.....Strauss
Semiramide overture.....Rossini
Selection, Messenger Boy.....Monckton
Intermezzo, Naila.....Delibes
Night in Granada overture.....Kreutzer
Selection, Swinging Girl.....Herbert
Tech, production of 1902.
Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
Carmen selection.....Bizet
Hoch Habsburg march.....Kral

Nickelodeon

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT

DATE June 10

Symphony Hall: The Pops

In three weeks the seventeenth season o the "Pops" will be at an end and so th special nights crowd in thick and fast ju now. Last night was Wagner night, an one of the best audiences of the season wa present. The programme was an excellen one. Mr. Strube's guidance of the orche tra through the "Tannhaüser" overture wa masterly. The effect was remarkable in th beautiful shading given the piece; the en tire audience sat silent throughout th number, and at the close rewarded th orchestra with tremendous applause, fo which the very rare "extra" was given Tonight is announced as "Technology night, next Monday as "Harvard" nigh and Monday, June 23, as "graduates' night, when the entire floor is assigned an enormous assemblage of Harvard gradu ates for the fifth consecutive season. Th programme for tonight follows:

March, "The Continentals".....Broo
"Arabian Nights" waltz.....Strau
Semiramide overture.....Rossi
Selection, "Messenger Boy".....Monckt
Intermezo, "Naida".....Delib
"Night in Granada" overture.....Kreutz
Selection, "Singing Girl".....Herbert
Tech, production of 1902.
Traumbilder, fantasy.....Lumbye
Entr'acte gavotte.....Gillet
"Carmen" selection.....Bizet
"Hoch Habsburg" march.....Kral

Note and Comment

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST June 10

DATE

The "Pops"

Conductor Gustav Strube's second week opened last night at the "Pops" with three weeks remaining in the 17th season which closes Saturday, June 28. No better orchestra, superior music or attractive auditorium can be found anywhere and the success of these concerts is the best possible evidence of the public appreciation. Tonight's programme is as follows: March, "The Continentals," Brooke; "Arabian Nights" waltz, Strauss; "Semiramide" overture, Rossini; selection, "Messenger Boy," Monckton; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; "Night in Grenada" overture, Kreutzer; selection, "Swinging Girl," Herbert; "Tech," production of 1902; Traumbilder, fantasie, Lumbye; Entr'acte gavotte, Gillet; "Carmen" selection, Bizet; "Hoch Habsburg" march, Kral.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON (Mass.) EVE. HERALD
DATE June 10 1902.

THE "POPS."

Mr. Strube began the sixth week of the "Pops" last evening with a special "Wagner" programme. All went well and was well received. For tonight the Institute of Technology is to be particularly distinguished, and its representatives will undoubtedly return the compliment. The programme has been ingeniously contrived, and we quote it that the reader may puzzle out its little acrostic:

March, "The Continentals" ..... Brooke
Arabian Nights Waltz ..... Strauss
Semiramide overture ..... Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy" ..... Monckton

Intermezzo, "Naila" ..... Delibes
Night in Granada overture ..... Kreutzer
Selection, "Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
"Tech," production of 1902.

Traumbilder, fantasy ..... Lumbye
Entr'acte Gavotte ..... Gillet
Carmen selection ..... Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March ..... Kral

NORUMBEGA PARK

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT
DATE June 11 1902.

Tree could [illegible] having a most attractive coronation production.

It was "Tech" night at the Pops concerts last evening, and an effervescent college spirit played havoc with a programme which was made up largely of the most popular selections of "Tech" music. After "The Continentals" overture and the Strauss "Arabian Nights" waltz, seven stormy-voiced and leather-lunged souls of the class of '99, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, started a cheer. After that the music didn't really count. It made no difference what was being played, the college men were ready to cheer, and their enthusiasm reached a climax when President Pritchett entered, with Mrs. Pritchett. The breezy college and class cheers grew into a storm. Standing on chairs and tables, the "Tech" men gave "Prexy" the heartiest of salutes, to which he and Mrs. Pritchett bowed gracious acknowledgment. After that the college boys joined in vocal choruses as various numbers were interjected. "The Singing Girl," which was printed on the programme as "The Swinging Girl," was supplemented by a solo by one of the "Tech" boys and a chorus of some twenty voices, with [illegible] the occasion, setting forth the [illegible] sonal characteristics of some of the professors. It was a great night, and although some of the choruses were ragged, and the work of the orchestra counted for little in the tumult, it was generally considered, by those who were there, as one of the best programmes made up at Symphony Hall since the Pops opened.

Further public recitals in the final playing test at the Faulton Pianofortes [illegible]

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts is at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a Wagner programme for Monday evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16, and "Graduates" night for the twenty-third.

The plans for next season which have been made for Herbert, Kelcey and Miss Elsie Swanson leaked out yesterday and caused no little comment.

BOSTON BUDGET
DATE June 8 1902.

CLIPPING FROM
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM
Boston Mass
DATE 6/7/02.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON POST
DATE June 11 1902

TECH NIGHT

A Gala Crowd of Students Gather at the Pop Concerts and Make Merry With Class Yells

Last evening was Tech night at the Pop concert in Symphony Hall, and everybody present was well aware that "there was something doing" before the programme was completed. The floor was well filled and quite a company occupied the balconies. There were no special decorations, but on the pipes of the big organ was the word "Tech" done in colored electric lights.

Conductor Strube had arranged a programme so that the titles of the different selections made an acrostic spelling "Mass. Inst. Tech," but before the concert was finished the leader found it necessary to deviate from the numbers he had picked out. All went along smoothly and with little demonstration until the first intermission. There had been some demonstrative applause and a few yells, but things were comparatively quiet.

During the first intermission the boys began to wake up. One coterie of students seated near the centre aisle started the fun with the yell "Technology, '99," and then the different classes all over the house joined in. Soon pandemonium reigned, and between the different numbers the noise was terrific. Suddenly one of the students came rushing down the broad aisle calling out "Watch the door," and a minute later President Pritchard and Mrs. Pritchard entered the hall. The applause was deafening, and some of the more enthusiastic students mounted the tables to cheer the popular instructor.

From this time on Conductor Strube had his programme arranged for him as the boys in unison named the pieces they desired and the leader good-naturedly played them. The students sang some of the songs, and in one march a young man procured a tin waiter and utilized it as a tambourine in time with the music. There was but little roughness in spite of the racket, and participants as well as spectators enjoyed the sport. Altogether it was one of the liveliest and most pleasing "Tech" nights ever given at the Pops.

The Symphony Hall Concerts.

One of the best places to spend an evening is at Symphony Hall, where the "Pop" concerts continue to attract large audiences. The selections given by the well trained orchestra are particularly good this season, and so varied that all tastes are satisfied. The management is providing the best of service at the tables, and everything possible is done for the comfort of patrons.

BOSTON ADVERTISER
DATE June 12 1902.

The "Pops" continue to attract great crowds of people who appreciate good music and the charming surroundings.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 12 1902.

[illegible] Bonnet's [illegible] at the Olympia Nelodeon this week is the most amusing feature of the show.

The special nights at the "pops" in Symphony hall next week will be "Harvard" on Monday and "soloists" Wednesday.

The character song with its many changes in dialect that Madge Maitland

4
BOSTON POST

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE POPS

Last night was Harvard night at the Pops, and from 8 to 11 nothing but Crimson floated over the spacious floor of Symphony Hall.

The celebration was not so noisy or so boisterous a one as many in the past, but it probably has never been eclipsed in the solid enjoyment and rollicking fun which characterized it from beginning to end.

Old grads from every class back to the 60's were there, seated in little groups from floor to gallery, and their cheers were given with a will—none the less sincere, if not so noisy as the cheers of "Two," "Three," "Four" and "Five," the four classes of the Harvard of today.

Mingled with the other cheers was also a new slogan—one which has not been heard in connection with Harvard before, but which will play its usual important part next fall.

"Six" was the watchword—the sturdy cry of those youngsters who, watching the thing as outsiders, still realized that they would be real, active and essertially loyal participants in their freshman pops next year.

The usual selections of the orchestra elicited great applause, but the applause turned to ovation when the college airs began. Of these selections from "Queen Philippine," the Pi Eta's show and "Hi-Ka-Ya," the Hasty Pudding production, were enthusiastically received, while "Our Director," the "Stein Song" and Harvard's old football hymn were sung over and over again.

Cries for "King Dodo" were raised and lowered—in true operatic style throughout the evening, but to no avail. It was Harvard night, and everything was Harvard.

"We want Hannah" was also heard, Hannah being the heroine of a popular megaphone song at Harvard which doesn't always impress the esthetic ear. So it wasn't given last night.

"We want Frantz," however, was repeated, with better success, and at the close of the evening the big first baseman took his familiar stand in front and led the entire house in "Down with Yale," "Hard Luck For Poor, Old Eli" and "For Harvard."

Boston Daily Globe.
TUESDAY, JUNE 17, 1902.
MINIATURE ALMANAC.....JUNE 17

HARVARD'S POP CONCERT.

Students with Their Glee Club and Fair Friends Have Things Largely to Their Taste.

The night dedicated to Harvard at the pop concerts has always been a big success, and last evening was no exception to the rule, for Symphony hall was crowded to the doors, and the proverbial Harvard good cheer was constantly on tap.

The younger element was in the majority, and kept the class and college cheers ringing throughout the evening.

The presence of the Harvard glee club was sufficiently inspiring to set the merry throng singing drinking songs and crimson battle songs, which brought out round after round of applause.

The orchestra also performed a fine program of music, one of the selections from "King Dodo" calling for a demonstration, in which orchestra, glee club and audience took a hand.

Conductor King of the glee club had charge of the music until the program reached the football songs and "Fair Harvard," which were conducted from the stage by Franz, whose presence inspired the audience. "Hail to the Crimson," "Cruiser Harvard" and "Up the Street" only served to bring out the fine points of the glee club and orchestra, as did "The Crimson Forever" and "On to Victory."

It remained for "Fair Harvard" to bring the audience to its feet and all joined in singing the dear old song. The cheering was taken up from various sections of the house, and small clumps of students from other institutions gave vent to their feelings, only to be drowned by the monster Crimson wave that reverberated throughout the vast building.

From a social standpoint the concert was quite as great a success as from a musical, for the fair sex were out in their daintiest of summer finery and the auditorium and balconies could easily be likened to a dense mass of waving spring flowers, so notable was the millinery display.

[illegible]
of the program.

Across the organ front was "Harvard" in huge crimson letters of electric light bulbs. Crimson banners, with "Harvard" upon them, [illegible] over the fronts of the first and second balconies. The Harvard Glee Club and the chorus of the Pi Eta [illegible] were both present and did some excellent singing.

A selection from the Pi Eta production, "Queen Philippine," composed by Dennison, was played. In recognition of the fact that Max Zach orchestrated the piece he was requested to conduct when it was played and he did. The students gave him a great reception.

All hands joined in singing the air when "Our Director" was played, the piece which is always sung at the great football and baseball games. This was also true with the "Stein Song," and "Fair Harvard," the closing piece. The ever popular Frantz led the singing.

Mr. Gustave Strub, the conductor of the orchestra, was very obliging and threw in several extras. The Harvard boys cheered him and Mr. Zach and, of course, they cheered Harvard many, many times.

4 June 17
BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER
Established 1812.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE "POPS."

Harvard night at the "Pops" this year was a great occasion. Symphony hall was packed with students and their willing coadjutors—the fair sex—to the proper exclusion of the usual contingent.

This is the second time the new building has been tested as to its capacity for bearing the strain of a great volume of sound, the first occasion being the Harvard concert of last year, and though the rafters were heard to creak and groan at intervals of comparative quiet, the noble building is believed to be still intact.

As usual, the programme was made up largely of the productions of the muse of fair Harvard, several of these being works produced within the past year.

It is rumored that Stribe's march "Cruiser Harvard," which opened the programme was written for the occasion. The first part of the evening's bill closed with a selection from "Queen Philippine," the Pi Eta production of this year, which was orchestrated by Max Zach for this occasion, and led by that conductor. He was the recipient of a stormy ovation and a magnificent bunch of "American Beauties" when he made his final bow to the audience.

Orville Frantz, the greatest Rah! Rah! leader that Harvard has ever produced, presided over this important part of the evening from a station on the platform. The number that was best appreciated of all the programme appeared to be the march "Our Director," possibly because the Harvard song, that is part of it, gave the best opportunity for the display of Mr. Frantz's genius, aided by several hundred more than willing coadjutors.

Other Crimson favorites were the gems from "Hi-Ka-Ya," the Pudding operetta of the year, and "The Crimson Ever." The programme closed appropriately with "Fair Harvard," amid cheering that would have signalized a national convention.

The Glee Club enlivened the intervals of the musical programme and were a particular feature.

[134]

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON (MASS.) EVE. HERALD
DATE June 16 1902.

THE "POPS."

Mr. Strube began the sixth week of the "Pops" last evening with a special "Wagner" programme. All went well and was well received. For tonight the Institute of Technology is to be particularly distinguished, and its representatives will undoubtedly return the compliment. The programme has been ingeniously contrived, and we quote it that the reader may puzzle out its little acrostic:

March, "The Continentals" ..... Brooke
Arabian Nights Waltz ..... Strauss
Semiramide overture ..... Rossini
Selection, "Messenger Boy" ..... Monckton

Intermezzo, "Naila" ..... Delibes
Night in Granada overture ..... Kreutzer
Selection, "Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
"Tech," production of 1902.

Traumbilder, fantasy ..... Lumbye
Entr'acte Gavotte ..... Gillet
Carmen selection ..... Bizet
Hoch Habsburg March ..... Kral

NORIMBEGA PARK

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT
DATE June 16 1902.

Tree could congratulate himself on having a most attractive coronation production.

It was "Tech" night at the Pop concerts last evening, and an effervescent college spirit played havoc with a programme which was made up largely of the most popular selections of "Tech" music. After "The Continentals" overture and the Strauss "Arabian Nights" waltz, seven stormy-voiced and leather-lunged souls of the class of '99, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, started a cheer. After that the music did n't really count. It made no difference what was being played, the college men were ready to cheer, and their enthusiasm reached a climax when President Pritchett entered, with Mrs. Pritchett. The breezy college and class cheers grew into a storm. Standing on chairs and tables, the "Tech" men gave "Prexy" the heartiest of salutes, to which he and Mrs. Pritchett bowed gracious acknowledgment. After that the college boys joined in vocal choruses as various numbers were interjected. "The Singing Girl," which was printed on the programme as "The Swinging Girl," was supplemented by a solo by one of the "Tech" boys and a chorus of some twenty voices, with [illegible] the occasion, setting forth the [illegible] characteristics of some of the professors. It was a great night, and although some of the choruses were ragged, and the work of the orchestra counted for little in the tumult, it was generally considered, by those who were there, as one of the best programmes made up at Symphony Hall since the Pops opened.

Further public recitals in the final playing test at the Faelton [illegible]

Three weeks more and the season of "Pop" concerts is at an end. Conductor Strube has arranged a Wagner programme for Monday evening, and Tuesday evening will be "Tech" night, when the friends and students of this popular

Boston institution are expected in large numbers. "Harvard" night has been appointed for Monday, June 16, and "Graduates" night for the twenty-third.

The plans for next season which have been made for Herbert Kelcey and Miss Effie Shannon leaked out yesterday and caused no little com

BOSTON BUDGET
DATE June 4 1902.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU
45 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK
68 DEVONSHIRE STREET, BOSTON
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM Boston Transcript
DATE 6/7/02.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON POST
DATE June 16 1902.

TECH NIGHT

A Gala Crowd of Students Gather at the Pop Concerts and Make Merry With Class Yells

Last evening was Tech night at the Pop concert in Symphony Hall, and everybody present was well aware that "there was something doing" before the programme was completed. The floor was well filled and quite a company occupied the balconies. There were no special decorations, but on the pipes of the big organ was the word "Tech" done in colored electric lights.

Conductor Strube had arranged a programme so that the titles of the different selections made an acrostic spelling "Mass. Inst. Tech," but before the concert was finished the leader found it necessary to deviate from the numbers he had picked out. All went along smoothly and with little demonstration until the first intermission. There had been some demonstrative applause and a few yells, but things were comparatively quiet.

During the first intermission the boys began to wake up. One coterie of students seated near the centre aisle started the fun with the yell "Technology, '99," and then the different classes all over the house joined in. Soon pandemonium reigned, and between the different numbers the noise was terrific. Suddenly one of the students came rushing down the broad aisle calling out "Watch the door," and a minute later President Pritchard and Mrs. Pritchard entered the hall. The applause was deafening, and some of the more enthusiastic students mounted the tables to cheer the popular instructor.

From this time on Conductor Strube had his programme arranged for him as the boys in unison named the pieces they desired and the leader good-naturedly played them. The students sang some of the songs, and in one march a young man procured a tin waiter and utilized it as a tambourine in time with the music. There was but little roughness in spite of the racket, and participants as well as spectators enjoyed the sport. Altogether it was one of the liveliest and most pleasing "Tech" nights ever given at the Pops.

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO
CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON POST
DATE June 16 1902.

The Symphony Hall Concerts.

One of the best places to spend an evening is at Symphony Hall, where the "Pop" concerts continue to attract large audiences. The selections given by the well trained orchestra are particularly good this season, and so varied that all tastes are satisfied. The management is providing the best of service at the tables, and everything possible is done for the comfort of patrons.

BOSTON ADVERTISER
DATE June 17 1902.

The "Pops" continue to attract great crowds of people who appreciate good music and the charming surroundings.

BOSTON MORNING GLOBE
DATE June 17 1902.

[illegible] women's race at the Nickelodeon this week is the most amusing feature of the show.

The special nights at the "pops" in Symphony hall next week will be "Harvard" on Monday and "soloists" Wednesday.

The character song with its many changes in dialect that Madge Maitland

---

4 June 17
BOSTON POST.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE POPS

Last night was Harvard night at the Pops, and from 8 to 11 nothing but Crimson floated over the spacious floor of Symphony Hall.

The celebration was not so noisy or so boisterous a one as many in the past, but it probably has never been eclipsed in the solid enjoyment and rollicking fun which characterized it from beginning to end.

Old grads from every class back to the 60's were there, seated in little groups from floor to gallery, and their cheers were given with a will—none the less sincere, if not so noisy as the cheers of "Two," "Three," "Four" and "Five," the four classes of the Harvard of today.

Mingled with the other cheers was also a new slogan—one which has not been heard in connection with Harvard before, but which will play its usual important part next fall.

"Six" was the watchword—the sturdy cry of those youngsters who, watching the thing as outsiders, still realized that they would be real, active and essertially loyal participants in their freshman pops next year.

The usual selections of the orchestra elicited great applause, but the applause turned to ovation when the college airs began. Of these selections from "Queen Philippine," the Pi Eta's show, and "Hi-Ka-Ya," the Hasty Pudding production, were enthusiastically received, while "Our Director," the "Stein Song" and Harvard's old football hymn were sung over and over again.

Cries for "King Dodo" were raised and lowered—in true operatic style throughout the evening, but to no avail. It was Harvard night, and everything was Harvard.

"We want Hannah" was also heard, Hannah being the heroine of a popular megaphone song at Harvard which doesn't always impress the esthetic ear. So it wasn't given last night.

"We want Frantz," however, was repeated, with better success, and at the close of the evening the big first baseman took his familiar stand in front and led the entire house in "Down with Yale," "Hard Luck For Poor, Old Eli" and "For Harvard."

Boston Daily Globe.
TUESDAY, JUNE 17, 1902.

MINIATURE ALMANAC.....JUNE 17

HARVARD'S POP CONCERT.

Students with Their Glee Club and Fair Friends Have Things Largely to Their Taste.

The night dedicated to Harvard at the pop concerts has always been a big success, and last evening was no exception to the rule, for Symphony hall was crowded to the doors, and the proverbial Harvard good cheer was constantly on tap.

The younger element was in the majority, and kept the class and college cheers ringing throughout the evening.

The presence of the Harvard glee club was sufficiently inspiring to set the merry throng singing drinking songs and crimson battle songs, which brought out round after round of applause.

The orchestra also performed a fine program of music, one of the selections from "King Dodo" calling for a demonstration, in which orchestra, glee club and audience took a hand.

Conductor King of the glee club had charge of the music until the program reached the football songs and "Fair Harvard," which were conducted from the stage by Franz, whose presence inspired the audience. "Hail to the Crimson," "Cruiser Harvard" and "Up the Street" only served to bring out the fine points of the glee club and orchestra, as did "The Crimson Forever" and "On to Victory."

It remained for "Fair Harvard" to bring the audience to its feet and all joined in singing the dear old song. The cheering was taken up from various sections of the house, and small clumps of students from other institutions gave vent to their feelings, only to be drowned by the monster Crimson wave that reverberated throughout the vast building.

From a social standpoint the concert was quite as great a success as from a musical, for the fair sex were out in their daintiest of summer finery and the auditorium and balconies could easily be likened to a dense mass of waving spring flowers, so notable was the millinery display.

TUESDAY, JUNE 17, 1902.

HARVARD ENTHUSIASM

It was Harvard Night at the Pops last night. Symphony Hall was thronged with "grads" and undergraduates of the university across the Charles, and the college songs and music constituted the principal part of the program.

Across the organ front was "Harvard" in huge crimson letters made of electric light bulbs. Crimson banners, with "Harvard" upon them, hung over the fronts of the first and second balconies. The Harvard Glee Club and the chorus of the Pi Eta Society were both present and did some excellent singing.

A selection from the Pi Eta production, "Queen Philippine," composed by Dennison, was played. In recognition of the fact that Max Zach orchestrated the piece he was requested to conduct when it was played and he did. The students gave him a great reception.

All hands joined in singing the air when "Our Director" was played, the piece which is always sung at the great football and baseball games. This was also true with the "Stein Song," and "Fair Harvard," the closing piece. The ever popular Frantz led the singing.

Mr. Gustave Strub, the conductor of the orchestra, was very obliging and threw in several extras. The Harvard boys cheered him and Mr. Zach and, of course, they cheered Harvard many, many times.

---

4 June 17
BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER
Established 1813.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE "POPS."

Harvard night at the "Pops" this year was a great occasion. Symphony hall was packed with students and their willing coadjutors—the fair sex—to the proper exclusion of the usual contingent.

This is the second time the new building has been tested as to its capacity for bearing the strain of a great volume of sound, the first occasion being the Harvard concert of last year, and though the rafters were heard to creak and groan at intervals of comparative quiet, the noble building is believed to be still intact.

As usual, the programme was made up largely of the productions of the muse of fair Harvard, several of these being works produced within the past year.

It is rumored that Stribe's march "Cruiser Harvard," which opened the programme was written for the occasion. The first part of the evening's bill closed with a selection from "Queen Philippine," the Pi Eta production of this year, which was orchestrated by Max Zach for this occasion, and led by that conductor. He was the recipient of a stormy ovation and a magnificent bunch of "American Beauties" when he made his final bow to the audience.

Orville Frantz, the greatest Rah! Rah! leader that Harvard has ever produced, presided over this important part of the evening from a station on the platform. The number that was best appreciated of all the programme appeared to be the march "Our Director," possibly because the Harvard song, that is part of it, gave the best opportunity for the display of Mr. Frantz's genius, aided by several hundred more than willing coadjutors.

Other Crimson favorites were the gems from "Hi-Ka-Ya," the Pudding operetta of the year, and "The Crimson Ever." The programme closed appropriately with "Fair Harvard," amid cheering that would have signalized a national convention.

The Glee Club enlivened the intervals of the musical programme and were a particular feature.

[134]

SYMPHONY HALL

Massachusetts and Huntington Avenues

POPS

Seventeenth Season

EVERY NIGHT EXCEPT SUNDAY

May 5 to June 28, inclusive

GRADUATES' NIGHT

Monday, June 23d

Fall River Line Journal.

A WEEKLY PUBLICATION, CONTAINING THE OFFICIAL TIME TABLES AND OTHER INFORMATION OF THE FALL RIVER LINE

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON.

P O P S

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

MAY 5th to JUNE 28th.

Every Evening Except Sunday.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats, 25c. Extra.

RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBORO

CLIPPING FROM Times Boston Mass

DATE 6/14/02

The "Pop" Concerts.

One of the great nights of the season will be Monday, June 16. It will be Harvard night and a large crowd is sure to be in attendance, and the Harvards will sure to be in a jovial mood, and their frequent lusty yells will be sure to be heard between the numbers, giving great additional interest to the evening's enjoyment. The programme, which is an unusually attractive one, is as follows:

March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse
Overture, "Raymond" ..... Thomas
Waltz, "Estudiantina" ..... Waldteufel
Selection, "Sphinx" ..... Thompson
Overture, "Light Cavalry"" ..... Suppe
Selection, "Messenger Boy" ..... Monckton
Valse Bleue ..... Margis
Pi Eta Production of 1902.
March, "Hail to the Crimson" ..... Henry
March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Waltz, "Jolly Students" ..... Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
Organ, Mr. John Marshall.
March, "Our Director" ..... Bigelow

Boston Journal.

TUESDAY, JUNE 24, 1902.

HARVARD GRADS.

A Merry Night at the Pops—Ball Team Enthusiastically Cheered.

Harvard graduates, old and young, rich and poor, filled the floor of Symphony Hall last night. The classes ran from '55, with two gray-haired representatives sitting under their banner, to this spring's graduates. The largest delegation was fom '99, whose triennial reunion was held earlier in the evening at the Hotel Bellevue, together with that of '96. The class of '92 also had a large contingent, who marched in with a big crimson banner waving at the head of the procession, and each man carrying a small flag.

Standards had been raised on the tables with the class numerals on crimson banners. The classes were grouped around these, and as the "grads" at times became a howling mob, when some favorite Harvard air was played, they waved the banners in unison with the music. Later on hats, chairs, programs, and anything or everything were waved in the air. The balconies were decorated with crimson streamers and were filled with ladies who were almost as enthusiastic as the men they were watching below.

Of course the first piece on the program was "Up the Street," and the last was "Fair Harvard." Between were Harvard airs and old-time favorites of student days at the Pop concerts. The "Stein Song," and the "On to Victory," football song, made the biggest hit with the Harvard men. They stood up and joined in the choruses with a will.

Between the numbers and during the intermission the cheers were continuous. One class after another would take a fit of cheering, and everybody, from Henry Lee Higginson to Conductor Strube, was honored. The baseball team, which is to play Yale today, was cheered more than anything else. Benjamin Dibblee, the famous half-back, and Arthur Adams, 1st '99, "Joe" Hallowell, another football hero of times past, led '96. When Major Higginson left, while the "Cruiser Harvard March" was being played, there was a tremendous outburst. During the second intermission Neil Bancroft, '92, of Salem, mounted the conductor's platform and led united cheers for the men from the west. Major Higginson, President Eliot, and President Hadley.

When the singing of "Fair Harvard" [illegible]

Home Journal

CLIPPING FROM Boston Mass

DATE 6/14/02

The merry Pop concerts at Symphony Hall continue to attract large numbers of people who want to hear fine music and at the same time partake of those refreshing beverages which nature demands in hot weather. The musical programmes are made up with the good taste and excellence of judgment for which this organization is famous, and there is an ideal proportion of classic and popular music offered each evening.

CLIPPING FROM

BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT

DATE June 23 1902.

Harvard Night at the "Pops"

Monday was "Harvard Night" at the Pop concerts, and Symphony Hall was filled to overflowing, several hundred being turned away. The management, with usual tact, had provided a programme into which extra Harvard music could be interjected at will, and all the gaps were filled before the evening was over. Musically it was a strong programme, for such numbers of Mr. Morse's "Up the Street" and selections from the Pi Eta musical production have a value quite apart from the university association. Manager Comee, being an old Harvard man himself, gathered the Glee Club around him, and they shone resplendently in the choruses. The "Stein Song" came between Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" and selections from the Hasty Pudding opera, and brought out a rousing burst of melody. The closing number, of course, was "Fair Harvard," in which everybody joined, and with class yells, cheers for the crew, the college, Manager Comee and the conductor, the programme came to an end with a decided fortissimo movement.

SYMPHONY HALL

Massachusetts and Huntington Avenues

POPS

Seventeenth Season

EVERY NIGHT EXCEPT SUNDAY

May 5 to June 28, inclusive

GRADUATES' NIGHT

Monday, June 23d

Fall River Line Journal.

A WEEKLY PUBLICATION, CONTAINING THE OFFICIAL TIME TABLES AND OTHER INFORMATION OF THE FALL RIVER LINE

SYMPHONY HALL,

BOSTON.

P O P S

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

MAY 5th to JUNE 28th.

Every Evening Except Sunday.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats, 25c. Extra.

RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBORO
Ames
CLIPPING FROM
Boston Mass
DATE 6/14/02

The "Pop" Concert.

One of the great nights of the season is Monday, June 16. It will be Harvard night and a large crowd is sure to be in attendance and the Harvards will sure to be in a jolly mood, and their frequent lusty yells will be sure to be heard between the numbers, giving great additional interest to the evening's enjoyment. The programme, which is an unusually attractive one, is as follows:

March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse
Overture, "Raymond" ..... Lambert
Waltz, "Estudiantina" ..... Waldteufel
Selection, "Sphinx" ..... Thomas
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
Selection, "Messenger Boy" ..... Monckton
Valse Bleue ..... Metra
Pi Eta Production of 1902.
March, "Hail to the Crimson" ..... Henry
March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Waltz, "Jolly Students" ..... Vollstedt
Fair Harvard.
Organ, Mr. John Marshall.
March, "Our Director" ..... Bigelow

Boston Journal.

TUESDAY, JUNE 24, 1902.

HARVARD GRADS.

A Merry Night at the Pops—Ball Team Enthusiastically Cheered.

Harvard graduates, old and young, rich and poor, filled the floor of Symphony Hall last night. The classes ran from '55, with two gray-haired representatives sitting under their banner, to this spring's graduates. The largest delegation was fom '99, whose triennial reunion was held earlier in the evening at the Hotel Bellevue, together with that of '96. The class of '92 also had a large contingent, who marched in with a big crimson banner waving at the head of the procession, and each man carrying a small flag.

Standards had been raised on the tables with the class numerals on crimson banners. The classes were grouped around these, and as the "grads" at times became a howling mob, when some favorite Harvard air was played, they waved the banners in unison with the music. Later on hats, chairs, programs, and anything or everything were waved in the air. The balconies were decorated with crimson streamers and were filled with ladies who were almost as enthusiastic as the men they were watching below.

Of course the first piece on the program was "Up the Street," and the last was "Fair Harvard." Between were Harvard airs and old-time favorites of student days at the Pop concerts. The "Stein Song," and the "On to Victory," football song, made the biggest hit with the Harvard men. They stood up and joined in the choruses with a will.

Between the numbers and during the intermission the cheers were continuous. One class after another would take a fit of cheering, and everybody, from Henry Lee Higginson to Conductor Strube, was honored. The baseball team, which is to play Yale today, was cheered more than anything else. Benjamin Dibblee, the famous half-back, and Arthur Adams led '99. "Jojo" Hallowell, another football hero of times past, led '96. When Major Higginson left, while the "Cruiser Harvard March" was being played, there was a tremendous outburst. During the second intermission Neil Rantoul, '92, of Salem, mounted the conductor's platform and led united cheers for the ball team, the crew, Major Higginson, President Eliot and President Roosevelt.

When the strains of "Fair Harvard" began the whole crowd, both balconies and floor, rose and remained standing until the last word hymn was over.

Home Journal
621 MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI
RAILROAD BUILDING, DENVER
CABLE ADDRESS: [illegible]
CLIPPING FROM
Boston Mass
DATE 6/14/02

The merry Pop concerts at Symphony Hall continue to attract large numbers of people who want to hear fine music and at the same time partake of those refreshing beverages which nature demands in hot weather. The musical programmes are made up with the good taste and excellence of judgment for which this organization is famous, and there is an ideal proportion of classic and popular music offered each evening.

CLIPPING FROM
BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT
DATE June

Harvard Night at the "Pops"

Monday was "Harvard Night" at the Pop concerts, and Symphony Hall was filled to overflowing, several hundred being turned away. The management, with usual tact, had provided a programme into which extra Harvard music could be interjected at will, and all the gaps were filled before the evening was over. Musically it was a strong programme, for such numbers of Mr. Morse's "Up the Street" and selections from the Pi Eta musical production have a value quite apart from the university association. Manager Comee, being an old Harvard man himself, gathered the Glee Club around him, and they shone resplendently in the choruses. The "Stein Song" came between Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" and selections from the Hasty Pudding opera, and brought out a rousing burst of melody. The closing number, of course, was "Fair Harvard," in which everybody joined, and with class yells, cheers for the crew, the college, Manager Comee and the conductor, the programme came to an end with a decided fortissimo movement.

HARVARD GRADUATES HAVE A "HOT TIME" CHEERING FOR THE CRIMSON AT THE "POPS."

"GRADUATES' NIGHT" AT THE "POPS."

Classes Vie with One Another in Raising the Roof.

THE MUSICIANS WILT.

They Go Out to Rest Their Ear Drums Whenever Chance Offers.

Two thousand Harvard men climbed on to the band wagon in Symphony Hall last evening, held the whip-hand over the prancing pair, Mirth and Melody, and pulled up at the finish 2½ hours later, having passed 12 musical milestones, all painted a deep, decided crimson, on the "hot-time" highway of graduate happiness.

Incidentally, 50 members of the Symphony orchestra were on board, but they served only to fill in the breathing spells. They were mere accessories to the grand and gleeful "sangerfest" presented by the irrepressible 2000. When the gang was not cheering for Harvard, it was shouting for the waiter, toasting the ladies, waving banners, or tattooing the table tops with mutilated "dead soldiers."

With the petticoats banished to the balconies, where they were stowed away like sweet peas in a florist's box, the choir incorrigible had its own sweet will on the floor below. There were plenty of incentives to "rough house" stunts, yet they behaved fairly well. "Harvard" glowed in crimson letters of fire on the organ front, and both balcony rails were plastered all the way round with red banners, bearing the names of the crew, the nine, the track team and the eleven, and with others displaying a big black "H. Pops. 1902."

The story of the evening's doings is more like the record of an athletic event. Told chronologically, these are the bulletins from the ringside:

8:04 P. M.—Orchestra arrives—on the instalment plan. Musicians plug their ear drums and take a hopeful look at accident insurance policies.

8:09—Ninety-nine arrives—in a bunch. Two hundred of the boys who are holding their first triennial, burst through the doors like Texas steers, and, without invitation, go away back and sit down.

8:11—First cheer of the evening is raised by "'99," the largest turnout on the floor.

8:11:30—Orchestra hits up "Up the Street," and the whole gang, whistling, follows on.

8:20—Maj. Higginson, sitting solitary in the shade of a big '55 banner, is cheered by '99. '82 enters the hall, 30 strong, wearing red ribbons in their button holes.

8:25—Hoarse exchange of cheers between '99 and '96, '97 and '99, '99 and '01.

8:27—'99 rises and cheers three times three for Mr. Comee. Not being in the hall, Mr. Comee makes no speech, but sends a waiter in to ask them "what they'll have."

8:30—About 100 "grads," each bearing a red banner and led by a chap with a flag the size of a blanket, suddenly fill the place with noise and color. They march away down front, cheering lustily for '92; '99 and '97 each give them a slogan.

8:40—'99, hoarse but happy, cheers the baseball team, the crew, Swift and Galbraith, '99 men, coaches of the nine and crew.

8:50—Orchestra is heard for the first time. They play the "Serenade." The gang all join in. '99 yells, somewhat irrelevantly, "a-bas '96."

9:01—'99 starts the first song of the evening. It is "Gen. Grant." Before they are through several bottles are out of commission and three or four cane-seated chairs are way to the bad.

9:05—'96 sings its class song—with a quaver, due either to sentiment or spirits.

8:10-9:20—Intermission is scheduled on the programme, but nobody on the floor notices it. Musicians slink away for fresh ear pads and consultation with Pabst. Cheering continues.

9:40—Orchestra has been bravely at work for 20 minutes, but no one minds them. Finally "Florodora" gets a hearing. Grads join in and shiver a few of the incandescents on the ceiling.

9:55—Maj. Higginson leaves the hall, having hewed a path through waving limbs and arms and heavy laden waiters.

10:05—Maj. Higginson reaches the lobby, clothed and in his right mind. The tributes of at least 10 different classes echo in his ears.

10:06—Orchestra plays "On to Victory." To the tune of the "Marsellaise," the whole floor arises and sings this roof-raising paean.

10:10—The band plays on. This time it is "Glory to the Crimson." Every one shouts the words at the top of his lungs. '92, headed by a man with the big banner, marches and countermarches in the centre aisle. Irresponsible '99 men yell "raus mit 'em."

10:14—The "Stein Song" is sung by the whole crowd. Balconies join in.

10:19—'99 makes a hit by cheering the ladies. Twenty boxes of gloves ripped in grateful applause.

10:30—Intermission. Neal Rantoul, '92, an old crew man, takes front centre stage. With a frog in his throat, he calls for three cheers for Maj. Higginson, the whole floor giving the patron saint of Harvard a rousing oratorio effort. Likewise, they cheer for the crew and the nine. Then comes a cheer for Roosevelt, and this honored son of Harvard is equally favored.

10:23—'99 tries to plant its banner on top of two tables and a chair. Manager Ellis, assisted by Mr. Mudgett and Mr. Roby, acting as special police, order it down. Prolonged groans from '99.

10:27—Orchestra plays "The Star Spangled Banner." Everybody attempts to sing.

10:32—'96 lifts its banner on to the tables and chairs, piled into a tower of Babel. Special police appear and remove the obstacle.

10:34—Old chap from way down front wanders through the aisles calling for three times three for Clarkson, waves his hands and does a solo cheer. Tries three times more and gets the laugh all round.

10:36—"Our Director" is sung by the crowd, preceded by a return engagement of "Up the Street."

10:38—"Fair Harvard," with the organ joining, is sung by the whole floor and both balconies. A '99 man puts his hoof through a cane-bottomed chair.

10:42—"Under the Double Eagle"—signal for lights out and "Auf Wiedersehen."

The remaining five programmes are very attractive. They promise no novelties, but nearly all have solo numbers, and on Saturday night there will be performed one of the strongest and most diversified of the whole season.

Boston Globe.

June 1902

HARVARD NIGHT.

Very Lively Time at the Pop Concert.

Cheering, Singing, Waving of Banners, Some of the Features.

Pretty Girls in Dainty Gowns Enjoyed the Sport.

It was the hottest kind of a hot night at the pop concert in Symphony hall last evening.

It was "Harvard night"—red, red, red!

It was pandemonium at times in the hall, and it is safe to say that there are at least 1000 young men and about the same number of—well, old young men—whose voices are in the husky whisper condition this morning.

It was one continuous yell from 8 o'clock until 10:30. It was a yell of classes from '55 to '01. It was a yell and a rah! rah! rah! from tenor to bass and at times in staccato of the fiercest type, all mingled with song, music and that sort of hilarity in which college men are wont to indulge when they meet in a "bunch," and when the vocal organs have been properly irrigated for the occasion.

Gustav Strube was the conductor of the orchestra, but his baton was not the only one that cut through the thick atmosphere during the evening. There were others. Each class had its baton artist and each one of these artists could give Mr Strube big and little casino on body movements when it came to waving a baton.

These young men were of the strenuous order and the manner in which they led their different classes in cheering bespoke not only great physical and gymnastic ability, but also remarkable lung power and facial expression.

They did not spare themselves and they were not feeling in a mood to be spared. They stood on chairs and tables whenever the opportunity came and waved and yelled until it seemed as if tired human nature could stand it no longer.

Maj Higginson was there with the "boys" and perhaps he didn't get an ovation. He may not have gotten all that was coming to him, but if he can stand much more he certainly is a wonder. He got a rousing reception early in the evening and when he left the hall about 9:45 he got another.

The hall was a sight. Each class had a large crimson banner on a pole planted in the center of a group of tables as a general thing, although there were a few of the older classes that had at the most two tables. Maj Higginson and one or two others sat by themselves under the banner of the class of '55. Then came '71, and the line of classes was pretty well filled up to '01. This year's class was holding a banquet down town in the meantime.

The floor was given up entirely to Harvard men, but the galleries were completely filled with the "sisters, cousins and aunts" of those on the floor, and these women were all splendidly gowned and their appearance added very materially to the picturesqueness of the entire affair.

Over the great organ was the word "Harvard" in crimson electric lights, and this great glow of color when added to the cream and gold decorations, the crimson banners, the beauty of the galleries and the antics of the "boys" on the floor, made it a scene long to be remembered.

Of course Harvard was cheered to the echo, President Roosevelt was cheered, and as has been said, Maj Higginson got his usual ovation. Then the classes began throwing "bouquets" at each other in the shape of cheers, then songs were sung and other songs called for. One class wanted "Our Director," and wanted it very badly; another wanted "Up the Street," and got it, to the relief of all, and others wanted other things, some of which they got and some of which they did not get.

But that made no difference, for good nature was the order of the evening.

Every time a class cheered the banner

June 23

6

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE "POPS"

"It's always fair weather when good fellows get together," as the "Stein Song" goes, aptly describes the scene in Symphony Hall last night when the Harvard "grads" from '55 down to '01 gathered for their annual "Pops" reunion.

A year ago the "grads' enjoyed a limited amount of "rough house' demonstrations. The danger of a similar time prompted those in charge to protest against unlimited freedom, but there was rein enough allowed to make the night a memorable one.

"Rouse mit him," hoarsely cried out '96 to '99 and back went the answer "Abus '96." These two classes fought for the honors of the night and an impartial judge called it a draw.

Cheer after cheer, song after song, flags waving, everyone singing and everyone living again in the atmosphere of John Harvard, all contributed to a jollification meeting difficult to adequately describe.

The classes were assignd to various sctions and the management furnished crimson banners with class numbers. Every seat was taken and several hundred "grads" failed to find room. The galleries were crowded and there was crimson enouhg to make the Harvard men imagine thmselves at Soldiers' Field on football day.

"If 'Teddy' were here," said an '80 man. The "if" was enough to start a wild cheer for President Roosevelt, and the echoes were almost as deafening as the cheers.

Major H. L. Higginson was alone in holding fort for '55. He was the favorite of the hour, and a mighty cheer was tendered hi mas he left the hall. "Ben" Dibblee led the cheering for '99, and he did it well. There were 152 '99 men present, and Dibblee kept them busy.

The '00 and '01 men were a little shy.

Ninety-eight started out well and so did '97, but after an hour '99 and '96 were supreme. They started to hoist the colors, and got as far as two tables and a chair, when the management said nay, and all good-naturedly acquiesced.

Manager Comee was praised on all sides for his assistance, and the orchestra worked like slaves in keeping the singing up to the top notch.

"Up the Street," "Hail to th eCrmison," the "Stein Song," "Fair Harvard" and the "Star-Spangled Banner" brought out the greatest enthusiasm, though '99 made "We Fit" with General Grant" popular and inspiring.

BOSTON HERALD

June 22 1902.

[illegible] applauded. Afterward he was handed a bouquet of crimson roses.

Tuesday night, at the Pops, Miss Roosevelt was in Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Higginson's party. Her gown was of white mousseline de soie, with a bertha of lace, pale blue sash and stock and diamond horse-shoe pin at throat. Her hat was a large black affair with a sweeping plume and taffeta ends drooping to the shoulder. Her wrap was rather Quakerish, a long dark gray cape with one shoulder cape and black silk hood. She had a fine time with the pretzels, which were new to her. Mrs. Higginson also wore white muslin with much lace, the yoke and short sleeves unlined, a black sash and flat black hat with drooping taffeta ends. Mrs. George Lee, in a party nearby, was in deep cream veiling with a white lace bodice and a violet toque. Mrs. Chester Bliss, who came in very late, wore black and white figured silk with applications of white lace. Her toque was of violet straw with white and purple lilacs. Thursday Mr. Kenneth Horton had one of the largest parties, and at Mr. and Mrs. Carteret Fenno's table was Miss Carrie Dabney in black point d'esprit over black taffeta. There were touches of light blue and a corsage bouquet of Jacqueminot roses; black picture hat. Tomorrow night is graduates' night, which means that there will be a crush of Harvard boys and any amount of Harvard demonstration. It will be something for the participants worth remembering.

[illegible] of Beacon and

Cable Address: Clipburo

BOSTON POST

June 22 1902.

The Social Side

With the closing of the week, the Boston season, socially speaking at least, may be said to be practically ended. Certain it is that the finish was characterized by a burst of glory, and every day was marked by something of importance. On the two opening days of the week the Country Club races claimed especial attention, the President's daughter gracing both occasions with her presence, while Harvard night, Monday, at the Pops, will go down in history as one of the most convivial and successful affairs ever known. Wednesday, St. Paul's Church in Brookline was beautifully adorned for the largest wedding of the season in that suburb, Miss Anne Blake and Mr. Frederick Richardson being united in the presence of many fashionables. The weather proved all that might be desired, so that the largely al fresco reception which followed at the Blake residence was charming. The gifts bestowed upon the fortunate young people are almost numberless, and so valuable as to aggregate in themselves a small fortune. One fiasco only characterized the triumphal course of the week, and that was the postponement of the Harvard-Yale ball game on Thursday, necessitated by the downpour. Society was out in full force for the fray, people being determined to see the contest if it materialized. Numberless ruined gowns and depleted hats bear mute evidence to the unkindness of the elements on that occasion. Harvard festivities, of all kinds and descriptions, combined to make the late week pass merrily, and class day passed off with unexcelled eclat, the young hosts fairly outdoing themselves in the number and elaborateness of their entertainments. As usual, it was at Beck Hall where the ultra-fashionable set congregated, and society had a splendid representation at the Hasty Pudding Club and at the Hemenway Gymnasium, where the Pi Eta spread took place. Past graduates of Harvard were met at every turn in the street, renewing old friendships and forming new. Dinners have been given almost without number, and the hotels have reaped a harvest. The reception given by President and Mrs. Eliot at their dignified and spacious home was even more of a crush than heretofore, the number of cards issued and acceptances received being far in excess of the usual number. In the city little remains to interest society, except the Pops, which have still a week to run, and the Back Bay is strongly suggestive of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village." On all the aristocratic boulevards scarcely a house remains open. Shutters are up and the doors boarded securely against possible intrusion. Boston festivities will be a thing of the past until crisp October days drive people back to town and the winter season opens.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON TRANSCRIPT

June 21 1902.

The "Pops"

One week from tonight the "Pop" season of concerts at Symphony Hall is at an end. Monday evening will be "Graduates" night and for this night only every seat on the floor has been reserved for the graduates of Harvard College. There will be no ladies on the floor, but provision has been made and seats reserved in the balconies. The advance sale of tickets indicates the largest audience of the season, and this always means much enthusism. Conductor Strube has taken much care in arranging the closing programmes as will be seen by the programme which follows for this evening:

March, "Radetzky"	Strauss
Overture, "Stradella"	Flotow
Waltz, "Les Patineurs"	Waldteufel
Selection, "Faust"	Gounod
Hungarian Rhapsody in D	Lizst
Valse Lente and Pizzicato, from "Sylvia"	Délibes
Prelude, act 1., "Lohengrin"	Wagner
Overture, "Freischütz"	Weber
Waltz, "Blue Danube"	Strauss
Entr'acte, "La Colombe"	Gounod
Ronde d'Amour	Westerhout
March, "Teufel"	Suppé

PPING FROM BOSTON GLOBE

June 22 1902.

TABLE GOSSIP.

—There have been some delightful evenings at the Pops the past week, so many visitors from other cities have been in Boston for the races and class-day exercises, and found this a pleasant way of passing the evenings. On Tuesday evening Miss Alice Roosevelt came with Mr and Mrs Mumford of Chestnut hill, the latter an aunt of Miss Roosevelt, and others. Miss Roosevelt wore white lace over white silk, with pale blue sash, and a black picture hat. Mr and Mrs Carteret Fenno brought Miss Marion Peabody, Miss Marian Fenno and others with them on Thursday evening. Mrs Fenno was in pale gray veiling, the bodice done with white lace. Her hat was crimson, straw and flowers. Miss Peabody was in a gown of thin black material, with insertions of black lace put on in diamond form, and a black plumed hat. Miss Fenno was in black taffeta, the coat opening over white, and trimmed with gold embroidery. All the ladies at the table wore corsage bouquets of crimson roses. Mr Kenneth Horton was one of a large party having two tables, and Dr Frederic L. Jack was with a party of gentlemen. The concerts will close next Saturday evening, a fact much to be regretted by stay-at-homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen [illegible]

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HERALD

June 22 1902.

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

Last Week of "Pop" Concerts in Symphony Hall.

Interesting Programmes Prepared by Conductor Strube—Debut in London of Herr Heinrich Meyn, Who Sang Several Songs by American Composers—Musical Notes.

ON Saturday evening will come to its end the seventeenth season of the "Pop" concerts. In no previous year have all the conditions been so favorable, and the success in every respect so great. There has been almost no unpleasant night to impede easy attendance, and none when the hall has been close or hot, no matter how crowded the attendance or how ardent and demonstrative the concourse. The programmes have been intrinsically excellent and elastically adapted to the temper of the public on any general or particular holiday night, and the performances have been worthy of the Symphony men and yet tempered lightly with the freedom and laisser-aller which they cannot indulge in during the winter season. Mr. Strube is preparing for his last week a series of concerts that will give delight, evening by evening, and be worth remembering later on as standards whereby to measure other popular entertainments. The best and most favorite things in the ample repertory—classics, novelties, solidities, levities, and bits of sparkling solo—will be found arrayed in the six remaining programmes.

Boston Daily Globe.
TUESDAY, JUNE 24, 1902.

HARVARD NIGHT.

Very Lively Time at the Pop Concert.

Cheering, Singing, Waving of Banners, Some of the Features.

Pretty Girls in Dainty Gowns Enjoyed the Sport.

It was the hottest kind of a hot night at the pop concert in Symphony hall last evening.

It was "Harvard night"—red, red, red! It was pandemonium at times in the hall, and it is safe to say that there are at least 1000 young men and about the same number of—well, old young men—whose voices are in the husky whisper condition this morning.

It was one continuous yell from 8 o'clock until 10:30. It was a yell of classes from '55 to '01. It was a yell and a rah! rah! rah! from tenor to bass and at times in staccato of the fiercest type, all mingled with song, music and that sort of hilarity in which college men are wont to indulge when they meet in a "bunch," and when the vocal organs have been properly irrigated for the occasion.

Gustav Strube was the conductor of the orchestra, but his baton was not the only one that cut through the thick atmosphere during the evening. There were others. Each class had its baton artist and each one of these artists could give Mr Strube big and little casino on body movements when it came to waving a baton.

These young men were of the strenuous order and the manner in which they led their different classes in cheering bespoke not only great physical and gymnastic ability, but also remarkable lung power and facial expression.

They did not spare themselves and they were not feeling in a mood to be spared. They stood on chairs and tables whenever the opportunity came and waved and yelled until it seemed as if tired human nature could stand it no longer.

Maj Higginson was there with the "boys" and perhaps he didn't get an ovation. He may not have gotten all that was coming to him, but if he can stand much more he certainly is a wonder. He got a rousing reception early in the evening and when he left the hall about 9:45 he got another.

The hall was a sight. Each class had a large crimson banner on a pole planted in the center of a group of tables as a general thing, although there were a few of the older classes that had at the most two tables. Maj Higginson and one or two others sat by themselves under the banner of the class of '55. Then came '71, and the line of classes was pretty well filled up to '01. This year's class was holding a banquet down town in the meantime.

The floor was given up entirely to Harvard men, but the galleries were completely filled with the "sisters, cousins and aunts" of those on the floor, and these women were all splendidly gowned and their appearance added very materially to the picturesqueness of the entire affair.

Over the great organ was the word "Harvard" in crimson electric lights, and this great glow of color when added to the cream and gold decorations, the crimson banners, the beauty of the galleries and the antics of the "boys" on the floor, made it a scene long to be remembered.

Of course Harvard was cheered to the echo, President Roosevelt was cheered, and as has been said, Maj Higginson got his usual ovation. Then the classes began throwing "bouquets" at each other in the shape of cheers, then songs were sung and other songs called for. One class wanted "Our Director," and wanted it very badly; another wanted "Up the Street," and got it, to the relief of all, and others wanted other things, some of which they got and some of which they did not get.

But that made no difference, for good nature was the order of the evening.

Every time a class cheered the banner

June 23

6

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE "POPS"

"It's always fair weather when good fellows get together," as the "Stein Song" goes, aptly describes the scene in Symphony Hall last night when the Harvard "grads" from '55 down to '01 gathered for their annual "Pops" reunion.

A year ago the "grads' enjoyed a limited amount of "rough house' demonstrations. The danger of a similar time prompted those in charge to protest against unlimited freedom, but there was rein enough allowed to make the night a memorable one.

"Rouse mit him," hoarsely cried out '96 to '99 and back went the answer "Abus '96." These two classes fought for the honors of the night and an impartial judge called it a draw.

Cheer after cheer, song after song, flags waving, everyone singing and everyone living again in the atmosphere of John Harvard, all contributed to a jollification meeting difficult to adequately describe.

The classes were assignd to various sctions and the management furnished crimson banners with class numbers. Every seat was taken and several hundred "grads" failed to find room. The galleries were crowded and there was crimson enouhg to make the Harvard men imagine thmselves at Soldiers' Field on football day.

"If 'Teddy' were here," said an '80 man. The "if" was enough to start a wild cheer for President Roosevelt, and the echoes were almost as deafening as the cheers.

Major H. L. Higginson was alone in holding fort for '55. He was the favorite of the hour, and a mighty cheer was tendered hi mas he left the hall. "Ben" Dibblee led the cheering for '99, and he did it well. There were 152 '99 men present, and Dibblee kept them busy.

The '00 and '01 men were a little shy. Ninety-eight started out well and so did '97, but after an hour '99 and '96 were supreme. They started to hoist the colors, and got as far as two tables and a chair, when the management said nay, and all good-naturedly acquiesced.

Manager Comee was praised on all sides for his assistance, and the orchestra worked like slaves in keeping the singing up to the top notch.

"Up the Street," "Hail to th eCrmison," the "Stein Song," "Fair Harvard" and the "Star-Spangled Banner" brought out the greatest enthusiasm, though '99 made "We 'Fit' with General Grant" popular and inspiring.

BOSTON HERALD

June 22

...enthusiastically applauded. Afterward he was handed a bouquet of crimson roses.

Tuesday night, at the Pops, Miss Roosevelt was in Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Higginson's party. Her gown was of white mousseline de soie, with a bertha of lace, pale blue sash and stock and diamond horse-shoe pin at throat. Her hat was a large black affair with a sweeping plume and taffeta ends drooping to the shoulder. Her wrap was rather Quakerish, a long dark gray cape with one shoulder cape and black silk hood. She had a fine time with the pretzels, which were new to her. Mrs. Higginson also wore white muslin with much lace, the yoke and short sleeves unlined, a black sash and flat black hat with drooping taffeta ends. Mrs. George Lee, in a party nearby, was in deep cream veiling with a white lace bodice and a violet toque. Mrs. Chester Bliss, who came in very late, wore black and white figured silk with applications of white lace. Her toque was of violet straw with white and purple lilacs. Thursday Mr. Kenneth Horton had one of the largest parties, and at Mr. and Mrs. Carteret Fenno's table was Miss Carrie Dabney in black point d'esprit over black taffeta. There were touches of light blue and a corsage bouquet of Jacqueminot roses; black picture hat. Tomorrow night is graduates' night, which means that there will be a crush of Harvard boys and any amount of Harvard demonstration. It will be something for the participants worth remembering.

Mrs. Allen Washburn of Beacon and

CABLE ADDRESS: CLIPBURO

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON POST

June 22 1902

The Social Side

With the closing of the week, the Boston season, socially speaking at least, may be said to be practically ended. Certain it is that the finish was characterized by a burst of glory, and every day was marked by something of importance. On the two opening days of the week the Country Club races claimed especial attention, the President's daughter gracing both occasions with her presence, while Harvard night, Monday, at the Pops, will go down in history as one of the most convivial and successful affairs ever known. Wednesday, St. Paul's Church in Brookline was beautifully adorned for the largest wedding of the season in that suburb, Miss Anne Blake and Mr. Frederick Richardson being united in the presence of many fashionables. The weather proved all that might be desired, so that the largely al fresco reception which followed at the Blake residence was charming. The gifts bestowed upon the fortunate young people are almost numberless, and so valuable as to aggregate in themselves a small fortune. One fiasco only characterized the triumphal course of the week, and that was the postponement of the Harvard-Yale ball game on Thursday, necessitated by the downpour. Society was out in full force for the fray, people being determined to see the contest if it materialized. Numberless ruined gowns and depleted hats bear mute evidence to the unkindness of the elements on that occasion. Harvard festivities, of all kinds and descriptions, combined to make the late week pass merrily, and class day passed off with unexcelled eclat, the young hosts fairly outdoing themselves in the number and elaborateness of their entertainments. As usual, it was at Beck Hall where the ultra-fashionable set congregated, and society had a splendid representation at the Hasty Pudding Club and at the Hemenway Gymnasium, where the Pi Eta spread took place. Past graduates of Harvard were met at every turn in the street, renewing old friendships and forming new. Dinners have been given almost without number, and the hotels have reaped a harvest. The reception given by President and Mrs. Eliot at their dignified and spacious home was even more of a crush than heretofore, the number of cards issued and acceptances received being far in excess of the usual number. In the city little remains to interest society, except the Pops, which have still a week to run, and the Back Bay is strongly suggestive of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village." On all the aristocratic boulevards scarcely a house remains open. Shutters are up and the doors boarded securely against possible intrusion. Boston festivities will be a thing of the past until crisp October days drive people back to town and the winter season opens.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON TRANSCRIPT

June 21 1902

The "Pops"

One week from tonight the "Pop" season of concerts at Symphony Hall is at an end. Monday evening will be "Graduates" night and for this night only every seat on the floor has been reserved for the graduates of Harvard College. There will be no ladies on the floor, but provision has been made and seats reserved in the balconies. The advance sale of tickets indicates the largest audience of the season, and this always means much enthusism. Conductor Strube has taken much care in arranging the closing programmes as will be seen by the programme which follows for this evening:

March, "Radetzky"	Strauss
Overture, "Stradella"	Flotow
Waltz, "Les Patineurs"	Waldteufel
Selection, "Faust"	Gounod
Hungarian Rhapsody in D	Lizst
Valse Lente and Pizzicato, from "Sylvia"	Délibes
Prelude, act 1., "Lohengrin"	Wagner
Overture, "Freischütz"	Weber
Waltz, "Blue Danube"	Strauss
Entr'acte, "La Colombe"	Gounod
Ronde d'Amour	Westerhout
March, "Teufel"	Suppé

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON GLOBE

June 22

TABLE GOSSIP.

—There have been some delightful evenings at the Pops the past week, so many visitors from other cities have been in Boston for the races and class-day exercises, and found this a pleasant way of passing the evenings. On Tuesday evening Miss Alice Roosevelt came with Mr and Mrs Mumford of Chestnut hill, the latter an aunt of Miss Roosevelt, and others. Miss Roosevelt wore white lace over white silk, with pale blue sash, and a black picture hat. Mr and Mrs Carteret Fenno brought Miss Marion Peabody, Miss Marian Fenno and others with them on Thursday evening. Mrs Fenno was in pale gray veiling, the bodice done with white lace. Her hat was crimson, straw and flowers. Miss Peabody was in a gown of thin black material, with insertions of black lace put on in diamond form, and a black plumed hat. Miss Fenno was in black taffeta, the coat opening over white, and trimmed with gold embroidery. All the ladies at the table wore corsage bouquets of crimson roses. Mr Kenneth Horton was one of a large party having two tables, and Dr Frederic L. Jack was with a party of gentlemen. The concerts will close next Saturday evening, a fact much to be regretted by stay-at-homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen ...

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON HERALD

June 22

IN THE WORLD OF MUSIC.

Last Week of "Pop" Concerts in Symphony Hall.

Interesting Programmes Prepared by Conductor Strube—Debut in London of Herr Heinrich Meyn, Who Sang Several Songs by American Composers—Musical Notes.

ON Saturday evening will come to its end the seventeenth season of the "Pop" concerts. In no previous year have all the conditions been so favorable, and the success in every respect so great. There has been almost no unpleasant night to impede easy attendance, and none when the hall has been close or hot, no matter how crowded the attendance or how ardent and demonstrative the concourse. The programmes have been intrinsically excellent and elastically adapted to the temper of the public on any general or particular holiday night, and the performances have been worthy of the Symphony men and yet tempered lightly with the freedom and laisser-aller which they cannot indulge in during the winter season. Mr. Strube is preparing for his last week a series of concerts that will give delight, evening by evening, and be worth remembering later on as standards whereby to measure other popular entertainments. The best and most favorite things in the ample repertory—classics, novelties, solidities, levities, and bits of sparkling solo—will be found arrayed in the six remaining programmes.

BOSTON POST
DATE June 22 1902.

Miss Roosevelt Attends Pops

...ing the numerous coun-...ons of the week, which ... filled to repletion with all ...s that are good, the Pops have ... more than their share of patron-...e and on more than one occasion ...very table has been taken and every seat occupied. Harvard night passed off with the accustomed eclat, and with numerous pleasant features. The audience was composed largely of the students and their young friends, but a number of people who were at the Country Club races earlier in the day, stopped for a time at Symphony Hall, en route for home. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, the latter in a stylish toilette of linen, in princess effect, with bands of Persian embroidery and a large black picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bigelow and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Beale, who attended tthe races on the Bigelow coach, made up a party at one of the tables. Mrs. Bigelow was in gray with black toque, and Mrs. Beale entirely in black. Mr. and Mrs. William F. Apthorp were at the concert Monday evening, having several friends with them. Mrs. Apthorp wore a black skirt with pretty white bodice and white hat with black and white trimmings. Miss Hannah Stevenson was noted with a group of people on the floor, looking very chic in navy blue foulard, dotted with white, with pointed yoke of white lace and white lace girdle. Her hat was of navy blue straw. Miss Mary Richardson enjoyed the programme from the balcony, wearing a pretty costume of pink and white foulard with white trimmings and a large white picture hat laden with pink roses. Of those present Tuesday evening, Miss Alice Roosevelt was by far the most interesting figure. Few were aware of her presence and the eldest daughter of the White House enjoyed herself unobserved and had no end of a good time with her pretzels and in listening to the music, the Bohemian atmosphere evidently suiting her perfectly. Miss Roosevelt discarded before she entered the hall a very unique wrap, which, by reason of its Quakerish simplicity, stood forth in effective contrast to the more elaborate chiffon and lace affairs of her young friends. It was of dark gray cloth in cape shape, reaching to the ground, finished with a short shoulder cape and a hood lined with black silk. Her gown of white mousseline de soie was enriched with lace and had a narrow bertha of lace and elbow sleeves. The stock and sash were of light blue, while a horse-shoe pin of diamonds sparkled at the throat, and her hat was entirely black, round in shape, encircled with a rich plume and long taffeta ends. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson entered with Miss Roosevelt, Mrs. Higginson wearing white muslin with incrustations and trimmings of lace and a black sash about her slender waist. Her hat was black, with taffeta ends drooping behind, held down with two round buckles of cut steel. Mrs. George Lee was present Tuesday, wearing a lovely frock of deep cream veiling with white lace on the bodice, and a flat toque of violet in the pastel tints, with crown of flowers. Mrs. Chester Bliss was in black and white foulard, with white front and bands of white lace over white silk on both skirt and bodice. She wore pearls and a toque of lilac straw with white lilacs, purple lilacs and leaves around the brim. Tomorrow ushers in the final week of the Pops and some splendid programmes have been arranged for the concluding evenings.

BOSTON POST
DATE June 22

Last Nights of the Pops

There remain six more nights in which to enjoy the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The past week has been very successful from every standpoint, and special mention should be made of the excellent selections given by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube. Monday will be "graduates" night, when every seat on the floor has been set apart for the graduates of Harvard University; the balconies being reserved for the ladies and their friends. The remaining concerts are full of interest and the advance sale of tickets indicates brilliant audiences for every performance.

The programme for tomorrow evening will be: March, "Up the Street," Morse; overture, "Tobasco," Chadwick; "Valse Bleue," Margis; selection, "Serenade," Herbert; "Through the Yard at Harvard," Hosmer; "Hail to the Crimson," Henry; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; "Stein Song," Bullard; "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; selection, "San Toy," Jones; American fantasy, Herbert; waltz, "Traumwelt," Spaulding; "Fair Harvard"; march, "Under the Double Eagle," Wagner.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON JOURNAL
DATE June 22

LAST NIGHTS OF THE "POPS."

There remain only six more nights in which to enjoy the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The pas[redacted] been a very successful one from every standpoint, and special mention should be made of the excellent selections rendered by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube. Tomorrow (Monday) is "Graduates'" night, when every seat on the floor has been set apart for the graduates of Harvard University, the balconies being reserved for the ladies and their friends. The remaining concerts are full of interest, and the advance sale of tickets indicates brilliant audiences for every performance. The program for tomorrow evening is:

March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse
Overture, "Tabasco" ..... Chadwick
"Valse Bleue" ..... Margis
Selection, "Serenade" ..... Herbert
(a) "Through the Yard at Harvard" .. Hosmer
(b) "Hail to the Crimson" ..... Henry
Selection, "Florodora" ..... Stuart
(a) "Stein Song" ..... Bullard
(b) "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Selection, "San Toy" ..... Jones
"American Fantasy" ..... Herbert
Waltz, "Traumwelt" ..... Spalding
"Fair Harvard"
Organ, Mr. John Marshall.
March, "Under the Double Eagle" ..... Wagner

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON GLOBE
DATE June 22 1902.

LAST WEEK OF THE "POPS."

There remains only six more nights in which to enjoy the "pops" at Symphony hall. The past week has been a very successful one from every standpoint, and special mention should be made of the excellent selections rendered by the orchestra under the direction of Mr Gustav Strube. Tomorrow will be "graduates'" night, when every seat on the floor has been set apart for the graduates of Harvard university, the balconies being reserved for ladies and their escorts.

The program for Monday evening is as follows:

March, Up the Street ..... Morse
Overture, Tabasco ..... Chadwick
Valse Bleue ..... Margis
Selection, Serenade ..... Herbert
Through the Yard at Harvard ..... Hosmer
Hail to the Crimson ..... Henry
Selection, Florodora ..... Stuart
Stein song ..... Bullard
Cruiser Harvard ..... Strube
Selection, San Toy ..... Jones
American fantasy ..... Herbert
Waltz, Blue Danube ..... Strauss
Fair Harvard, organ, Mr John Marshall.
March, Under the Double Eagle ..... Wagner

NICKELODEON.

Boston Transcript
TUESDAY, JUNE [illegible] 1902

A Red Night at Symphony Hall

Harvard Graduates Took Possession of the Floor, and the Orchestra Might as Well Have Gone Home

Just before eight o'clock the quiet color shades of Symphony Hall were shocked by banners of glaring crimson. They hung from both balcony railings, they were laid on the even rows of tables, they waved from staffs all through the hall, and a great crimson Harvard in incandescent lights flashed from the organ-front. But just before ten most of this red—except for the red Harvard over the stage, and the mass of waving '92 flags at the front of the hall—had disappeared. The banners on the balconies were rolled up in the gloved hands of the ladies, the banners on the floor had been torn from the place and were in the pockets of some of the two thousand graduates who had turned the tables and chairs topsy-turvy and were making the hall echo with cheers.

It was Harvard graduates' night—the annual occasion when the Pops are given over to men, and noise counts for more than music. Classes were there all the way from 1855 to 1901—the former represented by Major Higginson, the man whom all Harvard men love; and 1901 by a handful of beardless graduates who kept very silent and let their elders make the noise. They left Cambridge as seniors only a year ago, but they were the freshmen of this gathering.

The classes who owned the hall—and everybody else acknowledged their right—were '92, '96 and '99; '92 is celebrating its decennial; '96 its second triennial and '99 its first triennial—the initial reunion of a series which will continue for many years. '92, more than a hundred strong, sat in the front of the hall on the right of the main aisle. A banner the size of a blanket was kept waving over them all the evening, and every man had a miniature of it in his hand. '96, almost as numerous, sat behind them; and back of all was '99, with largest numbers of all, and the strongest voices. It occupied a large part of the evening in the interchange of cheers with '96—a thrice-repeated "a-bas '96!" would be answered by a "Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! '99!"

The programme which the orchestra played (when it had a chance) was such as kept the crowd singing or whistling most of the time. "Up the Street" made every man's mouth pucker; and "On to Victory" (the Marseillaise) and "Down with Yale" (Our Director) brought the men to their feet and on the tables. The "Stein Song" had to be repeated, and the ladies in the balcony joined in. The men cheered everybody beginning with Major Higginson and Manager Comee, and ending with President Roosevelt. The evening ended, as all good Harvard evenings do, with "Fair Harvard"—hats off and everybody on his feet.

BOSTON POST
DATE June 22 1902

Miss Roosevelt Attends Pops

...ing the numerous coun-...ons of the week, which ... filled to repletion with all ..., that are good, the Pops have ... more than their share of patron-...e and on more than one occasion every table has been taken and every seat occupied. Harvard night passed off with the accustomed eclat, and with numerous pleasant features. The audience was composed largely of the students and their young friends, but a number of people who were at the Country Club races earlier in the day, stopped for a time at Symphony Hall, en route for home. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, the latter in a stylish toilette of linen, in princess effect, with bands of Persian embroidery and a large black picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Bigelow and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Beale, who attended tthe races on the Bigelow coach, made up a party at one of the tables. Mrs. Bigelow was in gray with black toque, and Mrs. Beale entirely in black. Mr. and Mrs. William F. Apthorp were at the concert Monday evening, having several friends with them. Mrs. Apthorp wore a black skirt with pretty ty white bodice and white hat with black and white trimmings. Miss Hannah Stevenson was noted with a group of people on the floor, looking very chic in navy blue foulard, dotted with white, with pointed yoke of white lace and white lace girdle. Her hat was of navy blue straw. Miss Mary Richardson enjoyed the programme from the balcony, wearing a pretty costume of pink and white foulard with white trimmings and a large white picture hat laden with pink roses. Of those present Tuesday evening, Miss Alice Roosevelt was by far the most interesting figure. Few were aware of her presence and the eldest daughter of the White House enjoyed herself unobserved and had no end of a good time with her pretzels and in listening to the music, the Bohemian atmosphere evidently suiting her perfectly. Miss Roosevelt discarded before she entered the hall a very unique wrap, which, by reason of its Quakerish simplicity, stood forth in effective contrast to the more elaborate chiffon and lace affairs of her young friends. It was of dark gray cloth in cape shape, reaching to the ground, finished with a short shoulder cape and a hood lined with black silk. Her gown of white mousseline de soie was enriched with lace and had a narrow bertha of lace and elbow sleeves. The stock and sash were of light blue, while a horse-shoe pin of diamonds sparkled at the throat, and her hat was entirely black, round in shape, encircled with a rich plume and long taffeta ends. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson entered with Miss Roosevelt, Mrs. Higginson wearing white muslin with incrustations and trimmings of lace and a black sash about her slender waist. Her hat was black, with taffeta ends drooping behind, held down with two round buckles of cut steel. Mrs. George Lee was present Tuesday, wearing a lovely frock of deep cream veiling with white lace on the bodice, and a flat toque of violet in the pastel tints, with crown of flowers. Mrs. Chester Bliss was in black and white foulard, with white front and bands of white lace over white silk on both skirt and bodice. She wore pearls and a toque of lilac straw with white lilacs, purple lilacs and leaves around the brim. Tomorrow ushers in the final week of the Pops and some splendid programmes have been arranged for the concluding evenings.

BOSTON POST
DATE June 22

Last Nights of the Pops

There remain six more nights in which to enjoy the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The past week has been very successful from every standpoint, and special mention should be made of the excellent selections given by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube. Monday will be "graduates" night, when every seat on the floor has been set apart for the graduates of Harvard University; the balconies being reserved for the ladies and their friends. The remaining concerts are full of interest and the advance sale of tickets indicates brilliant audiences for every performance.

The programme for tomorrow evening will be: March, "Up the Street," Morse; overture, "Tobasco," Chadwick; "Valse Bleue," Margis; selection, "Serenade," Herbert; "Through the Yard at Harvard," Hosmer; "Hail to the Crimson," Henry; selection, "Florodora," Stuart; "Stein Song," Bullard; "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; selection, "San Toy," Jones; American fantasy, Herbert; waltz, "Traumwelt," Spaulding; "Fair Harvard"; march, "Under the Double Eagle," Wagner.

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON JOURNAL
DATE June 22

LAST NIGHTS OF THE "POPS."

There remain only six more nights in which to enjoy the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The past week has been a very successful one from every standpoint, and special mention should be made of the excellent selections rendered by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube. Tomorrow (Monday) is "Graduates'" night, when every seat on the floor has been set apart for the graduates of Harvard University, the balconies being reserved for the ladies and their friends. The remaining concerts are full of interest, and the advance sale of tickets indicates brilliant audiences for every performance. The program for tomorrow evening is:

March, "Up the Street".....Morse
Overture, "Tabasco".....Chadwick
"Valse Bleue".....Margis
Selection, "Serenade".....Herbert
(a) "Through the Yard at Harvard"..Hosmer
(b) "Hail to the Crimson".....Henry
Selection, "Florodora".....Stuart
(a) "Stein Song".....Bullard
(b) "Cruiser Harvard".....Strube
Selection, "San Toy".....Jones
"American Fantasy".....Herbert
Waltz, "Traumwelt".....Spalding
"Fair Harvard."
Organ, Mr. John Marshall.
March, "Under the Double Eagle"...Wagner

CLIPPING FROM BOSTON GLOBE
DATE June 22

LAST WEEK OF THE "POPS."

There remains only six more nights in which to enjoy the "pops" at Symphony hall. The past week has been a very successful one from every standpoint, and special mention should be made of the excellent selections rendered by the orchestra under the direction of Mr Gustav Strube. Tomorrow will be "graduates'" night, when every seat on the floor has been set apart for the graduates of Harvard university, the balconies being reserved for ladies and their escorts.

The program for Monday evening is as follows:

March, Up the Street.....Morse
Overture, Tabasco.....Chadwick
Valse Bleue.....Margis
Selection, Serenade.....Herbert
Through the Yard at Harvard.....Hosmer
Hail to the Crimson.....Henry
Selection, Florodora.....Stuart
Stein song.....Bullard
Cruiser Harvard.....Strube
Selection, San Toy.....Jones
American fantasy.....Herbert
Waltz, Blue Danube.....Strauss
Fair Harvard, organ, Mr John Marshall.
March, Under the Double Eagle.....Wagner

NICKELODEON.

Boston Transcript
TUESDAY, JUNE 24, 1902

A Red Night at Symphony Hall

Harvard Graduates Took Possession of the Floor, and the Orchestra Might as Well Have Gone Home

Just before eight o'clock the quiet color shades of Symphony Hall were shocked by banners of glaring crimson. They hung from both balcony railings, they were laid on the even rows of tables, they waved from staffs all through the hall, and a great crimson Harvard in incandescent lights flashed from the organ-front. But just before ten most of this red—except for the red Harvard over the stage, and the mass of waving '92 flags at the front of the hall—had disappeared. The banners on the balconies were rolled up in the gloved hands of the ladies, the banners on the floor had been torn from the place and were in the pockets of some of the two thousand graduates who had turned the tables and chairs topsy-turvy and were making the hall echo with cheers.

It was Harvard graduates' night—the annual occasion when the Pops are given over to men, and noise counts for more than music. Classes were there all the way from 1855 to 1901—the former represented by Major Higginson, the man whom all Harvard men love; and 1901 by a handful of beardless graduates who kept very silent and let their elders make the noise. They left Cambridge as seniors only a year ago, but they were the freshmen of this gathering.

The classes who owned the hall—and everybody else acknowledged their right—were '92, '96 and '99; '92 is celebrating its decennial; '96 its second triennial and '99 its first triennial—the initial reunion of a series which will continue for many years. '92, more than a hundred strong, sat in the front of the hall on the right of the main aisle. A banner the size of a blanket was kept waving over them all the evening, and every man had a miniature of it in his hand. '96, almost as numerous, sat behind them; and back of all was '99, with largest numbers of all, and the strongest voices. It occupied a large part of the evening in the interchange of cheers with '96—a thrice-repeated "a-bas '96!" would be answered by a "Ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! ha, ha, ha! '99!"

The programme which the orchestra played (when it had a chance) was such as kept the crowd singing or whistling most of the time. "Up the Street" made every man's mouth pucker; and "On to Victory" (the Marseillaise) and "Down with Yale" (Our Director) brought the men to their feet and on the tables. The "Stein Song" had to be repeated, and the ladies in the balcony joined in. The men cheered everybody beginning with Major Higginson and Manager Comee, and ending with President Roosevelt. The evening ended, as all good Harvard evenings do, with "Fair Harvard"—hats off and everybody on his feet.

1903

1st issue.

SYMPHONY HALL POPS

EIGHTEENTH SEASON
Nineteen Hundred & Three

2d issue.

PHONY
ALL
OPS

ENTH SEASON
Hundred & Three

1903

1st issue. 2d issue.

~ ~ BILL OF FARE ~ ~

▲ LUNCH ▲

SANDWICHES.

Ham	10
Tongue	10
Chicken	15
Swiss Cheese	15
Roquefort Cheese	15
Brie Cheese	15
Neufchatel Cheese	15
American Cheese	15
Sardine	15

ICE-CREAM.

Vanilla	20
Strawberry	20
Chocolate	20
Harlequin	25
Cake	15

PER PLATE.

Cold Ham	25
Cold Smoked Tongue	30
Cold Chicken	30
Swiss Cheese and Water Crackers	25
Roquefort " " " "	25
Brie " " " "	25
Sardines	30
Pretzels	10

SALADS.

Lobster	40
Chicken	40

CONFECTIONS.

Winthrop M. Baker's Boston Chocolates.

One pound package	60
One-half pound package	30

Winthrop M. Baker's Princess Chocolates.

One pound package	80
One-half pound package	40

▲ ▲ CIGARS ▲ ▲

(All Cigars will be enclosed in sealed envelopes, with the price printed thereon.)

Barrister, Perfecto	From Daniel Frank & Co.	10c., 3 for 25c.
Barrister, Conchas		10c., 3 for 25c.
N. S., Londres		10c., 3 for 25c.
Celebridad, Perfecto		10c. each
The American, Puritanos Finos		15c., 2 for 25c.
The American, Concha Fina Especial		10c., 3 for 25c.
The American, Perfecto Fino		20c., 3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter, Puritanos Finos		15c., 2 for 25c.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas Especiales		10c. each
Marguerite, Conchas		10c., 3 for 25c.
Union League Club, Rockefellers		10c., 3 for 25c.
El Principe de Gales, Londres Grande (All Havana)	From Estabrook & Eaton.	10c. straight
Salerosa, Ideals		10c. straight
E. & E., Invincibles		15c., 2 for 25c.
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported)		15c., 2 for 25c.
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E. (Imported)		20c., 5 for $1.00
El Roble Conchas Especiales	From S. S. Pierce Co.	10c., 3 for 25c.
Buscador Rothschild		15c., 2 for 25c.
Pembina Bouquet		10c., 3 for 25c.
Overland Perfecto		15c., 2 for 25c.
Manuel Garcia Regalia Chiquita		15c., 2 for 25c.
Iberia Bacheler		15c., 2 for 25c.
Iberia Claveles		15c. straight
Cosmopolitana Perfecto Extra		25c. "
El Blason Bouquet Extra		20c., 3 for 50c.
Iberia Mercedes		20c., 3 for 50c.
Iberia Americans		25c.
Iberia Regalia Fina Especial		20c., 3 for 50c.
Punch Perfectos		25c.
Ginita Deliciosos Extra		10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (All Havana)	From C. B. Perkins & Co.	10c. each
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (All Havana)		15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (All Havana)		20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (All Havana)		15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos		15c. each
Monte Rosa Violetas		20c. each

Sweet Caporal Cigarettes (Twenties)	15c.	Mogul Extra (Packages of 10)	20c.
Egyptian Deities, No. 1 (Pkgs. of 10)	35c.	" " Cork Tip "	20c.
" " " 3 "	25c.	Mogul "	15c.
" " " 3, Cork Tip"	25c.	" Cork Tip "	15c.
Mah Mal No. 5	15c.	Mah Mal No. 1	30c.
Mah Mal No. 3	25c.	Mah Mal Gold Tip	25c.

PATRONS WILL PLEASE PAY WAITERS.

To secure satisfactory service, patrons are URGED by the Management to report PROMPTLY any inattention. Complaints made so late that patrons cannot recall either the number of the table or the waiter are obviously useless.

▲ LIST OF DRINKS ▲

SCHLITZ BREWING CO., Milwaukee Beer on draught	10
BERGNER & ENGEL Philadelphia Ale on draught	10

Claret	15	Lemonade with Wine	15
Rhine Wine	15	Soda Lemonade	15
Claret Punch	20	Soda Lemonade with Wine	20
Claret Cobbler	20	Egg Lemonade	20
Rhine Wine Cobbler	20	White Rock Lemonade	15
Plain Soda	10	Apollinaris Lemonade	20
Plain Lemonade	10	Pureoxia Soda Lemonade	15

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALES AND LAGER BEER.

	PT.		PT.
Bass & Co.'s Pale Ale (Foster's Bottling)	25	Original Budweiser Beer (Anheuser-Busch Brew. Ass'n)	25
Bass & Co.'s Pale Ale, White Label	25	Tannhaeuser Export Beer (Brewery Bottling)	20
" " " " Dog's Head	25	St. Louis A. B. C. Bohemian Beer	20
Van Nostrand's P. B. Ale	20	King's Bohemian Beer	20
Guinness' Stout	25	Red Fox Ale	20
Muir's Scotch Ale	25	Frank Jones India Pale Ale	20
Pilsener Beer	25	Frank Jones Homestead Ale	20
Culmbacher Beer	25	Ginger Ale (C. & C.)	25
Schlitz Milwaukee Beer	20	Schweppe's Ginger Ale	25
Schlitz Milwaukee Export Beer	25	S. S. Pierce's Cider....Half Pints	15
Schlitz Milwaukee Pale Beer	25	Tally Ho Ginger Ale	15
Schlitz Milwaukee Dark Beer	25	Gosman's Sarsaparilla	15
Boston Club Lager (Van Nostrand)	20	Gosman's Ginger Ale	15
Anheuser Beer (Anheuser-Busch Brew. Ass'n)	20	Pureoxia Dry Ginger Ale ...Pints	15
Norlolk Cabinet Beer	20	Pureoxia Dry Ginger Ale, Half Pints	10

RHINE WINES.

		QT.	PT.
Table Wine		1.00
Zeltinger (Moselle), 1895	D. Lieden & Co.	1.50	.75
Niersteiner, 1893		1.50	.75
Liebfraumilch, 1893		2.00
Johannisberger Cabinet, Yellow Seal, 1886		2.50
Sparkling Hock		2.50	1.25
Sparkling Moselle		2.50	1.25
Zeltinger (Moselle), Saarbachs		1.50	.75
Liebfraumilch "		2.00	1.00
Asmannhauser Red Sparkling		2.50	1.25
Rudesheim (Deinhard & Co.)		1.50	.75
Niersteiner Riesling (Deinhard & Co.)		1.50	.75

CLARETS.

	QT.	PT.
Ordinaire	.80	.40
Inglenook Claret, Black Letter Label (Codman & Hall Co.)	.75	.40
Inglenook Extra Table Claret, Red Letter Label (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.00	.60
Medoc (N. Johnston & Sons)....(Codman & Hall Co.)	1.00	.60
Chateau d'Arsac (Codman & Hall Co.), 1893	1.50	.75
St. Julien, Barton et Guestier (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.50	.75
Medoc Magnums (A. de Luze & Fils), 1893	1.00	.50
Pontet Canet (A. de Luze & Fils), 1895	1.50	.75
Chateau La Rose (A. de Luze & Fils), 1895	2.00	1.00
Chateau Lafite (A. de Luze & Fils), 1895	2.50

SAUTERNES.

	QT.	PT.
Inglenook Sauterne (Codman & Hall Co.)	.75	.40
Inglenook Hock (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.00	.60
Sauterne, Barton et Guestier (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.25	.65
Barsac (A. de Luze & Fils), 1881	1.00	.50
Sauterne (A. de Luze & Fils), 1893	1.50	.75
Haut Sauterne (A. de Luze & Fils), 1878	2.00	1.00

MINERAL WATERS.

	QT.	PT.		PT.
White Rock Water	Splits	10	Pureoxia Siphons of Seltzer	20
White Rock Water	35	.20	Pureoxia Siphons, Carbonic	20
Apollinaris	35	.20	Pureoxia Club Soda	20
Apollinaris	Splits	10

[PHONY
[ALL OPS

ENTH SEASON
Hundred & Three

[139]

1903

1st issue.

2d issue.

SYMPHONY HALL POPS

EIGHTEENTH SEASON

Nineteen Hundred & Three

1903

1st issue. 2d issue.

BILL OF FARE

LUNCH

SANDWICHES.

Ham 10
Tongue 10
Chicken 15
Swiss Cheese 15
Roquefort Cheese 15
Brie Cheese 15
Neufchatel Cheese 15
American Cheese 15
Sardine 15

ICE-CREAM.

Vanilla 20
Strawberry 20
Chocolate 20
Harlequin 25
Cake 15

PER PLATE.

Cold Ham 25
Cold Smoked Tongue 30
Cold Chicken 30
Swiss Cheese and Water Crackers 25
Roquefort " " " " 25
Brie " " " " 25
Sardines 30
Pretzels 10

SALADS.

Lobster 40
Chicken 40

CONFECTIONS.

Winthrop M. Baker's Boston Chocolates.

One pound package 60
One-half pound package 30

Winthrop M. Baker's Princess Chocolates.

One pound package 80
One-half pound package 40

CIGARS

(All Cigars will be enclosed in sealed envelopes, with the price printed thereon.)

Barrister, Perfecto	From Daniel Frank & Co.	10c., 3 for 25c.
Barrister, Conchas		10c., 3 for 25c.
N. S., Londres		10c., 3 for 25c.
Celebridad, Perfecto		10c. each
The American, Puritanos Finos		15c., 2 for 25c.
The American, Concha Fina Especial		10c., 3 for 25c.
The American, Perfecto Fino		20c., 3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter, Puritanos Finos		15c., 2 for 25c.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas Especiales		10c. each
Marguerite, Conchas		10c., 3 for 25c.
Union League Club, Rockefellers		10c., 3 for 25c.
El Principe de Gales, Londres Grande (All Havana)	From Estabrook & Eaton.	10c. straight
Salerosa, Ideals		10c. straight
E. & E., Invincibles		15c., 2 for 25c.
Manuel Garcia, Stilettos (Imported)		15c., 2 for 25c.
Bock & Co., Especiales de E. & E. (Imported)		20c., 5 for $1.00
El Roble Conchas Especiales	From S. S. Pierce Co.	10c., 3 for 25c.
Buscador Rothschild		15c., 2 for 25c.
Pembina Bouquet		10c., 3 for 25c.
Overland Perfecto		15c., 2 for 25c.
Manuel Garcia Regalia Chiquita		15c., 2 for 25c.
Iberia Bacheler		15c., 2 for 25c.
Iberia Claveles		15c. straight
Cosmopolitana Perfecto Extra		25c. "
El Blason Bouquet Extra		20c., 3 for 50c.
Iberia Mercedes		20c., 3 for 50c.
Iberia Americans		25c.
Iberia Regalia Fina Especial		20c., 3 for 50c.
Punch Perfectos		25c.
Ginita Deliciosos Extra	From C. B. Perkins & Co.	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (All Havana)		10c. each
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (All Havana)		15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (All Havana)		20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (All Havana)		15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos		15c. each
Monte Rosa Violetas		20c. each

Sweet Caporal Cigarettes (Twenties) 15c.
Egyptian Deities, No. 1 (Pkgs. of 10) 35c.
" " " 3 " 25c.
" " " 3, Cork Tip " 25c.
Mah Mal No. 5 ..... 15c.
Mah Mal No. 3 ..... 25c.
Mogul Extra ..... (Packages of 10) 20c.
" " Cork Tip " 20c.
Mogul ..... " 15c.
" Cork Tip ..... " 15c.
Mah Mal No. 1 ..... 30c.
Mah Mal Gold Tip ..... 25c.

PATRONS WILL PLEASE PAY WAITERS.

To secure satisfactory service, patrons are URGED by the Management to report PROMPTLY any inattention. Complaints made so late that patrons cannot recall either the number of the table or the waiter are obviously useless.

LIST OF DRINKS

SCHLITZ BREWING CO., Milwaukee Beer on draught 10
BERGNER & ENGEL Philadelphia Ale on draught 10

Claret 15
Rhine Wine 15
Claret Punch 20
Claret Cobbler 20
Rhine Wine Cobbler 20
Plain Soda 10
Plain Lemonade 10
Lemonade with Wine 15
Soda Lemonade 15
Soda Lemonade with Wine 20
Egg Lemonade 20
White Rock Lemonade 15
Apollinaris Lemonade 20
Pureoxia Soda Lemonade 15

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC ALES AND LAGER BEER.

	PT.
Bass & Co.'s Pale Ale (Foster's Bottling)	25
Bass & Co.'s Pale Ale, White Label	25
" " " " Dog's Head	25
Van Nostrand's P. B. Ale	20
Guinness' Stout	25
Muir's Scotch Ale	25
Pilsener Beer	25
Culmbacher Beer	25
Schlitz Milwaukee Beer	20
Schlitz Milwaukee Export Beer	25
Schlitz Milwaukee Pale Beer	25
Schlitz Milwaukee Dark Beer	25
Boston Club Lager (Van Nostrand)	20
Anheuser Beer (Anheuser-Busch Brew. Ass'n)	20
Norfolk Cabinet Beer	20
Original Budweiser Beer (Anheuser-Busch Brew. Ass'n)	25
Tannhaeuser Export Beer (Brewery Bottling)	20
St. Louis A. B. C. Bohemian Beer	20
King's Bohemian Beer	20
Red Fox Ale	20
Frank Jones India Pale Ale	20
Frank Jones Homestead Ale	20
Ginger Ale (C. & C.)	25
Schweppe's Ginger Ale	25
S. S. Pierce's Cider ... Half Pints	15
Tally Ho Ginger Ale	15
Gosman's Sarsaparilla	15
Gosman's Ginger Ale	15
Pureoxia Dry Ginger Ale ... Pints	15
Pureoxia Dry Ginger Ale, Half Pints	10

RHINE WINES.

		QT.	PT.
Table Wine		1.00
Zeltinger (Moselle), 1895	D. Lieden & Co.	1.50	.75
Niersteiner, 1893		1.50	.75
Liebfraumilch, 1893		2.00
Johannisberger Cabinet, Yellow Seal, 1886		2.50
Sparkling Hock		2.50	1.25
Sparkling Moselle		2.50	1.25
Inglenook Hock (Codman & Hall Co.)		1.00	.60
Zeltinger (Moselle), Saarbachs		1.50	.75
Liebfraumilch "		2.00	1.00
Asmannhauser Red Sparkling		2.50	1.25
Rudesheim (Deinhard & Co.)		1.50	.75
Niersteiner Riesling (Deinhard & Co.)		1.50	.75

CLARETS.

	QT.	PT.
Ordinaire	.80	.40
Inglenook Claret, Black Letter Label (Codman & Hall Co.)	.75	.40
Inglenook Extra Table Claret, Red Letter Label (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.00	.60
Medoc (N. Johnston & Sons) ... (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.00	.60
Chateau d'Arsac (Codman & Hall Co.), 1893	1.50	.75
St. Julien, Barton et Guestier (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.50	.75
Pontet Canet (Genoud, Pere et Fils, Bordeaux)	1.25	.75
Medoc Magnums (A. de Luze & Fils), 1893	1.00	.50
Pontet Canet (A. de Luze & Fils), 1895	1.50	.75
Chateau La Rose (A. de Luze & Fils), 1895	2.00	1.00
Chateau Lafite (A. de Luze & Fils), 1895	2.50

SAUTERNES.

	QT.	PT.
Inglenook Sauterne (Codman & Hall Co.)	.75	.40
Haut Sauterne, Barton et Guestier (Codman & Hall Co.)	2 00	1.00
Sauterne, Barton et Guestier (Codman & Hall Co.)	1.25	.65
Haut Sauterne (Genoud, Pere et Fils, Bordeaux)	1.25	.75
Barsac (A. de Luze & Fils), 1881	1.00	.50
Sauterne (A. de Luze & Fils), 1893	1.50	.75
Haut Sauterne (A. de Luze & Fils), 1878	2.00	1.00

MINERAL WATERS.

	QT.	PT.
White Rock Water ..... Splits		10
White Rock Water	35	20
Apollinaris	35	20
Apollinaris ..... Splits		10

	PT.
Pureoxia Siphons of Seltzer	20
Pureoxia Siphons, Carbonic	20
Pureoxia Club Soda	20

COLORED PAPER

Symphony Hall "Pops."

C. A. ELLIS
Manager

F. R. COMEE
Assistant Manager

SEASON 1903

1483

ADMIT ONE

SYMPHONY HALL
Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.
Monday Evening, May 4
4 "POPS"
PRICE, 75 CTS.
CHAS. A. ELLIS, Mgr. F. R. COMEE, Asst. Mgr
4 EVE. MAY 4 Retain This Check
TABLE A FLOOR

SYMPHONY HALL.
Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.
Monday Evening, May 4
4 "POPS"
PRICE, 75 CTS.
CHAS. A. ELLIS, Mgr. F. R. COMEE, Asst. Mgr
4 EVE. MAY 4 Retain This Check
TABLE B FLOOR

SYMPHONY HALL.
Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.
Monday Evening, May 4
4 "POPS"
PRICE, 75 CTS.
CHAS. A. ELLIS, Mgr. F. R. COMEE, Asst. Mgr
4 EVE. MAY 4 Retain This Check
TABLE C FLOOR

SYMPHONY HALL.
Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.
Monday Evening, May 4
4 "POPS"
PRICE, 75 CTS.
CHAS. A. ELLIS, Mgr. F. R. COMEE, Asst. Mgr
4 EVE. MAY 4 Retain This Check
TABLE D FLOOR

SYMPHONY HALL.
Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.
Monday Evening, May 4
4 "POPS"
PRICE, 75 CTS.
CHAS. A. ELLIS, Mgr. F. R. COMEE, Asst. Mgr
4 EVE. MAY 4 Retain This Check
RIGHT B 1 Balcony

SYMPHONY HALL

Promenade Concerts

SEASON OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND THREE

Admit Mr.

Fred. R. Comee

Positively not Transferable.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
LACE CURTAINS
REAL LACES ETC
CLEANSED OR
DYED
AND REFINISHED
PROPERLY BY

LEWANDO'S

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

Boston, Monday, May 4, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 1.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 4.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" . . . Wagner
2. INTERMEZZO, "Contes d'Hoffmann" . . . . . Offenbach (First time)
3. SUITE FROM BALLET, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski
   a. Introduction, "La Fée des Lilas"
   b. Adagio, "Pas d'Action"
   c. Valse
   (First time)
4. CONCERT OVERTURE, "In Bohemia" . . . . H. K. Hadley (First time)
5. FANTASIA on "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini (First time)
6. SUITE, "Henry VIII." . . . . . Saint-Saëns
   a. "Danse de la Gipsy"
   b. Gigue and Finale
7. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
   Violin Solo, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
   Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. FESTIVAL MARCH . . . . . R. Strauss (First time)
9. SALUT D'AMOUR . . . . . Ed. Elgar (First time)
10. ESPANA . . . . . Chabrier
11. OVERTURE, "Fledermaus" . . . . . Joh. Strauss
12. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Ed. German (First time)

THE MOST POPULAR CONCERT SONGS IN AMERICA AND ENGLAND

"The Japanese Love Song." By Clayton Thomas
"Toy Land." By same composer
"Because." By Guy D'Hardelot. Keys, A-flat, B-flat, and C

(1)

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, - NEW YORK

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic & Delicate & Pure

Winthrop M. Baker

BOSTON CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop M. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

Bronzes from the foundries of Barbedienne, Colin & others

Classic Subjects Ancient & Modern by European & American Sculptors

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.29 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	5.57 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	" "	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay, 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Pilgrim" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
3 Old State House. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

Boston, Tuesday, May 5, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 2.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 5.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Souvoroff" . . . . . Arensky
(First time)
2. SUITE, "Scènes Pittoresques" . . . . . Massenet
a. March c. Angelus
b. Air de Ballet d. Fête Bohème
3. VALSE FROM OPERA, "Eugene Onegin" . . Tschaikowsky
(First time)
4. OVERTURE, "Ondine" . . . . . Alexis Luoff
(First time)

5. CONTRASTES DE GAVOTTE, A.D. 1700 AND 1900 . Ed. Elgar
(First time)
6. MARCH, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
7. THE DELUGE . . . . . Saint-Saëns
Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. FANTASIE on "Manru" . . . . . Paderewski
(First time)

9. PRELUDE TO THE OPERA, "Die Hexe" . . . A. Enna
(First time)
10. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
11. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Joh. Strauss
12. TAMBOUR BATTANT . . . . . Messager
(First time)

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

S. S. Pierce Company
BOSTON
BROOKLINE

C. C. HARVEY & COMPANY
144 BOYLSTON STREET
Representatives of

KNABE PIANOS

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

THE KNABE PIANO

Is a high-grade, artistic product, suited to the every-day requirements of the American public.

RENTAL DEPARTMENT. We will rent any grade, new or second-hand piano at lower prices than any other house. We make a specialty of summer rentals, and can please you with the quality of our stock.

Sole representatives of the ANGELUS PIANO PLAYER. Large circulating music library

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Foster's Bottling

Bass Ale

Sold at these concerts

Boston, Wednesday, May 6, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 3.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6.

PROGRAMME.

1. FESTIVAL MARCH . . . . . Strauss
2. SUITE FROM BALLET, "BOABDIL" (First time) . . . Moszkowski
   a. Valse. b. Malaguena.
3. PRELUDES TO "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
   a. Act I. b. Act III.
4. VALSE GRACIEUSE . . . . . E. German (First time)
5. OVERTURE, "Thalia" . . . . . G. W. Chadwick
6. SUITE FROM HULSAY'S OPERA, "The Tramp," Mueller-Berghaus (First time)
7. AIR FROM SUITE . . . . . Bach
   Organ, Mr. Snow
8. FOUR ENGLISH DANCES . . . . . F. Cowen (First time)
9. OVERTURE, "Orpheus" . . . . . Offenbach
10. ONE HOUR IN A RUSSIAN VILLAGE . . Artemieff (First time)
11. KAISER WALTZ . . . . . Joh. Strauss
12. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

SEASON 1903-1904

AUCTION SALES OF SEASON TICKETS

FOR THE

24 { FRIDAY AFTERNOONS / SATURDAY EVENINGS

BY THE

Boston Symphony Orchestra

Monday and Tuesday, September 28, 29 / Thursday and Friday, October 1, 2 } 1903

MahMal

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES

Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	. .	15 cents per box
No. 3s	. .	25 cents per box
No. 1s	. .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	. .	25 cents per box

Also sold by

S. S. PIERCE CO.

BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars

WAVERLEY Electrics

CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts / $850 Touring Cars

W. E. ELDRIDGE

AGENT

POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 7, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 4.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PROGRAMME

For the twenty-four Boston Concerts, with Historical and Descriptive Notes by Philip Hale.

Bound copies of the Programme for the entire season can be had at $1.50 by applying to

F. R. COMEE,
Symphony Hall,
Boston.

THURSDAY, MAY 7.

PROGRAMME.

1. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. SUITE, "A Argenteau" . . . . . César Cui
   a. Sérénade b. Petite Guerre (First time) c. Le Rocher
3. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
4. CHANSON DE MATIN . . . . . Ed. Elgar (First time)
5. GYPSY SUITE . . . . . E. German
   a. Valse b. The Dance
   c. Love Duet d. Tarantella
   (First time)
6. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner
7. LE DERNIER SOMMEIL DE LA VIERGE . . Massenet
8. CONCERT OVERTURE, "In Bohemia" . . H. K. Hadley
9. OVERTURE, "Galatea" . . . . . Suppé
10. MAZOUR FROM OPERA "Halka" . . . . Moniuszko
11. WALTZ, "Frühlingstimmen" . . . . . Joh. Strauss
12. MARCH, "Zaragaza" . . . . . Ortega (First time)

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508-510 Atlantic Avenue
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana),	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana),	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos,	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas,	20c. each.

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes
Plain Cork or... Straw Tip
No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900

WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage."—American Journal of Health.

SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

[144]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Friday, May 8, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 5.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

FRIDAY, MAY 8.

PROGRAMME.

1. POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE . . . . . Ed. Elgar
2. ENTR'ACTE from "La Basoche" (First time) . . . . . Messager
3. SUITE, "Peer Gynt" . . . . . Grieg
4. WALTZ from "Sleeping Beauty" (First time) . . . . . F. H. Cowen

---

5. FANTASIA ON "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
6. OVERTURE, "Flying Dutchman" . . . . . Wagner
7. INDIAN SERENADE (First time) . . . . . F. S. Converse
8. SUITE from Ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant" . Tschaikowsky

---

9. MENUETTE (First time) . . . . . Paderewski
10. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
11. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" (First time) . . . . . Ziehrer
12. MARCH, "Tambour Battant" . . . . . Messager

TWENTY-THIRD SEASON, 1903-1904

Boston Symphony Orchestra

WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

OPENING CONCERT

Saturday Evening, October 17, 1903

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA

DRY GINGER ALE

MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

[145]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

ESTABROOK AND EATON.
IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

Boston, Saturday, May 9, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 6.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 9.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Richard III." (First time) . . . . . E. German
3. CHANSON DE NUIT (First time) . . . . . Ed. Elgar
4. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow

---

5. OVERTURE, "Sakuntala" . . . . . Goldmark
6. SLAVONIC DANCES . . . . . Dvorák
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek
   Organ, Mr. Snow
8. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . Nicolai

---

9. SALUT D'AMOUR . . . . . Elgar
10. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan
11. EL TURIA, "Valse Espagnole" (First time) . . . . . Granado
12. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner

COAT ROOM A,
HUNTINGTON AVENUE ENTRANCE.
Garments, Umbrellas, AND Bicycles
CHECKED FREE.

MOGUL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Plain
or...
Cork Tip
Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee

JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, May 11, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 7.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Ask the man behind the bar to make your rickey or cocktail of

BURROUGH'S
London Dry Gin.

You never will regret it, as this gin is in a class by itself.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

MONDAY, MAY 11.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Souvoroff" . . . . . Arensky
2. INVITATION TO DANCE . . . . . Weber
3. BALLET MUSIC, "Coppelia" . . . . . Delibes
4. EVENING SONG . . . . . Ed. Elgar
5. FANTASIA on "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
6. SUITE, "Henry VIII." . . . . . Saint-Saëns
7. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
   Violin Solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek
   Organ, Mr. Snow
8. FESTIVAL MARCH . . . . . R. Strauss
9. OVERTURE, "Semiramide" . . . . . Rossini
10. KOMARINSKAJA . . . . . Glinka
11. WALTZ, "Thousand and One Nights" . . . . . Strauss
12. RAKOCZY MARCH . . . . . Berlioz

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER AND MÜNCHNER HOF BRÄU BIERS
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Company, 162 State Street
Telephone, Richmond 1119
Also Sole New England Agents for
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

American Brewing Co.
ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BEER.

Try a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

Frank Jones'
India Pale Ale.
Homestead Ale.
Nourishing Stout.
Bottled at the Brewery
Portsmouth, N. H.

"Life is but a journey — live well upon the way."

SOLD AT
These Concerts
AS WELL AS
BY THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON DEALERS

Boston and Albany
N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. CO. LESSEE

Luxurious Travel
TO THE
WEST.
THE POINTS
Of excellence in a Railway Journey are
Good Roadbeds
Fast Schedules
Comfortable Coaches
Palatial Sleepers
Efficient Dining-car Service
and these are some of the points in which the
Boston & Albany R.R.
excels in its train service from Boston and the New England territory to the West.

9 TRAINS A DAY
Leave BOSTON for the WEST
via
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES.

5†00 A.M.	"Albany Local." Connections for points in New York State.
8†30 A.M.	"Albany Express." For Saratoga and points in New York State.
10†15 A.M.	"Berkshire Express." Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo.
10*45 A.M.	"Chicago Special," via Lake Shore, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago; also Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis.
2*00 P.M.	"North Shore Limited," via Michigan Central, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago. Cleveland.
4†15 P.M.	"Western Express." Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago.
6*00 P.M.	"Southwestern Express." Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago.
8*00 P.M.	"Pacific Express." Buffalo and Chicago.
11†15 P.M.	"Albany Local." Points in New York State.

* Daily. † Except Sunday.
Through Sleeping-car and Dining-car Service complete.

4 THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS A DAY, BOSTON TO NEW YORK, via "SPRINGFIELD LINE." Leave South Station 9 A.M., 12 noon, 4 P.M., 11.15 P.M. Equipped with Day Coaches, Parlor and Sleeping Cars built by the Pullman Company expressly for this service.

J. L. WHITE, C. T. A., 366 Washington St. A. S. HANSON, G. P. A., Boston

Dear Alma Mater.

For Full Chorus.

Reprinted from "Tufts Songs," by permission.

(OVER)

WORDS OF THE CAMPUS SONG.

1.

Give a rouse, then, in the May time
For a life that knows no fear!
Turn night-time into day-time
With the sunshine of good cheer;
For it 's always fair weather
When Tufts fellows get together
On the old College Campus,
With a good song ringing clear.

2.

Oh, we're all frank and twenty
When the spring is in the air;
And we've faith and hope a plenty,
And we've life and love to spare;
And it 's birds of a feather
When Tufts fellows get together
On the old College Campus,
For the heart is youthful there.

3.

For we know the world is glorious,
And the goal a golden thing,
And that God is not censorious
When his children have their fling;
And life slips its tether
When Tufts fellows get together
On the old College Campus,
And of Alma Mater sing.

Adapted from "A Stein Song" by Richard Hovey; the music by Frederic Field Bullard. Published by the Oliver Ditson Company. The edition in B-flat is the most available for general use.

(OVER)

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 12, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 8.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 12.

TUFTS NIGHT.

Orchestration of the Tufts numbers by N. Ingalls, 1900, and W. A. Willis, 1901.

PROGRAMME.

1. POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE . . . . . Elgar
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
3. ESPANA . . . . . Chabrier
4. a. "FOR TUFTS HURRAH" . . . . . Class Song
   b. "SWORD OF FERRARA" . . . . . F. F. Bullard
5. SONGS OF TUFTS { a. "Brown and Blue" . . E. W. Newton, '90; b. "The Barnum Song", c. "Charlie Tufts His College" } From "Tufts Songs"
6. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
   Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. OLD FAVORITES AT TUFTS
   a. Campus Song (Stein Song) . . . . . F. F. Bullard
   b. "Dear Alma Mater," with Organ . . . . L. R. Lewis, '87
9. OVERTURE, "Orpheus" . . . . . Offenbach
10. SELECTIONS, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Wine, Woman, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Fatinitza" . . . . . Suppé

Good English songs are plentiful if you know what to ask your dealer for. The latest successes in America and England are:

"LOVE'S POWER" } . . . . . H. Bunning
"HUMILITY" }
"WING TEE WEE" } . . . . . Clayton Thomas
"MECHANICAL DOLL" }
"BUTTERFLY GAY" . . . . . Stephen Adams
"HEART, O MY HEART" . . . . . Victor Harris
"O BLEST REDEEMER" . . . . . Ernest Newton
"GREEK LOVE SONG" . . . . . Liza Lehmann
"ABSENT" . . . . . Tirindelli

To be had of all dealers or from the publishers

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, - NEW YORK (4)

CLOTH[illegible]G
CARPE[illegible]
RUGS
PORTI[illegible]ES
BLANK[illegible]TS
DRAPE[illegible]ES
FEATH[illegible]RS
GLOVE[illegible]
LACE [illegible]RTAINS
REAL [illegible]ACES ETC
CLEAN[illegible]ED OR
DYED
AND [illegible]FINISHED
PROPE[illegible]Y BY

LEW[illegible]NDO'S

17 Ten[illegible] Place
284 Bo[illegible]ton Street

Also New Yo[illegible] hiladelphia Newport
Hartford New [illegible] n Providence Lynn
Watertown Cam[illegible]ge

Teams — Telephones

We also do m[illegible] Fine Laundry Work than any other [illegible]lishment

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic ✤ Delicate ✤ Pure

Winthrop M. Baker

BOSTON
CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS
CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop M. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

B[illegible]GELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

Br[illegible]nzes from the foundries of Barbedienne,
Colin
& others

Classic Subjects
Ancient & Modern by European & American Sculptors

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.29 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	5.57 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	" "	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay, 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Pilgrim" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
362 Washington Street. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

Boston, Wednesday, May 13, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 9.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13.

PROGRAMME.

1. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . German
2. FANTASIA on "Manru" . . . . . Paderewski
3. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
4. SALUT D'AMOUR . . . . . Elgar

5. FUNERAL MARCH OF MARIONETTES . . . Gounod
6. OVERTURE, "Sakuntala" . . . . . Goldmark
7. INDIAN SERENADE . . . . . Converse
8. PRELUDE TO ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . Wagner

9. FANTASIA ON "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
10. SELECTION, "Grand Duchess" . . . . . Offenbach
11. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" . . . . . Ziehrer
12. TAMBOUR BATTANT . . . . . Messager

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

Veuve Chaffard

PURE OLIVE OIL

In Honest Bottles

C. C. HARVEY & COMPANY
144 BOYLSTON STREET
Representatives of

KNABE PIANOS

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

THE KNABE PIANO

Is a high-grade, artistic product, suited to the every-day requirements of the American public.

RENTAL DEPARTMENT. We will rent any grade, new or second-hand piano at lower prices than any other house. We make a specialty of summer rentals, and can please you with the quality of our stock.

Sole representatives of the ANGELUS PIANO PLAYER. Large circulating music library

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 14, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 10.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 14.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Traviata" . . . . . Verdi
2. ENGLISH DANCES . . . . . F. Cowen
3. SUITE FROM BALLET, "Sylvia" . . . . . Delibes
4. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . A. Thomas

5. WALTZ FROM OPERA, "Eugene Onegin" . . Tschaikowsky
6. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
7. a. PETITE VALSE LENTE / b. PROMENADE (First time) . . . . . Clayton Johns
8. OVERTURE, "Tabasco" . . . . . Chadwick

9. OVERTURE, "Dichter und Bauer" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan
11. WALTZ, Barcarole . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Hoch Hapsburg" . . . . . Kral

Grand Vin

Chateau Lafite, 1895

SOLD HERE

Pontet Canet AND Haut Sauternes

From Genoud, Pere et Fils,
BORDEAUX, FRANCE,

Are sold here at $1.25 per quart and 75 cents per pint. You can get them for your home, clubs, hotels, and restaurants at wholesale price from the direct importers,

THE FRENCH-AMERICAN WINE COMPANY,
28 ESSEX STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

MahMal

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES

Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	. .	15 cents per box
No. 3s	. .	25 cents per box
No. 1s	. .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	. .	25 cents per box

Also sold by

S. S. PIERCE CO.

BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars

WAVERLEY Electrics

CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts / $850 Touring Cars

W. E. ELDRIDGE

AGENT

POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 15, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 11.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PROGRAMME

For the twenty-four Boston Concerts, with Historical and Descriptive Notes by Philip Hale.

Bound copies of the Programme for the entire season can be had at $1.50 by applying to

F. R. COMEE,
Symphony Hall,
Boston.

FRIDAY, MAY 15.

PROGRAMME.

1. RAKOCZY MARCH . . . . . Berlioz
2. SCENE AND WALTZ, "Gretna Green" (First time) . . . . Guiraud
3. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
4. SUITE No. 1 . . . . . Moszkowski

5. CONTRASTES GAVOTTE, 1700–1900 . . . . Elgar
6. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
7. INTERMEZZO, "Contes d'Hoffmann" . . . . Offenbach
8. SUITE, "La Belle au Bois Dormant" . . . . Tschaikowsky

9. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
10. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Wiener Blut" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Tambour Battant" . . . . . Messager

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes

Plain Cork or... Straw Tip

No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508–510 Atlantic Avenue
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana),	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana),	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos,	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas,	20c. each.

Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900

WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere

DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage."—American Journal of Health.

SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers

DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

[151]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.
PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Saturday, May 16, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 12.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 16.

PROGRAMME.

1. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin
2. ENTR'ACTE from "La Basoche" . . . . . Messager
3. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
4. BALLET MUSIC, "Coppelia" . . . . . Delibes

5. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
6. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
7. PRELUDE to "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" . . Wagner
8. THE DELUGE . . . . . Saint-Saëns

9. GRACEFUL DANCE . . . . . Sullivan
10. OVERTURE, "Orpheus aux Enfers" . . . . . Offenbach
11. WALTZ, "Blue Danube" . . . . . Strauss
12. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Meyerbeer

TWENTY-THIRD SEASON, 1903–1904

Boston Symphony Orchestra

WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

OPENING CONCERT
Saturday Evening, October 17, 1903

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

[152]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

Boston, Monday, May 18, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 13.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 18.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Souvoroff" . . . . . Arensky
2. BALLET MUSIC, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
4. SUITE from Ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant" . Tschaikowski
5. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavalo" . . . . . Auber
6. PRELUDE TO ACT III. DANCE OF APPRENTICES } "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" . . Wagner
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek
   Organ, Mr. Snow
8. WALTZ, "Gretna Green" . . . . . Guiraud
9. CHANSON SANS PAROLES . . . . . Tschaikowski
10. OVERTURE, "Galatea" . . . . . Suppé
11. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Joh. Strauss
12. RAKOCZY MARCH . . . . . Berlioz

Mr. WM. L. WHITNEY

PRESENT HEAD OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY, VOICE DEPARTMENT,
ANNOUNCES FOR SEPTEMBER 17 THE OPENING OF AN

INTERNATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR VOCALISTS

FLORENCE 16 Via S. Agostino — BOSTON Huntington Avenue — PARIS 18 Rue Débarcadère

One method of voice production and management — OLD ITALIAN METHOD — for all schools of vocal music, Italian, French, English, German, etc.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, SEPTEMBER 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16

SUPPLEMENTARY STUDIES

Languages, Diction, Solfeggio, Piano Class, Oratorio Class, Ensemble, The BACH-BRAHMS Class, Concert Class, Opera, Sig. ORESTE BIMBONI Class, Two Opera Scholarships, Only School of the kind in Existence, Four Voice Scholarships

MOGUL
Egyptian Cigarettes

Plain
or...
Cork Tip

Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.

Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.

If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

DRINK

HIGHEST AWARD FOR PURITY.

JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 19, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 14.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 19.

PROGRAMME.

1. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. OVERTURE, "Semiramide" . . . . . Rossini
3. SELECTION, "Poor Jonathan" . . . . . Millöcker
4. OVERTURE, "Di Ballo" . . . . . Sullivan

---

5. SCENES PITTORESQUES . . . . . Massenet
6. ENGLISH DANCES . . . . . Cowen
7. DELUGE . . . . . Saint-Saëns
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . Thomas

---

9. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
10. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
11. WALTZ, "Wine, Woman, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

Ask the man behind the bar to make your rickey or cocktail of

BURROUGH'S
London Dry Gin.

You never will regret it, as this gin is in a class by itself.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER AND MÜNCHNER HOF BRÄU BIERS
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Company, 162 State Street
Telephone, Richmond 1119
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

American Brewing Co.
ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BEER.

Try a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

Frank Jones'
India Pale Ale.
Homestead Ale.
Nourishing Stout.
Bottled at the Brewery
Portsmouth, N. H.

"Life is but a journey—
Live well upon the way."

SOLD AT
These Concerts
AS WELL AS
BY THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON DEALERS

Boston and Albany
NICHOLAS BOYLAN, JR., GEN'L MANAGER

Luxurious Travel
TO THE
WEST.
THE POINTS
Of excellence in a Railway Journey are
Good Roadbeds
Fast Schedules
Comfortable Coaches
Palatial Sleepers
Efficient Dining-car Service
and these are some of the points in which the
Boston & Albany R.R.
excels in its train service from Boston and the New England territory to the West.

9 TRAINS A DAY
Leave BOSTON for the WEST
via
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES.

5†00 A.M.	"Albany Local." Connections for points in New York State.
8†30 A.M.	"Albany Express." For Saratoga and points in New York State.
10†15 A.M.	"Berkshire Express." Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo.
10*45 A.M.	"Chicago Special," via Lake Shore, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago; also Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis.
2*00 P.M.	"North Shore Limited," via Michigan Central, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Cleveland.
4†15 P.M.	"Western Express." Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago.
6*00 P.M.	"Southwestern Express." Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago.
8*00 P.M.	"Pacific Express." Buffalo and Chicago.
11†15 P.M.	"Albany Local." Points in New York State.

* Daily. † Except Sunday.
Through Sleeping-car and Dining-car Service complete.

4 THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS A DAY, BOSTON TO NEW YORK, via "SPRINGFIELD LINE." Leave South Station 9 A.M., 12 noon, 4 P.M., 11.15 P.M. Equipped with Day Coaches, Parlor and Sleeping Cars built by the PULLMAN COMPANY expressly for this service.

J. L. WHITE, C. T. A., 366 Washington St. A. S. HANSON, G. P. A., Boston

[154]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 20, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 15.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 20.

PROGRAMME.

1. POMP AND CIRCUMSTANCE . . . . . Elgar
2. SUITE, "Boabdil" . . . . . Moszkowski
   a. Valse b. Malaguena
3. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
4. SALUT D'AMOUR . . . . . Elgar

5. PRELUDE TO ACT III. AND DANCE OF APPRENTICES, from "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" . Wagner
6. DANCE OF THE SUN FEAST . . . . . Waller
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. ONDRICEK
   Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. DANSE MACABRE . . . . . Saint-Saëns

9. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan
11. SINGEN-LADEN-TANZEN WALTZ . . . . Ziehrer
12. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
LACE CURTAINS
REAL LACES ETC
CLEANSED OR
DYED
AND REFINISHED
PROPERLY BY

LEWANDO'S

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

THE MOST POPULAR CONCERT SONGS IN AMERICA AND ENGLAND

"The Japanese Love Song." By Clayton Thomas
"Toy Land." By same composer
"Because." By Guy D'Hardelot. Keys, A-flat, B-flat, and C

(1)
BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, - NEW YORK

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic ✤ Delicate ✤ Pure

Winthrop M. Baker

BOSTON
CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS
CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop M. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

Bronzes from the foundries of Barbedienne, Colin & others

Classic Subjects Ancient & Modern by European & American Sculptors

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 21, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 16.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK
VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.29 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	5.57 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	" "	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Pilgrim" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
362 Washington Street. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

THURSDAY, MAY 21.

PROGRAMME.

1. POLONAISE . . . . . Liszt
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
4. EVENING SONG . . . . . Elgar

---

5. FANTASIA on "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
6. MENUET . . . . . Paderewski
7. SUITE, "La Belle au Bois Dormant" . . . . . Tschaikowsky
   a. "La Fée des Lilas" b. Adagio, "Pas d'Action" c. Valse
8. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini

---

9. SELECTION, "La Grande Duchesse" . . . . . Offenbach
10. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Amoureuse" . . . . . Berger
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

S. S. Pierce Company
BOSTON
BROOKLINE

C. C. HARVEY & COMPANY
144 BOYLSTON STREET
Representatives of

KNABE PIANOS

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

THE KNABE PIANO

Is a high-grade, artistic product, suited to the every-day requirements of the American public.

RENTAL DEPARTMENT. We will rent any grade, new or second-hand piano at lower prices than any other house. We make a specialty of summer rentals, and can please you with the quality of our stock.

Sole representatives of the ANGELUS PIANO PLAYER. Large circulating music library

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, May 22, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 17.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Foster's Bottling

Bass Ale

Sold at these concerts

FRIDAY, MAY 22.

PROGRAMME.

1. LES DRAGONS DE VILLARS . . . . . Maillard
2. ENTR'ACTE, "Philémon et Baucis" . . . . . Gounod
3. SELECTION, "The Brigands" . . . . . Offenbach
4. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner

---

5. MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM MUSIC . . Mendelssohn
   a. Nocturne b. Scherzo c. Wedding March
6. DANCE OF THE SUN FEAST / DANCE OF SIOUX INDIANS . . . . . Henry Waller
7. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
8. OVERTURE, "Fledermaus" . . . . . Joh. Strauss

---

9. SERENADE . . . . . Moszkowski
10. SELECTION, "Wizard of the Nile" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé

WE CANNOT SELL YOU HERE

ROUALET DRY IMPERIAL,

The best American Champagne,
but you can get it
at your club, hotel, restaurant,
or order it
from your grocer or wine merchant.

It costs only $12.00 per case of twelve quarts and $14.00 per case of twenty-four pints, and it is worth three times as much.

MahMal

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES

Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	. .	15 cents per box
No. 3s	. .	25 cents per box
No. 1s	. .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	. .	25 cents per box

Also sold by

S. S. PIERCE CO.

BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars

WAVERLEY Electrics

CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts / $850 Touring Cars

W. E. ELDRIDGE

AGENT

POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 23, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 18.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PROGRAMME

For the twenty-four Boston Concerts, with Historical and Descriptive Notes by Philip Hale.

Bound copies of the Programme for the entire season can be had at $1.50 by applying to

F. R. COMEE,
Symphony Hall,
Boston.

SATURDAY, MAY 23.

PROGRAMME.

1. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Joh. Strauss
2. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet
3. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
4. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . . . Delibes

5. WALTZ, "Gretna Green" . . . . . Guiraud
6. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
7. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
   Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. PRELUDE, ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner

9. NARCISSUS . . . . . Nevin
10. SELECTION, "Country Girl" . . . . . Monkton
11. WALTZ, "Espana" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. TAMBOUR BATTANT . . . . . Messager

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508-510 Atlantic Avenue
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra, ...	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana), . .	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana), .	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana), . .	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),.	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos, ...	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas, ...	20c. each.

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes
Plain Cork or... Straw Tip
No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900
WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage."—American Journal of Health.

SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

[158]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

Boston, Monday, May 25, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 19.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

MONDAY, MAY 25.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Semiramide" . . . . . Rossini
2. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi
3. ENTR'ACTE, "Philémon et Baucis" . . . . Gounod
4. OVERTURE, "The Bartered Bride" . . . . . Smetana

---

5. PRELUDE TO ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . Wagner
6. FUNERAL MARCH OF A MARIONETTE . . Gounod
7. EVENING SONG . . . . . Elgar
8. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet

---

9. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "The Brigands" . . . . . Offenbach
11. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Poor Jonathan" . . . . . Suppé

THE THIRD PUBLIC PERFORMANCE OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY SCHOOL OF OPERA

Will take place on Friday, June 5, at 2 P.M., in the Boston Theatre, under the direction of Sig. ORESTE BIMBONI. Tickets, $1.50, $1.00, 75 cents, 50 cents. Subscriptions will be received at the Conservatory until May 30.

The Conservatory management takes special pleasure in announcing the re-engagement of Sig. Oreste Bimboni as Director of the New England Conservatory School of Opera for a term of three years. Sig. Bimboni will in addition become a member of the regular vocal school faculty. During the term of this engagement Sig. Bimboni will conduct no operatic performances except those given by the Conservatory Opera School.

The splendid new auditorium (Jordan Hall) will be used for the work of the Opera School, and every facility will be afforded for the most complete training in operatic performance.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA

DRY GINGER ALE

MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

[159]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, May 26, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 20.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, MAY 26.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Le Roi d'Ys" . . . . . Lalo
2. BALLET MUSIC, "Boabdil" . . . . . Moszkowski
3. SALUT D'AMOUR . . . . . Elgar
4. OVERTURE, "Freischütz" . . . . . Weber

---

5. VALSE LENTE . . . . . German
6. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY . . . . . Liszt
7. LEGATO . . . . . Strube
8. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner

---

9. BOLERO . . . . . Carl Merrill
10. SELECTION, "Emerald Isle" (First time) . . . . . Sullivan
11. WALTZ, "Gros Wien" . . . . . Strauss
12. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Strauss

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

Mr. WM. L. WHITNEY
PRESENT HEAD OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY, VOICE DEPARTMENT,
ANNOUNCES FOR SEPTEMBER 17 THE OPENING OF AN
INTERNATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR VOCALISTS
FLORENCE 16 Via S. Agostino — BOSTON Huntington Avenue — PARIS 18 Rue Débarcadère
One method of voice production and management
OLD ITALIAN METHOD
for all schools of vocal music, Italian, French, English, German, etc.
ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, SEPTEMBER 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16
SUPPLEMENTARY STUDIES
LANGUAGES DICTION SOLFEGGIO PIANO
ORATORIO CLASS ENSEMBLE The BACH-BRAHMS CLASS CONCERT CLASS
OPERA CLASS
TWO OPERA SCHOLARSHIPS
ONLY SCHOOL OF THE KIND IN EXISTENCE
FOUR VOICE SCHOLARSHIPS

MOGUL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Plain or... Cork Tip
Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

DRINK

HIGHEST AWARD FOR PURITY.
JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

[160]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, May 27, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 21.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
3. FANTASIA on "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
4. WALTZ, "Simplicieuse" . . . . . J. Strauss
5. FIRE-CHARM, from "Die Walküre" . . . . Wagner
6. OVERTURE, "Sakuntala" . . . . . Goldmark
7. THE SPINNING-WHEEL OF OMPHALE . . Saint-Saëns
8. OVERTURE, "Fledermaus" . . . . . J. Strauss
9. INTERMEZZO, "Contes d'Hoffmann" . . . . Offenbach
10. WALTZ, "El Turia" . . . . . Granado
11. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

Ask the man behind the bar to make your rickey or cocktail of

BURROUGH'S
London Dry Gin.

You never will regret it, as this gin is in a class by itself.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER AND MÜNCHNER HOF BRÄU BIERS
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Company, 162 State Street
Telephone, Richmond 1119

ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

American Brewing Co.
ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BEER.

Try a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

Frank Jones'
India Pale Ale.
Homestead Ale.
Nourishing Stout.
Bottled at the Brewery
Portsmouth, N. H.

"Life is but a journey — Live well upon the way"

SOLD AT
These Concerts
AS WELL AS
BY THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON DEALERS

Boston and Albany

Luxurious Travel
TO THE
WEST.
THE POINTS
Of excellence in a Railway Journey are
Good Roadbeds
Fast Schedules
Comfortable Coaches
Palatial Sleepers
Efficient Dining-car Service
and these are some of the points in which the
Boston & Albany R.R.
excels in its train service from Boston and the New England territory to the West.

9 TRAINS A DAY
Leave BOSTON for the WEST
via
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES.

5†00 A.M.	"Albany Local." Connections for points in New York State.
8†30 A.M.	"Albany Express." For Saratoga and points in New York State.
10†15 A.M.	"Berkshire Express." Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo.
10*45 A.M.	"Chicago Special," via Lake Shore, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago; also Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis.
2*00 P.M.	"North Shore Limited," via Michigan Central, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Cleveland.
4†15 P.M.	"Western Express." Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago.
6*00 P.M.	"Southwestern Express." Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago.
8*00 P.M.	"Pacific Express." Buffalo and Chicago.
11†15 P.M.	"Albany Local." Points in New York State.

* Daily. † Except Sunday.

Through Sleeping-car and Dining-car Service complete.

4 THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS A DAY, BOSTON TO NEW YORK, via "SPRINGFIELD LINE." Leave South Station 9 A.M., 12 noon, 4 P.M., 11.15 P.M. Equipped with Day Coaches, Parlor and Sleeping Cars built by the PULLMAN COMPANY expressly for this service.

J. L. WHITE, C. T. A., 366 Washington St. A. S. HANSON, G. P. A., Boston

[161]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, May 28, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 22.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THURSDAY, MAY 28.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "The Bartered Bride" . . . . . Smetana
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. SUITE No. 1 . . . . . Moszkowski
4. WALTZ, "Espana" . . . . . Waldteufel

5. OVERTURE, "Euphrosyne" (First time) . . . . . F. Converse
6. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
7. BERCEUSE . . . . . Clayton Johns
8. SUITE, "La Belle au Bois Dormant" . . . . . Tschaikowski

9. INDIAN SERENADE . . . . . F. Converse
10. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . J. Strauss
11. SELECTION, "La Grande Duchesse" . . . . . Offenbach
12. MARCH . . . . . Jenicke

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT

Good English songs are plentiful if you know what to ask your dealer for. The latest successes in America and England are:

"LOVE'S POWER" } . . . . . H. Bunning
"HUMILITY" }
"WING TEE WEE" } . . . . . Clayton Thomas
"MECHANICAL DOLL" }
"BUTTERFLY GAY" . . . . . Stephen Adams
"HEART, O MY HEART" . . . . . Victor Harris
"O BLEST REDEEMER" . . . . . Ernest Newton
"GREEK LOVE SONG" . . . . . Liza Lehmann
"ABSENT" . . . . . Tirindelli

To be had of all dealers or from the publishers

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, - NEW YORK (4)

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
LACE CURTAINS
REAL LACES ETC
CLEANSED OR
DYED
AND REFINISHED
PROPERLY BY

LEWANDO'S

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic & Delicate & Pure

Winthrop M. Baker

BOSTON
CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS
CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop M. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

BIGELOW, KENNARD AND CO.

Bronzes from the foundries of Barbedienne, Colin & others

Classic Subjects Ancient & Modern by European & American Sculptors

511 WASHINGTON STREET, CORNER WEST STREET.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.29 "
1.00 p.m. K.I.	1.04 p.m.	" "	5.57 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	" "	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.I. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Pilgrim" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
362 Washington Street. Terminal Station. Back Bay Station.

Boston, Friday, May 29, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 23.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

FRIDAY, MAY 29.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Masaniello" . . . . . Auber
2. BAL COSTUME . . . . . Rubinstein
   a. Introduction b. Berger et Bergère c. Tarantelle
3. CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA . . . . . Mascagni
4. WALTZ from "Merry War" . . . . . Joh. Strauss

---

5. SELECTION, "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
6. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
7. INTERMEZZO, "Contes d'Hoffmann" . . . . . Offenbach
8. WALTZ, "Gretna Green" . . . . . Guiraud

---

9. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
10. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
11. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" . . . . . Ziehrer
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

Veuve Chaffard

PURE OLIVE OIL

In Honest Bottles

C. C. HARVEY & COMPANY

144 BOYLSTON STREET

Representatives of

KNABE PIANOS

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

THE KNABE PIANO

Is a high-grade, artistic product, suited to the every-day requirements of the American public.

RENTAL DEPARTMENT. We will rent any grade, new or second-hand piano at lower prices than any other house. We make a specialty of summer rentals, and can please you with the quality of our stock.

Sole representatives of the ANGELUS PIANO PLAYER. Large circulating music library

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

[163]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, May 30, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 24.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

SATURDAY, MAY 30.

PROGRAMME.

1. TAMBOUR BATTANT . . . . . Messager
2. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
3. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
4. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet

---

5. BALLET MUSIC, "Sylvia" . . . . . Delibes
   a. Introduction b. Valse Lente c. Pizzicato
6. PRELUDE, ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . . Wagner
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. SELECTION, "Fatinitza" . . . . . Suppé

---

9. OVERTURE, "La Périchole" . . . . . Offenbach
10. SELECTION, "Mikado" . . . . . Sullivan
11. ESTUDIANTINA WALTZ . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

Grand Vin

Chateau Lafite, 1895

SOLD HERE

Pontet Canet AND Haut Sauternes

From Genoud, Pere et Fils,
BORDEAUX, FRANCE,

Are sold here at $1.25 per quart and 75 cents per pint. You can get them for your home, clubs, hotels, and restaurants at wholesale price from the direct importers,

THE FRENCH-AMERICAN WINE COMPANY,
28 ESSEX STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

MahMal

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES

Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

Also sold by

S. S. PIERCE CO.

BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars

WAVERLEY Electrics

CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts
$850 Touring Cars

W. E. ELDRIDGE

AGENT

POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 1, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 25.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PROGRAMME

For the twenty-four Boston Concerts, with Historical and Descriptive Notes by Philip Hale.

Bound copies of the Programme for the entire season can be had at $1.50 by applying to

F. R. COMEE,
Symphony Hall,
Boston.

MONDAY, JUNE 1.

PROGRAMME.

1. HUNGARIAN MARCH . . . . . Moldauer
2. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
3. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
4. WALTZ, "New Vienna" . . . . . Strauss

5. SUITE, "La Feria" . . . . . Lacome
6. OVERTURE, "Flying Dutchman" (First time) . . . . . Wagner
7. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
8. OVERTURE, "William Tell" (First time) . . . . . Rossini

9. INTERMEZZO, "Radcliffe" . . . . . Mascagni
10. SELECTION, "The Singing Girl" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508-510 Atlantic Avenue.
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.

The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana),	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana),	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos,	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas,	20c. each.

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes

Plain Cork or... Straw Tip

No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

WHITE ROCK MINERAL SPRING CO. WAUKESHA WIS.

Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900

WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere

DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage."—American Journal of Health.

GOSMAN'S GINGER ALE
HIGHLY AROMATIC
The Gosman Ginger Ale Co.
BALTIMORE
FREE FROM ALCOHOL
TRADE MARK

SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers

DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

[165]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS" SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

Boston, Tuesday, June 2, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 26.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2.

PROGRAMME.

1. WEDDING MARCH . . . . . Mendelssohn
2. SUITE, "Korrigan" . . . . . Widor
3. OVERTURE, "Galatea" . . . . . Suppé
4. WALTZ, "Harlequin en Voyage" . . . . . Zach

5. OVERTURE, "Oberon" . . . . . Weber
6. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
7. CHANSON SANS PAROLES . . . . Tschaikowski
8. SUITE, "Peer Gynt" . . . . . Grieg

9. SERENADE . . . . . Moszkowski
10. SELECTION, "Madame Angot" . . . . . Lecocq
11. WALTZ, "El Turo" . . . . . Gordans
12. MARCH, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

The Third Public Performance of the New England Conservatory SCHOOL OF OPERA

Will take place on Friday, June 5, at 2 p.m., in the Boston Theatre, under the direction of

Sig. ORESTE BIMBONI.

Tickets, $1.50, $1.00, 75 cents, 50 cents. Subscriptions will be received at the Conservatory until May 30.

The Conservatory management takes special pleasure in announcing the re-engagement of Sig. Oreste Bimboni as Director of the New England Conservatory School of Opera for a term of three years. Sig. Bimboni will in addition become a member of the regular vocal school faculty. During the term of this engagement Sig. Bimboni will conduct no operatic performances except those given by the Conservatory Opera School.

The splendid new auditorium Jordan Hall) will be used for the work of the Opera School, and every facility will be afforded for the most complete training in operatic performance.

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE

MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 3, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 27.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
2. BALLET MUSIC, "Coppelia" . . . . . Delibes
3. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . A. Thomas
4. WALTZ, "Margot" . . . . . John E. Lodge
   (First time)
5. OVERTURE, "1812" . . . . . Tschaikowski
6. FUNERAL MARCH OF A MARIONETTE . . Gounod
7. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
8. EVENING SONG . . . . . Elgar
9. GRACEFUL DANCE . . . . . Sullivan
10. WALTZ, "Lagunen" . . . . . J. Strauss
11. SELECTION, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé
12. TABASCO MARCH . . . . . Chadwick

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

Mr. WM. L. WHITNEY, 246 Huntington Avenue, Opposite Symphony Hall,
PRESENT HEAD OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY, VOICE DEPARTMENT,
ANNOUNCES FOR SEPTEMBER 17 THE OPENING OF AN
INTERNATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR VOCALISTS
FLORENCE 16 Via S. Agostino — BOSTON Huntington Avenue — PARIS 18 Rue Débarcadère
One method of voice production and management — OLD ITALIAN METHOD — for all schools of vocal music, Italian, French, English, German, etc.
ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, SEPTEMBER 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16
SUPPLEMENTARY STUDIES
LANGUAGES DICTION SOLFEGGIO PIANO
ORATORIO CLASS ENSEMBLE The BACH-BRAHMS CLASS CONCERT CLASS
OPERA CLASS
TWO OPERA SCHOLARSHIPS — ONLY SCHOOL OF THE KIND IN EXISTENCE — FOUR VOICE SCHOLARSHIPS

MOGUL
Egyptian
Cigarettes

Plain
or...
Cork Tip

Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX
ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.

Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.

If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

DRINK

HIGHEST AWARD FOR PURITY.

JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

[167]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 4, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 28.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Ask the man behind the bar to make your rickey or cocktail of

BURROUGH'S
London Dry Gin.

You never will regret it, as this gin is in a class by itself.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4.

PROGRAMME.

1. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin
2. OVERTURE, "La Fiancée du Czar" . . Rimsky-Korsakoff
3. OVERTURE, "Galatea" . . . . . Suppé
4. WALTZ, "Torquay" . . . . . R. Atkinson (First time)
5. ENGLISH DANCES . . . . . Cowen
6. OVERTURE, "Phèdre" . . . . . Massenet
7. ANDANTE from Quartet . . . . . Tschaikowsky
8. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
9. PARADE MILITAIRE . . . . . Massenet
10. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
11. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
12. HUNGARIAN MARCH . . . . . Moldauer

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER AND MÜNCHNER HOF BRÄU BIERS
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Company, 162 State Street
Telephone, Richmond 1119
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

American Brewing Co.
ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BEER.

Try a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

Frank Jones'
India Pale Ale.
Homestead Ale.
Nourishing Stout.
Bottled at the Brewery
Portsmouth, N. H.

"Life is but a journey—
Live well upon the way"

SOLD AT
These Concerts
AS WELL AS
BY THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON DEALERS

Boston and Albany

Luxurious Travel
TO THE
WEST.
THE POINTS
Of excellence in a Railway Journey are
Good Roadbeds
Fast Schedules
Comfortable Coaches
Palatial Sleepers
Efficient Dining-car Service
and these are some of the points in which the
Boston & Albany R.R.
excels in its train service from Boston and the New England territory to the West.

9 TRAINS A DAY
Leave BOSTON for the WEST
via
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES.

5†00 A M	"Albany Local." Connections for points in New York State.
8†30 A M	"Albany Express." For Saratoga and points in New York State.
10†15 A M	"Berkshire Express." Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo.
10*45 A M	"Chicago Special," via Lake Shore, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago; also Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis.
2*00 P M	"North Shore Limited," via Michigan Central, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Cleveland.
4†15 P M	"Western Express." Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago.
6*00 P M	"Southwestern Express." Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago.
8*00 P M	"Pacific Express." Buffalo and Chicago.
11†15 P M	"Albany Local." Points in New York State.

* Daily. † Except Sunday.
Through Sleeping-car and Dining-car Service complete.

4 THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS A DAY, BOSTON TO NEW YORK, via "SPRINGFIELD LINE." Leave South Station 9 A.M., 12 noon, 4 P.M., 11.15 P.M. Equipped with Day Coaches, Parlor and Sleeping Cars built by the PULLMAN COMPANY expressly for this service.

J. L. WHITE, C. T. A., 366 Washington St. A. S. HANSON, G. P. A., Boston

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS" SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 5, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 29.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 5.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Barber of Seville" . . . . . Rossini
2. SUITE, "La Farandole" . . . . . Duboi
3. SELECTION, "Il Trovatore" . . . . . Verdi
4. WALTZ, "Merry War" . . . . . Strauss

---

5. FANTASIA on "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
6. ROMANZA for Violin and Orchestra . . . . . G. Strube
   (First time)
   Violin Solo, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
7. SELECTION, "Sphinx" . . . . . Thompson
8. OVERTURE, "In Bohemia" . . . . . H. Hadley

---

9. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
10. WALTZ, "Gros Wien" . . . . . Joh. Strauss
11. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven
12. TABASCO MARCH . . . . . Chadwick

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

SOMETHING NEW

POPULAR SONGS BY GREAT SONG WRITERS

"WHITE MOON." By Tito Mattei

"MAID IN THE MOON." By Ellen Wright, composer of "Violets."

Try them. The melodies are fascinating. To be had of all dealers or of the publishers,

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th St., - NEW YORK (3)

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
LACE CURTAINS
REAL LACES ETC
CLEANSED OR
DYED
AND REFINISHED
PROPERLY BY

LEWANDO'S

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic ✤ Delicate ✤ Pure

Winthrop M. Baker

BOSTON CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop M. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

BIGELOW KENNARD & CO.

Makers of fine
Electric and Gas Lighting Fixtures.
Experts in
Indirect and Subdued Lighting Effects.
Designs and Estimates Furnished
511 Washington Str.~ Corner West.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 6, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 30.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.29 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	5.57 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	" "	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Pilgrim" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
362 Washington Street. Terminal Station.
Back Bay Station.

SATURDAY, JUNE 6.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . Strube
2. FLOWER SUITE . . . Benyon
3. OVERTURE, "Raymond" (First time) . . . A. Thomas
4. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" . . . Ziehrer

5. GRACEFUL DANCE . . . Sullivan
6. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . Wagner
7. ROMANZA for Violin and Orchestra . . . Strube
   Violin Solo, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . Gounod

9. OVERTURE, "Orpheus aux Enfers" . . . Offenbach
10. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . Caryll
11. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Tambour Battant" . . . Messager

Tuesday, June 9 . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

S. S. Pierce Company
BOSTON
BROOKLINE

C. C. HARVEY & COMPANY
144 BOYLSTON STREET
Representatives of

KNABE PIANOS

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

THE KNABE PIANO

Is a high-grade, artistic product, suited to the every-day requirements of the American public.

RENTAL DEPARTMENT. We will rent any grade, new or second-hand piano at lower prices than any other house. We make a specialty of summer rentals, and can please you with the quality of our stock.

Sole representatives of the ANGELUS PIANO PLAYER. Large circulating music library

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 8, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 31.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

MONDAY, JUNE 8.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Fra Diavalo" . . . . . Auber
2. BALLET MUSIC, "Le Cid" . . . . . Massenet
3. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
4. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
5. SLAVONIC DANCES . . . . . Dvorak
6. RIDE OF THE WALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner
7. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
8. WALTZ from "Onegin" . . . . . Tschaikowski
9. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
10. WALTZ, "Barcarole" . . . . . Waldteufel
11. SELECTION, "Pirates of Penzance" . . . . . Sullivan
12. PERSIAN MARCH . . . . . Strauss

Tuesday, June 9 . . . . . TECHNOLOGY NIGHT
Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

Grand Vin
Chateau Lafite, 1895

SOLD HERE

Pontet Canet AND Haut Sauternes
From Genoud, Pere et Fils,
BORDEAUX, FRANCE,
Are sold here at $1.25 per quart and 75 cents per pint. You can get them for your home, clubs, hotels, and restaurants at wholesale price from the direct importers,
THE FRENCH-AMERICAN WINE COMPANY,
28 ESSEX STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

MahMal
EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES
Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	15 cents per box
No. 3s	25 cents per box
No. 1s	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	25 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.
BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars
WAVERLEY Electrics
CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts / $850 Touring Cars
W. E. ELDRIDGE
AGENT
POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 9, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 32.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 9.

TECH NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . A. Thomas
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
4. STEIN SONG . . . . . Bullard, Tech '87

5. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
6. SELECTION, "Country Girl" . . . . . Monckton
7. THE DELUGE . . . . . Saint-Saëns
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. SELECTION, "Tech Show, 1903."
   Conducted by LEYLAND WHIPPLE, Tech 1904

9. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
10. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
11. WALTZ, "Les Patineurs" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. HUNGARIAN MARCH . . . . . Moldauer

Friday, June 12 . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

The Cool Tremont Theatre
Now Playing.
Mr. HENRY W. SAVAGE
PRESENTS
GEORGE ADE'S
Successful Musical Comedy
PEGGY
FROM PARIS
Music by William Loraine.
Clever Principals. Pretty Girls.
Gorgeous Costumes. Tuneful Music.

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508-510 Atlantic Avenue
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana),	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana),	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos,	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas,	20c. each.

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes
Plain Cork or... Straw Tip
No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900
WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage."—American Journal of Health.

SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

[172]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

Boston, Wednesday, June 10, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 33.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Masaniello" . . . . . Auber
2. SUITE, "Nut-cracker" . . . . . Tschaikowski
3. RIDE OF THE WALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner
4. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" . . . . . Ziehrer

---

5. MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM MUSIC . . Mendelssohn
   a. Nocturne b. Scherzo c. Wedding March
6. OVERTURE, "Il Ballo" . . . . . Sullivan
7. ANDANTE from Quartet . . . . . Tschaikowski
8. PARADE MILITAIRE . . . . . Massenet

---

9. OVERTURE, "Orpheus aux Enfers" . . . . . Offenbach
10. WALTZ, "Éternelle Ivresse" . . . . . Ganne
11. SELECTION, "Boccaccio" . . . . . Suppé
12. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube

Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

THE CONSERVATORY

Management takes special pleasure in announcing the re-engagement of

Signor ORESTE BIMBONI

As Director of the School of Opera for a period of three years. The success of these public operatic performances amply demonstrates the great value and possibilities of home operatic training as compared with the expense and uncertainty of such study abroad. The facilities provided for next year in the Conservatory School of Opera will be largely increased over that of the past two years, and several public performances will be given. The Conservatory school year for 1903-1904

OPENS SEPTEMBER 17.

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA

DRY GINGER ALE

MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[173]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 11, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 34.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

ESTABROOK & EATON
PROPRIETORS OF THE NEW
226-228 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Bohemian Girl" . . . . Balfe
2. INTERMEZZO, "La Basoche" . . . . . Messager
3. WALTZ, "Cagliostro" . . . . . Strauss
4. SONG WITHOUT WORDS . . . . . Johnson
   Orchestrated by GUSTAVE STRUBE

5. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
6. PRELUDE, "Die Meistersinger" . . . . . Wagner
7. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
8. LA BELLE AU BOIS DORMANT . . . . . Tschaikowski

9. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
10. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Barcarole" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Continentals" . . . . . Brooke

Friday, June 12 . . . . . BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT

Mr. WM. L. WHITNEY, 246 Huntington Avenue, Opposite Symphony Hall,
PRESENT HEAD OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY, VOICE DEPARTMENT,
ANNOUNCES FOR SEPTEMBER 17 THE OPENING OF AN
INTERNATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR VOCALISTS
FLORENCE 16 Via S. Agostino — BOSTON Huntington Avenue — PARIS 18 Rue Débarcadère
One method of voice production and management OLD ITALIAN METHOD for all schools of vocal music, Italian, French, English, German, etc.
ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, SEPTEMBER 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16
SUPPLEMENTARY STUDIES
LANGUAGES DICTION SOLFEGGIO PIANO
ORATORIO CLASS ENSEMBLE The BACH-BRAHMS CLASS CONCERT CLASS
OPERA CLASS
TWO OPERA SCHOLARSHIPS
ONLY SCHOOL OF THE KIND IN EXISTENCE
FOUR VOICE SCHOLARSHIPS

MOGUL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Plain or... Cork Tip
Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

DRINK

HIGHEST AWARD FOR PURITY.

JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

[174]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 12, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 35.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Ask the man behind the bar to make your rickey or cocktail of

BURROUGH'S
London Dry Gin.

You never will regret it, as this gin is in a class by itself.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

FRIDAY, JUNE 12.

BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCHE DE CORTEGE . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. OVERTURE, "Si j'étais Roi" . . . . . Adam
3. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
4. WALTZ, "Barcarole" . . . . . Waldteufel
5. SELECTION, "Miss Simplicity."
6. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
7. THE DELUGE . . . . . Saint-Saëns
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner
9. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "Baron Humbug."
    Conducted by Mr. DAVID STEVENS
11. WALTZ, "España" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER AND MÜNCHNER HOF BRÄU BIERS
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Company, 162 State Street
Telephone, Richmond 1119
ALSO SOLE NEW ENGLAND AGENTS FOR
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

American Brewing Co.
ST. LOUIS
A.
B.
C.
BEER.
Try a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.
The perfection of American brewing.
CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

Frank Jones'
India Pale Ale.
Homestead Ale.
Nourishing Stout.
Bottled at the Brewery
Portsmouth, N. H.

"Life is but a journey—
Live well upon the way"

SOLD AT
These Concerts
AS WELL AS
BY THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON DEALERS

Boston and Albany

Luxurious Travel
TO THE
WEST.
THE POINTS
Of excellence in a Railway Journey are
Good Roadbeds
Fast Schedules
Comfortable Coaches
Palatial Sleepers
Efficient Dining-car Service
and these are some of the points in which the
Boston & Albany R.R.
excels in its train service from Boston and the New England territory to the West.

9 TRAINS A DAY
Leave BOSTON for the WEST
via
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES.

5†00 AM	"Albany Local." Connections for points in New York State.
8†30 AM	"Albany Express." For Saratoga and points in New York State.
10†15 AM	"Berkshire Express." Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo.
10*45 AM	"Chicago Special," via Lake Shore, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago; also Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis.
2*00 PM	"North Shore Limited," via Michigan Central, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Cleveland.
4†15 PM	"Western Express." Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago.
6*00 PM	"Southwestern Express." Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago.
8*00 PM	"Pacific Express." Buffalo and Chicago.
11†15 PM	"Albany Local." Points in New York State.

* Daily. † Except Sunday.
Through Sleeping-car and Dining-car Service complete.

4 THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS A DAY, BOSTON TO NEW YORK, via "SPRINGFIELD LINE." Leave South Station 9 A.M., 12 noon, 4 P.M., 11.15 P.M. Equipped with Day Coaches, Parlor and Sleeping Cars built by the PULLMAN COMPANY expressly for this service.

J. L. WHITE, C. T. A., 366 Washington St. A. S. HANSON, G. P. A., Boston

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[175]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 13, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 36.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13.

PROGRAMME.

1. POLONAISE . . . . . Chopin
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
3. SUITE, "La Belle du Bois Dormant" . . . . Tschaikowski
4. WALTZ from "Merry War" . . . . . Joh. Strauss

---

5. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni
6. PRELUDE to "Die Meistersinger" . . . . . Wagner
7. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
8. SELECTION, "Aïda" . . . . . Verdi

---

9. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
10. SELECTION, "The Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral

Good English songs are plentiful if you know what to ask your dealer for. The latest successes in America and England are:

"LOVE'S POWER" } . . . . . H. Bunning
"HUMILITY"
"WING TEE WEE" } . . . . . Clayton Thomas
"MECHANICAL DOLL"
"BUTTERFLY GAY" . . . . . Stephen Adams
"HEART, O MY HEART" . . . . . Victor Harris
"O BLEST REDEEMER" . . . . . Ernest Newton
"GREEK LOVE SONG" . . . . . Liza Lehmann
"ABSENT" . . . . . Tirindelli

To be had of all dealers or from the publishers

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, - NEW YORK (4)

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
LACE CURTAINS
REAL LACES ETC
CLEANSED OR
DYED
AND REFINISHED
PROPERLY BY

LEWANDO'S

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic ✤ Delicate ✤ Pure

Winthrop M. Baker

BOSTON
CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS
CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop M. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

BIGELOW KENNARD & CO.

Sterling Silver Tea & Coffee Sets.
Dinner Ware. ✤ Bowls & Dishes.
Exclusive Patterns & Substantial Weights.
511 WASHINGTON ST. ✤ BOSTON.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
10.00 " B.S.	10.04 "	Shore Line	3.00 "
10.03 "	10.07 "	" "	4.29 "
1.00 p.m. K.L.	1.04 p.m.	" "	5.57 "
1.03 "	1.07 "	" "	6.58 "
2.00 "	2.04 "	Hartford	7.57 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	Shore Line	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

B.S. Bay State Limited Train, carrying Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

K.L. Knickerbocker Limited Train. Parlor Cars only. Limited in its equipment, and will receive passengers only to extent of seating capacity. Special tickets required.

Sunday Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
10.03 a.m.	10.07 a.m.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
1.03 p.m.	1.07 p.m.	" "	6.58 "
3.00 "	3.04 "	" "	9.00 "
5.00 "	5.04 "	" "	11.00 "
12.00 m'nt.	12.04 a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
12.03 a.m.	12.07 "	" "	7.08 "

Equipment.

Vestibuled Buffet Parlor Cars and Coaches on Day Trains.
Stateroom and Sleeping Cars on Night Trains.
Dining Cars on trains leaving BOSTON at 3.00 p.m. and 5.00 p.m.

VIA FALL RIVER LINE.

Steamboat Express Train, Vestibuled Parlor Cars and Coaches, leaves Boston Terminal daily, including Sundays, 6.00 p.m., Back Bay 6.04 p.m., connecting at Fall River with steamer "Pilgrim" or "Puritan," touching at Newport, and due New York, Pier 19, North River, 7.00 a.m.

TICKET OFFICES, BOSTON:
362 Washington Street. Terminal Station.
Back Bay Station.

Boston, Monday, June 15, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 37.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

MONDAY, JUNE 15.

HARVARD NIGHT.

Stewart's Military Band.
Conductor, Mr. Gustave Strube (by special arrangement).

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse
2. OVERTURE, "Zampa" . . . . . Hérold
3. WALTZ, "Wine, Woman, and Song" . . . . . Strauss
4. SELECTION, "King Dodo" . . . . . Luders
5. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
6. AVE MARIA . . . . . Gounod
7. SELECTION, "Belle of New York" . . . . . Kerker
8. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
9. a. MARCH, "Soldiers' Field" (First time) b. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
10. AMERICAN FANTASY . . . . . Herbert
11. FAIR HARVARD.
12. a. MARCH, "Veritas" . . . . . Densmore, 1904
    b. MARCH, "Our Director" . . . . . Bigelow

Monday, June 22, GRADUATES' NIGHT. Stewart's Military Band. Gustave Strube, Conductor. By special arrangement.

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

S. S. Pierce Company
BOSTON
BROOKLINE

C. C. HARVEY & CO.
144 BOYLSTON STREET
Representatives of
KNABE PIANOS

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

The
Angelus Piano-player
Easiest to blow. Most varied expression devices
Be sure and examine the ANGELUS before you purchase
CIRCULATING MUSIC LIBRARY
MONTHLY BULLETINS OF NEW MUSIC
Sold and RENTED ON EASY TERMS

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 184 OXFORD

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[177]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS" SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 16, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 38.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Foster's Bottling

Bass Ale

Sold at these concerts

TUESDAY, JUNE 16.

PROGRAMME.

1.	MARCH, "Merry War"	Joh. Strauss
2.	OVERTURE, "Euphrosyne"	Converse
3.	WALTZ, "Harlequin en Voyage"	Zach
4.	BALLET MUSIC, "Henry VIII."	Saint-Saëns
5.	SALUT D'AMOUR	Elgar
6.	OVERTURE, "Sakuntala"	Goldmark
7.	LEGATO	Strube
8.	SELECTION, "Romeo and Juliet"	Gounod
9.	SELECTION, "Pirates of Penzance"	Sullivan
10.	OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry"	Suppé
11.	WALTZ, "Estudiantina"	Waldteufel
12.	HUNGARIAN MARCH	Moldauer

Monday, June 22, GRADUATES' NIGHT. Stewart's Military Band. Gustave Strube, Conductor. By special arrangement.

WE CANNOT SELL YOU HERE

ROUALET DRY IMPERIAL,

The best American Champagne,
but you can get it
at your club, hotel, restaurant,
or order it
from your grocer or wine merchant.

It costs only $12.00 per case of twelve quarts and $14.00 per case of twenty-four pints, and it is worth three times as much.

MahMal

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES

Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	. .	15 cents per box
No. 3s	. .	25 cents per box
No. 1s	. .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	. .	25 cents per box

Also sold by

S. S. PIERCE CO.

BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars

WAVERLEY Electrics

CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts / $850 Touring Cars

W. E. ELDRIDGE

AGENT

POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 17, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 39.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

The Cool Tremont Theatre
Now Playing.
Mr. HENRY W. SAVAGE
PRESENTS
GEORGE ADE'S
Successful Musical Comedy
PEGGY
FROM PARIS
Music by William Loraine.
Clever Principals. Pretty Girls.
Gorgeous Costumes. Tuneful Music.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Il Ballo" . . . . . Sullivan
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. LA FERIA . . . . . Lacome
4. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . Joh. Strauss

---

5. POLISH DANCE . . . . . Scharwenka
6. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
7. SPRING SONG . . . . . Mendelssohn
8. DANCE OF MOUNTAINEERS . . . . . Moniuszko

---

9. CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA . . . . . Mascagni
10. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
11. WALTZ, "Barcarole" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Tambour Battant" . . . . . Messager

Monday, June 22, GRADUATES' NIGHT. Stewart's Military Band. Gustave Strube, Conductor. By special arrangement.

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508-510 Atlantic Avenue
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana),	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana),	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos,	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas,	20c. each.

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes
Plain Cork or... Straw Tip
No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

WHITE ROCK MINERAL SPRING CO. WAUKESHA WIS.
Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900
WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage." — American Journal of Health.

GOSMAN'S GINGER ALE
The Gosman Ginger Ale Co.
HIGHLY AROMATIC FREE FROM ALCOHOL
BALTIMORE MD
SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS" SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

Boston, Thursday, June 18, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS, Vol. I. No. 40.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 18.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Hoch Habsburg" . . . . . Kral
2. BALLET MUSIC, "Henry VIII." . . . . Saint-Saëns
3. SELECTION, "Mikado" . . . . . Sullivan
4. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel

5. ENGLISH DANCES . . . . . Cowen
6. OVERTURE, "1812" . . . . . Tschaikowsky
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
   Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. WALTZ, "Gretna Green" . . . . . Guiraud

9. OVERTURE, "Stradella" . . . . . Flotow
10. SELECTION, "Giroflé-Girofla" . . . . . Lecocq
11. WALTZ, "In lauschiger Nacht" . . . . . Ziehrer
12. MARCH, "Continentals" . . . . . Brooke

Monday, June 22, GRADUATES' NIGHT. Stewart's Military Band. Gustave Strube, Conductor. By special arrangement.

THE CONSERVATORY

Management takes special pleasure in announcing the re-engagement of

Signor ORESTE BIMBONI

As Director of the School of Opera for a period of three years. The success of these public operatic performances amply demonstrates the great value and possibilities of home operatic training as compared with the expense and uncertainty of such study abroad. The facilities provided for next year in the Conservatory School of Opera will be largely increased over that of the past two years, and several public performances will be given. The Conservatory school year for 1903-1904

OPENS SEPTEMBER 17.

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA
DRY GINGER ALE
MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Friday, June 19, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 41.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

FRIDAY, JUNE 19.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Tambour Battant" . . . . . Messager
2. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini
3. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan
4. WALTZ, "Merry War" . . . . . Strauss

5. FANTASY on "La Bohème" . . . . . Puccini
6. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . Thomas
7. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
8. DANCE OF MOUNTAINEERS . . . . . Moniuszko

9. OVERTURE, "Galatea" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "España" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

Monday, June 22, GRADUATES' NIGHT. Stewart's Military Band. Gustave Strube, Conductor. By special arrangement.
Tuesday, June 23, ALUMNI CONCLAVE, AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF HOMOEOPATHY.
Thursday, June 25 . . AMERICAN COMPOSERS' NIGHT
Friday, June 26, TESTIMONIAL to CONDUCTOR T. ADAMOWSKI

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

Mr. WM. L. WHITNEY, 246 Huntington Avenue, Opposite Symphony Hall,
PRESENT HEAD OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY, VOICE DEPARTMENT,
ANNOUNCES FOR SEPTEMBER 17 THE OPENING OF AN
INTERNATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR VOCALISTS
FLORENCE 16 Via S. Agostino — BOSTON Huntington Avenue — PARIS 18 Rue Débarcadère
One method of voice production and management OLD ITALIAN METHOD for all schools of vocal music, Italian, French, English, German, etc.
ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, SEPTEMBER 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16
SUPPLEMENTARY STUDIES
LANGUAGES DICTION SOLFEGGIO PIANO
ORATORIO CLASS ENSEMBLE The BACH-BRAHMS OPERA CLASS CLASS CONCERT CLASS
TWO OPERA SCHOLARSHIPS ONLY SCHOOL OF THE KIND IN EXISTENCE FOUR VOICE SCHOLARSHIPS

MOGUL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Plain or... Cork Tip
Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

DRINK

HIGHEST AWARD FOR PURITY.
JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

[187]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 20, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 42.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20.

PROGRAMME.

1. OVERTURE, "Raymond" . . . . . A. Thomas
2. BALLET MUSIC, "Sylvia" . . . . . Delibes
   Introduction, Valse Lente, Pizzicato
3. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
4. WALTZ, "Éternelle Ivresse" . . . . . Ganne
5. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
6. SUITE, "Boabdil" . . . . . Moszkowski
7. LARGO . . . . . Handel
   Solo Violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek
   Organ, Mr. Snow
8. WEDDING MARCH . . . . . Mendelssohn
9. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube

Monday, June 22, GRADUATES' NIGHT. Stewart's Military Band. Gustave Strube, Conductor. By special arrangement.
Tuesday, June 23, ALUMNI CONCLAVE, AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF HOMOEOPATHY.
Thursday, June 25 . . AMERICAN COMPOSERS' NIGHT
Friday, June 26, TESTIMONIAL to CONDUCTOR T. ADAMOWSKI

Ask the man behind the bar to make your rickey or cocktail of

BURROUGH'S
London Dry Gin.

You never will regret it, as this gin is in a class by itself.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

BÜRGERLICHES BRÄUHAUS
PILSNER AND MÜNCHNER HOF BRÄU BIERS
IN BOTTLES
ON SALE AT THESE CONCERTS
AND BY THE
Harrison Bottling Company, 162 State Street
Telephone, Richmond 1119
Also Sole New England Agents for
Königliches Hofbräuhaus, München, Bavaria. Bürgerliches Bräuhaus, Würzburg, Bavaria.
William A. Miles & Co.'s New York Croton Brewery Ales.
Iroquois Brewing Co. Buffalo (N.Y.) Beers.

American Brewing Co.
ST. LOUIS
A. B. C.
BEER.

Try a pint and notice the fine hop flavor.

The perfection of American brewing.

CODMAN & HALL CO.,
DEWEY SQUARE.

Frank Jones'
India Pale Ale.
Homestead Ale.
Nourishing Stout.
Bottled at the Brewery
Portsmouth, N. H.

"Life is but a journey—
Live well upon the way"

SOLD AT
These Concerts
AS WELL AS
BY THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON DEALERS

Boston and Albany

Luxurious Travel
TO THE
WEST.

THE POINTS
Of excellence in a Railway Journey are
Good Roadbeds
Fast Schedules
Comfortable Coaches
Palatial Sleepers
Efficient Dining-car Service
and these are some of the points in which the
Boston & Albany R.R.
excels in its train service from Boston and the New England territory to the West.

9 TRAINS A DAY
Leave BOSTON for the WEST
via
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES.

5†00 A.M.	"Albany Local." Connections for points in New York State.
8†30 A.M.	"Albany Express." For Saratoga and points in New York State.
10†15 A.M.	"Berkshire Express." Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo.
10*45 A.M.	"Chicago Special," via Lake Shore, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago; also Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis.
2*00 P.M.	"North Shore Limited," via Michigan Central, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Cleveland.
4†15 P.M.	"Western Express." Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago.
6*00 P.M.	"Southwestern Express." Cincinnati, Detroit, and Chicago.
8*00 P.M.	"Pacific Express." Buffalo and Chicago.
11†15 P.M.	"Albany Local." Points in New York State.

* Daily. † Except Sunday.
Through Sleeping-car and Dining-car Service complete.

4 THROUGH EXPRESS TRAINS A DAY, BOSTON TO NEW YORK, via "SPRINGFIELD LINE." Leave South Station 9 A.M., 12 noon, 4 P.M., 11.15 P.M. Equipped with Day Coaches, Parlor and Sleeping Cars built by the Pullman Company expressly for this service.

J. L. WHITE, G. T. A., 366 Washington St. A. S. HANSON, G. P. A., Boston

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[182]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Monday, June 22, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 43.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMBE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

MONDAY, JUNE 22.

GRADUATES' NIGHT.

Stewart's Military Band,
Mr. Gustave Strube, Conductor (by special arrangement).

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube
2. OVERTURE, "Pique Dame" . . . . . Suppé
3. WALTZ, "Tout Paris" . . . . . Waldteufel
4. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
5. INTRODUCTION, ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . . Wagner
6. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Monckton
7. OVERTURE, "William Tell" . . . . . Rossini
8. SELECTION, "King Dodo" . . . . . Luders
9. { a. MARCH, "John Harvard" . . . . . Rodman, 1905
   { b. MARCH, "Veritas" . . . . . Densmore, 1904
10. AMERICAN AIRS . . . . . Herbert
11. FAIR HARVARD.
12. { a. MARCH, "Advance of Harvard" . . . . . Dolan
    { b. MARCH, "Up the Street" . . . . . Morse

Tuesday, June 23, ALUMNI CONCLAVE, AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF HOMOEOPATHY.
Thursday, June 25 . . AMERICAN COMPOSERS' NIGHT
Friday, June 26, TESTIMONIAL to CONDUCTOR T. ADAMOWSKI

CLOTHING
CARPETS
RUGS
PORTIERES
BLANKETS
DRAPERIES
FEATHERS
GLOVES
LACE CURTAINS
REAL LACES ETC
CLEANSED OR
DYED
AND REFINISHED
PROPERLY BY

LEWANDO'S

17 Temple Place
284 Boylston Street

Also New York Philadelphia Newport Hartford New Haven Providence Lynn Watertown Cambridge

Teams Telephones

We also do more Fine Laundry Work than any other establishment

AS PLAYED AT THESE CONCERTS

"SERENADE LYRIQUE." By E. Elgar. For Piano

"DANCE OF THE SUN-FEAST." By Henry Waller.

75 cents.

To be had of all dealers or the publishers,

BOOSEY & CO., 9 East 17th Street, NEW YORK (2)

ON SALE IN THE LOBBY
OR MAY BE
ORDERED of the WAITER

Artistic ✤ Delicate ✤ Pure

Winthrop N. Baker

BOSTON CHOCOLATES

One pound package . 60 cents
One-half pound package, 30 cents

PRINCESS CHOCOLATES

The most exquisite symphony of confections

One pound package . 80 cents
One-half pound package, 40 cents

MADE BY

Winthrop N. Baker

545 ATLANTIC AVENUE
BOSTON

Bigelow, Kennard and Co.

Tiffany Favrile Glass
Tiffany Shades

511 Washington St.

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 23, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS. Vol. I. No. 44.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK

VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
8.00 a.m.	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.

TUESDAY, JUNE 23.

Alumni Conclave,
American Institute of Homœopathy.
PROGRAMME.

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Concerts

haffard

PURE OLIVE OIL

In Honest Bottles

COLLEGE.	COLORS.
Chicago Hom. Med. Coll. & Hospital	Red and Blue
State University of Iowa	White and Nile Green
Cleveland Hom. Med. College
Hering-Dunham Coll., Chicago
Hahnemann Med. Coll., Chicago	Royal Purple and Old Gold
Pulte Med. Coll., Cincinnati, O.	Orange and Black
Hom. Med. Coll., Univ. of Michigan, Ann Arbor	Yellow and Blue
N. Y. Med. Coll. & Hospital for Women	Blue and Gold
Detroit Hom. Med. College	Purple and Gold
Southern Hom. Med. Coll., Baltimore	Garnet and Gold
Hering Med. Coll., Chicago	Purple and Yellow
Hahnemann College, San Francisco	White and Gold
N. Y. Med. Coll. & Hospital	Yellow & White with Red Cross
Denver Hom. College	Columbine and White
Coll. of Hom. Med. & Surgery, Univ. of Minnesota, Minn.	Maroon and Old Gold
Hahnemann Med. Coll., Philadelphia
Boston University	Cherry and White

We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

The

Angelus Piano-player

Easiest to blow. Most varied expression devices

Be sure and examine the ANGELUS before you purchase

CIRCULATING MUSIC LIBRARY

MONTHLY BULLETINS OF NEW MUSIC

Sold and RENTED ON EASY TERMS

C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[184]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Tuesday, June 23, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS, Vol. I. No. 44.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

TUESDAY, JUNE 23.

Alumni Conclave,
American Institute of Homœopathy.
PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Queen of Sheba" . . . . . Gounod
2. OVERTURE, "Martha" . . . . . Flotow
3. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
4. WALTZ, "Morgenblätter" . . . . . J. Strauss

---

5. SUITE, "Peer Gynt" . . . . . Grieg
6. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner
7. HYMN TO ST. CECILIA . . . . . Gounod
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
   Organ, Mr. SNOW
8. WEDDING MARCH . . . . . Mendelssohn

---

9. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
10. SELECTION, "The Brigands" . . . . . Offenbach
11. WALTZ, "Violets" . . . . . Waldteufel
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

Thursday, June 25 . . . AMERICAN COMPOSERS' NIGHT
Friday, June 26, TESTIMONIAL to CONDUCTOR T. ADAMOWSKI

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

BOSTON TO NEW YORK
VIA RAIL LINES.

Week-day Service.

Leave Boston.	Leave Back Bay.	Via	Arrive New York.
	8.04 a.m.	Hartford	1.59 p.m.
	"	Shore Line	3.00 "
	"	" "	4.29 "
	p.m.	" "	5.57 "
	"	" "	6.58 "
	"	Hartford	7.57 "
	"	Shore Line	9.00 "
	"	" "	11.00 "
	a.m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
	"	" "	7.08 "

Limited Train, carrying Limited in its equip-
eive passengers only to capacity. Special tick-

cker Limited Train.
Limited in its equip-
eive passengers only to capacity. Special tick-

y Service.

			Arrive
	ay.	Via	New York.
	n.	Shore Line	4.29 p.m.
	m.	" "	6.58 "
		" "	9.00 "
		" "	11.00 "
	m.	" "	7.03 a.m.
	"	" "	7.08 "

uipment.
Parlor Cars and Coaches
eeping Cars on Night
ains leaving BOSTON at p.m.

RIVER LINE.
ess Train, Vestibuled Parhes, leaves Boston Termi-ing Sundays, 6.00 p.m., m., connecting at Fall er "Pilgrim" or "Puri-
Newport, and due New
h River, 7.00 a.m.

FICES, BOSTON:
reet. Terminal Station.
Bay Station.

President Suspenders
BEAT THE BAND
Better than a Belt
Their construction gives most
Comfort and Service
Try them warm days
Any store, 50c. and $1

Tally-Ho Ginger Ale

Sold at these Concerts

Veuve Chaffard

PURE OLIVE OIL

In Honest Bottles

C. C. HARVEY & CO.
144 BOYLSTON STREET
Representatives of
KNABE PIANOS
We unhesitatingly assert that the New Knabe Mignon Grand is by far the best small grand piano yet produced by any maker.

The
Angelus Piano-player
Easiest to blow. Most varied expression devices
Be sure and examine the ANGELUS before you purchase
CIRCULATING MUSIC LIBRARY
MONTHLY BULLETINS OF NEW MUSIC
Sold and RENTED ON EASY TERMS
C. C. HARVEY & CO., 144 BOYLSTON STREET
TELEPHONE, 134 OXFORD

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

[184]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS" SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Wednesday, June 24, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS, Vol. I. No. 45.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. P. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Baron R. de Luze
SPARKLING
DRY=COMET

SOLD HERE.

SOLD HERE.

D. Leiden
HOCK WINES
Sold at these concerts.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24.

POPULAR PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Tambour Battant" . . . . . Messager
2. SELECTION, "Faust" . . . . . Gounod
3. OVERTURE, "Poet and Peasant" . . . . . Suppé
4. WALTZ, "Barcarole" . . . . . Waldteufel

5. SELECTION, "Toreador" . . . . . Caryll
6. OVERTURE, "Mignon" . . . . . A. Thomas
7. LA LETTRE DE MANON . . . . . Gillet
8. OVERTURE, "Light Cavalry" . . . . . Suppé

9. SELECTION, "Cavalleria Rusticana" . . . . . Mascagni
10. SELECTION, "Gondoliers" . . . . . Sullivan
11. WALTZ, "Grubenlichter" . . . . . Zeller
12. MARCH, "Cruiser Harvard" . . . . . Strube

Pontet Canet AND Haut Sauternes
From Genoud, Pere et Fils,
BORDEAUX, FRANCE,
Are sold here at $1.25 per quart and 75 cents per pint. You can get them for your home, clubs, hotels, and restaurants at wholesale price from the direct importers,
THE FRENCH-AMERICAN WINE COMPANY,
28 ESSEX STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

MahMal
EGYPTIAN
CIGARETTES
Sold at these Concerts

No. 5s	. .	15 cents per box
No. 3s	. .	25 cents per box
No. 1s	. .	30 cents per box
Gold Tip	. .	25 cents per box

Also sold by
S. S. PIERCE CO.
BOSTON, BROOKLINE

The Auto's the Thing

TOLEDO Touring Cars
WAVERLEY Electrics
CADILLAC { $750 Runabouts / $850 Touring Cars
W. E. ELDRIDGE
AGENT
POPE BUILDING, 223 COLUMBUS AVENUE

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Thursday, June 25, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.
Published by C. A. ELLIS, Vol. I. No. 46.
C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25.

AMERICAN COMPOSERS' NIGHT.

PROGRAMME.

1. MARCH, "Black Bess" . . . . . Strube
2. DANCE OF THE SIOUX INDIANS . . . . Waller
3. SCHERZO from Symphony . . . . . Chadwick
4. WALTZ . . . . . Atkinson

5. OVERTURE, "Euphrosyne" . . . . . Converse
6. SELECTION, "Robin Hood" . . . . . De Koven
7. ROMANZA for Violin . . . . . Strube
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. OVERTURE, "In Bohemia" . . . . . Hadley

9. SELECTION, "Sphinx" . . . . . Thompson
10. SELECTION, "Fortune-teller" . . . . . Herbert
11. WALTZ, "Harlequin en Voyage" . . . . . Zach
12. TABASCO MARCH . . . . . Chadwick

The Cool Tremont Theatre
Now Playing.
Mr. HENRY W. SAVAGE
PRESENTS
GEORGE ADE'S
Successful Musical Comedy
PEGGY
FROM PARIS
Music by William Loraine.
Clever Principals. Pretty Girls.
Gorgeous Costumes. Tuneful Music.

Sol's Philadelphia Ale on draught
AND
Tannhaeuser Export in bottles
Sold at These Concerts
ARE FURNISHED BY
SOL. BACHARACH
508-510 Atlantic Avenue
Telephone, 3805 Main

Charles B. Perkins & Co.
The following choice selection of our CIGARS Always on sale at Pop Concerts:

Ginita Deliciosos Extra,	10c., 3 for 25c.
Matilde Londres Fino (all Havana),	10c. each.
Matilde Rothschilds Extra (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Matilde Perfecto Fino (all Havana),	20c., 3 for 50c.
Otero Brevas (all Havana),	15c., 2 for 25c.
Elena Puritanos,	15c. each.
Monte Rosa Violetas,	20c. each.

Egyptian Deities Cigarettes
Plain Cork or... Straw Tip
No better Turkish Cigarette can be made

WHITE ROCK MINERAL SPRING CO. WAUKESHA, WIS.
Awarded the only Gold Medal at the Paris Exposition, 1900
WHITE ROCK LITHIA WATER
PURE—HEALTHFUL—SPARKLING
"ITS EQUAL IS UNKNOWN"
Sold by Grocers, Liquor Dealers, and Druggists Everywhere
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 Board of Trade Building, Boston

"Gosman's Ginger Ale is eminently deserving of hygienic commendation on account of the intrinsic purity of its composition, and the fact that the ingredients are so intelligently chosen and so happily blended as to guarantee protection to the health of those using this beverage."—American Journal of Health.

GOSMAN'S GINGER ALE
The Gosman Ginger Ale Co.
HIGHLY AROMATIC FREE FROM ALCOHOL
BALTIMORE MD.
TRADE MARK
SARSAPARILLA
For sale by all principal dealers
DARLING & HOLMES, New England Agents
410 BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING, BOSTON

ARTICLE PEELED AWAY

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

Boston, Saturday, June 27, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS, Vol. I. No. 48.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

ESTABROOK AND EATON. IMPORTERS OF CIGARS. 222-224 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

MARGUERITE,
Conchas, . 10c., 3 for 25c.

UNION LEAGUE CLUB,
Rockefellers, 10c., 3 for 25c.

EL PRINCIP DE GALES,
Londres Grande, 10c. straight.

SALEROSA,
Ideals, . . . 10c. straight.

E. & E.,
Invincibles, . 15c., 2 for 25c.

MANUEL GARCIA, imported
Stilettos, . 15c., 2 for 25.

BOCK & CO., imported
Especiales de E. & E.,
20c., 5 for $1.00.

On sale at the "Pops."

Estabrook & Eaton.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27.

CLOSING NIGHT.

Mr. Gustave Strube, Conductor.

PROGRAMME.

1. CORONATION MARCH . . . . . Meyerbeer
2. OVERTURE, "Merry Wives of Windsor" . . . . Nicolai
3. MELODY . . . . . Rubinstein
4. WALTZ, "Vienna Woods" . . . . . Strauss

5. FINALE, ACT I., "Lohengrin" . . . . . Wagner
6. { a. ABENDROT / b. CANZONETTA } For String Orchestra . . . Strube
7. ENGLISH DANCES . . . . . German
8. HUNGARIAN RHAPSODY, No. 2 . . . . . Liszt

9. SELECTION, "Carmen" . . . . . Bizet
10. { a. ROSARY / b. COUNTRY DANCE } . . . . . Nevin
11. INTERMEZZO, "Naila" . . . . . Delibes
12. MARCH, "King Carl" . . . . . Unrath

Mr. WM. L. WHITNEY, 246 Huntington Avenue, Opposite Symphony Hall,
PRESENT HEAD OF THE NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY, VOICE DEPARTMENT,
ANNOUNCES FOR SEPTEMBER 17 THE OPENING OF AN
INTERNATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR VOCALISTS
FLORENCE 16 Via S. Agostino — BOSTON Huntington Avenue — PARIS 18 Rue Débarcadère
One method of voice production and management — OLD ITALIAN METHOD — for all schools of vocal music, Italian, French, English, German, etc.
ENTRANCE EXAMINATION, SEPTEMBER 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16
SUPPLEMENTARY STUDIES
LANGUAGES DICTION SOLFEGGIO PIANO
ORATORIO CLASS ENSEMBLE The BACH-BRAHMS CLASS CONCERT CLASS
OPERA CLASS
TWO OPERA SCHOLARSHIPS — ONLY SCHOOL OF THE KIND IN EXISTENCE — FOUR VOICE SCHOLARSHIPS

MOGUL
Egyptian Cigarettes
Plain or... Cork Tip
Superior to most
Equal to any

RED FOX ALE

Unquestionably the finest ale sold to-day.
Red Fox Ale combines delicacy of flavor with highly nourishing qualities.
If hitherto wedded to English brews, try RED FOX ALE.
Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

DRINK

HIGHEST AWARD FOR PURITY.
JOS. GAHM & SON, New England Agents
125 Purchase Street

[188]

SYMPHONY HALL

EIGHTEENTH SEASON,

Commencing THURSDAY, MAY 21.

POPS

Grand Orchestra of Fifty

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor

EVERY NIGHT EXCEPT SUNDAY

Admission, 50 Cents.

Reserved Seats, 25 Cents Extra.

TELEPHONE, 1492 BACK BAY.

Thursday Evening, May 21.

1. Polonaise. . . . . Liszt
2. Fantasy. "Romeo and Juliet." . . . Tschaikowski
3. Overture. "Martha." . . . . Flotow
4. Salut d'Amour. . . . . Elgar

5. Prelude to Act III. "Lohengren." . . . Wagner
6. Minnet . . . . . Padrewski
7. Suite. "La Belle au Bois Dormant." . . Tschaikowski
   a. "La Fee des Lilas." b. Adagio, "Pas d'Action." c. Valse.
8. Overture. "Galatea." . . . . . Suppe

9. Overture. "Orpheus aux Enfers." . . Offenbach
10. Selection. "Fortune-teller." . . . . Herbert
11. Waltz "Amoureuse." . . . . . Berger
12. March. "Hoch Habsburg." . . . . Kral

Friday Evening, May 22.

1. Tannhaeuser March. . . . . Wagner
2. Entr'acte. "Philemon et Baucis." . . . Gounod
3. Suite. "Casse Noisette." . . . . Tschaikowsky
4. Les Dragons de Villars. . . . . Maillard

5. Midsummer Nights Dream Music. . . Mendelsohn
   a. Nocturne. b. Scherzo. c. Wedding March.
6. Chanson de Matin. . . . . Elgar
7. Oriental Suite . . . . . H. K. Hadley
8. Overture. "Fledermaus." . . . . Joh. Strauss

9. Serenade. . . . . Moszkowski
10. Selection. "The Fortune-teller." . . . Herbert
11. Waltz. "Les Patineurs." . . . . Walteufel
12. March. "Boccaccio." . . . . . Suppe

Flyers

1 to printed each weeks and del'd to - Herrick, Hotel Brunswick, St. Botolph Club, Tavern Club, Heard, Homer, Adams House, Schirmer, Thompson, Ditson, Parkers & Young's.

Saturday Evening, May 23.

1. Persian March . . . . . Joh. Strauss
2. Overture. "Le Roi dY's" . . . . . Lalo
3. Intermezzo. "Naila." . . . . . Delibes
4. Selection. "Faust," . . . . . Gounod

5. Overture. "The Bartered Bride." . . Smetana
6. Overture. "Tannhauser." . . . . Wagner
7. Hymn to St. Cecilia. . . . . Gounod
   Violin Solo, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
8. Festival March. . . . . R. Strauss

9. Salut d'Amour. . . . . Elgar
10. Overture. "Zampa." . . . . . Herold
11. Waltz. "Espana." . . . . . Waldteufel
12. Tambour Battant. . . . . Messager

Monday Evening, May 25.

1. Overture. "Semiramide." . . . . . Rossini
2. Selection. "Aida" . . . . . Verdi
3. Entr'acte. "Philemon et Baucis." . . . Gounod
4. Evening Song. . . . . Elgar

5. Fire-Charm form "Die Walkyre." . . . Wagner
6. Suite. "Korrigan." . . . . . Widor
7. Hymn to St. Cecilia. . . . . Gounod
   Solo Violin, Mr ONDRICEK
8. Overture. "Phedre." . . . . . Massenet

9. Overture. "Light Cavalry." . . . . Suppe
10. Selection. "The Brigands." . . . . Offenbach
11. Waltz. "Violets." . . . . . Waldteufel
12. March. "Poor Jonathan." . . . . . Suppe

Tuesday Evening, May 26.

1. Overture. "De Roi dY's." . . . . . Lalo
2. Ballet Music. "Boabdil." . . . . . Moszkowski
3. Graceful Dance. . . . . Sullivan
4. Overture. "Freischutz." . . . . . Weber

5. Waltz. "Gretna Green." . . . . . Guiraud
6. Hungarian Rhapsody . . . . . Liszt
7. Intermezzo "Contes d'Hoffman." . . Offenbach
8. Overture. "Rienzi." . . . . . Wagner

9. Mazourka from the Opera. "Halka" . . Moniuszko
10. Selection. "Emerald Isle." . . . . Sullivan
    (First time.)
11. Waltz. "Gros Wein." . . . . . Strauss
12. Persian March. . . . . Strauss

Wednesday Evening, May 27.

1. March. "Cruiser Harvard." . . . . . Strube
2. "In the Garden." From "The Rustic Wedding." Goldmark
3. Overture. "Martha." . . . . . Flotow
4. Overture. "The Barber of Seville." . . . Rossini

5. Swedish Serenade . . . . . Converse
6. Prelude to Act III. "Lohengrin." . . . Wagner
7. Ave Maria . . . . . Bach-Gounod
8. Ballet Music. "Korrigan." . . . . . Widor

9. Overture "Light Cavalry." . . . . . Suppe
10. Selection. "The Brigands." . . . . Offenbach
11. Waltz. "Espana." . . . . . Waldteufel
12. March. "Hoch Habsburg." . . . . Kral

THE LIBBIE SHOW PRINT, BOSTON.

[189]

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, APRIL 25, 1903

The Pops

One can hardly realize that the twenty-second symphony season ends during the coming week, and on the following Monday evening, May 4, the eighteenth season of the "Pops" is at hand, with the usual eight weeks during May and June. It seems quite unnecessary to go into the details of these popular entertainments, every feature of which will be practically the same as last year, save one very essential factor, the conductor. After five years of most satisfactory and gratifying service by Messrs, Max Zach and Gustav Strube as joint conductors, the management has decided to make a change. Mr. T. Adamowski, who, nine years ago in old Music Hall, conducted during the most successful season ever known in the seventeen years of the Pops, has been selected to again wield the baton over an orchestra of fifty players from the ranks of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, surely a sufficient guarantee of the musical standing of the concerts.

In connection with this change in the leadership, it may be of interest to recall the conductors from the beginning, seventeen years ago. They were as follows: 1885 Ad Neuendorff, 1886 John C. Mullaly. 1887 Wilhelm Rietzel and Ad Neuendorff, 1888 Franz Kneisel and Ad Neuendorff, 1889 Ad Neuendorff, 1890 No concerts, 1891 T. Adamowski and E. Gruenberg, 1892 T. Adamowski, 1893 T. Adamowski, 1894 T. Adamowski, 1895 A. de Novellis, 1896 Max Zach, 1897 Max Zach and Leo Schultz; and for the past five years, 1898-1902, Messrs. Max Zach and Gustav Strube. All the conductors, with the exception of Neuendorff and Novellis, were members of the Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Adamowski has been busy for the past month with the preparation of some unusually attractive programmes, and his recognized artistic temperament is sure to make itself felt, both in their makeup and rendition.

There will be the usual light refreshments and all the other essential features will again be maintained. Reserved seats, both at the tables on the floor and in the first balcony, will be for sale Monday morning, April 27, at Symphony Hall.

BOSTON SUNDAY JOURNAL—APRIL 26, 1903.

THE POPS.

On Monday evening, May 4, the eighteenth season of the "Pops" is at hand, with the usual eight weeks during May and June. It seems unnecessary to go into the details of these popular entertainments, every feature of which will be practically the same as last year, save the conductor. After five years of satisfactory and gratifying service by Messrs. Max Zach and Gustav Strube as joint conductors, the management has decided to make a change. Mr. T. Adamowski, who nine years ago in old Music Hall conducted during the most successful season ever known in the seventeen years of the Pops, has been selected to lead an orchestra of fifty players from the ranks of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. In connection with this change in the leadership, it may be of interest to recall the conductors from the beginning, seventeen years ago. They were as follows: 1885, Ad Neuendorff; 1886, John C. Mullaly; 1887, Wilhelm Rietzel and Ad Neuendorff; 1888, Franz Kneisel and Ad Neuendorff; 1889, Ad Neuendorff; 1890, no concerts; 1891, T. Adamowski and E. Gruenberg; 1892, T. Adamowski; 1893, T. Adamowski; 1894, T. Adamowski; 1895, A. de Novellis; 1896, Max Zach; 1897, Max Zach and Leo Schultz, and for the past five years, 1898-1902, Messrs. Max Zach and Gustav Strube. All the conductors, with the exception of Neuendorff and Novellis, were members of the Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Adamowski has been busy for the past month with the preparation of some unusually attractive programs, and his recognized artistic temperament is sure to make itself felt, both in their makeup and rendition. There will be the usual light refresnments and all the other essential features will again be maintained. Reserved seats, both at the tables on the floor and in the first balcony, will be for sale Monday morning, April 27, at Symphony Hall.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, APRIL 26, 1903.

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

Five years after the founding of the Boston symphony orchestra there came a suggestion of some popular concerts which should be a summer sequence to the symphony series. And so in 1885 there began in old Music hall what were known as the promenade concerts, until brevity and a tendency toward unique nomenclature resulted in the "Pops," by which latter title these concerts are more familiarly known. After varied lengths of duration these summer entertainments were finally brought to a season of eight weeks, during May and June, and have so remained for the past 10 years or more.

After five years of most satisfactory and gratifying service by Messrs Max Zach and Gustav Strube as joint conductors the management has decided to make a change. Mr T. Adamowski, who nine years ago in old Music hall conducted during the most successful season ever known in the 17 years of the "Pops," has been selected to again wield the baton over an orchestra of 50 players from the ranks of the Boston symphony orchestra, surely a sufficient guarantee of the musical standing of the concerts.

It may be of interest to know the arrangement of such an orchestra, which is as follows: 10 first violins, 8 second violins, 4 violas, 4 violoncelli, 4 double basses, 2 flutes, 2 oboes, 2 clarinets, 2 bassoons, 4 horns, 2 trumpets, 3 trombones, 1 tuba, 1 tympani, 1 harp.

Mr Adamowski has been busy for the past month with the preparation of some unusually attractive programs and his recognized artistic temperament is sure to make itself felt, both in their makeup and rendition.

There will be the usual light refreshments, and all the other essential features will again be maintained. Reserved seats, both at the tables on the floor and in the first balcony, will be for sale tomorrow, Monday morning, at Symphony hall.

BOSTON SUNDAY JOURNAL—MAY 3, 1903.

"POP" CONCERT SERIES OPENS TOMORROW NIGHT

Final Rehearsal of Boston Symphony Crowded With Smart Set.

Mr. Fred Comee is being congratulated upon all sides in securing so popular a leader for the "Pop Concerts" as Mr. "Tim" Adamowski, and the two months' series of these always well attended course of concerts which open tomorrow evening will fill Symphony Hill with one of the largest and most brilliant audiences of the season.

Already there are a large number of tables engaged, and among the fashionables who will be "in evidence" tomorrow night are Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, Dr. George Monks, Mr. Clayton Johns, Miss Ethel Gibson and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Gericke, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsythe, Miss Estelle Kimball and party, Miss Susan Day Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. North, Mr. Fred S. Converse, Mr. Arthur Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fiarchild, Miss Madelaine Boardman, Miss Tudor and others.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 3, 1903.

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

The "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall will begin tomorrow evening, and for the next two months will be given nightly, except on Sunday. Good music, refreshments and all the attractive features of past seasons will be provided and the immense patronage which these popular entertainments have enjoyed for many years will undoubtedly be again extended. The orchestra will number upward of 50 men, drawn from Symphony players, and light music of the best class will predominate in the programs.

Mr T. Adamowski, will be the conductor and he has given much time to the selection of new music to be played here at these concerts for the first time. The following are the selections for tomorrow evening:

Overture, The Mastersingers of Nuremberg.....Wagner
Intermezzo, Contes d'Hoffmann.....Offenbach
(First time.)
Suite from ballet, La Belle au Bois Dormant.....Tschaikowski
(First time.)
Concert overture, In Bohemia.....H K Hadley
(First time.)
Fantasia on La Boheme.....Puccini
(First time.)
Suite, Henry VIII.....Saint-Saens
Hymn to St Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr Snow.
Festival march.....R Strauss
(First time.)
Salut d'Amour.....Ed Elgar
(First time.)
Espana.....Chabrier
Overture, Fledermaus.....Joh Strauss
Coronation march.....Ed German

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 118.

TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1903.

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

The announcements that the regular summer season of "Pop" concerts is near at hand caused a lively demand for seats for the opening concert on Monday evening next, May 4. Mr. T Adamowski will be the conductor and his well-earned reputation in past seasons as a programme maker justifies pleasant anticipations for the coming weeks. The many attractive features which have been in vogue during the past, including the selected orchestra, of 50, light refreshments and the promenade in the spacious corridors of Symphony Hall will be continued this year. Tickets for any evening during the season can now be secured.

BOSTON SUNDAY JOURNAL—MAY 3, 1903

T. Adamowski,
Conductor of Pop concerts.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1903

The "Pop" concerts following close on the ending of the regular Symphony season will begin on Monday and continue every week day evening for eight weeks. That there is no more delightful way of spending an evening than at the "Pops," where cooling refreshments are served, just enough informality and such perfect music, has been fully demonstrated in past seasons. Mr. T. Adamowski, who is to be the conductor, has given much time to the selections of his programmes and promises many that are new. The programme in full for Monday evening is as follows:

Overture, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg".....Wagner
Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffman".....Offenbach
(First time.)
Suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tchaikovski
(First time.)
Concert overture, "In Bohemia"...H. K. Hadley
(First time.)
Fantasia on "La Boheme".....Puccini
(First time.)
Suite, "Henry VIII."....Saint-Saëns
Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin Solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
Festival march.....R. Strauss
(First time.)
Salut d'Amour.....Ed. Elgar
(First time.)
Espana.....Chabrier
Overture, "Fledermaus".....Joh. Strauss
Coronation march.....Ed. German

THE "POP" CONCERTS.

The Pop concerts at Symphony Hall will begin tomorrow evening and for the next two months will be given nightly, except on Sunday. Good music, refreshments and all the attractive features of past seasons will be provided, and the immense patronage which these popular entertainments have enjoyed for many years will undoubtedly be again extended. The orchestra will number upward of fifty men, drawn from Symphony players, and light music of the best class will predominate in the programs. Mr. T. Adamowski will be the conductor, and he has given much time to the selection of new music to be played here at these concerts for the first time. The following are the selections for tomorrow evening:

Overture, "The Mastersingers of Nuremburg".....Wagner
Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann"...Offenbach
(First time.)
Suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tschaikowsky
(First time.)
Concert overture, "In Boheme".H. K. Hadley
(First time.)
Fantasia on "La Bohemia".....Puccini
(First time.)
Suite, "Henry VIII."....Saint-Saens
Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
Festival march.....R. Strauss
(First time.)
"Salut d'Amour".....Ed. Elga
(First time.)
"Espana".....Chabrier
Overture, "Fledermaus".....Joh. Strauss
"Coronation March".....Ed. German

[190]

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 123.

SUNDAY, MAY 3, 1903.

"Pop" Concerts Begin Tomorrow Night in Symphony Hall.

Mr. T. Adamowski the Conductor This Year—Last Week of Frank Daniels at the Boston Theatre in "Miss Simplicity"—Prof. Paine's Opera—Coming of "The Kilties."

THE "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall will begin tomorrow evening, and for the next two months will be given nightly, except on Sunday. Good music, refreshments and all the attractive features of past seasons will be provided, and the immense patronage which these popular entertainments have enjoyed for many years will undoubtedly be again extended. The orchestra will number upward of 50 men, drawn from Symphony players, and light music of the best class will predominate in the programmes. Mr. T. Adamowski, will be the conductor, and he has given much care to the selection of new music to be played here at these concerts for the first time. The following are the selections for tomorrow evening:

1. Overture, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg".....Wagner
2. Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann"....Offenbach
3. Suite from Ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tschaikowski (First time.)
4. Concert Overture, "In Bohemia"....H. K. Hadley (First time.)
5. Fantasia on "La Boheme".....Puccini (First time.)
6. Suite, "Henry VIII."....Saint-Saens
7. Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
   Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
   Organ, Mr. Snow.
8. Festival March.....R. Strauss (First time.)
9. Salut D'Amour.....Ed. Elgar (First time.)
10. Espana.....Chabrier
11. Overture, "Fledermaus".....Joh. Strauss
12. Coronation March.....Ed. German

T. ADAMOWSKI, CONDUCTOR OF "POP" CONCERTS.

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, MAY 3, 1903

TIMOTHEE ADAMOWCKI, LEADER OF THE POP CONCERTS.

THE "POP" CONCERTS

The Pop concerts at Symphony Hall will begin tomorrow evening, and for the next two months will be given nightly, except on Sunday. Good music, refreshments and all the attractive features of past seasons will be provided, and the immense patronage which these popular entertainments have enjoyed for many years will undoubtedly be again extended. The orchestra will number upward of 50 men, drawn from Symphony players, and light music of the best class will predominate in the programmes. Mr. T. Adamowski will be the conductor, and he has given much time to the selection of new music to be played here at these concerts for the first time. The following are the selections for tomorrow evening:

Overture, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffman," first time, Offenbach; suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," first time, Tschaikowski; concert overture, "In Bohemia," first time, H. K. Hadley; fantasia on "La Boheme," first time, Puccini; suite, "Henry VIII.," Saint-Saens; hymn to St Cecilia, Gounod; violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek; organ, Mr. Snow; festival march, first time, R. Strauss; Salut d'Amour, first time, Ed Elgar; Espana, Chabrier; overture, "Fledermaus," Joh. Strauss; Coronation March, Ed German.

MUSIC HALL CONCERT

One of the finest bills of the season has been arranged for tonight's concert, the 29th in the series given at this theatre by the Boston Ladies' Benevolent Association. It will include Roberts, Hayes and Roberts, a trio of mirthmakers, in their laughable comedietta, "The Infant"; West and Van Siclen, refined musical artists; George W. Day, the popular monologue comedian; Spencer Kelly, the renowned baritone soloist, late with Primrose and Dockstader's minstrels; Murphy

BOSTON POST.
MONDAY,
MAY 4, 1903

It always makes one feel that summer is here when the Pop concerts are inaugurated. Tonight Timothee Adamowski will set the ball a-rolling in Symphony Hall, and will keep it up until Saturday evening, July 4.

[191]

The Boston Journal.
TUESDAY.
MAY 5, 1903.

MERRIMENT ON WINGS OF ADAMOWSKI'S MUSIC

First "Pop" Concert Proves a Joyous Resurrection.

FASHION WAS OUT IN FORCE

Return of Popular Series Welcomed by Big Attendance and Excellent Playing.

Conductor Adamowski,
Who opened the "Pop" concert season in Symphony Hall.

It was with dress and drink, music and merriment, laughter and light that the "pop" concert season opened at Symphony Hall last evening. Fashion was there and it was representative. The compositions of the masters were artistically played by the Symphony Orchestra. Timothy Adamowski was there and he was given an ovation, from the openeing Wagner selection to the last strains of the "Coronation March" by German.

In every way the first night was a success. Corks were lifted by ubiquitous waiters from the imprisoning glass that held them as tightly as winter seems to hold spring, but with the warmth within and the spirit of freedom that was everywhere it seemed as if the austerity of dull, drear days had gone and there had come to replace it the breath of summer and the unconventionality of life in the fields.

Representative of Fashion.

The audience was representative of fashion and youth. It was young, and being young, it enjoyed. Every table was filled, and if the applause that greeted each number was not more than enthusiastic it was because the word "popular" was badly used as the talisman of the summer concert season.

The program was not "popular" in the ordinary acceptance of the term. It was rather classical, and there was no number that could enthuse him who did not know music as the critics think he ought to know it.

Some went to hear the music. More went to see who was there to hear the music. They went to chat, and Maestro "Tim" often had to use his baton rather freely on his music rack to restore the degree of order that he deemed necessary to a full appreciation c. his work and that of the musicians who were accompanying him.

Conductor Insisted on Order.

Some of them perhaps thought that the renowned conductor was interfering with their privileges when he spoke so loudly with his little stick, but he usually conquered in this regard, as he did with his music, and when it was all over even those who talked forgot all but that the evening had been a pleasant one.

Four Numbers New Here.

The program was as follows:
"The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" Wagner
Intermezzo—"Contes d'Hoffmann"... Offenbach
Suite from Ballet, "La Belle au Dormant" .....Tschaikowski
(First time.)
Concert overture—"In Bohemia"..... H. K. Hadley
(First time.)
Suite—"Henry VIII."..... Saint-Saens
Hymn to St. Cecilia".....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
Festival march.....R. Strauss
(First time.)
Salut D'Amour.....Ed. Elgar
(First time.)
Espana .....Chabrier
Overture—"Fiedermaus"....Joh. Strauss
Coronation March.....Ed. German

The four compositions offered here for the first time proved immensely popular, especially the Pucci ni numbre in La Boheme.

Every table was occupied and the audience was fashionable, as the unseasonable weather has detained a number of the fashionables in town later than usual. Those who entertained parties of friends were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, Miss Madelaine Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, Miss Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. John Fairchild, Dr. George Monks, Arthur Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Gericke, Clayton Johns the composer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Converse, Miss Tudor, Otis Kimball and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. North, Miss Susan Day Kimball.

Some of the Gowns.

Mrs. Sears was in pale gray veiling with a long light lue wrap, and Mrs. Fairchild in black roile and petted lace. She wore a large picture hat of black and white feathers. Mrs. Higginson was in black and white silk. Mrs. Gericke was in panne velvet and wore a large black hat. Mrs. Josef Adamowski was in pale gray crepe de chine and wore a black hat. Miss Estelle Kimball, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball, was in pale gray crepe with a large flower picture hat. Mrs. Kimball was in black lace.

Others present were Colonel Charles Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taggard, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Souther, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard, John J. Turner, John Stone Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Stanwood, Josef Adamowski, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones, Dr. and Mrs. J. Foster Bush and their daughter, Miss Bush, Otto Roth, Miss Boardman.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER
TUESDAY
MAY 5, 1903.

MUSICAL MATTERS

THE "POPS" AT SYMPHONY HALL.

Sumer is cumen in
Lhude sing Cuccu!
Droppe the shoppes
And ope the Poppes,
And start the Beer anew.
Sing Cuccu!
Tam Addam o' Skye
The baton doth trye
Onne compositions newe.
Sing Cuccu!
Richard Strauss is changed to John,
And all his dancing crewe.
Sing Cuccu!
Childe Comee sytteth at ye doore
And eke Childe Ellis, too.
Sing Cuccu!
And each one may his whistle wette
With jolly amber brewe.
Sing Cuccu!

In other words, the summer season has opened; the "Pope" have begun at Symphony Hall, and the classical reviewer finds his occupation growing small by degrees and beautifully less. The opening of these smoking concerts (probably the best of their kind in the world) was as auspicious as heretofore; every table in the hall was filled, the galleries contained an interested audience, the orchestra was as large as usual, and Mr. Adamowski led with his wonted enthusiasm.

The makeup of the programme was decidedly more brilliant than ever before; there was more of novelty than in any preceding "first concert" that we can recall. Some of these novelties were of especial interest and beauty, and this shower of "first performances" promises to continue through the season.

Imagine a first programme beginning with the prelude to "The Mastersingers," and then presenting an Intermezzo from Offenbach's only serious work—"Contes d'Hoffmann"—three movements from a ballet by Tschaikowsky and new to Boston; a concert-overture by the American composer, H. K. Hadley; a Festival March by Richard Strauss, a new work by Elgar, etc., etc.—all "first time" performances! Imagine further, that each concert of the week is equally filled with novelties, that Mr. Adamowski is conducting with all his wonted magnetism, that the orchestra is thorough even from the start, and it will be seen that the "Pops" are intrinsically worthy of the best audiences, apart from all the Bohemian adjuncts which cause each occasion to slip by so merrily.

It would be a long task to analyze each of the new compositions. Fortunately, this is not expected in the unceremonious musical season which forms a postscript to the classical concerts. Suffice it to say that Mr. Hadley's work was a good addition to the native repertoire. Not as highly developed and as powerful as Chadwick's "Thalia" overture, which is to be played tomorrow night, it is still a well constructed composition on regular lines and with well contrasted themes and ingenious development. The overture was called "In Bohemia," but those Bohemians were all over 50 and in dress suits.

After this there came a more comprehensible Bohemia by Puccini, which was charming enough to win an encore. Another encore was won by Gounod's "Hymn to St. Cecilia," in which Mr. Ondricek's violin solo was superb. Richard Strauss' "Festival March" must have been a crime of his youth. It was conventional and it was dull! Two faults that have never been charged against the composer's later works.

But we must not drop into rigid criticism! The "Pops" have been launched most successfully and on a higher level than ever before.

Louis C. Elson.

BOSTON TRAVELER. TUESDAY. MAY 5. 1903

"POPS" OPEN ONCE MORE

"Look—look at than train," whispered a young lady, seated with her escort at one of the trim little round tables at the "pop" concert in Symphony Hall last night. Not only were her eyes directed toward the confection of a dress that swept the floor, but scores of pairs of eyes followed the course of the woman flaunting the gigantic train, as, with her escort, she took the centre aisle between the tables, making herself a conspicuous target for the opera glasses directed toward her. The lady with the stately tread knew others were looking at her, as likewise did her escort, who was visibly affected so far as to forget to remove his tall hat until near the stage, when he franticaly grabbed it off and gladly dropped into his seat.

The above is but one of the many incidents noted at the opening of the 18th season of the ever popular "pops," and an imposing array of gowns were conspicuously gathered about the tables on the floor, their wearers, in many cases, well known to the public in various capacities. The politicians, banker, merchant and workman mingled indiscriminately, and it was ofttimes hard to pick out the elite, so well-groomed was the entire semi-Bohemian crowd. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Sears—were there, entertaining at their tables, as was also Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Converse, Clayton Johns, the Tudors and many others.

It is hard to tell whether the people thought more of the tone qualities drawn from the instruments or the ocular pleasure of seeing a body of men so thoroughly drilled in technique that their movements were accurately in unison, for the unanimity of bowing, with the rise and fall of black sleeves, tipped with white cuffs, produced the usual amount of exclamations of wonder, and this topic was dwelt on far more than the choice of selections so well executed by the orchestra.

The ensemble work was grand, and in Gounod's "Hymn to St. Cecilia" the tricks of technique caught the audience on the wave of enthusiasm because of one wee, little tied passage—that of the trill in unison on the violins, tied over several measures, when every instrument wavered as one, calling forth such a burst of applause that it had to be repeated. The violin soloist in this number, Mr. Karl Ondricek, performed well, but he had the good sense of discrimination to know what the applause was for, and declined to repeat his effort. It was the trill that did the business, and he knew it, although nine-tenths of the audience did not.

Conductor Adamowski was greeted with enthusiasm when he put in his appearance ten minutes late, and it seemed as if they would never permit him to end his bowing. His previous experience as conductor evidently was remembered with gratefulness by the throng. At the close of the first number the applause was deafening, and with the dying of the last strains of the "Mastersingers of Nuremberg," an old "first-nighter" drew a long breath and said it "seemd like old times, and twice as good, to be there with the old orchestra again."

The programme follows:

"The Mastersingers of Nuremberg"...Wagner
Intermezzo—"Contes d'Hoffmann"...Offenbach
Suite from Ballet "La Belle au Dormant" .....Tschaikowski
(First time.)
Concert overture—"In Bohemia".H. K. Hadley
(First time.)
Suite—"Henry VIII."..... Saint-Saens
"Hymn to St. Cecelia".....Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
Festival march.....R. Strauss
(First time.)
Salut D'Armour .....Ed. Elgar
(First time.)
Espana .....Chabrier
Overture—"Fiedermaus".....Joh. Strauss
Coronation march.....Ed. German

a. O. Taylor Whistles used by critical judges

Boston Transcript
TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1903

Symphony Hall: Pop Concert

As in earlier days, under the leadership of Mr. Timothée Adamowski, there opened last night in Symphony Hall the eighteenth season of "Pop" concerts, opened with pomp and circumstance, with a crash of martial music, with tinkling harps, with many violins in unison, with Gypsy dances, German waltzes, with Spanish rhapsodies. All the glories of the past were at this opening of a season, and a certain something not always to be found. There was last night an unwonted brilliancy. More women appeared in gorgeous frocks, women, too, of fashion; glasses clinked more wickedly than they often do in Symphony Hall; more people, sitting about the little tables, contrived to look as though they did not mind the smoke, but were genuin enjoying themselves. In short, it was pleasant occasion to be at.

As for the music, it would be difficult imagine better. In the matter of pr grammes for the first week, Mr. Adamows has arranged a list of which he may we feel proud. Last night, for instance, out o twelve numbers, six were new in Boston; and of the remaining six, no one was in the least hackneyed. The Meistersinger prelude made an imposing inauguration to the season, and it was followed by a succession of charming compositions, not one of which was too heavy for a popular concert, too trivial to displease any listener, or too delicate to be heard above the din. This was, indeed, a triumph of programme making, and the arrangements for the rest of the week are no less good. Last night's programme, by the way, is well worth recording:

Overture, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" .....Wagner
Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann".....Offenbach
(First time.)
Suite from Ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tchaikovsky
(First time.)
Concert Overture, "In Bohemia"...H. K. Hadley
(First time.)
Fantasia on "La Bohème".....Puccini
(First time.)
Suite, "Henry VIII."..... Saint-Saëns
Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
Violin Solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
Festival March.....R. Strauss
(First time.)
Salut d'Amour.....Ed. Elgar
(First time.)
Espana .....Chabrier
Overture, "Fiedermaus".....Joh. Strauss
Coronation March.....Ed. German

The playing was a complete satisfaction to listen to. In conducting his excellent forces, Mr. Adamowski brought to bear all the charm, warmth and delicacy that characterize his solo work. The result was delightful orchestral playing, exquisite in finish, inspiringly rhythmical, abounding in temperament. A feature of the evening was Mr. Ondricek's broad, sonorous and fervid playing of the Gounod piece. The whole concert, indeed, was a pronounced success. The very large audience was manifestly in the vein, and Mr. Adamowski is to be heartily congratulated on his admirable performance of a truly remarkable programme.

R. R. G.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII, NO. 125.

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1903.

"POP" CONCERTS BEGIN IN SYMPHONY HALL. BRILLIANT AUDIENCE ON THE FIRST NIGHT.

THE OPENING OF THE POP CONCERTS AT SYMPHONY HALL.

Mr. Adamowski Presents Six Numbers New to Boston Out of 60 Which He Has Prepared.

In bewilderment Jupiter and Apollo and Venus and the rest of the graven gods and goddesses that rim Symphony Hall looked down last night. The long tiers of seats made way for innumerable tables; sphinx-like ushers gave place to hustling and bustling waiters; a different atmosphere pervaded the place, and through a miniature cloud of tobacco smoke, the statues blinked and peered from their narrow perches.

It was the opening night of the "Pops." The old familiar, yet ever new "Pop" concerts—the distinctive, free-and-easy, entertaining and just a bit Bohemian "Pops"—with the same admixture of chat and silence, the same intermingling of words and notes, the same silence and then hubbub—the same old "Pops," yet the new, rejuvenated after the hibernation.

Any wonder the immovable gods blinked? The gods that have looked down upon sedate and silent audiences, that have listened to the Symphony concerts in all their classic grandeur, that have heard religion preached during the 10 months which have rolled since the concerts last relinquished possession of their domain, wondered what new queen had appeared to work the metamorphosis. And then they appeared to smile in recognition. For through the haze of smoke and above the clink of glasses there loomed the familiar form and the well-known voice of the [illegible] "Pops."

Never-surfeited society, just recovered from the strenuous week of the horse show, took on new life. Many of the leaders were there, just as they always are at the opening night. But, withal, a cosmopolitan gathering it was, just as it always is. Richly gowned and bejewelled women and men in evening dress sat almost elbow to elbow with folks that appeared to have come just from their homes to drop in for an evening. The popping of corks united with the thug of an opening bottle of some one's favorite brew.

There was an immense crowd for an opening night. Yet the night was a quiet one, as first nights go. There was not a vacant seat at the tables on the immense floor, and over upper and lower balconies hung hundreds to watch and to listen. Sometimes, to be sure, it took numerous warning raps of the baton to fix the waiters like statues in their places and to silence the flow of chat, but, when all was said and done, the night was one of decorum.

There was one distinctive feature of the evening—the reappearance of Mr. T. Adamowski as conductor. He was given an ovation when he appeared on the platform; he was assured heartily that he had not been forgotten by "Pop" devotees. It had been nine years since he last held a baton over the "Pop" orchestra, yet his friends remembered him and manifested it with a will.

In action he was fascinating. At times he stood like a statue. At others he was all motion—two arms and head and his whole being. Once or twice, granted, he appeared to administer just a bit of rebuke to his audience when it was confessedly boisterous, but when he turned and smiled and bowed to the encores, and above all, when he responded generously, all this was forgiven under the fascinating mannerisms of the man.

Mr. Adamowski served up a programme of light music that, during the entire evening, had no show of heaviness. It was such as is presented at the German concerts of similar nature—breezy and airy, but never approaching for a moment the vulgar—just far enough away from the so-called "popular" airs to be attractive and pleasing.

At all events, the immense audience forgot their liquid and solid refreshments, and lapsed into silence during number after number. The music was after all the attraction. Six of the 12 numbers were new, the first instalment of some 60 selections by composers in all parts of the musical world that have never before been heard in Boston, and which Mr. Adamowski has prepared to [illegible] the two months' run of the "Pops."

The casual visitor would have been hard to persuade it was the opening night. The audience sat about the tables as though it had scarce been away since last June, when the concerts ended for the season. The orchestra, too, went about its work as though the raised tiers of seats had been their abiding place for all time. The machinery moved as though it had been running continuously, so finely was it engineered by Managers C. A. Ellis and F. R. Comee.

That the "Pops" are what their name signifies was never better demonstrated than by the size of last night's gathering. At the conspicuous tables sat many leaders of Boston's society, including Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sears and party, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Gericke, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Higginson, Mr. Arthur Richmond, Mr. George Eustis, Dr. George Monks, Mr. F. S. Converse, Miss Estelle Kimball and party, Miss Susan Day Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Josef Adamowski, Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild, Miss Ethel Gibson, Miss Tudor, Miss Boardman, Mr. Clayton Johns, Mr. Otto Roth, Mr. W. P. Blake, Mr. F. Bartlett, Mr. T. Dennie Boardman, F. O. Hartt and party, Clarence Hollander and party, ex-Police Commissioner Clark and party, Mrs. F. R. Comee and party, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Morse and Mr. Harry Burnett.

Last night was but the beginning of the "Pops." For two months they will hold sway over Symphony Hall. Tonight's programme follows:

1. March, "Souvoroff" (first time)....Arensky
2. Suite, "Scenes Pittoresques".....Massenet
   (a) March.
   (b) Air de Ballet.
   (c) Angelus.
   (d) Fete Boheme.
3. Valse from opera, "Eugene Onegin" (first time).....Tschaikowsky
4. Overture, "Ondine" (first time).Alexis Luoff
5. Contrastes de gavotte, A. D. 1700 and 1900.....Ed. Elgar (First time.)
6. March, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
7. The Deluge.....Saint-Saens
   Violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
   Organ, Mr. Snow.
8. Fantasie on "Manru".....Paderewski (First time.)
9. Prelude to the opera, "Die Hexe"..A. Enna (First time.)
10. Overture, "Zampa".....Herold
11. Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Joh. Strauss
12. Tambour Battant.....Messager (First time.)

[193]

BOSTON GLOBE—TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1903.

BRILLIANT OPENING OF THE "POP" CONCERT SEASON

Not a Thing Missing to Make the Evening Completely Reminiscent and the Crowd is Delighted.

SCENE AT THE OPENING OF THE "POP" CONCERT SEASON.

The obsequies of the musical season of 1902-3 were begun last night in Symphony hall, with the customary gleeful party sitting in the gayest of gowns, drinking harmless pops of various sorts, through straws and au naturel, smoking everything but pipes, decorously happy, enthusiastic when anything they recognized was played, respectful as to the rest.

It was the first "pop" concert of the 18th season, with Timothee Adamowski back as conductor. Not a thing was missing to make the evening completely reminiscent. Maj Henry L. Higginson and Mrs Higginson were there, and with them sat Mr and Mrs Wilhelm Gericke. Otto Roth was in his place in the audience with a party. Mr and Mrs J. Montgomery Sears had a table and a party. Mr and Mrs Josef Adamowski were present.

The legend, "First Time," appeared on the program six times. The customary program fluttered down from the balcony. The usual waiter popped a cork during a pianissimo passage. At the second intermission the regulation promenade around the corridor was held. Mr Adamowski got silence precisely as he used to do, with taps and patience. Nothing was lacking except the largo from Handel's requiem mass and "Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge." The largo will be played on Saturday night and Massenet's piece on Thursday night.

The coloring of the audience was magnificent, the gowning as brilliant as an Easter parade. Red hats formed a wandering, sketchy line of fire through the crowd. Every table was occupied, every waiter busy.

Mr Adamowski played a program beginning with Wagner's overture to "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" and wandering on by the intermezzo from "Contes d'Hoffmann," which was "new" and by Offenbach, another "first-timer" in a suite from the ballet "La Belle au Bois Dormant," by Tschaikowsky—it has nothing to do with the Klaw & Erlanger piece that closed at the Colonial last week—and so to a happy resting place of recognition in a fantasia on themes from "La Boheme."

This was the first awakening of real encore enthusiasm. The audience recognized the song of Musette in the second act and demanded repetition. The Saint-Saens suite "Henry VIII" came next, and Karl Ondricek, concertmeister, played the solo for Gounod's "Hymn to St Cecilia." He played sweetly, and this number was repeated, though not his solo.

Richard Strauss' "Festival March" was new, and was not particularly well received. Ed. Elgar's "Salut d'Amour," however, with its simple, cloying melody, was beautifully played and won the hearts of the audience. Then came a thing they all knew—the Espana waltzes. There was enthusiasm! The "Fledermaus" overture of Johann Strauss and Ed. German's "Coronation March" (first time) finished the evening.

Arthur Richmond had a table; so did George Eustis. Dr George Monks was present with a party, and F. S. Converse had guests. Miss Estelle Kimball and Miss Susan Day Kimball each had a party. Others seen in the promenade were Mr and Mrs Fairchild, Miss Ethel Gibson, Miss Tudor, Miss Boardman, Clayton Johns, W. F. Blake, F. Bartlett, T. Dennie Boardman, Horace G. Allen, Mr and Mrs Quincy Shaw Jr, Ex-Police Commissioner Robert F. Clark, Harry Burnett, Miss Ruth Burnett, Clarence Hollander, Mr and Mrs B. F. Pitman, Mr and Mrs H. L. Morse, Arthur Robinson, Henry Taggard, Samuel Batchelder, Arthur Langley, Mr and Mrs Edmund M. Blake, William G. Brown and James B. Niver.

A Harvard student named Whiting, according to one of the officials of the hall, contributed the annual first-night incident. The Harvard man had gone to work as a waiter; it was his first experience. He carried 10 glasses of beer on one tray. Now let alone that this is a feat for anybody, it is also a thing that requires considerable display of nerve from a man who expects to see acquaintances among his customers, and worse still, to be the observed of these observers.

Consequently, when the new waiter found that he was progressing across the hall successfully his chest swelled to such an extent that his shirt studs popped.

They did more, they disappeared, and with the well-known perversity of inanimate objects, sought secluded corners and hid. The waiter finished the evening with bone collar buttons for shirt studs. This required more nerve than his original proposition.

Mr Adamowski had difficulty at one point in obtaining the quiet he wished, to begin. He tapped; they chattered. He looked about, the noise rose in swirls, amid the smoke. He tapped more sharply; several people turned to look at him, and then went on talking.

Mr Adamowski looked resigned, twirled his mustache with the air of being able to wait as long as anybody and frowned gently at the nearest tables. The noise sank a little. Mr Adamowski turned, seizing the psychological moment, tapped once and swung the celli into a piano passage, leading the graceful, manly theme up to the fiddles.

A sharp feminine voice pointed with astonishment, said somewhere in the middle of the hall, "Are you married?" and nobody in that neighborhood heard where the fiddles took the melody away from the celli.

It was the dressiest audience any opening night has seen for several seasons. It showed several things forth very plainly. One was the popularity achieved by Puccini's opera, "La Boheme." It was one of the operas which has gone straight to the hearts of the people.

Another thing, not quite so pleasant, perhaps, to many people, is that evening dress is practically required for attendance. That is, one may, of course, go without, but he will be in a very small minority party.

Tonight's program, like last night's, contains six "first time" pieces. It has also several old favorites, like Massanet's suite, "Scenes Pittoresques," and the overture, "Zampa," by Herold.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD, TUESDAY, MAY 5. 1903

MUSICAL MATTERS

THE "POPS" AT SYMPHONY HALL.

Sumer is cumen in
Lhude sing Cuccu!
Droppe the shoppes
And ope the Poppes,
And start the Beer anew.
Sing Cuccu!
Tam Addam o' Skye
The baton doth trye
Onne compositions newe.
Sing Cuccu!
Richard Strauss is changed to John,
And all his dancing crewe.
Sing Cuccu!
Childe Comee sytteth at ye doore
And eke Childe Ellis, too.
Sing Cuccu!
And each one may his whistle wette
With jolly amber brewe.
Sing Cuccu!

In other words, the summer season has opened; the "Pops" have begun at Symphony Hall, and the classical reviewer finds his occupation growing small by degrees and beautifully less. The opening of these smoking concerts (probably the best of their kind in the world) was as auspicious as heretofore; every table in the hall was filled, the galleries contained an interested audience, the orchestra was as large as usual, and Mr. Adamowski led with his wonted enthusiasm.

The makeup of the programme was decidedly more brilliant than ever before; there was more of novelty than in any preceding "first concert" that we can recall. Some of these novelties were of especial interest and beauty, and this shower of "first performances" promises to continue through the season.

Imagine a first programme beginning with the prelude to "The Mastersingers," and then presenting an Intermezzo from Offenbach's only serious work—"Contes d'Hoffmann"—three movements from a ballet by Tschaikowsky and new to Boston; a concert-overture by the American composer, H. K. Hadley; a Festival March by Richard Strauss, a new work by Elgar, etc., etc.—all "first time" performances! Imagine further, that each concert of the week is equally filled with novelties, that Mr. Adamowski is conducting with all his wonted magnetism, that the orchestra is thorough even from the start, and it will be seen that the "Pops" are intrinsically worthy of the best audiences, apart from all the Bohemian adjuncts which cause each occasion to slip by so merrily.

Fall River Line Journal.

SYMPHONY HALL
BOSTON

POPS

50-GRAND ORCHESTRA-50

Mr. T. Adamowski, Conductor

Every Evening, except Sunday, 8 to 11

ADMISSION 50c

Reserved Seats 25c Extra

MAY 5, 1903

"POPS" OPEN IN SPLENDOR

Most Brilliant Beginning in the Series of Boston's Bohemian Diversions

The "Pops" are with us again.

Last night saw the opening, and a brilliant one it was, with society at its best and in its might.

With Conductor Adamowski at the helm, the first strains of Boston's bohemian spring attraction ushered in a record-breaking and epoch-making season for the "Pops."

Again the glinting glass, the rattle of corks, the haze of tobacco, the dreamy music, fair women and all that go to make up what society prizes more than all the winter's feast of concert.

When Conductor Adamowski rapped his baton for the first selection, every table in the hall was taken, the balcony filled and the gallery well occupied.

Never before has such success attended the opening of the long-time favorite season of music.

Fashion and society were in the van, as usual. Harvard was not missing, and men about town, music lovers, all were on hand for the opening night.

Almost every selection on the bill was a "first-time" selection, and judging from the applause, Conductor Adamowski had chosen well his programme.

Encores were frequent, especially for the ever-beautiful Gounod "Hymn to St. Cecilia" and the sprightly "Espana" by Chabrier.

To add a local interest, the new master work of the young composer, Henry K. Hadley, the overture "In Bohemia," was given, and to the great delight of the audience.

Prominent among the audience were Major Henry L. Higginson and Conductor Wilhelm Gericke of the Symphony Orchestra, and both were enthusiastic in praise of the first night.

Ex-Chairman of the Police Commission Robert F. Clark celebrated his first relief from office by attending, and he was accompanied by a party of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears were among the early arrivals, and Mr. T. Dennie Boardman and his charming daughter, Miss Madaline Boardman, occupied a front table.

Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., had quite a party with them, as had Mr. Clarence Hollander.

Quite a few politicians were noticed in the throng and many prominent men about town, as well as musicians in large numbers.

Conductor Adamowski made quite an innovation by securing perfect quiet before he began his selections.

Among the selections rendered were Strauss's "Festival March," an intermezzo of Offenbach's, Puccini's "Fantasia on La Boheme" and Ed German's new "Coronation March," which last received thunders of applause.

The music was not of the popular kind, but rather on the classical order. It met with the appreciation of the big audience, however.

The audience gives indication of a tremendously popular season for the concerts. No such large and fashionable gathering ever witnessed a "Pop" opening before. Among the prominent people noticed, not already mentioned, were:

A. Robinson and party	Mr. Fairchild
H. Taggard and party	Mrs. Fairchild
S. Batchelder and party	Miss Ethel Gibson
Edmund M. Blake	Miss Tudor
Mrs. Blake	Clayton Johns
William G. Browne and party	Otto Roth
	W. P. Blake
A. Langley and party	F. Bartlett
J. B. Niver and party	Hon. Horace G. Allen
Arthur Richmond	Matthew Luce
George Eustis	Mrs. Luce
Dr. George Monks	Harry Burnett
F. S. Converse	Miss Ruth Burnett
Miss Estelle Kimball and party	C. Hollander and party
	B. F. Pitman
Miss S. D. Kimball	Mrs. Pitman
Josef Adamowski	Dr. H. L. Morse
Mrs. Adamowski	Mrs. Morse.

BOSTON TIMES

MAY 9, 1903.

watchin[illegible] pageant as was give[illegible]ternoon and evening.

The "Pop" Concerts.

The annual series of "Pop" concerts in Symphony hall opened with great success last Monday evening. All the seats on the floor were occupied, and fashionable society was well represented by those present. The reappearance of Mr. T. Adamowski as conductor was a distinctive feature of the occasion, and his welcome was a hearty one. He offered a fin programme, among which were several numbers that were presented for the first time. Mr. C. A. Ellis, Mr. F. R. Comee and Mr. L. H. Mudgett were all present and were active in their efforts to make the evening one of unalloyed enjoyment for all present. Throughout the week there were fine programmes, and a very attractive one will be given next Monday evening. It is as follows:

March, "Souvoroff"	Arensky
Concert Overture, "In Bohemia"	H. K. Hadley
Ballet Mu ic, "Coppelia"	Delibes
"Evening Song"	Ed. Elgar
Suite, "Henry VIII."	Saint-Saens
Prelude to the Opera, "Die Hexe"	A. Enna
"Hymn to St. Cecilia"	Gounod
"Festival March"	R. Strauss
Overture, "Semiramide"	Rossini
"Komarinskaja"	Glinka
Waltz, "Thousand and One Nights"	Strauss
"Rakoczy March"	Berlioz

The Boston Journal.

—THURSDAY,

MAY 7, 1903.

The program for the "Pop" concert in Symphony Hall this evening will include the following numbers: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; Suite, "A Argenteau," Cesar Cui; Chanson De Matin, Ed. Elgar; Overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Ride of The Valkyries," Wagner; Gipsy Suite, E. German; Le Dernier Sommeil De La Vierge, Massenet; Overture, "Galatea," Suppe; Overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; Mazour from Opera "Halka," Moniuszko; Waltz, Fruhlingstimmen, Joh. Strauss; March, "Zaragaza," Ortega.

THE MUSICAL COURIER.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1903.

Fred. Comee has engaged as leader for the "Pop" concerts Timothee Adamowski. These concerts open on Monday evening and will last for two months.

The Boston Traveler

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1903.

AT BOSTON'S SPRING MUSIC-FEST.

Scene at the Symphony Hall "Pops."

They used to say that Bostonians took their pleasures solemnly. Not so at the "Pops," however, where jollity and mirth, beer and Meyerbeer reign supreme these nights. The pretty toilets, the swagger hats, the strains of the orchestra, the fantastic wreaths of smoke, the handsome auditorium—all unite to make an evening of enjoyment. Now and then Conductor Adamowski may be inclined to demand more quiet than the audience would like, but that's only when some dainty bit of music is forthcoming. On the whole the "Pops" are what their name signifies.

BOSTON POST

THURSDAY,

MAY 7, 1903

The programme at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall this evening will include the following numbers: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; suite, "A Argenteau," Cesar Cui; Chanson de Matin, Ed Elgar; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Ride of the Valkyries, Wagner; Gypsy suite, E. German; Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, Massenet; overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; Mazour from opera "Halka," Moniuszko; waltz, "Fruhlingstimmen," Joh. Strauss; march, "Zaragaza," Ortega.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1903.

Amusement Notes.

The fourth "pop" concert will be given this evening in Symphony hall.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 127.

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1903.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1903.

Among tonight's selections at the Symphony hall "pops" will be compositions by E. German, Ed Elgar, Henry Waller and Granado, given for the first time at these concerts.

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL.

Saturday, May 9, 1903.

At the opening night of the "Pops" Mr. T. Dennie Boardman and his handsome daughter, Miss Madeleine Boardman, had a table well to the front. They came up from West Manchester, as they have already closed their town house in Beacon Street and taken up their abode at their North Shore place.

[195]

BOSTON POST, TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1903

"POPS" OPEN IN SPLENDOR

Most Brilliant Beginning in the Series of Boston's Bohemian Diversions

The "Pops" are with us again.

Last night saw the opening, and a brilliant one it was, with society at its best and in its might.

With Conductor Adamowski at the helm, the first strains of Boston's bohemian spring attraction ushered in a record-breaking and epoch-making season for the "Pops."

Again the glinting glass, the rattle of corks, the haze of tobacco, the dreamy music, fair women and all that go to make up what society prizes more than all the winter's feast of concert.

When Conductor Adamowski rapped his baton for the first selection, every table in the hall was taken, the balcony filled and the gallery well occupied.

Never before has such success attended the opening of the long-time favorite season of music.

Fashion and society were in the van, as usual. Harvard was not missing, and men about town, music lovers, all were on hand for the opening night.

Almost every selection on the bill was a "first-time" selection, and judging from the applause, Conductor Adamowski had chosen well his programme.

Encores were frequent, especially for the ever-beautiful Gounod "Hymn to St. Cecilia" and the sprightly "Espana" by Chabrier.

To add a local interest, the new master work of the young composer, Henry K. Hadley, the overture "In Bohemia," was given, and to the great delight of the audience.

Prominent among the audience were Major Henry L. Higginson and Conductor Wilhelm Gericke of the Symphony Orchestra, and both were enthusiastic in praise of the first night.

Ex-Chairman of the Police Commission Robert F. Clark celebrated his first relief from office by attending, and he was accompanied by a party of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears were among the early arrivals, and Mr. T. Dennie Boardman and his charming daughter, Miss Madaline Boardman, occupied a front table.

Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., had quite a party with them, as had Mr. Clarence Hollander.

Quite a few politicians were noticed in the throng and many prominent men about town, as well as musicians in large numbers.

Conductor Adamowski made quite an innovation by securing perfect quiet before he began his selections.

Among the selections rendered were Strauss's "Festival March," an intermezzo of Offenbach's, Puccini's "Fantasia on La Boheme" and Ed German's new "Coronation March," which last received thunders of applause.

The music was not of the popular kind, but rather on the classical order. It met with the appreciation of the big audience, however.

The audience gives indication of a tremendously popular season for the concerts. No such large and fashionable gathering ever witnessed a "Pop" opening before. Among the prominent people noticed, not already mentioned, were:

A. Robinson and party	Mr. Fairchild
H. Taggard and party	Mrs. Fairchild
S. Batchelder and party	Miss Ethel Gibson
Edmund M. Blake	Miss Tudor
Mrs. Blake	Clayton Johns
William G. Browne and party	Otto Roth
	W. P. Blake
A. Langley and party	F. Bartlett
J. B. Niver and party	Hon. Horace G. Allen
Arthur Richmond	Matthew Luce
George Eustis	Mrs. Luce
Dr. George Monks	Harry Burnett
F. S. Converse	Miss Ruth Burnett
Miss Estelle Kimball and party	C. Hollander and party
	B. F. Pitman
Miss S. D. Kimball	Mrs. Pitman
Josef Adamowski	Dr. H. L. Morse
Mrs. Adamowski	Mrs. Morse.

BOSTON POST
THURSDAY,
MAY 7, 1903

The programme at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall this evening will include the following numbers: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; suite, "A Argenteau," Cesar Cui; Chanson de Matin, Ed Elgar; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Ride of the Valkyries, Wagner; Gypsy suite, E. German; Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, Massenet; overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; Mazour from opera "Halka," Moniuszko; waltz, "Fruhlingstimmen," Joh. Strauss; march, "Zaragaza," Ortega.

Boston Daily Globe.
THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1903.

Amusement Notes.

The fourth "pop" concert will be given this evening in Symphony hall.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 127.
THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1903.

The programme for the "Pop" concert in Symphony Hall this evening will include the following numbers: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; suite, "A Argenteau," Cesar Cui; Chanson de Matin, Ed. Elgar; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Ride of the Valkyries, Wagner; Gipsy suite, E. German; Le Dernier Sommeil de la Vierge, Massenet; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; mazour from opera "Halka," Moniuszko; waltz, Fruehlingstimmen, Johann Strauss; march, "Zaragaza," Ortega.

The Boston Journal.
—THURSDAY,
MAY 7, 1903.

The program for the "Pop" concert in Symphony Hall this evening will include the following numbers: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; Suite, "A Argenteau," Cesar Cui; Chanson De Matin, Ed. Elgar; Overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Ride of The Valkyries," Wagner; Gipsy Suite, E. German; Le Dernier Sommeil De La Vierge, Massenet; Overture, "Galatea," Suppe; Overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; Mazour from Opera "Halka," Moniuszko; Waltz, Fruhlingstimmen, Joh. Strauss; March, "Zaragaza," Ortega.

Boston Daily Globe.
SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1903.

Among tonight's selections at the Symphony hall "pops" will be compositions by E. German, Ed Elgar, Henry Waller and Granado, given for the first time at these concerts.

BOSTON TIMES
MAY 9, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

The annual series of "Pop" concerts in Symphony hall opened with great success last Monday evening. All the seats on the floor were occupied, and fashionable society was well represented by those present. The reappearance of Mr. T. Adamowski as conductor was a distinctive feature of the occasion, and his welcome was a hearty one. He offered a fine programme, among which were several numbers that were presented for the first time. Mr. C. A. Ellis, Mr. F. R. Comee and Mr. L. H. Mudgett were all present and were active in their efforts to make the evening one of unalloyed enjoyment for all present. Throughout the week there were fine programmes, and a very attractive one will be given next Monday evening. It is as follows:

March, "Souvoroff"	Arensky
Concert Overture, "In Bohemia"	H. K. Hadley
Ballet Music, "Coppelia"	Delibes
"Evening Song"	Ed. Elgar
Suite, "Henry VIII."	Saint-Saens
Prelude to the Opera, "Die Hexe"	A. Lifna
"Hymn to St. Cecilia"	Gounod
"Festival March"	R. Strauss
Overture, "Semiramide"	Rossini
"Kommarinskaja"	Glinka
Waltz, "Thousand and One Nights"	Strauss
"Rakoczy March"	Berlioz

THE MUSICAL COURIER.
WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1903.

Fred. Comee has engaged as leader for the "Pop" concerts Timothee Adamowski. These concerts open on Monday evening and will last for two months.

The Boston Traveler

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1903.

AT BOSTON'S SPRING MUSIC-FEST.

Scene at the Symphony Hall "Pops."

They used to say that Bostonians took their pleasures solemnly. Not so at the "Pops," however, where jollity and mirth, beer and Meyerbeer reign supreme these nights. The pretty toilets, the swagger hats, the strains of the orchestra, the fantastic wreaths of smoke, the handsome auditorium—all unite to make an evening of enjoyment. Now and then Conductor Adamowski may be inclined to demand more quiet than the audience would like, but that's only when some dainty bit of music is forthcoming. On the whole the "Pops" are what their name signifies.

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL.

Saturday, May 9, 1903.

At the opening night of the "Pops" Mr. T. Dennie Boardman and his handsome daughter, Miss Madeleine Boardman, had a table well to the front. They came up from West Manchester, as they have already closed their town house in Beacon Street and taken up their abode at their North Shore place.

[195]

Boston Courier

ESTABLISHED 1795. MAY 9, 1903.

"POP" CONCERTS BEGIN.

With all their accustomed eclat the season of pop concerts started on its way Monday evening, graced by many people prominent in the world of society, handsome toilettes, and interspersed with much applause for the new conductor, Mr. Adamowski. Some of those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, the latter in palest gray silk, striped with a darker color, and trimmed with black lace, in combination with a small black toque with white roses and black tips. The Higginsons had with them Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, the latter in a tucked gown of cafe-au-lait silk, applique with heavy lace of the same color, and a large hat of white straw with white flowers and foliage. Directly in front of them Mr. and Mrs. Josef Adamowski had a table, Mrs. Adamowski being handsomely attired in white crepe de Chine, with lace yoke, and large white chiffon hat, covered with black lace.

In the same locality was Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, who had with her Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fairchild, wearing a graceful frock of black pailetted material with a black hat trimmed with white and black plumes. Mrs. Sears was elegantly attired in pale gray voile, with touches of black on the bodice, and a large picture hat with ostrich feathers. Her wrap was a loose coat of pastel blue cloth, in one of the pale shades, most beautifully trimmed with gold. Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Kimball, the latter in deepest violet cloth, and a small black toque, and a number of friends with them, including their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale. Miss Kimball was beautifully clad in a pale gray skirt and dainty white bodice, with rope of corals. Her white hat was faced under the brim with coral-colored roses and trimmed with black velvet. Mrs. Hale was in light blue cloth.

Among others noticeable for the elegance of their attire were Mrs. Francis S. Watson, wearing black net over black satin, with deep yoke of white lace, and transparent sleeves, and a large white hat with white plumes and roses; Mrs. George M. Cushing, looking very handsome in her correct mourning; Mrs. Frederick R. Comee in black, with small black hat and rope of pearls; Mrs. Henry Patterson in white, with white lace hat; Miss Constance Tippet in black velvet, with bodice of white China silk, and black straw hat with fine white blossoms massed at the front; Mrs. J. Emory Tippet in black lace over white silk, and white rose toque; Miss Madeleine Boardman in pale gray, with toque of white flowers and foliage; Mrs. Kenneth Horton, wearing black net over gray satin, and stock of pink tulle, with large black hat, laden with black and pink plumes; Mrs. J. C. Baird in gray, with white hat; Miss Ethel Gibson in a black pailetted skirt and black lace bodice, with round toque of white chiffon; Mrs. James B. Forsyth, presenting a stylish appearance in violet cloth, tucked, and a lovely white hat; Mrs. Stephen H. Bennet in a strikingly beautiful importation of white satin, veiled with brown net and having numerous touches of pink, introduced under lace motifs. Her hat was of pink tulle with pink plumes drooping at the back. Mrs. Matthew Luce, jr., was very handsome in black crepe de Chine, with white stock and undersleeves. A picture hat of pale blue tulle combined effectively.

Others there were Mrs. N. W. Winslow in black lace and diamonds and a black hat; Mr. Wilhelm Gericke, Mrs. Washington G. Benedict, Mr. Edward Furber, Mr. Everett Furber, Mr. Elmer Olmstead, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Pitman and party, Mr. Fred Converse and guests, Miss Bessie Belle Collier, Mr. James B. Forsyth, Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett, in an effective black gown glittering with sequins, and a red flower hat; Mr. S. S. Kerr, Mr. Kenneth Horton, Mr. Rogers L. Barstow, Mr. J. C. Baird and his son, Mr. Stewart Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, jr., the latter in black; Mr. Harry Burnett, Miss Ruth Burnet, Mr. William P. Blake and guests, Mr. T. Dennie Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Sprague, Mr. Matthew Luce, jr., Mr. George M. Cushing, Miss Caroline King, Miss Emily Beebe, Mr. Frank Manning and Mr. F. H. B. Byrne.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 130.

SUNDAY, MAY 10, 1903.

THE POP CONCERTS.

There can be no more delightful way of spending an evening than at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall—every weekday evening from 8 to 11. Last night there was the usual large attendance, and all seemed thoroughly to enjoy the excellent programme which Conductor Adamowski presented.

For the coming week the orchestra will play many new things, selected for merit as well as for novelty, so that people who go mainly for the programmes are sure to be repaid. Tuesday evening will be "Tufts night," when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The programme for tomorrow evening is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; "Invitation to Dance," Weber; ballet music, "Coppelia," Delibes; "Evening Song," Ed. Elgar; fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; suite, "Henry VIII," Saint-Saens; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod; "Festival March," R. Strauss; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; "Komarinskaja," Glinka; waltz, "Thousand and One Nights," Strauss; "Rakoczy March," Berlioz.

Every table was taken for the opening night of the Pops on Monday, and the balconies were well filled. Mr. Adamowski, as he came in to take his place on the platform, had an enormous personal greeting, so many of his friends were in the hall. The applause was really deafening when he took up his baton and he was kept bowing for several minutes. Some among those there were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., who had a table party, including Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Luce. Mrs. Shaw was all in black and Mrs. Luce, a bride of last year, wore a smart black gown, relieved with white, half-sleeves of white lace and a pale blue chiffon hat, with plumes of the same tone. Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball had two tables. Of their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, the latter in bright blue cloth with white lace and touches of black, and a white hat. Mrs. Kimball was in dark purple and Miss Kimball in pearl gray with a white satin and lace bodice and a white hat with deep pink roses and black velvet. Mrs. Montgomery Sears, who was one of the latest arrivals, was in palest cloth, the bodice embroidered in black, and a black hat. Mrs. John C. Fairchild, who was with Mrs. Sears, wore a black jetted gown and a black picture hat with white plumes. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson entertained at their table, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Gericke. Mrs. Higginson was in white satin, with a black stripe and black lace; and Mrs. Gericke in pongee silk, with cream lace and a white hat with foliage. Mrs. Francis Watson, who wore black satin covered with chiffon, the bodice of white and a white plumed hat with pink roses, was with a party which included Mr. Francis H. B. Byrne. Besides these, there were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Bennett, the latter in a smart costume of white satin, with touches of pink covered with brown fillet net and lace, and a pink pailletted toque with ostrich plumes of the same tone; Mr. and Mrs. Josef Adamowski, the latter in white crepe and lace, and hat of black lace over white; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird, Mrs. Baird wearing gray veiling with white lace and a white flower toque; Mr. Stewart Baird, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, the latter in darkest purple veiling and white lace with a white hat.

TUFTS NIGHT AT THE POPS.

Tuesday evening is to be the annual "Tufts night" at the "Pops." The original reservation of seats of 400 downstairs and 250 in the balcony were all gone yesterday, and a second reservation was called for. Over 1000 invitations were sent out among the alumni. The seats in the balcony are being taken largely by the young ladies of the college. Several special Tufts numbers will be upon the programme; and it is expected that the Tufts Glee club will render "The Sword of Ferrara," with orchestral accompaniment.

THERE will be only two important recitals this week, so far as is now known, and attention may concentrate itself on the Pops, where the music as selected and directed by Mr. Adamowski is of real consequence.

Boston Sunday Globe

SUNDAY, MAY 10, 1903.

—The "Pop" concert season opened on Monday night at Symphony hall most auspiciously, every table on the floor being taken as well as most of the balcony seats, and both from a musical and social standpoint it was a brilliant success. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr Adamowski, played an interesting program and several encores were demanded, to which the director gracefully responded. Both Mr Ellis and Mr Comee, through whose efforts these concerts have become in every sense popular, were on hand and received many congratulations. At the second intermission when eight numbers had been played, almost every one left the hall for a promenade through the broad corridors, which is found to be a relief from sitting so long and from too close attention to the music. Altogether the evening was most enjoyable from every point of view and the season so pleasantly begun bids fair to be the most successful ever given. Among the many who attended the concert were Mr and Mrs Henry L. Higginson, who had some friends with them, Mrs Higginson in white silk with perpendicular lines of black, black lace at the bodice, and black toque with white roses; Mr and Mrs Montgomery Sears had Mr and Mrs John C. Fairchild with them, Mrs Fairchild wearing black veiling and hat with black and white plumes, and Mrs Sears mauve crepe de chine and black plumed hat; Miss Susan Day Kimball, who had several with her, wore a beautiful costume of white cloth with irish lace at the bodice and hat with a wreath and cluster of violets; Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball entertained their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, and Mr and Mrs Philip Hale with others, Mrs Hale in light blue crepe de chine with lace and touch of black at the bodice and white hat with black velvet and blush roses; Miss Kimball, white veiling and hat with velvet and pink; she also wore a long chain of corals roses under the brim; Mr and Mrs Stephen H. Bennett, Mrs Bennett in brown crepe de chine with oriental trimmings, the hat of pink tulle silver spangled and pink plumes and cloak of white silk; Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, Mrs Horton in black lace over white silk, appliqued with designs of butterflies in steel, and black hat with white plumes; Dr and Mrs Hall Curtis, Mrs Thomas Mack, Mr William P. Blake, Miss Emily Beebe, Mr and Mrs Gericke, the latter in ecru crepe de chine trimmed at the bodice with cream lace, and hat with foliage; Mme Szumowska in white crepe de chine and hat of black lace over white chiffon, with a touch of scarlet; Miss Edith May in gray cloth and burned straw hat trimmed with black; Mr Clayton Johns; Mr and Mrs F. R. Comee had several friends as guests, Mrs Comee wore a becoming gown of black dotted lace, the skirt muffled and the bodice with transparent yoke and sleeves, her toque was black chiffon; Mrs Francis Watson, black lace and jet, the bodice trimmed with duchesse lace in eton jacket effect, and a lovely wrap of oriental silk; Mr and Mrs W. H. Sands, Mrs Henry Whittemore, Miss Edith Whittemore, Mrs Howard M. Dow, Mr and Mrs George A. Draper, Dr and Mrs Harry L. Morse, Mr T. Dennie Boardman, Miss Boardman, Miss Gibson, Miss Burnett and Mr Harry Burnett.

—Large audiences have been the rule at the Pop concerts since the opening night, as many find pleasure in going often for the music and to meet friends who exchange courtesies at the different tables. Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan were there one evening with friends, before going to their country place at Plymouth. Mr and Mrs Quincy A. Shaw Jr and Mr and Mrs Henry L. Higginson, with Miss Parkman Blake and other friends, were together Thursday evening. Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam, Mr and Mrs Harold Jefferson Coolidge (Miss Edith Lawrence), Miss Eleanor Gray and others were at one of the tables together. Mrs Putnam wore a beautiful gown of black lace, with bands of jet on the bodice and black hat with long black plume. Her wrap was of fawn colored cloth, lined with satin the same shade, with collar of lace and sable. Miss Gray, black velvet with Irish lace collar, with hat of foliage and wreath of pink crushed roses around the brim. Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell had with them Miss Mollie Sargent, in red chiffon and black plumed hat, a young lady all in black chiffon and black hat and Mr Harleston Parker. Mrs Lowell was in black velvet with a deep shoulder cape of Irish lace, and hat of scarlet shaded chiffon and spray of scarlet flowers across the crown; Mr Samuel Bates and Mr and Mrs W. H. Sands and family.

—Tuesday evening will be Tufts night at the Pops, and, as last year on a similar occasion, hundreds of students, past and present, will be there. One of the numbers on the program is by the favorite song writer, Mr Frederic Field Bullard, who, with several musical friends, will have one of the tables, although he has already opened his cottage at Scituate for the summer. His cozy house, 2 Blackney st, is occupied by Mr and Mrs Henry Nelson Maberry until November.

SUNDAY GLOBE
MAY 10, 1903.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

There can be no more delightful way of spending a pleasant evening than at the "Pop" concerts in Symphony hall. Last night there was the usual large attendance, and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the excellent program which conductor Adamowski presented. For the coming week the orchestra will play many new numbers, selected for merit as well as for novelty, so that people who go mainly for the programs are sure to be repaid.

Tuesday evening will be "Tufts night," when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The program for tomorrow evening is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; "Invitation to Dance," Weber; ballet music, "Coppelia," Delibes; "Evening Song," Ed Elgar; fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; suite, "Henry VIII," Saint-Saens; "Hymn to St Cecilia," Gounod; "Festival March," R. Strauss; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; "Komarinskaja," Glinka; waltz, "Thousand and One Nights," Strauss; "Rakoczy March," Berlioz.

The Boston Journal.

MAY 10, 1903.

"POP" CONCERTS.

For the coming week at the "Pops," Symphony Hall, the orchestra will play many new things, selected for merit as well as for novelty. Tuesday evening will be "Tufts Night," when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The program for tomorrow evening will be:

March, "Souvoroff" ..... Arensky
"Invitation to Dance" ..... Weber
Ballet Music, "Coppelia" ..... Delibes
"Evening Song" ..... Ed. Elgar
Fantasia on "La Boheme" ..... Puccini
Suite, "Henry VIII." ..... Saint-Saens
"Hymn to St. Cecilia" ..... Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
"Festival March" ..... R. Strauss
Overture, "Semiramide" ..... Rossini
"Komarinskaja" ..... Glinka
Waltz, "Thousand and One Nights" ..... Strauss
"Rakoczy March" ..... Berlioz

The initial performance of the "pop" concerts which opened the summer season at Symphony Hall Monday evening last, under the leadership of Mr. Timothee Adamowski, was the signal for one of the most fashionable audiences that has assembled this season. Every table was occupied, while a large number of fashionables were seated in the balconies.

Among the many well-known people present were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, the latter looking charming in a creation of black silk and lace.

Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, who came in late with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fairchild—the beautiful Charlotte Houston—was elegantly gowned in a long cafe au lait wrap, which she wore over a pale blue veiling gown. She wore a large picture hat trimmed in quantities of plumes.

Mrs. Fairchild, who is a brilliant brunette, was in a trained gown of black voile, with jet trimming, and wore a large black straw hat trimmed in black and white ostrich plumes.

Mrs. Charles Phelps, a daughter-in-law of the late ex-minister to England, who was with Mr. Phelps and his mother at one of the front tables, was especially pretty in a gown of the palest gray crepe de chine, the bodice of which was trimmed elaborately in lace and shirring. She wore a large gray hat.

TUFTS STUDENTS WILL RALLY AT THE "POPS"

Reserve 800 Seats for Annual College Night.

Tufts College alumni and undergraduates will celebrate Tufts night at the "Pops" in Symphony Hall Thursday night. It will be the third in the series. About 800 seats have been reserved and special invitations have been sent to over 1000 alumni.

Popular college songs will be seen on the program. Frederick Field Bullard has arranged for orchestra his song "The Sword of Farrar." This song was well received everywhere it was sung by the Tufts musical clubs last season.

[196]

Boston Courier

ESTABLISHED 1795. MAY 9, 1903.

"POP" CONCERTS BEGIN.

With all their accustomed eclat the season of pop concerts started on its way Monday evening, graced by many people prominent in the world of society, handsome toilettes, and interspersed with much applause for the new conductor, Mr. Adamowski. Some of those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, the latter in palest gray silk, striped with a darker color, and trimmed with black lace, in combination with a small black toque with white roses and black tips. The Higginsons had with them Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, the latter in a tucked gown of cafe-au-lait silk, applique with heavy lace of the same color, and a large hat of white straw with white flowers and foliage. Directly in front of them Mr. and Mrs. Josef Adamowski had a table, Mrs. Adamowski being handsomely attired in white crepe de Chine, with lace yoke, and large white chiffon hat, covered with black lace.

In the same locality was Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, who had with her Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fairchild, wearing a graceful frock of black pailetted material with a black hat trimmed with white and black plumes. Mrs. Sears was elegantly attired in pale gray voile, with touches of black on the bodice, and a large picture hat with ostrich feathers. Her wrap was a loose coat of pastel blue cloth, in one of the pale shades, most beautifully trimmed with gold. Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Kimball, the latter in deepest violet cloth, and a small black toque, and a number of friends with them, including their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale. Miss Kimball was beautifully clad in a pale gray skirt and dainty white bodice, with rope of corals. Her white hat was faced under the brim with coral-colored roses and trimmed with black velvet. Mrs. Hale was in light blue cloth.

Among others noticeable for the elegance of their attire were Mrs. Francis S. Watson, wearing black net over black satin, with deep yoke of white lace, and transparent sleeves, and a large white hat with white plumes and roses; Mrs. George M. Cushing, looking very handsome in her correct mourning; Mrs. Frederick R. Comee in black, with small black hat and rope of pearls; Mrs. Henry Patterson in white, with white lace hat; Miss Constance Tippet in black velvet, with bodice of white China silk, and black straw hat with fine white blossoms massed at the front; Mrs. J. Emory Tippet in black lace over white silk, and white rose toque; Miss Madeleine Boardman in pale gray, with toque of white flowers and foliage; Mrs. Kenneth Horton, wearing black net over gray satin, and stock of pink tulle, with large black hat, laden with black and pink plumes; Mrs. J. C. Baird in gray, with white hat; Miss Ethel Gibson in a black pailetted skirt and black lace bodice, with round toque of white chiffon; Mrs. James B. Forsyth, presenting a stylish appearance in violet cloth, tucked, and a lovely white hat; Mrs. Stephen H. Bennet in a strikingly beautiful importation of white satin, veiled with brown net and having numerous touches of pink, introduced under lace motifs. Her hat was of pink tulle with pink plumes drooping at the back. Mrs. Matthew Luce, jr., was very handsome in black crepe de Chine, with white stock and undersleeves. A picture hat of pale blue tulle combined effectively.

Others there were Mrs. N. W. Winslow in black lace and diamonds and a black hat; Mr. Wilhelm Gericke, Mrs. Washington G. Benedict, Mr. Edward Furber, Mr. Everett Furber, Mr. Elmer Olmstead, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Pitman and party, Mr. Fred Converse and guests, Miss Bessie Belle Collier, Mr. James B. Forsyth, Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett, in an effective black gown glittering with sequins, and a red flower hat; Mr. S. S. Kerr, Mr. Kenneth Horton, Mr. Rogers L. Barstow, Mr. J. C. Baird and his son, Mr. Stewart Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Shaw, jr., the latter in black; Mr. Harry Burnett, Miss Ruth Burnet, Mr. William P. Blake and guests, Mr. T. Dennie Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Sprague, Mr. Matthew Luce, jr., Mr. George M. Cushing, Miss Caroline King, Miss Emily Beebe, Mr. Frank Manning and Mr. F. H. B. Byrne.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 130.

SUNDAY, MAY 10, 1903.

THE POP CONCERTS.

There can be no more delightful way of spending an evening than at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall—every weekday evening from 8 to 11. Last night there was the usual large attendance, and all seemed thoroughly to enjoy the excellent programme which Conductor Adamowski presented.

For the coming week the orchestra will play many new things, selected for merit as well as for novelty, so that people who go mainly for the programmes are sure to be repaid. Tuesday evening will be "Tufts night," when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The programme for tomorrow evening is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; "Invitation to Dance," Weber; ballet music, "Coppelia," Delibes; "Evening Song," Ed. Elgar; fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; suite, "Henry VIII," Saint-Saens; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod; "Festival March," R. Strauss; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; "Komarinskaja," Glinka; waltz, "Thousand and One Nights," Strauss; "Rakoczy March," Berlioz.

Every table was taken for the opening night of the Pops on Monday, and the balconies were well filled. Mr. Adamowski, as he came in to take his place on the platform, had an enormous personal greeting, so many of his friends were in the hall. The applause was really deafening when he took up his baton and he was kept bowing for several minutes. Some among those there were Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., who had a table party, including Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Luce. Mrs. Shaw was all in black and Mrs. Luce, a bride of last year, wore a smart black gown, relieved with white, half-sleeves of white lace and a pale blue chiffon hat, with plumes of the same tone. Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kimball and Miss Estelle Kimball had two tables. Of their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale, the latter in bright blue cloth with white lace and touches of black, and a white hat. Mrs. Kimball was in dark purple and Miss Kimball in pearl gray with a white satin and lace bodice and a white hat with deep pink roses and black velvet. Mrs. Montgomery Sears, who was one of the latest arrivals, was in palest cloth, the bodice embroidered in black, and a black hat. Mrs. John C. Fairchild, who was with Mrs. Sears, wore a black jetted gown and a black picture hat with white plumes. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson entertained at their table, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Gericke. Mrs. Higginson was in white satin, with a black stripe and black lace; and Mrs. Gericke in pongee silk, with cream lace and a white hat with foliage. Mrs. Francis Watson, who wore black satin covered with chiffon, the bodice of white and a white plumed hat with pink roses, was with a party which included Mr. Francis H. B. Byrne. Besides these, there were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Bennett, the latter in a smart costume of white satin, with touches of pink covered with brown fillet net and lace, and a pink pailletted toque with ostrich plumes of the same tone; Mr. and Mrs. Josef Adamowski, the latter in white crepe and lace, and hat of black lace over white; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird, Mrs. Baird wearing gray veiling with white lace and a white flower toque; Mr. Stewart Baird, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, the latter in darkest purple veiling and white lace with a white hat.

TUFTS NIGHT AT THE POPS.

Tuesday evening is to be the annual "Tufts night" at the "Pops." The original reservation of seats of 400 downstairs and 250 in the balcony were all gone yesterday, and a second reservation was called for. Over 1000 invitations were sent out among the alumni. The seats in the balcony are being taken largely by the young ladies of the college. Several special Tufts numbers will be upon the programme; and it is expected that the Tufts Glee club will render "The Sword of Ferrara," with orchestral accompaniment.

THERE will be only two important recitals this week, so far as is now known, and attention may concentrate itself on the Pops, where the music as selected and directed by Mr. Adamowski is of real consequence.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 10, 1903.

—The "Pop" concert season opened on Monday night at Symphony hall most auspiciously, every table on the floor being taken as well as most of the balcony seats, and both from a musical and social standpoint it was a brilliant success. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr Adamowski, played an interesting program and several encores were demanded, to which the director gracefully responded. Both Mr Ellis and Mr Comee, through whose efforts these concerts have become in every sense popular, were on hand and received many congratulations. At the second intermission when eight numbers had been played, almost every one left the hall for a promenade through the broad corridors, which is found to be a relief from sitting so long and from too close attention to the music. Altogether the evening was most enjoyable from every point of view and the season so pleasantly begun bids fair to be the most successful ever given. Among the many who attended the concert were Mr and Mrs Henry L. Higginson, who had some friends with them, Mrs Higginson in white silk with perpendicular lines of black, black lace at the bodice, and black toque with white roses; Mr and Mrs Montgomery Sears had Mr and Mrs John C. Fairchild with them, Mrs Fairchild wearing black veiling and hat with black and white plumes, and Mrs Sears mauve crepe de chine and black plumed hat; Miss Susan Day Kimball, who had several with her, wore a beautiful costume of white cloth with irish lace at the bodice and hat with a wreath and cluster of violets; Mr and Mrs Otis Kimball entertained their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, and Mr and Mrs Philip Hale with others, Mrs Hale in light blue crepe de chine with lace and touch of black at the bodice and white hat with black velvet and blush roses; Miss Kimball, white veiling and hat with velvet and pink; she also wore a long chain of corals roses under the brim; Mr and Mrs Stephen H. Bennett, Mrs Bennett in brown crepe de chine with oriental trimmings, the hat of pink tulle silver spangled and pink plumes and cloak of white silk; Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, Mrs Horton in black lace over white silk, appliqued with designs of butterflies in steel, and black hat with white plumes; Dr and Mrs Hall Curtis, Mrs Thomas Mack, Mr William P. Blake, Miss Emily Beebe, Mr and Mrs Gericke, the latter in ecru crepe de chine trimmed at the bodice with cream lace, and hat with foliage; Mme Szumowska in white crepe de chine and hat of black lace over white chiffon, with a touch of scarlet; Miss Edith May in gray cloth and burned straw hat trimmed with black; Mr Clayton Johns; Mr and Mrs F. R. Comee had several friends as guests, Mrs Comee wore a becoming gown of black dotted lace, the skirt muffled and the bodice with transparent yoke and sleeves, her toque was black chiffon; Mrs Francis Watson, black lace and jet, the bodice trimmed with duchesse lace in eton jacket effect, and a lovely wrap of oriental silk; Mr and Mrs W. H. Sands, Mrs Henry Whittemore, Miss Edith Whittemore, Mrs Howard M. Dow, Mr and Mrs George A. Draper, Dr and Mrs Harry L. Morse, Mr T. Dennie Boardman, Miss Boardman, Miss Gibson, Miss Burnett and Mr Harry Burnett.

—Large audiences have been the rule at the Pop concerts since the opening night, as many find pleasure in going often for the music and to meet friends who exchange courtesies at the different tables. Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan were there one evening with friends, before going to their country place at Plymouth. Mr and Mrs Quincy A. Shaw Jr and Mr and Mrs Henry L. Higginson, with Miss Parkman Blake and other friends, were together Thursday evening. Mr and Mrs James Lowell Putnam, Mr and Mrs Harold Jefferson Coolidge (Miss Edith Lawrence), Miss Eleanor Gray and others were at one of the tables together. Mrs Putnam wore a beautiful gown of black lace, with bands of jet on the bodice and black hat with long black plume. Her wrap was of fawn colored cloth, lined with satin the same shade, with collar of lace and sable. Miss Gray, black velvet with Irish lace collar, with hat of foliage and wreath of pink crushed roses around the brim. Mr and Mrs Guy Lowell had with them Miss Mollie Sargent, in red chiffon and black plumed hat, a young lady all in black chiffon and black hat and Mr Harleston Parker. Mrs Lowell was in black velvet with a deep shoulder cape of Irish lace, and hat of scarlet shaded chiffon and spray of scarlet flowers across the crown; Mr Samuel Bates and Mr and Mrs W. H. Sands and family.

—Tuesday evening will be Tufts night at the Pops, and, as last year on a similar occasion, hundreds of students, past and present, will be there. One of the numbers on the program is by the favorite song writer, Mr Frederic Field Bullard, who, with several musical friends, will have one of the tables, although he has already opened his cottage at Scituate for the summer. His cozy house, 22 Pinckney st, is occupied by Mr and Mrs Henry Nelson Mabery until November.

SUNDAY GLOBE
MAY 10, 1903.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

There can be no more delightful way of spending a pleasant evening that at the "Pop" concerts in Symphony hall. Last night there was the usual large attendance, and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the excellent program which conductor Adamowski presented. For the coming week the orchestra will play many new numbers, selected for merit as well as for novelty, so that people who go mainly for the programs are sure to be repaid.

Tuesday evening will be "Tufts night," when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The program for tomorrow evening is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; "Invitation to Dance," Weber; ballet music, "Coppelia," Delibes; "Evening Song," Ed Elgar; fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; suite, "Henry VIII," Saint-Saens; "Hymn to St Cecilia," Gounod; "Festival March," R. Strauss; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; "Komarinskaja," Glinka; waltz, "Thousand and One Nights," Strauss; "Rakoczy March," Berlioz.

The Boston Journal.

MAY 10, 1903.

"POP" CONCERTS.

For the coming week at the "Pops," Symphony Hall, the orchestra will play many new things, selected for merit as well as for novelty. Tuesday evening will be "Tufts Night," when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The program for tomorrow evening will be:

March, "Souvoroff" ..... Arensky
"Invitation to Dance" ..... Weber
Ballet Music, "Coppelia" ..... Delibes
"Evening Song" ..... Ed. Elgar
Fantasia on "La Boheme" ..... Puccini
Suite, "Henry VIII." ..... Saint-Saens
"Hymn to St. Cecilia" ..... Gounod
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Organ, Mr. Snow.
"Festival March" ..... R. Strauss
Overture, "Semiramide" ..... Rossini
"Komarinskaja" ..... Glinka
Waltz, "Thousand and One Nights" .... Strauss
"Rakoczy March" ..... Berlioz

The initial performance of the "pop" concerts which opened the summer season at Symphony Hall Monday evening last, under the leadership of Mr. Timothee Adamowski, was the signal for one of the most fashionable audiences that has assembled this season. Every table was occupied, while a large number of fashionables were seated in the balconies.

Among the many well-known people present were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, the latter looking charming in a creation of black silk and lace.

Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, who came in late with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fairchild—the beautiful Charlotte Houston—was elegantly gowned in a long cafe au lait wrap, which she wore over a pale blue veiling gown. She wore a large picture hat trimmed in quantities of plumes.

Mrs. Fairchild, who is a brilliant brunette, was in a trained gown of black voile, with jet trimming, and wore a large black straw hat trimmed in black and white ostrich plumes.

Mrs. Charles Phelps, a daughter-in-law of the late ex-minister to England, who was with Mr. Phelps and his mother at one of the front tables, was especially pretty in a gown of the palest gray crepe de chine, the bodice of which was trimmed elaborately in lace and shirring. She wore a large gray hat.

TUFTS STUDENTS WILL RALLY AT THE "POPS"

Reserve 800 Seats for Annual College Night.

Tufts College alumni and undergraduates will celebrate Tufts night at the "Pops" in Symphony Hall Thursday night. It will be the third in the series. About 800 seats have been reserved and special invitations have been sent to over 1000 alumni.

Popular college songs will be seen on the program. Frederick Field Bullard has arranged for orchestra his song "The Sword of Farrar." This song was well received everywhere it was sung by the Tufts musical clubs last season.

[196]

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, MAY 10, 1903

SOCIETY ATTENDS POP CONCERTS

With all their accustomed eclat the season of Pop concerts started on its triumphant way Monday evening, graced by many people prominent in the world of society, handsome toilettes, glittering jewels and a wonderfully fine programme, liberally interspersed with applause for the new conductor, Mr. Adamowski. Some of those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson, the latter in pearl gray silk, striped with a darker color, and trimmed with black lace, in combination with a small black toque with white roses and black tips. The Higginsons had with them Mr. and Mrs. Gericke, the latter in a tucked gown of cafe-au-plait silk, appliqued with heavy lace of the same color, and a large white straw hat, with white flowers and foliage. Directly in front of them Mr. and Mrs. Josef Adamowski had a table, the latter handsomely attired in white crepe de chine, with yoke of lace, and a white tulle toque, covered with black lace. In the same locality was Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, who had with her Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fairchild, the latter wearing a graceful frock of black pailletted material, with black picture hat, trimmed with white and black plumes. Mrs. Sears was elegantly attired in pale gray voile, with touches of black on the bodice, and a large black picture hat with plumes. Her wrap was a loose coat of pastel blue cloth in a pale shade, handsomely trimmed with gold. Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Kimball, the latter in deepest violet cloth, with black boa, and small black toque, with white roses and tips, had with them a large party, including their daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale. Miss Kimball was looking very pretty in a gray skirt, with dainty white blouse and rope of coral. Her white hat was faced under the brim with pink flowers, and trimmed with black velvet. Mrs. Hale was in light blue cloth, with a large hat.

Among others noticeable for the elegance of their attire was Mrs. Francis S. Watson, wearing black net over black satin, the bodice having a deep yoke of white lace and transparent sleeves of black lace, and a large white hat, with white plumes and pink roses. Her wrap was a magnificent affair of velvet, lace and gold. Mrs. George M. Cushing looked very elegant in her correct mourning; Mrs. Frederick R. Comee was in black, with a small toque and rope of pearls. Mrs. Henry Patterson wore white, with a large white hat of lace and plumes; Miss Constance Tippett wore a black velvet skirt with blouse of white China silk, and a black hat with fine white flowers massed at the front; Mrs. J. Emory Tippett was in black lace over white silk, with a white rose toque. Miss Madeleine Boardman was looking very pretty in pale gray, with toque of white flowers and foliage, and Mrs. Kenneth Horton was exceedingly chic in black net over gray satin and stock of pink tulle. Her black hat was laden with black and pink feathers. Mrs. J. C. Baird was in gray, with a white hat, and Miss Ethel Gibson wore a trailing skirt of black material with sequins, a black lace bodice and round toque of white chiffon. Mrs. James B. Forsyth presented a stylish appearance in violet cloth and a becoming white hat. Mrs. Stephen H. Bennett was attired in a strikingly beautiful importation of white satin, veiled with brown net, and having numerous touches of pink, introduced under lace motifs. Her hat was of pink tulle with pink ostrich tips drooping at the back. Mrs. Matthew Luce, Jr., was very handsome in black crepe de chine, with white stock and undersleeves, with which a large blue tulle picture hat combined effectively. Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett was in black sequined material with a red flower hat, and Mrs. N. M. Winslow was clad in heavy black lace with diamond ornaments and a black hat. Others there were Mrs. Washington G. Benedict, Mr. Edward Furber, Mr. Everett Furber, Mr. Elmer Olmstead, Mrs. Thomas Mack, Mr. Ralph Menard, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Pitman and party, Mr. Fred Converse and guests, Miss Bessie Bell Collier, Mr. James B. Forsyth, Mr. U. S. Kerr, Mr. Kenneth Horton, Mr. Rogers L. Barstow, Mr. J. C. Baird and his son, Mr. Stewart Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Jr. (the latter in black), Mr. Harry Burnett, Miss Ruth Burnett, Mr. William P. Blake and guests, Mr. T. Dennie Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Sprague, Mr. Matthew Luce, Jr., Mr. George M. Cushing, Miss Caroline King, Miss Emily Beebe, Mr. Frank Manning, Miss Annie Manning and Mr. F. H. B. Byrne. For the coming week Tufts night, to be celebrated on Tuesday, bids fair to be the banner occasion, and the programme selected for the occasion is particularly light and pleasing. There has been a great demand for tables.

THE POP CONCERTS

There can be no more delightful way of spending a pleasant evening than at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall every week day evening from 8 to 11. Last night there was the usual large attendance and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the excellent programme which Conductor Adamowski presented.

For the coming week the orchestra will play many new things, selected for merit as well as for novelty, so that people who go mainly for the programmes are sure to be repaid.

Tuesday evening will be "Tufts night" when nearly the entire floor will be taken by students and friends of this popular college. The programme for tomorrow evening is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; invitation to dance, Weber; ballet music, "Coppelia," Delibes; evening song, Edward Elgar; fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; suite, "Henry VIII." Saint-Saens; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod; festival march, R. Strauss; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; Komarinskaja, Glinka; waltz, "Thousand and One Nights," Strauss; Rakoczy march, Berlioz.

BOSTON POST
TUESDAY,
MAY 12, 1903

THE POP CONCERTS

The second week of the Pop concerts at Symphony Hall under the direction of T. Adamowski was begun most auspiciously last evening, when another of the pleasing programmes that this popular conductor knows well how to arrange was presented in the same admirable manner as those of the past week. These programmes, besides the usual standard overtures and lighter dance music, have also included many pleasing novelties, which have been heard at these concerts for the first time and have been much enjoyed by the usual large audiences of music lovers. The Pop concerts are given every evening excepting Sunday with daily change of programme.

Boston Daily Globe.
TUESDAY, MAY 12, 1903.

Tufts' Night at the "Pops."

At the "Pop" concert tonight in Symphony hall, the first of the special nights will be in honor of Tufts college, the program including songs by college men, orchestrated by N. Ingalls '00 and W. A. Willis '01. The full program will be as follows: "Pomp and Circumstance," Elgar overture, "Zampa," Herold; "Espana," Chabrier; "Sword of Ferrara," F. F. Bullard; "Brown and Blue," E. W. Newton '90; group of Tufts songs; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; "Hymn to St Cecilia," Gounod, solo violin, Mr Karl Ondricek, organ, Mr Snow; "Campus Song," F. F. Bullard; "Dear Alma Mater," L. R. Lewis '87; overture, "Orpheus," Offenbach; selections, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; waltz, "New Vienna," Strauss; march, "Fatinitza," Suppe.

Boston Daily Globe.
WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1903.

IT WAS TUFTS NIGHT.

Lots of Applause and Cheering at the Pop Concert.

It was Tufts night at the Pop concerts last night, and more especially Frederic Field Bullard's night. He led all the college numbers and received rounds of applause from the students, who occupied most of the tables in the forward half of the hall. After every number the college yell rose, and during the second intermission there was some competitive cheering between the classes, the freshmen having a shout or two the best of it.

Mr Bullard led his own composition, "Sword of Ferrara," with the glee club singing. The piece was received with shouts, and, like every number on the program, it had to be encored.

Mr Adamowski was lenient as long as Tufts held the floor and insistent when he needed silence.

One table bore a card on a pole, which read on one side "No license." The other side bore the picture of a skull, a beer and a snake. It was apparently a joke.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 133.
WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1903.

TUFTS AT THE "POPS."

College Cheers Wake the Echoes of Symphony.

Singing by the Glee Club an Enjoyable Feature.

Students, Alumni and Faculty Number About 900.

Harmony was not altogether predominant at the "Pops" last evening, as its sway was contested by hundreds of vigorous throats, whose volume of sound was of a more or less dissonant quality. There was an abundance of concord at the beginning, but later on there were intervals when the ethereal waves broke upon the shores of melody with a disturbing crash, for it was Tufts night at Symphony Hall. The students, past and present, and their friends numbered about 900, requiring fully one-third of the seating capacity of the house. The only special decoration was the word "Tufts" outlined in brown and blue electric lamps in front of the organ. It cannot be said to have been a hilarious evening, and the only approach to an even moderate flow of animal spirits was the display of a card with the legend, "No License," on one side and a serpent and a skull on the other, a mild Indian warwhoop and the singing of one verse of the rhym, "Nearer, My God to Thee." The college cheer, however, was given with tremendous power, and the applause after the rendition of the college songs was dynamic in its vigor.

The glee club sang "The Sword of Ferrara," by Mr. Fred Field Bullard; "For Tufts Hurrah," "Brown and Blue," "The Barnum Song," "The Campus Song" and "Dear Alma Mater."

The following alumni were present.

F. W. Knowlton, C. H. Keach, H. E. Sweet, T. O. Marvin, H. G. Dunham, Lester S. Hart, A. A. Beal, Melvin M. Johnson, Henry R. Nash, H. W. Hayes, Henry J. Perry, Charles H. Smith, Charles B. Soutnard, William Fuller, N. Ingalls, F. L. Pierce, J. Porter Russell, R. E. Healey, Kate E. Cousins, C. R. Marvin, Joseph B. Groce, H. W. Whittemore, Arthur P. French, A. S. Woodward, George W. Cate, John C. Mackin, W. P. Beckwith, S. G. Morley, George A. Webster, Wade Keyes and Henry M. Pinkham.

Faculty members present were: President Elmer H. Capen, Prof. W. R. Shipman, Prof. A. E. Dennison, Prof. Leo R. Lewis, W. R. Ransom, L. C. Wells and Edward Rollins.

The Boston Journal.
WEDNESDAY,
MAY 13, 1903.

TUFTS POP CONCERT FILLS SYMPHONY HALL

Cheering Audience of Nine Hundred College Men Are Present.

A college night at the Pops always means a royal good time, not only for the alumni and undergraduates, but for the general public as well. "Tufts Night," which was celebrated last night, was no exception.

The wearers of the brown and blue, past and present, were at Symphony Hall in full force and the evening was marked with good fellowship, song and cheers for everyone in sight from Fred Field Bullard, who shared the leadership of the orchestra with Tim Adamowski, down to the ball team, which won its game with Vermont, 6 to 3. Fully 900 Tufts men were about the tables and in the balconies with their wives and friends, and the faculty was generously represented, giving dignity and tone to the evening as a college affair. Among the faculty noted were: President Elmer H. Capen, Professor W. R. Shipman, Professor A. E. Dennison, Professor Leo R. Lewis, W. R. Ransom, L. C. Wells and Edward Rollins.

While Fred Field Bullard conducted it did not matter how much people talked and rattled their glasses, but with "Tim" Adamowski it was different. In the middle of the second number of the overture—Zampa, he stopped his men and rapped for silence. Nor did he begin until there had been a response to his demand. When the number was finished he was wildly applauded by those who seemed to think that while they made the most noise while he played his orchestra they must also make the same amount, if not more, after he had finished.

While the program was a fine one from a "Pop" concert standpoint, the crowd wanted to hear more than anything the songs and the cheers of the men from the hill. The hit of the evening was made by Mr. Bullard's Stein Song, adapted for college use into the Campus Song. "The Brown and Blue." "The Barnum Song," which was sung at the commencement dinner when P. T. Barnum was present in 1885, and "Charlie Tufts His College" were demanded again and again. "The Sword of Ferrara," the most successful song of the college, was sung by the Tufts College Glee Club, Mr. C. Elmore Watkins, leader of the club, singing the solo.

Boston Transcript
WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1903

Tufts Night at the Pops

The battle cry of Tufts punctuated the musical programme of the "Pops" concert in Symphony Hall last evening, for it was "Tufts" night, and several hundred youths, representing the undergraduate body of the college on the hill, with a sprinkling of faculty members and alumni, were present. No attempt at decoration was made, the sole insignia of the occasion being a blue and white electric-lighted "Tufts" prominently planted across the organ pipes. And as the Tufts colors are blue and brown this had no obvious significance. It was a fairly docile throng, considering the festive element in its composition, and Conductor Adamowski carried his part of the programme through smoothly, granting no encores, and being forced to rap for silence not more than half a dozen times. Professor Leo R. Lewis, instructor of music at Tufts, assumed direction of the orchestra and the college glee club during the college numbers, and not Frederick Field Bullard, as had been contemporaneously stated. These numbers included "For Tufts, Hurrah," "The Sword of Ferrara," composed by Mr. Bullard, who arranged a special score for this occasion, and sung by the glee club; "The Brown and Blue," an old Tufts stand-by, with a lively swing to it; "The Barnum Song," written in 1885 and sung in honor of P. T. Barnum at the commencement dinner of that year; "Charlie Tufts, His College," a two-year-old topical song; "The Campus Song," adapted to Mr. Bullard's "Stein Song," and "Dear Alma Mater," composed by Professor Lewis and Professor Maulsby. The last-named song was sung by all the college men, standing, and, with W. A. Snow at the organ, was impressive, if a bit too deliberate in tempo.

Cheering, which is a necessary factor in such diversion, began early, with concerted cheers for the baseball nine, which in the afternoon had defeated the University of Vermont; for Professor Lewis, who was thus greeted every time he appeared on the stage, and for other college men of educational note or athletic renown. President Capen, who sat in modest retirement at one of the tables until after the second intermission and then departed quietly, was given a rousing if dilatory cheer, but it is doubtful if the head of the college heard it; he must have been half way home then. Other faculty members present were Professor W. R. Shipman, Professor A. E. Dennison, W. R. Ransom, L. C. Wells and Edward Rollins.

It is worth while to add that the orchestration of the Tufts numbers was made by N. Ingalls, 1900, and by W. A. Willis, 1901, in each instance with excellent effects. In the extraneous numbers one of the happiest was the Handel Largo, the solo being nobly played by Mr. Ondricek.

[197]

Boston Daily Globe.
THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1903.

The novelty number at the "pop" concert tonight in Symphony hall will be the Polish dance from "Halka," an opera by Moniuszko.

A "POP" CONCERT.

THIS CLIPPING FROM ISSUE OF
The Morning Citizen
PUBLISHED BY
COURIER-CITIZEN COMPANY,
LOWELL, MASS.
May 18

BOSTON POP CONCERTS.

The famous "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall in Boston are proving unusually attractive this year. Mr. Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties and no more pleasant pastime can be imagined than to listen to the matchless orchestra, while you enjoy your cigar or mayhap your claret cup. Suburbanites have ample time to catch the theatre trains after the concerts which are given every evening.

Boston Daily Globe.
SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1903.

Among the selections at this evening's "pop" concert in Symphony hall will be the overtures from "Mignon," "Tanhauser" and "Fledermans."

Boston Transcript
SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1903

The second week of the Pop Concerts closes tonight at Symphony Hall. A fine programme has been prepared.

BOSTON TIMES
299 MAY 16, 1903. T.

"Pop" Concert==Tufts Night.

Last Tuesday was Tufts night at the "Pops." It was happily a fine evening, not too warm, and everybody was ripe for a good time. Hundreds of students, alumni and interested outsiders made a large audience, the floor especially being crowded, and what with intermittent cheering, unexpected snatches of song, gay gowns, and the convivial popping of corks, the occasion was an animated one. The programme included, as usual, a number of general favorites--Wagner's "Rienzi" overture, an arrangement of Handel's so-called "Largo," with violin solo (exquisitely played by Mr. Ondricek), Strauss' "Wine, Women and Song," and others; and the following college songs: "For Tufts, Hurrah," "The Barnum Song," "Charlie Tufts, His College," "The Campus Song" (Mr. F. F. Bullard's "Stein Song" with adapted words), an arrangement of Mr. Bullard's "Sword of Ferrara," "The Brown and Blue," by E. W. Newton, '90, and "Dear Alma Mater," by Prof. Leo R. Lewis, the words by Prof. David L. Maulsby. The college numbers were led by Prof. Lewis himself, and thoroughly able leading it was, too. In "The Sword of Ferrara" the orchestra dragged considerably, owing (presumably) to the fact that the Glee club, which mounted the stage to sing, served to cut off Mr. Lewis from the first violins; otherwise all went well. It is a rousing good song, and sounds even more effective in its chorus arrangement than as a solo number. All were loudly cheered, and although Mr. Adamowski gave no encores, Mr. Lewis was obliged to repeat certain of the college numbers. His own song elicited yells for himself and for Prof. Maulsby, who was sitting in the balcony. As the programme stated, the Tufts pieces were all orchestrated by Mr. Ingalls, '00, and Mr. Willis, '01; the arrangements were excellent. Indeed, Tufts is uncommonly fortunate in her characteristic songs; a good deal of capital music has been written for her by Tufts men, arranged by Tufts men, with words by Tufts men—a neat and exclusive arrangement, but rare. There is also an excellent Glee club—and one cannot refrain from speaking especially of Mr. Watkins' beautiful and resonant voice, which made no slight impression in that large hall, and with sufficient training need stop at nothing.

Altogether it was a joyous occasion—plenty of high spirits, but none of the disorder that commonly typifies student gatherings. Mr. Adamowski was most good-natured toward the persevering group that would cheer, but had now and then to rap for silence.

Monday, the 18th, begins the week with an interesting programme, containing, among other numbers, Arensky's march, "Souvoroff," Berlioz' "Rakoczy" the ballet music from Gounod's "Faust," that arrangement of Handel's "Largo" already mentioned, excerpts from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," and two Tschaikowsky pieces.

SUNDAY HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 137.
SUNDAY, MAY 17, 1903.

THE POPS.

The fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs are strongly in evidence nightly at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts. Mr. Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties. The programme for Monday night is:

1. March, "Souvoroff".....Arensky
2. Ballet music, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
4. Suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tschaikowski
5. Serenade, "Mauresque".....Elgar (First time.)
6. Prelude to act 3, "Dance of Apprentices," "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg".....Wagner
7. Largo.....Handel
Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek. Organ, Mr. Snow.
8. Ballet music, "Feramors".....Rubinstein
9. Chanson sans Paroles.....Tschaikowski
10. Overture, "Galatea".....Suppe
11. Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Joh. Strauss
12. "Rakoczy March".....Berlioz

BOSTON SUNDAY JOURNAL
MAY 17, 1903.

THE POPS.

In spite of the inclement weather of the past two weeks the fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs have been strongly in evidence nightly at Symphony Hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts. The program for Monday night will be:

1. March, "Souvoroff".....Arensky
2. Ballet music, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
4. Suite from Ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tschaikowski
5. Serenade, "Mauresque".....Elgar (First time.)
6. Prelude to Act III. Dance of Apprentices, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg".....Wagner
7. Largo.....Handel
Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek. Organ, Mr. Snow.
8. Ballet music, "Feramors".Rubinstein
9. Chanson Sans Paroles..Tschaikowski
10. Overture, "Galatea".....Suppe
11. Waltz, "Morgenblatter".Joh. Strauss
12. Rakoczy March.....Berlioz

BOSTON POST
MAY 17, 1903

THE POPS

In spite of the inclement weather of the past two weeks, the fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs have been strongly in evidence nightly at Symphony Hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts.

Mr. Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties, and no more pleasant pastime can be imagined than an evening at the Pops.

The programme for Monday night is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; ballet music, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Martha," Flotow; suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; serenade, "Mauresque," Elgar; prelude to Act 3, Dance of Apprentices, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; largo, Handel; solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek; organ, Mr. Snow; ballet music, "Feramors," Rubinstein; Chanson Sans Paroles, Tschaikowski; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Joh. Strauss; Rakoczy March, Berlioz.

Boston Sunday Globe.
SUNDAY, MAY 17, 1903.

—Tufts night, Tuesday, really brought the first excitement to the Pops, and the hall, both floor and balconies, was given up to the students, several hundred in number, the alumni and some past and present professors. There was cheering after the songs by the glee club, which were directed by Mr Leo R. Lewis; and more cheering for the baseball nine, and cheers when Pres Capen entered and left the hall. There was nothing over boisterous, and the music was quietly listened to, especially when Handel's Largo was played by the orchestra, with organ accompaniment, Mr Ondricek playing the solo in a masterly manner. This proved the hit of the evening, and was so vigorously applauded Mr Adamowski repeated a portion of it. Dean Shipman, Prof A. S. Dennison, Edward Rollins, L. C. Wells and W. R. Ransom, with their families and friends, were some of the faculty who attended. Others there were Mrs Leo Lewis, who was with several friends; her gown was black net over black, and she wore a black hat.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

In spite of the inclement weather of the past two weeks, the fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs have been strongly in evidence nightly at Symphony hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts. Mr Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties, and no more pleasant pastime can be imagined than an evening at the pops.

The program for Monday night is as follows: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; ballet music, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Martha," Flotow; suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; serenade, "Mauresque," Elgar (first time); prelude to act III and dance of apprentices, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; largo, Handel, solo violin Mr Karl Ondricek, organ Mr Snow; ballet music, "Feramors," Rubinstein; Chanson sans paroles, Tschaikowski; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Joh. Strauss; Rakoczy march, Berlioz.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1903.

The novelty number at the "pop" concert tonight in Symphony hall will be the Polish dance from "Halka," an opera by Moniuszko.

A "POP" CONCERT.

THIS CLIPPING FROM ISSUE OF

The Morning Citizen

PUBLISHED BY

COURIER=CITIZEN COMPANY,

LOWELL, MASS.

BOSTON POP CONCERTS.

The famous "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall in Boston are proving unusually attractive this year. Mr. Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties and no more pleasant pastime can be imagined than to listen to the matchless orchestra, while you enjoy your cigar or mayhap your claret cup. Suburbanites have ample time to catch the theatre trains after the concerts which are given every evening.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1903.

Among the selections at this evening's "pop" concert in Symphony hall will be the overtures from "Mignon," "Tanhauser" and "Fledermans."

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1903

The second week of the Pop Concerts closes tonight at Symphony Hall. A fine programme has been prepared.

BOSTON TIMES

299, MAY 16, 1903. T.

"Pop" Concert==Tufts Night.

Last Tuesday was Tufts night at the "Pops." It was happily a fine evening, not too warm, and everybody was ripe for a good time. Hundreds of students, alumni and interested outsiders made a large audience, the floor especially being crowded, and what with intermittent cheering, unexpected snatches of song, gay gowns, and the convivial popping of corks, the occasion was an animated one. The programme included, as usual, a number of general favorites—Wagner's "Rienzi" overture, an arrangement of Handel's so-called "Largo," with violin solo (exquisitely played by Mr. Ondricek), Strauss' "Wine, Women and Song," and others; and the following college songs: "For Tufts, Hurrah," "The Barnum Song," "Charlie Tufts, His College," "The Campus Song" (Mr. F. F. Bullard's "Stein Song" with adapted words), an arrangement of Mr. Bullard's "Sword of Ferrara," "The Brown and Blue," by E. W. Newton, '99, and "Dear Alma Mater," by Prof. Leo R. Lewis, the words by Prof. David L. Maulsby. The college numbers were led by Prof. Lewis himself, and thoroughly able leading it was, too. In "The Sword of Ferrara" the orchestra dragged considerably, owing (presumably) to the fact that the Glee club, which mounted the stage to sing, served to cut off Mr. Lewis from the first violins; otherwise all went well. It is a rousing good song, and sounds even more effective in its chorus arrangement than as a solo number. All were loudly cheered, and although Mr. Adamowski gave no encores, Mr. Lewis was obliged to repeat certain of the college numbers. His own song elicited yells for himself and for Prof. Maulsby, who was sitting in the balcony. As the programme stated, the Tufts pieces were all orchestrated by Mr. Ingalls, '00, and Mr. Willis, '01; the arrangements were excellent. Indeed, Tufts is uncommonly fortunate in her characteristic songs; a good deal of capital music has been written for her by Tufts men, arranged by Tufts men, with words by Tufts men—a neat and exclusive arrangement, but rare. There is also an excellent Glee club—and one cannot refrain from speaking especially of Mr. Watkins' beautiful and resonant voice, which made no slight impression in that large hall, and with sufficient training need stop at nothing.

Altogether it was a joyous occasion—plenty of high spirits, but none of the disorder that commonly typifies student gatherings. Mr. Adamowski was most good-natured toward the persevering group that would cheer, but had now and then to rap for silence.

Monday, the 18th, begins the week with an interesting programme, containing, among other numbers, Arensky's march, "Souvoroff," Berlioz' "Rakoczy" the ballet music from Gounod's "Faust," that arrangement of Handel's "Largo" already mentioned, excerpts from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," and two Tschaikowsky pieces.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 137.

SUNDAY, MAY 17, 1903.

THE POPS.

The fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs are strongly in evidence nightly at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts. Mr. Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties. The programme for Monday night is:

1. March, "Souvoroff".....Arensky
2. Ballet music, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
4. Suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tschaikowski
5. Serenade, "Mauresque".....Elgar (First time.)
6. Prelude to act 3, "Dance of Apprentices," "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg".....Wagner
7. Largo.....Handel

Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek. Organ, Mr. Snow.

8. Ballet music, "Feramors".....Rubinstein
9. Chanson sans Paroles.....Tschaikowski
10. Overture, "Galatea".....Suppe
11. Waltz, "Morgenblatter".....Joh. Strauss
12. "Rakoczy March".....Berlioz

BOSTON SUNDAY JOURNAL

MAY 17, 1903.

THE POPS.

In spite of the inclement weather of the past two weeks the fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs have been strongly in evidence nightly at Symphony Hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts. The program for Monday night will be:

1. March, "Souvoroff".....Arensky
2. Ballet music, "Faust".....Gounod
3. Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
4. Suite from Ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant".....Tschaikowskl
5. Serenade, "Mauresque".....Elgar (First time.)
6. Prelude to Act III. Dance of Apprentices, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg".....Wagner
7. Largo.....Handel

Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek. Organ, Mr. Snow.

8. Ballet music, "Feramors".Rubinstein
9. Chanson Sans Paroles..Tschaikowski
10. Overture, "Galatea".....Suppe
11. Waltz, "Morgenblatter".Joh. Strauss
12. Rakoczy March.....Berlioz

BOSTON POST

MAY 17, 1903

THE POPS

In spite of the inclement weather of the past two weeks, the fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs have been strongly in evidence nightly at Symphony Hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts.

Mr. Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties, and no more pleasant pastime can be imagined than an evening at the Pops.

The programme for Monday night is: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; ballet music, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Martha," Flotow; suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; serenade, "Mauresque," Elgar; prelude to Act 3, Dance of Apprentices, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; largo, Handel; solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek; organ, Mr. Snow; ballet music, "Feramors," Rubinstein; Chanson Sans Paroles, Tschaikowski; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Joh. Strauss; Rakoczy March, Berlioz.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 17, 1903.

—Tufts night, Tuesday, really brought the first excitement to the Pops, and the hall, both floor and balconies, was given up to the students, several hundred in number, the alumni and some past and present professors. There was cheering after the songs by the glee club, which were directed by Mr Leo R. Lewis; and more cheering for the baseball nine, and cheers when Pres Capen entered and left the hall. There was nothing over boisterous, and the music was quietly listened to, especially when Handel's Largo was played by the orchestra, with organ accompaniment, Mr Ondricek playing the solo in a masterly manner. This proved the hit of the evening, and was so vigorously applauded Mr Adamowski repeated a portion of it. Dean Shipman, Prof A. E. Dennison, Edward Rollins, L. C. Wells and W. R. Ransom, with their families and friends, were some of the faculty who attended. Others there were Mrs Leo Lewis, who was with several friends; her gown was black net over black, and she wore a black hat.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

In spite of the inclement weather of the past two weeks, the fashionable and musical sets of Boston and the suburbs have been strongly in evidence nightly at Symphony hall to enjoy the excellent music and partake of the light refreshments which are served at these concerts. Mr Adamowski, the conductor, is bringing out many orchestral novelties, and no more pleasant pastime can be imagined than an evening at the pops.

The program for Monday night is as follows: March, "Souvoroff," Arensky; ballet music, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Martha," Flotow; suite from ballet, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; serenade, "Mauresque," Elgar (first time); prelude to act III and dance of apprentices, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," Wagner; largo, Handel, solo violin Mr Karl Ondricek, organ Mr Snow; ballet music, "Feramors," Rubinstein; Chanson sans paroles, Tschaikowski; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Morgenblatter," Joh. Strauss; Rakoczy march, Berlioz.

THE BOSTON SUNDAY GLOBE—MAY 17, 1903.

—Among those who have entertained a large number of friends at the Pop concerts the past week were Mr and Mrs Louis H. Mudgett, who one evening had as their guests Judge Brackett and Mrs Brackett, his mother, Commander Mertz, USN; Mrs Mertz and Miss Mertz, Lieut Blake, USN; Mr Sloane and Mr and Mrs Daggett. Mr and Mrs John C. Fairchild (Miss Charlotte Houston) chaperoned a party of eight young people. One of the young girls wore a costume of light blue crepe de chine, accordion plaited, and over it an applique lace jacket, and black hat with blue ostrich plume. Another wore an ecru crepe de chine and black hat with white plume. Mrs Fairchild was in black crepe de chine, the bodice jetted, and a long necklace of corals. Her hat was black with black and white plumes. Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton sat one evening in the balcony, Mrs Horton in a pretty spring costume of gray brilliantine skirt and jacket and white tucked silk bodice, a green foliage hat with white roses.

—That the Pop concerts have come to be a very essential element in the life of Boston for a few weeks in the spring, filling up the time between the close of the classical concert season and the flitting away for the summer, has been very evident the past week, the second of the season, when the attendance has been large every evening. Parties of half a dozen or more coming together for a jolly social evening, as well as for the enjoyment of the music, have been a noticeable feature. A few noted have been Mr and Mrs Chadwick and Miss Edith May, Mrs Chadwick in green and white india silk and hat with black velvet and wreath of black flowers, Miss May, mauve silk with black hat; Miss Fannie Mason in black crepe de chine and chiffon hat; Mr and Mrs Alexander Steinert, the latter in ecru crepe de chine, the bodice trimmed with cream antique lace, and black hat with black ostrich plume; Miss Belle Hunt, light blue satin bodice, tucked and trimmed with lace; the Misses Mills, one in white veiling, with black hat trimmed with white, the other in gray silk, with black hat; Mr and Mrs I. R. Thomas (Miss Fabyan), the latter in black crepe de chine, the bodice with inserts of white covered with jet, and black plummed hat; Mr and Mrs Charles H. Fiske Jr, the latter in black, the bodice trimmed with jet and steel sequins, and black hat with white plumes, and Dr and Mrs Edward Reynolds of Marlboro st, who had several friends with them.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 139.

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1903.

THE POPS.

The third week of the 18th season of the Pop concerts began last night at Symphony Hall, with the 904th performance. Conductor Adamowski nightly earns encores with both novelties and standard favorites, into which he infuses his own artistic spirit and intensity. The programme for tonight is:

1. Coronation march.....Meyerbeer
2. Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
3. Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
4. Overture, "Di Ballo".....Sullivan
5. Scenes Pittoresques.....Massenet
6. English dances.....Cowen
7. Deluge.....Saint-Saens
   Solo Violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
8. Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
9. Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
10. Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
11. Poor Jonathan.....Millocker
12. March "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral

The Boston Journal.

—TUESDAY,
MAY 19, 1903.

THE POPS.

Nine hundred and fourth performance to date, extending through eighteen seasons, is indisputable evidence of the strength and popularity of these summer entertainments. The program for tonight is:

Coronation march.....Meyerbeer
Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
Overture, "Di Ballo".....Sullivan
Scenes Pittoresques.....Massenet
English Dances.....Cowen
Deluge.....Saint-Saens
Solo Violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
Poor Jonathan.....Millocker
March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1903.

Promenade Concerts.

The summer "pop" concerts at Symphony hall continue to be a source of great enjoyment to those who take delight in "menus and music," and Mr Adamowski's orchestra is maintaining the high standard in the selections nightly offered.

This evening's program will be as follows: Coronation march, Meyerbeer; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; "Scenes Pittoresques," Massenet; English dances, Cowen; "Deluge," Saint-Saens; violin solo, Mr Karl Ondriceks; overture, "Raymond," Thomas; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; selection, "Aida," Verdi; "Poor Jonathan," Millocker; march, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral.

BOSTON POST

MAY 19, 1903

THE POPS

The third week of the 18th season of these most attractive entertainments began last night at Symphony Hall with the 904th performance. Conductor Adamowski nightly earns encores with both novelties and standard favorites into which he infuses his own artistic spirit and intensity.

The programme for tonight is: Coronation march, Meyerbeer; overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; overture, "Di Ballo," Sullivan; Scenes Pittoresques, Massenet; English dances, Cowen; Deluge, Saint-Saens (solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek); overture, "Raymond," Thomas; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; selection, "Aida," Verdi; "Poor Jonathan," Millocker; march, Hoch Habsburg," Kral.

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1903

The Pops

Nine hundred and four performances to date, extending through eighteen seasons is indisputable evidence of the strength and popularity of these summer entertainments.

Tastes always have and always will differ as to the makeup of programmes but Conductor Adamowski every night wins deserved encores for the orchestra with his spirited and artistic rendition of the best light music. This is the programme for tonight:

Coronation March.....Meyerbeer
Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
Intermezzo, "Naila".....Delibes
Overture, "Di Ballo".....Sullivan
Scenes Pittoresques.....Massenet
English Dances.....Cowen
Deluge.....Saint-Saëns
Solo Violin, Mr Karl Ondricek.
Overture, "Raymond".....Thomas
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
Poor Jonathan.....Millöcker
March, "Hoch Habsburg".....Kral

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

En, MAY 19. 1903.
class

"The Pops" at Symphony Hall are justly popular these warm evenings, and the music, under Adamowski, all that could be desired.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

30 THURSDAY.

MAY 21, 1903.

AT THE "POP" CONCERTS.

There was a very brilliant gathering at the Pop concert in Symphony Hall last night and the audience gave substantial evidence of their appreciation of the programme by generous applause. Conductor Adamowski has chosen these selections for this evening: Polonaise, Liszt. Fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," Tschaikowski. Overture "Martha," Flotow. Evening song, Elgar. Fantasia on La Boheme," Puccini. Menuet, Paderewski. Suite "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski. Overture, "William Tell," Rossini. Selection "La Grande Duchese," Offenbach. Selection, "Fortune-teller," Herbert. Waltz, "Amoureuse," Berger. March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1903.

The "pop" concerts in Symphony hall continue to attract liberal patronage from lovers of light musical programs.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 141.

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1903.

THE POPS.

There was a very brilliant gathering at the Pop concert in Symphony Hall last night, and the audience gave substantial evidence of their appreciation of the programme by generous applause. Conductor Adamowski has chosen the following selections for this evening: Polonaise, Liszt; fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," Tschaikowski; overture, "Martha," Flotow; evening song, Elgar; Fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; Menuet, Paderewski; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; overture, "William Tell," Rossini; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; waltz, "Amoureuse," Berger; march, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral.

The Boston Journal.

Public—THURSDAY, g,
MAY 21, 1903.

Conductor Adamowski announces this program at the Pops this evening: Polonaise, Liszt; fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," Tschaikowski; overture, "Martha," Flotow; Evening Song, Elgar; fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini; Meunet, Paderewski; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski, overture, "William Tell," Rossini; selection, "La Grande Duchesse, Offenbach; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; waltz, "Amoureuse," Berger; march, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral.

BOSTON POST

The THURSDAY,
MAY 21, 1903

The programme of the Pop concert in Symphony Hall this evening will include Tschaikowski's "Romeo and Juliet" fantasie and other pleasing numbers by Liszt, Flotow, Elgar, Puccini, Suppe, Herbert, Paderewski, Offenbach, Berger and Kral.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

Ente THURSDAY, cond-class r has MAY 21. 1903. f re-

AT THE "POP" CONCERTS.

There was a very brilliant gathering at the Pop concert in Symphony Hall last night and the audience gave substantial evidence of their appreciation of the programme by generous applause. Conductor Adamowski has chosen these selections for this evening: Polonaise, Liszt. Fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," Tschaikowski. Overture "Martha," Flotow. Evening song, Elgar. Fantasia on La Boheme," Puccini. Menuet, Paderewski. Suite "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski. Overture, "William Tell," Rossini. Selection "La Grande Duchese," Offenbach. Selection, "Fortune-teller," Herbert. Waltz, "Amoureuse," Berger. March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1903

The third week of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall ends with the concert of this evening.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, MAY 24, 1903.

THE POP CONCERTS.

There is no place in Boston these warm nights where a more enjoyable evening can be spent than at the pop concerts in Symphony hall.

During the past week the "pops" have called out exceptionally brilliant audiences, and their appreciation of the various programs has been shown by the many encores called for.

Tomorrow night begins the fourth week of this popular form of entertainment and conductor Adamowski has arranged programs which will appeal to all.

The selections for Monday evening will be:

Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
Entr'acte, "Philemon et Baucis".....Gounod
Evening Song.....Elgar
Fire-Charm from "Die Walkyre".....Wagner
Suite, "Korrigan".....Widor
Hymn to St Cecilia.....Gounod
Solo violin, Mr Karl Ondricek
Overture, "Phedre".....Massenet
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Selection, "The Brigands".....Offenbach
Waltz, "Violets".....Waldteufel
March, "Poor Jonathan".....Suppe

—The "Pop" concerts are growing constantly in popularity as the season advances, and every evening the past week the tables have all been taken. Twice the Fiske Warrens, with several friends, have occupied two or three tables, and twice the Shattucks have had the Higginson table, with friends. Mrs Fiske Warren, Mr Clayton Johns, Mr William P. Blake, Miss Blake, Mr and Mrs Arthur Richmond, Miss Dana and one or two more formed one jolly party, Tuesday evening. Mrs Warren was dressed as the evening before in pale blue liberty satin, accordion-plaited, black crepe de chine cloak, with deep pointed Irish lace collar and blue chiffon hat, with two white ostrich plumes; Mrs Richmond in white, and Miss Dana in white veiling, with black plumed hat; Miss Blake in India silk in mode shades, with lace at the bodice, and white chiffon hat, with black ornaments. Mrs Parkman Blake, who had with her Miss Rosamond Lang and others, was in black crepe de chine, with black jetted toque and white ostrich tips; Miss Lang in mauve skirt and white liberty silk bodice, and hat of straw and chiffon, with long white plume falling over the back; Miss Marian Fenno, dark blue veiling, with Persian trimmings, and black hat with white plumes; Miss Helen Mackay in an India silk gown in mode shades, an embroidered muslin fichu and black hat; Miss Pauline Mackay, Miss Sears, Miss Fanny French, Miss Elsa Sherwood, in dark skirt, white embroidered muslin waist and white chiffon hat; Miss Fanny Stone, Mrs J. B. Goodrich, Mr Eben D. Jordan, Mr and Mrs Augustus L. Thorndike, the latter in pale gray silk crepe de chine and burnt straw hat with black trimmings; a party of the Winsors, from Brookline, Miss Winsor in white veiling and pink straw hat with black velvet trimmings; her younger sister in ecru linen and pink hat with wreath of white flowers and black velvet bow. Mr and Mrs Robert Hallowell (Rebecca Jackson) had a party of friends with them one evening including Miss Dorothy Devens and Miss Rosamund Saltonstall. Mrs Hallowell wore a lovely gown of light blue accordion-plaited crepe de chine, with front of chiffon and deep pointed Irish lace collar, and tulle hat with blue satin ribbon bow at the back. Miss Saltonstall was in white veiling, accordion-plaited, and black plumed hat, and Miss Devens in ecru veiling, burnt straw hat with black velvet and white roses; Miss Blanche Shimmin, in mauve and white India silk, the bodice made with insertions of black and white lace, girdle and collar of blue panne, and hat of white chiffon with black plumes. Mr and Mrs Oliver W. Mink entertained friends one evening, Mr Mink having quite recovered from his recent accident. Mrs Mink wore a handsome black gown, with transparent yoke and sleeves of chantilly lace, and a pearl necklace. Her toque was a combination of velvet, straw, lace and foliage. The programs have been varied and interesting, and some novelties will be played the coming week.

[199]

SUNDAY GLOBE-

-MAY 24, 1903-

—Friday evening brought out a very large attendance at the Pop concert, all the tables being taken. Miss Estelle Kimball, with some friends, was very attractive in a gown of pale blue veiling, the bodice trimmed with application of lace, and a chiffon and lace hat with white roses and foliage. Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, Miss Marion Fenno and others were together, Mrs Horton wearing a gown of white embroidered mull, with insertions of lace, over pale pink, and a pink girdle. Her hat was black, with a pink and a black plume, and she wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. At Mr Higginson's table were Mrs Shattuck, with Mr Harry Lyman of Brookline, two young ladies and Mr Alexander Higginson. Mrs Shattuck was in black jetted lace and jeted toque; one of the young women in fawn veiling, with insets of lace, a white lace hat with white plumes and white silk and chiffon accordion plaited cloak. Mr and Mrs Mudgett entertained Mrs Mudgett's mother, Mrs Armstrong, and Mr and Mrs Mark Andrews, the latter wearing light blue veiling, the bodice embroidered in marguerites, and an old lace fichu. Her toque was of white roses and foliage; Mrs Mudgett was in white with russian lace blouse and a red flower hat; Mr and Mrs Van Rensselaer Crosby had several friends with them, Mrs Crosby wearing dove gray silk crepe de chine, with yoke of cluny lace, and a white lace hat with long white plumes. One of her guests was in white lace over chiffon, and hat with pale pink plumes, and another wore white veiling and white silk passementerie trimmings and lace hat. Several numbers in the program were encored.

BOSTON POST

The Representative Democratic Paper of New England

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1903.

(Copyright, 1903, Post Publishing Company.)

THE POPS

There is no place in Boston these warm nights where a more enjoyable evening can be spent than at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall.

During the past week the Pops have called out exceptionally brilliant audiences, and their appreciation of the various programmes has been shown by the many encores called for.

Tomorrow night begins the fourth week of this popular form of entertainment and Conductor Adamowski has arranged programmes which will appeal to all.

The selections for Monday evening will be: Overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; selection, "Aida," Verdi; entr'acte, "Philemon et Baucis," Gounod; evening song, Elgar; fire charm from "Die Walkure," Wagner; suite, "Korrigan," Widor; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod, solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection, "The Brigands," Offenbach; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; march, "Poor Jonathan," Suppe.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 144.

SUNDAY, MAY 24, 1903.

DURING the past week the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall have called out exceptionally brilliant audiences, and their appreciation of the various programmes has been shown by the many encores. Tomorrow night begins the fourth week of this popular form of entertainment, and Conductor Adamowski has arranged programmes which will appeal to all. The selections for Monday evening will be:

1. Overture, "Semiramide" ..... Rossini
2. Selection, "Aida" ..... Verdi
3. Entr'acte, "Philemon et Baucis" ... Gounod
4. Evening song ..... Elgar
5. Fire-charm from "Die Walkyre" .. Wagner
6. Suite, "Korrigan" ..... Widor
7. Hymn to St. Cecilia ..... Gounod
   Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
8. Overture, "Phedre" ..... Massenet
9. Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
10. Selection, "The Brigands" ..... Offenbach
11. Waltz, "Violets" ..... Waldteufel
12. March, "Poor Jonathan" ..... Suppe

Next Thursday night will be Tavern Club night. Mr. Adamowski, who is a member of the club, will have on the programme a number of selections composed by the Tavern Club men.

Mr. Adamowski, one of the most popular leaders Mr. Comee has ever secured for the Pops, is giving a number of informal supper parties after the

SUNDAY HERALD-

MAY 24, 1903.

concerts. Mr. Adamowski has been invited by the George Vanderbilts to visit them at Biltmore, before he sails for his home in Poland, on the Saxonia, the last of June.

On Thursday night of this week at the Pops, there will be a Tavern Club night, when Mr. Adamowski, who is a member, will have on the programme a number of selections composed by Tavern Club men. There is a great demand for tables.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 146.

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1903.

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing are crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question they are among Boston's most popular and attractive summer entertainments, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by "Pop" concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston. The programme this evening is:

1. Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys" ..... Lalo
2. Ballet music, "Boabdil" ..... Moszkowski
3. Graceful Dance ..... Sullivan
4. Overture, "Freischutz" ..... Weber
5. Waltz, "Gretna Green" ..... Guiraud
6. Hungarian Rhapsody ..... Liszt
7. Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann" ..... Offenbach
8. Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
9. Bolero ..... Carl Merrill
10. Selection, "Emerald Isle" ..... Sullivan
11. Waltz, "Gross Wien" ..... Strauss
12. Persian March ..... Strauss

BOSTON POST

MAY 26, 1903

THE POPS

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston.

The programme this evening is: Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys," Lalo; ballet music, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; graceful dance, Sullivan; overture, "Freischutz," Weber; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; Hungarian rhapsody, Liszt; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffman," Offenbach; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; bolero, Carl Merrill; selection, "Emerald Isle," Sullivan; waltz, "Gros Wien," Strauss; Persian march, Strauss.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

TUESDAY MORNING

Th ... MAY 26, 1903. ... te

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question, they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1903.

The Pop Concerts.

The fourth week of the "pop" concerts opened last evening at Symphony hall in the presence of the usual brilliant and appreciative audience. The program this evening will contain a majority of lighter selections, the selections being as follows: Overture, "De Roi d'Ys," Lalo; ballet music, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; "Graceful dance," Sullivan; overture, "Freischutz," Weber; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; Hungarian Rhapsody, Liszt; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffman," Offenbach; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; mazourka from the opera "Halka," Moniuszko; selection, "Emerald Isle," Sullivan; waltz, "Gros Wien," Strauss; "Persian March," Strauss.

The Boston Journal.

-TUESDAY,

P ... ng,

MAY 26, 1903.

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gaiety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the Pops, and without question, they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by "Pop" concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston. The program this evening is:

1. Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys" ..... Lalo
2. Ballet Music, "Boabdil" .. Moskowski
3. Graceful dance ..... Sullivan
4. Overture, "Freischutz" ..... Weber
5. Waltz, "Gretna Green" ..... Guiraud
6. Hungarian Rhapsody ..... Liszt
7. Intermezzo, "Coentese d'Hoffmann" ..... Offenbach
8. Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
9. Mazurka from the Opera, "Halka," Moniuszko
10. Selection, "Emerald Isle" .... Sullivan (First time.)
11. Waltz, "Gros Wien" ..... Strauss
12. Persian March ..... Strauss

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1903

The Pops

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the Pops, and without question they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston. The programme this evening is

Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys" ..... Lalo
Ballet Music, "Boabdil" ..... Moszkowski
Graceful Dance ..... Sullivan
Overture, "Freischütz" ..... Weber
Waltz, "Gretna Green" ..... Guiraud
Hungarian Rhapsody ..... Liszt
Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann" ..... Offenbach
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
Bolero ..... Carl Merrill
Selection, "Emerald Isle" ..... Sullivan (First time.)
Waltz, "Gros Wien" ..... Strauss
Persian March ..... Strauss

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

TUESDAY, MAY 26.

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question, they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston.

THE HARVARD CRIMSON.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1903.

The Pop Concert.

Following is the programme of the Pop Concert at Symphony Hall tonight:

1. March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube
2. Overture, "Martha," Flotow
3. Fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini
4. Waltz, "Simplicieuse," J. Strauss
5. Fire-Charm, from "Die Walkure," Wagner
6. Overture, "Sakuntala," Goldmark
7. "The Spinning-Wheel of Omphale," Saint-Saens
8. Overture, "Fledermaus," J. Strauss
9. Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann," Offenbach
10. Waltz, "El Turia," Granado
11. Selection, "Gondoliers," Sullivan
12. March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral

BOSTON POST

MAY 28, 1903

The programme for the Pop concert in Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; Suite No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; "Berceuse," Clayton Johns; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; "Indian Serenade," F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1903.

At Symphony hall the "pop" concerts continue to afford a pleasing diversion for summer evenings.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 148.

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1903.

THE POPS.

The programme for the "Pop" concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; suite No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; berceuse, Clayton Johns; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; Indian serenade, F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

BOSTON TRAVELER,

THURSDAY,

MAY 28, 1903.

PROGRAMME FOR TONIGHT'S "POP"

The programme for the Pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; Suite No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Berceuse, Clayton Johns; Suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; Indian Serenade, F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

THURSDAY,

MAY 28, 1903.

The programme for the pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is:—

Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; Suite, No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Berceuse, Clayton Johns; Suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; Indian serenade, F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1903

The programme for the Pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; suite, No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; "Berceuse," Clayton Johns; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; "Indian Serenade," F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

[200]

SUNDAY GLOBE—

—MAY 24, 1903—

—Friday evening brought out a very large attendance at the Pop concert, all the tables being taken. Miss Estelle Kimball, with some friends, was very attractive in a gown of pale blue veiling, the bodice trimmed with application of lace, and a chiffon and lace hat with white roses and foliage. Mr and Mrs Kenneth Horton, Miss Marion Fenno and others were together, Mrs Horton wearing a gown of white embroidered mull, with insertions of lace, over pale pink, and a pink girdle. Her hat was black, with a pink and a black plume, and she wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. At Mr Higginson's table were Mrs Shattuck, with Mr Harry Lyman of Brookline, two young ladies and Mr Alexander Higginson. Mrs Shattuck was in black jetted lace and jeted toque; one of the young women in fawn veiling, with insets of lace, a white lace hat with white plumes and white silk and chiffon accordion plaited cloak. Mr and Mrs Mudgett entertained Mrs Mudgett's mother, Mrs Armstrong, and Mr and Mrs Mark Andrews, the latter wearing light blue veiling, the bodice embroidered in marguerites, and an old lace fichu. Her toque was of white roses and foliage; Mrs Mudgett was in white with russian lace blouse and a red flower hat; Mr and Mrs Van Rensselaer Crosby had several friends with them, Mrs Crosby wearing dove gray silk crepe de chine, with yoke of cluny lace, and a white lace hat with long white plumes. One of her guests was in white lace over chiffon, and hat with pale pink plumes, and another wore white veiling and white silk passementerie trimmings and lace hat. Several numbers in the program were encored.

BOSTON POST

The Representative Democratic Paper of New England

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1903.

(Copyright, 1903, Post Publishing Company.)

THE POPS

There is no place in Boston these warm nights where a more enjoyable evening can be spent than at the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall.

During the past week the Pops have called out exceptionally brilliant audiences, and their appreciation of the various programmes has been shown by the many encores called for.

Tomorrow night begins the fourth week of this popular form of entertainment and Conductor Adamowski has arranged programmes which will appeal to all.

The selections for Monday evening will be: Overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; selection, "Aida," Verdi; entr'acte, "Philemon et Baucis," Gounod; evening song, Elgar; fire charm from "Die Walkure," Wagner; suite, "Korrigan," Widor; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod, solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection, "The Brigands," Offenbach; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; march, "Poor Jonathan," Suppe.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 144.

SUNDAY, MAY 24, 1903.

URING the past week the Pop concerts in Symphony Hall have called out exceptionally brilliant audiences, and their appreciation of the various programmes has been shown by the many encores. Tomorrow night begins the fourth week of this popular form of entertainment, and Conductor Adamowski has arranged programmes which will appeal to all. The selections for Monday evening will be:

1. Overture, "Semiramide".....Rossini
2. Selection, "Aida".....Verdi
3. Entr'acte, "Philemon et Baucis"...Gounod
4. Evening song.....Elgar
5. Fire-charm from "Die Walkyre"..Wagner
6. Suite, "Korrigan".....Widor
7. Hymn to St. Cecilia.....Gounod
   Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
8. Overture, "Phedre".....Massenet
9. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
10. Selection, "The Brigands".....Offenbach
11. Waltz, "Violets".....Waldteufel
12. March, "Poor Jonathan".....Suppe

Next Thursday night will be Tavern Club night. Mr. Adamowski, who is a member of the club, will have on the programme a number of selections composed by the Tavern Club men

Mr. Adamowski, one of the most popular leaders Mr. Comee has ever secured for the Pops, is giving a number of informal supper parties after the

SUNDAY HERALD-

MAY 24, 1903.

concerts. Mr. Adamowski has been invited by the George Vanderbilts to visit them at Biltmore, before he sails for his home in Poland, on the Saxonia, the last of June.

On Thursday night of this week at the Pops, there will be a Tavern Club night, when Mr. Adamowski, who is a member, will have on the programme a number of selections composed by Tavern Club men. There is a great demand for tables.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 146.

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1903.

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing are crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question they are among Boston's most popular and attractive summer entertainments, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by "Pop" concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston. The programme this evening is:

1. Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
2. Ballet music, "Boabdil"'.....Moszkowski
3. Graceful Dance.....Sullivan
4. Overture, "Freischutz".....Weber
5. Waltz, "Gretna Green"'.....Guiraud
6. Hungarian Rhapsody.....Liszt
7. Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann".....Offenbach
8. Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
9. Bolero.....Carl Merrill
10. Selection, "Emerald Isle".....Sullivan
11. Waltz, "Gross Wien".....Strauss
12. Persian March.....Strauss

BOSTON POST

MAY 26, 1903

THE POPS

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston.

The programme this evening is: Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys," Lalo; ballet music, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; graceful dance, Sullivan; overture, "Freischutz," Weber; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; Hungarian rhapsody, Liszt; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffman," Offenbach; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; bolero, Carl Merrill; selection, "Emerald Isle," Sullivan; waltz, "Gros Wien," Strauss; Persian march, Strauss.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

TUESDAY MORNING

Th MAY 26, 1903. ite

Th

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question, they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1903.

The Pop Concerts.

The fourth week of the "pop" concerts opened last evening at Symphony hall in the presence of the usual brilliant and appreciative audience. The program this evening will contain a majority of lighter selections, the selections being as follows: Overture, "De Roi dY's," Lalo; ballet music, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; "Graceful dance," Sullivan; overture, "Freischutz," Weber; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; Hungarian Rhapsody, Liszt; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffman," Offenbach; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; mazourka from the opera "Halka," Moniuszko; selection, "Emerald Isle," Sullivan; waltz, "Gros Wein," Strauss; "Persian March," Strauss.

The Boston Journal.

—TUESDAY,

P ng,

MAY 26, 1903.

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gaiety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the Pops, and without question, they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by "Pop" concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston. The program this evening is:

1. Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
2. Ballet Music, "Boabdil"..Moskowski
3. Graceful dance .....Sullivan
4. Overture, "Freischutz" .....Weber
5. Waltz, "Gretna Green".....Guiraud
6. Hungarian Rhapsody .....Liszt
7. Intermezzo, "Coentese d'Hoffmann" .....Offenbach
8. Overture, "Rienzi" .....Wagner
9. Mazurka from the Opera, "Halka," Moniuszko
10. Selection, "Emerald Isle"....Sullivan (First time.)
11. Waltz, "Gros Wien".....Strauss
12. Persian March .....Strauss

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1903

The Pops

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the Pops, and without question they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston. The programme this evening is

Overture, "Le Roi d'Ys".....Lalo
Ballet Music, "Boabdil".....Moszkowski
Graceful Dance.....Sullivan
Overture, "Freischütz".....Weber
Waltz, "Gretna Green".....Guiraud
Hungarian Rhapsody.....Liszt
Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann".....Offenbach
Overture, "Rienzi".....Wagner
Bolero.....Carl Merrill
Selection, "Emerald Isle".....Sullivan
(First time.)
Waltz, "Gros Wien".....Strauss
Persian March.....Strauss

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

TUESDAY, MAY 26.

THE POPS.

Excellent music, gayety, mirth and that sort of thing is crowding Symphony Hall nightly with musical and Bohemian Boston. Last night began the fourth week of the "Pops," and without question, they are Boston's most popular and attractive form of summer entertainment, as the large and brilliant audiences testify. The cooling refreshments, with fine musical features, are highly enjoyed by Pop concert devotees, and not to know the "atmosphere" of these concerts is to charge yourself with being unknown in Boston.

THE HARVARD CRIMSON.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1903.

The Pop Concert.

Following is the programme of the Pop Concert at Symphony Hall tonight:

1. March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube
2. Overture, "Martha," Flotow
3. Fantasia on "La Boheme," Puccini
4. Waltz, "Simplicieuse," J. Strauss
5. Fire-Charm, from "Die Walkure," Wagner
6. Overture, "Sakuntala," Goldmark
7. "The Spinning-Wheel of Omphale," Saint-Saens
8. Overture, "Fledermaus," J. Strauss
9. Intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann," Offenbach
10. Waltz, "El Turia," Granado
11. Selection, "Gondoliers," Sullivan
12. March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral

BOSTON POST

MAY 28, 1903

The programme for the Pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; Suite No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; "Berceuse," Clayton Johns; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; "Indian Serenade," F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1903.

At Symphony hall the "pop" concerts continue to afford a pleasing diversion for summer evenings.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 148.

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1903.

THE POPS.

The programme for the "Pop" concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; suite No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; berceuse, Clayton Johns; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; Indian serenade, F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

BOSTON TRAVELER,

THURSDAY,

MAY 28, 1903.

PROGRAMME FOR TONIGHT'S "POP"

The programme for the Pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; Suite No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Berceuse, Clayton Johns; Suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; Indian Serenade, F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

THURSDAY,

MAY 28, 1903.

The programme for the pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is:—

Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; Suite, No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; Berceuse, Clayton Johns; Suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; Indian serenade, F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1903

The programme for the Pop concert at Symphony Hall tonight is: Overture, "The Bartered Bride," Smetana; selection, "Faust," Gounod; suite, No. 1, Moszkowski; waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; overture, "Euphrosyne," F. Converse; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; "Berceuse," Clayton Johns; suite, "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; "Indian Serenade," F. Converse; waltz, "Morgenblatter," J. Strauss; selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach; march, Jenicke.

[200]

BOSTON HERALD—FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1903

TAVERN CLUB, IN A BODY, ATTENDS POP CONCERT.

Timothee Adamowski, the Conductor of the Symphony, Is a Member, and Compositions by Three Other Members Are on the Programme.

The Tavern Club paid a tribute to one of their members, Mr. Adamowski, last evening, by attending the Pops concert en masse to see him conduct the Symphony orchestra in his inimitable manner. The exclusiveness of this ultra-conservative club made its compliment to Mr. Adamowski all the more marked.

A feature of the programme was the playing of three or four selections composed by members of the Tavern Club. These were an overture, "Euphrosyne," and "Indian Serenade," by Mr. Fred Converse; "Berceuse," by Mr. Clayton Johns, and a concluding march by "Jericke."

Aside from the Tavern Club members, there was an unusually large attendance. The great hall was filled with fashionables clustered about the tables enjoying the music and chatting over their glasses of cooling beverages. The presence of many richly gowned society ladies showed that the cool weather has not yet allowed "everybody" to hie to summer places.

Among the gentlemen assembled around the club tables were: Holker Abbott, Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, Fred Benton, I. M. Gaugengigl, Herbert Jacques, Wadsworth Longfellow, S. W. Langmaid, George Munzig, James Millett, Frank Lee, Dr. Richard Hodgson, Maj. Henry L. Higginson, Alexander H. Higginson, Clayton Johns and Fred Converse.

The programme for tonight's concert is:

Overture, "Masaniello," Auber; bal costume, Rubinstein—(a) introduction, (b) berger et bergere, (c) tarantelle; "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; waltz from "Merry War," Johann Strauss; selection, "La Boheme," Puccini; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann," Offenbach; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; overture, "Poet and Peasant," Suppe; waltz, "In Lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; march, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube.

It deserves to be noted that there's some mighty good music being given under high class direction at the Pops these nights and that it merits popular appreciation, if Boston is really as musical as it pretends to be.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 150.
SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1903.

They had a jolly time at the Pops on Tavern Club night, and everybody felt at liberty to jolly everybody else. Said Taverner Adamowski to Taverner Higginson between the acts:

"I saw you talking, sir, with your friends at the table while the orchestra was performing that beautiful overture. The next time I catch you doing that I'll stop the music."

SUNDAY HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 151.
SUNDAY, MAY 31, 1903.

The Tavern Club night on Thursday at Symphony Hall was a red letter occasion for the Pops. Mr. Adamowski was on his mettle and paid his club the honor of putting upon the programme three or four selections composed by members, notably Mr. Frederick Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns. Naturally the members of the club with their families and friends were largely in evidence. There were also many table parties made up of those less intimately associated with the occasion.

The largest party was Maj. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson's. Some of their guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Higginson, the latter's sister, Mrs. Frederick S. Converse, Mr. Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns, whose compositions were much applauded; Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Lane, Mrs. Arthur Cabot, Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Elizabeth Shattuck. The hostess was in dark gray silk, with white lace and black velvet ribbons and small black toque with white roses; her daughter-in-law wore a light mourning costume of black, the jacket with its white lace sailor collar opening over a white silk bodice, and a flat black chiffon hat with a wreath of white roses which drooped down over the hair, which was worn low. Mrs. Converse was in gray veiling with much lace of the same tone and white hat with black plumes; Mrs. Cabot, pearl gray veiling and white lace and a black picture hat; Miss Cabot was in tan voile with much shirring, a black plumed hat faced with white; and Miss Shattuck in gray veiling, the ecru embroidered bolero over chiffon and a white hat with black plumes.

At an adjoining table among others were Miss Delia Tudor in rich black and Miss Eleanor Gray in black lace embroidered in turquoise blue, with sash of the some tone, a rope of turquoise and a pale blue hat with black plumes. Mrs. Frederick Tudor, Mrs. Higginson's and Mrs. Converse's mother, was in the balcony. Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Luce had a party including Mr. Ralph Williams. Mrs. Luce wore a Paris gown of bishop toned crepe de chine with ecru lace and a large pale blue plumed hat. Mrs. James Kenney, who was with a party of young people, wore tan veiling with trimmings of white lace over pale blue, and a red hat; Miss May Kenney, a light blue gown elaborately tucked, and a very smart flat straw colored hat with pink trimmings. Mrs. Josef Adamowski, who, with Mr. Adamowski, entertained a party, was in gray satin with touches of rose color and a white chiffon hat done with pink.

Others there were Mrs. Francis Kittredge, who was in black with pipings of white and a toque of violets; Miss Cornelia Kittredge, in pale blue satin and white lace and a white hat; Miss Fanny French, Dr. S. W. Langmaid, Mr. Frank Lee, Mr. F. P. Vinton, Mr. Holker Abbott, Mr. George Munzig, Mr. A. Wadsworth Longfellow, Mr. Herbert Jaques, Dr. Vincent Bowditch, Mr. J. B. Millet, Mr. Gaugengigl, Mr. William P. Blake and Mr. S. Gannett Wells.

Tuesday, June 9th, will be "Tech" night, and Friday, the 16th, Bank Officers' night.

The Boston Journal.
MAY 29, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB NIGHT AT THE POP CONCERT

Composers Listen to Their Music by the Orchestra.

"Tavern Club" night at the Pop Concert proved a great success at Symphony Hall last night, when, in honor of that Bohemian organization, Mr. "Tim" Adamowski, a popular member, scored a triumph with his orchestra. The large part of the tables on the floor, as well as the balcony seats, were occupied by the "smart" set, with whom Mr. Adamowski enjoys great popularity, and the club itself was well represented by such well-known members as Wadsworth Longfellow, Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, J. M. Gaugengigl, the artist, Dr. Samuel P. Langmaid, Holker Abbott, president of the Copley Society, Herbert Jaques, William P. Blake and others.

Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson occupied a table, with their son, Alexander Higginson, his wife and a party of friends.

A feature of the program was the first hearing of the overture to "Euphrosyne," by Frederick Converse, a brother-in-law of Alexander Higginson. Mr. and Mrs. Converse were among the audience. Clayton Johns, the composer, who occupied a table with S. Gannett Wells and friends, was also represented on the program by his "Berceuse," which met with especial favor, as did the compositions of Mr. Converse. Others present were George Munzey, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adamowski, Joseph Millett, F. P. Vinton, the artist, Matthew Luce and his wife.

Boston Transcript
FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1903

Tomorrow night ends the first half of the eighteenth season of the "Pops." Mr. Adamowski has prepared some unusually attractive programmes, and his recognized artistic temperament is sure to make itself felt, both in their make-up and rendition.

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, MAY 31, 1903

THE WEEK AT THE POPS

All through the week the Pops have continued their triumphant way, on the top wave of popular approval. Of course, Thursday was the banner evening, and the Tavern Club was conspicuously in evidence. The programme contained compositions of Mr. Frederick Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns, both of whom were present, and were vigorously applauded. It was an exceptionally brilliant audience. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson were there, Mrs. Higginson in gun metal silk, with gray boa and black and white toque, and at the next table were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Converse. Mrs. Higginson is beginning to lighten her mourning for her late father, Frederic Tudor, and wore a white bodice, a deep white lace collar on her jacket and wreath of tiny white roses around her black hat. Mrs. Converse was handsomely attired in gray. Mrs. Frederic Tudor occupied a seat in the balcony, this being her first appearance at a place of amusement since her recent bereavement. In the vicinity of the Higginsons' tables were seated Miss Eleanor Gray and Miss Delia Tudor with a party of friends. Miss Gray was delightfully pretty in black chiffon, applique with tiny sprays of white lace, having a sash of pastel blue liberty. Her pale blue hat was done with black, and she wore a wrap of cream cloth and lace. Miss Tudor wore a graceful gown of black, with her favorite necklace of gold sequins, and a black picture hat. An attractive party at the adjoining table was made up of Mrs. Arthur Cabot, Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Elizabeth Shattuck, with their escorts. Mrs. Cabot wore gray, with trimmings of white lace, and a large black hat, while Miss Cabot was prettily clad in cream voile, elaborately tucked, and a large black plume-laden picture hat, faced under the brim with white. Miss Shattuck presented her customary chic appearance in light gray cloth, the bodice richly embroidered in ecru, and having a full front and undersleeves of gray chiffon. Her white hat was trimmed with black tips.

There was no prettier girl present than Miss May Kenney, whose brunette loveliness was emphasized by a tucked frock of pale blue cashmere, with transparent yoke and trimmings of white lace. Her flat hat of burnt straw was done effectively with pastel pink. Miss Kenney was attended by three of her youthful admirers and chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. James W. Kenney, who was looking very handsome in an exquisitely fitting frock of cream voile, in combination with rich white lace, and a large hat of coarse red straw, with trimmings of red and green. Mrs. Francis W. Kittredge and her daughter, Miss Cordelia Kittredge, made two of a very large party. Mrs. Kittredge, was in black, piped with white, and wore a toque of violets, relieved by an occasional white rose. Miss Kittredge was in pale blue satin, with white lace and a large white hat. Mrs. Josef Adamowski was a late arrival, and was richly clad in palest gray satin, silvered, with touches of rose pink panne, and a white chapeau, with pink roses. Miss Fanny Thompson French, president of the Thursday Morning Musical Club, occupied a seat in the balcony, handsomely attired in black, and Mrs. Matthew Luce, who was with her husband and Mr. Ralph Williams, was easily one of the most beautiful women present. Mrs. Luce was in tan voile, with which a picture hat of pale blue chiffon and plumes combined effectively. Others there were Mr. Herbert Jaques, Mr. Gardiner, Mr. Lane, Dr. Vincent Bowditch, Mr. Frederick P. Vinton, Mr. Gaugengigl, Mr. George Munzig, Mr. Holker Abbott, Mr. Joe Millett, Mr. Josef Adamowski and Mr. Wadsworth Longfellow. The next gala occasion in the history of the Pops will be Tuesday, June 9, when Technology night will be appropriately observed, while the following Friday has been set aside as bank officers' night, and the tuneful strains of "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug," which everyone loves, will be enthusiastically enjoyed by a very large audience.

THE POPS

Last night ended the first half of the 18th season of the "Pops" and it seems unnecessary to go into the details of these popular entertainments, every feature of which is practically the same as in seasons past, with the exception of the conductor. The usual light refreshments are served and the other essential features are maintained.

The attendance the past week has been an evidence of the very attractive programmes which Mr. Adamowski has prepared, and his recognized artistic temperament makes itself felt both in their makeup and rendition.

The following selections are announced for tomorrow night: American march, Ganne; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; selection, "Faust," Gounod; suite, "La Feria," first time, Lacome; selection, "Flying Dutchman," Wagner; La Lettre De Manon, first time, Gillet; overture, "William Tell," Rossini; Chanson Sans Paroles, Tschaikowski; selection, "The Singing Girl," Herbert; Eternelle Ivresse, Ganne; march, "Hoch Habsburg," Karl.

BOSTON TIMES
MAY 30, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

The "Pop" concerts have been booming during the present week under the able direction of Timothie Adamowski, and every night during the remainder of the season the concerts will be largely attended. The following very interesting programme will be given next Monday evening:

American March ..... Ganne
Waltz, "Gretna Gr en" ..... Guiraud
Overture, "Si j'etais Roi" ..... Adam
Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
Suite, "La Feria" ..... Lacome
Selection, "Flying Dutchman" ..... Wagner
La Lettre de Manon ..... Gillet
Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
Chanson sans Paroles ..... Tschaikowski
Selection, "The Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
Eternelle Ivresse ..... Ganne
March, "Hoch Habsburg" ..... Kral

THE POPS.

Last night ended the first half of the 18th season of the "Pops." The attendance the past week has been an evidence of the very attractive programmes which Mr. Adamowski has prepared, and his recognized artistic temperament makes itself felt, both in their make-up and performance. Refreshments are served this season the same as heretofore. The following selections are announced for tomorrow night:

1. American march ..... Ganne
2. Waltz, "Gretna Green" ..... Guiraud
3. Overture, "Si j'etais Roi" ..... Adam
4. Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
5. Suite, "La Feria" ..... Lacome (First time).
6. Selection, "Flying Dutchman" ..... Wagner
7. La Lettre de Manon ..... Gillet (First time).
8. Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
9. Chanson Sans Paroles ..... Tschaikowski
10. Selection, "The Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
11. Esternelle Ivresse ..... Ganne
12. March, "Hoch Habsburg" ..... Kral

[201]

BOSTON HERALD—FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB, IN A BODY, ATTENDS POP CONCERT.

Timothee Adamowski, the Conductor of the Symphony, Is a Member, and Compositions by Three Other Members Are on the Programme.

The Tavern Club paid a tribute to one of their members, Mr. Adamowski, last evening, by attending the Pops concert en masse to see him conduct the Symphony orchestra in his inimitable manner. The exclusiveness of this ultra-conservative club made its compliment to Mr. Adamowski all the more marked.

A feature of the programme was the playing of three or four selections composed by members of the Tavern Club. These were an overture, "Euphrosyne," and "Indian Serenade," by Mr. Fred Converse; "Berceuse," by Mr. Clayton Johns, and a concluding march by "Jericke."

Aside from the Tavern Club members, there was an unusually large attendance. The great hall was filled with fashionables clustered about the tables enjoying the music and chatting over their glasses of cooling beverages. The presence of many richly gowned society ladies showed that the cool weather has not yet allowed "everybody" to hie to summer places.

Among the gentlemen assembled around the club tables were: Holker Abbott, Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, Fred Benton, I. M. Gaugengigl, Herbert Jacques, Wadsworth Longfellow, S. W. Langmaid, George Munzig, James Millett, Frank Lee, Dr. Richard Hodgson, Maj. Henry L. Higginson, Alexander H. Higginson, Clayton Johns and Fred Converse.

The programme for tonight's concert is:

Overture, "Masaniello," Auber; bal costume, Rubinstein—(a) introduction, (b) berger et bergere, (c) tarantelle; "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; waltz from "Merry War," Johann Strauss; selection, "La Boheme," Puccini; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; intermezzo, "Contes d'Hoffmann," Offenbach; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; overture, "Poet and Peasant," Suppe; waltz, "In Lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; march, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube.

It deserves to be noted that there's some mighty good music being given under high class direction at the Pops these nights and that it merits popular appreciation, if Boston is really as musical as it pretends to be.

The Boston Journal.

MAY 29, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB NIGHT AT THE POP CONCERT

Composers Listen to Their Music by the Orchestra.

"Tavern Club" night at the Pop Concert proved a great success at Symphony Hall last night, when, in honor of that Bohemian organization, Mr. "Tim" Adamowski, a popular member, scored a triumph with his orchestra. The large part of the tables on the floor, as well as the balcony seats, were occupied by the "smart" set, with whom Mr. Adamowski enjoys great popularity, and the club itself was well represented by such well-known members as Wadsworth Longfellow, Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, J. M. Gaugengigl, the artist, Dr. Samuel P. Langmaid, Holker Abbott, president of the Copley Society, Herbert Jaques, William P. Blake and others.

Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson occupied a table, with their son, Alexander Higginson, his wife and a party of friends.

A feature of the program was the first hearing of the overture to "Euphrosyne," by Frederick Converse, a brother-in-law of Alexander Higginson. Mr. and Mrs. Converse were among the audience. Clayton Johns, the composer, who occupied a table with S. Gannett Wells and friends, was also represented on the program by his "Berceuse," which met with especial favor, as did the compositions of Mr. Converse. Others present were George Munzey, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adamowski, Joseph Millett, F. P. Vinton, the artist, Matthew Luce and his wife.

Boston Transcript

FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1903

Tomorrow night ends the first half of the eighteenth season of the "Pops." Mr. Adamowski has prepared some unusually attractive programmes, and his recognized artistic temperament is sure to make itself felt, both in their make-up and rendition.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 150.

SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1903.

They had a jolly time at the Pops on Tavern Club night, and everybody felt at liberty to jolly everybody else. Said Taverner Adamowski to Taverner Higginson between the acts:

"I saw you talking, sir, with your friends at the table while the orchestra was performing that beautiful overture. The next time I catch you doing that I'll stop the music."

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, MAY 31, 1903

THE WEEK AT THE POPS

All through the week the Pops have continued their triumphant way, on the top wave of popular approval. Of course, Thursday was the banner evening, and the Tavern Club was conspicuously in evidence. The programme contained compositions of Mr. Frederick Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns, both of whom were present, and were vigorously applauded. It was an exceptionally brilliant audience. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson were there, Mrs. Higginson in gun metal silk, with gray boa and black and white toque, and at the next table were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Converse. Mrs. Higginson is beginning to lighten her mourning for her late father, Frederic Tudor, and wore a white bodice, a deep white lace collar on her jacket and wreath of tiny white roses around her black hat. Mrs. Converse was handsomely attired in gray. Mrs. Frederic Tudor occupied a seat in the balcony, this being her first appearance at a place of amusement since her recent bereavement. In the vicinity of the Higginsons' tables were seated Miss Eleanor Gray and Miss Delia Tudor with a party of friends. Miss Gray was delightfully pretty in black chiffon, applique with tiny sprays of white lace, having a sash of pastel blue liberty. Her pale blue hat was done with black, and she wore a wrap of cream cloth and lace. Miss Tudor wore a graceful gown of black, with her favorite necklace of gold sequins, and a black picture hat. An attractive party at the adjoining table was made up of Mrs. Arthur Cabot, Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Elizabeth Shattuck, with their escorts. Mrs. Cabot wore gray, with trimmings of white lace, and a large black hat, while Miss Cabot was prettily clad in cream voile, elaborately tucked, and a large black plume-laden picture hat, faced under the brim with white. Miss Shattuck presented her customary chic appearance in light gray cloth, the bodice richly embroidered in ecru, and having a full front and undersleeves of gray chiffon. Her white hat was trimmed with black tips.

There was no prettier girl present than Miss May Kenney, whose brunette loveliness was emphasized by a tucked frock of pale blue cashmere, with transparent yoke and trimmings of white lace. Her flat hat of burnt straw was done effectively with pastel pink. Miss Kenney was attended by three of her youthful admirers and chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. James W. Kenney, who was looking very handsome in an exquisitely fitting frock of cream voile, in combination with rich white lace, and a large hat of coarse red straw, with trimmings of red and green. Mrs. Francis W. Kittredge and her daughter, Miss Cordelia Kittredge, made two of a very large party. Mrs. Kittredge, was in black, piped with white, and wore a toque of violets, relieved by an occasional white rose. Miss Kittredge was in pale blue satin, with white lace and a large white hat. Mrs. Josef Adamowski was a late arrival, and was richly clad in palest gray satin, silvered, with touches of rose pink panne, and a white chapeau, with pink roses. Miss Fanny Thompson French, president of the Thursday Morning Musical Club, occupied a seat in the balcony, handsomely attired in black, and Mrs. Matthew Luce, who was with her husband and Mr. Ralph Williams, was easily one of the most beautiful women present. Mrs. Luce was in tan voile, with which a picture hat of pale blue chiffon and plumes combined effectively. Others there were Mr. Herbert Jaques, Mr. Gardiner, Mr. Lane, Dr. Vincent Bowditch, Mr. Frederick P. Vinton, Mr. Gaugengigl, Mr. George Munzig, Mr. Holker Abbott, Mr. Joe Millett, Mr. Josef Adamowski and Mr. Wadsworth Longfellow. The next gala occasion in the history of the Pops will be Tuesday, June 9, when Technology night will be appropriately observed, while the following Friday has been set aside as bank officers' night, and the tuneful strains of "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug," which everyone loves, will be enthusiastically enjoyed by a very large audience.

THE POPS

Last night ended the first half of the 18th season of the "Pops" and it seems unnecessary to go into the details of these popular entertainments, every feature of which is practically the same as in seasons past, with the exception of the conductor. The usual light refreshments are served and the other essential features are maintained.

The attendance the past week has been an evidence of the very attractive programmes which Mr. Adamowski has prepared, and his recognized artistic temperament makes itself felt both in their makeup and rendition.

The following selections are announced for tomorrow night: American march, Ganne; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; selection, "Faust," Gounod; suite, "La Feria," first time, Lacome; selection, "Flying Dutchman," Wagner; La Lettre De Manon, first time, Gillet; overture, "William Tell," Rossini; Chanson Sans Paroles, Tschaikowski; selection, "The Singing Girl," Herbert; Eternelle Ivresse, Ganne; march, "Hoch Habsburg," Karl.

BOSTON TIMES

., MAY 30, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

The "Pop" concerts have been booming during the present week under the able direction of Timothie Adamowski, and every night during the remainder of the season the concerts will be largely attended. The following very interesting programme will be given next Monday evening:

American March ..... Ganne
Waltz, "Gretna Green" ..... Guiraud
Overture, "Si j'etais Roi" ..... Adam
Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
Suite, "La Feria" ..... Lacome
Selection, "Flying Dutchman" ..... Wagner
La Lettre de Manon ..... Gillet
Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
Chanson sans Paroles ..... Tschaikowski
Selection, "The Singing Girl" ..... Herbert
Eternelle Ivresse ..... Ganne
March, "Hoch Habsburg" ..... Kral

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 151.

SUNDAY, MAY 31, 1903.

The Tavern Club night on Thursday at Symphony Hall was a red letter occasion for the Pops. Mr. Adamowski was on his mettle and paid his club the honor of putting upon the programme three or four selections composed by members, notably Mr. Frederick Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns. Naturally the members of the club with their families and friends were largely in evidence. There were also many table parties made up of those less intimately associated with the occasion.

The largest party was Maj. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson's. Some of their guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Higginson, the latter's sister, Mrs. Frederick S. Converse, Mr. Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns, whose compositions were much applauded; Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Lane, Mrs. Arthur Cabot, Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Elizabeth Shattuck. The hostess was in dark gray silk, with white lace and black velvet ribbons and small black toque with white roses; her daughter-in-law wore a light mourning costume of black, the jacket with its white lace sailor collar opening over a white silk bodice, and a flat black chiffon hat with a wreath of white roses which drooped down over the hair, which was worn low. Mrs. Converse was in gray veiling with much lace of the same tone and white hat with black plumes; Mrs. Cabot, pearl gray veiling and white lace and a black picture hat; Miss Cabot was in tan voile with much shirring, a black plumed hat faced with white; and Miss Shattuck in gray veiling, the ecru embroidered bolero over chiffon and a white hat with black plumes.

At an adjoining table among others were Miss Delia Tudor in rich black and Miss Eleanor Gray in black lace embroidered in turquoise blue, with sash of the some tone, a rope of turquoise and a pale blue hat with black plumes. Mrs. Frederick Tudor, Mrs. Higginson's and Mrs. Converse's mother, was in the balcony. Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Luce had a party including Mr. Ralph Williams. Mrs. Luce wore a Paris gown of bishop toned crepe de chine with ecru lace and a large pale blue plumed hat. Mrs. James Kenney, who was with a party of young people, wore tan veiling with trimmings of white lace over pale blue, and a red hat; Miss May Kenney, a light blue gown elaborately tucked, and a very smart flat straw colored hat with pink trimmings. Mrs. Josef Adamowski, who, with Mr. Adamowski, entertained a party, was in gray satin with touches of rose color and a white chiffon hat done with pink.

Others there were Mrs. Francis Kittredge, who was in black with pipings of white and a toque of violets; Miss Cornelia Kittredge, in pale blue satin and white lace and a white hat; Miss Fanny French, Dr. S. W. Langmaid, Mr. Frank Lee, Mr. F. P. Vinton, Mr. Holker Abbott, Mr. George Munzig, Mr. A. Wadsworth Longfellow, Mr. Herbert Jaques, Dr. Vincent Bowditch, Mr. J. B. Millet, Mr. Gaugengigl, Mr. William P. Blake and Mr. S. Gannett Wells.

Tuesday, June 9th, will be "Tech" night, and Friday, the 16th, Bank Officers' night.

THE POPS.

Last night ended the first half of the 18th season of the "Pops." The attendance the past week has been an evidence of the very attractive programmes which Mr. Adamowski has prepared, and his recognized artistic temperament makes itself felt, both in their make-up and performance. Refreshments are served this season the same as heretofore. The following selections are announced for tomorrow night:

1. American march ..... Ganne
2. Waltz, "Gretna Green" ..... Guiraud
3. Overture, "Si j'etais Roi" ..... Adam
4. Selection, "Faust" ..... Gounod
5. Suite, "La Feria" ..... Lacome (First time).
6. Selection, "Flying Dutchman" .... Wagner
7. La Lettre de Manon ..... Gillet (First time).
8. Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
9. Chanson Sans Paroles ..... Tschaikowski
10. Selection, "The Singing Girl" .... Herbert
11. Esternelle Ivresse ..... Ganne
12. March, "Hoch Habsburg" ..... Kral

[201]

INCOMPLETE

SUNDAY GLOBE—MAY 31, 1903.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Last night ended the first half of the 18th season of the "Pops," and it seems unnecessary to go into the details of these entertainments, every feature of which is practically the same as in seasons past, with the exception of the conductor. The usual light refreshments are served and the other essential features are maintained. The attendance the past week has been an evidence of the very attractive programs which Mr Adamowski has prepared, and his recognized artistic temperament makes itself felt, both in their makeup and rendition.

The following selections are announced for tomorrow night:

American March ..... Ganne
Waltz, Gretna Green ..... Guiraud
Overture, Si j'etais Roi ..... Adam
Selection, Faust ..... Gounod
Suite, La Feira (first time) ..... Lacome
Selection, Flying Dutchman ..... Wagner
La Lettre de Mauon (first time) ..... Gillet
Overture, William Tell ..... Rossini
Chanson Sans Paroles ..... Tschaikowski
Selection, The Singing Girl ..... Herbert
Eternelle Ivresse ..... Gaune
March, Hoch Habsburg ..... Kral

—The pleasant evenings of the last week have served to attract large audiences for the Pop concerts, and as a rule every table has been taken. Some persons who had gone out of town for the summer have come back on special evenings, noticeably on Thursday, when the Tavern club members were there and when a special program was played. One number was by Mr Frederic Converse and another by Clayton Johns, both members of the club, both of whom had to rise from the table to bow in recognition of the applause. Mr and Mrs Henry L. Higginson, who have already opened their summer house at Manchester-by-the-Sea, had a large party of relatives and friends with them; Mr and Mrs Alexander Higginson received many congratulations upon the return to health of Mrs Higginson, who was ill through the winter; Mrs Tudor, Mr and Mrs Frederic Converse (Miss Tudor), both she and her sister, Mrs Higginson, in light mourning; Miss Minns in light blue veiling and black hat with black plumes; Mr Gardner Lane, Mr and Mrs Matthew Luce, Dr and Mrs Harry Morse; others there were Dr and Mrs Shattuck, Mrs Shattuck in black crepe de chine with chantilly lace and white at the corsage, and jetted toque; they were also there one evening earlier in the week; Mr Holker Abbott, Dr Langmaid, Mr Gaugengigl, Mr Joseph Millet, Dr Vincent Y. Bowditch, Mr Frederic Vinton, Mr Herbert Jacques, Mr Wadsworth Longfellow, Mr Frank Lee, Mr W. P. Blake and other members of the Tavern club.

—Early in the week at the Pop concerts were Mr Otis Kimball and his daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, with several guests. Miss Kimball was looking especially well in white veiling, with corsage bouquet of crimson roses, and white hat, with long white plume encircling the brim. One of her friends was in gray liberty silk, and hat with white lilacs; Mr William Rotch, Miss Edith Rotch, in black lace, with transparent yoke and sleeves and burnt straw hat, with pink satin garniture; Dr and Mrs Bradford, Mr and Mrs George Chadwick, Miss Katherine Whitney, Miss Susie Howe, in white liberty silk and chiffon, tucked, and burnt straw hat, with pink silk and long blue plume. One of the young girls in the large party with her wore white embroidered muslin and lovely hat of lace, straw, pink roses and blue satin bows. Mr and Mrs Bennett of Brookline had with them one evening Mr and Mrs Stephen H. Bennett, the latter in a bodice of insertions of irish lace over white silk, and white skirt; her hat was white straw, with several small shaded blue ostrich tips on the crown; Mr and Mrs Leverett Tuckerman, Mrs Tuckerman in ecru veiling, with accordion plaited chiffon bodice, and black plumed hat; Mr Robert Clement, Mr Wallace Goodrich, Dr and Mrs Monks, Mr and Mrs Fitz Henry Smith and Mr Frank A. Monks. Mr and Mrs Eric Pape brought several friends one evening in honor of Mr Pape's brother, Mr Alexander Pape of San Francisco, the champion oarsman. Others in the party were Mr and Mrs Clark of Lancaster terrace, Brookline, Mrs Clark in violet veiling, with chiffon and lace, Dr and Mrs George Rice of Brookline, Mrs Rice in white india silk and toque of lace and touch of crimson, and Dr and Mrs William Rice. Mrs Pape wore silver gray crepe de chine, with steel trimmings. Splendid programs are promised for the coming week.

Boston Courier

ESTABLISHED 1795. MAY 30, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB AT THE POPS.

All through the week the Pop concerts have been continuing their triumphant sway, on the top wave of popular favor. Of course Thursday was the banner evening, and the Tavern Club was much en evidence. Several compositions of the members, notably those of Mr. Frederick Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns, were particularly enjoyed. The audience on this occasion was most brilliant. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson were there, the latter in a gown of gun-metal silk, with gray boa, and black and white toque, and at the next table were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Converse. Mrs. Higginson is beginning to lighten her mourning for her late father, Frederic Tudor, and wore a white bodice, a deep collar of white lace on her jacket, and a wreath of tiny white roses around her black hat. Mrs. Converse was handsomely attired in gray. Mrs. Frederic Tudor occupied a seat in the balcony, this being practically her first appearance at a place of amusement since Mr. Tudor's death.

In the vicinity of the Higgins's tables were seated Miss Eleanor Gray and Miss Delia Tudor, with a party of friends. Miss Gray was delightfully pretty in black chiffon, figured with white, and a sash of pastel blue liberty. Her pale blue hat was done with black, and she wore a wrap of cream cloth and lace. Miss Tudor was in black, with a black picture hat, and her Oriental necklace of gold. An attractive party at the next table was made up of Mrs. Arthur Cabot, Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Elizabeth Shattuck, with their escorts. Mrs. Cabot wore gray, with trimmings of white lace and a large black hat, while Miss Cabot was prettily clad in cream voile, elaborately tucked, and a black plume-laden hat faced under the brim with white. Miss Shattuck presented her customary chic appearance in palest gray cloth, the bodice richly embroidered with ecru, and having a full front and undersleeves of gray chiffon. Her white hat was trimmed with black tips.

There was no prettier girl present than Miss May Kenney, who was at her loveliest in a tucked frock of pale blue cashmere with transparent yoke and trimmings of white lace and a large flat hat of burnt straw with touches of pastel pink about the trimmings. Miss Kenney was attended by three of her youthful admirers and chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. James W. Kenney, who was looking very handsome in an exquisitely fitting costume of cream voile in combination with rich white lace and a large hat of coarse red straw with trimmings of red and green. Mrs. Francis W. Kittredge and her daughter, Miss Cornelia Kittredge, were of the many who enjoyed Thursday's programme, and made two of a very large party. Mrs. Kittredge was in black, piped with white, and wore a toque of violets relieved by an occasional white rose. Miss Kittredge was in pale blue satin, with white lace, and a large white hat. Mrs. Josef Adamowski was a late arrival, and wore palest gray satin, silvered, with touches of rose pink panne, and a white chapeau, with pink roses. Miss Fanny Thompson French, president of the Thursday Morning Musical Club, attired in black, occupied a seat in the the balcony, and Mrs. Mathew Luce, who was with her husband, and Mr. Ralph Williams, was easily one of the handsomest women present. Mrs. Luce was in tan voile, with which a picture hat of pale blue tulle and plumes, combined effectively.

Others there were Mr. Herbert Jaques, Mr. Gardiner M. Lane, Dr. Vincent Bowditch, Mr. Frederick P. Vinron, Mr. Gaugeugigl, Mr. George Munzig, Mr. Holker Abbott, Mr. Joe Millett, Mr. Joseph Adamowski and Mr. Wadsworth Longfellow. The next banner occasion in the history of the pops will be Tuesday, June 9, when Technology night will be appropriately observed, while the following Friday has been set aside as Bank Officers' night, and the tuneful strains of "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" will be enjoyed by an immense audience.

The Boston Journal.

—TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts with a brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next is the sixth annual Tech night.

The following Friday has been set aside for Bank Officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." The selections for tonight will be:

1. Wedding March ..... Mendelssohn
2. Suiteq, "Korrigan" ..... Widor
3. Overture: "Galatea" ..... Suppe
4. Waltz, "Seid umschlungen Millionen" ..... John Straus
5. Overture: "Oberon" ..... Weber
6. Tannhaeuser March ..... Wagner
7. Selection: "Carmen" ..... Bizet
8. Suite: "Peer Gynt" ..... Grieg
9. Serenade ..... Moszkowski
10. Selection: "Madame Angot" ..... Lacoco
11. Waltz, "El Turo" ..... Gordans
12. March: "Boccaccio" ..... Suppe

SUNDAY JOURNAL—MAY 31, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB NIGHT AT THE POP CONCERTS

Social and Musical Boston Was Well Represented.

Mr. "Tim" Adamowski is a member of that exclusive and delightful organization, the Tavern Club, so it was very appropriate that one night in the series of Pops should be set apart and designated as Tavern Club night.

Last Thursday evening Symphony Hall was thronged with an audience representative of the best of musical, literary and social Boston. There was an unusual gathering of handsome women and some effective gowns were worn.

Although simply attired in black, being still in mourning for her father, Mrs. Alexander H. Higginson, who was formerly Miss Rosamond Tudor of Tappan street, Brookline, was far and away the handsomest woman present. Mrs. Higginson, who occupied a table with her sister, Mrs. Frederick Converse, and her husband, wore a pretty sailor gown of black veiling, with a short, jaunty, Eton jacket, with wide girdle of black silk. She wore with this coat a deep, square collar, with ends of exquisite Irish lace.

Her hat was a large flat affair of black straw, trimmed in a wreath of white button roses, and was draped in a black chiffon veil.

Mrs. Converse was also in black, and wore a huge black hat. Mr. Converse, who is the clever composer, was compelled to rise at the conclusion of the rendition of his composition, the overture to "Euphrosyne," and bow his acknowledgment of the storm of applause.

At the adjoining table were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson and Mr Alexander Higginson, the latter joining them early in the evening from his own table. Mrs. Higginson was in a dark gray striped silk, with which she wore a pale gray feather boa, and her bonnet was a small one of black lace, trimmed in white roses. There were three tables of Tavern Club men at the front of the hall, where among them was Mr. Clayton S. Johns, the composer, whose Berceuse, played the middle of the evening, was the signal for tremendous applause, for which he had to rise and bow his thanks. Others at the tables occupied by the club members were Mr. Wadsworth Longfellow, Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, Dr. Samuel P. Langmaid, Mr. Frederick P. Vinton, Mr. I. M. Gaugengigl, the two well-known artists, Mr. Joseph Millett, Mr. Herbert Jaques, and Mr. George M. Munzig of New York and formerly of this city. Mr. Munzig ranks among the first artists of the country. Others who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Luce, the latter looking very stunning in a cafe au lait gown of veiling; Dr. and Mrs. J. Foster Bush, the latter in a white satin bodice with black skirts; Miss Bush, who was with her parents, was extremely pretty in a creation of pale blue crepe de chine, with which she wore a large pale straw hat trimmed in small pink roses. Mr and Mrs. Frances W. Kittredge had two tables of guests, including their son, Mr. William Kittredge, and their daughter, Miss Mabel Kittredge. Mrs. Kittredge was stunning in a dark blue silk with touches of white lace on her bodice, and wore a small fitting toque of violets. Mrs. George W. Chadwick, who was with her husband, the well-known composer, was in a seal brown veiling gown, with white lace on her bodice, and wore a small black and white hat. Mrs. Josef Adamowski, who came in late with her husband and Mr. Harry Mason and a party of friends, looked handsome in a pale gray liberty satin, the bodice of which was done elaborately in gold passementerie. Her hat was of ecru lace trimmed in pale pink roses.

BOSTON POST

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903

THE POPS

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall and the appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next will be the sixth annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most delightful one. The following Friday has been set aside for bank officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug."

The selections for tonight will be Wedding march, Mendelssohn; suite, "Korrigan," Widor; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Seid Umschlungen Millionen," Joh. Strauss; overture, "Oberon," Weber; Tannhauser march, Wagner; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; suite, "Peer Gynt," Grieg; Serenade, Moszkowski; selection, "Madame Angot," Lecocq; waltz, "El Turo," Gordans; march, "Boccaccio," Suppe.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

Promenade Concerts.

The fifth week of the promenade concerts began last evening in Symphony hall with the usual large attendance. There will be no "special" programs this week, but next week Technology night has been assigned to June 9, and Bank officers' night to Friday, June 12.

This evening's program will be as follows: Wedding march, Mendelssohn; suite, Korrigan, Widor; overture, Galatea, Suppe; Seid umschlungen Millionen, Joh. Strauss; overture, Oberon, Weber; Tannhaeuser march, Wagner; selection, Carmen, Bizet; suite, Peer Gynt, Grieg; serenade, Moszkowski; selection, Madame Angot, Lecocq; waltz, El Turo, Gordans; march, Boccaccio, Suppe.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII, NO. 153.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts, with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next is the sixth annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large. The following Friday has been set aside for bank officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." The selections for tonight will be: "Wedding March," Mendelssohn; suite, "Korrigan," Widor; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Seid umschlungen Millionen," Johann Strauss; overture, "Oberon," Weber; "Tannhauser March," Wagner; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; suite, "Peer Gynt," Grieg; Senerade, Moszkowski; selection, "Madame Angot," Lecocq; walts, "El Turo," Gordans; march, "Boccaccio," Suppe.

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903

The Pops

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next is the sixth annual "Tech" night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large. The following Friday has been set aside for bank officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." The selections for tonight will be:

Wedding March ..... Mendelssohn
Suite, "Korrigan" ..... Widor
Overture, "Galatea" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Seid umschlungen Millionen," ..... Johann Strauss
Overture, "Oberon" ..... Weber
Tannhauser March ..... Wagner
Selection, "Carmen" ..... Bizet
Suite, "Peer Gynt" ..... Grieg
Serenade ..... Moszkowski
Selection, "Madame Angot" ..... Lecocq
Waltz, "El Turo" ..... Gordans
March, "Boccaccio" ..... Suppe

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts, with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed.

Tuesday next is the sixth annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large.

[202]

INCOMPLETE

SUNDAY GLOBE—MAY 31, 1903.

PROMENADE CONCERTS.

Last night ended the first half of the 18th season of the "Pops," and it seems unnecessary to go into the details of these entertainments, every feature of which is practically the same as in seasons past, with the exception of the conductor. The usual light refreshments are served and the other essential features are maintained. The attendance the past week has been an evidence of the very attractive programs which Mr Adamowski has prepared, and his recognized artistic temperament makes itself felt, both in their makeup and rendition.

The following selections are announced for tomorrow night:

American March .....Ganne
Waltz, Gretna Green .....Guiraud
Overture, Si j'etais Roi.....Adam
Selection, Faust .....Gounod
Suite, La Feira (first time).....Lacome
Selection, Flying Dutchman.....Wagner
La Lettre de Manon (first time).....Gillet
Overture, William Tell .....Rossini
Chanson Sans Paroles.....Tschaikowski
Selection, The Singing Girl.....Herbert
Eternelle Ivresse .....Gaune
March, Hoch Habsburg.....Kral

—The pleasant evenings of the last week have served to attract large audiences for the Pop concerts, and as a rule every table has been taken Some persons who had gone out of town for the summer have come back on special evenings, noticeably on Thursday, when the Tavern club members were there and when a special program was played. One number was by Mr Frederic Converse and another by Clayton Johns, both members of the club, both of whom had to rise from the table to bow in recognition of the applause. Mr and Mrs Henry L. Higginson, who have already opened their summer house at Manchester-by-the-Sea, had a large party of relatives and friends with them; Mr and Mrs Alexander Higginson received many congratulations upon the return to health of Mrs Higginson, who was ill through the winter; Mrs Tudor, Mr and Mrs Frederic Converse (Miss Tudor), both she and her sister, Mrs Higginson, in light mourning; Miss Minns in light blue veiling and black hat with black plumes; Mr Gardner Lane, Mr and Mrs Matthew Luce, Dr and Mrs Harry Morse; others there were Dr and Mrs Shattuck, Mrs Shattuck in black crepe de chine with chantilly lace and white at the corsage, and jet and toque; they were also there one evening earlier in the week; Mr Holker Abbott, Dr Langmaid, Mr Gaugengigl, Mr Joseph Millet, Dr Vincent Y. Bowditch, Mr Frederic Vinton, Mr Herbert Jacques, Mr Wadsworth Longfellow, Mr Frank Lee, Mr W. P. Blake and other members of the Tavern club.

—Early in the week at the Pop concerts were Mr Otis Kimball and his daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, with several guests. Miss Kimball was looking especially well in white veiling, with corsage bouquet of crimson roses, and white hat, with long white plume encircling the brim. One of her friends was in gray liberty silk, and hat with white lilacs; Mr William Rotch, Miss Edith Rotch, in black lace, with transparent yoke and sleeves and burnt straw hat, with pink satin garniture; Dr and Mrs Bradford, Mr and Mrs George Chadwick, Miss Katherine Whitney, Miss Susie Howe, in white liberty silk and chiffon, tucked, and burnt straw hat, with pink silk and long blue plume. One of the young girls in the large party with her wore white embroidered muslin and lovely hat of lace, straw, pink roses and blue satin bows. Mr and Mrs Bennett of Brookline had with them one evening Mr and Mrs Stephen H. Bennett, the latter in a bodice of insertions of irish lace over white silk, and white skirt; her hat was white straw, with several small shaded blue ostrich tips on the crown; Mr and Mrs Leverett Tuckerman, Mrs Tuckerman in ecru veiling, with accordion plaited chiffon bodice, and black plumed hat; Mr Robert Clement, Mr Wallace Goodrich, Dr and Mrs Monks, Mr and Mrs Fitz Henry Smith and Mr Frank A. Monks. Mr and Mrs Eric Pape brought several friends one evening in honor of Mr Pape's brother, Mr Alexander Pape of San Francisco, the champion oarsman. Others in the party were Mr and Mrs Clark of Lancaster terrace, Brookline, Mrs Clark in violet veiling, with chiffon and lace, Dr and Mrs George Rice of Brookline, Mrs Rice in white india silk and toque of lace and touch of crimson, and Dr and Mrs William Rice. Mrs Pape wore silver gray crepe de chine, with steel trimmings. Splendid programs are promised for the coming week.

Boston Courier

ESTABLISHED 1795. MAY 30, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB AT THE POPS.

All through the week the Pop concerts have been continuing their triumphant sway, on the top wave of popular favor. Of course Thursday was the banner evening, and the Tavern Club was much en evidence. Several compositions of the members, notably those of Mr. Frederick Converse and Mr. Clayton Johns, were particularly enjoyed. The audience on this occasion was most brilliant. Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson were there, the latter in a gown of gun-metal silk, with gray boa, and black and white toque, and at the next table were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henry Higginson, with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Converse. Mrs. Higginson is beginning to lighten her mourning for her late father, Frederic Tudor, and wore a white bodice, a deep collar of white lace on her jacket, and a wreath of tiny white roses around her black hat. Mrs. Converse was handsomely attired in gray. Mrs. Frederic Tudor occupied a seat in the balcony, this being practically her first appearance at a place of amusement since Mr. Tudor's death.

In the vicinity of the Higgins's tables were seated Miss Eleanor Gray and Miss Delia Tudor, with a party of friends. Miss Gray was delightfully pretty in black chiffon, figured with white, and a sash of pastel blue liberty. Her pale blue hat was done with black, and she wore a wrap of cream cloth and lace. Miss Tudor was in black, with a black picture hat, and her Oriental necklace of gold. An attractive party at the next table was made up of Mrs. Arthur Cabot, Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Elizabeth Shattuck, with their escorts. Mrs. Cabot wore gray, with trimmings of white lace and a large black hat, while Miss Cabot was prettily clad in cream voile, elaborately tucked, and a black plume-laden hat faced under the brim with white. Miss Shattuck presented her customary chic appearance in palest gray cloth, the bodice richly embroidered with ecru, and having a full front and undersleeves of gray chiffon. Her white hat was trimmed with black tips.

There was no prettier girl present than Miss May Kenney, who was at her loveliest in a tucked frock of pale blue cashmere with transparent yoke and trimmings of white lace and a large flat hat of burnt straw with touches of pastel pink about the trimmings. Miss Kenney was attended by three of her youthful admirers and chaperoned by her mother, Mrs. James W. Kenney, who was looking very handsome in an exquisitely fitting costume of cream voile in combination with rich white lace and a large hat of coarse red straw with trimmings of red and green. Mrs. Francis W. Kittredge and her daughter, Miss Cornelia Kittredge, were of the many who enjoyed Thursday's programme, and made two of a very large party. Mrs. Kittredge was in black, piped with white, and wore a toque of violets relieved by an occasional white rose. Miss Kittredge was in pale blue satin, with white lace, and a large white hat. Mrs. Josef Adamowski was a late arrival, and wore palest gray satin, silvered, with touches of rose pink panne, and a white chapeau, with pink roses. Miss Fanny Thompson French, president of the Thursday Morning Musical Club, attired in black, occupied a seat in the the balcony, and Mrs. Mathew Luce, who was with her husband, and Mr. Ralph Williams, was easily one of the handsomest women present. Mrs. Luce was in tan voile, with which a picture hat of pale blue tulle and plumes, combined effectively.

Others there were Mr. Herbert Jaques, Mr. Gardiner M. Lane, Dr. Vincent Bowditch, Mr. Frederick P. Vinron, Mr. Gaugeugigl, Mr. George Munzig, Mr. Holker Abbott, Mr. Joe Millett, Mr. Joseph Adamowski and Mr. Wadsworth Longfellow. The next banner occasion in the history of the pops will be Tuesday, June 9, when Technology night will be appropriately observed, while the following Friday has been set aside as Bank Officers' night, and the tuneful strains of "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" will be enjoyed by an immense audience.

The Boston Journal.

—TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts with a brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next is the sixth annual Tech night.

The following Friday has been set aside for Bank Officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." The selections for tonight will be:

1. Wedding March .....Mendelssohn
2. Suiteq, "Korrigan".....Widor
3. Overture: "Galatea".....Suppe
4. Waltz, "Seid umschlungen Millionen" .....John Straus
5. Overture: "Oberon".....Weber
6. Tannhaeuser March .....Wagner
7. Selection: "Carmen".....Bizet
8. Suite: "Peer Gynt".....Grieg
9. Serenade..... Moszkowski
10. Selection: "Madame Angot"..Lecocq
11. Waltz, "El Turo".....Gordans
12. March: "Boccaccio".....Suppe

SUNDAY JOURNAL—MAY 31, 1903.

TAVERN CLUB NIGHT AT THE POP CONCERTS

Social and Musical Boston Was Well Represented.

Mr. "Tim" Adamowski is a member of that exclusive and delightful organization, the Tavern Club, so it was very appropriate that one night in the series of Pops should be set apart and designated as Tavern Club night.

Last Thursday evening Symphony Hall was thronged with an audience representative of the best of musical, literary and social Boston. There was an unusual gathering of handsome women and some effective gowns were worn.

Although simply attired in black, being still in mourning for her father, Mrs. Alexander H. Higginson, who was formerly Miss Rosamond Tudor of Tappan street, Brookline, was far and away the handsomest woman present. Mrs. Higginson, who occupied a table with her sister, Mrs. Frederick Converse, and her husband, wore a pretty sailor gown of black veiling, with a short, jaunty, Eton jacket, with wide girdle of black silk. She wore with this coat a deep, square collar, with ends of exquisite Irish lace.

Her hat was a large flat affair of black straw, trimmed in a wreath of white button roses, and was draped in a black chiffon veil.

Mrs. Converse was also in black, and wore a huge black hat. Mr. Converse, who is the clever composer, was compelled to rise at the conclusion of the rendition of his composition, the overture to "Euphrosyne," and bow his acknowledgment of the storm of applause.

At the adjoining table were Major and Mrs. Henry L. Higginson and Mr Alexander Higginson, the latter joining them early in the evening from his own table. Mrs. Higginson was in a dark gray striped silk, with which she wore a pale gray feather boa, and her bonnet was a small one of black lace, trimmed in white roses. There were three tables of Tavern Club men at the front of the hall, where among them was Mr. Clayton S. Johns, the composer, whose Berceuse, played the middle of the evening, was the signal for tremendous applause, for which he had to rise and bow his thanks. Others at the tables occupied by the club members were Mr. Wadsworth Longfellow, Dr. Vincent Y. Bowditch, Dr. Samuel P. Langmaid, Mr. Frederick P. Vinton, Mr. I. M. Gaugengigl, the two well-known artists, Mr. Joseph Millett, Mr. Herbert Jaques, and Mr. George M Munzig of New York and formerly of this city. Mr. Munzig ranks among the first artists of the country. Others who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Luce, the latter looking very stunning in a cafe au lait gown of veiling; Dr. and Mrs. J. Foster Bush, the latter in a white satin bodice with black skirts; Miss Bush, who was with her parents, was extremely pretty in a creation of pale blue crepe de chine, with which she wore a large pale straw hat trimmed in small pink roses. Mr and Mrs. Frances W. Kittredge had two tables of guests, including their son, Mr. William Kittredge, and their daughter, Miss Mabel Kittredge. Mrs. Kittredge was stunning in a dark blue silk with touches of white lace on her bodice. and wore a small fitting toque of violets. Mrs. George W. Chadwick, who was with her husband, the well-known composer, was in a seal brown veiling gown, with white lace on her bodice, and wore a small black and white hat, Mrs. Josef Adamowski, who came in late with her husband and Mr. Harry Mason and a party of friends, looked handsome in a pale gray liberty satin, the bodice of which was done elaborately in gold passementerie. Her hat was of ecru lace trimmed in pale pink roses.

BOSTON POST

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903

THE POPS

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall and the appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next will be the sixth annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most delightful one. The following Friday has been set aside for bank officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug."

The selections for tonight will be Wedding march, Mendelssohn; suite, "Korrigan," Widor; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Seid Umschlungen Millionen," Joh. Strauss; overture, "Oberon," Weber; Tannhauser march, Wagner; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; suite, "Peer Gynt," Grieg; Serenade, Moszkowski; selection, "Madame Angot," Lecocq; waltz, "El Turo," Gordans; march, "Boccaccio," Suppe.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

Promenade Concerts.

The fifth week of the promenade concerts began last evening in Symphony hall with the usual large attendance. There will be no "special" programs this week, but next week Technology night has been assigned to June 9, and Bank officers' night to Friday, June 12.

This evening's program will be as follows: Wedding march, Mendelssohn; suite, Korrigan, Widor; overture, Galatea, Suppe; Seid umschlungen Millionen, Joh. Strauss; overture, Oberon, Weber; Tannhaeuser march, Wagner; selection, Carmen, Bizet; suite, Peer Gynt, Grieg; serenade, Moszkowski; selection, Madame Angot, Lecocq; waltz, El Turo, Gordans; march, Boccaccio, Suppe.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII, NO. 153.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts, with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next is the sixth annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large. The following Friday has been set aside for bank officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." The selections for tonight will be: "Wedding March," Mendelssohn; suite, "Korrigan," Widor; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; waltz, "Seid umschlungen Millionen," Johann Strauss; overture, "Oberon," Weber; "Tannhauser March," Wagner; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; suite, "Peer Gynt," Grieg; Senerade, Moszkowski; selection, "Madame Angot," Lecocq; walts, "El Turo," Gordans; march, "Boccaccio," Suppe.

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1903

The Pops

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed. Tuesday next is the sixth annual "Tech" night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large. The following Friday has been set aside for bank officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." The selections for tonight will be:

Wedding March.....Mendelssohn
Suite, "Korrigan".....Widor
Overture, "Galatea".....Suppe
Waltz, "Seid umschlungen Millionen," Johann Strauss
Overture, "Oberon".....Weber
Tannhaüser March.....Wagner
Selection, "Carmen".....Bizet
Suite, "Peer Gynt".....Grieg
Serenade ..... Moszkowski
Selection, "Madame Angot".....Lecocq
Waltz, "El Turo".....Gordans
March, "Boccaccio".....Suppe

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

TUESDAY, JUNE 2. 1903.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts, with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed.

Tuesday next is the 6th annual Tech night, and it is antici[illegible] that the evening will be a most [illegible]le one, as the advance sale has b[illegible] large.

The following [illegible] been set aside for Bank [illegible] selections will be pla[illegible]

[202]

COLORED PAPER

G.A.R. Program May 30 '03

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

TUESDAY MORNING,

JUNE 2, 1903.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts, with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed.

Tuesday next is the 6th annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large.

The following Friday has been set aside for Bank Officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug."

BOSTON POST

THURSDAY,

JUNE 4, 1903

The following programme is announced for tonight at the Pops: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancee du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; legato, Strube; Tannhauser march, Wagner; parade militaire, Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; Persian march, Strauss.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1903.

At the promenade concert in Symphony hall this evening a waltz, entitled "Torquay," by R. Atkinson, will be played for the first time.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 155.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1903.

THE POPS.

For the Pops at Symphony Hall the following programme is announced for tonight: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancee du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English Dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; Legato, Strube; Tannhauser March, Wagner; Parade Militaire, Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; Persian march, Strauss.

The Boston Journal.

THURSDAY,

JUNE 4, 1903.

At the Pops at Symphony Hall the following program is announced for tonight: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancee du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English Dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; legato, Strube; "Tannhaeuser March," Wagner; "Parade Militaire," Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; "Persian March," Strauss.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1903

The following programme is announced for tonight at the Pops: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancée du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; legato, Strube; Tannhauser march, Wagner; parade militaire, Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; Persian [illegible]

[redacted]

Hearsage Asso.
Naval Vets. May 30 '03

SYMPHONY HALL

Every Evening Except Sunday.

8 to 11.

POPS

Reserved Seats on Floor
or in Balcony, 75c.

ADMISSION, 50c.

Telephone 1492 Back Bay

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

SATURDAY

JUNE 6, 1903.

At Symphony Hall "The Pops" are attracting a large attendance with excellent programmes well rendered by musical artists.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, JUNE 6. 1903.

Amusement Notes.

The novelty number at this evening's promenade concerts will be the "Flower" suite by Benyon. Technology night will be celebrated next Tuesday.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1903

The past week of the Pops has been most successful and the coming one promises to be of great interest, as Tuesday will be the sixth annual "Tech" night and Friday has been selected as Bank Officers night with the "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" music. The programme for tonight will be: March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; Flower Suite, Benyon; overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; waltz, "In Lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; Graceful Dance, Sullivan; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod; selection, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Orpheus aux Enfers," Offenbach; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; march, "Tambour Battant," Messager.

[203]

COLORED PAPER

G.A.R. Program May 30 '03

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

TUESDAY MORNING,

JUNE 2, 1903.

Last night began the last half of the Pop concerts, with a very brilliant gathering in Symphony Hall, and their appreciation of the various numbers was evident by the enthusiasm displayed.

Tuesday next is the 6th annual Tech night, and it is anticipated that the evening will be a most enjoyable one, as the advance sale has been very large.

The following Friday has been set aside for Bank Officers' night, when selections will be played from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug."

BOSTON POST

THURSDAY,

JUNE 4, 1903

The following programme is announced for tonight at the Pops: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancee du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; legato, Strube; Tannhauser march, Wagner; parade militaire, Massenet; waltz, "Viqlets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; Persian march, Strauss.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1903.

At the promenade concert in Symphony hall this evening a waltz, entitled "Torquay," by R. Atkinson, will be played for the first time.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII, NO. 155.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1903.

THE POPS.

For the Pops at Symphony Hall the following programme is announced for tonight: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancee du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English Dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; Legato, Strube; Tannhauser March, Wagner; Parade Militaire, Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; Persian march, Strauss.

The Boston Journal.

—THURSDAY,

JUNE 4, 1903.

At the Pops at Symphony Hall the following program is announced for tonight: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancee du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English Dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; legato, Strube; "Tannhaeuser March," Wagner; "Parade Militaire," Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; "Persian March," Strauss.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1903

The following programme is announced for tonight at the Pops: Polonaise, Chopin; overture, "La Fiancée du Czar," Rimsky-Korsakoff; overture, "Galatea," Suppe; selection, "The Emerald Isle," Sullivan; English dances, Cowen; overture, "Phedre," Massenet; legato, Strube; Tannhäuser march, Wagner; parade militaire, Massenet; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; Persian march, Strauss.

SYMPHONY HALL

EVERY EVENING (except Sunday), 8 to 11

"THE POPS"

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor

ADMISSION, 50 CENTS RESERVED SEATS, 25 CENTS EXTRA

TELEPHONE 1492 BACK BAY

F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager C. A. ELLIS, Manager

Kearsage Asso.
Naval Vol. May 30 '03

SYMPHONY HALL

Every Evening Except Sunday.

8 to 11.

POPS

Reserved Seats on Floor
or in Balcony, 75c.

ADMISSION, 50c.

Telephone 1492 Back Bay

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

SATURDAY

JUNE 6, 1903.

At Symphony Hall "The Pops" are attracting a large attendance with excellent programmes well rendered by musical artists.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, JUNE 6. 1903.

Amusement Notes.

The novelty number at this evening's promenade concerts will be the "Flower" suite by Benyon. Technology night will be celebrated next Tuesday.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1903

The past week of the Pops has been most successful and the coming one promises to be of great interest, as Tuesday will be the sixth annual "Tech" night and Friday has been selected as Bank Officers night with the "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" music. The programme for tonight will be: March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; Flower Suite, Benyon; overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; waltz, "In Lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; Graceful Dance, Sullivan; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; hymn to St. Cecilia, Gounod; selection, "Faust," Gounod; overture, "Orpheus aux Enfers," Offenbach; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; march, "Tambour Battant," Messager.

[203]

COLORED PAPER

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

TUESDAY MORNING

SYMPHONY HALL

EVERY EVENING (except Sunday), 8 to 11

"THE POPS"

50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50

T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor

ADMISSION, 50 CENTS RESERVED SEATS, 25 CENTS EXTRA

TELEPHONE 1492 BACK BAY

F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager C. A. ELLIS, Mgr.

BOSTON TIMES

., JUNE 6, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

Still the "Pop" concerts go merrily on their way and each night sees a good-sized audience in Symphony hall listening to the excellent music which is given there under the direction of Mr. T. Adamowski. The programme for next Monday evening will be as follows:

Overture, "Fra Diavalo".....Auber
Ballet Music, "Le Cid"..... Massenet
"Chanson sans Paroles".....Tschaikowski
Waltz, "Grubenlichter"..... Zeller
"Slavonic Dances"..... Dvorak
"Ride of the Walkyries"..... Wagner
"Berceuse" ..... Clayton Johns
Waltz from "Onegin".....Tschalkowski
"Offenbachiana"..... Conradi
Waltz, "Barcarole" .....Waldtenfel
Selection, "Pirates of Penzance".....Sullivan
"Persian March"..... Strauss

Tuesday evening, June 9, will be "Tech" night, and for this occasion a delightful programme has been arranged.

Directly after the close of the "Pop" concert season Mr. Timothee Adamowski will sail for Europe to remain until September.

Mr. Frederick R. Comee of Symphony orchestra fame and wife will pass the summer in Europe.

SUNDAY JOURNAL-

-JUNE 7, 1903.

THE POPS.

Five weeks gone, and three to finish the "Pop" concerts, is the story of a most successful 18th season. Last night the hall was well filled with good music devotees, who enjoy their drinks and harmonies combined, and the program proved most satisfactory. Tuesday is the sixth annual "Tech" night, and Friday night has been set aside for the bank officers. The selections for tomorrow night will be:

Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Ballet music, "Le Cid".....Massenet
Overture, "Mignon".....A. Thomas
Waltz, "Gruben lichter".....Zeller
Slavonic dances .....Dvorak
Ride of the Valkyries.....Wagner
La Lettre de Manon.....Gillet
Waltz from "Onegin .....Tschaikowski
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Waltz, "Barcarole".....Waldteufel
Selection, "Pirates of Penzance".....Sullivan
Persian march .....Strauss

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 158.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night finished the fifth week of the "Pop" concerts. Three weeks more and the 18th successful season closes, regretted by all who have attended these concerts, the popularity of which increases as the end draws near. No European city can boast of a better orchestra or more brilliant programmes, and there is a most satisfied feeling after one has enjoyed the light refreshments and good music. This week promises to be of great interest, as Tuesday will be the sixth annual "Tech" night, and Friday has been selected as bank officers' night with the "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" music. The programme for tomorrow night:

1. Overture, "Fra Diavalo".....Auber
2. Ballet music, "Le Cid".....Massenet
3. Overture "Mignon".....A. Thomas
4. Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
5. Slavonic dances.....Dvorak
6. "Ride of the Valkyries".....Wagner
7. La Letfre de Manon.....Gillet
8. Waltz from "Onegin".....Tschalkowski
9. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
10. Waltz, "Barcarole".....Waldteufel
11. Selection, "Pirates of Fenzance"..Sullivan
12. "Persian March".....Strauss

On Wednesday night at the Pops the Hon. and Mrs. Richard Olney, who are shortly going to their place in Falmouth, had a party, and so did Mr. Henry Parkman, the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Mr. John E. Lodge, all of whom gave quite an air of distinction to their surroundings. One of the compositions of Mr. John E. Lodge was on the programme, which accounted, doubtless, for the presence of members of the family.

On Tuesday, Technology night, at the Pops, there will be selections from this year's Tech production, and on Friday night, when the Bank Officers are to be honored, the best numbers from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" will be heard.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7, 1903.

THE "POPS."

Time moves so swiftly that one scarcely realizes the "pop" concert season is drawing to an end, but such is the fact, for last night closed the fifth week of these splendid entertainments. Three weeks more and the 18th successful season closes, regretted by all who have attended these concerts, the popularity of which increases as the end draws near.

No European city can boast of a better orchestra than that made up of the members of the "Symphony," who play each evening. The brilliant programs, combined with the hazy atmosphere, gives the thoroughly bohemian air that so distinguishes the "pops," and there is a most satisfied feeling after one has enjoyed the light refreshments and good music.

The past week has been must successful, and the coming one promises to be of great interest, as Tuesday will be the sixth annual "Tech" night, and Friday has been selected as "bank officers'" night, with the "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" music.

The program for tomorrow night will be:

Overture, Fra Diavolo.....Auber
Ballet music, Le Cid.....Massenet
Overture, Mignon.....A Thomas
Waltz, Grubenlichter.....Zeller
Slavonic dances.....Dvorak
Ride of the Valkyries.....Wagner
La Lettre de Manon.....Gillet
Waltz from Onegin.....Tschaikowski
Overture, Light Cavalry.....Suppe
Waltz, Barcarole.....Waldteufel
Selection, Pirates of Penzance.....Sullivan
Persian march.....Strauss

—The fifth week of the Pops opened Monday evening with a large audience, who thoroughly enjoyed the splendid program of music. Among the many who come into town for these concerts, who have already gone to their summer homes, were Mr and Mrs Francis L. Higginson and Miss Higginson, who were obliged to leave early to take their train for Prides Crossing; they had Col Henry L. Higginson's table, who, with his family, come up occasionally in the evening from West Manchester, where they are settled for the summer. Mrs Higginson (Miss Shattuck) was in black, the coat, with white collar and cuffs, opening over a white bodice. The hat was black, with white wings. Miss Higginson was in gray. There was a large party chaperoned by Mrs Curtis Guild Jr. The party included Miss Mollie Johnson, Miss Rosamund Gibson and a young girl friend, Mr Harry Blake, Mr Garfield, son of the late President Garfield, and others. Mrs Guild wore a black and white checked taffeta, bodice of white liberty silk and lace and crimson hat; Miss Mollie Johnson was in mauve crepe de chine, the bodice embroidered, and with yoke of lace, and light blue chiffon hat with black velvet bows; Miss Gibson was in white, with bodice of silk and lace and black rice straw hat; their guest was in pink and white india silk, with lace at the bodice, and black hat with white plumes. Mrs Kenneth Horton, who was with Mr Horton, was in dark violet crepe de chine, the skirt ruffled, and the bodice made with inch-wide transverse tucks; the hat was of a lighter shade of violet chiffon and roses. Miss Rosamund Lang, with several friends, was in mauve skirt, with bodice of white lace and chiffon, and straw hat with white plumes. The Misses Mills, Miss French, Miss Whitney and Mr and Mrs George Mann were also present. There were at least two of Massachusetts' most distinguished men at the Pop concert Wednesday evening, Hon Richard Olney, who had Mrs Olney with him in the right balcony, and Hon Henry Cabot Lodge, who had a table on the floor with his sons. The fourth number on the program was a waltz, written by one of these young men, Mr John E. Lodge—quite an interesting composition. Others there were Mr A. E. Fillsbury, Mrs S. Y. R. Thayer, who had several young people with her, including her niece, Miss Mollie Sargent of Brookline, who wore scarlet crepe de chine—very becoming to her brunette style—and a black plumed hat; Mrs Thayer was in black lace and toque of a dark shade of violet, with foliage. Mr and Mrs Herry Parkman brought a young girl with them, and Mrs Johnson Morton; Mrs Parkman wore a dark violet india polka-dotted silk, the bodice elaborately trimmed with lace, and black toque with black tips; the guest was in white silk and lace, and a burnt-straw hat covered with pink roses. Near them was a party of 10, the four young girls and the chaperon all dressed in white muslins or silks, and wearing corsage bouquets of american beauty roses, with the exception of one, whose hat was trimmed with violet sweet peas, and who wore a large corsage bouquet of the same flower. Mr and Mrs Joseph Woods had friends with them, who dressed wholly in white, with lace toque; Mrs Woods was in black crepe de chine, with transparent yoke and sleeves, and white toque with black plumes.

—Tuesday evening will be a gala night at the Pops when the Technology boys take possession. They will be, however, kept within bounds by the presence of Pres and Mrs Pritchett and several of the professors. Friday evening will be bank officers' night, when the dignity of the occasion will offset the exuberance of the younger men.

BOSTON POST
The Representative Democratic Paper of New England

SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 7, 1903

THE POPS

Five weeks gone and three to finish the "Pop" concerts, is the story of a most successful 18th season. Too much cannot be said of these entertainments where the thoroughly Bohemian atmosphere, combined with splendid music, makes an evening spent in Symphony Hall an extremely enjoyable one. As the season draws to a close these concerts increase in popularity and it is to be regretted that they cannot continue through the summer months. Last night the hall was well filled with good music devotees, who enjoy their drinks and harmonies combined, and the programme proved most satisfactory. Tuesday is the sixth annual Tech night, and Friday night has been set aside for the bank officers.

The selections for tomorrow night will be: Overture, "Fra Diavalo," Auber; ballet music, "Le Cid," Massenet; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; waltz, "Grubeenlichter," Zeller; Slavonic dances, Dvorak; "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner; "La Lettre de Manon," Gillet; waltz from "Onegin," Tschaikowski; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Pirates of Penzance," Sullivan; "Persian March," Strauss.

BOSTON POST

TUESDAY,

JUNE 9, 1903

THE POPS

Last night Symphony Hall was filled with music lovers and those who enjoy the truly Bohemian surroundings that have made the "Pops" famous. Only three weeks more and the 18th season closes, regretted by those who have listened to the fine programmes and partaken of the light refreshments.

Friday is bank officers' night, and on Monday night Harvard will be strongly in evidence. Tonight is Tech night, and the following excellent programme will be rendered:

Overture, "Si j'etait Roi," Adam; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; stein song, Bullard; overture, "Martha," Flotow; selection, "Country Girl," Monckton; largo, Handel; selection, "Tech Show, 1903"; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1903.

"Tech" Night at the "Pops."

For the sixth week of pop concerts in Symphony hall two special nights have been arranged, "Tech" for this evening and "Bank Officers'" night on Friday. The "Tech" program tonight will be as follows: Overture, "Fra Diavalo," Auber; suite, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; Salut D'Amour, Elgar; selection, "Gondoliers," Sullivan; largo, Handel; solo violin, Mr Karl Ondricek; organ, Mr Snow; selection, "Tech Production, 1903;" overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 160.

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night Symphony Hall was filled wtih music lovers and those who enjoy the truly Bohemian surroundings that have made the "Pops" famous. Only three weeks more and the 18th season closes, regretted by those who have listened to the fine programmes and partaken of the light refreshments. Friday is Bank Officers' night, and on Monday night Harvard will be strongly in evidence. Tonight is "Tech" night, and the following excellent programme will be rendered: Overture, "Si j'etait Roi," Adam; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, Grubenlichter;" Zeller; Stein Song, Bullard; overture, "Martha," Flotow; selection, "Country Girl," Monckton; Largo, Handel; selection, "Tech Show, 1903"; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

[204]

BOSTON TIMES

., JUNE 6, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

Still the "Pop" concerts go merrily on their way and each night sees a good-sized audience in Symphony hall listening to the excellent music which is given there under the direction of Mr. T. Adamowski. The programme for next Monday evening will be as follows:

Overture, "Fra Diavalo".....Auber
Ballet Music, "Le Cid".....Massenet
"Chanson sans Paroles".....Tschaikowski
Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
"Slavonic Dances".....Dvorak
"Ride of the Walkyries".....Wagner
"Berceuse".....Clayton Johns
Waltz from "Onegin".....Tschalkowski
"Offenbachiana".....Conradi
Waltz, "Barcarole".....Waldtenfel
Selection, "Pirates of Penzance".....Sullivan
"Persian March".....Strauss

Tuesday evening, June 9, will be "Tech" night, and for this occasion a delightful programme has been arranged.

Directly after the close of the "Pop" concert season Mr. Timothee Adamowski will sail for Europe to remain until September.

Mr. Frederick R. Comee of Symphony orchestra fame and wife will pass the summer in Europe.

SUNDAY JOURNAL-

-JUNE 7, 1903.

THE POPS.

Five weeks gone, and three to finish the "Pop" concerts, is the story of a most successful 18th season. Last night the hall was well filled with good music devotees, who enjoy their drinks and harmonies combined, and the program proved most satisfactory. Tuesday is the sixth annual "Tech" night, and Friday night has been set aside for the bank officers. The selections for tomorrow night will be:

Overture, "Fra Diavolo".....Auber
Ballet music, "Le Cid".....Massenet
Overture, "Mignon".....A. Thomas
Waltz, "Gruben llchter".....Zeller
Slavonic dances.....Dvorak
Ride of the Valkyries.....Wagner
La Lettre de Manon.....Gillet
Waltz from "Onegin.....Tschaikowski
Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
Waltz, "Barcarole".....Waldteufel
Selection, "Pirates of Penzance".....Sullivan
Persian march.....Strauss

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 158.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night finished the fifth week of the "Pop" concerts. Three weeks more and the 18th successful season closes, regretted by all who have attended these concerts, the popularity of which increases as the end draws near. No European city can boast of a better orchestra or more brilliant programmes, and there is a most satisfied feeling after one has enjoyed the light refreshments and good music. This week promises to be of great interest, as Tuesday will be the sixth annual "Tech" night, and Friday has been selected as bank officers' night with the "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" music. The programme for tomorrow night:

1. Overture, "Fra Diavalo".....Auber
2. Ballet music, "Le Cid".....Massenet
3. Overture "Mignon".....A. Thomas
4. Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
5. Slavonic dances.....Dvorak
6. "Ride of the Valkyries".....Wagner
7. La Letfre de Manon.....Gillet
8. Waltz from "Onegin".....Tschaikowski
9. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
10. Waltz, "Barcarole".....Waldteufel
11. Selection, "Pirates of Penzance"..Sullivan
12. "Persian March".....Strauss

On Wednesday night at the Pops the Hon. and Mrs. Richard Olney, who are shortly going to their place in Falmouth, had a party, and so did Mr. Henry Parkman, the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Mr. John E. Lodge, all of whom gave quite an air of distinction to their surroundings. One of the compositions of Mr. John E. Lodge was on the programme, which accounted, doubtless, for the presence of members of the family.

On Tuesday, Technology night, at the Pops, there will be selections from this year's Tech production, and on Friday night, when the Bank Officers are to be honored, the best numbers from "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" will be heard.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7, 1903.

THE "POPS."

Time moves so swiftly that one scarcely realizes the "pop" concert season is drawing to an end, but such is the fact, for last night closed the fifth week of these splendid entertainments. Three weeks more and the 18th successful season closes, regretted by all who have attended these concerts, the popularity of which increases as the end draws near.

No European city can boast of a better orchestra than that made up of the members of the "Symphony," who play each evening. The brilliant programs, combined with the hazy atmosphere, gives the thoroughly bohemian air that so distinguishes the "pops," and there is a most satisfied feeling after one has enjoyed the light refreshments and good music.

The past week has been must successful, and the coming one promises to be of great interest, as Tuesday will be the sixth annual "Tech" night, and Friday has been selected as "bank officers'" night, with the "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug" music.

The program for tomorrow night will be:

Overture, Fra Diavolo.....Auber
Ballet music, Le Cid.....Massenet
Overture, Mignon.....A Thomas
Waltz, Grubenlichter.....Zeller
Slavonic dances.....Dvorak
Ride of the Valkyries.....Wagner
La Lettre de Manon.....Gillet
Waltz from Onegin.....Tschaikowski
Overture, Light Cavalry.....Suppe
Waltz, Barcarole.....Waldteufel
Selection, Pirates of Penzance.....Sullivan
Persian march.....Strauss

—The fifth week of the Pops opened Monday evening with a large audience, who thoroughly enjoyed the splendid program of music. Among the many who come into town for these concerts, who have already gone to their summer homes, were Mr and Mrs Francis L. Higginson and Miss Higginson, who were obliged to leave early to take their train for Prides Crossing; they had Col Henry L. Higginson's table, who, with his family, come up occasionally in the evening from West Manchester, where they are settled for the summer. Mrs Higginson (Miss Shattuck) was in black, the coat, with white collar and cuffs, opening over a white bodice. The hat was black, with white wings. Miss Higginson was in gray. There was a large party chaperoned by Mrs Curtis Guild Jr. The party included Miss Mollie Johnson, Miss Rosamund Gibson and a young girl friend, Mr Harry Blake, Mr Garfield, son of the late President Garfield, and others. Mrs Guild wore a black and white checked taffeta, bodice of white liberty silk and lace and crimson hat; Miss Mollie Johnson was in mauve crepe de chine, the bodice embroidered, and with yoke of lace, and light blue chiffon hat with black velvet bows; Miss Gibson was in white, with bodice of silk and lace and black rice straw hat; their guest was in pink and white india silk, with lace at the bodice, and black hat with white plumes. Mrs Kenneth Horton, who was with Mr Horton, was in dark violet crepe de chine, the skirt ruffled, and the bodice made with inch-wide transverse tucks; the hat was of a lighter shade of violet chiffon and roses. Miss Rosamund Lang, with several friends, was in mauve skirt, with bodice of white lace and chiffon, and straw hat with white plumes. The Misses Mills, Miss French, Miss Whitney and Mr and Mrs George Mann were also present. There were at least two of Massachusetts' most distinguished men at the Pop concert Wednesday evening, Hon Richard Olney, who had Mrs Olney with him in the right balcony, and Hon Henry Cabot Lodge, who had a table on the floor with his sons. The fourth number on the program was a waltz, written by one of these young men, Mr John E. Lodge—quite an interesting composition. Others there were Mr A. E. Fillsbury, Mrs S. V. R. Thayer, who had several young people with her, including her niece, Miss Mollie Sargent of Brookline, who wore scarlet crepe de chine—very becoming to her brunette style—and a black plumed hat; Mrs Thayer was in black lace and toque of a dark shade of violet, with foliage. Mr and Mrs Herry Parkman brought a young girl with them, and Mrs Johnson Morton; Mrs Parkman wore a dark violet india polka-dotted silk, the bodice elaborately trimmed with lace, and black toque with black tips; the guest was in white silk and lace, and a burnt-straw hat covered with pink roses. Near them was a party of 10, the four young girls and the chaperon all dressed in white muslins or silks, and wearing corsage bouquets of american beauty roses, with the exception of one, whose hat was trimmed with violet sweet peas, and who wore a large corsage bouquet of the same flower. Mr and Mrs Joseph Woods had friends with them, who dressed wholly in white, with lace toque; Mrs Woods was in black crepe de chine, with transparent yoke and sleeves, and white toque with black plumes.

—Tuesday evening will be a gala night at the Pops when the Technology boys take possession. They will be, however, kept within bounds by the presence of Pres and Mrs Pritchett and several of the professors. Friday evening will be bank officers' night, when the dignity of the occasion will offset the exuberance of the younger men.

BOSTON POST

The Representative Democratic Paper of New England

SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 7, 1903

THE POPS

Five weeks gone and three to finish the "Pop" concerts, is the story of a most successful 18th season. Too much cannot be said of these entertainments where the thoroughly Bohemian atmosphere, combined with splendid music, makes an evening spent in Symphony Hall an extremely enjoyable one. As the season draws to a close these concerts increase in popularity and it is to be regretted that they cannot continue through the summer months. Last night the hall was well filled with good music devotees, who enjoy their drinks and harmonies combined, and the programme proved most satisfactory. Tuesday is the sixth annual Tech night, and Friday night has been set aside for the bank officers.

The selections for tomorrow night will be: Overture, "Fra Diavalo," Auber; ballet music, "Le Cid," Massenet; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; waltz, "Grubeenlichter," Zeller; Slavonic dances, Dvorak; "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner; "La Lettre de Manon," Gillet; waltz from "Onegin," Tschaikowski; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Pirates of Penzance," Sullivan; "Persian March," Strauss.

BOSTON POST

TUESDAY,

JUNE 9, 1903

THE POPS

Last night Symphony Hall was filled with music lovers and those who enjoy the truly Bohemian surroundings that have made the "Pops" famous. Only three weeks more and the 18th season closes, regretted by those who have listened to the fine programmes and partaken of the light refreshments.

Friday is bank officers' night, and on Monday night Harvard will be strongly in evidence. Tonight is Tech night, and the following excellent programme will be rendered:

Overture, "Si j'etait Roi," Adam; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; stein song, Bullard; overture, "Martha," Flotow; selection, "Country Girl," Monckton; largo, Handel; selection, "Tech Show, 1903"; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1903.

"Tech" Night at the "Pops."

For the sixth week of pop concerts in Symphony hall two special nights have been arranged, "Tech" for this evening and "Bank Officers'" night on Friday. The "Tech" program tonight will be as follows: Overture, "Fra Diavalo," Auber; suite, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; Salut D'Amour, Elgar; selection, "Gondoliers," Sullivan; largo, Handel; solo violin, Mr Karl Ondricek; organ, Mr Snow; selection, "Tech Production, 1903;" overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; waltz, "Blue Danube," Strauss; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 160.

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1903.

THE POPS.

Last night Symphony Hall was filled wtih music lovers and those who enjoy the truly Bohemian surroundings that have made the "Pops" famous. Only three weeks more and the 18th season closes, regretted by those who have listened to the fine programmes and partaken of the light refreshments. Friday is Bank Officers' night, and on Monday night Harvard will be strongly in evidence. Tonight is "Tech" night, and the following excellent programme will be rendered: Overture, "Si j'etait Roi," Adam; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, Grubenlichter;" Zeller; Stein Song, Bullard; overture, "Martha," Flotow; selection, "Country Girl," Monckton; Largo, Handel; selection, "Tech Show, 1903"; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1903

The Pops

Last night Symphony Hall was filled with music lovers and those who enjoy the truly Bohemian surroundings that have made the "Pops" famous. Only three weeks more and the eighteenth season closes, regretted by those who have listened to the fine programmes and partaken of the light refreshments. Friday is bank officers' night, and on Monday night Harvard will be strongly in evidence. Tonight is "Tech" night, and the following excellent programme is presented:

Overture, "Si j'etait Roi".....Adam
Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
Stein Song.....Bullard
Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
Selection, "Country Girl".....Monckton
Largo.....Handel
Selection, "Tech Show 1903."
Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
Selection, "Toreador".....Caryll
Waltz, "Les Patineurs".....Waldteufel
Hungarian March.....Moldauer

[204]

THE BOSTON JOURNAL—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903.

Adamowski Stopped When Boys Whistled

Interruption in Tech Night at Symphony Hall, But Peace Was Restored and the Band Played On.

H. S. Baker,
First marshal of the Class of '03 of Institute of Technology.

An outsider looking in at Symphony Hall last night would have no doubt as to the identity of the crowd which filled all the space on the floor, outside the rail, and the balconies. It was a Tech crowd through and through. Classes from as far back as 1893 were well represented and the house resounded with yells and songs.

The third number on the program, a waltz, was one which appeared to be very popular with the crowd, for everyone began to whistle. They had not whistled more than two notes, however, when Leader Adamowski stopped the orchestra and then waved for silence to the crowd. His protest was ignored. the men kept on whistling and he left the stage. Then noise began in earnest, yells for Whipple (the Tech man who was to lead the orchestra when they played selections from the Tech show) were heard from all parts of the room.

The orchestra kept their places for some time, but finally marched out. Then there was a long silence, as far as orchestral music was concerned, but the music of Tech songs kept up.

Mr. Adamowski was out in the office making a violent protest to the management and could not be persuaded by the committee to continue until the singing and whistling should cease.

In a little while Assistant Manager Comee stepped upon the stage and requested that the audience would not whistle or sing while the orchestra was playing. He said that the next selection, the Stein Song, was one which was to be played especially because it was Tech night, as the man who wrote the piece was a Tech man of the class of '97. He said that after the orchestra had played he wanted everyone to sing it.

Things then went on again very smoothly.

from the Tech show, received a great ovation. He was in a great measure responsible for the success of this year's show, having written much of the music.

The class of '93, which is having its decennial celebration at Hotel Brunswick, came to the hall in a body, escorting President Pritchett, who was present at their dinner last night. A big flag, with class numerals, was carried ahead, and when this appeared in the doorway there was enthusiastic cheering for '93 and President Pritchett. Dr. Pritchett was escorted to one of the tables in the centre of the floor and then each class arose in turn and gave their yell, with "Pritchett" on the end of it.

Mr. Whipple, who conducted the orchestra when they played selections

THE BOSTON HERALD—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903.

TECH ROUGH HOUSE APPALS ADAMOWSKI.

Cheering Students Crowd Symphony Hall—"Faust" Starts the Chorus, and Orchestra Withdraws—Compromise Effected.

Symphony Hall, staid home of the lyric muse, was a house of much trouble last evening. Packed with students at tables that completely filled the floor, and with an overflow meeting of friends in the balconies, "Tech night" at the Pop concert was all but too much for Mr. Adamowski and the Symphony orchestra. Even before the musical programme began, the student part of the entertainment was well under way, and so "wet" became the occasion that many fellows hoisted umbrellas.

The joy increased as the orchestra reached the second number and played selections from "Faust." So much fun was it that the students joined in to help the orchestra along by whistling, whereupon the conductor made a little bow, folded up his music and left the stage, causing the large aggregation of musicians to follow him like sheep. Not until after about half an hour of parley could the orchestra be induced to return and finish the programme.

It was the soldiers' chorus from "Faust" that brought about the unscheduled part of the festivities. Whether the students had intentionally planned one of their "Katzenjammer Kommers," with an accompaniment by Boston's orchestra, famous for cultured proprieties, or whether a large number of them had once "suped" in the opera, and were deceived by unconscious cerebration when they heard the cue for the army song, is an open question.

At any rate, the big bass viol let out an awful groan to the words of "Yes, ready to fight, yes, ready to dare," and the fight was on. The students took it up and echoed the strain. Then the saucy little violins with the lady-like voices threw the challenge back, whereupon, at the answer hurled back from the bottle-topped tables. Mr. Adamowski called the battle off, and his army retired with their impedimenta.

A large number of non-collegians in the audience, who did not realize that the students had hired the hall, and intended to use it at their pleasure, left and had their money refunded.

The students yelled and sang popular songs, and called for the music, using their yell with "M. I. T." in it. The echo came back from against the closed orchestra rooms, "N. I. T."

While the Hague conference was being held, the college boys filled in the time with one of their regular "Kommers."

Manager Fred Comee finally came out and stated the terms of the treaty, guaranteeing music if the students would be courteous enough to remain quiet. Diplomatically the first selection after the resumption of the programme was the famous "Stein Song," "It's always good weather when good fellows get together," composed by F. F. Bullard of the Tech class of '87.

At the conclusion of this song President Pritchett came in, escorted by members of the class of '93, of which he is an honorary member. The class carried a huge yellow flag bearing the numerals, which they displayed over the balcony rail when they took their seats. The president was seated at a table on the floor, where the students drank his health and cheered him repeatedly.

THE PROGRAMME.

1—Overture, "Si j'etais Roi".....Adam
2—Selection, "Faust".....Gounod
3—Waltz, "Grubenlichter".....Zeller
4—Stein song.....Bullard
5—Overture, "Martha".....Flotow
6—Selection, "Country Girl".....Monckton
7—Largo.....Handel

Solo violin, Mr. Karl Ondricek
Organ, Mr. Snow.

8—Selection, "Tech Show, 1903".....
Conducted by Leyland Whipple, Tech 1904.
9—Overture, "Tannhauser".....Wagner
10—Selection, "Toreador".....Caryll
11—Waltz, "Les Patineurs".....Waldteufel
12—Hungarian March.....Moldauer

And for the rest of the evening the programme was followed on the half-and-half principle. But the numbers calling for delicate attention were omitted.

Boston Transcript
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903

TECH MEN MADE A RUMPUS

And Mr. Adamowski and His Pop Concert Orchestra Stayed Outside the Hall for Half an Hour, Indignant

Timothee Adamowski's manifest intention to have silence at the pop concert last evening while his orchestra was in action met with a counter intention on the part of the hundreds of Massachusetts Institute of Technology students who had gathered in response to the management's announcement of a "Tech night." If it was their night they could see no reason why they should not use it to a certain extent as the spirit moved them, and, as in the good old days in Music Hall, they laughed and talked and even sang and cheered while the orchestra was reeling off its first number.

It was then that Mr. Adamowski placed himself in evidence. He tapped the music rack before him very sharply. Comparative silence followed, and he once more started the music. Laughter and conversation were resumed, and, when in the Soldiers' Chorus of "Faust," the students enjoyed themselves to the extent of joining lustily in singing and whistling, the conductor rapped again, stopped his players, and, because this demonstration was not enough to secure absolute silence on the floor, he folded his music and walked from the hall, indignant. His players more slowly followed him, and for half an hour the students had the hall to themselves.

They laughed and talked then to their hearts' content. They cheered one another in the good, old-fashioned, hearty way. They sang the "Good Old Summer Time," "Mr. Dooley," with variations to fit the occasion, and other well-known numbers. A few of them went out into the corridor where Mr. Adamowski was pacing up and down in default of pacification and tried to pacify him.

Finally Manager Comee went upon the stage. The Tech men applauded him heartily, and they kept still to hear what he wished to say. He spoke diplomatically, to the general effect that if the boys would give the orchestra a chance when it essayed to play, the orchestra would give the boys a chance between whiles. He announced Fred Bullard's stein song, "It is always fair weather when good fellows get together," as the next attempt, and when the orchestra and Mr. Adamowski came back, they were well applauded. The students joined in the chorus of the stein song with good effect, and everybody felt better. Mr. Adamowski even forgot, in the enthusiasm of the moment, that earlier in the evening there had been [illegible]

[205]

THE BOSTON GLOBE—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903.

POP CONCERT LEADER STOPPED THE SHOW

Opposed the Tech Men.

Had Whistled in Chorus.

Were Out for Fun in Force.

Adamowski Held Off for 45 Minutes.

Students Had a Good Time Meanwhile.

But Didn't Take to Compromise.

It was Tech night at the Pop concert last evening, and for a time things were in a mixed-up condition, owing to a difference of opinion between the students in the audience and the leader of the orchestra, Timotheus Adamowski, as to who had the right of way.

Mr Adamowski has pronounced ideas as to the strict decorum that should be preserved while his orchestra is playing, and as a result of the Tech boys' failure to appreciate that fact at the start-off, there was a hiatus of 45 minutes in the course of the evening, during which the conductor made his ideas known to his exuberant auditors.

The class of '03 led a lot of college yelling before the concert started, and all was quiet during the first number. The next selection was a popular one and there was a grand chorus of whistling from the Tech boys.

Adamowski, who is an artist that cannot tolerate frivolity where an organization like that which he conducts is concerned, at once stopped the music.

The students, who were ready enough for fun, whatever form it might take, sent up a hearty cheer and Adamowski retired from the stage amid considerable hissing. This happened at 8:15. The concert was not resumed till 9, the interim being passed by the students by free indulgence in college yells and vocal exercise.

Out in the corridor, meanwhile, Adamowski was pacing up and down, while a lot of Tech boys were arguing with him and trying to sooth his ruffled feelings. He declared flatly that he could not conduct in the midst of a disturbance of any kind, and the Tech committee explained that some of the music had been selected specifically to afford opportunity for the boys to exercise their vocal organs and to show their dexterity at whistling, but the conductor failed to appreciate their side of the question and manager Comee was sent for to straighten out matters.

When he arrived he addressed the audience, asking that all demonstrations be omitted during the rendition of the program, save in connection with those placed on the program especially for singing, such as the Stein song, which the orchestra then played.

But the students were now on their dignity and not a man joined in singing the Stein song, as had been planned, until the orchestra had finished. Then the boys started in and sang the song for all they were worth.

But for the above unfortunate misunderstanding between conductor and student body the boys would undoubtedly have had a glorious time, for they not only had some of their own music on the program, but they also enjoyed the rare favor of having one of their own number wield the conductor's baton over the orchestra during that part of the program.

The student who was thus distinguished by being invited to conduct an orchestra composed of symphony musicians, was Leland C. Whipple of the class of '04, a Wellesley boy, who composed much of the most charming music for the recent Tech musical play.

It was he who organized the first Tech orchestra, as well as the Boston Latin school orchestra, a few years ago.

Each of his selections, as given last evening under his own baton, was enthusiastically encored, and when he had finished every Tech man jumped up and all joined in a protracted and healthy Tech yell terminating with Whipple's name, for a snapper, so to speak.

The various classes were out to celebrate. That of '93 was observing its decennial and attended the concert in a body, escorting Pres Pritchett and carrying a big blue and gold banner.

The class of '98 was generously represented as was also '99, which used its collective lung power with marked effect.

Everybody cheered heartily for 1903 and the members of it responded with an enthusiasm that betokened full appreciation.

The spirit shown among the students themselves was certainly fraternal to a degree quite appropriate on the closing day of the college year.

BOSTON POST, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903

TECH BOYS RUN THE POP CONCERT

Sing and Cheer, Causing Mr. Adamowski to Leave Platform

It was Technology against Mr. Adamowski and his orchestra at the Pop concert last night, and after the show was over both sides claimed a victory—Mr. Adamowski because he played his programme through in spite of Tech, and Tech because they yelled their yells and sang their songs in spite of Mr. Adamowski and his orchestra. And, as most of the big audience was composed of Tech men and Tech sympathizers, it was hard to get a really unbiased opinion on the issue of the battle.

There was a time, even since the Pop concerts moved from the dim shades of old Music Hall to the more classic confines of the big temple of music on Huntington avenue, when the Pop concerts were not thought to be a serious enough matter to command the undivided attention of an audience to the exclusion of small talk and small bottles. But since Mr. Adamowski succeeded to the baton formerly wielded by Max Zach and Gustav Strube the orchestra has occupied a more prominent place than ever before. Mr. Adamowski says, "How can we play when you are making all that noise?" Tech men responded last night, "How can we make all this noise when you are playing?" And there being no Alexander to cut the Gordian knot the talk and the playing went on together, just as they did in the good old days. And lest that statement be interpreted to mean that Tech defeated Mr. Adamowski, let it be known that the able conductor called his orchestral forces off the stage in the midst of the second number and there was a strike of musicians against audience for half an hour, a strike settled only by the suave arbitration of Manager Comee, who mounted the stage and sprinkled oil on the troubled waters—and other liquids.

MR. TIMOTHEE ADAMOWSKI,

It was Tech night at Symphony Hall, and Tech men let everybody know it. They began to cheer before the concert began. Mr. Adamowski led with the overture to Raymond. Tech replied with the college yell. Raymond went down for the count before the yell. Mr. Adamowski's baton tapped the stand; the orchestra stopped. Mr. Adamowski's baton tapped again, this time vigorously, emphatically, and after a few minutes succeeded in getting comparative quiet. The overture started again, and, because it closes in three F's, managed to reach its finale, with Tech busy all the time.

A "Faust" selection was the next number. It began amid respectful silence, but before it had gone 20 bars there was more Tech than there was Faust. Mr. Adamowski tapped again—the orchestra stopped. Mr. Adamowski tapped for quiet, but didn't get it. Tech began to hiss. Mr. Adamowski's ire rose, and he was not at all calmed by the call for "Strube! Strube!" which started at one of the Tech tables and spread over the house in an instant.

Then Mr. Adamowski left the stage and in a few minutes the orchestra followed. For full 30 minutes it was all Tech and no orchestra. And Tech didn't seem to miss the orchestra, but made the minutes lively with interclass yells.

The class of '93 marched about the hall bearing a big yellow banner. The boys sang "Good Old Summer Time," "Mr. Dooley," with interpolated verses, and other well-known ditties.

Finally Manager Comee took the platform. One look at his benign countenance was enough for Tech to waive all rights. Mr. Comee got a big hand, and then silence.

Mr. Comee's speech was a diplomatic gem. He said that Mr. Adamowski and the orchestra recognized the rights of Tech, and wanted nothing but a chance to carry out their part of the programme, conceding Tech the minutes between the numbers. Mr. Bullard's Stein Song, said Mr. Comee, would give Tech a chance on the chorus. Tech appeared to be appeased. There were desultory calls for Strube, but Mr. Adamowski and the orchestra got, on the whole, a cordial greeting when they filed on the stage. A number on the programme was skipped to give the boys a chance at the Stein Song, and they sang the chorus with gusto. It was a noble effort, and Mr. Adamowski felt better.

The rest of the programme followed without bad breaks, although Tech could not, and did not, keep quiet. Mr. Adamowski thought it best not to trust Saint-Saens's "The Deluge," with its violin solo, to the mercies of the crowd, so it was omitted, as were two other numbers later in the programme. The "Tannhauser" overture was played amid comparatively respectful silence.

Tech's one chance to be really interested in the concert, outside of the Stein Song, was in the selections from the 1903 Tech show, which were conducted by the composer, Mr. Leyland Whipple, '04. Those who knew the words, and that meant most of the Tech men, sang with the orchestra, and there were cheers for Mr. Whipple, for all the classes, for the orchestra and for Tech, 20 times over.

Mr. Adamowski's intention to have silence, made manifest in the very first concert of the season, received a setback last night. What will happen on Harvard night is a very interesting problem.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903.

Fred Comee qualified once more for a diplomatic post when he got the Tech boys to stop their rough house at the Pop concert, and brought Conductor Adamowski back to the stage after 45 minutes' absence. The outsiders in the hall somewhat before that time had had all of the "fun" they wanted and were quite ready to have the music go on. The limit to outbursts of that sort are hard to fix. But the rights of the public come in somewhere.

BOSTON TRAVELER, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1903

"TECH" MEN CAUSE INTERRUPTION AT "POP"

"Rough house" reigned last night at the pop concert. The Tech students were there, for it was "Tech" night, and those who kicked at the boisterousness of the students had their money refunded, for the hall was theirs and theirs only for this special night. "Wetness" was the order of the exercises, and it flowed like water. To guard themselves against it many of the students seriously lifted umbrellas, which made the spectacle on the floor an odd one.

Enthusiasm reigned and whistling began as the "Faust" number was reeled off by the orchestra. The shock was too much for the precise and staid Conductor Adamowski. The reputation of the orchestra was at stake, and with a sarcastic little nod he folded up his music while the singing was at its height, and then, with the orchestra, he silently stole away. This was a flank movement of stupendous proportions, and the pop concert had lost its pop; then, during the interval that ensued while the forces were holding a pow wow beind closed doors as to the advisability of the orchestra returning, the boys sang popular songs and otherwise disported themselves. Finally the symphony orchestra came back and played the Tech "Stein" song, at the conclusion of which President Pritchett came in, escorted by a delegation of class '93 men, carrying a large yellow banner. Then the concert went on to the end, undisturbed.

[206]

Symphony Hall.

THE "POPS."

Tech Night

TUESDAY, June 9, 1903.

"A SCIENTIFIC KING"

AND OTHER APPROPRIATE MUSIC.

BOSTON POST.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903

With tomorrow (Friday) as bank officers' night and Monday as Harvard night the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The following selections are announced for tonight: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; song without words, Johnson; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; La Lettre de Manon, Gillet; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

Tomorrow will be "bank officers' night" at the Symphony hall promenade concerts. Included in the program will be a selection from "Baron Humbug" and "Miss Simplicity."

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1903.

THE POPS.

With tomorrow (Friday) as Bank Officers' night, and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The programme for tonight will be: 1—Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe. 2—Intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager. 3—Waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss. 4—Song without words, Johnson. 5—Overture, "Si j'tais Roi," Adam. 6—Prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner. 7—La Lettre de Manon, Gillet. 8—La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski. 9—Overture, "Zampa," Herold. 10—Waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel. 11—Selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert. 12—Hungarian March, Moldauer.

The Boston Journal.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

With tomorrow, Friday, as Bank Officers' night, and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The program for tonight will be: Overture, "Bohemian Girl;" Intermezzo, "La Basoche;" Waltz, "Cagliostro;" Song Without Words; Overture, "Si j'tais Roi;" Prelude, "Die Meistersinger;" La Lettre de Manon; "La Belle au Bois Dormant;" Overture, "Zampa;" Waltz, "Barcaroles;" Selection, "Fortune Teller;" Hungarian March.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 162.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

Be easy, Conductor Adamowski. This is the good old summer time.

With tomorrow (Friday) as bank officers night and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The following selections are announced for tonight: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; song without words, Johnson; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; La Lettre de Manon, Gillet; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903

Tomorrow (Friday) evening will be Bank Officers' night, and Monday evening Harvard night at the Pops, Symphony Hall. The following selections are announced for tonight: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; "Song Without Words," Johnson; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; "La Lettre de Manon," Gillet; "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tchaikovsky; overture, "Zampa," Hérold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

[207]

Symphony Hall.

THE "POPS."

Tech Night

TUESDAY, June 9, 1903.

"A SCIENTIFIC KING"

AND OTHER APPROPRIATE MUSIC.

BOSTON POST.

THURSDAY,

JUNE 11, 1903

With tomorrow (Friday) as bank officers' night and Monday as Harvard night the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The following selections are announced for tonight: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; song without words, Johnson; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; La Lettre de Manon, Gillet; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

Tomorrow will be "bank officers' night" at the Symphony hall promenade concerts. Included in the program will be a selection from "Baron Humbug" and "Miss Simplicity."

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

THURSDAY MORNING,

JUNE 11, 1903.

THE POPS.

With tomorrow (Friday) as Bank Officers' night, and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The programme for tonight will be: 1—Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe. 2—Intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager. 3—Waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss. 4—Song without words, Johnson. 5—Overture, "Si j'tais Roi," Adam. 6—Prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner. 7—La Lettre de Manon, Gillet. 8—La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski. 9—Overture, "Zampa," Herold. 10—Waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel. 11—Selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert. 12—Hungarian March, Moldauer.

The Boston Journal.

—THURSDAY,

JUNE 11, 1903.

With tomorrow, Friday, as Bank Officers' night, and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The program for tonight will be: Overture, "Bohemian Girl;" Intermezzo, "La Basoche;" Waltz, "Cagliostro;" Song Without Words; Overture, "Si j'tais Roi;" Prelude, "Die Meistersinger;" La Lettre de Manon; "La Belle au Bois Dormant;" Overture, "Zampa;" Waltz, "Barcaroles;" Selection, "Fortune Teller;" Hungarian March.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII, NO. 162.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

Be easy, Conductor Adamowski. This is the good old summer time.

With tomorrow (Friday) as bank officers night and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The following selections are announced for tonight: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; song without words, Johnson; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; La Lettre de Manon, Gillet; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903

Tomorrow (Friday) evening will be Bank Officers' night, and Monday evening Harvard night at the Pops, Symphony Hall. The following selections are announced for tonight: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; "Song Without Words," Johnson; overture, "Si j'etais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; "La Lettre de Manon," Gillet; "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tchaikovsky; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian march, Moldauer.

[207]

BOSTON TRAVELER.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

The "Pops" Are Flourishing.

With tomorrow (Friday) as Bank Officers' night and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The programme for tonight will be: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; Intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; Song without Words, Johnson; overture, "Si j'tais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; La Lettre de Manon, Gillet; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian March, Moldauer.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11. 1903.

THE POPS.

With tomorrow (Friday) as Bank Officers' night, and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The programme for tonight will be: 1—Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe. 2—Intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager. 3—Waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss. 4—Song without words, Johnson. 5—Overture, "Si j'tais Roi," Adam. 6—Prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner. 7—La Lettre de Manon, Gillet. 8—La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski. 9—Overture, "Zampa," Herold. 10—Waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel. 11—Selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert. 12—Hungarian March, Moldauer.

"TECH'S ROUGH HOUSE(?)"

To the Editor of The Record: It has always been an understood thing that on "student nights" the students would sing and whistle when their favorites were played. Never until this season has there been anything like Tuesday evening's performance, a conductor who "took his dolls and went home" because the students began to whistle the Faust waltz.

To the credit of Tech, be it said, they were gentlemen and took their revenge quietly, by singing "Good Night, Ladies," to the retiring musicians; then "Oh, Listen to the Band," "Peace, peace, Let us have peace," "Ain't It a Shame," and other appropriate selections.

A fine-looking, gray-haired woman near me said: "Harvard wouldn't stand such treatment." And I would like to predict that on "Harvard night" Max Zach or Struber will lead, or Symphony Hall will be taught the true meaning of "rough house." N.

June 11.

Dear Looker-On: Speak up louder to the director of the Pops. I'm not a "Tech" man, but attend these concerts regularly. One would think Mr. Adamowski was directing a Symphony concert instead of a "Pop" concert, where people go to enjoy a popular concert and drink beer. Only last week Mr. A. stopped the music three times because some of the audience were talking. He may be a good director, but the most unpopular man Mr. Higginson ever put in the position. Why were the tables all sold last night to Tech students if the management did not expect fun?

June 10. B. Rothschild.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1903.

HARVARD '93

Will Have Its Own "Pop" Concert

Departing from its annual custom, the class of Harvard '93 will not hold its reunion at Symphony Hall to the accompaniment of Conductor Adamowski's musical classics, but instead will rendezvous at the New Century building, where it will have a little "Pop" concert all by itself.

That there will be quite as much informality, good fellowship and genuine fun as have heretofore characterized these occasions, members of the class do not for a moment gainsay, while pleasant anticipation is no less a quantity than in past years.

Indeed the moving spirits in the class have fashioned a slogan out of a popular street song headline and are gleefully hurling it at rival classes.

"Why don't you get a pop concert of your own?" it reads, and already there are indications that the spirit of the lines is infectious.

Meanwhile preparations are going merrily forward, despite the entrancing strains of Chopin, Gounod and Mozart and the magic charm which Maestro Adamowski gracefully weaves with his high-salaried baton.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903.

Conductor Adamowski cares less for Tech than he does for technique.

Bank Officers' Night at the Pops.

Last night was bank officers' night at the Pop concert, and a good representation of the men of finance and their fair friends gathered in Symphony hall and made merry. Mr Adamowski favored the audience with an excellently arranged program, which included catchy selections from the two successes of the association, "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." David Stevens conducting the latter number. Every number on the program was encored, but needless to say the most spontaneous applause greeted those numbers dear to the heart of the bank men.

AMID OLD SCENES.

Harvard Men Preparing for Their Reunions.

Commencement This Year Comes on Wednesday, June 24.

Classes for 60 Years Back Will Send Representatives.

Perhaps the most elaborate plans for celebration are those of the class of 1883, which will observe its 20th anniversary. In the evening the class will attend the "Pop" concert at Symphony hall, where tables have been reserved for members and seats in the gallery for their wives.

Many of the '73 men will attend the pop on graduates' night, while the class headquarters commencement day at Harvard will be at Holworthy.

The classes of 1897 and 1900 will celebrate their second and first triennials together by holding a field day at Riverside on Tuesday. There will be baseball games and a general good time. Both classes will go to the popular concert Monday evening, and, besides the accustomed spread at Cambridge, will hold commencement dinners. That of the class of 1900 will be held at the Exchange club. The class of 1897 will hold its dinner Tuesday evening at the Vendome.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 13, 1903.

'93 WILL HAVE "POP" OF ITS OWN

Departing from its annual custom, the class of Harvard '93 will not hold its reunion at Symphony Hall to the accompaniment of Conductor Adamowski's musical classics, but instead will rendezvous at the New Century building, where it will have a little "Pop" concert all by itself.

That there will be quite as much informality, good fellowship and genuine fun as have heretofore characterized these occasions, members of the class do not for a moment gainsay, while pleasant anticipation is no less a quantity than in past years.

Indeed the moving spirits in the class have fashioned a slogan out of a popular street song headline and are gleefully hurling it at rival classes.

"Why don't you get a pop concert of your own?" it reads, and already there are indications that the spirit of the lines is infectious.

Meanwhile preparations are going merrily forward, despite the entrancing strains of Chopin, Gounod and Mozart and the magic charm which Maestro Adamowski gracefully weaves with his high-salaried baton.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13. 1903.

On the occasion of both Harvard night and graduates' night at Symphony hall, the music for the Pops, as arranged over a fortnight ago, will be by Stewart's military band, which plays at commencement. Gustave Strube will conduct.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903

Last evening was bank officers' night at the Pops and Symphony Hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Altogether the season so far has been one of great success and it leaves a pleasant memory to be carried till another year. Monday is Harvard night and with Mr. Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military Band the audience is sure to be well entertained. Graduates' night is set for the 22d and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night. For Tuesday, June 23, the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homœopathy have secured over one thousand seats.

THE BOSTON BUDGET

JUNE 13, 1903.

The graduates belonging to the class of 1903 will hold a "pop" Concert of their own this year in the New Century building, instead of joining the other classes at Symphony Hall.

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903

Tech night at Symphony Hall on Tuesday was indeed lively, and for a time it seemed an open question which should rule, students or orchestra. Those of the outside public who ventured to be present were highly amused at the belligerent way in which the boys demanded "M. I. T." every time, while the orchestra from behind closed doors, replied "N. I. T." At length there was a compromise, with plenty of the first without any of the last.

SUNDAY JOURNAL.

JUNE 14, 1903.

THE POPS.

Twelve more concerts will wind up the eighteenth season of the "Pops." The Bohemianism attendant at these concerts has a novelty that extends its influence to all and what with the splendid music, refreshments and general good time, the evening is voted by all as one of the best. Friday night was bank officers' evening and the hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Tomorrow, Monday, is Harvard night, and with Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military Band, the audience is sure to be well entertained. Graduates' night is set for the 22d, and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night. Tuesday, June 23, the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy will be strongly in evidence, as they have secured 1000 seats for that evening. The selections for tomorrow night will be:

1. March, "Up the Street".....Morse
2. Overture, "Zampa" .....Herold
3. Waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song" ..... Strauss
4. Selection, "King Dodo".....Luders
5. Overture, "Stradella" .....Flotow
6. Ave Maria .....Gounod
7. Selection, "Belle of New York"... ..... Kerker
8. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
9. a, March, "Soldiers Field" (first time) .....Strube
   b, March, "Cruiser Harvard"..... ..... Strube
10. American Fantasy .....Herbert
11. Fair Harvard .....
12. a, March, "Veritas"...Densmore, 1904
    b, March, "Our Director"....Bigelow

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, JUNE 14, 1903

HARVARD NIGHT AT POPS

Tomorrow night at the Pops will be devoted to Harvard. The music will be furnished by the Stewart Military Band and Mr. Gustave Strube will conduct. This is the band which always furnishes music for class day at Harvard, and will also play on Monday night next, June 22, at Symphony Hall, which will be graduates' night. A most attractive programme has been arranged for tomorrow night, opening with "Up the Street" and finishing with "Our Director." Two of Strube's marches will be played, one "Cruiser Harvard," which is very popular at these concerts, and the other "Soldiers Field," which will be heard for the first time. There is also a march, "Veritas," composed by Densmore, 1904. The other numbers are equally interesting, and indications are that Symphony Hall will not be large enough to hold the crowds.

THE POPS

It hardly seems possible that 12 more concerts will wind up the 18th season of the "Pops," but such is the fact, and it is regretted that the end is so near, for they have helped to while away an evening in a manner that all remember pleasantly

Friday night was bank officers' evening and the hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Altogether the season so far has been one of great success, and it leaves a pleasant memory to be carried till another year. Tomorrow is Harvard night, and, with Mr. Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military Band, the audience is sure to be well entertained.

Graduates' night is set for the 22d and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night. Tuesday, June 23, the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy will be strongly in evidence, as they have secured 1000 seats for that evening.

The selections for tomorrow night will be: March, "Up the Street", Morse; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song," Strauss; selection, "King Dodo," Luders; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; Ave Maria, Gounod; selection, "Belle of New York," Kerker; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; (a) march, "Soldiers Field" (first time), b, march, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; American Fantasy, Herbert; Fair Harvard; (a) march, "Veritas," Densmore, 1904; (b) march, "Our Director," Bigelow.

[208]

BOSTON TRAVELER.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

The "Pops" Are Flourishing.

With tomorrow (Friday) as Bank Officers' night and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The programme for tonight will be: Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; Intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager; waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss; Song without Words, Johnson; overture, "Si j'tais Roi," Adam; prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; La Lettre de Manon, Gillet; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel; selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert; Hungarian March, Moldauer.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1903.

THE POPS.

With tomorrow (Friday) as Bank Officers' night, and Monday as Harvard night, the Pops at Symphony Hall are much in evidence. The programme for tonight will be: 1—Overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe. 2—Intermezzo, "La Basoche," Messager. 3—Waltz, "Cagliostro," Strauss. 4—Song without words, Johnson. 5—Overture, "Si j'tais Roi," Adam. 6—Prelude, "Die Meistersinger," Wagner. 7—La Lettre de Manon, Gillet. 8—La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski. 9—Overture, "Zampa," Herold. 10—Waltz, "Barcarole," Waldteufel. 11—Selection, "Fortune Teller," Herbert. 12—Hungarian March, Moldauer.

"TECH'S ROUGH HOUSE(?)"

To the Editor of The Record: It has always been an understood thing that on "student nights" the students would sing and whistle when their favorites were played. Never until this season has there been anything like Tuesday evening's performance, a conductor who "took his dolls and went home" because the students began to whistle the Faust waltz.

To the credit of Tech, be it said, they were gentlemen and took their revenge quietly, by singing "Good Night, Ladies," to the retiring musicians; then "Oh, Listen to the Band," "Peace, peace, Let us have peace," "Ain't It a Shame," and other appropriate selections.

A fine-looking, gray-haired woman near me said: "Harvard wouldn't stand such treatment." And I would like to predict that on "Harvard night" Max Zach or Struber will lead, or Symphony Hall will be taught the true meaning of "rough house." N.

June 11.

Dear Looker-On: Speak up louder to the director of the Pops. I'm not a "Tech" man, but attend these concerts regularly. One would think Mr. Adamowski was directing a Symphony concert instead of a "Pop" concert, where people go to enjoy a popular concert and drink beer. Only last week Mr. A. stopped the music three times because some of the audience were talking. He may be a good director, but the most unpopular man Mr. Higginson ever put in the position. Why were the tables all sold last night to Tech students if the management did not expect fun?

June 10. B. Rothschild.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1903.

HARVARD '93

Will Have Its Own "Pop" Concert

Departing from its annual custom, the class of Harvard '93 will not hold its reunion at Symphony Hall to the accompaniment of Conductor Adamowski's musical classics, but instead will rendezvous at the New Century building, where it will have a little "Pop" concert all by itself.

That there will be quite as much informality, good fellowship and genuine fun as have heretofore characterized these occasions, members of the class do not for a moment gainsay, while pleasant anticipation is no less a quantity than in past years.

Indeed the moving spirits in the class have fashioned a slogan out of a popular street song headline and are gleefully hurling it at rival classes.

"Why don't you get a pop concert of your own?" it reads, and already there are indications that the spirit of the lines is infectious.

Meanwhile preparations are going merrily forward, despite the entrancing strains of Chopin, Gounod and Mozart and the magic charm which Maestro Adamowski gracefully weaves with his high-salaried baton.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903.

Conductor Adamowski cares less for Tech than he does for technique.

Bank Officers' Night at the Pops.

Last night was bank officers' night at the Pop concert, and a good representation of the men of finance and their fair friends gathered in Symphony hall and made merry. Mr Adamowski favored the audience with an excellently arranged program, which included catchy selections from the two successes of the association, "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug." David Stevens conducting the latter number. Every number on the program was encored, but needless to say the most spontaneous applause greeted those numbers dear to the heart of the bank men.

AMID OLD SCENES.

Harvard Men Preparing for Their Reunions.

Commencement This Year Comes on Wednesday, June 24.

Classes for 60 Years Back Will Send Representatives.

Perhaps the most elaborate plans for celebration are those of the class of 1883, which will observe its 20th anniversary. In the evening the class will attend the "Pop" concert at Symphony hall, where tables have been reserved for members and seats in the gallery for their wives.

Many of the '73 men will attend the pop on graduates' night, while the class headquarters commencement day at Harvard will be at Holworthy.

The classes of 1897 and 1900 will celebrate their second and first triennials together by holding a field day at Riverside on Tuesday. There will be baseball games and a general good time. Both classes will go to the popular concert Monday evening, and, besides the accustomed spread at Cambridge, will hold commencement dinners. That of the class of 1900 will be held at the Exchange club. The class of 1897 will hold its dinner Tuesday evening at the Vendome.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 13, 1903.

'93 WILL HAVE "POP" OF ITS OWN

Departing from its annual custom, the class of Harvard '93 will not hold its reunion at Symphony Hall to the accompaniment of Conductor Adamowski's musical classics, but instead will rendezvous at the New Century building, where it will have a little "Pop" concert all by itself.

That there will be quite as much informality, good fellowship and genuine fun as have heretofore characterized these occasions, members of the class do not for a moment gainsay, while pleasant anticipation is no less a quantity than in past years.

Indeed the moving spirits in the class have fashioned a slogan out of a popular street song headline and are gleefully hurling it at rival classes.

"Why don't you get a pop concert of your own?" it reads, and already there are indications that the spirit of the lines is infectious.

Meanwhile preparations are going merrily forward, despite the entrancing strains of Chopin, Gounod and Mozart and the magic charm which Maestro Adamowski gracefully weaves with his high-salaried baton.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903.

On the occasion of both Harvard night and graduates' night at Symphony hall, the music for the Pops, as arranged over a fortnight ago, will be by Stewart's military band, which plays at commencement. Gustave Strube will conduct.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903

Last evening was bank officers' night at the Pops and Symphony Hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Altogether the season so far has been one of great success and it leaves a pleasant memory to be carried till another year. Monday is Harvard night and with Mr. Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military Band the audience is sure to be well entertained. Graduates' night is set for the 22d and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night. For Tuesday, June 23, the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homœopathy have secured over one thousand seats.

THE BOSTON BUDGET

JUNE 13, 1903.

The graduates belonging to the class of 1903 will hold a "pop" Concert of their own this year in the New Century building, instead of joining the other classes at Symphony Hall.

BOSTON HOME JOURNAL.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903

Tech night at Symphony Hall on Tuesday was indeed lively, and for a time it seemed an open question which should rule, students or orchestra. Those of the outside public who ventured to be present were highly amused at the belligerent way in which the boys demanded "M. I. T." every time while the orchestra from behind closed doors, replied "N. I. T." At length there was a compromise, with plenty of the first without any of the last.

SUNDAY JOURNAL.

JUNE 14, 1903.

THE POPS.

Twelve more concerts will wind up the eighteenth season of the "Pops." The Bohemianism attendant at these concerts has a novelty that extends its influence to all and what with the splendid music, refreshments and general good time, the evening is voted by all as one of the best. Friday night was bank officers' evening and the hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Tomorrow, Monday, is Harvard night, and with Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military Band, the audience is sure to be well entertained. Graduates' night is set for the 22d, and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night. Tuesday, June 23, the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy will be strongly in evidence, as they have secured 1000 seats for that evening. The selections for tomorrow night will be:

1. March, "Up the Street".....Morse
2. Overture, "Zampa" .....Herold
3. Waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song" ..... Strauss
4. Selection, "King Dodo".....Luders
5. Overture, "Stradella" .....Flotow
6. Ave Maria .....Gounod
7. Selection, "Belle of New York"... ..... Kerker
8. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
9. a, March, "Soldiers Field" (first time) .....Strube
   b, March, "Cruiser Harvard".... ..... Strube
10. American Fantasy .....Herbert
11. Fair Harvard .....
12. a, March, "Veritas"...Densmore, 1904
    b, March, "Our Director"....Bigelow

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, JUNE 14, 1903

HARVARD NIGHT AT POPS

Tomorrow night at the Pops will be devoted to Harvard. The music will be furnished by the Stewart Military Band and Mr. Gustave Strube will conduct. This is the band which always furnishes music for class day at Harvard, and will also play on Monday night next, June 22, at Symphony Hall, which will be graduates' night. A most attractive programme has been arranged for tomorrow night, opening with "Up the Street" and finishing with "Our Director." Two of Strube's marches will be played, one "Cruiser Harvard," which is very popular at these concerts, and the other "Soldiers Field," which will be heard for the first time. There is also a march, "Veritas," composed by Densmore, 1904. The other numbers are equally interesting, and indications are that Symphony Hall will not be large enough to hold the crowds.

THE POPS

It hardly seems possible that 12 more concerts will wind up the 18th season of the "Pops," but such is the fact, and it is regretted that the end is so near, for they have helped to while away an evening in a manner that all remember pleasantly

Friday night was bank officers' evening and the hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Altogether the season so far has been one of great success, and it leaves a pleasant memory to be carried till another year. Tomorrow is Harvard night, and, with Mr. Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military Band, the audience is sure to be well entertained.

Graduates' night is set for the 22d and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night. Tuesday, June 22, the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy will be strongly in evidence, as they have secured 1000 seats for that evening.

The selections for tomorrow night will be: March, "Up the Street," Morse; overture, "Zampa," Herold; waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song," Strauss; selection, "King Dodo," Luders; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; Ave Maria, Gounod; selection, "Belle of New York," Kerker; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; (a) march, "Soldiers Field" (first time), (b) march, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; American Fantasy, Herbert; Fair Harvard; (a) march, "Veritas," Densmore, 1904; (b) march, "Our Director," Bigelow.

[208]

THE BOSTON HERALD—SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1903.

BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT AT "POP" CONCERT.
COMPOSER STEVENS LION OF THE EVENING.

BANK OFFICERS' NIGHT AT THE "POPS."

Mr. David Stevens, who composed the music for "Baron Humbug," received a flattering ovation at the "Pops" concert at Symphony Hall last night, when he revived memories of the recent show for the Bank Officers' Association, to whose enjoyment the evening was dedicated. At the 10th number of the enjoyable programme Mr. Adamowski abdicated the conductor's platform and baton in favor of Mr. Stevens, who made the aerial gyrations while the Symphony orchestra played the catchiest melodies from the "Baron Humbug" score.

Although the large audience at the tables which filled the floor was enthusiastic in applauding the previous part of the programme, it had not really relaxed into feeling that the great hall belonged for the time to the money changers. As soon as Mr. Stevens had cut out sufficient atmospheric triangles, however, to set the people humming "Silvia," "Every Saturday Afternoon" and "Danube Blue" they felt so much at home with Mr. Barnet's show that they wanted to hear the music all night.

When Mr. Stevens was through he received a tremendous ovation, and came out and bowed three successive times. This was not satisfying, and the hall was plunged into an uproar that made it resemble for a few moments the pandemonium of a students' night. Cheers and cries for more were drowned out with a pounding on tables that sounded like heavy artillery pieces being hurried over a corduroy road. The composer of the music had to do his part of the programme all over again.

Another part of the programme in honor of the bank officers, and especially in honor of Mr. R. A. Barnet, was the playing of selections from "Miss Simplicity." The toreador's song from "Carmen," and "The Deluge," by Saint-Saens, with a violin solo by Mr. Karl Ondricek were warmly received.

Among those noted in the fashion promenade through the corridors during the intermission were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Barnet, George Fred Williams and party, Charles L. Burrill and Arthur Adams of the Adams Trust Company, F. B. Washburn of the Bank of Commerce, C. F. Deaver of Minneapolis, Charles F. Smith of the Colonial Bank, George W. Newhall of the Hamilton Bank, George W. Hyde of the National Bank of Redemption, Edward A. Church of the Boylston Bank, Schuyler Bartlett, Bank Examiner A. Ewer, Henry F. Smith of the Shawmut Bank, George O. Stimpson of the National Bank of the Republic and president of the Bank Officers' Association, W. E. Elder, C. W. Cole of the Old Colony Trust Company and who was a leading character in "Baron Humbug," Arthur M. Home, Eugene Bassett of the First National Bank, A. F. Maynard and C. S. Cook of A. Stowell & Co., Charles Handy of the National Webster Bank and W. S. Osborne of the National Bank of the Republic.

The next big event at the "Pops" will be "Harvard night," Monday evening, June 22 will be "Harvard graduates' night." On both occasions the music will be by Stewart's Military band, which will be conducted by Mr. Gustave Strube.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 165.

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1903.

THE "POPS."

The 18th season of the "Pops" is proving a great success, and many will regret that there are only 12 more concerts. Friday night was bank officers' evening, and the hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions. Tomorrow is Harvard night, and, with Mr. Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's Military band, the audience is sure to be well entertained. Graduates' night is set for the 22d, and the same special arrangement with Mr. Strube and the Military band has been made as on Harvard night. Tuesday, June 22, the alumni conclave of the American Institute of Homoeopathy will be strongly in evidence, as they have secured 1000 seats for that evening.

The selections for tomorrow night will be:

1. March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse
2. Overture, "Zampa" ..... Herold
3. Waltz, "Wine, Women and Song" .. Strauss
4. Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
5. Overture, "Stradella" ..... Flotow
6. Ave Maria ..... Gounod
7. Selection, "Belle of New York" .... Kerker
8. Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
9. (a) March, "Soldier's Field" ..... Strube (First time.)
   (b) March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
10. American fantasy ..... Herbert
11. Fair Harvard.
12. (a) March, "Veritas" ..... Densmore, 190
    (b) March, "Our Director" ..... Bigelo

Tomorrow will be Harvard night at the Pops, and a very large time is looked for. By special arrangement made long ago, Stewart's Military Band, which always plays at Harvard on class days and commencements, will furnish the music under the direction of Mr. Gustav Strube. The same arrangement as to the music has been made for graduates' night, the following Monday (the 22d) which if not so loudly demonstrative will be quite as interesting an occasion.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 1903.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE "POPS."

It hardly seems possible that 12 more concerts will wind up the 18th season of the "Pops," but such is the fact and it is regretted that the end is so near, for they have helped to while away an evening in a manner that all remember pleasantly. Friday night was bank officers' evening and the hall was well filled with representatives of Boston's financial institutions.

Tomorrow is Harvard night, and with Mr Gustave Strube as leader of Stewart's military band the audience is sure to be well entertained. Graduates' night is set for June 22 and the same special arrangement with Mr Strube and the military band has been made as on Harvard night.

Tuesday, June 23, the alumni conclave of the American institute of Homeopathy will be strongly in evidence, as they have secured 1000 seats for that evening.

The selections for tomorrow night will be as follows:

March, Up the Street ..... Morse
Overture, Zampa ..... Herold
Waltz, Wine, Woman, and Song ..... Strauss
Selection, King Dodo ..... Luders
Overture, Stradella ..... Flotow
Ave Maria ..... Gounod
Selection, Belle of New York ..... Kerker
Overture, Light Cavalry ..... Suppe
March, Soldiers' Field (first time) ..... Strube
March, Cruiser Harvard (first time) ..... Strube
American Fantasy ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, Veritas ..... Densmore, 1904
March, Our Director ..... Bigelow

—Members of the Bank officers' association, with their families and friends, and the general public, completely filled Symphony hall Friday evening for the Pop concert, every table on the floor being taken. Mr Robert A. Barnet, some of whose music was played, brought a party of friends, and Mr George Fred Williams had three ladies with him. Mr and Mrs Barton Jenks and Mr Gaugengigl had one table, Mrs Jenks wearing ecru silk, polka spotted with green, and green silk sash. Her hat was burnt straw with black trimmings. Mr and Mrs Frederick W. Thayer brought several guests, Mrs Thayer wearing black muslin, spotted with white, the yoke to the bodice of Irish lace, and black hat with plumes. Mr and Mrs George W. Chadwick and Mr and Mrs George H. Stoddard were at one table Thursday evening; Mrs Stoddard in black silk, the eton jacket with a lace collar, and blouse of white liberty silk and lace; Mrs Chadwick, brown cloth, with bodice of white, sash and girdle of light blue silk, and a black hat. The programs given out for the coming week are made up of exceptionally good music.

—Tomorrow night will be Harvard night at the Pops. By special arrangement made some time ago, the military band which always plays at Harvard on class day and commencement, will furnish the music under the direction of Mr Gustav Strube. The same musical arrangement has been made for graduates' night the following Monday evening, June 22.

—The past has been an interesting week at the Pop concerts, and the coming week will be even more so. The Tech boys had great fun on Tuesday evening, when several hundred graduates of this year and of previous years came together for a good time. Although they were a little boisterous early in the evening, after Pres Pritchett arrived, who seems just a good fellow among the boys, with a smile and a wave of the hand from him, as the orchestra began to play, they held themselves together and then later cheered the president, the classes and the institute. Everybody there, young and old, enjoyed the evening. Among the many who have attended the concerts frequently are Mr and Mrs William Rotch and Miss Edith Rotch, who bring friends with them. One evening Mrs Rotch was in black silk, the bodice opening over white chiffon and lace, and a black toque with pink roses; Miss Rotch in light gray veiling and burnt straw hat with cerise ribbons; Mrs John M. Corse in gray crepe de chine, with black plumed hat; Mr William P. Blake, Mme Szumowska, Mr Wallace Goodrich, Mr Alexander H. Higginson, Mr and Mrs Houston, the latter in black silk, the bodice done with insertions of white lace and hat with white plumes; Miss Abby Manning, in black skirt, white satin bodice with persian embroidery and jetted toque with white roses; Miss Anne Manning, in fawn veiling skirt, white satin bodice and black and white toque with a touch of blue and white ostrich tips; Dr and Mrs S. J. Mixter, who brought a party of friends with them; Mrs Mixter was in black grenadine with black hat; Mr and Mrs William Copley Winslow, Mrs Winslow in bodice of brocade, black silk skirt and french toque.

[209]

BOSTON TIMES

JUNE 13, 1903.

"Pop" Concerts.

"Tech" night and "bank officers'" night were great events at the "Pop" concerts, but great as they were they will be eclipsed by "Harvard" night, which takes place next Monday evening. It will be the great night of the season. Every table will be fully occupied and the gallery seats will be well filled. The presence of Stewart's military band with Mr. Gustave Strube as conductor will be a distinctive feature. The programme to be rendered is as follows:

March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse
Overture, "Zampa" ..... Herold
Waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song" ..... Strauss
Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
Overture, "Stradella" ..... Flotow
"Ave Maria" ..... Gounod
Selection, "Belle of New York" ..... Kerker
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
March, "Soldiers' Field". ..... Strube
(First time.)
March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
"American Fantasy" ..... Herbert
"Fair Harvard" .....
{a. March, "Veritas" ..... Densmor, 1904
{b. March, "Our Director" ..... Bigelow

BOSTON COURIER,

JUNE 13, 1903.

—Last night was bank officers' night at the "Pops" and the men of finance and their handsomely gowned fair friends gathered in Symphony hall and made merry. Mr. Adamowski favored the audience with an excellently arranged program, which included catchy selections from the two successes of the association, "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug."

BOSTON POST

TUESDAY.

JUNE 16, 1903

QUIET HARVARD NIGHT AT POPS

Harvard night at the Pops proved anything but the nerve-shattering pandemonium affair which, after Tech's showing last week, the management felt reasonably certain it might expect.

Gustave Strube, with his sweet smile and his military band, proved a wise change from Adamowski and his orchestra. There were no jeers, no jibes, no discordant notes last night. Strube ruled, and although Harvard made her usual uproar, the evening passed pleasantly without a hitch.

Probably the great reason for Harvard's failure to beat out Tech at "rough housing" was the exceedingly inclement weather. Owing to the rain many tables were left unoccupied until the performance was well under way, and then matters did not get under that terrific headway which usually marks Harvard's connection with the Pops. All through this part of the concert there were desultory cheers for "Five," "Six," "Three" and "Four," and even a cheer for "seven," with three rahs for baby food on the end, but it was not until the "Wine, Woman and Song" waltz had been played that the students began to forget the wet weather outside and make known their wants.

"We want 'Hiawatha'!" was the slogan, echoed by "We, too," "Same here," "Ditto hic" and other decidedly affirmative demonstrations. So Strube played "Hiawatha," and as it began to grow wetter inside (the weather without was entirely forgotten now) things took on a livelier hue.

In the second part it was the "Prince of Pilsen" which was called forth by the new cheer: "Everybody wants the 'Prince of Pilsen'"; and in the third part it was Strube's own new march, "Soldiers Field," which brought a perfect ovation down on the head of that altogether delighted conductor. The piece was encored several times, and when finally the orchestra concluded with a wild, emphatic crescendo the happy Strube was presented with the "reg flag" of the occasion amidst thunderous cheers.

From this time on Symphony was a bedlam. The desultory cheering of the earlier evening became continuous thunder, and when young Densmore, the Harvard junior who composed "Veritas," was given the baton in Strube's place, the hall went wild. Densmore led the band like a veteran and under him they played with a dash and spirit not known before. "Veritas" was followed by "Our Director," which, repeated several times, brought the evening to an enthusiastic close.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, JUNE 16, 1903.

BUCKS A BAND.

Military Musicians for Harvard.

No Orchestra Trusted to Its Tender Mercies.

Then the Game is About a Standoff.

Students Get What They Want by Asking for It.

Conductor Strube Ends Evening in Good Favor.

The lights in the porte cochere and the halls were red, and over the stage of Symphony hall last night blazed the word "Harvard" in crimson lights. And the management made one of the best moves that could be conceived for a college occasion.

It substituted for the regular orchestra Stewart's military band and secured Gustav Strube to lead it. The band proved the wisdom of its choice, and Mr Strube went calmly ahead through a pandemonium of noise, leading with all his his old-time insouciance and absolutely in control of the situation. Only once did he yield to the yelled demands for this and that throughout the hall. Then he played selections from "The Prince of Pilsen."

The hall was filled to the last seat on the floor, and the balconies showed a fair attendance. The undergraduate element was very much in evidence, and few of the old grads were present. But the old-time gathering of classes in bunches for yelling or rushing purposes was all done away with.

The yelling began after the second number on the program, when "Hiawatha" was vociferously demanded.

They whistled it suggestively, and Mr Strube got up on his box. But he played the Strauss waltzes, which were next on the program, just to show who was running the band. They demanded "Hiawatha" again, and because they'd been decent about it, Mr Strube gave it to them. And then he just had to play it again.

"Thank you, sir!" shouted the whole hallfull, in a grand chorus, and there was a heap of hidden meaning in the yell, too.

Then the classes began yelling for themselves, and the yells got to crossing one another in the air. Even the subfreshmen piped up with a "Rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, seven!" to the immense amusement of the '06 men.

Some of the yells were rather thin; this was caused by the fact that there was never more than one tableful concerned in one yell, and partly because nearly everybody was busy trying to see whether Miss Alice Roosevelt was in the hall. She was picked out in every pretty girl who wore a striking gown, one girl especially who wore a white lace dress being chosen.

But the real Miss Alice was not

Mr Strube played the "Stradella" overture, and then the yells began again. There was a large contingent who wanted "Gen Grant" and insisted that they wanted it all the evening, but it wasn't in the band's books.

"Mister Strube, have you the Prince of Pilsen?" was the main shout. "What's the matter with 'Down Where the Wurzburger Flows?'" others wanted to know.

There was nothing announced as the matter with it, but Mr Strube played the "Prince of Pilsen" music and everybody sang it. The noise was continuous between numbers from now till the last bit of music was finished, nothing occurred that could in the least make any man ashamed of his college, everybody who deserved it was cheered, and the music program went right along on time. Not till they took to cheering manager Comee was anything like unanimity obtained.

Mr Strube played his "Soldiers Field" march for the first time, and made an instant hit. He had to repeat it, and only by sheer refusal escaped repeating his other number, the "Cruiser Harvard" march

One-half the hall began demanding "Gen Grant," half the other half insisting on "The Marseillaise" and the remainder on "Dixie." "Dixie" won, the next number being Herbert's "American Fantasy." When it came to the last strains of Mr Strube's march half the men sang "Glory, glory to the crimson," half the rest "Glory, glory, hallelujah" and the remainder something about "Digging after clams." In the Herbert piece they sang it from one end to the other, and the "Star-Spangled Banner" brought every person in the great crowd to his feet, singing and cheering as in the days of '98.

"We want the 'Marseillaise,—yoo-oo!" yelled everybody, but Mr Strube relentlessly played "Fair Harvard."

Densmore '04 led his own popular composition, the "Veritas" march, and everybody stole the crimson banners which hung over the balcony fronts—300 of them—and went home.

The night was boisterous with the yells of a thousand Cambridge men. Cheer upon cheer rent the smoke-filled air.

The night had none of the sensational features of "Tech" night. No baton was dented or worn because of the irritation of an Adamowski, and no undue noise disturbed any selection except the national songs, and then the noise became patriotic prayer in which everyone in hearing joined with an exultant devotion that left no room for doubt. Herr Strube was conductor.

People Who Attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan were at one of hte center tables with their daughter, Miss Dorothy Jordan, and a party of young people. Mrs. Jordan was in black silk, trimmed in cream lace and wore a deep Irish lace collar. Her hat was a large flat one of violets.

Miss Jordan was in white muslin with a large white picture hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Haskell Dole of Jamaica Plain had a party of friends. Others present were Dr. and Mrs. J. Foster Bush and their daughter, Miss Bush, the latter in pale blue silk. Mrs. Bush was in black and white satin. Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Williams had friends with them. Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsythe entertained a party. Dr. and Mrs. George B. Rice were at a front table with Dr. and Mrs. William Rice.

Ex-Attorney General A. E. Pillsbury was in the balcony with ladies. Mr. and Mrs. William C. Keen were entertaining at a front table.

Alexander H. Higginson was with a party of men at one of the center tables. Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor were with friends. Mrs. Taylor was in black liberty satin and wore a large white picture hat. She had on a beautiful string of pearls.

Parties of Guests.

Others noted were the Misses Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Cabot, Miss Saltonstall, Stephen Higginson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Aspinwall, Mr. and Mrs. Locke, Miss Elliott and her aunt, Mrs. Arrington. Miss Armstrong and a party of young people, Dr. Snelling, Mr. Heilbrun, who had a large party of guests with him. Miss Elizabeth Hethington who was in deep cream batiste, the bodice of which was elaborately embroidered in the pastel shades. Mr. Olcott was in her party and Miss Sears, the latter being in white liberty crepe with deep flounces or Irish lace trimming her skirt; her hat was a large white picture one of tulle and trimmed in Irish lace and long white sweeping ostrich plumes. She wore a large string of pearls at her throat.

Miss Henderson wore a pale lavender gown of muslin trimmed in cut steel sequins and black thread lace; she had a large bunch of lilies of the valley in her corsage.

The Boston Journal.

TUESDAY,

JUNE 16, 1903.

PATRIOTIC FERVOR AT HARVARD "POP" NIGHT

National Songs Stir Audience to Wild Enthusiasm.

STUDENTS YELL LUSTILY

They Do Not Disturb Herr Strube, Who Conducted, and Concert Passes Off Smoothly.

Harvard produced Roosevelt and Harvard night at the "Pops." Roosevelt produced a sort of strenuous Americanism, and so did Harvard night at the Pops.

"Peggy From Paris," "The Belle of New York," and a dozen other successes brought applause, but when a fantasia of American songs came last evening the crimson light that glinted on bottle and goblet faded, and the blended glow of the red, white and blue reigned supreme.

Hundreds stood at the strains of the patriotic "Star-Spangled Banner," and their voices sang the words that were written years ago in honor of the flag that covers a nation made great by Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and the blending of the sturdy manhood of a hundred races.

[210]

BOSTON TIMES

JUNE 13, 1903.

"Pop" Concerts.

"Tech" night and "bank officers'" night were great events at the "Pop" concerts, but great as they were they will be eclipsed by "Harvard" night, which takes place next Monday evening. It will be the great night of the season. Every table will be fully occupied and the gallery seats will be well filled. The presence of Stewart's military band with Mr. Gustave Strube as conductor will be a distinctive feature. The programme to be rendered is as follows:

March, "Up the Street" ..... Morse
Overture, "Zampa" ..... Herold
Waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song" ..... Strauss
Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
Overture, "Stradella" ..... Flotow
"Ave Maria" ..... Gounod
Selection, "Belle of New York" ..... Kerker
Overture, "Light Cavalry" ..... Suppe
March, "Soldiers' Field". ..... Strube
(First time.)
March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
"American Fantasy" ..... Herbert
"Fair Harvard" .....
(a. March, "Veritas" ..... Densmor, 1904
(b. March, "Our Director" ..... Bigelow

BOSTON COURIER,

JUNE 13, 1903.

—Last night was bank officers' night at the "Pops" and the men of finance and their handsomely gowned fair friends gathered in Symphony hall and made merry. Mr. Adamowski favored the audience with an excellently arranged program, which included catchy selections from the two successes of the association, "Miss Simplicity" and "Baron Humbug."

BOSTON POST

TUESDAY,

JUNE 16, 1903

QUIET HARVARD NIGHT AT POPS

Harvard night at the Pops proved anything but the nerve-shattering pandemonium affair which, after Tech's showing last week, the management felt reasonably certain it might expect.

Gustave Strube, with his sweet smile and his military band, proved a wise change from Adamowski and his orchestra. There were no jeers, no jibes, no discordant notes last night. Strube ruled, and although Harvard made her usual uproar, the evening passed pleasantly without a hitch.

Probably the great reason for Harvard's failure to beat out Tech at "rough housing" was the exceedingly inclement weather. Owing to the rain many tables were left unoccupied until the performance was well under way, and then matters did not get under that terrific headway which usually marks Harvard's connection with the Pops. All through this part of the concert there were desultory cheers for "Five," "Six," "Three" and "Four," and even a cheer for "seven," with three rahs for baby food on the end, but it was not until the "Wine, Woman and Song" waltz had been played that the students began to forget the wet weather outside and make known their wants.

"We want 'Hiawatha'!" was the slogan, echoed by "We, too," "Same here," "Ditto hic" and other decidedly affirmative demonstrations. So Strube played "Hiawatha," and as it began to grow wetter inside (the weather without was entirely forgotten now) things took on a livelier hue.

In the second part it was the "Prince of Pilsen" which was called forth by the new cheer: "Everybody wants the 'Prince of Pilsen'"; and in the third part it was Strube's own new march, "Soldiers Field," which brought a perfect ovation down on the head of that altogether delighted conductor. The piece was encored several times, and when finally the orchestra concluded with a wild, emphatic crescendo the happy Strube was presented with the "reg flag" of the occasion amidst thunderous cheers.

From this time on Symphony was a bedlam. The desultory cheering of the earlier evening became continuous thunder, and when young Densmore, the Harvard junior who composed "Veritas," was given the baton in Strube's place, the hall went wild. Densmore led the band like a veteran and under him they played with a dash and spirit not known before. "Veritas" was followed by "Our Director," which, repeated several times, brought the evening to an enthusiastic close.

Boston Daily Globe.

TUESDAY, JUNE 16, 1903.

BUCKS A BAND.

Military Musicians for Harvard.

No Orchestra Trusted to Its Tender Mercies.

Then the Game is About a Standoff.

Students Get What They Want by Asking for It.

Conductor Strube Ends Evening in Good Favor.

The lights in the porte cochere and the halls were red, and over the stage of Symphony hall last night blazed the word "Harvard" in crimson lights. And the management made one of the best moves that could be conceived for a college occasion.

It substituted for the regular orchestra Stewart's military band and secured Gustav Strube to lead it. The band proved the wisdom of its choice, and Mr Strube went calmly ahead through a pandemonium of noise, leading with all his his old-time insouciance and absolutely in control of the situation. Only once did he yield to the yelled demands for this and that throughout the hall. Then he played selections from "The Prince of Pilsen."

The hall was filled to the last seat on the floor, and the balconies showed a fair attendance. The undergraduate element was very much in evidence, and few of the old grads were present. But the old-time gathering of classes in bunches for yelling or rushing purposes was all done away with.

The yelling began after the second number on the program, when "Hiawatha" was vociferously demanded.

They whistled it suggestively, and Mr Strube got up on his box. But he played the Strauss waltzes, which were next on the program, just to show who was running the band. They demanded "Hiawatha" again, and because they'd been decent about it, Mr Strube gave it to them. And then he just had to play it again.

"Thank you, sir!" shouted the whole hallfull, in a grand chorus, and there was a heap of hidden meaning in the yell, too.

Then the classes began yelling for themselves, and the yells got to crossing one another in the air. Even the subfreshmen piped up with a "Rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, rah, seven!" to the immense amusement of the '06 men.

Some of the yells were rather thin; this was caused by the fact that there was never more than one tableful concerned in one yell, and partly because nearly everybody was busy trying to see whether Miss Alice Roosevelt was in the hall. She was picked out in every pretty girl who wore a striking gown, one girl especially who wore a white lace dress being chosen.

But the real Miss Alice was not present.

Mr Strube played the "Stradella" overture, and then the yells began again. There was a large contingent who wanted "Gen Grant" and insisted that they wanted it all the evening, but it wasn't in the band's books.

"Mister Strube, have you the Prince of Pilsen?" was the main shout. "What's the matter with 'Down Where the Wurzburger Flows?'" others wanted to know.

There was nothing announced as the matter with it, but Mr Strube played the "Prince of Pilsen" music and everybody sang it. The noise was continuous between numbers from now till the last bit of music was finished, nothing occurred that could in the least make any man ashamed of his college, everybody who deserved it was cheered, and the music program went right along on time. Not till they took to cheering manager Comee was anything like unanimity obtained.

Mr Strube played his "Soldiers Field" march for the first time, and made an instant hit. He had to repeat it, and only by sheer refusal escaped repeating his other number, the "Cruiser Harvard" march

One-half the hall began demanding "Gen Grant," half the other half insisting on "The Marseillaise" and the remainder on "Dixie." "Dixie" won, the next number being Herbert's "American Fantasy." When it came to the last strains of Mr Strube's march half the men sang "Glory, glory to the crimson," half the rest "Glory, glory, hallelujah" and the remainder something about "Digging after clams." In the Herbert piece they sang it from one end to the other, and the "Star-Spangled Banner" brought every person in the great crowd to his feet, singing and cheering as in the days of '98.

"We want the 'Marseillaise,—yoo-oo!" yelled everybody, but Mr Strube relentlessly played "Fair Harvard."

Densmore '04 led his own popular composition, the "Veritas" march, and everybody stole the crimson banners which hung over the balcony fronts—300 of them—and went home.

The Boston Journal.

TUESDAY,

JUNE 16, 1903.

PATRIOTIC FERVOR AT HARVARD "POP" NIGHT

National Songs Stir Audience to Wild Enthusiasm.

STUDENTS YELL LUSTILY

They Do Not Disturb Herr Strube, Who Conducted, and Concert Passes Off Smoothly.

Harvard produced Roosevelt and Harvard night at the "Pops." Roosevelt produced a sort of strenuous Americanism, and so did Harvard night at the Pops.

"Peggy From Paris," "The Belle of New York," and a dozen other successes brought applause, but when a fantasia of American songs came last evening the crimson light that glinted on bottle and goblet faded, and the blended glow of the red, white and blue reigned supreme.

Hundreds stood at the strains of the patriotic "Star-Spangled Banner," and their voices sang the words that were written years ago in honor of the flag that covers a nation made great by Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and the blending of the sturdy manhood of a hundred races.

Night Boisterous.

The night was boisterous with the yells of a thousand Cambridge men. Cheer upon cheer rent the smoke-filled air.

The night had none of the sensational features of "Tech" night. No baton was dented or worn because of the irritation of an Adamowski, and no undue noise disturbed any selection except the national songs, and then the noise became patriotic prayer in which everyone in hearing joined with an exultant devotion that left no room for doubt. Herr Strube was conductor.

People Who Attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan were at one of hte center tables with their daughter, Miss Dorothy Jordan, and a party of young people. Mrs. Jordan was in black silk, trimmed in cream lace and wore a deep Irish lace collar. Her hat was a large flat one of violets.

Miss Jordan was in white muslin with a large white picture hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Haskell Dole of Jamaica Plain had a party of friends. Others present were Dr. and Mrs. J. Foster Bush and their daughter, Miss Bush, the latter in pale blue silk. Mrs. Bush was in black and white satin. Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Williams had friends with them. Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsythe entertained a party. Dr. and Mrs. George B. Rice were at a front table with Dr. and Mrs. William Rice.

Ex-Attorney General A. E. Pillsbury was in the balcony with ladies. Mr. and Mrs. William C. Keen were entertaining at a front table.

Alexander H. Higginson was with a party of men at one of the center tables. Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor were with friends. Mrs. Taylor was in black liberty satin and wore a large white picture hat. She had on a beautiful string of pearls.

Parties of Guests.

Others noted were the Misses Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Cabot, Miss Saltonstall, Stephen Higginson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Aspinwall, Mr. and Mrs. Locke, Miss Elliott and her aunt, Mrs. Arrington. Miss Armstrong and a party of young people, Dr. Snelling, Mr. Heilbrun, who had a large party of guests with him, Miss Elizabeth Hethington who was in deep cream batiste, the bodice of which was elaborately embroidered in the pastel shades, Mr. Olcott was in her party and Miss Sears, the latter being in white liberty crepe with deep flounces or Irish lace trimming her skirt; her hat was a large white picture one of tulle and trimmed in Irish lace and long white sweeping ostrich plumes. She wore a large string of pearls at her throat.

Miss Henderson wore a pale lavender gown of muslin trimmed in cut steel sequins and black thread lace; she had a large bunch of lilies of the valley in her corsage.

[210]

THE BOSTON HERALD—TUESDAY, JUNE 16, 1903.

HARVARD CHEERS MEEKLY SUBSIDE AT POPS, FOR BRASS BAND DROWNS OUT ALL YELLING.

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE POPS.

Most Ladylike "Harvard Night" Ever Known, but There Is a Graduates' Night Coming Monday.

In typical Harvard style, as several followers of the crimson called it, was the Harvard night at the Pops concert last evening; plenty of fun, plenty of noise, plenty of enthusiasm, but withal perfect decorum and an overcasting air of gentility.

It was a blowing off of the safety valve after several weeks of high tension during the examination period; but the kind where no apologies were necessary to ladies. It was a little debauch of ice cream, ginger ale and lemonade. It was the kind of spree where a dress suit was in no danger of being put out of commission.

Too much credit for the evening of college fun without "rough house" features should not be heaped upon the Johnny Harvards, however, because the distinct feature of the evening was due to the entertainment, by the wise selection of a military band instead of an orchestra, under the direction of the popular leader, Mr. Gustave Strube.

The students started out to drown out the music with cheering, but they only made themselves hoarse until they croaked like automobile horns. The triumphant band, with a deafening blare of brass and din of drum marched straight ahead, undaunted. The band took the lead in the noise making, and kept it straight through the programme. The students were beaten at their own game at the very outset, and simply settled down to have a good time. There was no question as to whether they would listen. It was at the mercy of the conductor whether he should listen to the students. Only twice did he digress from his fixed programme, when he gave them selections from the "Prince of Pilsen" and "Hiawatha," as they requested at the top of their voices.

The audience was unusually large, and was graced by the presence of an unusual proportion of ladies. The consequent scattering of the young men throughout the hall, instead of allowing them to mass their cheering, probably handicapped them. In honor of the occasion the porte cochere was bordered with crimson incandescent lights, which cast a lurid glare over the assemblage arriving in the rain. Within the hall the same kind of lights spelled "Harvard" in large letters over the platform, while around the balconies the college color was conspicuous by 300 crimson souvenir banners. These banners remained in place only till the arrival of the audience, however, for they were hastily appropriated as trophies.

Frequently, when the band gave them a chance, the students had cheering matches by classes. A concerted appeal for "General Grant" or "Dixie" would be answered by a unanimity of opinion around the hall in a roar of "So do we," "We, too," "Same here" and "Also too." Mr. Strube would feel that he had something just as good, however, and, like a man playing a winning game, proceeded as he had planned.

One of the most effective yells during the evening of undisturbing whoops rang out with food for thought in it:

Quaker Oats, Quaker Oats, Quaker Oats.
Zest, Force, Zest, Force, Zest, Force,
Quaker Oats, Quaker Oats, Quaker Oats,
Grape Nuts.

The sub-freshmen were cheered, "'07, '07, '07; Mellen's Food." Stewart's Military band played the following:

1. March, "Up the Street".....Morse
2. Overture, "Zampa".....Herold
3. Waltz, "Wine, Woman and Song".Strauss
4. Selection, "King Dodo".....Luders
5. Overture, "Stradella".....Flotow
6. Selection, "Prince of Pilsen".....Luders
7. Selection, "Belle of New York"....Kerker
8. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
9. { a. March, "Soldier's Field".....Strube
   { b. March, "Cruiser Harvard"....Strube
10. American Fantasy.....Herbert
11. "Fair Harvard."
12. { a. March, "Veritas".....Densmore, 1904
    { b. March, "Our Director".....Bigelow

Densmore, '04, received an ovation when he conducted the encore of his "Veritas" march.

Harvard men are expecting the greatest demonstration of the year at the Graduates' night at the Pops next Monday night.

Yes, it takes a big brass band, with a big bass drum accompaniment, to chime in with these Harvard festivities about this season of the academic year.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1903.

HARVARD NIGHT AT POPS WAS HUGELY ENJOYED

"Harvard Night" at the Pops brought out a big crowd last night despite the severe storm.

As usual, the sign "Harvard" blazed in crimson light over the stage. Crimson banners, bearing the insignia "H., 1903," draped both balconies.

These banners early became the prey of the souvenir fiend, however, and Mgr. Fred Comee—all of whose arrangements were admirable—simply smiled good naturedly, being a Harvard man himself.

There was plenty of cheering, and yet things seemed a little bit tamer than usual.

The students had everything their own way, and could hardly have been more polite.

They had a military band of their own choosing instead of the Symphony Orchestra, and Gustave Strube as conductor instead of Adamowski, who, since "Tech" night, is not so popular with the average undergraduate as formerly, when he was not so nervous.

Weeks ago the military band was decided on for "Grads'" night, because everybody wanted something that couldn't be drowned by the cheering, and after the "Tech" night episode it was thought wise to have the same arrangement for Harvard night.

Strube's popularity with the students received tremendous proof last night. He was given an ovation when he first appeared and there were oft-repeated cheers for "Strube." His new composition, "Soldiers Field," a martial and spirited melody, and his "Crimson Harvard" were both long applauded, and "Soldiers Field" had to be repeated.

"We want Hiawatha," "So do we," "Same here," were the cries that went up after the second selection. When no response came, there followed: "Please give us Hiawatha," in more plaintive note.

Still no response.

Then they whistled the air. Strube give it, of his own accord after the third selection, as an encore, and it is by such tactful acts that he became popular.

"We thank you, sir," the students chorused.

Despite the rain many delicate fabrics were worn by the fair sex, and floor and balconies were like an animated flower garden. The great majority present were young people, and there were many pretty girls at the tables—some without chaperones—as well as upstairs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Jordan brought a charming party of young people, among whom were Miss Jordan and young Mr. Jordan.

Densmore, the junior who composed "Veritas," was called for, and he conducted the march on its encore.

[211]

Boston Transcript

TUESDAY, JUNE 16, 1903

THE BRASS BAND WON

Harvard Students Had to Subside When the Trombone and the Big Bassdrum Got in Their Work at Symphony Hall

Harvard undergraduates went to the Pops at Symphony Hall last night and met something that they could not drown out. It was Stewart's Brass Band, led by Mr. Gustav Strube, substituted for the regular orchestra. As a result, the occasion was one of the quietest of its kind that has been held for years, though towards the end of the evening things livened up enough for the boys to demand a few of the more popular airs, which Mr. Strube, after much urging, gave them. The floor, in spite of the violent rain outside, had almost more than its usual sprinkling of women, so the cheerers were widely separated and unable to present a united front against the all-powerful band. Between the numbers, however, isolated groups throughout the hall set up cheers for their several classes, with now and then a yell for the sub-freshmen, the name of a popular brand of baby's food at the end.

When anything that they knew was played the students sang it, but they kept calling for several of their favorite songs, like the "Marseillaise," without getting them. Toward the close of the programme were two Harvard numbers by Mr. Strube himself, one of them his popular "Cruiser Harvard" and the other a new composition, played last evening for the first time, called "Soldiers' Field." The march, "Veritas," by Densmore, 1904, was led by the composer himself, and was received with enthusiasm.

The hall was decorated, as usual, with red lights and red banners. The lights spelled out a huge "Harvard" over the organ, and the flags which hung from the balcony rails disappeared very early in the evening.

A brass band instead of the Symphony Orchestra provided the music last night for the annual "Harvard night" at the Pop concerts. Everything went off smoothly, the band not being so easily disconcerted by the vigorous cheering of the Harvard men as the orchestra on former years. But as usual the evening was a lively one, and the crimson banners with which the balconies were decorated filled their usual mission of souvenirs before the festivities were over. Gustav Strube conducted.

THE HARVARD BULLETIN.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., JUNE 17, 1903.

GRADS' NIGHT AT THE POPS.

Next Monday will be Graduates' Night at the Pop Concert in Symphony Hall. Tickets at 75 cents each may be had of the secretaries of the classes or at the Hall. The floor will be reserved for graduates, but ladies will be admitted to the balcony. Stewart's Military Band, with Mr. Gustav Strube as director, has been engaged for the evening.

The programme follows:

1. March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube
2. Overture, "Pique Dame," Suppe
3. Waltz, "Tout Paris," Waldteufel
4. Overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas
5. Introduction, Act III, "Lohengrin," Wagner
6. Selection, "Toreador," Monckton
7. Overture, "William Tell," Rossini
8. Selection, "King Dodo," Luders
9. March, "Veritas," Densmore
10. American Airs, Herbert
11. "Fair Harvard."
12. "Up the Street," Morse

BOSTON POST
The Representative Democratic Paper of New England

THURSDAY,

JUNE 18, 1903

With Monday last as Harvard night and next Monday graduates' night; Tuesday, homeopathy alumni, and Friday, Mr. Adamowski's benefit night, the 18th season of the "Pops" will close most successfully. The programme for tonight is: March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; ballet music, "Henry VIII.," Saint-Saens; selection, "Mikado," Sullivan; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; English dances, Cowen; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; largo, Handel; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; selection, "Girofle-Girofla," Lecocq; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; waltz, "In Lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; march, "Boccaccio," Suppe.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1903

With Monday last as Harvard night and next Monday graduates' night, Tuesday Homœopathy alumni and Friday Mr. Adamowski's benefit night, the eighteenth season of the "Pops" will close most successfully. The selections for tonight follow: March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; ballet music, "Henry VIII.," Saint-Saëns; selection, "Mikado," Sullivan; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; English dances, Cowen; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; Largo, Handel; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; selection, "Girofle-Girofla," Lecocq; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; waltz, "In lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; march, "Boccacio," Suppe.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 169.

THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1903.

With Monday as Harvard night and next Monday Harvard graduates' night, Tuesday Homoeopathy alumni and Friday Mr. Adamowski's benefit night, the 18th season of the "Pops" will close most successfully. The programme for tonight is: March, "Hoch Habsburg," Kral; ballet music, "Henry VIII.," Saint-Saens; selection, "Mikado," Sullivan; waltz, "Violets," Waldteufel; English dances, Cowen; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; largo, Handel; waltz, "Gretna Green," Guiraud; selection, "Girofle-Girofla," Lecocq; overture, "Stradella," Flotow; waltz, "In Lauschiger Nacht," Ziehrer; march, "Boccacio," Suppe.

BOSTON JOURNAL-
-THURSDAY,
JUNE 18, 1903.

With Monday last as Harvard night and next Monday Graduates' night, Tuesday Homeopathy Alumni and Friday Mr. Adamowski's benefit night, the eighteenth season of the "Pops" will close most successfully.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

THURSDAY MORNING,

JUNE 18, 1903.

With Monday last as Harvard night and next Monday graduates' night, Tuesday Homeopathy Alumni, and Friday Mr. Adamoski's benefit night, the 18th season of the "Pops" will close most successfully.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

THURSDAY,

JUNE 18, 1903.

With Monday last as Harvard night and next Monday graduates' night, Tuesday Homeopathy Alumni, and Friday Mr. Adamoski's benefit night, the 18th season of the "Pops" will close most successfully.

BOSTON POST
The Representative Democratic Paper of New England

SATURDAY,

JUNE 20, 1903

As the end of the Pop concert season draws to a close the interest in these fine entertainments increases, and next week will be a busy one for all. The programme for tonight is: Overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; ballet music, "Sylvia," Delibes; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; suite, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; largo, Handel; wedding march, Mendelssohn; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Grubenlicter," Zeller; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903.

Next week will be the last of the "pop" concerts in Symphony hall. Monday will be "Harvard graduates" night, and conductor Adamowski will have a benefit Friday evening.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

SATURDAY

JUNE 20, 1903.

THE POPS.

As the end of the Pop season draws to a close the interest in these fine entertainments increases and next week will be a busy one for all. The programme for tonight is: Overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; ballet music, "Sylvia," Delibes; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; suite, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; largo, Handel; Wedding March," Mendelssohn; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; waltz, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

BOSTON JOURNAL-
-SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903.

As the end of the Pop concert season draws to a close the interest in these fine entertainments increases, and next week will be a busy one for all.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 171.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903.

As the Pop concert season draws to a close the interest in these fine entertainments increases and next week will be a busy one for all. The programme for tonight is: Overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; ballet music, "Sylvia," Delibes; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; suite, "Bobadil," Moszkowski; largo, Handel; Wedding March, Mendelssohn; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection "Toreador," Caryll; waltz "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903

The eighteenth season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall is nearing the close, the coming week being the last. Many special features have been arranged. On Monday evening the "Harvard Graduates" will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor has been reserved for them and a portion of the first balcony. Their numbers will include representatives from over thirty classes. For this evening only Stewart's Military Band, with Mr. Gustav Strube as leader, will furnish the music. Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homœopathy, 1000 strong. On Friday evening Conductor Adamowski will be given a testimonial, and it is anticipated that it will be one of the most brilliant of the season. The programme will be made up entirely from compositions by Wagned and Tchaikovsky. The closing night will be on Saturday. The programme for this evening is: Overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; ballet music, "Sylvia," Delibes; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; suite, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; largo, Handel; wedding march, Mendelssohn; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

BOSTON TRAVELER,

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903.

The Pops.

As the end of the pop concert season draws to a close the interest in these fine entertainments increases and next week will be a busy one for all. The programme for tonight is: Overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; ballet music, "Sylvia," Delibes; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; suite, "Bobadil," Moszkowski; Largo, Handel; Wedding March, Mendelssohn; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903.

THE POPS.

As the end of the Pop season draws to a close the interest in these fine entertainments increases and next week will be a busy one for all. The programme for tonight is: Overture, "Raymond," A. Thomas; ballet music, "Sylvia," Delibes; selection, "Faust," Gounod; waltz, "Eternelle Ivresse," Ganne; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; suite, "Boabdil," Moszkowski; largo, Handel; Wedding March," Mendelssohn; overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe; selection, "Toreador," Caryll; waltz, "Grubenlichter," Zeller; march, "Black Bess," Strube.

[212]

Avon Record.
Randolph Review.
Brookville Progress.
Holbrook Times.

SATURDAY. JUNE 13. 1903.

Symphony Hall

POPS

50-GRAND ORCHESTRA-50

MR. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor

Every Evening except Sunday, 8 to 11.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats 25c extra.

NOW ON SALE.

BOSTON TIMES

JUNE 20, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

Last Monday evening was Harvard night at the "Pop" concerts, and notwithstanding the storm that prevailed, Symphony hall was filled with one of the jolliest crowds of the season, and an equally brilliant event will take place next Monday evening, which will be graduates' night, and old Harvard and young Harvard will be largely represented by members of classes of various years. The following programme will be played by Stewart's Military band under the direction of Mr. Gustave Strube:

March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Overture, "Pique Dame" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Tout Paris" ..... Waldteufel
Overture, 'Mignon" ..... A. Thomas
Introduction, act III, "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Selection, "Toreador" ..... Monckton
Overture "William Tell" ..... Rossin
Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
March, "Veritas" ..... Densmore, 1904
American airs ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street.

Tuesday evening will be another gala night as 1000 tickets have already been taken by members of the American Institute of Homeopathy.

BOSTON COURIER,

JUNE 20, 1903.

— Harvard night at the Pops proved quite as merry an occasion as in former years, and brought out one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of the season. It was a genuine pleasure to see genial Mr. Strube wield the baton again, and his presence added not a little to the success of the evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, the latter in blue veiling, of the new shade, with white lace, and a blue flower hat. Included in the party were Miss Dorothy Jordan, who was in white figured muslin, with a white hat, Mr. Robert Jordan and Mr. Nason Hamlin. Nearby were Mr. Benjamin M. L. Tower and daughters, Miss Adelaide Tower and Miss Eliza Tower, one in blue veiling and white lace, with black picture hat, and the other in gray, done with lace, and toque of burnt straw, with black trimmings. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mrs. Forsyth, as usual, looking exceedingly pretty, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird, and their son, Mr. Stewart Baird, the Rev. Nathan Haskell Dole, and hundreds more. Monday, graduates night, will be the banner occasion of the coming week, and it is rumored that Stewart's Military Band has prepared the most alluring sort of a program for the affair.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1903.

LAST WEEK OF THE "POPS."

The 18th season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall is nearing the close, tomorrow night being the beginning of the end. For this last week many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow night the Harvard graduates will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor and a portion of the first balcony have been reserved for them. Their numbers will include representatives from more than 30 classes and for the evening Stewart's military band with Mr Gustav Strube will furnish the music.

The program will be as follows:

March, Cruiser Harvard ..... Strube
Overture, Pique Dame ..... Suppe
Waltz, Tout Paris ..... Waldteufel
Overture, Mignon ..... A Thomas
Introduction, act III, Lohengrin ..... Wagner
Selection, Toreador ..... Monckton
Overture, William Tell ..... Rossini
Selection, King Dodo ..... Luders
March, Veritas ..... Densmore, 1904
American Airs ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, Up the Street.

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, JUNE 21, 1903

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE POPS

Harvard night at the Pops proved the merriest sort of an occasion, and brought out one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of the season. It was a great pleasure to see genial Mr. Strube wield the baton again, and his presence added not a little to the delight of the evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, the latter in blue veiling of the new shade, with white lace and a blue flower hat, while others in the party were Miss Dorothy Jordan, who was in white figured muslin and a white hat, Mr. Robert Jordan and Mr. Nason Hamlin. Near by were Mr. Benjamin L. M. Tower and daughters, Miss Adelaide Tower and Miss Eliza Tower, one in blue veiling and white lace, with black picture hat, and the other in gray, done with lace, and toque of burnt straw with black trimmings. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mrs. Forsyth, as usual, looking exceedingly pretty; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird and their son, Mr. Stewart Baird; the Rev. Nathan Haskell Dole, and hundreds more. Tomorrow, graduates' night, will be the banner occasion of the week, and it is rumored that Stewart's Military Band has prepared the most alluring sort of a programme for the affair.

THE POPS

The 18th season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall is nearing the close, tomorrow night being the beginning of the end. For this last week many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow (Monday) night the "Harvard graduates" will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor has been reserved for them and a portion of the first balcony. Their numbers will include representatives from over 30 classes. For that evening only Stewart's Military Band, with Gustave Strube as leader, will furnish the music. Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the alumni conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy, 1000 strong.

The many friends of Conductor T. Adamowski, as well as the musical public, will be glad to know that he will be given a testimonial on Friday evening, June 26. The programme will be made up entirely of alternate selections by Wagner and Tschaikowski. The closing night will be on Saturday.

The programme for Mr. Adamowski's benefit night will be:

Polonaise, Tschaikowski; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; adante from quartet, Tschaikowski; "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; "Albumblatt," Wagner; violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek; "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; suite, "Nut Cracker," Tschaikowski; finale, Act III., "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz from "Oneguin," Tschaikowski; "Tannhauser" march, Wagner.

Monday, Harvard graduates' night, will begin the last week of the Pops, and the programme will be: March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; overture, "Pique Dame," Suppe; waltz, "Tout Paris," Waldteufel; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; introduction, Act. III "Lohengrin," Wagner; selection, "Toreador," Monckton; overture, "William Tell," Rossini; selection, "King Dodo," Luders; march, "Veritas," Densmore, 1904; American airs, Herbert; "Fair Harvard"; march, "Up the Street."

SUNDAY JOURNAL-

-JUNE 21, 1903.

THE POPS.

The eighteenth season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall is nearing the close, tomorrow night being the beginning of the end. For this last week many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow, Monday night, the "Harvard graduates" will be strongly in evidence. For this evening only Stewart's military band, with Mr. Gustav Strube as leader, will furnish music.

Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy, 1000 strong. The many friends of Conductor T. Adamowski, as well as the musical public, will be glad to know that he will be given a testimonial on Friday evening, June 26. The program for Mr. Adamowski's benefit night will be:

Polonaise ..... Tschaikowski
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
Andante from quartet ..... Tschaikowski
Ride of the Valkyries ..... Wagner
Overture, "1812" ..... Tschaikowski
Albumblatt ..... Wagner
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
La Belle au Bois Dormant .....
..... Tschaikowski
Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
Suite, "Nut Cracker" ..... Tschaikowski
Finale, Act III., "Lohengrin" .... Wagner
Waltz, from Oneguin ..... Tschaikowski
Tannhauser March ..... Wagner

Monday, Harvard graduates night, begins the last week of the "Pops," and the program will be: March, "Cruiser Harvard;" overture, "Pique Dame;" waltz, "Tout Paris;" overture, "Mignon;" introduction, act 3, "Lohengrin;" selection, "Toreador;" overture, "William Tell;" selection, "King Dodo;" march, "Veritas;" American airs; Fair Harvard; march, "Up the Street."

Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the alumni conclave of the American institute of homeopathy, 1000 strong.

Conductor T. Adamowski will be given a testimonial Friday evening, June 26.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 172.

SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1903.

THE "POPS."

For this last week of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow night the Harvard graduates will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor and a portion of the first balcony have been reserved for them. Their numbers will include representatives from over 30 classes. For this evening Stewart's military band, with Mr. Gustav Strube as leader, will furnish the music. The programme is appended:

March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Overture, "Pique Dame" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Tout Paris" ..... Waldteufel
Overture, "Mignon" ..... A. Thomas
Introduction act III., "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Selection, "Toreador" ..... Monckton
Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
March, "Veritas" ..... Densmore, 1904
American Airs ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street."

Tuesday, reservation of seats has been made for the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homoeopathy, 1000 strong. The many friends of Conductor T. Adamowski, as well as the musical public, will be glad to know that he will be given a testimonial on Friday evening, June 26. The programme will be made up entirely of alternate selections from Wagner and Tschaikowski, as follows:

1. Polonaise ..... Tschaikowski
2. Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
3. Andante from quartet ..... Tschaikowski
4. Ride of the Valkyries ..... Wagner
5. Overture, "1812" ..... Tschaikowski
6. Albumblatt ..... Wagner
   Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
7. La Belle au Bois Dormant .... Tschaikowski
8. Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
9. Suite, "Nut Cracker" ..... Tschaikowski
10. Finale, act 3, "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
11. Waltz from Oneguin ..... Tschaikowski
12. Tannhauser March ..... Wagner

On Monday, which was Harvard night at the Pops, there was a great crowd and a similar demonstration, although perhaps more quiet than usual for a crimsion night. Every table was taken and the balconies well filled. Mr. Strube's brass band proved a great improvement over the classic orchestra for such an occasion. It could make twice as much noise as the boys did with their whistling and singing, and they magnanimously accepted a second place. Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan had a party there that night, including their son, a Harvard student, and daughter, and Mr. Nason Hamlin. Mrs. Jordan wore blue albatross with white embroidery, and a deep cape collar of lace. Her hat was of blue flowers. Miss Jordan was very pretty in white muslin daintily flowered, and a white hat wreathed with pink roses and foliage. Others having table parties were Mr. A. H. Higginson, who brought a number of young men; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Haskell Dole, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird and Mr. Stewart Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin, L. M. Tower and Miss Eliza and Miss Adelaide Tower, one in gray veiling with white lace and a burnt straw toque with black trimming, and the other in blue with ecru insertions and a black plumed hat. Tomorrow night is Graduates' night, when the music will be by the same military band, with Mr. Strube conducting. This is the last week of the Pops. Mr. Adamowski is sailing on the Campania from New York Saturday, a week earlier than he expected, because of his father's illness.

SUNDAY GLOB

-JUNE 21. 190

TABLE GOSSIP.

—Harvard night opened the we the Pop concerts, the first without sic by the orchestra, a military under the direction of Mr Strube, ing been substituted. There w stirring program, played magnific and the house, which was full in part, rose to the occasion and fu good nature prevailed. The leader of the most amiable of men, acced the request of the audience on tw three occasions, when numbers no nounced were called for. The stu were scattered about the hall, and massed near the stage as has bee case heretofore, so that the cheerl classes was more widely distrib Many ladies, all in pretty spring lettes, occupied the tables, and m large parties came from their sum homes. Crimson banners hung from balconies at frequent intervals and vard in crimson incandescent lights the platform added to the brilliancy the interior of the hall, and the p cochere at the entrance, bordered crimson incandescent lights, made pleasant contrast to the dull, gloo evening. Mr Alexander H. Higgins had a party of a dozen young men w him, and Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jord who were in town for the races, ha family party, including Mr Robert J dan, Miss Dorothy Jordan and a yo lady friend of their daughter. Jordan was in black crepe de ch touched with white, and a deep I lace cape worn over the shoulder, w a flat black hat, having a crown wreath of violets. Miss Dorothy was white muslin and a leghorn hat wit wreath of small white roses and foli around the crown. Her friend was in white, and wore a white hat w white ostrich plumes. Dr and M William Rice, Dr and Mrs George R and Mr and Mrs Eric Pope had a ta near the platform. Mrs Pope wore becoming costume of fawn veiling, w white chiffon hat combined with p blue, and black silk cloak with d Irish lace collar. Mrs George Rice black silk skirt, light blue corded s bodice appliqued with cream lace, French toque with foliage and yell the crimson roses. Mrs William R black veiling, Italian lace fichu turquoise necklace, with a black h Mr William Rotch, Miss Edith Rot Mr and Mrs George Mann and Mr B tram Waters, with friends. When band played the "Star Spangled Banne the great audience rose at once many joined in singing.

—Tuesday evening brought out large audience at the Pops, and music was of a much more quiet or than the evening before. Mrs John Gardner had a table with seve friends, including Mr and Mrs Thom Hitchcock Jr, who have been at th country home at Westbury, L I, are now visiting Mrs Gardner at Gr Hill, Brookline, for the Country c races; Mr Grafton Cushing, and othe Mrs Gardner, who came to the Pops the first time this season, was all black, and wore an embroidered shou der cape caught with a brooch of di monds having a sapphire in the cente Mrs Hitchcock wore an exquisite blac lace costume, with girdle of pale blue and a white lace fichu, trimmed wit deep points of cluny lace; her hat was black, with ostrich plumes. A young girl with them was in white organdie, with pink flowers, and a white straw hat with crown of blush roses and foliage. Mrs Wirt Dexter and her daughter, with some gentlemen, had a table near by. Mrs Dexter wore a lovely gown, of black and white striped liberty satin, the bodice adorned with venetian lace in pionts, and a stole chiffon shoulder cape. She also wore a small black hat, with a fold of white tulle around the brim, and a white aigrette. Miss Dexter was in a gown of tussah silk and cloak of the same made with insertions of lace of the same shade, and a crimson chiffon hat with crimson roses and foliage. Mr and Mrs Frederic S. Converse had friends with them. Mrs Converse was in black and white checked taffeta, and black and white chiffon hat. Mr Dana Estes, Mr and Mrs William Copley Winslow and Mr Dennie Boardman and Mr Wallace Goodrich with two ladies in their party were present. Enthusiasm will be at its hight tomorrow, graduates' night, and this week closes a very successful season.

[213]

Avon Record.
Randolph Reporter.
Brookline Chronicle.
Holbrook Times.

SATURDAY. JUNE 13, 1903.

Symphony Hall

POPS

50-GRAND ORCHESTRA-50

MR. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor

Every Evening except Sunday, 8 to 11.

Admission 50c. Reserved Seats 25c extra.

NOW ON SALE.

BOSTON TIMES

JUNE 20, 1903.

The "Pop" Concerts.

Last Monday evening was Harvard night at the "Pop" concerts, and notwithstanding the storm that prevailed, Symphony hall was filled with one of the jolliest crowds of the season, and an equally brilliant event will take place next Monday evening, which will be graduates' night, and old Harvard and young Harvard will be largely represented by members of classes of various years. The following programme will be played by Stewart's Military band under the direction of Mr. Gustave Strube:

March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Overture, "Pique Dame" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Tout Paris" ..... Waldteufel
Overture, "Mignon" ..... A. Thomas
Introduction, act III, "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Selection, "Toreador" ..... Monckton
Overture "William Tell" ..... Rossin
Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
March "Veritas" ..... Densmore, 1904
American airs ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street.

Tuesday evening will be another gala night as 1000 tickets have already been taken by members of the American Institute of Homeopathy.

BOSTON COURIER,

JUNE 20, 1903.

— Harvard night at the Pops proved quite as merry an occasion as in former years, and brought out one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of the season. It was a genuine pleasure to see genial Mr. Strube wield the baton again, and his presence added not a little to the success of the evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Eben D Jordan, the latter in blue veiling, of the new shade, with white lace, and a blue flower hat. Included in the party were Miss Dorothy Jordan, who was in white figured muslin, with a white hat, Mr. Robert Jordan and Mr. Nason Hamlin. Nearby were Mr. Benjamin M. L. Tower and daughters, Miss Adelaide Tower and Miss Eliza Tower, one in blue veiling and white lace, with black picture hat, and the other in gray, done with lace, and toque of burnt straw, with black trimmings. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mrs. Forsyth, as usual, looking exceedingly pretty, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird, and their son, Mr. Stewart Baird, the Rev. Nathan Haskell Dole, and hundreds more. Monday, graduates night, will be the banner occasion of the coming week, and it is rumored that Stewart's Military Band has prepared the most alluring sort of a program for the affair.

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1903.

LAST WEEK OF THE "POPS."

The 18th season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony hall is nearing the close, tomorrow night being the beginning of the end. For this last week many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow night the Harvard graduates will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor and a portion of the first balcony have been reserved for them. Their numbers will include representatives from more than 30 classes and for the evening Stewart's military band with Mr Gustav Strube will furnish the music.

The program will be as follows:

March, Cruiser Harvard ..... Strube
Overture, Pique Dame ..... Suppe
Waltz, Tout Paris ..... Waldteufel
Overture, Mignon ..... A Thomas
Introduction, act III, Lohengrin ..... Wagner
Selection, Toreador ..... Monckton
Overture, William Tell ..... Rossini
Selection, King Dodo ..... Luders
March, Veritas ..... Densmore, 1904
American Airs ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, Up the Street.

BOSTON SUNDAY POST, JUNE 21, 1903

HARVARD NIGHT AT THE POPS

Harvard night at the Pops proved the merriest sort of an occasion, and brought out one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences of the season. It was a great pleasure to see genial Mr. Strube wield the baton again, and his presence added not a little to the delight of the evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan, the latter in blue veiling of the new shade, with white lace and a blue flower hat, while others in the party were Miss Dorothy Jordan, who was in white figured muslin and a white hat, Mr. Robert Jordan and Mr. Nason Hamlin. Near by were Mr. Benjamin L. M. Tower and daughters, Miss Adelaide Tower and Miss Eliza Tower, one in blue veiling and white lace, with black picture hat, and the other in gray, done with lace, and toque of burnt straw with black trimmings. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forsyth, Mrs. Forsyth, as usual, looking exceedingly pretty; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird and their son, Mr. Stewart Baird; the Rev. Nathan Haskell Dole, and hundreds more. Tomorrow, graduates' night, will be the banner occasion of the week, and it is rumored that Stewart's Military Band has prepared the most alluring sort of a programme for the affair.

THE POPS

The 18th season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall is nearing the close, tomorrow night being the beginning of the end. For this last week many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow (Monday) night the "Harvard graduates" will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor has been reserved for them and a portion of the first balcony. Their numbers will include representatives from over 30 classes. For that evening only Stewart's Military Band, with Gustave Strube as leader, will furnish the music. Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the alumni conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy, 1000 strong.

The many friends of Conductor T. Adamowski, as well as the musical public, will be glad to know that he will be given a testimonial on Friday evening, June 26. The programme will be made up entirely of alternate selections by Wagner and Tschaikowski. The closing night will be on Saturday.

The programme for Mr. Adamowski's benefit night will be:

Polonaise, Tschaikowski; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; adante from quartet, Tschaikowski; "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; "Albumblatt," Wagner; violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek; "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; suite, "Nut Cracker," Tschaikowski; finale, Act III., "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz from "Oneguin," Tschaikowski; "Tannhauser" march, Wagner.

Monday, Harvard graduates' night, will begin the last week of the Pops, and the programme will be: March, "Cruiser Harvard," Strube; overture, "Pique Dame," Suppe; waltz, "Tout Paris," Waldteufel; overture, "Mignon," A. Thomas; introduction, Act. III "Lohengrin," Wagner; selection, "Toreador," Monckton; overture, "William Tell," Rossini; selection, "King Dodo," Luders; march, "Veritas," Densmore, 1904; American airs, Herbert; "Fair Harvard"; march, "Up the Street."

SUNDAY JOURNAL-

-JUNE 21, 1903.

THE POPS.

The eighteenth season of the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall is nearing the close, tomorrow night being the beginning of the end. For this last week many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow, Monday night, the "Harvard graduates" will be strongly in evidence. For this evening only Stewart's military band, with Mr. Gustav Strube as leader, will furnish music.

Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homeopathy, 1000 strong. The many friends of Conductor T. Adamowski, as well as the musical public, will be glad to know that he will be given a testimonial on Friday evening, June 26. The program for Mr. Adamowski's benefit night will be:

Polonaise ..... Tschaikowski
Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
Andante from quartet ..... Tschaikowski
Ride of the Valkyries ..... Wagner
Overture, "1812" ..... Tschaikowski
Albumblatt ..... Wagner
Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
La Belle au Bois Dormant .....
..... Tschaikowski
Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
Suite, "Nut Cracker" ..... Tschaikowski
Finale, Act III., "Lohengrin" .... Wagner
Waltz, from Oneguin ..... Tschaikowski
Tannhauser March ..... Wagner

Monday, Harvard graduates night, begins the last week of the "Pops," and the program will be: March, "Cruiser Harvard;" overture, "Pique Dame;" waltz, "Tout Paris;" overture, "Mignon;" introduction, act 3, "Lohengrin;" selection, "Toreador;" overture, "William Tell;" selection, "King Dodo;" march, "Veritas;" American airs; Fair Harvard; march, "Up the Street."

Tuesday reservation of seats has been made for the alumni conclave of the American institute of homeopathy, 1000 strong.

Conductor T. Adamowski will be given a testimonial Friday evening, June 26.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 172.

SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1903.

THE "POPS."

For this last week of the "Pop" concerts in Symphony Hall many special features have been arranged. Tomorrow night the Harvard graduates will be strongly in evidence, as the entire floor and a portion of the first balcony have been reserved for them. Their numbers will include representatives from over 30 classes. For this evening Stewart's military band, with Mr. Gustav Strube as leader, will furnish the music. The programme is appended:

March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube
Overture, "Pique Dame" ..... Suppe
Waltz, "Tout Paris" ..... Waldteufel
Overture, "Mignon" ..... A. Thomas
Introduction act III., "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
Selection, "Toreador" ..... Monckton
Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
Selection, "King Dodo" ..... Luders
March, "Veritas" ..... Densmore, 1904
American Airs ..... Herbert
Fair Harvard.
March, "Up the Street."

Tuesday, reservation of seats has been made for the Alumni Conclave of the American Institute of Homoeopathy, 1000 strong. The many friends of Conductor T. Adamowski, as well as the musical public, will be glad to know that he will be given a testimonial on Friday evening, June 26. The programme will be made up entirely of alternate selections from Wagner and Tschaikowski, as follows:

1. Polonaise ..... Tschaikowski
2. Overture, "Rienzi" ..... Wagner
3. Andante from quartet ..... Tschaikowski
4. Ride of the Valkyries ..... Wagner
5. Overture, "1812" ..... Tschaikowski
6. Albumblatt ..... Wagner
   Violin solo, Mr. Karl Ondricek.
7. La Belle au Bois Dormant .... Tschaikowski
8. Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
9. Suite, "Nut Cracker" ..... Tschaikowski
10. Finale, act 3, "Lohengrin" ..... Wagner
11. Waltz from Oneguin ..... Tschaikowski
12. Tannhauser March ..... Wagner

On Monday, which was Harvard night at the Pops, there was a great crowd and a similar demonstration, although perhaps more quiet than usual for a crimson night. Every table was taken and the balconies well filled. Mr. Strube's brass band proved a great improvement over the classic orchestra for such an occasion. It could make twice as much noise as the boys did with their whistling and singing, and they magnanimously accepted a second place. Mr. and Mrs. Eben D. Jordan had a party there that night, including their son, a Harvard student, and daughter, and Mr. Nason Hamlin. Mrs. Jordan wore blue albatross with white embroidery, and a deep cape collar of lace. Her hat was of blue flowers. Miss Jordan was very pretty in white muslin daintily flowered, and a white hat wreathed with pink roses and foliage. Others having table parties were Mr. A. H. Higginson, who brought a number of young men; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forsyth, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Haskell Dole, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baird and Mr. Stewart Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin, L. M. Tower and Miss Eliza and Miss Adelaide Tower, one in gray veiling with white lace and a burnt straw toque with black trimming, and the other in blue with ecru insertions and a black plumed hat. Tomorrow night is Graduates' night, when the music will be by the same military band, with Mr. Strube conducting. This is the last week of the Pops. Mr. Adamowski is sailing on the Campania from New York Saturday, a week earlier than he expected, because of his father's illness.

SUNDAY GLOBE-

-JUNE 21, 1903.

TABLE GOSSIP.

—Harvard night opened the week at the Pop concerts, the first without music by the orchestra, a military band, under the direction of Mr Strube, having been substituted. There was a stirring program, played magnificently, and the house, which was full in every part, rose to the occasion and fun and good nature prevailed. The leader, one of the most amiable of men, acceded to the request of the audience on two or three occasions, when numbers not announced were called for. The students were scattered about the hall, and not massed near the stage as has been the case heretofore, so that the cheering of classes was more widely distributed. Many ladies, all in pretty spring toilettes, occupied the tables, and many large parties came from their summer homes. Crimson banners hung from the balconies at frequent intervals and Harvard in crimson incandescent lights on the platform added to the brilliancy of the interior of the hall, and the porte cochere at the entrance, bordered with crimson incandescent lights, made a pleasant contrast to the dull, gloomy evening. Mr Alexander H. Higginson had a party of a dozen young men with him, and Mr and Mrs Eben D. Jordan, who were in town for the races, had a family party, including Mr Robert Jordan, Miss Dorothy Jordan and a young lady friend of their daughter. Mrs Jordan was in black crepe de chine touched with white, and a deep Irish lace cape worn over the shoulder, with a flat black hat, having a crown and wreath of violets. Miss Dorothy was in white muslin and a leghorn hat with a wreath of small white roses and foliage around the crown. Her friend was all in white, and wore a white hat with white ostrich plumes. Dr and Mrs William Rice, Dr and Mrs George Rice and Mr and Mrs Eric Pope had a table near the platform. Mrs Pope wore a becoming costume of fawn veiling, with white chiffon hat combined with pale blue, and black silk cloak with deep Irish lace collar. Mrs George Rice in black silk skirt, light blue corded silk bodice appliqued with cream lace, and French toque with foliage and yellow the crimson roses. Mrs William Rice, black veiling, Italian lace fichu and turquoise necklace, with a black hat. Mr William Rotch, Miss Edith Rotch, Mr and Mrs George Mann and Mr Bertram Waters, with friends. When the band played the "Star Spangled Banner" the great audience rose at once and many joined in singing.

—Tuesday evening brought out a large audience at the Pops, and the music was of a much more quiet order than the evening before. Mrs John L. Gardner had a table with several friends, including Mr and Mrs Thomas Hitchcock Jr, who have been at their country home at Westbury, L I, and are now visiting Mrs Gardner at Green Hill, Brookline, for the Country club races; Mr Grafton Cushing, and others. Mrs Gardner, who came to the Pops for the first time this season, was all in black, and wore an embroidered shoulder cape caught with a brooch of diamonds having a sapphire in the center. Mrs Hitchcock wore an exquisite black lace costume, with girdle of pale blue, and a white lace fichu, trimmed with deep points of cluny lace; her hat was black, with ostrich plumes. A young girl with them was in white organdie, with pink flowers, and a white straw hat with crown of blush roses and foliage. Mrs Wirt Dexter and her daughter, with some gentlemen, had a table near by. Mrs Dexter wore a lovely gown, of black and white striped liberty satin, the bodice adorned with venetian lace in pionts, and a stole chiffon shoulder cape. She also wore a small black hat, with a fold of white tulle around the brim, and a white aigrette. Miss Dexter was in a gown of tussah silk and cloak of the same made with insertions of lace of the same shade, and a crimson chiffon hat with crimson roses and foliage. Mr and Mrs Frederic S. Converse had friends with them. Mrs Converse was in black and white checked taffeta, and black and white chiffon hat. Mr Dana Estes, Mr and Mrs William Copley Winslow and Mr Dennie Boardman and Mr Wallace Goodrich with two ladies in their party were present. Enthusiasm will be at its hight tomorrow, graduates' night, and this week closes a very successful season.

[213]

THE BOSTON GLOBE—MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1903.

DAZED AND DRENCHED.

Pretty Girl of 19 Found in Pitiable Condition in Somerville.

Her Hat and Shoes Gone—Could Account for Nothing After Taking a Glass of Wine at Pop Concert Saturday Evening.

A young woman who gave her age as 19 years was found in a dazed condition half a mile from any thoroughfare in the rain and darkness of yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, climbing by her hands and knees up a steep embankment to the tracks of the Southern division of the B & M RR at a point where that road crosses the Fitchburg division in Somerville.

She was minus her shoes and hat and the fine clothes which she wore were drenched. She was taken to the station, and the city physician, Dr A. B. Dearborn, who was called, worked over her an hour before she became conscious enough to tell her story.

Chief Parkhurst reluctantly gave her story to reporters yesterday afternoon and declined at the time to give her name. He said that she was a very respectable girl, but had found herself in an unfortunate predicament.

She is said by those who saw her to be a remarkably pretty girl. She was clad in garments of a fine texture and latest cut. How she arrived at the point where she was found she cannot explain.

She is a resident of a city in Connecticut and at present is lodging on Massachusetts av, Cambridge, with a sister. Both attend a medical college in their home city. They have come to Boston in order to dispose of a book of a medical character.

She told Chief Parkhurst, who interviewed her yesterday morning in the corridor in which the women's cells are located, that she left her lodgings Saturday evening in company with a gentleman and was escorted to the pop concert at Symphony hall. She said that after listening to the music for the greater part of the evening she drank a glass of wine. She claims that that was the last she remembered.

How she reached the out-of-the-way place where she was found she does not know. The embankment is half a mile from any public street. It runs up from the Fitchburg tracks to the bridge of the southern division spanning the Fitchburg road.

Reserve patrolmen Charles Johnston and Robert Blair found the young woman. She was unable to answer any questions. She was half way up the embankment when she was seen by the patrolmen, who were at the time on the Fitchburg tracks.

After she had been sent to the police station in the ambulance a search was made for her hat and shoes. They were found several yards from the point where she was first seen.

Dr Dearborn is understood to have stated that when he treated the young woman she had not the appearance of a person under the influence of liquor, but rather that of one under the influence of a drug.

Her sister visited her at the station house yesterday morning and brought a change of clothing. The two left yesterday afternoon.

It is understood that Chief Parkhurst has started an investigation of the affair, acting on some information given him by the young woman, which he would not divulge yesterday to the reporters. He was closeted last evening with one of the patrolmen who found the girl.

BOSTON JOURNAL—TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1903.

Tonight the "Pop" concert will be attended by a large delegation of the American Institute of Homeopathy, when it is expected there will be a half hour of speech-making. A large number of the delegates are making their headquarters at the Hotel Somerset, where they arrived yesterday and Sunday.

BOSTON HERALD—MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1903.

HER MIND A BLANK AFTER TAKING DRINK.

Young Woman, Found Crawling up Railroad Embankment in Somerville, Became Unconscious and Cannot Explain.

A young woman, about 20 years old, whose appearance indicated refinement, had a strange experience Saturday night. When she regained consciousness yesterday morning at the Somerville police station she said that by invitation of a gentleman friend she attended an entertainment in Boston, Saturday evening.

Shortly after drinking a glass of wine she felt sick and, excusing herself, she left her escort and made her way alone out of the hall. What happened to her afterward she did not know. Whether she walked or rode to Somerville, where she was found by two police officers at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, she was unable to say. All was to her blank after she left the place where she had the drink.

It was about 3 o'clock yesterday morning that Patrolman Charles Johnston and Reserve Officer Blair discovered the woman crawling on her hands and knees up the steep embankment of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad near the Somerville avenue crossing in the "Brickbottom" district of Somerville. She was minus her hat and shoes, and she was drenched to the skin. Her state of exhaustion was pitiful, and she was unable to make any answer to the inquiries of the officers.

The patrol wagon was sent for, and in that conveyance the woman was taken to the police station. During the ride she became unconscious. At the station she was placed in charge of the matron, and for some time she received attention from City Physician Dearborn.

Later in the morning her condition was greatly improved, and in the afternoon she was taken home by her sister. The young woman told the police that with her sister she had been boarding in Cambridge for the past three weeks, during which time she had been selling a medical book. Up to three weeks ago both women had been students at a medical school in Connecticut.

The shoes and hat were found at daylight beside the railroad tracks by employes of the railroad.

BOSTON JOURNAL—TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1903.

HARVARD STUDENTS FILL SYMPHONY HALL

Their Night at the Pops, 1000 of Them Attend.

CLASSES OF A GENERATION

Veterans Vie With Youngsters in Whooping It Up for Fair Harvard.

Last night was Harvard graduates' night at the Pops, and over a thousand graduates of the university assembled in Symphony Hall and 'whooped it up" for fair Harvard.

The balconies were filled with prominent society people of Boston, Cambridge and Brookline. On the floor huge crimson banners designated where the classes were assembled. Classes as far back as 1873, represented by such men as Dr. Maurice Richardson, Judge Robert Grant, Professor H. S. White and Arthur L. Clark, down to 1901, represented by Class Secretary H. B. Clark and forty members, sang the later Harvard songs and cheered the baseball nine and the boat crew.

The concert was given by Stewart's Military Band under the direction of Gustave Strube. A program of twelve numbers had been arranged, but before the concert was half over the order of exercises was laid aside and the Harvard songs and marches and the Hasty Pudding Club melodies were played while class cheers and the college yell echoed and re-echoed through the hall.

An Inspiring Incident.

When the concert was about half over Mrs. William H. Allen, Jr., of Concord, whose husband is a member of the class of '83, waved a crimson flag from the balcony where she was seated. In an instant the entire audience was on its feet, and the band struck up "The Little Old Red Shawl My Mother Wore."

At the class of '76 table were: J. B. Olmstead, W. H. Burbank and F. H. Morgan. After a day at Nahant '88 rounded up sixty members, led by Charles Francis Adams, 2d, Street Commissioner James A. Gallivan, "Mott" Hallowell and J. A. Bailey.

With '89 was Thomas Talbot, the new chairman of the Republican State committee. James Dean of baseball fame and William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., were with '97; Guy Scull, F. B. Bouve, Hugh Bancroft and B. H. Hayes represented '98, and Dr. J. H. Huddleston and fifteen the class of '86.

Dr. Morton Prince, J. P. Lawrence and Dr. J. H. Kennealy represented the class of '75; E. K. Rand and a party of twenty, '94; A. R. Benner of '92 had fifty men; T. T. Garceau, '91, was there with forty, and Secretary Albert H. Newman of '95 had fifty men with him.

'93 Has Its Own Pop.

After a trip on the King Philip and a reception on the Indiana, the class of '83 turned out a party made up C. S. Hamlin, C. C. Nichols, C. S. Belcher and thirty others.

The class of '93 had a pop concert of its own at the New Century Building, after a luncheon in the afternoon at the Lenox. The Salem Cadet Band furnished the music.

One of the classes claims as its member Charles William Eliot, president of the university. This is the class of '53. Tonight this class will dine at the Union Club in a quiet manner.

The class of '78 will lunch at the Harvard Union today, and after luncheon Attorney General Herbert Parker will present the Union a clock, and also a check for $10,000. The class dinner will be in the evening at the Algonquin Club.

The Harvard class of '93 will hold its decennial celebration today at the Country Club, instead of at Misery Island, as was at first planned by the committee. Special cars will leave Copley square this morning at 10.15.

[214]

BOSTON JOURNAL-
-TUESDAY,
JUNE 23, 1903.

POLICE CONCEAL NAME OF WINE-LADEN GIRL

Mystery Made of Fair One Found Hatless and Shoeless.

SAD END TO FUN AT "POPS"

She Had "Only a Pint," but Her Escort, a Harvard (?) Professor, Took None.

Dazed and almost unconscious, with her clothing wet and drabbled, a young woman was found crawling up the banking which leads from the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad in Somerville early Sunday morning.

Hat and shoes were missing, and the girl, not more than 19 years old, was in a pitiable condition when found by the police. Who she was, or how she reached the secluded spot, more than half a mile from any habitation, is still a mystery, for the Somerville police refuse to divulge her name. As she was allowed to leave the station as soon as she was restored to normal condition by Dr. A. B. Dearborn it seems probable that the whole story of the adventures which led up to her sorry plight will never be known.

Chief Parkhurst was loth to give the story to the reporters. He would not tell her name or residence. The girl herself gave a partial account of her experiences. "I am a student at a medical college in a Connecticut town, where my home is. Both my sister and myself are rooming on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, and I have been engaged in canvassing for a medical work.

"Do Take Some Wine."

"We have made few acquaintances in Cambridge, but among them is a gentleman, a professor in Harvard University. He invited me to go to the "Pop" concert with him Saturday, and I accepted. While there he urged me to take a glass of wine, although he drank nothing himself. I allowed him to pour me out a glass of champagne, and afterward drank a second. There was only a pint in all.

"I am not used to drinking wine, and the music, the lights, and the heavy odor of the flowers all combined to confuse me. I felt my senses leaving me, and excusing myself to my companion hastily left the room. I can remember nothing more till I found myself in the station with the matron and a physician working over me."

The girl would not tell who her escort was, and the police were equally reticent, either through ignorance or because of a desire to keep the matter secret. Chief Parkhurst said that the girl was respectable, but had unfortunately been indiscreet because of her inexperience.

Was He a Harvard Professor?

At Harvard College today the alleged escapade of the professor was the topic of conversation among the students. The consensus of opinion was that the individual who palmed himself off as a "professor" was endeavoring to gain the confidence of the girl under false pretenses.

While most of the professors at the university have left for their summer vacations, some of the few who are left were seen by a Journal reporter yesterday afternoon. None of them would express any opinion as to the truth of the girl's charges.

Chief Parkhurst said last night that the incident was closed. The girl's name was left blank on the blotter, the excuse being that she was never under arrest. She was returned to her friends, and if her earnest statement can be believed, will hesitate a long time before she ventures to indulge in a "pint of wine" with either a college professor or anybody else.

BOSTON POST, TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1903.

APOLLO DECORATED BY THE BOYS OF '98

Old and Young Harvard "Grads" Make Merry at Symphony Hall

Five daring members of the class of '98 outwitted all other Harvard men at the Pops last night, and amid cheers decorated the statue of Apollo which occupies one of the niches above the second balcony of Symphony Hall.

It was a triumph for '98, and the members of that class cheered the men who did the "trick" until the members of other classes were ready to acknowledge that '98 had won the honors of "grads'" night. The classes of '83 and '97 succeeded in planting their standards high up among the organ pipes; '83 also started a march, but it was courteously and peacefully broken up.

"Ben" Dibblee at the head of the '99 men howled long and loud for that popular class, and would have reaped the honors had not the Apollo statue incident been conceived in the fertile minds of the '98 men and executed before the management could say nay.

The name of the man who did the decorating was not learned. His four assistants held him while he folded the crimson around the statue and placed the '98 standard at the top.

It was a great night for the old and young "grads." Manager Comee, himself a Harvard man, allowed sufficient latitude for what might be termed a howling good time.

There were no disagreeable disturbances. The management was firm at times, and this did not create objection. When the din was loudest and uproarious the classic hall seemed very warm, and when '96 called out "A bas" to '97 the latter took it good naturedly and did their best to drown out their rivals.

The class of '93 did not celebrate with their fellow "grads." Some time ago several thought the times at the "Pops" were too "prim, classic and refined." They wished a wilder time than the others. This prompted them to hold a private "Pops" at Century Hall, a few doors away. They had pewter mugs of their own, and they disposed of sufficient liquids to provide plenty of work for the cabbies. All in all, however, they seemed lonely compared with the men of the other classes, who were bestirred to exceptionally good fun by the class rivalry and the crowded galleries of pretty women.

It was decennial year for '93, and their absence was regretted by all. It was their own decision, consequently no one could object. They had the Salem Cadet Band, their own Glee Club and impromptu skits of a sporty variety. Mayor Herman Gade of Salt Lake City, Michigan, was the star "grad.," and led the chorus.

At Symphony Hall the band stopped playing at one time, when '83 and '97 started to march. Except for this incident all was serene. Everyone had a good time. Once a rumor went through the hall that Judge Emmons was present. This was a bluff, and the men with "Emmons" jags, and they were numerous, breathed more freely.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD,
TUESDAY, JUNE 23 1903.

HARVARD GRADS RAISED THE ROOF AT THE "POPS"

Harvard graduates had their innings at "the pops." last night, and seized every opportunity to make the occasion memorable. Alumni of the university from the class of '73 to this year's graduates, cheered, sang, shouted and danced till throats were parched and lungs exhausted in the endeavor to be Harvard "boys" once again.

The true college spirit was at its height throughout the gala event. Gray-haired men who, when the time and place are opportune, delight to rally around the Crimson to renew their alma mater days, thinking of the times when once they were known as "freshies," vied with the man just thrown into the cold, cold world, in singing "Fair Harvard" and projecting their class banner to the highest vantage point in the hall.

While Harvard "en masse" raised the roof, on the floor, the female relatives, friends and country cousins lolled over the balcony rails, joined in the college anthems and helped to make things merry all round.

A special band had been engaged for this special night, and Mr. Strube was prolific in his popular encores. Everything the boys requested was anticipated, and every wish from "The Good Old Summer Time" to the "Star-Spangled Banner" was fulfilled.

At the very outset the conditions were most satisfactory for a record breaking gratuates' night. Crimson class banners, labelled with the names of the victorious college teams on the track, diamond and gridiron, hung down from the balcony rails, but mysteriously disappeared with the aid of deft female hands, as soon as the opening air of "Cruiser Harvard" started the ball rolling. Above the stage in front of the mammoth organ was displayed the illuminated sign "Harvard," flanked on either side by the figures "5" and "2," significant of the recent victory over Yale.

At different sections on the floor were erected the class flags representing the alumni of Fair Harvard for the past 30 years. Before the celebration had ended, those of '97 and '02 were seen perched on the statues of Father Time and Apollo respectively, up in the etherial regions.

Nothing escaped the alert eye of the jolly graduate body. They spotted Mrs. W. H. Allen's red shawl on the balcony edge. Immediately, everyone struck up that old favorite, "The Little Old Red Shawl my Mother Wore," and they kept it up strenuously until burdened with blushes, the owner withdrew her possessions amid the "ohs" and "ahs" of the merrymakers below.

When the climax of the programme, "Fair Harvard," was reached, the uproar came near ending in a general stampede. Classes gathered behind their banners, and started round the hall on a perplexing football formation. Spectators rose in the upper galleries enthused by the spirit of the occasion. Tables, bottles and chairs were threatened with annihilation, when Mr. Comee stepped in and spoke the gentle word.

The imminent "rough house" was averted, and the ardent sons of Harvard filed back to their seats to the tune of "The Good Old Summer Time."

The most lusty cheering of the evening was contributed by the class of '98, led by "Ben" Dibblee of football fame. He was in every song, yell and dance with the old-time vim and vigor that has made him famous on the gridiron. Dibblee led the entire hall in that rousing typical Cambridge air, "When we Fit for Gen. Grant." It was the hit of the evening, and the boys were generously assisted by the onlooking daughters, sisters and sweethearts.

All in all, the 1903 Graduates' Night was the acme of successes. Everybody seemed to have a royal good time in a manner not disorderly, but very demonstrative.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER
TUESDAY
JUNE 23, 1903.

OLD GRADS AT THE POPS

HARVARD SPIRIT WAS ON TAP

Enthusiasm Was Unbounded and Everyone Had a Good Time—Music Furnished by a Special Band.

Harvard graduates had their innings at "the pops." last night, and seized every opportunity to make the occasion memorable. Alumni of the university from the class of '73 to this year's graduates, cheered, sang, shouted and danced till throats were parched and lungs exhausted in the endeavor to be Harvard "boys" once again.

The true college spirit was at its height throughout the gala event. Gray-haired men who, when the time and place are opportune, delight to rally around the Crimson to renew their alma mater days, thinking of the times when once they were known as "freshies," vied with the man just thrown into the cold, cold world, in singing "Fair Harvard" and projecting their class banner to the highest vantage point in the hall.

While Harvard "en masse" raised the roof, on the floor, the female relatives, friends and country cousins lolled over the balcony rails, joined in the college anthems and helped to make things merry all round.

A special band had been engaged for this special night, and Mr. Strube was prolific in his popular encores. Everything the boys requested was anticipated, and every wish from "The Good Old Summer Time" to the "Star-Spangled Banner" was fulfilled.

At the very outset the conditions were most satisfactory for a record breaking gratuates' night. Crimson class banners, labelled with the names of the victorious college teams on the track, diamond and gridiron, hung down from the balcony rails, but mysteriously disappeared with the aid of deft female hands, as soon as the opening air of "Cruiser Harvard" started the ball rolling. Above the stage in front of the mammoth organ was displayed the illuminated sign "Harvard," flanked on either side by the figures "5" and "2," significant of the recent victory over Yale.

At different sections on the floor were erected the class flags representing the alumni of Fair Harvard for the past 30 years. Before the celebration had ended, those of '97 and '02 were seen perched on the statues of Father Time and Apollo respectively, up in the etherial regions.

Nothing escaped the alert eye of the jolly graduate body. They spotted Mrs. W. H. Allen's red shawl on the balcony edge. Immediately, everyone struck up that old favorite, "The Little Old Red Shawl my Mother Wore," and they kept it up strenuously until burdened with blushes, the owner withdrew her possessions amid the "ohs" and "ahs" of the merrymakers below.

When the climax of the programme, "Fair Harvard," was reached, the uproar came near ending in a general stampede. Classes gathered behind their banners, and started round the hall on a perplexing football formation. Spectators rose in the upper galleries enthused by the spirit of the occasion. Tables, bottles and chairs were threatened with annihilation, when Mr. Comee stepped in and spoke the gentle word.

The imminent "rough house" was averted, and the ardent sons of Harvard filed back to their seats to the tune of "The Good Old Summer Time."

The most lusty cheering of the evening was contributed by the class of '98, led by "Ben" Dibblee of football fame. He was in every song, yell and dance with the old-time vim and vigor that has made him famous on the gridiron. Dibblee led the entire hall in that rousing typical Cambridge air, "When we Fit for Gen. Grant." It was the hit of the evening, and the boys were generously assisted by the onlooking daughters, sisters and sweethearts.

All in all, the 1903 Graduates' Night was the acme of successes. Everybody seemed to have a royal good time in a manner not disorderly, but very demonstrative.

SYMPHONY HALL.
POPS
LAST WEEK.
50—GRAND ORCHESTRA—50
Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.
Thursday, June 25, AMERICAN COMPOSERS' NIGHT.
Friday, June 26, WAGNER-TSCHAIKOWSKI PROGRAM.
TESTIMONIAL to Conductor T. ADAMOWSKI.
Every Evening, except Sunday, 8 to 11. Telephone Back Bay 1492.

[215]

THE BOSTON GLOBE—TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1903.

FUN BEGINS RIGHT AT THE FIRST JUMP

Graduates' Night at the Pop Concert an Occasion at Which There's Always Something Doing.

GRADUATES' NIGHT AT THE POP AS IT APPEARED IN WHAT WAS PERHAPS ITS ONLY QUIET CORNER.

Graduates' night last night at the pop concerts in Symphony hall was, according to custom, a very feverish occasion.

It did not compare, however, for feverishness with the graduates' night of two years ago, though it was sufficiently warm to get Manager Comee out in the middle of the floor to interject his bulky self into the procedings at timely intervals.

Twice he stopped marches that had barely been born of exuberance, and more than once he saved a chair's life.

Not a chair sailed into the air; hardly a dozen glasses were broken. The only effort at class showing was made by enthusiasts who decorated Apollo and Mercury with class banners, and likewise hung the token of their years on the front of the organ.

The class of '93 was not represented in the hall, as it was having a private pop concert of its own with the Salem Cadet band down in the New Century building. There the pleasing custom spread of decorating the members of the band with hats snatched from the audience, and the bonneted players tooted manfully away under the most ludicrous headgear.

The fun began right at the jump in Symphony hall. The class of '83, which was celebrating its double decennial, had made a day of it. The members went to Pemberton in the morning and down to the battleship Indiana in the afternoon, and they brought a whole lot of the officers from the Indiana's wardroom with them to the concert. The consequence was that the hall rang with Harvard cheers, with "Navy!" shrieked at the end of them.

Then Mr Comee brought in H. S. White, who has been appointed in place of Prof Ira Hollis, and there were wild yells for '73.

The program—but the program went to pieces after the first intermission. The grads began calling in chorus that they wanted "Heeawatha," but Mr Strube, who was especially engaged by the wisdom of the management to lead Stewart's military band for the night, gave the audience instead, "The Good Old Summer Time," which everybody sang with eclat.

All round the balcony edge were banners announcing that it was graduates' night. These were speedily gobbled by souvenir fiends. On the table stood hosts of crimson banners with year numbers on them. These lasted longer, but toward the end of the evening displayed a tendency to rise from their places, wave round and climb statue pedestals or organ fronts.

A '97 man rose in his chair, literally, to beat time with a chair leg that was no further support to its seat. He was hailed with joy, and for the sake of seeing him do it again, an encore was demanded.

Pandemonium reigned throughout the evening. When a class got tired of cheering itself, it cheered the class it licked at baseball while it was in college. Old classes like '78 got three men together and yelled feeble, unheard cheers which were drowned in the general melee.

Mr Strube yielded to the demand for "Hiawatha" when '97 pronounced it that way, and the whole hall whistled it.

Then Ben Dibble led a demand for "General Grant," which the band didn't know. Not at all disturbed, Dibble led the chorus and the song was sung. At the appropriate time, he pointed to his collar, and the bunch understood and sang vociferously that the cannon ball which came whizzing down the road "hit Bill Jones in the neck."

Mr Strube did the best he could to help the grads sing; he didn't have what they demanded, so he played the Stein song, and they sang that. The roar of cheers stopped only while he played, and not always then. The grads wandered from table to table, and shook hands, in spite of the rumor that that sort of thing was not allowed. The conversation was carried on an octave above where the same men talk ordinarily.

The envious balconies, lined with beauty, smiled and wished they were all grads.

Mrs William H. Allen of Concord had a crimson shawl and spread it on the balcony rail in front of her. Instantly a crowd of '00 men caught sight of it, and with no little wit began singing in chorus, holding up their glasses, "The Little Old Red Shawl My Mother Wore." The whole audience took it up, and Mrs Allen got a burst of applause the like of which was given to no other out-colleger.

Mr Strube played "Dodo," and Mr Dibblee, grasping a banner by its foot, started out with his class to visit '97, which sat in the front of the hall. A lockstep sprang up instantly, and for a moment it looked as though the real rough house was about to have its birth after all.

But a Harvard man, not connected with the management of the hall, stopped it. Mr Strube, who was evidently prepared for the event, stopped the band, and till the line started home again did not resume.

The incident was over in a moment and did not make any disturbance whatever. But it brought Mr Comee onto the floor, and he himself stopped the next two marches.

The second one was funny, for '83 and '98 started visiting at the same time and met with a bang in the middle of the hall. Most of the men were smoking and sparks shot up in the roaring, smoky atmosphere in a highly humorous manner.

The second intermission, when there is usually a promenade, saw the banners placed. The flags of '97, '02 and '83 climbed the pedestals and stood in the topmost of the hall. A little later '98 outdid all; an adventurous grad actually climbed up on the lofty perch of Apollo, with considerable boosting from classmates, and hung the flag over the god's extended arm.

By this time the exuberance had progressed to the stage, where tables were occasionally capsized, bottles were broken, hats thrown into the air, and banners took to tossing wildly in time to the music.

But there was no more marching and everybody went home singing. It was a great graduates' night.

Boston Transcript
TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1903

GRADUATES AT THE POPS

Enthusiasm and Noise Marked the Annual Ante-Commencement Celebration in Symphony Hall

Harvard was old Harvard last night at Symphony Hall, whether there was a band or an orchestra, and despite the braying brasses and the big brass drum on the stage the two thousand graduates on the floor were as complete masters of the situation as they had ever been over the wailing violins and gentle flutes of the usual pop concert performers. There was a regular printed programme, divided into three parts, but after the first part nobody knew it, for from all parts of the hall came demands not to be denied, for "Hiawatha," "The Good Old Summer Time," and numerous other melodies which permitted lusty lungs to imitate singing. There was never greater enthusiasm at a Harvard graduates' night, even if the decennial class, '93, did withdraw for a pop concert of its own in the New Century Building down the street. The crowd did not miss them at all. It is related, in this connection, that when '93 planned its exclusive celebration it invited the twenty-year class, '83, to join, alleging that the Symphony Hall affair was too slow. But with twenty years of graduate wisdom on their heads, '83 declined with thanks, saying that if the regular pops were too slow they were afraid the special brand would be a little too rapid for men of their years. The men of '93 had plenty of music, plenty of hilarity, and plenty of good fellowship, but they missed what is the meat of this occasion: the gathering together under one roof of all the celebrating classes. It is the one time in the whole commencement season, except on solemn commencement day itself, when the graduates are all united.

The other classes with special celebrations turned out in good numbers—1900 with its first triennial leading, and '97, with its second, next. The fifteen-year class, '88, had a good representation, and the twenty-year class, after a day down the harbor, had an unusual gathering. The men had spent a part of their afternoon on the battleship Indiana, and had brought a number of her officers back with them, so there were frequent cheers for the ship and for the navy; and, an unusual thing in these gatherings, several Naval Academy cheers were shouted in ans er. Seventy-eight, the twenty-five year class, and '73, the thirty-year class, were soberly represented and frequently cheered. Large delegations were also present from the younger classes without special celebrations. Ninety-nine had a large and lusty crowd, which was conspicuous in the cheering and singing. Its leader, Ben Dibblee, the old quarter-back, led the hall in several spirited choruses of the old song, "When I Fit for Gineral Grant." The very young graduates of 1901 and 1902 made themselves felt now and then, but 1903, within a day of its graduation, was neither heard from nor thought of. The balconies were crowded, as usual, with a very interested throng of ladies, to whom these graduate night antics of well-grown boys offer perennial amusement. The banners on the balcony rails disappeared under capes and cloaks as the first number was played. The other flags, indicating where the classes sat on the tables, lasted throughout the evening, but when the concert was finished, disappeared at the heads of marching squads which tramped up the street to the accompaniment of familiar songs forced from raw and tired throats.

The familiar red "Harvard" twinkled in its place above the stage, and on one side a triumphant crimson "5" glittered defiance to a modest blue "2" on the other. A few processions were started and broken up, and as usual a banner or two found its way to the statues on the second balcony.

THE BOSTON HERALD—TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1903.

CYCLONE OF MELODY AND FUN AT HARVARD GRADUATES' NIGHT AT THE POP CONCERT.

SCENES DURING HARVARD GRADUATES' NIGHT AT SYMPHONY HALL.

Classes from '73 to '03 Cheer Each Other, While the Crimson Banners Wave as in Football Times.

Harvard graduates' night at the Pops concert last night with Stewart's Military band, conducted by Gustave Strube, was the most strenuous evening of all the Pops series, and shook up the statues around Symphony Hall as they never will be shaken unless an earthquake or a cyclone gets loose in the famous home of melody. On the floor around the tables nearly 2000 grads defied the Emmons law, in the presence of crowds of fair women and their escorts who crammed the crimson-hung balconies and cheered themselves into a delirious orgy.

The evening started off with the groups of classes from '73 to '03 cheering one another until the floor looked like an impersonation of the French Chamber of Deputies, and ended in a demonstration that looked like a picture of the return of the Greeks after the battle of Salamis. Hundreds of banners that stood upon the tables with the class numerals were tossed in the air, with broken bottles, glasses and hats, while hundreds of exhilarated graduates in sinuous lines pranced around the crowded space. It was the same living picture that is enacted upon football fields when Harvard wins, except that it was heightened a thousand-fold because of the confining walls of the concert hall.

When the crowd arrived they found the porte cochere glimmering with crimson lights, and inside along the balconies, in the early part of the evening, hundreds of banners with the names of the football heroes and track team men enrolled in glory; on the tables they found standards with the class numerals on banners of crimson, and over the stage the word "Harvard" burning in crimson lights, with a crimson "5" on one side completely triumphing over a miserable little blue "2." When the jubilants left, they carried with them the banners, except a few that had been placed high in the statue niches around the hall, and a banner of '98, which had been placed upon the "Marble Faun"

The band started out to march triumphantly away from the vocal din, as it had done on the recent Harvard undergraduate night. The grads, however, used football tactics, and waited until the second number, which started with a pianissimo passage. This was the weak point in the line that they were looking for, and they hit it with a volley of yells that made the brass horns sound like the chirrup of a cricket at the battle of Manila. After this triumph the band became secondary to the fun. The class of '97, which is holding its sixth year reunion, received the lusty-lunged homage of all the classes during the entire evening. The class of 1900, which is meeting for its first time in the series of three years, was the most numerous, and got attention whenever it lifted its stentorian chorus. When the fun became fast and furious a '97 man wrenched a leg from a chair, which he used as a baton to lead the mighty chorus, with terrific renditions of "The Good Old Summer Time" and "Hiawatha," which the band was forced to play. To show that no disrespect to the programme was intended, however, cheers for Strube were frequent.

Kenneth Horton, the tennis expert, mounted upon the tables, led the boisterous class of '97 in returning the yells that were given to them from all sides of the hall. In the midst of the '95 group "Dike" Spaulding directed the 16-inch guns loaded with "rah-rahs." As the noise got under way, the band tried Wagner's thunderous peals, but failed to make a dent in the upheaval of discords. Every class was singing its favorite melody, and all were uniting on the "rah-rahs."

Once during the intermission Mrs. William H. Allen of Concord was spied in the balcony wearing a crimson shoulder scarf, and immediately all the celebraters turned their faces to her, and sang the old college song about "The Little Red Shawl My Mother Used to Wear." Processions up and down the aisles collided, and the floor looked for a time like the college yard on "Bloody Monday."

In one of these triumphant marches a preacher wearing his cloth pranced deliriously down the aisle carrying a '76 banner. Ben Dibblee, ex-captain of a victorious eleven, surrounded by the class of '99, caught the contagious nervousness, and mounting a table, leaped rhythmically, leading his cohorts with the emphatic strains of "When We Fit for Gineral Grant." The stein song, by the band, reminded everybody that it was fair weather, for the steins were on the table, and never was the chorus given such a rouse.

The floor became so turbulent that it reminded Guy Scull of South African campaigns, so he led his class for a triumphant charge through the thickest of the yelling multitude. George Washington Cram, the college recorder, was everywhere, but he had no postal cards with him, so the grads cheered him for old time's sake. When cheering became monotonous, the struggles of noise gave way for the supremacy of banners. High into the statue niches climbed daring enthusiasts, trying to get their class numerals into the most honored position. The climax was reached during the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," and as the words, "that our flag was still there," rang out, the class of '98 yelled to see their numerals wrapped around the leering features of the marble Faun, high up in a niche at the left of the hall.

After the concert, the classes marched down Huntington avenue repeating the popular songs, much to the dismay of late pedestrains. The big Pop concert was over; but scores of little Pop concerts along the streets, and in the clubs and over the Charles to Cambridge, were just begun.

For the benefit of those who would like to know the intentions of the band this programme is appended for reference:

1. March, "Cruiser Harvard"..... Strube
2. Overture, "Pique Dame"..... Suppe
3. Waltz, "Tout Paris"..... Waldteufel
4. Overture, "Mignon"..... A. Thomas
5. Introduction, act 3, "Lohengrin"... Wagner
6. Selection, "Toreador"..... Monckton
7. Overture, "William Tell"..... Rossini
8. Selection, "King Dodo"..... Luders
9. (a) March, "John Harvard"... Rodman, '05
   (b) March, "Veritas"..... Densmore, '04
10. American airs..... Herbert
11. "Fair Harvard."
12. (a) March, "Advance of Harvard".. Dolan
    (b) March, "Up the Street"..... Morse

Boston Daily Globe.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1903

Institute of Homeopathy

The general alumni conclave was held in the evening, and was attended not only by graduated diploma-owners, but by everybody else who wore an "M D" and a badge of membership in the institute. The place of meeting was in Symphony hall, where all were initiated in the mysteries of the pop concert.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

WEDNESDAY,

JUNE 24, 1903.

Harvard '75 at the Brunswick had lots of fun over the latest Lampoon cartoon, which represents Dean Briggs, a member, taking the Radcliffe girls in a bunch to the Pop concerts to celebrate his election as their president.

A HOMOEOPATHIC POP!

Tables were reserved at the pop concert last evening for the delegates to the American Institute of Homoeopathy, who gathered there in general alumni conclave.

The dignified physicians threw care to the winds for the evening and thoroughly enjoyed the evening with the hearty co-operation of their lady friends.

Each alumnus was provided with the colors of his college.

Between the musical selections there was much sociality among the members who visited from table to table, sang college songs and fully entered into the spirit of the occasion.

Boston Transcript

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1903

"Alumni Conclave" at the "Pops"

Professional cares were forgotten last evening when the members and visitors of the American Institute of Homœopathy visited the Alumni Conclave, which this year took the form of an evening at the "Pops." About one thousand attended, besides many of the ladies accompanying delegates, members of the Meissen and others, the institute itself being present through the courtesy of the local committee of arrangements

[217]

BOSTON POST.
THURSDAY.
JUNE 25. 1903

Saturday night will close the 18th season of the Pops at Symphony Hall. Tonight, Thursday, the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow, Friday, is to be Conductor Adamowski's benefit, when the great works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given.

Boston Daily Globe.
THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

Saturday night closes the 18th season of the "Pops" at Symphony hall. Tonight the audience will be treated to the productions of American composers, tomorrow is conductor Adamowski's benefit night, when the gerat works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night the program will be of special interest.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER
THURSDAY
JUNE 25, 1903.

The press accounts of the homoeopathic pop state that the physicians threw dull care to the winds. This is a frank answer to the immortal prescription, "throw physic to the dogs."

POPS CLOSE SATURDAY.

Saturday night will mark the close of the 18th season of Symphony Hall "Pops." Thursday night will be American composers' night; Friday, Conductor Adamowski will take his benefit. He has chosen the works of Wagner and Tschaikowski as the programme.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 176.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

Saturday night closes the 18th season of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The week will be remembered as one of special interest, every night being a "special night." Tonight, Thursday, the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow, Friday, is Conductor Adamowski's benefit night, when the great works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night, the programme will be of especial interest. For Friday night the programme is: Polonaise, Tschaikowski; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; andante from quartet, Tschaikowski; "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; albumblatt, Wagner; "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; suite, "The Nut Cracker," Tschaikowski; finale to act III., "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz from "Onegin," Tschaikowski; "Tannhauser March," Wagner.

Boston Transcript
THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903

Saturday night closes the eighteenth season of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. Tonight the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow (Friday) evening is Conductor Adamowski's benefit night, when the great works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night, the programme will be of especial interest. For Friday night the following numbers have been selected: Polonaise, Tschaikowski; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; Andante from Quartet, Tschaikowski; Ride of the Valkyries, Wagner; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; Albumblatt, Wagner; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; suite, "The Nut Cracker," Tschaikowski; finale to Act. III., "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz from "Onegin," Tschaikowski; Tannhauser march, Wagner.

BOSTON JOURNAL.
THURSDAY,
JUNE 25, 1903.

It is with regret that we are brought face to face with the fact that Saturday night closes the eighteenth season of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The week will be remembered as one of special interest, every night being a "Special Night." Tonight, Thursday, the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow, Friday, is Conductor Adamowski's benefit night when the great works of Wagner and, Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night the program will be of especial interest.

BOSTON POST.
SATURDAY.
JUNE 27, 1903

Tonight closes the Pop concerts at Symphony Hall, and the following programme will be given: Coronation march, Meyerbeer; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; melody, Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; finale, Act. I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; (a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; (a) Rosary, (b) Country Dance, Nevin; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; march, "King Carl," Unrath.

Boston Daily Globe.
SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903.

The "pop" concerts in Symphony hall will close this evening with the following program. Coronation march, Meyerbeer; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; melody, Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; finale, act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; abendrot and canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; rosary and country dance, Nevin; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; march, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER
SATURDAY
JUNE 27, 1903.

THE POPS.

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall with the following programme: 1—Coronation March, Meyerbeer; 2—Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; 3—Melody, Rubinstein; 4—Waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; 5—Finale, Act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; 6—(a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta, Strube; 7—English Dances, German; 8—Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; 9—Selection, "Carmen," Bizet; 10—(a) Rosary, (b) Country Dance, Nevin; 11—Intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; 12—March, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 178.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903.

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall, and the following programme will be rendered: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; melody, Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; finale, act I, "Lohengrin," Wagner; a, Abendrot, b, Canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; a, Rosary, b, Country Dance, Nevin; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; march, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON JOURNAL.
SATURDAY,
JUNE 27, 1903.

Tonight closes the "Pops" concerts at Symphony Hall with the following program: Coronation march; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor;" melody; waltz, "Vienna Woods;" finale, act 1, "Lohengrin," (a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta; English dances; Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2; selections, "Carmen" (a) Rosary, (b) country dance; intermezzo, "Naila;" march, "King Carl."

Boston Transcript
SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall. This is the programme: "Coronation March," Meyerbeer; Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; Melody, Rubinstein; Waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; Finale, Act I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; Abendrot, Canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2, Liszt; Selection, "Carmen," Bizet; "Rosary, "Country Dance," Nevin; Intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; March, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.
SATURDAY,
JUNE 27. 1903.

THE POPS.

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall with the following programme: 1—Coronation March, Meyerbeer; 2—Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; 3—Melody, Rubinstein; 4—Waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; 5—Finale, Act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; 6—(a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta, Strube; 7—English Dances, German; 8—Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; 9—Selection, "Carmen," Bizet; 10—(a) Rosary, (b) Country Dance, Nevin; 11—Intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; 12—March, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON COURIER,
JUNE 27, 1903.

THE LAST POP.

After a most successful season, the final note will be played tonight at the Pop concert, and the orchestra disbanded to meet again in the fall. The last week has been a gala one in many respects, and the opening night, Monday, given over to the Harvard graduates, was one of the most brilliant on record, with colored lights, crimson banners and good cheer and happiness. There were many well known men on the floor on that occasion, among them Messrs. Butler Ames, H. H. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee, Arthur Ware, Dr. Carleton Francis Tucker Daland, Benjamin Diblee, Larz Anderson, Arthur Adams, Joseph Chipman, Percy Houghton and Harry Fay. From the balconies a tremendous throng of people watched the gay scene, among them Mrs. Fiske Warren and party, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, the latter being very handsomely attired in deep violet voile, with large plume-laden hat to match. With the Hortons was Miss Susan Amory, and others. Miss Amory was prettily clad in navy blue cloth, with a burnt straw hat trimmed with pale blue. Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen, the latter in black, with checked blouse, and hat of burnt straw, done in black; Mr. Dana Estes and party, Mr. and Mrs. William Lincoln and Miss Lincoln, were there. Thursday evening, when American composers' night was observed, proved another interesting occasion, Chadwick, Converse, Zach and Strube being among the composers honored. Mr. Strube's Romanza for violin, performed by Carl Ondricek, was particularly well liked.

Among those who have attended the concerts the past week are Mrs. William P. Blake, Mr. Frederick S. Converse, Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett and her sister, Miss Armstrong, Judge Pierce, Mr. S. R. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond and party, and Mr. George Eustis. On Wednesday evening Major Higginson, with Mr. James Higginson and Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, made up a stag party. Mrs. Higginson, by the way, is of the several North Shore society women who are to give receptions in honor of the visiting teachers the coming week. Mrs. Storrow is another.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett are to pass the first fortnight of the former's summer vacation, which began today, in a Canadian tour, with visits to Toronto, the Thousand Islands, Montreal and Canada. Later they are to be the guests of Judge Brackett, at Lake Ossipee, and will then go to Centre Harbor for the remainder of the summer.

[218]

BOSTON POST, THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903

Saturday night will close the 18th season of the Pops at Symphony Hall. Tonight, Thursday, the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow, Friday, is to be Conductor Adamowski's benefit, when the great works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given.

Boston Daily Globe.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

Saturday night closes the 18th season of the "Pops" at Symphony hall. Tonight the audience will be treated to the productions of American composers, tomorrow is conductor Adamowski's benefit night, when the gerat works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night the program will be of special interest.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

THURSDAY

JUNE 25, 1903.

The press accounts of the homoeopathic pop state that the physicians threw dull care to the winds. This is a frank answer to the immortal prescription, "throw physic to the dogs."

POPS CLOSE SATURDAY.

Saturday night will mark the close of the 18th season of Symphony Hall "Pops." Thursday night will be American composers' night; Friday, Conductor Adamowski will take his benefit. He has chosen the works of Wagner and Tschaikowski as the programme.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 176.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

Saturday night closes the 18th season of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The week will be remembered as one of special interest, every night being a "special night." Tonight, Thursday, the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow, Friday, is Conductor Adamowski's benefit night, when the great works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night, the programme will be of especial interest. For Friday night the programme is: Polonaise, Tschaikowski; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; andante from quartet, Tschaikowski; "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; albumblatt, Wagner; "La Belle au Bois Dormant," Tschaikowski; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; suite, "The Nut Cracker," Tschaikowski; finale to act III., "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz from "Onegin," Tschaikowski; "Tannhauser March," Wagner.

Boston Transcript

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903

Saturday night closes the eighteenth season of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. Tonight the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow (Friday) evening is Conductor Adamowski's benefit night, when the great works of Wagner and Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night, the programme will be of especial interest. For Friday night the following numbers have been selected: Polonaise, Tschaikowski; overture, "Rienzi," Wagner; Andante from Quartet, Tschaikowski; Ride of the Valkyries, Wagner; overture, "1812," Tschaikowski; Albumblatt, Wagner; La Belle au Bois Dormant, Tschaikowski; overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner; suite, "The Nut Cracker," Tschaikowski; finale to Act. III., "Lohengrin," Wagner; waltz from "Onegin," Tschaikowski; Tannhauser march, Wagner.

BOSTON JOURNAL—THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1903.

It is with regret that we are brought face to face with the fact that Saturday night closes the eighteenth season of the "Pops" at Symphony Hall. The week will be remembered as one of special interest, every night being a "Special Night." Tonight, Thursday, the audience will listen to the productions of American composers; tomorrow, Friday, is Conductor Adamowski's benefit night when the great works of Wagner and, Tschaikowski will be given. Saturday being closing night the program will be of especial interest.

BOSTON POST, SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903

Tonight closes the Pop concerts at Symphony Hall, and the following programme will be given: Coronation march, Meyerbeer; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; melody, Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; finale, Act. I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; (a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; (a) Rosary, (b) Country Dance, Nevin; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; march, "King Carl," Unrath.

Boston Daily Globe.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903.

The "pop" concerts in Symphony hall will close this evening with the following program. Coronation march, Meyerbeer; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; melody, Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; finale, act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; abendrot and canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; rosary and country dance, Nevin; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; march, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER

SATURDAY

JUNE 27, 1903.

THE POPS.

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall with the following programme: 1—Coronation March, Meyerbeer; 2—Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; 3—Melody, Rubinstein; 4—Waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; 5—Finale, Act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; 6—(a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta, Strube; 7—English Dances, German; 8—Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; 9—Selection, "Carmen," Bizet; 10—(a) Rosary, (b) Country Dance, Nevin; 11—Intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; 12—March, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXIII., NO. 178.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903.

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall, and the following programme will be rendered: Coronation March, Meyerbeer; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; melody, Rubinstein; waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; finale, act I, "Lohengrin," Wagner; a, Abendrot, b, Canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; selection, "Carmen," Bizet; a, Rosary, b, Country Dance, Nevin; intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; march, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON JOURNAL—SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903.

Tonight closes the "Pops" concerts at Symphony Hall with the following program: Coronation march; overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor;" melody; waltz, "Vienna Woods;" finale, act 1, "Lohengrin," (a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta; English dances; Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2; selections, "Carmen" (a) Rosary, (b) country dance; intermezzo, "Naila;" march, "King Carl."

Boston Transcript

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1903

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall. This is the programme: "Coronation March," Meyerbeer; Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; Melody, Rubinstein; Waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; Finale, Act I., "Lohengrin," Wagner; Abendrot, Canzonetta, Strube; English dances, German; Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2, Liszt; Selection, "Carmen," Bizet; "Rosary, "Country Dance," Nevin; Intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; March, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON EVENING RECORD.

SATURDAY,

JUNE 27, 1903.

THE POPS.

Tonight closes the "Pop" concerts at Symphony Hall with the following programme: 1—Coronation March, Meyerbeer; 2—Overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Nicolai; 3—Melody, Rubinstein; 4—Waltz, "Vienna Woods," Strauss; 5—Finale, Act 1, "Lohengrin," Wagner; 6—(a) Abendrot, (b) Canzonetta, Strube; 7—English Dances, German; 8—Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2, Liszt; 9—Selection, "Carmen," Bizet; 10—(a) Rosary, (b) Country Dance, Nevin; 11—Intermezzo, "Naila," Delibes; 12—March, "King Carl," Unrath.

BOSTON COURIER,

JUNE 27, 1903.

THE LAST POP.

After a most successful season, the final note will be played tonight at the Pop concert, and the orchestra disbanded to meet again in the fall. The last week has been a gala one in many respects, and the opening night, Monday, given over to the Harvard graduates, was one of the most brilliant on record, with colored lights, crimson banners and good cheer and happiness. There were many well known men on the floor on that occasion, among them Messrs. Butler Ames, H. H. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee, Arthur Ware, Dr. Carleton Francis Tucker Daland, Benjamin Diblee, Larz Anderson, Arthur Adams, Joseph Chipman, Percy Houghton and Harry Fay. From the balconies a tremendous throng of people watched the gay scene, among them Mrs. Fiske Warren and party, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, the latter being very handsomely attired in deep violet voile, with large plume-laden hat to match. With the Hortons was Miss Susan Amory, and others. Miss Amory was prettily clad in navy blue cloth, with a burnt straw hat trimmed with pale blue. Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen, the latter in black, with checked blouse, and hat of burnt straw, done in black; Mr. Dana Estes and party, Mr. and Mrs. William Lincoln and Miss Lincoln, were there. Thursday evening, when American composers' night was observed, proved another interesting occasion, Chadwick, Converse, Zach and Strube being among the composers honored. Mr. Strube's Romanza for violin, performed by Carl Ondricek, was particularly well liked.

Among those who have attended the concerts the past week are Mrs. William P. Blake, Mr. Frederick S. Converse, Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett and her sister, Miss Armstrong, Judge Pierce, Mr. S. R. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond and party, and Mr. George Eustis. On Wednesday evening Major Higginson, with Mr. James Higginson and Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, made up a stag party. Mrs. Higginson, by the way, is of the several North Shore society women who are to give receptions in honor of the visiting teachers the coming week. Mrs. Storrow is another.

——Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett are to pass the first fortnight of the former's summer vacation, which began today, in a Canadian tour, with visits to Toronto, the Thousand Islands, Montreal and Canada. Later they are to be the guests of Judge Brackett, at Lake Ossipee, and will then go to Centre Harbor for the remainder of the summer.

[218]

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28, 1903.

—The Pop concerts closed with a brilliant program and with a large and enthusiastic audience last evening, after a most successful season. These concerts, under Mr Comee's management, have come to be a most important element in the enjoyment of thousands of residents of Boston and its vicinity, filling up as they do the time intervening between the close of the classical concert season and the flitting away for the summer. The last week has been full of interesting incidents, beginning with Monday, graduates' night, when the whole floor was given up to graduates of past years. Excitement and enthusiasm ran high throughout the evening and there was so much demand for favorite airs that the program announced was completely changed, only a very few of the selections expected being played. There were many representatives of '73, the 30-year class, and they were not only frequently cheered, but did a good deal of cheering themselves. There were more of the 1900 men there than of any other class, but that of '97 was more lustily cheered than any, and in turn made more noise themselves. Kenneth Horton seemed to be the leader in the fun and directed his classmates, standing upon a table and wielding an improvised baton. The porte cochere at the entrance was brilliant with crimson lights and over the stage was Harvard in big crimson letters, with the figure 5 in crimson on one side and 2 in blue on the other. There was a brilliant array of youth and fashion in the balconies, most of the ladies wearing white or light colors with flower hats. Mrs Kenneth Horton sat in the upper balcony with friends, one of the most interested spectators. She was beautifully dressed in a violet crepe de chine gown and a tulle hat of a lighter shade, with a wreath of violet dahlias about the crown. Over the gown she wore a three-quarters coat of white silk brocaded with pink flowers, a circle of pearls fastening white ribbons at the belt line in the back. The crimson banners hanging from the balconies disappeared early in the evening, but those about the hall indicating the class year were appropriated at the close of the evening. Never was the "Star Spangled Banner" sung with more spirit, the whole great audience rising. Throughout the evening Mr Strube yielded with the best possible grace to the demands of his audience and many were the cheers given for him. It was a red-letter night and the utmost fun and good feeling prevailed. The closing of the Pop season is always a matter of regret to the many who spend most delightful evenings there.

—Mr Adamowski received an ovation on Friday evening, the Pop being given as a testimonial to him. It was a brilliant house, every table being taken and most of the balcony seats. The program was composed of numbers by Wagner and Tschaikowski, given alternately. Among those who came up from their seaside homes were Mr Otis Kimball and his daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, who was attractively dressed in a light blue veiling, with lace on the bodice, and a white hat with white plumes. Mr and Mrs Frederic S. Converse brought again a large party of friends, including Mr J. Wallace Goodrich, and Mme Szumowska and her husband. Mr Josef Adamowski had Mr William P. Blake and several others with him. Mr Adamowski left for New York by the midnight train, and sailed yesterday morning for his home abroad.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII, NO. 179.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28, 1903.

Graduates' night at the Pops on Monday proved an exceptionally interesting occasion. Some of the well known men on the floor were Brig.-Gen. Butler Ames, Dr. Carleton Francis, Mr. Larz Anderson, Mr. Arthur Ware, Mr. H. H. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee; Mr. Tucker Daland, Mr. Percy Haughton, Mr. Harry Fay, Mr. Joseph Chipman and Mr. Arthur Adams. In the balconies, Mrs. Fiske Warren was conspicuous with a party of friends. Mrs. Kenneth Horton, who was smart in a purple veiling princess gown with a violet hat, had some young people with her, including Miss Susan Amory. Mr. and Mrs. William Lincoln and Miss Lincoln were also there.

On Thursday, "Composers' night," Mr. Strube had two compositions on the programme. His romanza for violin, done by Carl Ondricek, was vigorously applauded. During the week there were at the Pops Mr. William P. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond and a smart party, Mr. George Eustis, Mr. Frederick S. Converse, Miss Armstrong and Mr. S. H. Hudson. Maj. Higginson, with his brother, Mr. James Higginson of New York, who came on for Commencement, and his son, Mr. Alexander H. Higginson, made up a party. The Pops ended last evening, and the management will now be widely scattered. Mr. Adamowski is on the ocean on the Campania, which sailed yesterday from New York; Mr. and Mrs. Comee are to travel in the West, and Mr. Mudgett, with his wife, is off for a Canadian trip of a fortnight's duration. They are to visit Judge Brackett at Lake Ossipee, and later will be at Centre Harbor.

Mr. T. Adamowski sailed yesterday from New York on the Campania. He intended to have gone over a week later on the Saxonia, but illness in his Poland home caused a change of plans. Mr. Adamowski's Pop benefit Friday night was a rousing testimonial to his popularity and goodfellowship.

BOSTON . TIMES

JUNE 27, 1903.

The "Pops."

This last week of the "Pops" has consisted almost solely of special nights. Tuesday's performance was in honor of the alumni conclave of the American Institute of Homoeopathy, and this programme was offered:

March, "Queen of Sheba" ..... Gounod
Overture, "Maritia" ..... Flotow
Selection, "Fortune-Teller" ..... Herbert
Waltz, "Morgenblaetter" ..... J. Strauss
Suite, "Peer Gynt" ..... Grieg
Overture, "Tannhausser" ..... Wagner
Hymn to St. Cecilia ..... Gounod
Wedding march ..... Mendelssohn
Overture, "Poet and Peasant" ..... Suppe
Selection, "The Brigands" ..... Offenbach
Waltz, "Violets" ..... Waldteufel
March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube

The hall was well-filled, the floor being crowded with gaily dressed men and women. To those whose idea of a "special night" is a college night, the scene would have been enlightening. It was almost an ideal "Pop" audience, for the conversation was seldom loud, and there was nothing unruly save, once or twice, the applause for Mr. Adamowski. This conductor's programmes have already exhausted comment and it is late in the day to be talking of the grace and swing of his performances; but one cannot refrain from mentioning two features of Tuesday's programme — the "Tannhausser" overture, and the Grieg numbers. The former was heard with unprecedented silence, and the applause at the end was frequent. Indeed, it was a superb reading. The audience clapped, shouted, stamped, and would not be appeased. Mr. Adamowski bowed repeatedly, but was finally compelled to give an encore before the programme could continue. The other number mentioned consisted of two movements from one of the Peer Gynt suites—"Anitra's Dance," and "In the Hall of the Mountain King." Although the former was delightfully done, it was to the latter that special reference was made. Never has this whimsical, semi-farcical, amazing bit of orchestration been given with greater effect. Was it not Mr. Apthorp who called it "a musical hornet's nest"? It was gorgeously done! There was nothing for it but to play it all over again, which Mr. Adamowski did with a good grace. Mr. Ondricek played the solo part in Gounod's hymn.

Altogether an uncommonly good evening.

SUNDAY POST, JUNE 28, 1903

THE WEEK AT THE POPS

After a most successful season, the final note was played last evening at the Pop concerts, and the orchestra disbanded to meet again in the fall. The last week was a gala one in many particulars, and the opening night, Monday, given over to the Harvard graduates, was one of the most brilliant on record, with its colored lights, crimson banners and good cheer and happiness. There were many well-known men on the floor on that occasion, among them Mr. Butler Ames, Mr. H. S. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee; Mr. Arthur Ware, Dr. Carleton Francis, Mr. Tucker Daland, Mr. Benjamin Dibblee, Mr. Larz Anderson, Mr. Arthur Adams, Mr. Joseph Chipman, Mr. Percy Haughton, Mr. Harry Fay and innumerable others. Among those who watched the gay scene from the balconies were Mrs. Fiske Warren and party, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, the latter being very handsomely attired in deep violet voile, with a large plume-laden hat to match. With the Hortons were Miss Susan Amory and others. Miss Amory was prettily clad in navy blue cloth and wore a burnt straw hat, with trimmings of pale blue. Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen, the latter in black, with blouse of shepherd's checked silk and large hat, were there, as were Mr. Dana Estes and party, Mr. and Mrs. William Lincoln and Miss Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cady and a throng of people who filled both balconies to overflowing. Thursday evening, when American composers' night was observed, was another interesting occasion, Chadwick, Converse, Strube and Zach being among the composers honored. Mr. Strube's compositions were particularly well liked, notably his romanza for violin, done by Mr. Karl Ondricek. Among others who have attended the concerts the past week are Mr. William P. Blake, Mr. Frederick S. Converse, Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett and her sister, Miss Armstrong, Judge Pierce, Mr. S. H. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond and party and Mr. George Eustis. On Wednesday evening Major Higginson, with Mr. James Higginson and Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, made up a stag party. Now a general scattering of the orchestra and managers is in order. Mr. Adamowski sailed yesterday for Europe on the Campania. Mr. and Mrs. Comee are to spend the summer in a tour through the West, while Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett are to pass the first fortnight of the former's vacation in a Canadian tour, visiting Toronto, the Thousand Islands, Montreal, Quebec, etc. Later they are to be the guests of Judge Brackett at his country home at Lake Ossipee, before establishing themselves for the remainder of the summer at Centre Harbor.

SUNDAY JOURNAL—JUNE 28, 1903.

Although the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity on Monday evening in honor of Graduates' Night at the "Pop" Concerts, Symphony Hall was almost entirely destitute of the fair sex, save in the balconies, where there was a representative number, to enjoy the college cheering and the music offered, which was remarkably apropos to the occasion under Mr. Strube's popular baton. Mrs. William A. Bancroft, wife of General W. A. Bancroft of Cambridge, sat in the first row of the right balcony, close to the stage, and had with her her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, wife of Colonel Bancroft. Mrs. Bancroft looked remarkably well in a gown of cafe au lait veiling, made up effectively with quantities of cream lace and embroidery, while touches of black were on the waist and skirt. She wore a small flowered bonnet and her wrap was a long one of black taffeta silk. She had some exquisite diamonds at her throat. Mrs. Fiske Warren came in late with a large party and occupied seats in the balcony. Others noted were Colonel Samuel R. Winslow, ex-Police Commissioner Robert F. Clark, Mr. Percy Haughton, the athelte, Mr. Richard D. Ware, the clever librettist of the opera of "Westward Ho," Colonel John T. Wheelwright, Mr. Arthur J. Garceau, Dr. William A. Brooks, and Mr. R. P. Hallowell.

The closing of the "Pop" concerts ends all claim to summer evening diversions Boston has beyond the theatres still open, and the people still in town must look to trips to the nearby beaches for amusement.

Boston has not yet acquired the roof garden habit. Indeed, many persons, who ought to know, declare that a roof garden here would not be popular enough to be profitable.

At any rate, no one has yet made the venture.

Boston Daily Globe.

MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1903.

The pops are over. Saturday night was the stopper.

BOSTON POST,
MONDAY,
JUNE 29, 1903

Fred Comee of Symphony Hall has for some summers made a trip across the ocean. This year he will vary the programme and visit the Pacific Coast. As a result some highly entertaining articles on the far West may be looked for in the public prints.

[219]

Boston Sunday Globe.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28, 1903.

—The Pop concerts closed with a brilliant program and with a large and enthusiastic audience last evening, after a most successful season. These concerts, under Mr Comee's management, have come to be a most important element in the enjoyment of thousands of residents of Boston and its vicinity, filling up as they do the time intervening between the close of the classical concert season and the flitting away for the summer. The last week has been full of interesting incidents, beginning with Monday, graduates' night, when the whole floor was given up to graduates of past years. Excitement and enthusiasm ran high throughout the evening and there was so much demand for favorite airs that the program announced was completely changed, only a very few of the selections expected being played. There were many representatives of '73, the 30-year class, and they were not only frequently cheered, but did a good deal of cheering themselves. There were more of the 1900 men there than of any other class, but that of '97 was more lustily cheered than any, and in turn made more noise themselves. Kenneth Horton seemed to be the leader in the fun and directed his classmates, standing upon a table and wielding an improvised baton. The porte cochere at the entrance was brilliant with crimson lights and over the stage was Harvard in big crimson letters, with the figure 5 in crimson on one side and 2 in blue on the other. There was a brilliant array of youth and fashion in the balconies, most of the ladies wearing white or light colors with flower hats. Mrs Kenneth Horton sat in the upper balcony with friends, one of the most interested spectators. She was beautifully dressed in a violet crepe de chine gown and a tulle hat of a lighter shade, with a wreath of violet dahlias about the crown. Over the gown she wore a three-quarters coat of white silk brocaded with pink flowers, a circle of pearls fastening white ribbons at the belt line in the back. The crimson banners hanging from the balconies disappeared early in the evening, but those about the hall indicating the class year were appropriated at the close of the evening. Never was the "Star Spangled Banner" sung with more spirit, the whole great audience rising. Throughout the evening Mr Strube yielded with the best possible grace to the demands of his audience and many were the cheers given for him. It was a red-letter night and the utmost fun and good feeling prevailed. The closing of the Pop season is always a matter of regret to the many who spend most delightful evenings there.

—Mr Adamowski received an ovation on Friday evening, the Pop being given as a testimonial to him. It was a brilliant house, every table being taken and most of the balcony seats. The program was composed of numbers by Wagner and Tschaikowski, given alternately. Among those who came up from their seaside homes were Mr Otis Kimball and his daughter, Miss Estelle Kimball, who was attractively dressed in a light blue veiling, with lace on the bodice, and a white hat with white plumes. Mr and Mrs Frederic S. Converse brought again a large party of friends, including Mr J. Wallace Goodrich, and Mme Szumowska and her husband. Mr Josef Adamowski had Mr William P. Blake and several others with him. Mr Adamowski left for New York by the midnight train, and sailed yesterday morning for his home abroad.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR
VOL. CXIII., NO. 179.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28, 1903.

Graduates' night at the Pops on Monday proved an exceptionally interesting occasion. Some of the well known men on the floor were Brig.-Gen. Butler Ames, Dr. Carleton Francis, Mr. Larz Anderson, Mr. Arthur Ware, Mr. H. H. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee; Mr. Tucker Daland, Mr. Percy Haughton, Mr. Harry Fay, Mr. Joseph Chipman and Mr. Arthur Adams. In the balconies, Mrs. Fiske Warren was conspicuous with a party of friends. Mrs. Kenneth Horton, who was smart in a purple veiling princess gown with a violet hat, had some young people with her, including Miss Susan Amory. Mr. and Mrs. William Lincoln and Miss Lincoln were also there.

On Thursday, "Composers' night," Mr. Strube had two compositions on the programme. His romanza for violin, done by Carl Ondricek, was vigorously applauded. During the week there were at the Pops Mr. William P. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond and a smart party, Mr. George Eustis, Mr. Frederick S. Converse, Miss Armstrong and Mr. S. H. Hudson. Maj. Higginson, with his brother, Mr. James Higginson of New York, who came on for Commencement, and his son, Mr. Alexander H. Higginson, made up a party. The Pops ended last evening, and the management will now be widely scattered. Mr. Adamowski is on the ocean on the Campania, which sailed yesterday from New York; Mr. and Mrs. Comee are to travel in the West, and Mr. Mudgett, with his wife, is off for a Canadian trip of a fortnight's duration. They are to visit Judge Brackett at Lake Ossipee, and later will be at Centre Harbor.

Mr. T. Adamowski sailed yesterday from New York on the Campania. He intended to have gone over a week later on the Saxonia, but illness in his Poland home caused a change of plans. Mr. Adamowski's Pop benefit Friday night was a rousing testimonial to his popularity and goodfellowship.

BOSTON . TIMES

JUNE 27, 1903.

The "Pops."

This last week of the "Pops" has consisted almost solely of special nights. Tuesday's performance was in honor of the alumni conclave of the American Institute of Homoeopathy, and this programme was offered:

March, "Queen of Sheba" ..... Gounod
Overture, "Maritia" ..... Flotow
Selection, "Fortune-Teller" ..... Herbert
Waltz, "Morgenblaetter" ..... J. Strauss
Suite, "Peer Gynt" ..... Grieg
Overture, "Tannhausser" ..... Wagner
Hymn to St. Cecilia ..... Gounod
Wedding march ..... Mendelssohn
Overture, "Poet and Peasant" ..... Suppe
Selection, "The Brigands" ..... Offenbach
Waltz, "Violets" ..... Waldteufel
March, "Cruiser Harvard" ..... Strube

The hall was well-filled, the floor being crowded with gaily dressed men and women. To those whose idea of a "special night" is a college night, the scene would have been enlightening. It was almost an ideal "Pop" audience, for the conversation was seldom loud, and there was nothing unruly save, once or twice, the applause for Mr. Adamowski. This conductor's programmes have already exhausted comment and it is late in the day to be talking of the grace and swing of his performances; but one cannot refrain from mentioning two features of Tuesday's programme — the "Tannhausser" overture, and the Grieg numbers. The former was heard with unprecedented silence, and the applause at the end was frequent. Indeed, it was a superb reading. The audience clapped, shouted, stamped, and would not be appeased. Mr. Adamowski bowed repeatedly, but was finally compelled to give an encore before the programme could continue. The other number mentioned consisted of two movements from one of the Peer Gynt suites—"Anitra's Dance," and "In the Hall of the Mountain King." Although the former was delightfully done, it was to the latter that special reference was made. Never has this whimsical, semi-farcical, amazing bit of orchestration been given with greater effect. Was it not Mr. Apthorp who called it "a musical hornet's nest"? It was gorgeously done! There was nothing for it but to play it all over again, which Mr. Adamowski did with a good grace. Mr. Ondricek played the solo part in Gounod's hymn.

Altogether an uncommonly good evening.

SUNDAY POST, JUNE 28, 1903

THE WEEK AT THE POPS

After a most successful season, the final note was played last evening at the Pop concerts, and the orchestra disbanded to meet again in the fall. The last week was a gala one in many particulars, and the opening night, Monday, given over to the Harvard graduates, was one of the most brilliant on record, with its colored lights, crimson banners and good cheer and happiness. There were many well-known men on the floor on that occasion, among them Mr. Butler Ames, Mr. H. S. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee; Mr. Arthur Ware, Dr. Carleton Francis, Mr. Tucker Daland, Mr. Benjamin Dibblee, Mr. Larz Anderson, Mr. Arthur Adams, Mr. Joseph Chipman, Mr. Percy Haughton, Mr. Harry Fay and innumerable others. Among those who watched the gay scene from the balconies were Mrs. Fiske Warren and party, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton, the latter being very handsomely attired in deep violet voile, with a large plume-laden hat to match. With the Hortons were Miss Susan Amory and others. Miss Amory was prettily clad in navy blue cloth and wore a burnt straw hat, with trimmings of pale blue. Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Mullen, the latter in black, with blouse of shepherd's checked silk and large hat, were there, as were Mr. Dana Estes and party, Mr. and Mrs. William Lincoln and Miss Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cady and a throng of people who filled both balconies to overflowing. Thursday evening, when American composers' night was observed, was another interesting occasion, Chadwick, Converse, Strube and Zach being among the composers honored. Mr. Strube's compositions were particularly well liked, notably his romanza for violin, done by Mr. Karl Ondricek. Among others who have attended the concerts the past week are Mr. William P. Blake, Mr. Frederick S. Converse, Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett and her sister, Miss Armstrong, Judge Pierce, Mr. S. H. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richmond and party and Mr. George Eustis. On Wednesday evening Major Higginson, with Mr. James Higginson and Mr. Alexander Henry Higginson, made up a stag party. Now a general scattering of the orchestra and managers is in order. Mr. Adamowski sailed yesterday for Europe on the Campania, Mr. and Mrs. Comee are to spend the summer in a tour through the West, while Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Mudgett are to pass the first fortnight of the former's vacation in a Canadian tour, visiting Toronto, the Thousand Islands, Montreal, Quebec, etc. Later they are to be the guests of Judge Brackett at his country home at Lake Ossipee, before establishing themselves for the remainder of the summer at Centre Harbor.

SUNDAY JOURNAL—JUNE 28, 1903.

Although the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity on Monday evening in honor of Graduates' Night at the "Pop" Concerts, Symphony Hall was almost entirely destitute of the fair sex, save in the balconies, where there was a representative number, to enjoy the college cheering and the music offered, which was remarkably apropos to the occasion under Mr. Strube's popular baton. Mrs. William A. Bancroft, wife of General W. A. Bancroft of Cambridge, sat in the first row of the right balcony, close to the stage, and had with her her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, wife of Colonel Bancroft. Mrs. Bancroft looked remarkably well in a gown of cafe au lait veiling, made up effectively with quantities of cream lace and embroidery, while touches of black were on the waist and skirt. She wore a small flowered bonnet and her wrap was a long one of black taffeta silk. She had some exquisite diamonds at her throat. Mrs. Fiske Warren came in late with a large party and occupied seats in the balcony. Others noted were Colonel Samuel R. Winslow, ex-Police Commissioner Robert F. Clark, Mr. Percy Haughton, the athelte, Mr. Richard D. Ware, the clever librettist of the opera of "Westward Ho," Colonel John T. Wheelwright, Mr. Arthur J. Garceau, Dr. William A. Brooks, and Mr. R. P. Hallowell.

The closing of the "Pop" concerts ends all claim to summer evening diversions Boston has beyond the theatres still open, and the people still in town must look to trips to the nearby beaches for amusement.

Boston has not yet acquired the roof garden habit. Indeed, many persons, who ought to know, declare that a roof garden here would not be popular enough to be profitable.

At any rate, no one has yet made the venture.

Boston Daily Globe.

MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1903.

The pops are over. Saturday night was the stopper.

BOSTON POST, MONDAY, JUNE 29, 1903

Fred Comee of Symphony Hall has for some summers made a trip across the ocean. This year he will vary the programme and visit the Pacific Coast. As a result some highly entertaining articles on the far West may be looked for in the public prints.

[219]

- COVER ONLY -
CONTENTS AVAILABLE
ELSEWHERE IN ARCHIVES

THE "POPS." SYMPHONY HALL.

SYMPHONY HALL "POP" PROGRAMME.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING DURING THE SUMMER SEASON.

Boston, Friday, June 26, 1903. Eighteenth Season. Summer 1903.

Published by C. A. ELLIS, Vol. I. No. 47.

C. A. ELLIS, Manager. F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

Mr. T. ADAMOWSKI, Conductor.

Notice to Advertisers.

The advertising columns in the programme are controlled SOLELY by F. R. COMEE, Symphony Hall, to whom all communications should be addressed.

In order to thoroughly enjoy the Concerts, smoke

Daniel Frank & Co.'s

Barrister Perfecto . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Barrister Conchas . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
N. S. Londres . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
Celebridad Perfecto, 10c. each.
Garcia, D. F. & Co., Conchas, . . . 10c. each.
The American Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.
The American Concha Fina Especial . . . . . 10c.
3 for 25c.
The American Perfecto Fino . . . . . 20c.
3 for 50c.
Knight Tempter Puritanos Finos . . . . . 15c.
2 for 25c.

On sale at the "Pops"

FRIDAY, JUNE 26.

TESTIMONIAL TO CONDUCTOR T. ADAMOWSKI.

WAGNER-TSCHAIKOWSKI PROGRAMME.

1. POLONAISE . . . . . Tschaikowski
2. OVERTURE, "Rienzi" . . . . . Wagner
3. ANDANTE from Quartet . . . . . Tschaikowski
4. RIDE OF THE VALKYRIES . . . . . Wagner

---

5. OVERTURE, "1812" . . . . . Tschaikowski
6. ALBUMBLATT . . . . . Wagner
7. LA BELLE AU BOIS DORMANT . . . . Tschaikowski
   Solo Violin, Mr. KARL ONDRICEK
   a. Adagio b. Valse.
8. OVERTURE, "Tannhäuser" . . . . . Wagner

---

9. SUITE, "The Nut-cracker" . . . . . Tschaikowski
   a. Chinese Dance b. Russian Dance
10. FINALE TO ACT III., "Lohengrin" . . . . Wagner
11. WALTZ from "Onegin" . . . . . Tschaikowski
12. TANNHAEUSER MARCH . . . . . Wagner

THE CONSERVATORY

Management takes special pleasure in announcing the re-engagement of

Signor ORESTE BIMBONI

As Director of the School of Opera for a period of three years. The success of these public operatic performances amply demonstrates the great value and possibilities of home operatic training as compared with the expense and uncertainty of such study abroad. The facilities provided for next year in the Conservatory School of Opera will be largely increased over that of the past two years, and several public performances will be given. The Conservatory school year for 1903-1904

OPENS SEPTEMBER 17.

NORFOLK CABINET LAGER BEER

THE large sales of Norfolk Cabinet at the "Pops" during past years are entirely due to the sound footing of confidence which experience inspires. Brewed from the highest grades of malt and hops, thoroughly aged, and properly sterilized, in delicacy of flavor and purity it is the ideal table beer.

Massachusetts Breweries Co.
17 Otis Street, Boston

PUREOXIA

DRY GINGER ALE

MADE FROM DISTILLED WATER UNDER PERFECT HYGIENIC CONDITIONS

The only Beer on draught served at these Concerts is the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s Milwaukee.

BLANK PAGE

END OF VOLUME

VOLUME 19

BSO

1902 - 1903

SHIPMAN'S
Invoice & Scrap
BOOK

[1]

COLORED PAPER

799.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 REHEARSALS.

FLOOR,
Premium,
Name,

999.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 REHEARSALS.

First BAL. Right,
Premium,
Name,

1199.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 REHEARSALS.

First BAL. Left,
Premium,
Name,

1399.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 REHEARSALS.

First BAL. Centre,
Premium,
Name,

299.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 REHEARSALS.

FLOOR,
Premium,
Name,

499.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 REHEARSALS.

First BAL. Centre,
Premium,
Name,

799.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 CONCERTS.

FLOOR,
Premium,
Name,

999.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 CONCERTS.

First BAL. Right,
Premium,
Name,

1199.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 CONCERTS.

First BAL. Left,
Premium,
Name,

1399.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$12 CONCERTS.

First BAL. Centre,
Premium,
Name,

[2]

COLORED PAPER

299.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 CONCERTS.

FLOOR, ...
Premium, ...
Name, ...

699.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 CONCERTS.

Second BAL. Left, ...
Premium, ...
Name, ...

499.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 CONCERTS.

First BAL. Centre, ...
Premium, ...
Name, ...

999.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 CONCERTS.

Second BAL. Centre
Premium,
Name,

599.
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.
SEASON 1902-1903.
$7.50 CONCERTS.

Second BAL. Right, ...
Premium, ...
Name, ...

Symphony Hall "Pops."

SEASON 1901

C. A. ELLIS
Manager

F. R. COMEE
Assistant Manager

ADMIT ONE

SYMPHONY HALL.
Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.
Tuesday Evening, May 6
6 "POPS"
PRICE, 75 CTS.
C. A. Ellis, Manager F. R. Comee, Ass't Manager

6 NVF MAY 6 Retain This Check Balcony
A TABLE

POSTAL CARD - ONE CENT.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

THIS SIDE IS FOR THE ADDRESS ONLY.

BOSTON
SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
SYMPHONY HALL
HUNTINGTON AND MASSACHUSETTS AVES.

BOSTON, October 2, 1902.

AUCTION SALE of $12 SEASON TICKETS for the SATURDAY EVENING CONCERTS, at Symphony Hall, this (THURSDAY) morning, at TEN o'clock.

POSTAL CARD - ONE CENT.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

THIS SIDE IS FOR THE ADDRESS ONLY.

BOSTON
SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
SYMPHONY HALL
HUNTINGTON AND MASSACHUSETTS AVES.

BOSTON, September 29, 1902.

AUCTION SALE of $12 SEASON TICKETS for the FRIDAY AFTERNOON PUBLIC REHEARSALS, at Symphony Hall, this (MONDAY) morning, at TEN o'clock.

SYMPHONY HALL
SUNDAY EVENING, MARCH 1, 1903, at eight

CONCERT
BY THE
BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor
IN AID OF ITS
PENSION FUND
Assisted by Mme. ANTOINETTE SZUMOWSKA
WHO HAS KINDLY VOLUNTEERED

PROGRAMME

BEETHOVEN . .	Overture to "Leonore" No. 3, Op. 72
SAINT-SAËNS . .	Septet in E-flat, Op. 65, for two Violins, Viola, 'Cello, Contrabass, Trumpet, and Piano. Full String Orchestra. Piano, Mme. SZUMOWSKA.
TSCHAIKOWSKY .	Symphony No. 6, in B minor, "Pathétique," Op. 74.
WAGNER . . .	Siegfried Passing through the Fire, from "Siegfried," Act III, Scene 2; and Morning Dawn and Siegfried's Voyage up the Rhine, from "Götterdämmerung," Prologue.

Orders by mail, accompanied by check made payable to C. A. Ellis, will be filled in the order of their reception.

Tickets, $1.50, $1.00, and 75 cents, on sale at Symphony Hall on and after Friday, February 13.

[4]

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL
NEW YORK
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES
THREE CONCERTS

Symphony Hall, HUNTINGTON AND MASSACHUSETTS AVENUES

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

94 PERFORMERS — Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

TWENTY-FOUR CONCERTS

On consecutive SATURDAY EVENINGS from October 18, 1902, to May 2, 1903, omitting November 8, December 13, 1902, January 17, February 21, and March 21, 1903, and

Twenty-four Public Rehearsals

On consecutive FRIDAY AFTERNOONS, from October 17, 1902, to May 1, 1903, omitting November 7, December 12, 1902, January 16, February 20, and March 20, 1903.

SOLOISTS

Mme. Melba, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mme. Kirkby Lunn, Mme. Bloomfield Zeisler, Miss Maud MacCarthy, Miss Elsa Ruegger, Mr. Anton Von Rooy, Mr. Ben Davies, Mr. Raoul Pugno, Mr. Frederic Lamond, Mr. Harold Randolph, Mr. Hugo Heerman, Messrs. Kneisel, Adamowski, Schroeder, and others.

TICKETS for the series of CONCERTS and for the series of REHEARSALS, $12.00 and $7.50, according to location.

The $12 Seats for the Rehearsals will be sold at auction, at Symphony Hall, MONDAY, September 29, at 10 a.m.

The $7.50 Seats for the Rehearsals will be sold at auction, at Symphony Hall, TUESDAY, September 30, at 10 a.m.

The $12 Seats for the Concerts will be sold at auction, at Symphony Hall on THURSDAY, October 2, at 10 a.m.

The $7.50 Seats for the Concerts will be sold in like manner at the same place on FRIDAY, October 3, at 10 a.m.

Bids will be accepted for seats in their regular order only, and not for the choice; and no more than four seats will be sold on one bid. The seats open to competition will be shown on a diagram, and will be marked off as sold.

TICKETS WILL BE DELIVERED IN THE HALL, AND MUST BE PAID FOR AS SOON AS BOUGHT, OR THEY WILL BE IMMEDIATELY RESOLD

(OVER)

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES

THREE CONCERTS

[5]

HUNTINGTON AVENUE CORRIDOR.

SYMPHONY HALL,

HUNTINGTON AND MASSACHUSETTS AVENUES, BOSTON.

FLOOR PLAN.

The red line marks the division between the $12 and $7.50 seats.

The red line marks the division between the $12 and $7.50 seats.

BOSTON SYMPHONY
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRE
WILHELM GERICK

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by th at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be
for you before the public subscription is Should you desire to renew your sub closed order before October 15, indicating

Yours respectfully

C. A.
F. R.

BOSTON SYMPHON
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUND
WILHELM GERIC

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by
at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be
for you before the public subscription is
Should you desire to renew your su
closed order before October 15, indicatin

Yours respectful

C. A
F. R

CARNEGIE
TWENTY-SECOND SE

THE
BOSTON
SYMPH

FOOT GUARD
HARTFO
TWENTY-SECOND SEA

THE CONNECTICUT
ANNUITY GUILD A
THREE CON

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

CARNEGIE HALL
NEW YORK
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

94 Performers. Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Sir:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Madam:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

CARNEGIE HALL
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES

THREE CONCERTS

FIVE CONCERTS

THURSDAY EVENINGS AT 8.15

NOVEMBER 6
DECEMBER 11
JANUARY 15
FEBRUARY 19
MARCH 19 and

FIVE MATINEES

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS AT 2.30

NOVEMBER 8
DECEMBER 13
JANUARY 17
FEBRUARY 21
MARCH 21

Season tickets, with reserved seats for the series of five matinees or five concerts, $7.50, $6, $5, and $3, and boxes $50 and $40, according to location. Programme books, with descriptive notes on the works to be performed, will be mailed in advance of each concert to purchasers of season tickets.

☞ The programmes for the afternoon and evening series will be entirely different.

SOLO ARTISTS

MME. MELBA
MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK
MME. KIRKBY LUNN
MME. BLOOMFIELD-ZEISLER
MR. VON ROOY
MR. PUGNO
MR. LAMOND
MR. HEERMAN
MR. KNEISEL
MR. SCHROEDER

AND OTHERS TO BE ANNOUNCED

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

BOSTON SYMPHONY
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED
WILHELM GERICKE

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by th at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be p for you before the public subscription is o
Should you desire to renew your subs closed order before October 15, indicating

Yours respectfully,
C. A.
F. R.

BOSTON SYMPHON
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUND
WILHELM GERIC

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by
at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be
for you before the public subscription is
Should you desire to renew your su
closed order before October 15, indicatin

Yours respectful
C. A
F. R

CARNEGIE
TWENTY-SECOND SE

THE
BOSTON
SYMPH

FOOT GUAR
HARTFO
TWENTY-SECOND SEA

THE CONNECTICUT
ANNUITY GUILD A
THREE CON

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES
THREE CONCERTS

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

"Its mission has been to preach the glorious gospel of musical beauty and truth, always with eloquence and convincing force."
— New York Times.

"As to merit, supremely excellent; as to result, in the highest degree delightful."— Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Always a fine organization, it now is unexcelled."
— New York Press.

"This glorious orchestra, in purity and beauty of tone, in brilliancy and exactness of execution, left nothing to be asked."
— Philadelphia Times.

"The highest phase of art."— New York World.

"All of its performances are full of musical import."
— Baltimore Sun.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES

THREE CONCERTS

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL
NEW YORK
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

CARNEGIE HALL
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

(Over)

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES
THREE CONCERTS

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall.

.....

.....

Location desired, as near as possible.....

.....

☞ Unless you wish to subscribe for both, please indicate your choice between the Afternoon and Evening series.

CARNEGIE HALL

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES

THREE CONCERTS

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

CARNEGIE HALL

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

90 PERFORMERS

Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

FIVE CONCERTS

THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 6
THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 11
THURSDAY EVENING, JANUARY 15
THURSDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 19
THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 19
AT 8.15

FIVE MATINEES

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 8
SATURDAY AFTERNOON, DECEMBER 13
SATURDAY AFTERNOON, JANUARY 17
SATURDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 21
SATURDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 21
AT 2.30

EMINENT SOLOISTS, TO BE ANNOUNCED

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES
THREE CONCERTS

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets for the series of five {Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon} Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

BOSTON
CHESTRA
me seats mail en-
ANAGER.

FOOT GUARD HALL
HARTFORD
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE CONNECTICUT TEACHERS' ANNUITY GUILD ANNOUNCES
THREE CONCERTS
by the* BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained
SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

BOSTON
CHESTRA
ne seats mail en-
ANAGER.

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The first concert in Hartford by the Boston Symphony Orchestra was on October 25, 1886, and since that time, at intervals, eight additional performances have been given, making a total of nine to date. There has always been in Hartford a generous and appreciative clientèle for this now famous organization. Recognizing this fact and encouraged by the splendid results attained in the past two years under their management, the resident branch of the Connecticut Teachers' Annuity Guild have decided to make a series of concerts by the orchestra a fixture in the musical entertainments of Hartford. There is every reason to believe that the alliance between this most worthy organization and the leading orchestra in America will receive the hearty and generous support of the public.

DATES OF PERFORMANCES

Tuesday Evening, November 11, 1902

Monday Evening, January 19, 1903

Monday Evening, March 23, 1903

At 8.15

SOLO ARTISTS

MME. KIRKBY LUNN

English contralto from Covent Garden Opera, London

MISS ELSA RUEGGER

The Belgian Violoncellist

Season tickets, with reserved seats for the three concerts, $4.00
Single tickets, $1.50

Full information as to all details can be obtained from members of the Guild and at the various music stores. Tickets at John M. Gallup & Co., 201 Asylum Street.

Special Announcement

Season ticket holders of this season will be allowed to retain the same seats for each succeeding season by filling out and mailing a blank which will be sent with the preliminary circulars in October of each year.

I hereby subscribe for.....season tickets

for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

"Its mission has been to preach the glorious gospel of musical beauty and truth, always with eloquence and convincing force."
— New York Times.

"As to merit, supremely excellent; as to result, in the highest degree delightful."— Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Always a fine organization, it now is unexcelled."
— New York Press.

"This glorious orchestra, in purity and beauty of tone, in brilliancy and exactness of execution, left nothing to be asked."
— Philadelphia Times.

"The highest phase of art."— New York World.

"All of its performances are full of musical import."
— Baltimore Sun.

New York, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for ..... season tickets for the series of five { Thursday Evening / Saturday Afternoon } Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie

CARNEGIE HALL
NEW YORK
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903
The BOSTON SYMPHONY

CARNEGIE HALL
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903
THE BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,
C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the concerts by the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Carnegie Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 15, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,
C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
PHILADELPHIA
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

PHILADELPHIA

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

94 Performers. Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Sir:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Madam:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Madam:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Sir:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

TWO SERIES OF

FIVE CONCERTS EACH

First Series Monday Evenings at 8.15		Second Series Wednesday Evenings at 8.15
November	3	November	5
December	8	December	10
January	12	January	14
February	16	February	18
March	16	March	18

The scale of prices will be the same for each series.

Proscenium boxes seating eight, and boxes seating six and four, will be sold at $75, $63, and $42, respectively, for the series of five concerts.

Season tickets, with reserved seats for the series of five concerts, $7, $5, and $3.50, according to location.

The public sale of tickets for the first series will open Monday morning, October 13, and for the second series on the following Monday morning, October 20, at the Heppe Piano Rooms, 1115 Chestnut Street.

Programme books, with descriptive notes on the works to be performed, will be mailed in advance of each concert to purchasers of season tickets.

SOLO ARTISTS

MME. MELBA
MME. KIRKBY LUNN
MME. BLOOMFIELD-ZEISLER
MR. VON ROOY
MR. LAMOND
MISS RUEGGER
MR. KNEISEL
MR. SCHROEDER

AND OTHERS TO BE ANNOUNCED

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Both series of concerts will be the same in character and equally attractive, but with different programmes and soloists.

Season ticket holders of last season will be allowed to retain the same seats for both the first and second series, payment for the same to be made on or before Saturday, October 11, for the first series, and Saturday, October 18, for the second series, by cash, money order, or check, made payable to Miss H. Harris, to whom all renewals of seats should be sent, at 1115 Chestnut Street.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY OR
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AN
WILHELM GERICKE, C

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday
the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Acad
should be pleased to reserve the same seats fo
scription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscript closed order before October 20, indicating the

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELL
F. R. CO

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCH
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND E WILHELM GERICKE, CO

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday eve
the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academ should be pleased to reserve the same seats for y
scription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription
closed order before October 20, indicating the loca

Yours respectfully,

The scale of Proscenium b

sold at $75, $6

Season tickets, w

and $3.50, accor

The public sale of

October 13, and fo

October 20, at the Programme books, w

will be mailed in adva

"Its mission has been to preach the glorious gospel of musical beauty and truth, always with eloquence and convincing force."
— New York Times.

"As to merit, supremely excellent; as to result, in the highest degree delightful."— Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Always a fine organization, it now is unexcelled."
— New York Press.

"This glorious orchestra, in purity and beauty of tone, in brilliancy and exactness of execution, left nothing to be asked."
— Philadelphia Times.

"The highest phase of art."— New York World.

"All of its performances are full of musical import."
— Baltimore Sun.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY OR
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AN
WILHELM GERICKE, C

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday e
the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Acad
should be pleased to reserve the same seats fo
scription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscript
closed order before October 20, indicating the l

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELL
F. R. CO

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCH
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EI
WILHELM GERICKE, CON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday even the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy
should be pleased to reserve the same seats for y
scription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription
closed order before October 20, indicating the loca

Yours respectfully,

Philadelphia, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for ..... season tickets for the first series of five Monday Evening Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music.

.....

.....

Location of seats last season .....

.....

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Madam:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Madam:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Sir:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, Manager.
F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

PHILADELPHIA

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Y OF MUSIC
DELPHIA
ND SEASON, 1902–1903

OSTON
PHONY

ONY ORCHESTRA
NDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
ICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

nday evening) series of concerts of the e Academy of Music last season, we e seats for you before the public sub-subscription, please sign and mail en-ting the location of seats.

tfully,
. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Y ORCHESTRA
RED AND EIGHTY-ONE
KE, CONDUCTOR

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY O
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AN
WILHELM GERICKE,

criber to the concerts by the ll last season, we should be ple the public subscription is ope
u desire to renew your subscr efore October 15, indicating th

Yours respectfully,

C. A. E
F. R. C

BOSTON SYMPHONY
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRE
WILHELM GERICK

AM:
ubscriber to the concerts by t
Hall last season, we should be ore the public subscription is you desire to renew your su
before October 15, indicatin

Yours respectful

C.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

(OVER)

CARNEGIE HALL
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

THE
OSTON
SYMPHONY

OOT GUARD HALL

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of co
the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last s should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the pu
scription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and closed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT M

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

PHILADELPHIA

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the first (Monday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 11, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Philadelphia, September 20, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for ..... season tickets for the second series of five Wednesday Evening Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music.

Location of seats last season .....

scription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the second (Wednesday evening) series of concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at the Academy of Music last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 20, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

C. W. SEVER & Co.,
University Bookstore,
Harvard Square,
Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

94 Performers. Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

SANDERS THEATRE

CAMBRIDGE

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

70 Performers Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE

WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Sir:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to

R & Co.,

ity Bookstore,

Harvard Square,

Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

94 Performers. Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

SANDERS THEATRE

CAMBRIDGE

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

70 Performers Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintained SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manager

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE

WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

Symphony Hall, Boston

Dear Sir:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to

R & Co.,

ity Bookstore,

Harvard Square,

Cambridge, Mass.

FIVE CONCERTS

TUESDAY EVENINGS AT 8.15 O'CLOCK

NOVEMBER 4
DECEMBER 9
JANUARY 13
FEBRUARY 17
MARCH 17

Boxes seating six, $60 each, for the series of five concerts.

Season tickets, with reserved seats for the series of five concerts, $7 and $5, according to location.

The sale of tickets will open Monday morning, October 13, at Albaugh's, 15 North Charles Street.

Programme books, with descriptive notes on the works to be performed, will be mailed in advance of each concert to purchasers of season tickets.

SOLO ARTISTS

MME. MELBA

MME. KIRKBY LUNN

MR. VON ROOY

MR. LAMOND

MR. ADAMOWSKI

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail en-

SANDERS THEATR
CAMBRIDGE
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-

The BOSTO
SYMPHON
ORCHESTRA

70 Performers Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Condu

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Maintaine
SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMANCES

C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant Manage

EVER & Co.,
iversity Bookstore,
Harvard Square,
Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

94 Performers. Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

"Its mission has been to preach the glorious gospel of musical beauty and truth, always with eloquence and convincing force."
— New York Times.

"As to merit, supremely excellent; as to result, in the highest degree delightful."— Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Always a fine organization, it now is unexcelled."
— New York Press.

"This glorious orchestra, in purity and beauty of tone, in brilliancy and exactness of execution, left nothing to be asked."
— Philadelphia Times.

"The highest phase of art."— New York World.

"All of its performances are full of musical import."

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription [illegible]

VER & Co.,
ersity Bookstore,
Harvard Square.

A PERMANENT ORCHESTRA Mai
SOLELY for CONCERT PERFORMAN
C. A. ELLIS, Manager F. R. COMEE, Assistant M

SANDERS THEA
CAMBRIDGE
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 19
The BOSTO
SYMPHON
ORCHESTR
70 Performers Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, C

TEN CONCERTS

THURSDAY EVENINGS AT 7.45

OCTOBER 30
NOVEMBER 20
DECEMBER 4
DECEMBER 18
JANUARY 8
JANUARY 29
FEBRUARY 12
MARCH 12
APRIL 2
APRIL 23

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

SEASON TICKETS for the ten concerts, $7.50.
The sale will be conducted according to the plan in use for several years in other cities.
Subscribers of last season may secure the same seats by filling out and mailing the enclosed blank, with check payable to C. W. Sever & Co., on or before October 21, 1902. On receipt of check, tickets will be mailed.
The unclaimed seats will be offered for sale in the usual manner at Sever's University Bookstore, Harvard Square, Cambridge, on Saturday morning, Oct. 25, 1902, at 8 o'clock.
A limited number of seats have been reserved for college officers and invited guests.

SOLO ARTISTS

MISS HELEN HENSCHEL
THE MISSES CARBONI
MISS WINIFRED SMITH
MR. ANTON VON ROOY
MME. BLOOMFIELD-ZEISLER
MR. RAOUL PUGNO
MR. CARL STASNY
MR. GEORGE W. PROCTOR
MISS MAUD MacCARTHY
MR. ADOLF BACK

AND OTHERS TO BE ANNOUNCED

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYM-

UNITED STATES POSTAGE TWO CENTS

C. W. SEVER & Co.,
University Bookstore,
Harvard Square,
Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYM-

UNITED STATES POSTAGE 2 CENTS

C. W. SEVER & Co.,
University Bookstore,
Harvard Square,
Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYM-

C. W. SEVER & Co.,
University Bookstore,
Harvard Square,
Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE

WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE

WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

C. W. SEVER & Co.,
University Bookstore,
Harvard Square,
Cambridge, Mass.

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

Baltimore, October 1, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for ..... season tickets for the series of five Tuesday Evening Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Music Hall.

.....

.....

Location of seats last season .....

.....

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

Cambridge, October 15, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for ..... season tickets for the series of ten Thursday Evening Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Sanders Theatre.

.....

.....

Location of seats last season .....

.....

C. W. SEVER & Co.
University Bool
Harva
C

MUSIC HALL, Baltimore

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902–1903

The BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

MUSIC HALL, BALTIMORE.

Cambridge, October 15, 1902.

I hereby subscribe for season tickets for the series of ten Thursday Evening Concerts to be given by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Sanders Theatre.

Location of seats last season

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR SIR:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
FOUNDED EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-ONE
WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR

SYMPHONY HALL, BOSTON

DEAR MADAM:

As a subscriber to the Tuesday evening concerts of the BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA at Music Hall last season, we should be pleased to reserve the same seats for you before the public subscription is opened.

Should you desire to renew your subscription, please sign and mail enclosed order before October 10, indicating the location of seats.

Yours respectfully,

C. A. ELLIS, MANAGER.
F. R. COMEE, ASSISTANT MANAGER.

C. W. SEVER & Co.
University Book
Harva
C

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXII, NO. 76.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 14, 1902.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

If one wished to condense a description of the Boston Symphony orchestra into a single expression, perhaps the most apt to be found would be the word "unique." This organization is unique in its founder, who, asking no government subsidy after the manner of foreign musical institutions, has had for 21 years the courage of his conviction that the public wanted, and would support, an orchestra presenting good music in the best way. It is unique in its absolute adherence to careful and repeated rehearsals with which no other engagements must in any way interfere, and in sparing no expense to secure the best performers in the world. It stands absolutely alone in the total number of concerts given, for early in the coming season the 2000th mark will be passed, indisputable proof that in instrumental work the Boston Symphony orchestra is making the musical history of America. Considering its years, it has the record for the least number of changes in its personnel, and can justly claim an unsurpassed esprit du corps.

Its present abiding place, the new and beautiful Symphony Hall, was erected especially for it, a voluntary tribute from hundreds of its staunchest friends at home. Engagements outside the field of distinctly concert work are frequently and steadily declined, in adherence to its creed, which is "a permanent orchestra maintained solely for concert purposes." Its field of usefulness covers 10 cities outside of Boston, including a series of 10 concerts at Harvard University, and there is a consistent and justifiable pride in the generous and unswerving loyalty of its clientele in each and every city visited.

In its ranks can be found a variety of admirable smaller organizations, notably two string quartets of highest standing, an absolutely unique organization of wind instruments, soloists with standard reputations and composers whose works have been accorded highest honors, both at home and abroad.

When en route, the most careful attention is paid to its comfort and convenience. Long, exhausting journeys and night rides are avoided, and ignoring entirely all commercial advantages, only one performance a day is the inviolable rule. Whenever extraordinary orchestration of a work calls for novel and rarely used instruments, special musicians are always engaged, thus avoiding the too prevalent doubling of performers, which weakens the department from which this special player is temporarily borrowed. And so one could go on at great length, recounting the features peculiar to this organization which justify its claim to the word "unique."

The 22d season and the third in the new hall opens on Oct. 18, 1902, and closes on May 2, 1903. There will be the usual 24 Friday afternoon public rehearsals and 24 Saturday evening concerts. Five trips to New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Baltimore will be made in the weeks of Nov. 3-8, Dec. 8-13, Jan. 12-17, Feb. 16-21 and March 16-21, and during these weeks the Boston concerts will be omitted. Mr. Wilhelm Gericke will begin his 10th year as conductor, five seasons representing his first regime from 1884 to 1889.. So more favorable comment can be offered than this decade of devotion to high ideals, with the inevitable resultant of a satisfied public.

Patrons of the concerts by this organization will read with interest the announcement of the auction sales of season tickets, which will be held in Symphony Hall. The sale of tickets for the 24 Friday afternoon public rehearsals will be on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 29 and 30, and for the 24 Saturday evening concerts on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 2 and 3. All these sales will begin at 10 A. M., and continue throughout the day. Admission to the second balcony at 25 cents each for the Friday afternoon public rehearsals only will be under the same rule which proved so practical and satisfactory last year. The Huntington avenue entrance will be opened at 1 o'clock precisely before the performance on each Friday afternoon, and exactly 505 people, which is the capacity of the second balcony, will be admitted. Another rule, which has proved a marked success, that of allowing no standees whatever in the hall, will again be enforced.

In due season further details as to soloists, the works to be performed, with a list of novelties, and other interesting information, will be published. The usual indications to be relied upon at this early date promise the same complete sale of every seat in the house which has obtained for the past two years.

6 Oct 1

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

Boston Symphony Orchestra.

AUCTION SALE OF $12 SEATS FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING CONCERTS AT SYMPHONY HALL (Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.) THURSDAY MORNING, at 10 O'CLOCK, CONTINUING THROUGH THE DAY.

Auction Sale of $7.50 Seats for Concerts FRIDAY, Oct. 3.

SUNDAY HERALD.

PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXII, NO. 83.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 21, 1902.

FOR the 22d time, the musical public of Boston and vicinity is expectantly awaiting the announcement of the soloists to appear during the coming season with the Boston Symphony orchestra. The true enthusiast finds ample satisfaction in the orchestra itself, which notably in an organization like the Boston Symphony orchestra, is simply an assembly of soloists merging their individualities into one complete composite. But so many patrons enjoy the added feature of a solo performer that the management provides as strong and attractive a list as can be secured, and this season it is quite in keeping both with the orchestra and the record of past seasons.

The simple announcement of Mme. Melba as easily the first in importance is all-sufficient, with the added assurance that it will be her only appearance in Boston in concert. Mme. Schumann-Heink is, like Mme. Melba, too well known and too great a favorite to need extended exploiting.

A newcomer is Mme. Kirkby Lunn, the English contralto, fresh from a season's triumph at the famous Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London. Of her remarkable success there the London Times says: "The phenomenal voice with which Mme. Kirkby Lunn is gifted is truly a marvel, showing, as it does, a quality, volume and range that encompasses the profundity of Wagner's Ortrud with the same apparent ease and graceful indifference that justifies her in undertaking, and with such a large measure of success, the leading prima donna role in Bizet's 'Carmen.'" The Telegraph refers to her as having "long been the bright particular star of a large section of London concert goers."

For instrumentalists, the return of Mme. Fanny Bloomfield-Zeisler, after an absence of three years, will be most heartily welcomed by all in recollection of her splendid virtuosity as a pianist.

Another newcomer is Miss Maud MacCarthy, the youthful Irish violinist. That her artistic career abroad has been most brilliant is evidenced by the following excerpts from the English press. The London Times says: "Miss Maud MacCarthy's place among the first violinists of the day is being rapidly established, and the time cannot now be long before she is universally recognized as one of the greatest and most thoroughly artistic players before the public." While Black and White adds the following: "Miss Maud MacCarthy can with more truth be described as an artist than nine-tenths of the musicians who are dignified by that title. At her concert on the 3d inst. she played two important works—a sonata in C minor by Beethoven and Brahms' sonata in A major. Both were distinguished by intense artistic feeling, thoroughly controlled, and, as regards technique, the greatest facility."

Miss Elsa Ruegger, the Belgian violoncellist who three years since made her Boston debut with the orchestra, has since that time, although now but 20 years of age, won added reputation and a position among the greatest virtuosi of the age. She has had the honor of twice playing before the Emperor and Empress of Germany since her appearance here.

First among the men soloists is the basso, Mr. Anton von Rooy, whose magnificent work as a leading exponent of Wagner's operatic school while a member of the Metropolitan opera company will long be remembered. He stands quite unsurpassed and unique among his associates.

Another most charming singer, always welcome and absolutely sure to satisfy, is Mr. Ben Davies.

Mr. Raoul Pugno makes his Boston debut in this series of concerts as the soloist of the first performance. Of an Italian father and a Lorraine mother, born at Montrouge, France rightly claims the honor of being his country. His artistic triumphs in Berlin, Vienna, Paris and London were of the most sensational kind, and to reproduce his press notices would require a book of considerable dimensions. He is not only an artist and virtuoso, but he is a composer and authority on musical matters. He is honorary professor of the Paris Conservatoire of Music, the only one who can claim such distinction. The government of the French republic decorated him with the cross of the Legion of Honor, and similar honors were conferred on him by the courts of Italy, Spain, Holland and Turkey.

A newcomer is Mr. Frederic Lamond, a native of Glasgow, and in this connection it is of interest to note the extent and variety of countries from which the soloists are drawn. Australia, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Germany, France, Belgium, Poland and the United States all send their representatives to the musical Mecca of America. A pupil of both Liszt and Von Bulow, Mr. Lamond, by his score of successes at home and on the continent, has only this country to conquer to complement his career.

Mr. Harold Randolph, director of the famous Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, who has already earned a place among leading pianists by his success with the orchestra elsewhere, will be heard early in the season.

The deserved popularity of Messrs. Kneisel, Schroeder and Adamowski with Boston Symphony patrons is the best possible reason for strengthening an already imposing list by the addition of their names.

The sale of season tickets for the 24 Friday afternoon public rehearsals will be held at Symphony Hall on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 29 and 30, and for the 24 Saturday evening concerts on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 2 and 3. All sales begin at 10 A. M. and continue through the day.

THE BOSTON SUNDAY GLOBE—SEPTEMBER 21.

SYMPHONY HALL,

Huntington and Massachusetts Avenues.

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, CONDUCTOR,
TWENTY-SECOND SEASON, 1902-1903,
WILL GIVE A SERIES OF

24 CONCERTS

On Consecutive Saturday Evenings, from Oct. 18, 1902, to May 2, 1903, Omitting Nov. 8, Dec. 13, 1902, Jan. 17, Feb. 21 and March 21, 1903, and

24 PUBLIC REHEARSALS

ON CONSECUTIVE FRIDAY AFTERNOONS, from Oct. 17, 1902, to May 1, 1903, Omitting Nov. 7, Dec. 12, 1902, Jan. 16, Feb. 20 and March 20, 1903.

Soloists: Mme MELBA, Mme. SCHUMANN-HEINK, Mme. KIRKBY LUNN, Mme. BLOOMFIELD ZEISLER, Miss MAUD MacCARTHY, Miss ELSA RUEGGER, Mr. ANTON VON ROOY, Mr. BEN DAVIES, Mr. RAOUL PUGNO, Mr. FREDERIC LAMOND, Mr. HAROLD RANDOLPH, Mr. HUGO HEERMAN, Messrs. KNEISEL, ADAMOWSKI, SCHROEDER, and others.

TICKETS for the series of Concerts and for the Series of Rehearsals 12.00 and 7.50 according to location.

The $12 Seats for the Rehearsals will be sold at auction at Symphony Hall, Monday, Sept. 29, at 10 A. M.
The $7.50 Seats for the Rehearsals will be sold at auction at Symphony Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 10 A. M.
The $12 Seats for the Concerts will be sold at auction at Symphony Hall, Thursday, Oct. 2, at 10 A. M.
The $7.50 Seats for the Concerts will be sold in like manner, at the same place, on Friday, Oct. 3, at 10 A. M.

Bids will be accepted for seats in their regular order only, and not for the choice; and no more than four seats will be sold on one bid. The seats open to competition will be shown on a diagram, and will be marked off as sold.

Tickets Will Be Delivered in the Hall, and Must Be Paid for as Soon as Bought, or They Will Be Immediately Resold.

BOSTON POST,
The Representative Democratic Paper
OF NEW ENGLAND.

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 21, 1902.
(Copyright, 1902, Post Publishing Company.)

in "Florodora."

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Practically all the clientele of the Boston Symphony Orchestra makes up its mind to renew the patronage long before the list of soloists is published. Some do this because the orchestra satisfies them regardless of anything else, while everybody is sure the artists engaged to appear with the organization must of necessity be on the same plane of musical merit.

The announcement of Mme. Melba is easily the first in importance, with the added assurance that it will be her only appearance in Boston in concert. Mme. Schumann-Heink is, like Mme. Melba, too well known and too great a favorite to need extended exploiting.

A newcomer is Mme. Kirkby Lunn, the English contralto, fresh from a season's triumph at the famous Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London. For instrumentalists, the return of Mme. Fanny Bloomfield-Zeisler, after an absence of three years, will be most heartily welcomed by all in recollection of her splendid virtuosity as a pianist. Another newcomer is Maud MacCarthy, the youthful Irish violinist. That her artistic career abroad has been most brilliant is evidenced by excerpts from the English press.

Elsa Ruegger, the Belgian violoncellist, who three years since made her Boston debut with the orchestra, has since that time, although now but 20 years of ago, won added reputation and a position among the greatest virtuosi of the age. She has had the honor of twice playing before the Emperor and Empress of Germany since her appearance here.

First among the men soloists is the basso, Anton von Rooy, whose magnificent work as a leading exponent of Wagner's operatic school while a member of the Metropolitan opera company, will long be remembered. Another most charming singer, always welcome and absolutely sure to satisfy, is Mr. Ben Davies.

Raoul Pugno makes his Boston debut in this series of concerts as the soloist of the first performance. Of an Italian father and a Lorraine mother, born at Montrouge, France rightly claims the honor of being his country. His artistic triumphs in Berlin, Vienna, Paris and London were of the most sensational kind, and to reproduce his press notices would require a book of considerable dimensions. He is honorary professor of the Paris Conservatoire of Music, the only one who can claim such distinction. The government of the French republic decorated him with the cross of the Legion of Honor, and similar honors were conferred on him by the courts of Italy, Spain, Holland and Turkey.

A newcomer is Frederic Lamond, a native of Glasgow. A pupil of both Liszt and Von Bulow, Mr. Lamond, by his score of successes at home and on the continent, has only this country to conquer to complement his career.

Harold Randolph, director of the famous Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, who has already earned a place among leading pianists by his success with the orchestra elsewhere, will be heard early in the season. The deserved popularity of Messrs. Kneisel, Schroeder and Adamowski, with Boston Symphony patrons, is the best possible reason for strengthening an already imposing list by the addition of their names.

The sale of season tickets for the 24 Friday afternoon public rehearsals will be held at Symphony Hall on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 29 and 30, and for the 24 Saturday evening concerts on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 2 and 3. All sales begin at 10 a. m. and continue throughout the day.

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT
SEPTEMBER 29, 1902

Boston Symphony Orchestra

TWENTY-SECOND SEASON

AUCTION SALE OF $12 SEATS FOR THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON PUBLIC REHEARSALS AT SYMPHONY HALL (Huntington and Massachusetts Aves.) THIS (MONDAY) MORNING, AT 10 O'CLOCK, CONTINUING THROUGH THE DAY.

Auction Sale of $7.50 Seats for Friday Afternoon Public Rehersals Tomorrow (TUESDAY). Auction Sale of $12 Seats for Concerts THURSDAY, Oct. 2. Auction Sale of $7.50 Seats for Concerts FRIDAY, Oct. 3.

[A]

[8]

Plans of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Here is something concerning the plans of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. If one wished to condense a description of the Boston Symphony Orchestra into a single expression, perhaps the most apt to be found would be the word "unique." This organization is unique in its founder, who, asking no governmental subsidy, after the manner of foreign musical institutions, has had for twenty-one years the courage of his conviction that the public wanted and would support an orchestra presenting good music in the best way. It is unique in its absolute adherence to careful and repeated rehearsals, with which no other engagements must in any way interfere, and in sparing no expense to secure the best performers in the world. It stands absolutely alone in the total number of concerts given, for early in the coming season the 2,000 mark will be passed, indisputable proof that in instrumental work the Boston Symphony Orchestra is making the musical history of America. Considering its years, it has the record for the least number of changes in its personnel, and can justly claim an unsurpassed esprit de corps.

Its present abiding place, the new and beautiful Symphony Hall, was erected especially for it, a voluntary tribute from hundreds of its stanchest friends at home. Engagements outside the field of distinctly concert work are frequently and steadily declined, in adherence to its creed, which is "A permanent orchestra maintained solely for concert purposes." Its field of usefulness covers ten cities outside of Boston, including a series of ten concerts at Harvard University, and there is a consistent and justifiable pride in the generous and unswerving loyalty of its clientele in every city visited.

In its ranks can be found a variety of admirable smaller organizations, notably two string quartets of highest standing, an absolutely unique organization of wind instruments, soloists with standard reputations and composers whose works have been accorded highest honors, both at home and abroad.

When en route the most careful attention is paid to its comfort and convenience. Long exhausting journeys and night rides are avoided, and ignoring all commercial advantages, only one performance a day is the inviolable rule. Whenever extraordinary orchestration of a work calls for novel and rarely used instruments, special musicians are always engaged, thus avoiding the too prevalent doubling of performers, which weakens the department from which this special player is temporarily borrowed. And so one could go on at great length, recounting the features peculiar to this organization which justify its claim to the word "unique."

The coming season there will be five Thursday evening concerts at Carnegie Hall, on November 6, December 11, January 15, February 19, and March 19, at a quarter past eight, and five Saturday matinees, on November 8, December 13, January 17, February 21, and March 21, beginning at half-past two. The list of soloists includes Mme. Melba, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mme. Kirkby Lunn, Mme. Bloomfield-Zeisler, Mr. Von Rooy, Mr. Pugno, Mr. Lamond, Mr. Heerman, Mr. Kneisel, Mr. Schroeder and others to be announced. As in former years subscribers of the previous season will be allowed to renew the same seats. Further details as to the soloists, notably the newcomers, and the works to be performed, will be announced at an early date. All communications addressed to the box office, Carnegie Hall, will receive prompt attention. E. G. V. T.

Telegram

Sun 12/1902

THE SUN, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1902.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

The sale of season tickets for the home concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra began at the Symphony Hall in Boston last Tuesday. These seats are sold at premium and a new record was made when Nos. 17, 18 and 19 in row I brought premiums of $305 each. They were bid in by an agent, but it is believed that they were secured for Mrs. "Jack" Gardner.

The orchestra is now twenty-one years old and has given nearly 2,000 concerts, which is a fine record for any organization. From an assembly of sixty musicians it has grown to be one of nearly ninety, and its fame extends all over the world. It owes its existence to the energy and munificence of Henry L. Higginson, whose contribution through it to the cause of music in this country cannot be measured.

This orchestra will give its customary series of concerts in Carnegie Hall in this city in the coming season. The dates are Nov. 6, Dec. 11, Jan. 15, Feb. 19 and March 19, in the evenings. Matinées will be given on the Saturdays following these Thursday night entertainments. Among the soloists so far engaged are Mmes. Melba, Schumann-Heink and Kirkby Lunn, and Mr. Van Rooy, vocalists; Mme. Bloomfield Zeisler and Mr. Raoul Pugno, pianists; Franz Kneisel, the concert master of the orchestra, and Alwin Schroeder, the solo 'cellist.

CARNEGIE HALL

Boston Symphony Orchestra

Gericke

Melba
Schumann-Heink
Kirkby Lunn
Bloomfield-Zeisler
Von Rooy
Pugno
Lamond
Heerman
Kneisel
Schroeder
and others

A permanent orchestra maintained solely for concert performances.

Five Ev'g Concerts.
Thursdays, Nov. 6, Dec. 11, Jan. 15, Feb. 19, March 19.

Five Matinees.
Saturdays, Nov. 8, Dec. 13, Jan. 17, Feb. 21, March 21.

Change of Programme Each Performance.

Season tickets with reserved seats for the series of five evening concerts or five matinees, $7.50, $6, $5, and $3; Boxes $50 and $40, according to location.

Subscription sale now open at Carnegie Hall box office and at Ditson's

Telegram Oct 11

Sun 12/1902

Mail & Exp 11

Oct. 19 Herald

AMUSEMENTS

MUSIC HALL.
Twenty-second Season, 1902-03.

Boston Symphony Orchestra
(94 Performers.)
Mr. WILHELM GERICKE, Conductor

FIVE CONCERTS.
TUESDAY EVENING, NOV. 4.
TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 9.
TUESDAY EVENING, JAN. 13.
TUESDAY EVENING, FEB. 17.
TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 17.
At 8.15 o'clock.

Solo Artists:
MME. MELBA.
MME. KIRKBY LUNN.
MR. VAN ROOY.
MR. LAMOND.
MR. ADAMOWSKI.

Season tickets, with reserved seats for the series of five concerts, $7.00 and $5.00, according to location.
The sale of tickets will open Monday morning, October 13, at Albaugh's, 15 North Charles St.
Program books, with descriptive notes on the works to be performed, will be mailed in advance of each concert to purchasers of season tickets.
F. R. COMEE, Ass't Mgr. C. A. ELLIS, Mgr.

Times Oct 12-1902

***

In deference to the demand for modern compositions, Conductor Gericke of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will choose from the following list of works the novelties for the programmes of the coming series of ten concerts in Carnegie Hall:

Symphony in E minor.....Hans Huber
Overture, "La Fiancée du Tzar".....Rimski Korsakoff
Symphony in B flat minor.....Ernst Chausson
"Ein Maerchen".....Joseph Suk
Suite, Op. 24.....Vincent d'Indy
March of the Three Holy Kings, from the oratorio "Christ".....Liszt
Concerto for organ.....Horatio Parker
Chorus of the Ghosts, from "Merlin"....Goldmark
Introduction to the opera, "Nol and Damaganti".....Arenski
Overture, "Eine Nacht auf Carlstein"..Fibich
"Don Quixote".....Richard Strauss
Choral variations for harp and orchestra..Widor
"Das Gefilde der Seligen".....Weingartner
Overture, "Libesfruehling"..George Schumann
Symphony.....Dohnanyi
Symphony with organ.....Guilmant
Overture, "King Lear".....Litolff

***

Wilhelm Gericke, the conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, is of the opinion that his audiences desire to hear modern works. He notices an especial call for the works of Tschaikowsky, Richard Strauss and the young Americans. Part of this will be surprising to many, for there is a widespread belief that American composition is a drug on the market. But it would be most agreeable to find that Mr. Gericke was right. His announcements for the coming series of concerts in this city show that he is not afraid of novelties.

Among the works from which he will choose are Hans Huber's E minor symphony, Rimski-Korsakoff's overture "La Fiancée du Tzar," Chausson's B flat minor symphony, Suk's "Ein Märchen," D'Indy's suite, opus 24; Horatio Parker's organ concerto, Arenski's prelude to the opera "Moland Damaganti," "Fibich's overture "Ein Nacht auf Carlstein," Richard Strauss's "Don Quixote," Widor's variations for harp and orchestra, Weingartner's "Das Gefilde der Seligen," G. Schumann's overture "Liebesfrühling," Dohnanyi's symphony, Guilmant's symphony with organ and Litolff's "King Lear" overture.

Herald - Tribune Oct 11-1902

The advance announcements received this week pertain to the leading musical events of the season. They foretell a wholesome supply for our ever growing demand. The Boston Symphony Orchestra heads the list by promising us these novelties:—Hans Huber, Symphony in E minor; Rimski Korsakoff, overture, "La Fiancee du Tzar"; Ernest Chausson, Symphony in B flat minor; Joseph Suk, "Ein Marchen"; Vincent d'Indy, Suite, Op. 24; Liszt, "March of the Three Holy Kings," from the oratorio "Christ"; Horatio Parker, concerto for organ; Goldmark, "Chorus of the Ghosts," from "Merlin;" Arenski, introduction to the opera "Nol and Damaganti;" Fibich, overture, "Eine Nacht auf Carlstein;" Richard Strauss, "Don Quixote"; Widor, choral variations for harp and orchestra; Weingartner, "Das Gefilde der Seligen"; George Schumann, overture, "Liebesfruhling"; Dohnanyi, symphony; Guilmant, symphony with organ; Litolff, overture, "King Lear."

Commercial Advertiser Oct 11

The Boston Symphony Orchestra this year will throw off to a large extent its shackles of conservatism, and will present a large number of works by modern masters, most of which are new to New York. The following is the list of them: Hans Huber, Symphony in E minor; Rimski Korsakov, Overture, La Fiancée du Tzar; Ernest Chausson, Symphony in B-flat minor; Joseph Suk, Ein Märchen; Vincent d'Indy, Suite, op. 24; Liszt, "March of the Three Holy Kings," from Christus; Horatio Parker, concerto for organ; Goldmark, Chorus of the Ghosts, from Merlin; Arenski, Introduction to Noland Damaganti; Fibich, Overture, Eine Nacht auf Carlstein; R. Strauss, tone-poem, Don Quixote; Widor, Choral Variations for Harp and Orchestra; Weingarten, Das Gefilde der Seligen; Georg Schumann, Overture, Liebesfrühling; Dohnanyi, symphony; Guilmant, symphony with organ; Litolff, Overture, King Lear.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, under Wilhelm Gericke, will choose the novelties for its New York concerts from the following formidable list:

Hans Huber—Symphony in E minor.
Rimsky-Korsakoff—Overture, "La Fiancee du Tzar."
Ernst Chausson—Symphony in B flat minor.
Joseph Suk—"Ein Marchen."
Vincent d'Indy—Suite, op. 24.
Liszt—March of the Three Holy Kings, from the oratorio, "Christus."
Horatio Parker—Concerto for organ.
Goldmark—Chorus of the ghosts, from "Merlin."
Arenski—Introduction to the opera, "Noland Damaganti."
Fibich—Overture, "Eine Nacht auf Carlstein."
Richard Strauss—"Don Quixote."
Widor—Choral variations for harp and orchestra.
Weingartner—"Das Gefilde der Seligen."
Georg Schumann—Overture, "Libesfruhling."
Dohnanyi—Symphony.
Guilmant—Symphony with organ.
Litolff—Overture, "King Lear."

Of these, the compositions by Josef Suk, Liszt and Weingartner have been heard here. Richard Strauss's "Don Quixote" was composed after "Thus Spake Zarathustra" and before "Ein Heldenleben.' It is in the form of a theme and variations, on a Brobdingnagian scale, each section representing one of Don Quixote's adventures. Emil Paur refrained from playing this piece here, for he declared it mainly of technical interest.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra announces five concerts and five matinees—its usual number of New York appearances. The first two of these will occur on Thursday, November 6, and Saturday, November 8, and the remainder at intervals till the middle of March.

The published list of soloists is decidedly attractive. Mme. Melba, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mme. Kirkby-Lunn and Herr van Rooy are the vocalists announced, and among the instrumentalists are Mme. Bloomfield-Zeissler, M. Raoul Pugno, Mr. Frederick Lamond, the English pianist; Mr. Heermann, Mr. Kneisel and Mr. Schroeder.

Wisely keeping their ears close to the ground, Mr. Gericke and his advisers have heard the demand of concertgoers for modern works, and now reply with a list of compositions which would seem to err, if anything, on the side of overabundance of novelty.

The young Russian school, with Rimski-Korzakoff at its head, lacks only Glazounoff to be complete. There will be acquaintance made with Ernest Chausson, D'Indy, Fibich, with a symphony of Donanyi and one of Hans Huber; tone poems of Joseph Suk, Richard Strauss and Weingartner, and a whole dozen of other surprise exciting concoctions. But, then, it goes without saying that these will be judiciously accompanied with suitable sedatives and antidotes.

THE MORNING TELEGRAPH

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1902.

guilty of misconduct.

BOSTON SYMPHONY PLAYERS ARRANGE FOR TOUR.

First New York Concert to Be on November 6 in Carnegie Hall. Nine to Follow.

(Special Dispatch to The Morning Telegraph.)

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 17.—The Boston Symphony Orchestra has arranged the following bookings for a forthcoming tour:

Academy of Music, Philadelphia, November 3, 5; December 8, 10; January 12, 14; February 16, 18; March 16, 18.

Music Hall, Baltimore, November 4, December 9, January 1[illegible], February 17, March 17.

Carnegie Hall, New York, November 6, 8 (matinee); December 11, 13 (matinee); January 15, 17 (matinee); February 19, 21 (matinee); March 19, 21 (matinee).

Academy of Music, Brooklyn, November 7, December 12, January 16, February 20, March 20.

Collingwood Opera House, Poughkeepsie, November 10.

Foot Guard Hall, Hartford, November 11, January 19, March 23.

Academy of Music, Fall River, April 14.

Court Square Theatre, Springfield, January 20.

Hyperion Theatre, New Haven, February 23.

Music Hall, Troy, March 2.

[9]

MAIL AND EXPRESS OCTOBER 4, 1902

Post

The 2,000th concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which was formed twenty-one years ago, will be given during the present season. There will be five Thursday evening concerts in this city. At Carnegie Hall, on November 6, December 11, January 15, February 19, March 19, at 8:15 and five Saturday matinées on November 8, December 13, January 17, February 21, March 21, beginning at 2:30. The list of soloists includes Mme. Melba, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mme. Kirkby Lunn, Mme. Bloomfield-Zeisler, Mr. Van Rooy, Mr. Pugno, Mr. Lamond, Mr. Heerman, Mr. Kneisel, Mr. Schroeder, and others to be announced. As in former years, subscribers of the previous season will be allowed to renew the same seats. Further details as to the soloists, notably the newcomers, and the works to be performed, will be announced at an early date.

Herr Fred. R. Comee versendet den Prospekt des Bostoner Symphonie-Orchesters für die kommende New Yorker Saison. Die Einleitung dieses Prospektes ist gerade für New Yorker Leser lehrreich genug, um hier citirt zu werden. Es heißt da: „Wenn man für das Bostoner Symphonie-Orchester eine zutreffende Charakteristik mit einem einzigen Wort geben sollte, könnte man vielleicht kein passenderes finden als „einzigartig". Diese Institution ist zunächst einzigartig in Bezug auf ihren Begründer, der nicht, nach dem Muster auswärtiger Institutionen ähnlicher Art, nach Unterstützung durch die Regierung gefragt, sondern seit einundzwanzig Jahren den Muth seiner Ueberzeugung gehabt hat, nämlich daß das Publikum ein Orchester zu haben wünscht und zu unterhalten vermag, das ihm gute Musik in der besten Weise vorführt. Sie ist ferner einzigartig, insofern an sorgfältigen und häufigen Proben unwandelbar festgehalten wird. Keinerlei andere Verpflichtungen dürfen die Proben in irgend einer Weise beeinträchtigen. Und keine Kosten werden gescheut, um sich der besten Künstler der Welt zu versichern. Endlich steht die Institution einzig da in Bezug auf die Anzahl der gegebenen Konzerte, denn schon früh in dieser Saison wird das zweitausendste Konzert erreicht worden sein, ein untrüglicher Beweis dafür, daß in Bezug auf das Instrumentale das Bostoner Orchester die musikalische Geschichte Amerika's liefert. Endlich kann sich das Bostoner Orchester rühmen, in Anbetracht der Dauer seines Bestehens den geringsten Wechsel in seinem Personal gehabt zu haben, und daß der Korpsgeist seiner Mitglieder nirgends übertroffen wird." Wem diese Aeußerungen etwa zu selbstgefällig klingen sollten, der prüfe alle einzelnen Behauptungen auf's Genaueste und er wird finden, daß sie sich auf Thatsachen erheben.

Der Prospekt führt dann ferner noch aus, daß sich innerhalb des Orchesters noch andere kleinere Organisationen entwickelt haben, wie zwei Streichquartette, eine Bläser-Vereinigung für Kammermusik, und daß sich ferner unter den Mitgliedern des Orchesters nicht nur Instrumentalsolisten ersten Ranges, sondern auch Komponisten von europäischem Ruf befinden. Daß alle diese seltenen Vorzüge des Bostoner Orchesters in New York gewürdigt werden, geht nicht nur aus dem warmen Lobe der gesammten hiesigen Kritik, sondern vor Allem auch aus der großen Anzahl von Subskribenten für die regelmäßigen Konzerte in Carnegie Hall hervor.

Auch in diesem Winter werden sich die Bostoner hier wieder zehnmal hören lassen, nämlich an den Abenden des 6. November, 11. Dezember, 15. Januar, 19. Februar, 19. März und an den Nachmittagen des 8. November, 13. Dezember, 17. Januar, 21. Februar und 21. März. An Solisten sind für diese zehn Konzerte bis jetzt verpflichtet worden die Damen Melba, Schumann-Heinck, Kirkby-Lunn und Bloomfield-Zeisler und die Herren van Rooy, Pugno, Lamond, Heermann, Kneisel und Schroeder. Subskribenten der vorangegangenen Saison können sich ihre Sitze in Carnegie Hall auch für die kommende Saison sichern. — self, and the phantoms of his vision embrace and vanish.

MUSICIANS.

...our of His Operas at the Metro... ...ee of Them New Here—What ...tcliff" Are About—Boston Sym... ...eisel Quartet Forecasts—Franko ...g Recital.

At Hartford, on November 11, the Boston Symphony Orchestra will give the two thousandth concert of its twenty-one years' career. Had the date fallen on one of its concert nights at Symphony Hall, Boston, this record, which is not approached by that of any other American orchestra, might properly have been officially recognized. This makes an average of nearly 100 concerts a season for the whole time; which will be maintained in the coming period of activity, when the Boston orchestra will give, between October 17 and May 2, no less than ninety-six concerts in eleven different cities, including five matinees and five evening concerts at Carnegie Hall, New York.

Since "permanent orchestra" projects for this city are continually under discussion, the following announcement, made twenty-one years ago, by Henry L. Higginson, in a letter to the Boston "Herald," may be of interest. It was the first official word spoken regarding the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and its preamble applies strikingly to present conditions in New York. Mr. Higginson, having decided to establish and maintain, out of his own purse, a "permanent orchestra maintained solely for concert purposes," wrote as follows:

To the Editor of the "Herald:"

Notwithstanding the development of musical taste in Boston, we have never yet possessed a full and permanent orchestra, offering the best music at low prices, such as may be found in all the large European cities, or even in the smaller musical centers of Germany.

The essential condition of such orchestras is their stability, whereas ours are necessarily shifting and uncertain, because we are dependent upon musicians whose work and time are largely pledged elsewhere.

To obviate this difficulty the following plan is offered: It is an effort made simply in the interest of good music, and, though individual, inasmuch as it is independent of societies or clubs, it is in no way antagonistic to any previously existing musical organization. Indeed, the first step as well as the natural impulse, in announcing a new musical project, is to thank those who have brought us where we now stand.

Whatever may be done in the future, to the Handel and Haydn Society and to the Harvard Musical Association we all owe the greater part of our home education in music of a high character. Can we forget, either, how admirably their work has been supplemented by the tastes and critical judgment of Mr. John S. Dwight and by the artists who have identified themselves with the same cause in Boston? These have been our teachers. We build on the foundation they have laid.

Such details of this scheme as concern the public are stated below. The orchestra is to number sixty selected musicians, their time, so far as required for careful training and for a given number of concerts, being engaged in advance. Mr. Georg Henschel will be the conductor for the coming season. The concerts will be twenty in number, given in Music Hall on Saturday evenings, from the middle of October to the middle of March. The intention is that the orchestra shall be made permanent here, and shall be called the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Both as the condition and the result of success, the sympathy of the public is asked.

H. L. HIGGINSON.

Since then the orchestra has grown to ninety-four men, drawn from the best players in Europe. In its ranks are found smaller organizations, notably two string quartets of highest standing, a unique organization of wind instruments, soloists with standard reputations and composers whose works have been played at home and abroad.

The high standard aimed at has been carefully maintained. When the orchestra travels long journeys and night rides are avoided, and never is more than one concert given in a day, no matter what commercial disadvantage this may involve. Whenever the orchestration of a work calls for novel or rarely used instruments special musicians are always engaged, thus avoiding double duty for performers, which would weaken the department from which the special player is borrowed.

In the coming New York season there will be five Thursday evening concerts at Carnegie Hall, on November 6, December 11, January 15, February 19 and March 19, and five Saturday matinees on November 8, December 13, January 17, February 21 and March 21, with different programmes. The list of soloists includes Mme. Melba, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Mme. Kirkby Lunn, Mme. Bloomfield-Zeisler, Mr. Van Rooy, Mr. Pugno, Mr. Lamond, Mr. Heerman, Mr. Kneisel, Mr. Schroeder and others to be announced. As in former years, subscribers of the previous season will be allowed to renew the same seats.

The popularity of the Boston orchestra at home may be gauged from the record premiums fetched at the auction of seats for the Symphony Hall matinee the other day. For three seats in the ninth row from the front $305 each was bid, besides the regular price of $12. For three other seats $200 apiece was the extra price paid.

N.Y. Coml Advertiser

The prospectus of the Boston Symphony Orchestra is now out. It announces ten concerts in Carnegie Hall, on Thursday evenings, Nov. 6, Dec. 11, Jan. 15, Feb. 19 and March 19, and Saturday afternoons, Nov. 8, Dec. 13, Jan. 17, Feb. 21 and March 21. The list of soloists includes Mmes. Schumann-Heink, Kirby-Lunn and Bloomfield-Zeisler; Messrs. Kneisel, Van Rooy, Pugno, Lamond, Herrmann and Schroeder. This season will be notable by the orchestra's playing its 2,000th concert.

The programmes for the first two New York concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra have been fixed. On Thursday evening, Nov. 6, the orchestra will play Brahm'ss third symphony, Richard Strauss's tone poem, "Don Juan," and Beethoven's "Leonore No. 2" overture. Mr. Frederic Lamond will play Beethoven's Concerto for pianoforte No. 5 (E flat-major). Mr. Gericke's selections for Saturday afternoon, Nov. 8, are Berlioz's "Roman Carnival" overture, Saint-Saen's symphonic poem, "L'Omphale's Spinning Wheel," and Hans Huber's symphony in E minor op. 115. Mr. Raone Pugno will play Schubert's "Wanderer" fantasie as arranged for pianoforte and orchestra by Liszt.

The music season's actual opening receives a sort of official sanction by the first concert and matinée of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which occur on Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon of this week—November 6 and 8, at Carnegie Hall. Mr. Frederic Lamond will be the soloist on Thursday and M. Raoul Pugno on on Saturday. It is reported that the sale of season seats for these concerts is unusually large.

Miss Sara Anderson, soprano, and Mr. Joseph Baernstein, basso, will give a joint recital in Mendelssohn Hall on Tuesday evening at a quarter past eight o'clock. The programme announced, while interesting, looks inordinately long.

Following are the programmes of the first two concerts in this city by the Boston Symphony Orchestra next week:

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 6.

Brahms....Symphony No. 3, in F major, Op. 90
Beethoven..Concerto for pianoforte, No. 5, in E-flat major, Op. 73
Richard Strauss.....Tone Poem, "Don Juan," Op. 20
Beethoven..Overture to "Leonore," No. 2, in C major Op. 72

Soloist, Mr. Frederic Lamond.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, NOV. 8.

Berlioz.....Overture, "Carnaval Romain"
Schubert..Grand Fantasia in C major, ("Wanderer,") Op. 15
(Symphony rearranged for pianoforte and orchestra by Franz Liszt.)
Saint-Saens..Symphonic Poem, "Le Rouet d'Omphale," in A major, Op. 31
Hans Huber.....Symphony in E minor, Op. 115 (First time.)

Soloist, Mr. Raoul Pugno.

THE BOSTON ORCHESTRA.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will begin its seventeenth New York season with the two concerts it will give this week at Carnegie Hall. They will be the ninety-eighth and ninety-ninth given here and the 1996th and 1997th in the history of the orchestra.

On Thursday evening the programme will consist of Brahms's Third Symphony, Richard Straus's "Don Juan," op. 20; Beethoven's overture to "Lenore" No. 2, and as the solo number Beethoven's fifth concerto for pianoforte (E flat major), played by Frederic Lamond, the Scotch pianist. This performance will introduce Mr. Lamond to New York.

At the same place on Saturday afternoon Mr. Gericke will lead his master musicians in Berlioz's "Roman Carnival" overture, Saint-Saens's "Spinning Wheel of Omphale" and Hans Huber's Symphony in E minor—a novelty for local theatre-goers. A pianist will again be the solo artist—Raoul Pugno—who will play Schubert's "Wanderer" fantasie.

The opening concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will take place at Carnegie Hall on the evening of Nov. 6, and the afternoon of Nov. 8. At the first Frederic Lamond will play Beethoven's "Emperor" concerto, and the orchestral numbers will be Brahms's F major symphony, Strauss's "Don Juan" and Beethoven's second "Leonore" overture. At the second Raoul Pugno will play Schubert's "Wanderer" fantasia, and the orchestra will give Berlioz's "Carnival Romain" overture, Saint-Saëns's "Le Rouet d' Omphale" and Huber's E minor symphony.

Next Thursday evening, at Carnegie Hall, the Boston Symphony Orchestra begins its seventeenth season in New-York. The first concert given by the orchestra in this city was on February 14, 1887. The performance on Thursday evening will be the 1,996th in its twenty-one years of existence, and the ninety-eighth in New-York. Following are the programmes of both concerts to be given the coming week:

THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 6.

Brahms—Symphony No. 3, in F major, Op. 90.
Beethoven—Concerto for pianoforte, No. 5, in E flat major, Op. 73.
Richard Strauss—Tone poem, "Don Juan," Op. 20.
Beethoven—Overture to "Leonore," No. 2, in C major, Op. 72.

Soloist, Mr. Frederic Lamond.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 8.

Berlioz—Overture, "Carnaval Romain."
Schubert—Grand fantasia in C major ("Wanderer"), Op. 15.
Saint-Saëns—Symphonic poem, "Le Rouet d'Omphale."
Hans Huber—Symphony in E minor, Op. 115 (first time).

Soloist, Mr. Raoul Pugno.

Pergolesi, Campra, Bach and Beethoven.

The first pair of Boston Symphony concerts will be given on Thursday evening, Nov. 6 and Saturday afternoon, Nov. 8. At the evening concert the programme will comprise Brahms's F major symphony, No. 3; Richard Strauss's Don Juan, Beethoven's Leonore overture, No. 2, and Beethoven's E-flat major pianoforte concerto, No. 5, played by Frederick Lamond. The matinée programme comprises Berlioz's Carnaval Romain, Saint-Saëns's Le Rouet d'Omphale, Hans Huber's E minor symphony (a novelty), and Liszt's arrangement for orchestra and piano of Schubert's Wanderer Fantasia, played by Mr. Pugno.

[10]

Inquirer Philadelphia

OPENING OF THE MUSICAL SEASON

MME. KIRKBY LUNN

MR. WILHELM GERICKE
PHOTO BY CHICKERING

MME. MELBA

Something About the Two Great Symphony Orchestras—Mascagni's Engagement at the Academy. The Choral Society, Etc.

The management of the Boston Symphony Orchestra has made public a partial list of the soloists who will appear at its concerts in this city in the course of the season which is to open at the Academy of Music on Monday evening, November 3. It is a varied, brilliant and attractive showing, which includes Melba, Kirkby Lunn, Fanny Bloomfield-Ziesler, Anton von Rooy, Frederic Lamond, Elsa Ruegger, Fritz Kneisel and Alvin Schroeder.

Easily the chief of this distinguished company of artists is Madam Melba, who needs neither introduction nor commendation to any audience in this or any other civilized country. There is no soprano before the public to-day who has a voice more beautiful than hers or who sings with a more consummate art. It is always a privilege to hear her, and upon this occasion the value of the privilege will be increased by the circumstances that she will not again be heard in concert in this city during the season of 1902-03.

Madam Kirkby Lunn is an English contralto who is said to possess a voice of an unusually fine quality. She comes here fresh from a series of remarkable triumphs achieved before the exacting audiences of the Covent Garden Opera House, in London. Her repertoire with the Corl Rosa Company included Ortrud, Brangaene, Fricka, Carmen, Siebel and other parts of like importance. She was born in Manchester and in private life is Mrs. W. J. K. Pearson, of London.

Madam Fanny Bloomfield-Ziesler is a pianist of great distinction, who is not so well known in this city as some others of less ability, because her appearances here have been regrettibly infrequent. Her playing last season with the Philadelphia Orchestra gave great pleasure to the many who heard it, and she is sure of a hearty welcome back.

Mr. Anton Von Rooy, who was born in Rotterdam on January 12, 1870, is a fine barytone, who has won distinction principally through his masterly performances in the music drama of Wagner. He was heard here last season as Wotan, and his impersonation of that character made a deeply favorable impression. He first appeared in the United States at New York December 14, 1898. He is an admirable artist.

Frederic Lamond, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, where he was born on January 28, 1868, has a great European reputation as a composer and virtuoso. He began the study of the piano at such an early age that when only ten he was appointed a church organist. He studied the piano with Von Bulow, Liszt and other masters and made his debut in Berlin in 1885. He has been compared to Rubinstein.

Elsa Ruegger, the brilliant young Belgian violoncellist, has already played here with success. She was born at Lucerne, Switzerland, December 6, 1881; studied at the Brussels Conservatory, where she won the first 'cello prize; played at a concert for charity at the age of eleven, and at thirteen made a concert tour. She is a highly gifted and most accomplished executant.

Of Messrs. Schroeder and Kneisel, who are the other artists whose names appear upon the list, it is unnecessary to speak. Their merits are well-known to every concert-goer in the city.

The sale to the general public for the first series will begin on Monday, October 13, at 1115 Chestnut street, and for the second series on October 20, at the same place. As usual ticket holders for each series will be allowed to renew their seats.

Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra

The management of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra has announced that the third season of the orchestra will be opened at the Academy of Music on Friday afternoon, October 31, when the public rehearsal will take place of the program to be performed at the concert on the following Saturday evening. Upon this occasion one of Tschaikowsky's symphonies will be presented and a number of other interesting and impressive compositions.

ELSA RUEGGER

Several changes have been made in the personnel of the orchestra. Elkan Kosman has been succeeded as concertmaster by Mr. John Marquardt, who was with Mr. Scheel in San Francisco. Mr. Jan Koert, who used to sit at the first desk among the first violins, has become first viola. Hermann Sandby has been engaged as first 'cellist and he will be the soloist at the concert on November 7, when he will play a new 'cello concerto by Anton Dvorak. Recruits of value among the first violins are Hermann Grevesmuhl and Hugo Olk. The complete personnel of the orchestra is as follows:

First violins—John Marquardt, Hermann Grevesmuhl, Hugo Olk, Max Schulz, Gustav Palpke, Florenz Werner, Alfred Lorenz, John Witzemann, Hedda van der Beemt, J. Falk, H. J. Hornberger, M. F. Wenning. Second violins—Julius Scheel, A. Speil, Job. Grolle, A. Korb, W. Barchewitz, A. R. Moret, Hans Tiedge, M. Sherbow, George Kresse, P. Fillsak. Violas—Jan Koert, Paul Scheele, George Schmidt, L. Starzinsky, Emil Hahl, Carl Haferburg, L. M. Rice, Hugo Carow. Cellos—Hermann Sandby, N. Fischer, Paul Stein, Math. Lenmartz, Julius Sturm, Ludwig Nast, Hugo Kohler, L. Lampink. Basses—Paul Rahmig, K. Querrengasser, Paul Planert, Robert Maedler, John Fasshauer, N. Cohen, Albert Hasse, Kurt Stark. August Rodemann, flute; F. V. Badolet, flute; Ernst Urbash, piccolo; A. Doucet, oboe; K. Steigelmayer, oboe; Peter Henkelman, English horn; Fritz Dietrichs, clarinet; Oscar Keller, clarinet; Edmond Roelofsma, clarinet; R. Kruger, bassoon; Paul Fuchs, bassoon; M. F. Wenning, bassoon; Anton Horner, French horn; Karl Klupp, French horn; R. Minsel, French horn; Joseph Horner, French horn; Paul Handke, trumpet; Aug. Bender, trumpet; Albert Meichelt, trumpet; Ernst Wagner, trombone; Georg Deschert, trombone; Gustave Stange, trombone; C. S. Mackey, tuba; Alfred Friese, bass drum; Emil Kresse, tympani; Alex. Ritter, typmani; Mrs. Saha Marquardt-Breitschuz, harp.

Mascagni at the Academy

Regarding Mascagni's selection of soloists for the company he is to bring to America this autumn to sing in his own operas, "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Zanetto," "Ratcliff" and "Iris," the authoritative Italian journal, Il Progresso, of Milan, has this to say:

In selecting Elena Bianchini Cappeli, Mascagni takes from Italy a soprano whom we can illy spare for even one season. Her equal does not exist in roles demanding combined beauty of tone and dramatic force. Mascagni is doing a bad thing by his countrymen in taking her to a foreign country. We would be better pleased, too, if the composer would leave Schiavazzi behind. Tenor voices of pure quality like his are met infrequently nowadays, and, even though he is still young, he is solidly grounded in the best traditions of the Italian stage.

Mascagni scored a ten-strike when he secured Amelia Pinto for the Grand Opera Company he is to bring to the Academy of Music October 13, 14 and 15.

Mascagni will open the music season in nearly every large city in the United States this autumn. They will all welcome the early appearance of good music, there can be no doubt. Interest in the tour is at fever heat in every place to be visited by the composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Ratcliff" and "Iris."

Choral Society of Philadelphia

The Choral Society has started its rehearsals for the winter's work, and at this early date gives promise of a very satisfactory season's results musically. Berlioz's dramatic cantata, "The Damnation of Faust," which was universally redemanded at its performance here two years ago, and a new modern religious work, Caesar Frank's "Beatitudes," which met with great favor at the Worcester and Cincinnati festivals, comprise the compositions selected for their regular concerts. The first concert will be held early in December and the last about the middle of April next. In addition to these the society will give as a popular concert the oratorio, "The Messiah," during Christmas week.

Interesting Pupils' Recital

The first pupils' recital of the season was given Wednesday evening, October 1, 1902, in the concert hall of the Broad Street Conservatory, 1329-1331 South Broad street, Philadelphia. It proved to be one of the most successful and enjoyable events ever given at the beginning of a season. The program, which consisted of piano, vocal, organ solos and a quartet for strings, was most thoroughly appreciated by the musical audience in attendance. The program rendered was as follows:

Piano solo, "Au Matin," Godard, Miss Vinnie M. Bickel; vocal solo, "Thine Eyes So Blue and Tender," Lassen, Miss Laura Rumberger; piano solo, Fifth Barcarolle, Rubinstein, Miss Mary E. Graff; organ solo, postlude in F, Th. Stern, Miss Blanche Warne; piano solo, impromptu, Op. 28, No. 2, Reinhold, Miss Mabel Phillips; piano solo, Nocturne, Op. 27, No. 2, Chopin, Miss Ruth Peterson; quartet for strings, Haydn, Sinfonia String Quartet, Mr. Marcus Sherbow, violin; Mr. Wilson H. Pile, violin; Mr. M. L. Grimes, viola; Mr. Carl Hinteman, 'cello; piano solos, a, "Une nuit a Lisbonne," Op. 63, St. Saens; b, "Bal chez Madame la Princess," Margaret Ruthven Lang, Miss Ella O. Manning; vocal solo, "Calm as the Night," Bohm, Miss Louise De Ginther; piano solo, polonaise, Op. 9, No. 6, Paderewski, Mr. Winfield Baker.

PIETRO MASCAGNI.

Merely Mentioned

At the auction sale for the choice of seats at the Boston Symphony Orchestra's concerts in Boston, which took place in that city on Monday last, three options sold for $305 each and three others for $200 each. These prices break the record.

Manola Jenners Howard, soprano soloist of New York, will sing this Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian Church, Germantown, Pa.

Miss Julie Geyer, the eminent pianiste, has been engaged by Rudolph Aronson for the "Kocian" tournee, beginning November 22, in New York. Miss Geyer was a pupil of Joseffy, in New York, and of Moskowski, in Berlin.

[11]

Press — Philadelphia Record

THE WORLD OF MUSIC

Press

The musical season in Philadelphia may be said to have commenced with the fine concert by the Royal Italian Band at the Academy of Music last evening. This organization is well known in this city and its popularity resulted in a large audience, who found no complaint with the excellent musical program presented.

This event will be followed in rapid succession by many others, the most important October musical features being the operatic performances by Mascagni and the opening concert of the Philadelphia Orchestra's season on Friday afternoon, October 31. The first Boston Symphony concert will follow shortly afterward, on Monday evening, November 3. Wilhelm Gericke will again be the conductor and among the principal soloists to be heard during the season are Mme. Melba, Mme. Kirkby-Lunn, Mme. Bloomfield-Zeisler, Mr. von Rooy, Mr. Lamond, Miss Ruegger, Mr. Kneisel and Mr. Schroeder.

* * *

The Boston Symphony Orchestra announce for their Philadelphia season two separate series with equally attractive but entirely different programs and soloists, the first series on the five Monday evenings, November 3, December 8, January 12, February 16 and March 16; and the second series on the five Wednesday evenings, November 5, December 10, January 14, February 18 and March 18.

* * *

If one wished to condense a description of the Boston Symphony Orchestra into a single expression perhaps the most apt to be found would be the word "unique." This organization is unique in its founder, who, asking no governmental subsidy, after the manner of foreign musical institutions, has had for twenty-one years the courage of his conviction that the public wanted and would support an orchestra presenting good music in the best way. It is unique in its absolute adherence to careful and repeated rehearsals, with which no other engagements must in any way interfere, and in sparing no expense to secure the best performers in the world. It stands absolutely alone in the total number of concerts given, for early in the coming season the 2000th mark will be passed, indisputable proof that in instrumental work the Boston Symphony Orchestra is making the musical history of America.

* * *

Evg Telegraph

The Boston Symphony Orchestra

The management of the Boston Symphony Orchestra has made public a partial list of the soloists who will appear at its concerts in this city during the season which is about to open. It makes an attractive showing. Easily first upon the roll is Madame Melba, whom it would be superfluous to characterize or commend. A newcomer here will be Madame Kirkby Lunn, the distinguished English contralto who has lately achieved a remarkable succession of triumphs at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London. The return of Madame Fanny Bloomfield-Zeisler, the eminent pianist, will be most welcome, as she is an artist of signal and unquestioned powers. Another of the soloists engaged is Mr. Anton von Rooy, the well-known baritone, whose work in the Wagnerian drama has elicited so much well-deserved approval. A new pianist will be heard in the person of Mr. Frederick Lamond, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, who has attained to a high European reputation as a composer and virtuoso. The Belgian violoncellist, Miss Elsa Ruegger, although only about 20 years of age, has a recognized place among the great 'cello players of the day. She has played here before, and those who heard her then will be glad of an opportunity to hear her again. Messrs. Kneisel and Schroeder are also happily included in the list. The sale to the general public for the first series will begin on Monday, October 13, at No. 1115 Chestnut street, and for the second on Monday, October 20, at the same place. As in former years, season ticket holders for each series will be allowed first choice of the same seats.

BOSTON SYMPHONY.

The Soloists Who Will be Heard With That Orchestra This Winter.

The management of the Boston Symphony Orchestra announces the chief soloists who will appear at its concerts in this city during the coming season. The names promise much enjoyment. Easily first upon the roll is Mme. Melba, whom it would be superfluous either to characterize or to commend. A newcomer will be that distinguished English contralto, Mme. Kirkby Lunn, who is fresh from a series of triumphs at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London. Mme Fanny Bloomfield -Zeisler, a brilliant pianist of whom Philadelphia has not been permitted to hear enough, will be heartily welcomed on her return. Another of the soloists announced is Anton Van Rooy, the distinguished baritone, or basso cantante, whose work in the Wagnerian music dramas has received so much merited approval. A new pianist will be heard in the person of Frederic Lamond, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, who has gained a great reputation in Europe as a composer and virtuoso. Miss Elsa Ruegger, the Belgian violoncellist, is also to be heard again. Although only about twenty years of age Miss Ruegger has won a place among the great 'cello players of the day. Others whom the list includes are Messrs. Schroeder and Kneisel; a season would not be complete without them. The sale of seats for the first series will begin to the general public at No. 1115 Chestnut street, on Monday, October 13 next, and for the second series on Monday, October 20.

Of Mme. Kirkby Lunn, the English contralto, the London Times declared: "The phenomenal voice with which Mme. Kirkby Lunn is gifted is truly a marvel, showing, as it does, a quality, volume and range that encompasses the profundity of Wagner's Ortrud with the same apparent ease and graceful indifference that justifies her in undertaking, and with such a large measure of success, the leading prima donna role in Bizet's 'Carmen.'" She was born at Manchester, and she made her debut in Schumann's "Genoveva," performed by students of the Royal College of Music at Drury Lane. She afterward sang in "Le Roi l'a dit" in a student performance at the Prince of Wales Theatre. She studied under A. Visetti and created the part of Norah in Stanford's "Shamus O'Brien." She was then engaged for the Carl Rosa Company and sang Ortrud, Brangaene, Fricka, Carmen, Siebel, and she created the part of Ella in "Diarmid" at Covent Garden. She is married to W. J. K. Pearson of London.

Evg Bulletin

Boston Symphony Orchestra

The usual two series of concerts by the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Academy of Music will begin on Monday evening, November 3, the following concerts to be on Monday evenings, December 8, January 12, February 16, March 16, and on Wednesday evenings, November 5, December 10, January 14, February 18 and March 18. The soloists already announced include a number of names which cannot but excite unusual interest. Foremost among them is Madame Melba, the mere announcement of whose name is sufficient. A newcomer is Madame Kirkby Lunn, the distinguished English contralto, who is credited with a recent great success at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London. A favorite artist who is to return is Madame Fanny Bloomfield-Zeisler, the pianist. Others to appear with the Boston Symphony this season are Mr. Van Rooy, the eminent baritone; Frederic Lamond, a native of Glasgow, who has won a high reputation in Europe as an artist and virtuoso; Miss Elsa Ruegger, the Belgian violoncellist, and Messrs. Kneisel and Schroeder, the well-known violinist and 'cellist.

North American

Times

NOTES OF MUSIC AND DRAMA.

—The Boston Symphony Orchestra will give its 2000th performance during the season about to begin.

***

THE Boston Symphony Orchestra announces the usual two series of concerts at the Academy of Music on Monday evenings, November 3, December 8, January 12, February 16, March 16, and on Wednesday evenings, November 5, December 10, January 14, February 14 and March 18. The list of soloists will include: Madame Melba, Madame Kirby Lunn, Madame Bloomfield-Zeisler, Aubon Von Rooy, Frederick Lamond, Elsa Ruegger, Franz Kneisel and Alwyn Schroeder.

The sale of seats to the general public will open at 1115 Chestnut street for the first series on Monday, October 13, and for the second series on Monday, October 20. Season ticket holders for each series will be allowed, as usual, first choice of their old seats.

[12]

Boston Transcript
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1902

TO BEAUTIFY SYMPHONY HALL

Group of Heroic Classic Statues, Copies of Originals Treasured in European Museums and Galleries, Secured for This City

While it has been known ever since the completion of Symphony Hall that the great niches along the side and rear walls, above the seats in the second balcony, eventually were to be filled with heroic statues, not till now has this expectation been met, except for the Apollo and one or two other statues which for some time have occupied positions in some of these niches. There are in all fourteen niches in which it is possible to place these statues, which are copies of originals carefully guarded in various European museums and galleries.

It will not be long before the completion of the group of statues in the hall here, which will be on the arrival here from Naples, Italy, of two figures which it is hoped to secure, copies of Pan and Apollo in a group, and a satyr carrying the infant Bacchus. The originals are in the Naples Museum.

One statue already secured is the classic work of Praxiteles, that inspired Hawthorne's "Marble Faun." The original is in the Capitoline Museum, Rome. Of it Hawthorne has written enthusiastically. Another figure, the so-called Germanicus from the Louvre, has a more vital significance in the hall, as it shows a nude male figure listening to the music of the waves in a sea shell. The shell is inscribed, "Kleomenes, the son of Kleomenes, made this." It was probably the work of a Greek in Rome in the first century, B. C. The head is that of some Roman orator, while the body is said to be that of Hermes Logios, the god of speech and patron divinity of orators. The statue illustrates the custom of representing individuals in the form of divinities and with divine attributes.

The statue of Sophocles from the original placed in the Lateran Museum, Rome, by Pope Gregory XVI., was identified by means of several ancient busts bearing his name. He is shown in middle life, apparently reciting from one of his plays. "It is without question the noblest portrait statue which Greek art has left us," in the opinion of Edward Robinson of the Museum of Fine Arts. "The head is strong, beautiful and intelligent, with the tendency toward idealization which was characteristic of Greek portraiture in the best periods."

A copy of the Lemnian Athena, said to be the work of Phidias, has given students much food for speculation. The original head is in Bologna, while the body is composed from two statues in Dresden. The best of the two bodies was chosen, to which was added the Bologna head, and the cast of all three is that which occupies a niche in Symphony Hall. This is called the most beautiful statue of Athena which the world possesses. It shows her more peaceful side, as protectress of Athens. The style is severely simple.

There is a copy of the Amazon from the Capitoline Museum, found in a very mutilated condition, causing much discussion as to its history. The restorations are questioned, and the head is said to belong to a much older statue. Some say that the female warrior is drawing a bow above her head, others maintaining that she is about to vault. The statue is found also in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and arguments concerning it may be found in the catalogue.

Demosthenes, cast from the statue in the Vatican, occupies a good place from which the orator looks across the auditorium to Sophocles and Æschines. The face shows tremendous earnestness, while its weariness and other characteristics correspond to the description given by Plutarch. The original statue is attributed to Polyeutos, or is perhaps a copy after his work.

A faun which is represented is copied from a statue in the Borghese Palace, Rome, and a female figure next to this was recovered from Herculanæum, and is unknown. The original is now at Dresden. Beside this is the statue of Æschines, found at Herculanæum and now at Naples. The figure of the great Athenian orator, and rival of Demosthenes, is much like that of Sophocles, though inferior as a work of art.

Euripides, the Athenian tragic poet, copied from a bust in the Vatican, occupies one niche, while near the stage is the seated Anacreon, the Greek lyric poet. The original was discovered in the sixteenth century at Monte Calvo, Sabina, and was placed in the Villa Borghese, at Rome. The Apollo Belvidere and the Diana of Versailles are both well-known figures. They occupy the back wall.

The work of putting the collection in place has been somewhat difficult. The hardest statue to place in position was the seated Anacreon, which, from its lateral bulk, was a problem of mechanics. A scaffold was built below the niche, which, with ladders, made a footstool for the old lyric Greek to ascend his throne. There was much difficulty, owing to the extreme narrowness of the balcony, which is only the width of two rows of chairs. But the statue was finally seated without mishap.

The entire group of classic sculptures will add much to the beauty of Symphony Hall, giving the interior a completed appearance that it has lacked. These plaster casts will be much treasured by artists, as some of them will be the only copies in America, and to see them has hitherto necessitated a trip to the originals in the European museums. These rare casts that are said to be the only ones in this country are those of Euripides, a female figure from Herculaneum and the seated figure of Anacreon. Many of the subjects have direct significance to music, while others merely suggest kindred arts. The figures are all of heroic size, about seven and a half feet tall, but being in lofty positions and with such spacious walls as backgrounds, they appear to be smaller. The choice of subjects was the taste of ladies who spent six months abroad and wished to buy the statues, together with the advice of the architect of the building.

Boston Journal.
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1902.

IS GAINING STRENGTH.

Most Gratifying Reports of St. Andrew's Brotherhood—Boston Man Elected President.

That St. Andrew's Brotherhood is gaining strength each year, is evident by the annual report of the Council of the order to the members in convention, yesterday afternoon. On every hand advancement was evident.

The afternoon session of the 19th Annual Convention opened at 2.30 o'clock in Symphony Hall. The hall was well filled with delegates and the members of the various States were seated together, in sections which were marked with large cards. Alaska and Alabama sat side by side, while near at hand was Florida and California.

THE WONDER OF THE DELEGATES.

Symphony Hall was a wonder of admiration to the delegates. "If we only had that up in Canada," said one of the Canadian delegates, "we would be happy. It is the finest hall that I have ever been in."

"Do you see the real beauty of it?" asked one of the Chicago delegates, a large man of middle age. "Come out here and just have a good look," he said to his friend, leading him out into the aisle. "I think it is the finest sight that I have ever looked upon," said the Chicago man, as he pointed out the architecture and the statues.

"Isn't that just magnificent?" he inquired rapturously of his friend, as he pointed out the gold proscenium arch. "Oh, it is certainly splendid; wish we had such a place in Chicago, or even the West for that matter," and he turned about and admired the hall again.

It was very noticeable to the Bostonians, the manner in which the delegates from all over this country viewed the great hall with apparent delight and they did not hesitate to praise it.

Officers Elected.

Boston Sunday Globe.
FIFTY-SIX PAGES.
SUNDAY, OCT 12, 1902.

Patrons of the Boston Symphony orchestra are reminded that the first performances are announced for next Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, Oct 17 and 18. The rule prohibiting standees will again be in force. The plan of admission to the second balcony on Friday afternoons, put in operation last season, proved so satisfactory in every way that it will again be adopted. The Huntington-av entrance will be opened at 1 o'clock sharp on each Friday afternoon and exactly 505 people, which is the capacity of the second balcony, will be admitted, thus insuring a seat for each person. The program is as follows: Beethoven, overture, "Leonore," No. 2; Bach, concerto in B minor; Schubert, "The Wanderer," fantasy; Tschaikowsky, symphony No. 5 in E minor. Soloist, Mr Raoul Pugno.

Boston Journal.
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1902.

The programs of the first four concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Symphony Hall are as follows:

Oct. 17-18: Beethoven's overture Leonore No. II.; Bach's suite in B minor for strings, flute and accompaniment; Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 5. Mr. Raoul Pugno, pianist, will play the Wanderer Fantasy, Schubert-Liszt or Greig's concerto.

Oct. 24-25: Berlioz, overture "Carneval Romain"; Saint-Saëns's "Le Rouet d'Omphale"; Hans Huber's symphony in E minor (first time). Miss Elsa Ruegger, 'cellist, will play Rubinstein's concerto in D minor.

Oct. 31, Nov. 1: Brahms's Symphony No. 3; Richard Strauss's "Don Juan"; Wagner's Kaisermarsch. Mr. Frederick Lamond, pianist, will play Beethoven's concerto in E flat.

Nov. 14-15: Rimsky-Korsakoff's overture to "La Fiancée du Tzar" (first time); Bizet's suite "L'Arlésienne" No. I.; Beethoven's Symphony No. 4. Miss Maud Mac Carthy, violinist, will play Brahms's concerto.

* * *

Miss Mary Munchhoff, soprano, will

SUNDAY HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY SUNDAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXII., NO. 104.
SUNDAY, OCT. 12, 1902.

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Patrons of the Boston Symphony Orchestra are reminded that the first performances are announced for next Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, Oct. 17 and 18. The rule prohibiting standees will again be in force. The plan of admission to the second balcony on Friday afternoons, put in operation last season, proved so satisfactory in every way that it will again be adopted. The Huntington avenue entrance will be opened at 1 o'clock sharp on each Friday afternoon, and exactly 505 people, which is the capacity of the second balcony, will be admitted, thus ensuring a seat for each person. The programme of the first concert follows:

Overture, "Leonore," No. 2.....Beethoven
Concerto in B minor.....Bach
"The Wanderer Fantasy".....Schubert
Symphony No 5 in E minor.....Tschakowski
Soloist—Mr. Raoul Pugno.

OCTOBER 7, 1902.

WANT SYMPHONY CONCERTS.

Music Lovers Are Endeavoring to Secure Them for Providence.

Music lovers of this city and vicinity are regarding the skipping of Providence by the Boston Symphony concerts as a discordant calamity. News and editorial comment on this matter in the Journal and Bulletin has brought forth a storm of protest against being left out of the circuit of cities which enjoy the Symphony concerts, and the allegation is indignantly denied that the musical culture of Providence cannot or will not support this institution, which, perhaps, has been somewhat overlooked as long as it was in our midst.

Now that its removal is threatened and even announced there comes forward the assertion that abundant patronage can be secured to make the Symphony concerts profitable, and it is claimed that a list of subscribers can be produced which will assure the concert management in advertising their entertainments here as in years gone by.

A list of names is already started and the suggestion has been made that if those people who desire to see the concerts continued and are willing to patronize them will send their names to Steinerts' music store sufficient assurance can be given the Boston Symphony Orchestra to insure their concerts in Infantry Hall again this season.

The people who are supporting this movement represent the musical culture of the city and they are aroused at what they consider would be a long step backward if the Symphony concerts are discontinued here; hence their anxiety to promote a public sentiment strong enough to give the management confidence in including Providence in this season's schedule.

BOSTON HERALD.
PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.
VOL. CXII., NO. 109.
FRIDAY, OCT. 17, 1902.

THE SYMPHONY PROGRAMME

Mr. Gericke Selects Standard Works to Open Season—Beethoven, Bach, Schubert, Tschaikowsky.

As usual, Mr. Gericke begins his season with a standard programme. He has chosen music which needs not much introduction—the second "Leonora" overture of Beethoven; the B minor concerto of Bach; the "Wanderer" fantasia of Schubert; and the fifth symphony—that in E minor—of Tschaikowsky. The overture, which is in C, is considered by many authorities as properly the first in the "Fidelio" series. Used in the first three performances of the opera and centring about the theme of Florestan's chief air, it was set aside by Beethoven because of some dissatisfaction with it and succeeded by the magnificent "Leonora," No. 3.

The Bach concerto usually makes one of an orchestral series which is arranged by his editors to include overtures and suites. It is for strings and flute, and consists of an introduction and several movements mostly in dance forms. The symphony, which, prior to the appearance of the sixth, or "Pathetic," was generally accounted Tachaikowsky's greatest composition in this form, is intense, strong and resolute. There are intimations that it proceeded from a fixed purpose, for one broad, stern, commanding theme reappears again and again after its introduction in the first movement. The general effect of the symphony is dark in emotion and in expressive color, the sweetest and most persuasive portion being the andante, whose contabile depends upon its full, calm horn tone. The third movement departs from the conventional minuet, but clings to the dance principle, for it is shaped as a slow and almost severe waltz; but it nevertheless seems out of keeping with the general spirit of the symphony. The last movement begins ecclesiastically, but soon becomes vehement and impetuous, almost to harshness, ending, however, strongly enough in a chorale-like last presentation of the principal subject. The symphony has been given by both Mr. Paur and Mr. Gericke, the last previous performance having been about two years ago.

The programme will be brightened in performance by the co-operation of a soloist, Mr. Raoul Pugno, the French pianist, who, while easily to be classed from recollections of his prior visit among the eminent players of the time, will be further remembered as a strong and serious artist, capable of display, but not eager for the applause which is won principally by that. He has chosen Liszt's arrangement of Schubert's "Wanderer" fantasy, so called because that song is the thematic centre of the adagio. This fantasia dates back in Boston programmes to March, 1862, when Mr. William Mason played it at a Philharmonic concert, directed by Mr. Zerrahn.

Mr. Gericke has in reserve a considerable list of novelties, including several French works, and an organ concerto by Prof. Horatio Parker. He has also enrolled three new players—Mr. M. Belinski, 'cello; Mr. R. Schurig, contrabasso, and Mr. H. E. Brenton, third trumpet.

DEMISE OF A DOG EXPERT.

Henry W. Huntington, Widely Known as an Authority in Kennel Matters, Dies Suddenly Press, Oct 19 Phila.

THE WORLD OF MUSIC

MISS ELSA RUEGGER

